CH 89

Raygan POV

She stood next to her father and watched him initiate Karsyn and his unit right after dinner that night. Smiled up at him, it was nice to have him as a full pack member. Also, she got to be linked into a full pack wide mind-link and hear her father announce to the pack the truth of what was going on.

"I, Alpha Grant, have news for this pack. Zac and his Mate Dee, or Demi Warner as we now have found out, Demi is the missing daughter of Alpha Steffen of Cold Moon, and as for reason's unknown to us yet, it is believed that Zac and Demi actively incited Alpha Steffen into attacking this pack and causing that war that Raygan stopped, and Karsyn has continued to keep the peace on his end. Brokered a deal with their own Luna and myself to reinstate a truce once more.

'To inform you all, there will be a seer from the kingdom coming to the pack tomorrow afternoon to fully investigate the matter of Zac and Demi who, as many of you are aware, are now in the cells pending investigation.

'It has also been found out that Zac and Demi are not Goddess Gifted Mates and have plotted to take Raygan from her rightful seat as the Heir to Wintering Moon, by their claim of being Goddess Gifted to each other.

'On a joyous note, Luna Mika of Cold Moon actually figured out that Raygan and Alpha Karsyn are Goddess Gifted Mates, and they kept it from all. Due to what they believed was going on with Zac and Demi. She informed me of her suspicions, and we hatched a plan to mate them off to each other, a mating alliance to see how they reacted to each other. It was clear to all in the room that they were Mates.

'Raygan and Karsyn didn't tell anyone about being Mates, they had a meeting on the last full moon as many of you would have been aware. Beta Rick was there as a witness to them scenting each other out and was asked not to say anything as well, by Raygan and Karsyn.' He huffed a little, sounded a bit annoyed.

'But at least the truth is out now. I have welcomed Alpha Karsyn as Raygan's Mate. What you have seen over the past few days with Raygan and I, yelling and arguing, was all an act to try and get Zac and Demi to show themselves and their true colours. Raygan is actually pregnant with the Heir to Wintering Moon and I believe both Raygan and Karsyn are happy about it, as am I and Luna Mika.

'So it is with great pleasure that I announce to you all this evening that Alpha Karsyn has agreed to move here to Wintering Moon and reign alongside of Raygan. Has, I believe, handed his title of Cold Moon Heir down to his little brother Danny. Has moved here for the love of his Mate. A good thing in an Alpha, shows he is considerate of his Mate's feelings, thoughts and needs.

'I would like you all to welcome Alpha Karsyn to the pack, his entire unit as well, Beta Rick, Gamma Harvey and Delta Mario. Raygan has also reinstated her old unit, so please welcome back to the pack's leadership Beta Ollie, Gamma Kyle and Delta Brenner. This will be the new leadership of the pack. Which will happen after the investigation of Zac and Demi is held and punishments are laid out.'

He closed out the mind-link and smiled at them both, "Ah, this old man can finally retire. Knowing the pack is in good hands." He reached out and shook Karsyn's hand, shook everyone in the room's hand bar hers, hugged her to him. "I knew you had a Mate out there."

She nodded, "You and Yule had way more faith than I did." she muttered, held her tongue on the comment about being Mate-less. She knew Karsyn didn't like hearing her state it.

"Go and hang out, all of you. Show the packhouse off, I know none of you have had the chance to get a good look around yet." he waved them out of the office, "Raygan, you might want to show him your office."

"Hmm, I could do that." she nodded, likely wasn't going to come and sit in here like everyone thought she was. Even when she ran the pack when her father was away, it had been from her War General Office up on the first floor. Though she had a feeling Karsyn would use this office for himself.

"Where is your office?" he asked.

"First floor. Directly above fathers."

"Are you moving downstairs then?"

"No, I've had that office for a long time, it suits me, and I would normally run the pack from up there when father was away."

"You liked sitting in his seat though."

"Mm, I like displaying I'm the Heir and that seat is my right. But even father knows I won't use his office. You can have it. You and your unit down there with me and mine, above you." she smiled to herself.

"Oh, you think that's funny, do you? Being above me."

"Mm, I do. Kind of like I'm more in charge than you are. The top dog, so to speak."

She heard him laugh now, heard his whole unit laugh in fact, he didn't seem to mind at all. "You know you're way more laid back than your father, how is that possible?"

"Grandmother raised me mostly after mother died. My father kind of buried himself in his work."

"For the best, I would think." she nodded. He might not have been so happy to be her Mate if he'd been raised solely by Steffen. She heard him wave his unit off and tell them to take the evening off, go explore, meet a few of the pack members on their own but to all behave themselves.

Practically shooed them away as they came to her office, she realised and smiled as she walked into her office. It was large, as large as her father's was, held not only her desk down the other end and a full sitting area with a black coffee table between the soft grey suede couch's there was also a full war desk to the left as you walked in which seated 20.

It was kind of like a boardroom with an office attached to it, she supposed, but this was the war office. What more could one expect? There was the pack map and surrounding area on the wall behind her desk. And on the wall to the left behind the war desk was a map of the States with all their allied packs on it.

She watched him look over her office and smile even as he took it in. "No wonder you're not giving up your office," he commented as he strolled on over to the map of her allies, their allies now.

"This is where all meetings will be held." she nodded and watched him look over that map.

"You have a lot of allies."

"Yes, or they have a good strong pack to request aid from." Smiled to herself, she didn't, or this pack rarely called for aid from anyone, they were, however, a pack that many others relied on for help.

"Over two dozen." He turned and looked at her questioningly.

"Yes, all small packs that need assistance with rogues mostly, though Rising Blue Lotus, is also allied to many of the same as I am."

"You know Alpha Nicholas?"

"Yes, and his Luna Lucinda. You?"

"No." she watched Karsyn turn and look at her, "I hear he's pure-blooded and massive. Aggressive in dealing with attacks on his pack."

"He is, stands six feet ten, very imposing. A good Alpha for that pack."

"Is the rumour true?"

"Now which rumour would that be?" she asked and sank herself down on the couch.

"Public punishment?" Karsyn asked as he strolled over towards her.

"Yes," she nodded, "though he has valid reasons for it. I understand why."

Raygan found Karsyn standing right before her, looking right down at her, saw that lazy smile spread across his face and shook her head slightly, "What?" she asked up at him as he placed a hand on either side of her and leaned down to kiss her softly.

"We should get naked." he murmured and was suddenly on his knees before her, tugged her forward on the couch, "You want to christen your office?" he smiled at her.

"You have a one-tracked mind."

"Mm I do when we're alone together. Which we are right now." He tugged her even closer and pulled her legs around his waist, slid his arms around her and pulled her right up against his body, kissed her deeply as one hand slid into her hair and the other down to her ass to rock his body against hers.

She smiled as his mouth moved from hers to her neck. "You know Kar, we're already pregnant."

Heard him chuckle, "This ain't about that, I just want to be all naked with you." he pulled away slightly and looked right at her, "I think you'll enjoy it as much as I will."

Raygan smiled at him, wound her arms around his neck and murmured, "I know I will." and kissed him chastely, "But..."

"But?" He growled a little at her.

"I think a bed would be a better option for us, now we have to look after our pup."

Heard him sigh a little, "I suppose so." and he was up and on his feet, turning for the door.

"Or" she laughed.

Saw those eyes of his glimmer just a little with amusement, as he realised she was playing with him, and she was. Had never had a Mate before and wanted to, for the first time in a long time, play and have fun with him.

"Or?"

"You could put me down and give me a minute's head start." she knew he was faster than she was, also knew she nor Avalon would over tax their body by running at full wolfen speed anymore either."

"Better give you two." he put her feet on the ground, smiling at her though he didn't let her go right away, pulled up right up close to his body, "Tell us Raygan, what Avalon looks like." he murmured softly in her ear.

Raygan laughed softly, "Oh! Is that all you want?" she teased him, then just shoved him back with all she had and bolted out the door, mind-linked to him, 'What! Won't she show you?' she knew that if Avalon wanted to be seen inside of Karsyn's mind, she could do that down the mind-link. Obviously, Avalon had not done that for his wolf Crush.

Heard a playful growl come her way, 'Two minutes and counting.' She heard him state.

'Awe your wolf has a crush on mine, but she's holding out on him.' she teased, 'Crush has a big girly crush on Avalon.' She shot at him and burst out laughing as a deep growl ripped down the mind-link, knew it was his wolf.

He was suddenly on the move as well, not even a minute, and he was hunting her. They had, it seemed, incited his wolf into a chase by tormenting him with his own name. Avalon chortled inside her mind and boosted their speed as they hit the tree line of the densest part of their packs forest. They were running, it seemed, from his beast and not Karsyn. They could feel through their Mate Bond tether just where he was as he could her. There would be no actual escaping him. He was faster than they were.

Raygan found herself face to face with Crush in wolf form ten minutes later. He'd been hunting but letting her keep her lead, it seemed. Though now his beast was right in front of them. She smiled at his wolf, it was large and all black, those piercing red eyes of his were staring right at her.

Blood red, deep and dark would be a menacing and frightening sight for anyone that was actually hunted by his wolf, but not to them. She smiled right at his wolf, and stood waiting for it to move, as it did her.

Raygan smiled right at him, and shot her hand out to the left, then darted off to her right. His beast had moved on pure instinct as she expected it to, to her left, laughed and ran off in the other direction, weaved in and out of trees to keep it at bay, turned on a dime as it leaped in front of her and ran back the other way, was laughing the whole time.

Until it was so close and cutting off all turns that she knew it was game over, Crush wouldn't physically bring her down, wouldn't risk their pup and she knew it. But she could feel how happy both Crush and Karsyn were to be out there in the forest at night hunting her.

She stood still finally and looked at him. "You win." She told his wolf, and watched as his tail wagged a little at her. Raygan reached out to touch him, and he stepped right up to her, came to her chest even. She slid both her hands along his snout softly, up over his big head and down his ears, looked right into those eyes, "Magnificent." she told him.

+5 Points

His head was rubbed along her arm, and then he wound himself around her, his head and body all rubbing all over her, till he was standing before her once more, looked right up at her and then inclined his head, Raygan leaned down and touched her head to his wolfs head. "You will like what Avalon looks like, I promise."

Heard his beast purr up at her, and let Avalon push forward. Her eyes were not as dark red as his were, a little lighter in colour, and she to pat and touched her mate all over. Purred back at him. Stood and watched him shift back to his human form, let Avalon reach up and kiss her own mate in human form. Knew those two were going to mate. Was going to let them.

3
Comments

13
Vote

LUCK DRAW >