Chapter 1161: The entrance of the two lords

“Does anyone know?” Soap’s face was gloomy. “Old Man, what’s the difference between saying it and not saying it? Are you trying to trick me?”

“No, no, no...” Goron smiled and waved his hand. “I’m not trying to trick you. Someone Really Knows.”

“How can I believe that you’re telling the truth?”

Goron: “How should I put it? There has to be basic trust between people...”

Soap: “Hehe...”

“I’m not lying to you... that person really knows!” Geron put on a serious face.

“Even if I believe that you have such a person, what makes you think that he knows more than you? What if he’s the same as you and knows an academic name from hearsay?”

“That’s impossible...” Geron shook his head.

“Why?” Soap pressed on.

“Because that person... is the same as you...”

Soap was stunned when he heard that, and his heart immediately tensed up. “Wh... What does that mean?”

“It means literally...” Gerald looked at soap with a smile. “That person is the same as you, and it’s also indescribable...”

Gulp...

Soap swallowed a mouthful of saliva, the whole person stupidly stood there, for a time the brain of a Hum Hum...

Someone... like me?

“Where... where is he?”

“Well...” Goron looked up at the sky. “It should be... soon...”

— — — —

About three hours after Andrew and Billy’s army entered the Emerald Dream, there was a loud bang outside the new territories. The night that had covered the mainland for dozens of days suddenly shattered and the stars appeared in the Sky Again!

But this time, there were many more things.

First, there were seven suns of different colors!

With a strange scarlet color, a crimson gold color with golden flames, a blue color with misty clouds, and a magnificent purple color, the seven planets were emitting different lights, illuminating the entire land!

At this time, the people of the western islands who had not been affected saw this scene and thought it was a miracle. They knelt on the ground and shouted for the gods. Obviously, they all thought that the gods had come to save them from the darkness.

On this day, the history of the Western Isles came to an end. After this day, the magic families that had existed for tens of thousands of years became a thing of the past. A group of people from outside the celestial bodies led them to a new era.

Of course, it was not now...

At this moment, the gods that had torn apart the darkness and brought the stars down from the sky had no time to care about the ants that were kneeling on the ground. A level one population was not very attractive to a lord of their level, in fact, it was not even as useful as the population reproduction of the main force.

After all, the genes were stable...

In the sky, black liquid was scattered. It was the substance left behind after the alchemy snake had been defeated. Countless mecha were dancing in the sky like meteors, burning the scattered liquid clean, leaving no chance.

On the other side, a group of high-level demon corps was standing on the opposite side.

The elegant and pure white mecha carried starlight, like a steel angel. It formed a sharp contrast with the strange-shaped demon legions. Those who saw the scene in the sky were all shocked.

After this day, many artists drew this scene from their memories. They thought that it was a battle between Gods and Hell's evil spirits, and that the visions of those days in the world were also because Hell had eroded the human world.

In the long darkness, the gods finally heard their prayers and led the strongest army of angels to defeat the demons to save their people!

"Senior Vogu..."

In the sky, Burton stood at the forefront of the demon army and bowed very gentlemanly. "May I ask what we should do next?"

"We" reduced the tension between the two sides by a lot. Vogu looked at the other party and smiled. Clearly, the other party did not intend to turn hostile now.

But to be honest, the strength of this little demon was really beyond his expectations!

After entering the planet, the leaders of both sides received the latest intelligence from the vanguard members of their own forces. Before those people entered the emerald dream realm, they had left the intelligence in a special way to guard this world.

After knowing the truth, the two lords fell into a state of shock. Obviously, neither Vogu nor Bolton had expected that Andrew's secret was so big!

The Moon Elf descendant, who was once one of the three royal families of the ancient elf civilization, was suspected to be the spiritual world passage of the Moon Elf civilization. What an enormous resource was this?

Since the god Federation had opened, countless scholars had tried to learn from the Moon Elves and expand the spiritual world outside the physical plane. However, none of the forces had succeeded. Now, the public spiritual world., other than the Abyss, the Immortal Palace, and Bilotar, most of them were randomly opened up in the universe, causing many planes to be deeply troubled by the evil gods from other worlds.

However, to the sky god Lords, these evil gods were extremely valuable research materials. Occasionally, they would go to a wave of other worlds through these evil gods, and they would often be able to obtain a huge amount of resources. And these other worlds would usually be discovered., many sky god Lords would swarm over.

This was the so-called battlefield! !

A battlefield usually had over 10,000 sky god Lords participating. During this period, there were also many mercenaries who accepted missions. Even the great lords couldn't monopolize it. They had to share a certain amount. Of course., when the coordinates of the other worlds appeared in a great Lord's territory, they would have the highest priority.

Usually, a great lord would have two to three battlefields of resources in their hands, and they would be able to continuously send resources to them. Even if they did not personally participate in the battle, they would still be able to earn a lot from the entrance fees of the other lords.

However, that was only two to three battlefields, which meant two to three spiritual worlds!

What did all the passcodes of the Moon Elves mean?

At the thought of this, the hearts of the two lords almost jumped to their throats! !

After a quarter of an hour of silence, the hearts of the subordinates of both sides also jumped to their throats. What the two Lords said next would determine whether or not they would directly fight outside!

Through their cooperation just now, both sides had seen each other's strength. To be honest, whether it was the mecha clan of the Vogu faction or the high-level demons of the Burton faction, neither of them had any intention of underestimating the other at this moment.

Vogu looked at the other party and finally smiled. "Lord Burton, what do you think we should do?"

Burton smiled and said, "I've already heard about the situation from SAB. The emerald dream realm is a top-notch spatial barrier. Our army has no use in there because other people can completely split up our army. Rather than that, we might as well leave them here as reinforcements. We'll each bring our strongest experts and enter the barrier alone to support them. What do you think...". "..."

"That sounds pretty good!"Vogu looked at him with a smile.

Hearing that, a smile appeared on Bolton's face. In terms of overall strength, to be honest, he really did not have the confidence to defeat his opponent. Even if he used the ace planet, he did not have the confidence, but in terms of individual strength!

Bolton was very confident! !

Chapter 1162: single-handedly

"How is it? It's not easy to fight, is it?"

In the forest, a swift figure was running at high speed. The running figure was extremely skillful, nimbly avoiding the friction of space. Like a fairy that ignored the wind resistance, it nimbly shuttled through space.

It was Maya, who had returned to her original form. At this moment, Maya's face was pale. It was obvious that her condition was not very good.

Upon closer inspection, one would discover that there were many wounds on her body. One of the wounds was directly to her vital point. Her spine was three inches deep, so deep that one could see her bones!

That was the position of the central nervous system of the backstab. As long as it was a humanoid creature, this position was the vital point!

"The strongest genius of the current generation of the Templar family. I've really witnessed it..." Maya said coldly.

"You're not bad yourself..." that hoarse voice replied, "An illusionist who can fight against the top assassins of the younger generation of the Federation in a duel. If your brothers and sisters knew about this, I'm afraid their hearts would turn cold!"

"Ha..." Maya laughed coldly, "You sure know how to make sarcastic remarks. Why Don't you give me a hand..."

"In my current state, how would I dare to help?" The sinister voice laughed, "When the undead don't have a body, it's not like you don't know how weak they are. The reason why I was able to obtain Saab so easily is because I have a secret treasure that can restrain them. Against the top assassins just now, I'm afraid I Won't be able to hold on for even three seconds..." . "..."

"Why would you give up the good body that they prepared for you?" Maya said coldly. "You can totally keep the body of Saab, as long as you promise not to touch that fallen angel girl..."

"I have to take what they gave me? I have principles..."

Maya:" ..."

"What exactly are you thinking? You told me that you wanted a body, but you didn't even like the body of a top-tier blood demon like Saab. Don't tell me that you still want the body of that Templar assassin just now?"

“Hehe... that blood demon is not bad, but you can’t always follow the nose of others, right?”

Hearing that, Maya was stunned for a moment, then nodded.

The only one who could control the space fragment and let him coincidentally meet Saab was the Master of the Emerald Dream. Obviously, the other party wanted to give him a body to strengthen his combat power. If he accepted it, he would probably meet Sandro directly later.

“But we can’t keep going like this, right?” Maya’s face was cold. “We’ll meet sooner or later.”

“Soon...” the undead God said in a low voice. “It won’t be long...”

-----

On the other side, Lanaya stood rooted to the ground. She did not chase after Maya, who was running away. Her condition was much better than Maya’s. Although she had many wounds on her body, she was not as dangerous as Maya.

Eggface carefully hid behind her, his expression absent-minded. The feeling just now was too exciting. It was as if he was in a storm. Any spark could crush him into pieces. It was so f * cking exciting... ..

After a long time, eggface came back to his senses. He looked at Silent Lanaya and asked curiously, “Did you win?”

“I lost...” Lanaya said calmly.

“You Lost?” Eggface was stunned.

Although she didn’t see clearly the process of the fight, she saw clearly the result. The other party was obviously injured and ran away, so why did she call it a loss?

“Fighting with a mage with a bayonet and not being able to kill the other party, if this isn’t a loss, then what is it called?” Lanaya said calmly.

“Mage?” Eggface was stunned again.

The guy who waved the dagger like a storm just now was a mage?

“A mage... or an illusionist...” Lanaya looked in the direction where Maya had escaped, her expression was complicated. “To be able to pretend to be Vaughn and fool so many experts, she must be a top illusionist. She must have let Andrew in too. What a pity...”

“What’s there to be sorry about?” Doggie was confused.

“To be able to achieve a level that I can’t see through, she must have spent a lot of energy. However, she still has the ability of a top assassin. If she had been focused, I would have died. With such a great talent, she must have had no choice but to split her attention...” . ...”

The dog egg hears a speech to pout: “Perhaps be oneself coquettish bag, want devil and Warrior Dual Practice?”

“You don’t understand...” lanaya shook her head: “For star-level powerhouses, the most inadequate is always time, you will understand later...”

“well... all right...” doggy nodded, whatever the big man said, as long as I kept sucking up to him. ...

“Damn, how many worlds are there like this?”

In a world filled with oceans, seer strolled on the surface of the sea and asked the principal who was beside her.

“According to the records, the Emerald Dream uses the most advanced nested spatial matrix. In theory, it can be infinitely large...” the principal replied from the side.

“Isn’t that equivalent to another universe?” Seer asked in surprise.

“This was the original intention of the Dragon Race...” the principal said faintly, “At that time, the ancient dragon race didn’t want to be inferior to the elves, but they couldn’t compete with the elves, so they wanted to create a new world of their own.”

“Uh... This idea... is pretty good...”

“It is pretty good...” the principal nodded. “If all the races were so talented, there wouldn’t be so many disputes...”

Xi Ye: “...”

“By the way... If you put it like that, how long would it take to find the core?”

“If we can’t find it, we can only wait...”

“Wait?” Xi Ye was stunned. “Wait for what?”

“To wait for them to use the matrix core again!” The principal said, “When we entered, the other party intentionally messed up the fragments and used the spatial storm to separate us. However, it was obvious that they used the core matrix to operate it. It was obvious that they followed his idea and assigned us to different spaces to conduct internal consumption.”

After pausing for a moment, he continued, “However, most of the people who entered were smart. They would not easily follow the other party’s ideas and consume each other. Therefore, in order to create a conflict, the other party would definitely use the matrix core again to adjust everyone’s position... “...” . “If I use it too much, I can follow the pattern and find the core position.”

“Then how many times do you have to use it to find the position?” Xi Ye asked curiously.

“At least five times...”

“Five times...” Xi ye frowned. “It feels so passive...”

“There’s nothing I can do...” the principal shook his head. “It’s someone else’s home game. Even if I’m not convinced, I have to hold it in...”

Seer asked, “What if the internal strife was almost over five times ago?”

“That won’t happen...”the principal shook his head. “Let’s not talk about other things. Just Andrew alone won’t do what the other party thinks. He will definitely try his best to avoid the fight... HMM?”

Suddenly, the principal looked at the sky in a daze.

“What? You’re using the core so quickly?”Seer also looked at the sky and asked in puzzlement, “Why can’t I Feel Anything?”

“It’s not...”the principal shook his head and said with a serious expression, “It’s just that there’s a newcomer.”

“There’s a newcomer?”

“Have you forgotten about the two great lords outside?”

Xi Ye: “Tsk... it’s really getting more and more lively...”

“Isn’t it good to be lively?”The principal looked at Xi Ye. “Don’t you want things to be as chaotic as possible?”

Xi Ye nodded. “That’s true...”

“But I’m very curious...” . The principal looked at Xi Ye. “No matter how much they fight amongst themselves, they can’t really exhaust themselves to the point where you have to pick up the corpses. In the end, no matter who survives until the end, you’ll have to face it. How will you face it then?”

Xi Ye: “We’ll talk about it then...”the Principal:”...”

“By the way, how did you know that there were new people?”Xi Ye changed the topic.

The principal: “They entered the enchantment to restart the spatial matrix that I left outside. That matrix was created by me and that boy named Plato together. It has my mark, so I can naturally sense it when they use it.”

“Oh... then how many people can you sense?”Xi Ye asked curiously.

The principal glanced at him and waved his hand. Then, a light screen shone down, showing the scene of Lord Bolton and the others activating the matrix!

“F * ck, you have a video!”Xi Ye was instantly shocked.

“Isn’t it normal for my matrix to keep a video?”The principal rolled his eyes and then ignored Xi Ye, looking at the situation of the two sides when the matrix was activated.

The principal and seer were both stunned after seeing it.

Because in the image, there were four high-level demons standing behind Burton. Judging from their stance and aura, they were not weaker than Saab at all. On the other side, a deity overlord who seemed to have a blue spirit bloodline was standing opposite him.

He was the only one! !

Chapter 1163: What is Vogu’s true form?

A person?

Seer was also stunned when he saw the situation in the video.

He had thought that the two big shots outside would leave their troops outside and only bring in top-notch experts. After all, in this special space, if there was no way to crack it, it would be a waste for the troops to come in, in any case, they would be separated by the other party.

Personal strength would be more useful in this place...

But wasn't it a bit too arrogant not to bring a single subordinate?

The other party had brought four or five of them!

-----

Seer was puzzled, and Bolton was also very surprised. He had never thought that the other party would enter the barrier alone... ..

Even the vanguard was willing to send four or five star-ranked fellows, but now they could not bring a single subordinate over?

Could it be... . . The Vanguard's strongest was all the cards in his hand?

No Way?

Bolton's brows were tightly knitted. According to the public intelligence, other than Vienne and Lanaya, who were external talents, the other party's internal commander should be at least a star level powerhouse, right?

That intelligence officer named Phippen, as well as Paladin Yorkry, who was known as the ruling hand in the intelligence, were all very powerful powerhouses, but it seemed that the other party didn't have any intention of bringing them over... ..

One person...

Was he too confident, or did he have other plans in the dark?

Other plans were still acceptable. If he wanted to tamper with the army outside, he would let the other party know what it meant to steal a chicken and end up losing rice.

However, if it was the former...

Bolton's gaze became gloomy...

Currently, there was no evaluation of this fellow's strength in all the intelligence reports...

Vogu's territory was not weak. In the information, there were 80 large star systems. Among them, 21 star systems had been developed to the level of high-level lords. Under his control, there were more than 70 billion people who were at least level three and above!

Such a huge power had only risen for three eras. However, there was no record of this Lord making a move!

Not even once!

The deity Overlord was not only a commander at the rear. He was also a representative of the peak combat strength of a power. In a lord-tier war, deity overlords would usually make a move personally. After all, when a power of the same level faced off against an enemy.., deity overlords were often the key to deciding the outcome of the battle.

For a faction that had grown to such a level, logically speaking, it was impossible for it not to have encountered an opponent of the same level. No matter what, it should have had some information about the Overlord taking action, even he, who had always loved to conceal his strength, had no choice but to take action a few times. Although there were few records, it wasn't as if there weren't any.

But vogu... .. ! There really wasn't any, not even once!

This faction had grown and clashed with very few other lords, as if they weren't competing with the rest of the world. However, in this time of great strife, his faction had inexplicably risen.

He had actively avoided the few situations where there was conflict, and only twice had he not avoided it. He had met a sky god Lord who was of High Elf bloodline, and was completely jealous of his resources and had taken the initiative to provoke them.

Those two lords had been destroyed extremely quickly. There was even no official record of how those two lords who had provoked him had died. The reason was that they had died too quickly. The federation's war reporters did not even have the time to gather information before the war ended!

Many people said that those two lords had underestimated the overall strength of the VOGU faction. As a result, when faced with the Vogu Mecha Army, they had been defeated in an instant. They did not have the qualifications to fight against each other's god-level strength.

This was the opinion of most people.

But there was also a small number of people who had another opinion... ..

That was that Vogu's strength was too strong. He had destroyed the opponent's deity suzerain on the first day of battle, causing the opponent's battle situation to collapse instantly!

Thinking of this, Burton carefully observed the guy standing opposite him.

At this moment, Vogu was activating the matrix left behind by Plato. Seeing that Burton was looking at him, he immediately smiled and said, "Why is Lord Burton looking at me all the time?"

"No... I'm just a little curious... why would senior come alone..." Burton expressed his doubts honestly.

"AH... about that..."vogu operated the complicated spatial matrix, at the same time, he casually replied, "The main reason is that we can't spare any manpower. Most of the people have already been sent into the planet, and the remaining few can't leave the army. We have to leave two to stabilize the rear, right?"

It sounded reasonable... .. which made Bolton unable to refute for a moment.

After a moment of silence, Bolton suddenly thought of something and asked curiously, "Senior, is your main body a blue spirit?"

At this moment, apart from the bloodline of the deity, Bolton's other characteristic was that of the spirit race: The Blue Spirit.

If it was just this background, the other party's strength could be estimated. Although the deity used the laws as a weapon, there was a huge difference between them. The laws were not spells, but a method to use the laws, they could become a method to control the laws of the world, or they could also become a method to strengthen themselves.

There were many powerhouses in the heavenly gods community who relied on their bodies. The typical representative was the previous generation's third Lord. That titan Lord had used laws to create the pentashade Titan aspect, and his combat strength was extremely shocking.

And if the other party was a blue spirit, there was a high probability that he would not use laws to strengthen and develop his own body. And as a mechanical lord, he might use the technology of his faction to make a personal god-class mecha.

But the prerequisite was that the other party was really a blue spirit!

After all, there were some rumors about this senior in the intelligence report... ..

This senior was different from the other high-level disciples of the other large families who had been designated as Sky God candidates since birth. All of his wealth had been earned by himself, and this fellow had been reborn once!

In the public information, after Vogu was reborn, when his biological level reached level 5, he had applied for Sky God Academy and was successfully accepted. And in the public information, it was listed as a blue spirit gene body!

But this was inconsistent with some of the information from his previous life.

The information said that Vogu was not recognized by his family because of his bloodline, so he went to the North Star region's undead academy at his own expense and studied under Professor Andrew for tens of millions of years.

Later, he died in an accident and was reborn in the south star region. Relying on the wealth he had accumulated before, he applied for deity Academy.

However, there were many suspicious points here. The Blue Spirit was a high-level spirit race and was considered a rare species among the elves. It was a natural-born seedling of mecha operators. Many Elven families gave birth to this kind of descendant as a treasure to nurture, after all, mecha operators were a high-end profession in the federation. It was very easy for them to stand out.

There had never been any elven family that did not value the blue spirit descendant and forced the other party to go to the undead academy. Even for a Ranger family like the Zephyr family, if a blue spirit appeared in their family... The higher-ups would definitely allocate a portion of their resources to nurture them. At the very least, they would not force them to run away...

Burton doubted the authenticity of the other party's bloodline. Those bloodlines that were not recognized by the Elven family were usually those abnormal mutants, right?

"Blue Spirit?" Faced with Burton's question, Vogu smiled slightly. "No..."

Burton: "..."

Chapter 1164: a high-level demon entering the arena

"No..."

Vogu's straightforward reply stunned Bolton and the other high-level demons behind him.

Before they could reply, Vogu continued, "If I had been born as an orthodox blue spirit, how could I have been despised by my family? Even if I didn't receive good training, I wouldn't have expanded to a place like the Northern Star Field, right?"

There are many traditional families in the southern star field, and those strange creatures in the northern star field are the most difficult to deal with, generally it is not necessary, indeed no one would not want to run to the Northern Star Field.

Bolton narrowed his eyes, he smiled and said, "Senior is right. Senior's experience is very inspiring. He was not favored by his family and went to the Northern Star Field to study at his own expense. After that, he used his accumulated wealth to go to the heavenly god academy to cultivate. Up until now, he has become a high-level lord that everyone in the southern star field knows about...". "...". "..."

"I was just lucky..." Vogu replied with a smile.

"But Senior's admission resume in the deity Academy has the Blue Spirit Bloodline..." Burton narrowed his eyes and approached him, as if he wanted to see through him completely, he said faintly, "I remember that the rebirth of an elf... can't change the result of the transformation, right?"

If the rebirth of an elf could change the result, how could there be any inferior XENOGENEIC Elves in the world? It would be difficult to start all over again after birth!

The transformation of elves could not be changed was an iron law in the evolution system of elves. For countless years, many scholars of biological genetics had tried to crack this secret, but they had never succeeded.

If they succeeded, then elves would be the most perfect genes in the universe, but it was obviously impossible. Everything in the universe had a law, and there had never been a perfect creature. Er... Except for the gods.

"Indeed, the result of the transformation can't be changed..." Vogu didn't stay silent for long and quickly agreed with Bolton.

"Then, senior, What's Your Situation?" Bolton couldn't wait to ask.

"I just have some genetic characteristics of the blue spirit..." Vogu shrugged. "You also know that although my force mainly focuses on the mechanical department, I actually graduated from the biology department. It's not difficult to do this..."

"Cheating?" Bolton smiled. "Will the deity academy allow it?"

"Of course they will allow it..." Vogu smiled. "You also graduated from the Academy. Don't you know that it's a school that is obsessed with money?"

Bolton: "..."

These words... .. were indeed true, that school was indeed able to do things that ordinary people did not know the limits of. For example, as a pure demon, the outside world was originally extremely opposed to demons possessing the rights to the deity genes, at that time, many famous teachers of the deity academy were also crazily opposed to his admission.

It was not until he donated a considerable sum of money...

Bolton clearly remembered that when he graduated, a group of teachers who had once opposed him the most often dragged him to drink, saying that he was the most outstanding student they had ever nurtured, blah blah blah... ..

But the truth was that he might be the most generous student they had ever taught...

"Then what about Senior's true body..."

"It's done..."

Just as Bolton wanted to continue asking questions, the space matrix in front of him instantly lit up. Bolton clapped his hands and said, "We should be able to enter directly. Do you want to go first or not?"

Bolton looked at the extremely complicated space matrix in front of him and fell silent. He also had a very high-level space warlock under him, but when he looked at these space runes, he was almost instantly dumbfounded, it was obvious that the person who set up this matrix was an extremely brilliant person.

Bolton naturally knew who it was. SAB had already given him information before he came. It was normal for the former dean of the White Dragon Sacred Academy's Space Department to create such a complicated matrix. After all, it was a professional job.

However, it was abnormal for a deity overlord to be able to restart the other party's array in just a short while... ..

This meant that this guy was at least not weaker than the other party's level of Space Arcana... ..

Was he still leaning toward the Mage Department?

Bolton secretly guessed.

"Ahem..." Vogu coughed lightly. "Then... If you don't want to leave first, I'll go first... see you inside, Lord Bolton..."

Vogu's footsteps flickered as he spoke, and he directly stepped into the opening of the barrier. The few high-ranked demons behind Bolton were about to stop him, but they were stopped by Bolton.

"Aren't you going to make a move?"

The person who spoke was a pitch-black figure who looked like a standing shadow.

This was the strongest assassin in Bolton's faction. Shadow Demon: nefal... ..

"Yes, my Lord..." a burly man who was completely red and felt like his body was on fire leaned forward with a muffled voice. "There are no traps at this position. Isn't it the best opportunity for him to be alone?"

The person who spoke was the most powerful person in Bolton's faction, the Flame Demon Ragnaros, who was known as the strongest commander!

"What do you think?" Bolton looked at a white-haired man who had been silent all this while.

Compared to the strange-looking demons beside him, this white-haired man looked more like a pure-blooded human-shaped creature. He looked extremely thin and thin, which did not fit the temperament of a demon at all.

However, upon closer inspection, one would find that his temperament was very similar to that of Vera, who was standing beside SAB.

Everyone in Burton's faction knew that this was the commander-in-chief of Burton's three armies, the commander of the first fallen angel, Safilos...

Hearing the leader's question, Safilos' expression was very calm, as if it had nothing to do with him. He said calmly, "I don't have any opinions..."

The few demon commanders beside him frowned when they saw this attitude. The Balrog Ragnaros was especially displeased as he let out a breath of hot air.

He said coldly, "You don't have any opinions? Then what are you here for? To save your king that was wandering outside?"

As soon as he said that, the surrounding aura suddenly turned cold, and the surrounding elemental particles were instantly frozen. Safilos' originally calm expression also turned terrifyingly cold as he stared coldly at the other party.

However, Ragnaros did not even flinch as he stared back at the other party.

The Fallen Angels were a high-level royal family of the Abyss, and his flame demons were not to be trifled with. Who was not a high-level bloodline? Who was bluffing?

No one knew what Lord Bolton thought of this place. In terms of military merits and strength, the position of commander-in-chief of the three armies should belong to him, Ragnaros!

"Don't mention that bastard again!" Safilos said with a cold expression. "Otherwise, I'll make you shut up forever!"

“Oh? I’m So Scared!”Ragnaros sneered. “Come and try. Let’s see who will shut up forever!”

Safilos’ eyes flashed coldly when he heard that. He seemed to be about to make a move, but in an instant, the aura on their bodies was stripped away, as if they were isolated!

Ragnaros said angrily, “My lord, don’t mind it. I’ll definitely tear off your fur today!”

“Shut up!”Burton said coldly. “Do you think I’m a dead man? If anyone tries to use force, I’ll immediately cripple him. In the face of such a major event, even if I cripple you, those elders won’t have anything to say!”

The two of them instantly lost their imposing manner.

“Alright...”a huge rock-shaped demon behind them said, “Liege, let’s go in first. That entrance seems to be shrinking...”

Bolton nodded. No matter what, Let’s go in first and talk later...

The group of demons squeezed through the entrance in such a disharmonious atmosphere. After all the demons had disappeared from the barrier’s entrance, a huge eye outside the barrier slowly opened.

“Pure demon faction... interesting...”

Chapter 1165: Demonic Forces (Part One)

The Abyss, a rare public otherworld in the Federation universe. It was also the only otherworld that had not been reduced to a battlefield!

The first public Otherworld in the Federation universe was the Immortal Palace. The reason was that the god alliance had personally come down to protect it and forcefully stopped the foreign lords from spying on it. There were many reasons, other than the fact that the immortal palace had the necessary resources needed by the god, the Immortal Palace’s fairy race possessed extremely powerful divination abilities and could help the federation avoid many risks of heavy losses.

The Abyss was the second public Otherworld. The reason why it was not reduced to a battlefield was not because of the protection of the gods, but because there were no powers that could monopolize this place as a battlefield, including the current ten strongest lords.

Right, the reason was because this otherworld was strong enough!

The creatures in the Abyss were collectively known as demon species by the outside world. In the federation’s language, this was a powerful and dangerous title.

The Abyss had a total of seven levels, and each level’s space was incomparably vast. It was the Otherworld with the largest amount of resources discovered so far, and it was also the most powerful native world. Although no forces dared to openly provoke this place after it became public..., there were many lone rangers who treated this place as a place to earn money.

Lone Rangers went into the Abyss to make money. The demons in the Abyss also had the identity of Federation citizens, and they could work in the Universe Federation, do business, and even get married and have children.

On the surface, it seemed like they were getting along quite well, but in reality, it was not the case.

Many adventurers who went into the Abyss to make money mysteriously died at the hands of the official forces of the Abyss. It was only because they obtained valuable things from the Abyss, and the demons who did business outside would often suffer discrimination from the tens of thousands of races in the federation.

Regardless of whether they were workers or businessmen, they had actually suffered unequal treatment in the federation. In fact, many factions had even banned demons from entering.

This had also resulted in the Abyss being divided into federation citizens in name, but in reality, it was separated by a cold wall from the federation. The federation and the demon community had never been able to fuse together...

The conflict grew deeper and deeper until finally, at the beginning of the New Age, the largest scale of friction occurred!

It was a terrifying upheaval. No one knew exactly what happened. All they knew was that in an instant, the first three levels of the Abyss had been sealed off to the outside world. Furthermore, none of the descendants of the foreign families who had once fished for gold in the first three levels could return.

This included the elders of many families and even the military procurement personnel of some major factions.

However, faced with the questioning of so many factions, the entire Abyss did not give any answers. That time, it even caused many deity overlords to launch a joint crusade against it, almost causing a direct war between the outside world and the abyss.

At that time, it was only when the deity academy and the Federation officials appeared together that they were able to stop this crisis. After that, the upper three levels of the abyss were completely closed to the outside world, while the lower four levels continued to be open to the outside world, the strange thing was that after the upper three levels were closed to the outside world, the attitude of the lower four levels towards the outside world had clearly changed.

Firstly, the Federation's law enforcement forces were allowed to move in. Furthermore, the Federation had set up stations in several cities on the lower four levels, and they had even allowed outsiders to do hotel business here.

One had to know that in the past, many people did not dare to stay in hotels opened by demons. With an outsider family doing hotel business here, at the very least, a certain degree of safety was guaranteed.

After all, those who can do business in the Abyss are big forces, and big forces are to look at word of mouth, basic will not appear black eat black situation.

Because of this, after the great conflict, more people came to the abyss to seek gold than before... . .

Many are also beginning to wonder, what happened in the Abyss, why there is now such a change?

At this moment, in the fourth level of the Abyss, in a crystal tower that was floating with earth, fire, water, and wind elements, a group of demons with terrifying auras were sitting in the hall of the Crystal Tower.

This place was called the elemental tower. It was a very strange place. The Abyss was a world outside of the physical world. Generally, things in the physical world would not appear in the spiritual world. For example, in the immortal palace, the scene inside was very strange, however, there was no physical substance.

However, the Abyss had many things that were the same as the physical world. However, they were between the physical and spiritual illusions. There were many different ideas mixed in.

The typical representative was the hell fire of the fallen angels. It was clearly a fire element, but there were too many things that were not fire elements. It was a flame that was created by the spirit. In the industry, this flame was called the flame of sin, the seven deadly sins defined the different flames of hell.

However, fire elements were originally just one element. However, here, they could be mixed with the power of different spiritual meanings.

Therefore, many materials in the Abyss had very high research value. It was also the reason why many people came to fish for gold. For example, this elemental tower. Any pure elemental body could be sold at a good price in the black market.

However, very few people dared to come here. After all, this was once the imperial city of the four elemental demons, where top-tier life-level demons were stationed.

As for why this place was once, it was because there were no longer only elemental demons living in this elemental city now...

In the hall, other than the four elemental demons, there were other royal families from other dimensions, including Dylan Demons on the ninth level, blood demons on the eighth level, and even fallen angels on the third level...

There were at least a thousand star-ranked demons standing in the hall. This number completely surpassed any of the Lords' forces. It was no wonder that none of the Lords could offend this place.

And in the middle of the hall, there were all the top existences of the various demons, the representative elders of the various high-level demon species.

"The intelligence says that that child Bolton has already brought the entire force out of the territory for almost a year!"

The one who spoke was a female demon whose entire body was covered in sharp blades. She was the representative elder of the ninth level's royal family, the Dylan Devils.

The female demon's tone was very cold, and there was even a trace of questioning in her tone. The person she was questioning was the representative of the fallen angels, who was seated at the head of the table.

The upper three levels had already been sealed off from the outside world, refusing to cooperate with the federation. However, the third level's royal family had appeared on the lower four levels. Those who did not know about this would most likely find it extremely strange.

"Yes..."the fallen angel representative was an extremely young-looking man. If grandfather and the others were here, they would definitely discover that this man's appearance was almost 70-80% similar to that of Vera Faa. However, this fellow should be carrying a gun...

"Why did you hide it from us?"The representative of Dylan Devil's tone became colder and colder.

"I didn't hide it..."the fallen angel representative's tone was indifferent as he said, "I just didn't specially inform all of you. After all, it's not a big deal..."

"It's not a big deal?"The representative of the ice demon beside him laughed out of anger. "It's not a big deal to take away all the activated stars? He almost went all out this time. Are you telling me that it's not a big deal?"

Pausing for a moment, he said, "How much did we pay to let him have the qualifications of a deity? How much did we promise the federation? If something bad happens, will you be responsible?"

Chapter 1166: Demon Faction (second)

How much did it cost?

Elder Dylan's words caused the atmosphere in the hall to fall silent.

Now that the upper three levels were closed, countless high-level demons were forced to move from the upper three levels, while the lower four levels strengthened their communication with the outside world. They were even willing to let the Federation's law enforcement team move in. All of these were the price they paid to obtain the deity slots!

At the beginning of this era, the conflict between the federation and the various demons had reached its peak. There were many incidents of demons researching the void in many factions, and they even deliberately promoted some dangerous species from other worlds.

Such creatures caused great harm in some marginal areas, causing many civilians to have poorer senses towards the demons of the Abyss faction. In particular, there were several incidents of large-scale cracks in the void that were traced back to the shadows of demons, and coincidentally, the largest incident happened within the territory of the newly promoted Third Liege, Cang Yue.

Hence, this newly promoted killing God did something that many liege wanted to do but did not dare to do. He led his direct line of troops and charged into the upper echelons of the abyss, slaughtering all the high-level demons that were involved in this incident, this included the current leader of the royal clan of the second level, the heavenly demon race!

This wave could be said to have directly angered the bottom line of the void. The Abyss Demons began to directly slaughter the citizens of the Federation within the Abyss. After this matter developed, seven out of the ten great suzerains of the Federation brought their Ace Armies to surround the void! A Great War was about to break out at any moment!

Due to the pressure, the federation officials also led the Heavenly God peacekeeping team to seal off the abyss, starting the final negotiations with the many demon suzerains of the abyss.

Whether it was a war or not was a matter of opinion at that time. Many people believed that the abyss was about to become history.

However, the Federation had actually tried their best to persuade them to make peace at that time.

The bottom of the Abyss was sealed with the largest void rift of the current era. Once the chaos was over with the abyss demons, allowing them to switch sides to the void, it would be a great blow to the federation.

There were also two major factions within the abyss. Most of the high-level races that were led by the upper three levels were inclined towards a war. However, most of the demons on the lower four levels were not willing to fight to the death with the federation.

This was because compared to the void, the people from the federation were clearly much easier to come into contact with. The lower-level demons that were in charge of sealing knew very well how difficult it was to come into contact with those terrifying creatures.

The high-level lords of both sides had argued with each other for a very long time, but they had never been able to reach an agreement.

And at the crucial moment, the fourth Lord, Sylvanas, personally went to the abyss to lobby and put forward a point of view, instantly roping in the demon lords on the lower four levels.

It was the sky god quota! !

The fact that the undead were able to ally with the federation back then meant that the federation had acknowledged the position of the sky god of the undead. Since that was the case, why couldn't the demons join the Sky God system as well?

This sentence went straight to the hearts of the many demons.

The Abyss had joined the federation for tens of thousands of eras and suppressed the largest crack in the void. Every year, they would lose many of their disciples due to clearing out the void monsters that had escaped from the crack. Back then, when the Void was sealed, the Abyss had also put in a lot of effort., the seven great demonic gods had even directly transformed into a myriad of demonic elephants to suppress the entrance.

However, all of this did not earn the federation's approval. Just like how they loathed the undead, the various races of the federation had a blatant discrimination against demons. However, unlike the undead, the undead had their own territory in the federation, as well as their own sky gods, at the very least, they had a place to serve!

However, the demons were different. Without the power of sky gods, they would not be able to obtain the benefits that they deserved in the federation!

As a result, the conflict between the two sides grew deeper and deeper, and many of the higher-ups of the demons had lost their patience with the federation.

Once Sylvanas' proposal was put forward, there were people from both sides who opposed it. Some of the higher-ups in the abyss were opposed to completely integrating into the federation, while many of the Emphyrean gods in the federation were also opposed to allowing demons to infiltrate the Emphyrean God system.

This was because deep down, they did not trust this race, who was extremely talented but extremely crafty. The Emphyrean Gods were the federation's Ultimate Weapon. If they were to be controlled by the abyss, it would be even harder to deal with them if they were to rebel.

After many days of stalemate, the principal of the Sky God Alliance and the ten great lords took the lead and gave an answer.

Using the trial method, they first gave ten spots. If the Abyss could successfully set an example as a model sky god, and successfully achieve a balance between the demons and the descendants of the other families in the federation.., then they would allow the abyss to completely join the sky god system.

The federation's side had unified their opinions, but the Abyss's side was still arguing endlessly. Many demon lords on the lower four levels really wanted to try this opportunity, but most of the nobles and demons on the upper three levels did not want to try, and still insisted on completely leaving the federation.

Under the situation where their opinions were always at odds, a bloody battle broke out!

Many nobles on the upper three levels suddenly got into trouble one day, and forcefully massacred the descendants of the federation who stayed on the upper three levels. They wanted to completely escalate the conflict, and also completely cut off the thoughts of the lower four levels.

However, the demon nobles of the upper three levels had clearly underestimated the desire of the majority of demon lords for the deity genes. Many demon lords completely erupted and directly attacked the upper three levels, almost turning into a civil war.

In the end, the demon gods at the bottom of the Abyss woke up and organized this civil war. After understanding what had happened, they completely sealed the upper three levels of the federation that they were unwilling to integrate into, isolating them from the outside world. They also came to a consensus with the Federation, outsiders were not allowed to enter the upper three levels.

As for the lower four levels that were willing to cooperate with the federation, they were completely open to the federation. They increased the degree of affinity and even allowed the law-maintaining troops to enter.

Of course, not all the demons in the upper three levels rejected the federation. There were also races in the lower four levels that agreed with the ideas of the demons in the upper three levels. Under the control of the demon god, those who were completely separated and unwilling to accept were all moved to the upper three levels, those who were willing to cooperate moved down from the space in the upper three levels. The fallen angel race was an example.

Thus, it became the current situation.

And this unrest was prohibited from spreading to the outside world. After tens of billions of years, other than the ten great suzerains who participated in the incident, very few people knew about this matter. And after that incident, the god trial of the abyssal race began, it began quietly.

There were only ten spots. The abyssal demons were very cautious about this. They wanted to be outstanding and also to serve the interests of the major demon races. Just the selection of the candidates had taken tens of billions of years, in the end, it was chosen by the outstanding descendant of the ninth-level royal race, Dylan Demon: Burton!

In other words, Burton was the first trial spot in the Abyssal Sky God Project!

His success or failure was of utmost importance to the Abyss. Although there were a total of ten slots, if the first application failed, it would cause a great shake to many demon clans who were wavering.

Currently, the lower four levels had an absolute advantage over the upper three levels because the demon clans who wanted to integrate into the federation occupied the entire seven levels of the abyss. However, if they failed, it was very likely that a large portion of the demons would choose to defect, after all, the upper three levels were closed to the outside world, but not to the inside. Moreover, regardless of the environment or resources, the upper three levels were much more powerful than the lower four levels. Currently, the demon lords on the upper three levels had already begun to openly recruit their races to move in, clearly, they wanted to break up their alliance.

At this moment, Bolton's success appeared to be extremely important.

Fortunately, Bolton's start over the past few years was still rather good. In less than an era, he had already gained quite a good momentum. It was extremely encouraging to the inside. More and more races began to send their outstanding disciples into Bolton's faction! Among them were the flame demon clan's royal candidate, Ragnaros, and the fallen angel royal candidate, Safilos!

Seeing that this seedling was growing as fast as possible, many demon lords who had bet on the treasure were secretly satisfied. However, they did not expect Bolton to suddenly make such a risky move... ..

Faced with the questions of many demon lords, the Fallen Angel Elder was also very troubled. He did not understand what the patriarch was thinking. Why did he allow that child Bolton to be so bold?

By the way, why on earth did that child take such a risk?

Chapter 1167: Burton's fate (Part One)

"Sir? Sir Burton?"

"HMM?"

In a magical world filled with biological fibers, Burton, who had a sudden realization, was woken up by his subordinates.

Burton turned his head to look at the other party. The one who called him was a huge demon. His skin was petrified, like a three-dimensional earth element, but his muscles and body lines were perfect, it was a completely different species from the stone golem that was formed by ordinary earth elements.

It was the commander of the Sixth Legion in his faction, the Rock Demon Bogus!

The magnitude of the huge spatial storm was beyond his imagination. Bolton looked around and realized that there was only this big fool by his side. It seemed like the others were blown to different pieces.

When the storm swept up, he was very sensitive to the operation of the core of this world. It was obvious that the master of this world had divided his team.

However, he was not worried. Everyone who came with him was a top-tier demon. They were the direct descendants of high-level demons. They were not inferior to Saab's strength, or even stronger.

However, he was very curious. Why did the master of this world keep bogus by his side?

"Sir..."bogus scratched his head and asked, "What should we do now?"

Bolton looked around and asked, "Did you detect anything strange in the surroundings?"

"UH... no..."bogus smiled foolishly and said, "Sir, you didn't say anything. I thought you were probing and didn't disturb you. However, when I saw that you didn't move for a long time, I realized that you were in a Daze..."

Bolton:"..."

Looking at this silly big guy's smile, Bolton was a little speechless. In terms of strength, bogus's strength was definitely not inferior to Saab's, but in terms of intelligence and temperament... "...". He was really a little worried. He suddenly felt that it was good for this guy to stay by his side, but it was really easy to worry if he was left outside.

He didn't know what the Rock Demon Tribe was thinking, to actually send this guy to his faction...

The process of obtaining the deity qualification was somewhat bumpy. At the beginning, he was recommended by the elders of the Dylan Demon clan, and then he was favored by the elders of the Balrog tribe and the fallen angel tribe, finally obtaining the qualification.

However, the high-level demons of other tribes did not favor a Dylan demon like him. In the abyss, Dylan Demons were synonymous with greed and short-sightedness, and many high-level demons did not believe in him..., even though his performance had been outstanding on many occasions.

Burton had been born in the upper three levels of the seal, so he did not know much about that period of history.

When he heard that the elders above wanted him to become a sky god, he was shocked. After all, there had never been a case of a demon sky god in the history of the Abyss, in the past, he had always thought that the federation rejected demons becoming Sky Gods.

He had never thought that the higher-ups would give him such a path.

When he first heard this news, his heart was extremely complicated. After all, his original dream was to become the chief of the Dylan Devils and lead the Dylan Devils towards glory.

He had never thought that the higher-ups would favor him even more. They actually wanted him to become an Empyrean God to change the situation of the Abyss Devils in the Federation.

To be honest, he did not expect such an important mission to land on his head at all. However, he was very excited. After all, this path was clearly more challenging and meaningful than being the demon leader of a single race.

With an incomparably hot-blooded drive, he came to the deity academy and began the journey of the deity's dream.

However, this path was more difficult than he had imagined...

With the support of the many demon tribes in the abyss, he naturally wouldn't be reduced to a tourist overlord like seer. The starting planet and location were all very good, a first-grade initial planet., the native groups with excellent genetic aptitude, the good interstellar ecology around them, all kinds of energy ores and reserve life stars were all very perfect.

Obtaining all of this wasn't difficult, as long as they were willing to spend money. The top demons in the Abyss didn't lack money, and they were also crowdfunding, so naturally they didn't lack this bit of starting resources.

However, the path of a deity overlord was not a path that could be taken just because the starting resources were good.

The Federation had a law that forbade large families from monopolizing. Other than attracting investments and schools, a deity overlord could not hire outsiders who were five levels higher than themselves. Moreover, the strength of its members had to comply with the rules of the deity contract!

The last sentence was very restrictive to the descendants of large families. It almost eliminated the possibility of large families directly sending experts to reside among the descendants of the deity.

Why?

This was related to the deity's contract. The capacity of the deity's contract was not unlimited... ..

It did not mean that a deity only needed to have a territory to be able to sign experts without thinking. This was not allowed by the laws of the deity, and the deity's contract itself did not allow it. Once it exceeded the capacity, the deity itself would explode because it could not accommodate it... ..

The rules were related to the territory.

With a high-quality territory and a world core, the capacity of the deity would increase. And with the faith of many people, the capacity of the deity would be greater and greater. Therefore, when signing a contract with a family member., the deity had to have sufficient capacity.

Many people might ask, then was it possible to not sign a deity contract and move in?

Yes!

But it would consume a lot of energy!

The laws of the territories occupied by the gods were very repulsive to outsiders. If they did not sign the treaty, the elements of the entire planet would reject them, this caused high-level lifeforms to be unable to absorb energy through breathing, meditation, and other methods to maintain energy consumption.

Without the absorption of ordinary elements to maintain energy, the higher the level of the lifeform, the higher the energy consumption. Especially for dragon-level star level powerhouses, it was very exaggerated. They needed a large amount of high-level nutrient fluids to replenish their energy!

Moreover, they could not use the local elements to train and improve.

Whether it was the cost of the former or the stagnation of the latter in the evolution of their own life forms, it was not something that the powerhouses could accept. Therefore, no matter how strong a family was., it was basically impossible for the powerhouses to stay in the territory of the descendants of the gods for protection or development. The cost was not equal, and the damage to the high-level powerhouses themselves was too great.

Attracting investments and schools were exceptions. Qualified companies and schools could provide public energy channels through the federal government for supplies.

However, such channels were very difficult to apply for. It was still fine for schools. As long as there were federally certified tertiary institutions and above, they were eligible to apply for public energy channels. However, companies that wanted to apply needed to be very strict, it was only possible if there was a commercial assessment conducted by the Sky God Alliance, and a large amount of customs duties would have to be paid.

As for whether it was a school or a company, the abyss demons did not... ..

In the entire federation, the only ones who could openly use a school to protect a faction were the starry elves.

Of course, there was still seer, but the method was different. The Starry Elves relied on the powerful foundations of their own race to establish a tertiary institution. Furthermore, there was only one sky god that they could protect, and that was seer... .. They had relied on a bunch of cheats to attract them.

Thus, when Bolton started, although he had a good start, he didn't have any other resources. He had to face many problems, such as... .. Interference from other lords, and also..! ... space pirates! ! !

Chapter 1168: The Fate of Burton (Part Two)

Interstellar Pirates had always been the existence that many small lords feared the most. No matter how great their family background was or how good their starting resources were, they could only admit defeat when they encountered those outlaws, this was because the gods that had not grown up truly had no power to resist.

Moreover, one could not tell whether those star-ranked pirates were real pirates or the arrangements of some hostile forces.

That time, Bolton was severely injured. The planet with the initial resources was destroyed, the people were plundered, and all the resources brought from the elders of the Abyss were taken away! Including the few highly regarded juniors that the elders trusted him to send him to grow up with, they all died an unnatural death!

Among them was the fallen angel's royal candidate at that time.

That loss made the abyss demons very disappointed in him. They even began to prepare for the selection of a second deity slot.

He had not even dared to return to the abyss at that time. Instead, he had become a drifting lord... ..

But his bad luck had ended from that moment on...

He had met the starting point of changing his fate, that mysterious intelligence!

The intelligence had guided him to find a new planet. That was a new starting point, a chance to start anew.

And because of that, he had made a comeback!

After that, the intelligence had guided him to obtain countless resources, including some ancient hidden things. In just a few million years, he had personally earned the resources of a galaxy, giving him the right to return to the abyss, he had gained the renewed trust of the demon elders!

By now, he already owned more than a hundred galaxies. Sixteen galaxies had been developed to the level of high-level starfields. The deity contract could already allow him to sign a large number of demon disciples.

The Abyss continuously sent outstanding disciples here, and he also used the deity resources to nurture the disciples of the various demon tribes. In just a few tens of millions of years., three star-level juniors and a large group of dragon-level juniors were born from his faction, and they were all nurtured by the resources he earned in the Federation!

This result was in line with the expectations of the elders. More and more tribes began to trust him, sending their own descendants, and also began to provide resources to him, they were even willing to provide their own blood essence for him to create an activation star under his persuasion!

Everything was working in an extremely good way, and under the guidance of his intelligence, his rise speed far surpassed that of an ordinary deity!

In the Eastern Star region, other than that smelly panda, there was basically no deity in the younger generation who could compare to him!

But in his heart, the speed of development was still too slow!

Along with his rise, more and more demons in the Abyss wanted to send their own children to be nurtured in the faction, and the Elders' requirements for him became higher and higher.

But what kind of size was the abyss? What kind of size was his faction?

How could it accommodate so many juniors?

More and more demons began to quarrel over the quota. Every demon race fought over the opportunity to send a child to him.

This was originally a good thing, which meant that his position was becoming more and more important. But later on, he did not think so.

Because he heard that the Abyss began to plan to nurture a few more gods to expand domestic demand!

If that was the case, then he would not be the only demon sky god in the future. His unique status might slowly disappear as the competition increased.

He needed to be faster and become a great lord as soon as possible. That way, even if there were junior sky god Lords, they would not be able to replace his position in a short period of time.

After all, the importance of a great lord was completely different from that of an ordinary sky god. In the universe, only a great lord was qualified to turn a race into a royal family, and let the abyss demons have the glory of a royal family, this was something that many elders dreamed of. As long as they could realize it, they would become an irreplaceable existence in the history of the Abyss!

However, the threshold for becoming a great lord was simply too high. Even though he had been constantly expanding over the past few years, he seemed to have reached a bottleneck and needed a large amount of time to digest the results of the previous battles. Before he encountered a major era., it seemed that he could only enter a period of grinding.

This made him, who had been advancing with great success, become a little impatient. This was also why he would make such a big move after confirming seer's fortuitous encounter.

"My Lord..." rock demon bogus said in a muffled voice, "I looked around, but there was nothing. I also didn't sense the auras of my other comrades. Should I expand my spiritual domain to detect them?"

Burton glanced at the other party and smiled. Although the other party was simple-minded, he was very obedient. At least, he knew to consult him on everything. Among the many commanders, this fellow was probably the one whom he felt the most at ease using... ..

In the early days, when this fellow was sent in, he was actually very dissatisfied. He felt that the rock demon clan was just giving him a perfunctory reply. However, now, the Rock Demon clan wanted to send some powerful disciples in, but unfortunately... .. there were no more star-ranked slots left... ..

"Don't act rashly, this will easily expose your position..." Burton said indifferently.

Bogus: "Then what should we do?"

Burton: "Wait and see..."

"Oh..." bogus nodded, but then he said, "Lord, it can't be that you didn't think of what to do, right?"

Bolton: "..."

This fellow was useful, but he was too straightforward. If it were the other subordinates, they would have been more tactful.

Indeed, he did not think of what to do now. After all, everything that happened now was far too different from what he had expected!

To be honest, facing a junior who was only at level five or six, he had already been cautious enough to guess that the other party had a great opportunity and was even willing to use all his strength to catch a rabbit. However, he had never thought that this would be the case!

He could not be blamed for having a low imagination. He could only blame the reality for being too magical... ..

He should have immediately retreated when the situation had encountered such a huge change... ..

After all, what he was shouldering was different from ordinary gods. He was shouldering the entire demon race of the Abyss. Theoretically, he should have fought steadily and steadily. It was extremely inappropriate for him to take such a gamble.

However... the temptation this time was too great!

If he really managed to obtain the spirit-system world passageway, he would be able to take off in one wave. With such a huge amount of resources, even if all the descendants of the demon race of the Abyss poured into his faction, he could still afford to raise them!

If he succeeded, he would be the greatest Dylan Demon in the history of demons!

No one would be able to bear to let go of such an opportunity... ..

Bolton looked up at the green fibers that filled the sky and looked into the distance. A hint of confusion appeared on his face once again. To be honest, even now, he was not sure if his risky move was the right one.

Because from the moment he arrived here, many things had begun to break out of his control... ..

First Seer, then Ryan, and then that little fellow from the fairy tribe that he thought was already under his control... ..

One thing after another escaped from his control, causing him to feel a faint sense of unease. And what made him the most uneasy was not those things, but the more important things.

He did not know when it started, but that intelligence that had been guiding him all along..! ... seems to have disappeared! ! ! !

Chapter 1169: Return (Part One)

“Bolton is back! !”

In the Elemental Hall on the fourth level of the Abyss, while many demon lords were seriously discussing the topic of Bolton’s disappearance, the fallen angel elder received a message from his clan and informed the demon lords who were in a heated argument.

In an instant, the entire place fell into silence...

“He’s Back?”

All the demons stared at the fallen angel elder eagerly, waiting for his next piece of news. Only the Dylan Demon's representative had a gloomy expression on his face.

Bolton was a descendant of the Dylan Demon. He had actually notified the fallen angel clan the moment he returned!

With all the representatives of the clan present, the Dylan Demon Clan's reputation was very bad...

"What's the situation?" The Balrog representative immediately asked.

"The losses are very heavy!" The Fallen Angel Elder's face was somewhat gloomy. "Of the seven active stars, only three are left. Even the main star has suffered irreversible damage. It can only be broken down and used as a raw material reserve!"

"What? ?"

The demons were instantly shocked.

Those seven active stars were all made from top-tier demon blood essence. They were made using the federation's extremely high-end activation technology. The elders who had participated in the production knew very well how powerful they were... This was especially so for the main star. There were dragons in it...

"How could this be?" Dylan frowned. "What about the other losses? How are the losses of the disciples?"

"It's even more serious!" The Fallen Angel Elder took a deep breath and said, "Almost half of the demon legions of the direct line of descent have been lost. Other than the direct line of descent disciples of the embrace of death who were out on missions, and Saab of the blood demon clan who was fine, the leading disciples of the seven legions have all lost their lives!"

"This! ! !"

The group of people stood in the distance, especially the Balrog next to them. The flame shadow around his body instantly expanded. As they were in the Elemental Hall, the surrounding fire elements were quite cooperative and restless, it gave people the feeling that the entire space was churning.

"Ragnaros is dead?" The Balrog's tone was filled with surging anger!

That was a direct descendant that they had high hopes for in their generation. Among the next successors, he was at least one of the top five existences. Although his personality was relatively simple, his bloodline purity, physique, and cultivation talent were all top-notch, even if he could not become a Balrog lord in the end, he was at least a member of the Council of Elders and a candidate for the future top-notch combat strength of the Balrog clan.

And now, he was gone just like that?

"I've always said that the Dylan demon is unreliable! ! !"

The Balrog elder stomped his foot angrily, causing the entire elemental tower to shake and the lava on the ground to roar and roll.

“Watch your words. What do you mean by the Dylan Demon is unreliable?”The Dylan Demon Elder looked at the other party with a gloomy expression.

“I’m talking about you disgusting things!”The Balrog did not flinch at all and ignored the other party’s warning. “I have long opposed giving such an important task to a Dylan Demon!”

“Ha...”elder Dylan demon sneered when he heard that. “You didn’t say that when you received the benefits all these years!”

“Hmph, I was fooled by your appearance!”The Balrog snorted coldly. “I thought that Kid was different from ordinary Dylan Demons, but now it seems that he’s just the same. He won’t be able to accomplish anything!”

“You! !”Elder Dylan Devil was about to say something else when the fallen angel in the lead stretched out her hand. In an instant, the surging fire elements were dissipated and formless by an unknown force... ..

“Enough!”The Fallen Angel Elder looked at the two people who were ready to fight and said coldly, “At this moment, more than one family has been lost. Safilos is also gone!”

As soon as he said that, the people around were stunned. Even the fiery demon stopped talking.

Many people knew that Safilos was the most favored son of the fallen angels. If there were no accidents, he could be the next successor. At that time, the fallen angels could send Safilos to Bolton, many people found it unbelievable. They thought that the fallen angels trusted Bolton too much.

In the end...

“Safilos didn’t come back, so neyfal...”

Beside him, a black shadow stood up and muttered softly. His tone was very calm, and one could not tell whether he was happy or angry. However, Dylan demon could clearly feel the temperature around him dropping rapidly!

Elder Dylan Demon took a step back warily. Shadow Demons were different from flame demons. Flame demons were short-tempered, but at least they could be controlled. Shadow Demons were a group of well-known lunatics who would attack you whenever they had the intention to kill you!

Nevar was a very talented assassin in this batch of shadow demons. According to elder Dylan’s knowledge, he seemed to be the current direct disciple of this representative elder!

What does the fallen angel clan want to do? Push all the conflicts onto me, Dylan Demon?

The elder’s face instantly turned livid. He cursed the fallen angels for their sinister intentions, but at the same time, he was furious with Burton. He knew that this bastard was unreliable, but he did not expect it to bring so much trouble. Speaking of which, you’ve made such a huge mess., how could he have the face to come back? Shouldn’t they die outside together?

If Bolton died outside as well, at least Dylan Demons would have an explanation! !

After all, which family wasn’t an outstanding child?

“Quiet...” just as the surrounding people began to discuss again, the fallen angel elder finally spoke again.

“This time, it might not be a bad thing...”

“What?” The demons were stunned once again. This elder must have been so heartbroken that he had lost his mind, right? Wasn’t it a bad thing?

The elder looked at the demons and said in a low voice, “Burton reported that although the losses this time were huge, compared to the things we obtained, it’s not worth mentioning!”

“UH...”

What an arrogant tone! !

The seven active planets had spent a huge amount of resources in the abyss, including the blood essence of the various royal families. Those were extremely precious existences. Every drop was less than the last. In addition, there were so many outstanding young disciples., this fellow actually said that it wasn’t worth mentioning?

“Oh?” The Balrog was the first to sneer. “Then I’d like to hear what he obtained.”

The Fallen Angel Elder was silent for a moment before he raised his eyes and said, “A brand new spirit-based world passageway, two! !”

The Demons:“!!!”

“Are... Are you joking?” The Rock Demon Representative Elder who had been silent all this time was the first to speak.

Everyone immediately turned to look at the fallen angel elder, waiting for him to continue.

The spirit-based world was the top resource of the current federation. Only deity overlords could interfere. Back then, in order to support Saab, they had a share of the battlefield in a certain spirit-based world, the Fallen Angel clan had directly taken out the royal blood essence to create an activation star for him. One had to know that the fallen angel clan could be said to be the demon species that valued bloodlines the most, other than the sky demons. Yet, they were actually willing to take out the royal blood essence, it could be seen how tempting that share was to the abyss.

And now, Bolton had actually directly obtained the world passage?

If he operated it well, he might even be able to monopolize it! !

At the thought of this, the breathing of all the demons began to quicken. If that was true, then the loss was really not worth mentioning! !

Chapter 1170: The Truth!

“Two spirit-based world passageways?”

Elder Dylan forcefully suppressed his excited breathing and hurriedly asked, “What scale? Are there any resource tests? Where are the coordinates? Are they within the region of other powerful deity overlords?”

These words almost instantly asked the inner thoughts of all the demons.

The Fallen Angel Elder was silent for a few seconds, finally, he said, "They didn't say. Such important information can not be said remotely. It's extremely easy for it to be leaked, especially when it comes to things like numerical coordinates. Outside, it's very easy for someone from the Federation to know and eavesdrop on it. After all, we don't know if the Outsiders have placed high-end eavesdropping technology around that child's faction, Bolton. Therefore, all of the key information needs to be personally obtained by someone!"

"Then what are we waiting for? Let's hurry up and go! !"The Balrog elder who was so furious that he wanted to tear Bolton apart a moment ago was now looking so excited that the eyelids of the surrounding demons twitched.

This fellow... spoke so straightforwardly...

"Are you stupid?"The shadow demon elder beside him said coldly, "Who are we? All of us? Are you afraid that we won't be eye-catching enough? Not to mention other reasons, what are so many fate-level demons doing out in the Abyss? Do you think those people from the federation's peace-keeping team won't Ask?"

"Uh..."the elder of the Balrog was instantly embarrassed when he heard that. Then, he rubbed his head and laughed, "Hehe, I'm a little excited... then what should we do?"

"We can only send one person to obtain information. When he comes back, just inform us..."

The moment these words were said, everyone understood that they had to find a representative.

But who could it be?

The Balrog elder sighed in slight disappointment. Although he was straightforward, he was not stupid. Naturally, it was not his turn to be qualified to go. It was either Bolton's mother race, elder Dylan Demon, who would go..., or it was the fallen angels who supported Bolton's faction the most.

The demons on the field looked at the two of them, and the two of them also looked at each other.

Elder Dylan was very nervous at this moment. Although Bolton was born Dylan, he was actually not very popular in the clan. Because of the mixed blood, although his talent was not bad, he was not very recognized, many times, he would be ostracized by the direct descendants.

This was also why the Dylan Demon Army was ranked ninth in Bolton's faction. Because they were almost the last to enter the faction, many elders eventually bowed their heads in order to enter Bolton's faction, they had come to the Bolton faction to persuade them for a long time.

But what was the saying? If you don't accompany someone when the sun is setting, who are you to rise again?

You have always looked down on others. How could it be so easy for others to rise and take advantage of you?

Back then, the Dylan Demon Army had paid a great price in order to enter the faction. This included supporting the production of the activation star in the beginning and contributing the blood essence of the royal family.

Even so, the relationship between Burton and his mother race had never been that harmonious. On the contrary, the fallen angels, who had supported Burton the most, were now highly favored in the faction.

Many times, Burton seemed to be more willing to be close to the fallen angels, which made many people in the clan secretly call him an ingrate...

With such a relationship, it was indeed hard to say who Burton would choose to get the information...

The Fallen Angel Elder was silent for a long time, forcing the demons' hearts to their throats. In the end, he said slowly, "There's news from Bolton's side. Ask the representative of Dylan demon to receive the news and discuss the allocation of resources!"

"Oh! !"

The demons were instantly in an uproar when they heard that. In the end, Bolton actually chose his own mother race!

The Fallen Angels and the other high-level demons instantly frowned as they looked at the elder, their hearts filled with rage.

Back then, it was the fallen angels who had suggested that Burton take the Empyrean God qualification. Back then, most of Burton's first batch of resources had been gathered by the fallen angels, including the support from the activation star. The Fallen Angels' support for Burton couldn't be described as insincere, and this was the result?

As expected... if he wasn't of my race, would his heart be different?

"Cough..." elder Dylan immediately turned red with excitement when he heard this. The high-level Dylan Demons who had followed behind him also fell into a state of excitement.

He thought to himself, 'this kid is still quite sensible. He knows that only his mother race is his greatest reliance! !'

"Alright..." the fallen angel Elder's face darkened as he interrupted the demons' discussion, he calmly said to elder Dylan, "Let's hurry up and set off. Bolton has obtained such a great opportunity. It's not clear if he has been discovered by other factions. Since you've been chosen, hurry up and set off and protect Bolton!"

"Don't worry..." elder Dylan suddenly became graceful and polite. He smiled and said, "I'll set off right now. I definitely won't let anything happen to the gods of our demon race!"

This guy...

The surrounding demons looked at Dylan's smug face and curled their lips, but they didn't say anything. It was a spirit-based world. With such a large amount of resources, who would dare to say anything at this time? Everyone was counting on things to be distributed.

But Dylan demon products...

Everyone immediately fell into worry...

-----

On the other side, the main star forces of the Bolton Force were carrying out a large-scale biological repair. The revival of the link between the planets was a huge project. Although only two of them returned, it was precisely because of the heavy losses.., many engineers who did not know the truth did not dare to be negligent, for fear of being blamed by the higher-ups.

Of course, there were also many gnomes who heard the news and began to pay attention. They wanted to purchase the decomposition materials of Burton's activation stars to earn a profit.

The entire faction instantly became busy. Burton had moved to the temporary administrative star. The commanders of the sixth and ninth war stars on the front lines had been found, and everyone was in a panic.

Meanwhile, within the organization, many intelligence officers had inexplicably become very quiet. They were very rational and did not inquire about what had happened. The atmosphere was extremely strange.

"Sir... There's news from the teleportation array. It says that there's a high-ranking member of the Abyss coming to visit!"

The intelligence officers in the new administrative planet all used newbies. In the past, Pippen and Billy's subordinates had suffered heavy losses in this war, and there were very few survivors who were in charge of intelligence at the outer perimeter. However, the people used to be from the intelligence department at the periphery... ..

"Yes... I understand. Activate the transmission authority and let the head of the concierge department, Elena, receive the vips. The Liege will meet the guests in the temporary Elemental Hall and let the concierge department arrange everything!"

"Yes, Sir..."the intelligence officer respectfully returned the bow, but she was very confused in her heart because she had never expected that the person who was in charge of the Liege's internal affairs was actually Lord Vera of the Blood Demon Army. ...

Even if Sir Pippen and Sir Billy were no longer around, there were still other outstanding intelligence officers and internal affairs officers in the force. Why would they let a deputy commander do these things?

Although he was confused, he was not a core member of the force. Naturally, he did not dare to ask any more questions. After saying yes, he left cautiously.

Vellafa looked coldly at the other party's disappearing figure. A trace of coldness flashed in her eyes. It was obvious that she saw that the little intelligence officer was suspicious, but in the end, she did not do anything. After all, killing a little intelligence officer at this time.., was more likely to arouse suspicion.

Sighing, Vera walked quickly to the Lord's room.

Strangely, the door of the Lord's room had almost no access settings. Vera directly opened the door and entered. If anyone saw it, they would definitely feel that it was very abnormal.

After entering the Lord's room, Vera looked at the people in the Lord's room with a gloomy gaze and said, "Are you ready?"

"Um... this... ahem... I'm a little nervous..."the voice in the Lord's room was not Bolton's voice at all. If Dogball and the others were here, their jaws would definitely drop to the ground.

Because the people sitting on the chair in the Lord's room were not Bolton, but soap and Grandpa!

"No matter how nervous you are, you should face it..."Vera took out a black crystal, which was emitting the aura of a top-tier secret treasure. She slowly took the crystal and approached soap, "Whether we can survive or not depends on this wave!"
