

King of kings

With these Mortal Realm guns and ammunition, they couldn't hurt Omi's skin at all, and even the missiles had just been unable to do anything to Omi, let alone these missiles.

Omi waved his hand and an invisible force tore away.

"Click-click-click." In the blink of an eye, countless robots were torn into parts by the invisible force, and countless parts were scattered all over the floor.

At this moment, on the distant outer planet, everyone was stunned when they saw the video sent from the Yan Huang Empire

"Ah, is that God?"

After Omi killed those robots, another batch then popped up.

Omi waved his hand again and turned into a field of parts.

"Ma'am, let's go first."

"Good."

Omi flew into the sky and his Spiritual Sense scanned the entire planet and found that the entire planet was full of robots.

"It's over, I'm afraid the human race is extinct." Omi said.

"Ah, extinct, the entire planet is full of these robots?" Remember the URL .kanshu8.net

"Yes."

"How did this happen." Yan Xin Yi was also dumbfounded, this change in the technological world was something they never expected.

Just at this moment, Omi suddenly looked up to the sky, Omi's eyebrows furrowed and said, "No, I feel like there are traces of humans on that moment planet in the depths of space. Let's go, go take a look."

Omi's body moved, and within a few seconds, Omi was on a planet deep in space.

The humans who were on this planet were completely stunned when they saw Omi cross thousands of light years in a few seconds.

It must be known that from this human base, to the mother planet, but it was more than three thousand light years ah, the speed of light to go three thousand years to the bottom of the place, and Omi, a few seconds to arrive.

Of course, the current spaceships, the speed is more than ten light years a day.

Omi stood on this one planet, overlooking the entire planet, and yes, there were many humans this week, numbering around three billion.

However, only three billion humans was really too few for back then, back then in the world of technology, even one Yan Huang Empire had a few tens of billions of people.

And yet today, there were only three billion humans hiding on this planet.

Not long after, a ship flew to Omi's side.

"Pay your respects to the Immortals." A group of people came down from the spaceship and worshipped Omi.

Omi said, "Have I come to the world of fake technology?"

"Senior, I'd like to ask Senior to come to our base and elaborate."

"Fine."

Omi arrived at a heavily defended human space base.

It seemed to be the supreme leader of the humans who personally received Omi and Yan Xin Yi.

"Senior Immortal, I am the supreme leader of the human base, my name is Xiong Ying Hua, Senior Immortal has arrived, this means that we humans can finally be saved." That human leader said excitedly.

Omi asked, "Truth be told, I am also from this world, once I also survived in this world, back when I was immediately in this world, it was technologically advanced, there were very many armoured warriors, more powerful than any ancient martial arts expert, why is it like this now?"

"Elder Immortal, our people just checked the After reading the history, they found out that you look like one of the most famous predecessors in our history who wanted to, his name is Omi, you should be?"

"That's right, I'm Don Omi."

"Oh my god, you really are the historical celebrity Omi." The human leader looked incredulous, as if in his mind, this kind of historical celebrity, all of which had already gone to the grave, didn't expect to appear alive in front of him.

"Don't be surprised and answer my question."

"Senior Tang, in the history of mankind, it is true that armor was prevalent back then, and then, artificial intelligence kept developing, and computers became more and more intelligent. Let's not talk about anything else, let's talk about mobile phones, from the initial functional machines, developed to smart phones, in the end, the 'brain' of mobile phones is even smarter than humans, not only mobile phones, rice cookers, refrigerators, air conditioners, everything related to electrical appliances, have all been intelligent to surpass humans. Every household in the world, the electrical appliances in their homes know more than humans what to do, what to do, and as time passes, it's as if humans have been captive to a house full of smart appliances. We humans, on the other hand, are paralyzed, unaware of just how terrible this crisis is. In the end, with the higher development of artificial intelligence, all household appliances, already have autonomous intelligence, just like a different human being. Gradually, these high-IQ household appliances, controlling everything in every household, they can make you eat and drink spicy food, or let you live like a dog, depending on the mood of those household appliances. Humans, on the other hand, can do nothing about it. Because human beings have metamorphosed to the point where they can't even cook, make tea, wash clothes, or do any other chores in life, all of which are provided by those household appliances. Therefore, we humans, have become like lambs in captivity at home."

It was a terrible thing for Don to take a deep breath.

"Just when the human race was already being kept captive by only electrical appliances, another major change occurred on the home planet."

"What kind of change?"

"Disease, because of human over-exploitation and extreme environmental pollution, the home planet erupted with an unprecedented terminal illness that struck almost every household. So, within a few decades, this terminal disease destroyed the entire human race, and countless humans died. At this time, some prominent robots established their own forces, and the entire world, robots gradually became dominant. The rest of us humans formed an alliance and fought a very fierce war against the robot empire. But in the end, we lost, because the robots were more intelligent than us, and we had to suffer the aftermath of the environmental destruction, and still many humans were getting terminal illnesses every day."

"In the end, we had to evacuate the home planet. By the time we evacuated here, we were down to less than three billion people. These are the things that have happened over the years."

Omi nodded his head and sighed deeply.

Omi said, "So, all the families of the Yanhuang Empire back then, whether it was the Ancient Martial Family or the Mecha Family, they're all gone now."

"Senior Immortal, after all that has happened, only one out of a hundred people in the world has come here alive, where there are still any families of the past. Maybe you can still find the former deceased family here, but the complete family is gone."

Omi nodded his head.

There wasn't anyone else that Omi needed to find, originally the people Omi needed to find were the descendants of those friends of his back then, such as Xu Qing'er of the Xu Mei Qian family, Omi had gotten to know her the last time he came here, but now she was probably long dead, as she was definitely not young.

Just then, a soldier came in to report, "Leader, Old Marshal Xu requests an audience."
