Chapter 1361: Trample!

“Who did it?”

Wang Goudan floated in the air, his pair of huge metal wings spread open, and the shadow almost covered the entire square. The pressure was like this huge shadow, pressing down on people so much that they could not see a single ray of light...

The white players who were laughing wildly just a moment ago were all huddled in a corner, not daring to breathe loudly, afraid that they would be noticed!

It wasn't that they were useless. In the beginning, there were still people who had the courage to come out and confront them. But now, they had become a pile of rotten meat on the square... ..

“I'll ask again!” Wang Goudan landed on the square with a bang. A black-and-red flame churned, and in an instant, the buildings on the square melted and evaporated like ice cubes. The group of people immediately broke out in sweat like water people.

It was unknown whether it was a physiological phenomenon caused by the high temperature or a psychological phenomenon caused by fear... ..

“No one took the initiative, right?” Goudan took a step forward coldly. The players who were close to him let out shrill screams. In less than two seconds, they turned into a pile of dried corpses and died in an abnormally horrifying and hideous manner!

“Oh, my God! ! !”

The group of people were so scared that their souls were about to fly out. They screamed and stood up, trying to escape from this place!

Wang Goudan took a step forward directly. His step that had already turned into a dragon stepped on the ground. With a muffled sound, everyone fell to the ground one after another. It was as if they were weighed down by ten thousand kilograms of iron on their backs. They could not move at all!

They could only shiver like puppies. They looked extremely helpless...

“You...” Eggface pointed at a white female player at the front and asked, “Tell me, who destroyed my shop?”

When Eggface got closer, the temperature was no different from the high-intensity steam room, but the female player felt as if she had fallen into an ice cellar. She shivered and couldn't say a word for a long time...

Bang!

Eggface paused for about three seconds before he directly stretched out his hand and squeezed. From a distance, the female player exploded like a watermelon, her flesh and blood flying everywhere!

The surrounding players who were lying on the ground were extremely terrified, but they were still unable to move under the high pressure. They could only watch as the terrifying beast slowly approached them...

“Say...”Goudan pointed at a muscular white player and asked, “Who destroyed my shop?”

“I . . . I . . .”The white player trembled as he forced himself to speak, “I . . . I don’t know...”

Bang! ! !

“Ah! ! !”

The scene was filled with screams again. Goudan pinched impatiently, and the female players who screamed the loudest turned into minced meat!

The people behind them quickly bit their tongues and tried their best to control themselves, not daring to make a sound!

Goudan’s expression became more and more impatient as he looked at the other group of players. It was the group of white players who had escorted a group of Huazhong players to the parade...

“What a disgrace...”Eggface looked at the Huazhong players who were also lying on the ground. He raised his finger slightly, and the pressure on the group of Huazhong players suddenly disappeared. They all looked carefully at eggface.

“Stand further away...”eggface waved his hand impatiently. ...

The group of Huazhong players immediately felt as if they had been pardoned. They all stood up and ran away with tears of gratitude, but they did not dare to run far. Instead, they avoided some of the white players who were waiting at the sides carefully... ..

“Who destroyed my shop?”Goudan asked the white players in the middle of the road coldly.

This time, no one dared to delay. A strong white man in the middle hurriedly pointed to the right. “Over there, that, that, and that AH SAN!”

Every time he said a name, that person would explode. The scene was extremely bloody and violent, but the group of players could only lie on the ground like lambs waiting to be slaughtered...

“Remember to react faster in the future...”Wang Goudan said as he gently pressed down on the white player in the middle of the road. The white player in the middle of the road was directly crushed into a meat patty, leaving only a white brawny man standing on the spot in fear as he looked around in a daze.

When the players from central China who had retreated from this place saw this scene, they felt extremely nauseous, but at the same time, an inexplicable sense of excitement rose in their hearts...

At this moment, the only ones who could stand suddenly realized that this group of people who had previously acted arrogantly were actually like maggots when they encountered stronger existences...

So they were also so ugly and weak...

“Scram...” dogball said to the only white player who was standing.

The white player quivered and immediately wailed like a dog as he said the three Q’s. Just as he was about to escape from this devil-like place., a girl among the Huazhong players timidly reminded him, “That... that... He doesn’t seem to be the one who answered your question...”

“Eh?” Eggface was stunned. “Is that so? Then which one answered my question?”

The girl pursed her lips and pointed at the meat patty on the ground... ..

“UH... Hahaha...” eggface smiled embarrassedly. “This... I’m sorry, you white players all look alike. I made a mistake...”

With a wave of his hand and a pinch, the white man who had been crying thanks turned into a pile of rotten meat in an instant!

Everyone:” ...”

Also speechless was a group of players watching the screen in Huaxia City... . .

“Holy... . This is... . Too Violent?”

“This is the advanced player? TSK tsk, too terrible, I yesterday in the dog egg restaurant credit, oh my God, later to pay...”

“F * ck, the dog egg restaurant can take a loan?”

“Brother, you can do it. You can actually afford the dog egg restaurant...”

“Aren’t you guys focusing on something else?”

“That’s right. What’s the situation now? Can you be more serious? By the way, do all white people look the same?”

“How do they look the same? The white person who reported betraying his fellow countrymen just now clearly looks more cunning. Although it’s indeed similar, there’s still a difference after a closer look...”

The reporters were trembling all over. It was unknown whether they were angry or scared... ..

Even Cindy’s face was pale at this moment. Although she was ashamed of the barbaric acts of her compatriots in the video just now, when she saw an even more barbaric guy stepping on her compatriots, a complicated feeling welled up in her heart...

“This...” elder long looked at everything on the screen and said with a frown, “Isn’t anyone going to stop him? It’s not good, is it?”

“Yes... it’s indeed not a good idea...” lei xue nodded. Then, with a light tap of her finger, one of the screens in the square switched to the location of the biological chamber in the main base.

In the biological chamber, Meister had completed his rebirth...

“City Lord Meister...” lei xue said faintly, “Please go to the fifth city immediately to maintain order!”

Let Meister maintain order?

The faces of all the city lords twitched. Was this guy serious?

“City Lord Meister, please don’t pretend to be asleep. The life signs of the biological chamber indicate that your heart rate is much higher than usual, and your nerve activity index is also very frequent. You are not in a dormant state. Please immediately put on your clothes and head to the fifth city to maintain order...”. “...”

Everyone:”...”

However, no matter how lei Xue called out, Mystra was like a dead pig. His eyes were tightly shut, and he looked as if he would not be able to come out even if he was beaten to death!

Right now, his mind was filled with the scene of him being blown into a dried corpse in the sky. Actually, it had only been a few seconds from his opponent’s high-speed takeoff to his death. However, the few seconds before his death., were stretched infinitely in his consciousness.

The pain and fear seemed to have lasted for an infinite amount of time. In the past, he heard that before a person died, their consciousness would be stretched to an unprecedented length. The pain that seemed to last for a second might be extremely long in his consciousness.

Now, he was very sure that this statement was true. And that terrifying and torturous feeling just now, he swore that he would never try it again! !

Chapter 1362: Why Do You Feel This Way?

“This is a disgrace, a disgrace! !”

The reborn Mistral roared furiously at Lei Xue.

At this moment, the press conference had been suspended due to the matter with Goudan. A few city lords had also returned to the conference room. In this safe environment of the conference room, facing Lei Xue who was willing to reason with him, Mistral finally had a temper!

“Such a barbaric monster! Such a thug must be severely punished! !”Mister’s aura was very strong, and it was as if he was about to reveal the truth. He looked as if he would not stop until he achieved his goal... ...

The city lords beside him rolled their eyes and sighed in their hearts that this guy was really a top-notch product.

The scene of him faking his death in the biological chamber was still vivid in their minds. Now, his performance was as if nothing had happened. If he really had such a temper, why didn’t he go when he was asked to maintain order in the beginning?

Of course, they also knew that the reason why he dared to jump like that was because Goudan had been caught!

The one who caught Goudan was Feng Doudou. Together with Pu Yunchuan, Liu Shiyu, and Li Goudan, they helped him... ..

The rampaging Wang Goudan had almost destroyed the entire fifth city. The three players who had responded to Lei Xue's call to help capture Wang Goudan had completely destroyed the fifth city... ..

That scene was really a marvel superhero movie where the superheroes fought each other. It made the players cry out in satisfaction. Of course, this kind of movie was more expensive... ..

After Lei Xue finished dealing with her matters and returned, Mister was resurrected. He was resurrected mentally and physically, and he looked like he was about to give an explanation to Lei Xue...

"Please don't be agitated, City Lord Mister..." Lei Xue looked at the exasperated Mister indifferently and said, "The temporary clothing provided in the base is very fragile. It Won't be good if you get agitated and break it..."

As soon as he finished speaking, there was a kacha sound, and Meister's pants instantly tore a big hole, revealing his large white butt...

"Cough cough..." all the city lords instantly choked. ...

Song Zai was even more impolite as he teased, "City Lord Meister should train properly. After being reborn, the fat rate is still so high. I almost thought I saw two lumps of rice tofu..."

Mister:"..."

"City Lord Mister, go in and change your clothes first..." Lei Xue said calmly.

"There's no need!" Mister's face flushed red in the face of the ridicule, but he actually did not care about it anymore, he said angrily, "People wear clothes and wrap themselves around their bodies and use knives and forks to eat because the difference between them and wild beasts is the symbol of civilization. And now, as the leader of a high-level civilization, leading a city to embrace the leader of a new civilization, they will actually suffer such beast-like atrocities at any time!" As he said that, he pointed angrily at lei xue and said, "As long as such barbaric acts are not punished, this place is no different from a barbaric jungle. In a barbaric jungle, what's the difference between having clothes to cover your body or not?"

His words were so righteous that Song Yi rolled his eyes. This thick-skinned guy could say anything with just one mouth.

However, they were not in the mood to mock this clown-like guy. Instead, they looked at Lei Xue. After all... .. The destructive power displayed by the advanced players today was too strong... ..

Strictly speaking, if it were not for the help of other advanced players, Wang Goudan could even wipe out the entire fifth city today. This was too disruptive of the balance. If there were no rules to restrict it, this game would not be played...

Even Elder Long did not choose to stand up for Wang Goudan at this time. This was a matter of standpoint... ..

“The punishment is out...” . “...”Lei Xue tapped on the virtual screen in the conference room. “Wang Xiaojia killed 1,195 xing hai players and destroyed a number of buildings due to her bloodline rampage. According to the decision of the upper echelons of Xing Hai, she will be sentenced to 1,341 years of imprisonment. The compensation points will be 1,160 million and will be suspended “...” . “...”

Everyone nodded slightly when they heard the sentence, but they choked on the last sentence. “Suspended?”

Lei Xue said calmly, “Wang Xiaojia completed the star assessment mission. Her results were excellent, and she was admitted to one of the Top federal schools in the universe, Xandar Academy. Due to her age and physical condition, the upper echelons decided to suspend the sentence and let Wang Xiaojia go to Xandar Academy to finish her studies first...” . “...”

The city leaders:”! !”

These words revealed a few pieces of information, firstly... .. this alien civilization was indeed huge, the term ‘universe federation’ sounded like it belonged to a super power.

Secondly, the higher-ups didn’t want to punish Wang Xiaojia, after all, they had never heard of a reason to suspend her studies... .. Furthermore, the other party didn’t even say how long the suspension would last... .. Everyone was involved in politics, so who did not know about this?

Thirdly, the fact that excellent players could be sent to study in an alien civilization once again proved that the other party was not treating them as colonists, but as real citizens... ..

There were good and bad news. The good news was that this alien civilization was willing to open up the channel above to the people of Planet D, and not purely treat them as lab rats, the mission on Planet Emerald this time was probably the key to whether or not they could enter a real extraterrestrial civilization in the future.

The bad news was... .. The higher-ups seemed to care more about talented players. This could be seen from the punishment that they had obviously covered up just now!

“Ridiculous! ! !”Meister was so angry that he slammed the table. “This is the first time I’ve heard that murder will be delayed because of a request to learn. Is this a space advanced civilization?”

“Please Watch your words, Mr. Mister...”Lei Xue did not even lift her eyelids, she replied calmly, “I’ve already said it just now. Senior Wang Xiaojia went berserk because of his bloodline. In addition, he lost control and accidentally killed someone because he was stimulated. It was not murder. This was verified by the technical team.”

Mister’s face was twisted with anger. What technical team? That technical team was all Chinese people. Whatever you said was true!

“Even if it was a mistake, shouldn’t we pay the price for hurting the castellan?”Meister said gloomily, “If that’s the case, shouldn’t every player be allowed to do that when they lose control?”

Meister’s words were very harsh, causing the hearts of the several castellans to jump.

“I just said it...”Lei Xue looked at the other party in puzzlement. “Wang Xiaojia killed 1,195 players from galaxy due to his bloodline rampage. Of course, Mr. Meister was included in this...”

“Am I talking about this?” Mister sneered. “A city’s manager was killed in the middle, and that’s it?”

“They were all killed in public...” Lei Xue looked at the other party curiously. “Everyone saw the live video broadcast. What’s the difference?”

“Sir Manager, why do you have to pretend to be stupid?” Mister said gloomily, “Does Galaxy not have a protection treaty for such a high-value person like the city Lord?”

“Someone of high value?” Lei Xue Laughed. “So that’s what Mr. Mister meant... But if that’s the case, then the result might be even more disappointing for you...”

As soon as he said this, everyone’s hearts jumped, and Mister’s expression became even uglier. “What do you mean?”

“The meaning is very simple!” Lei Xue looked at him with a faint smile. “Why do you feel that your value is higher than Wang Xiaojia’s?”

Chapter 1363: You Can’t even open your mouth...

The meeting room was so quiet that one could hear each other’s breathing... ..

Even the most talkative mister had lost his temper. The main reason was that the other party’s words were too harsh... ..

Mister’s strategy was very simple. He kept using the position of the city lord to probe. It was equivalent to forcefully kidnapping the other city lords. It was a little rough, but it was very effective, so far, at least none of the castellans were willing to come out and stand against him.

And this time, the other party directly answered his question, which made mister somewhat at a loss...

Lei Xue looked at all the castellans with a smile...

After a long silence, song Zaiyi was the first to speak, “Lord Lei Xue, do you mean that the higher-ups think that the strategic value of a high-level player like Wang Xiaojia is higher than that of the rear manager?”

“That’s what they’re saying for the time being...” snow thunder laughed.

Everyone frowned. They didn’t want to hear this answer. Song Zaiyi narrowed his eyes and asked, “What do you mean for the time being?”

“You’ve all seen the situation today...” snow thunder lightly knocked on the table. The virtual screen in the center of the conference table immediately displayed the data. It was the record of Wang Goudan today.

“Wang Xiaojia’s HP is now level 10, and she’s the first player in the entire base to complete the Emerald Starfield Mission and inherit the Black Dragon bloodline. You’ve all seen her combat power. She only flew for 1 minute and 34 seconds from Huaxia City to the fifth city, which was close to 10,000 kilometers away. The level 6 magnetic energy barrier set up by the fifth city was directly destroyed by her physical body. If it weren't for Li Jiayi and Pu Yunchuan's assistance today, Wang Xiaojia could have slaughtered more than 260,000 players in the fifth city alone...". "..."

Speaking up to this point, Lei Xue looked at everyone with a smile, "City Lords, don't you see the problem?"

The City Lords:"..."

To be honest, just looking at the scene just now was already very shocking. Now that the data was out, it was even more shocking. Even in sphere D, when a person's ability was almost equivalent to a nuclear bomb, the value of it was not something that a country could always compare to...

Lei Xue said, "The platform of the Sea of stars comes from a huge extraterrestrial civilization system. In this platform, an ordinary planet d person, as long as they have good aptitude and work hard enough, can quickly grow into an extremely high-level species. Over time, the gap between them will become very obvious. The selection of the city lord is under the condition that everyone is an ordinary person. Naturally, the first choice is to choose a manager with political experience to stabilize the situation. It is also to allow us to quickly integrate into this platform. However, when the gap between us is too big...". "... "

Lei Xue looked at Mister with a half-smile. "Do you think that the so-called management power is in the hands of the weak?"

All the City Lords:"..."

What she said was very clear...

It was different from Planet D, where there was not much difference between people. The family background, skills, EQ, and some luck that one relied on to stand out in the political world were here?

At this time, Wang Xiaojia was a special case. There were only a few in the entire galaxy, and she could barely hold her ground. But what about in the future?

In the future, if most of the citizens grew to the level of Wang Goudan, then why should the position of City Lord Be Yours?

If the manager of the fifth city was Li Jiayi or Pu Yunchuan, whose life level and combat quality were not much different from Wang Goudan's, in order to uphold the rules, they would naturally punish Wang Goudan severely.

However, Mister was like a dead pig, standing at the high position of the city lord. After half a year, he would only be drunk to death. It was obvious that he would be eliminated in the future. How could he punish Wang Xiaojia, who had a bright future, just for him?

When the other party said "Temporarily,"he didn't mean that the situation was temporary. Instead, he meant that their position as the city lord..! ... was temporary! ! !

After these words were spoken, the few castellans, especially mister, felt their bodies turn cold...

"Lord Lei Xue..."song zaiyi frowned and said, "The castellan will not rely on martial arts competitions to obtain it in the future, right?"

“Of course not...” . “...”lei xue smiled and said, “It’s not that the castellan is the strongest among the players in the city, but at least he has to convince all the players. That’s all I have to say. All the castellans are outstanding politicians, so I don’t need to say much. Now, let’s talk about the issue of the press conference later “... “..

The meeting in the conference room didn’t last long. Soon, the city lords left with the latest updates. According to Lei Xue, the press conference would last for about a week, during this period, the reporters could still conduct interviews between the various cities like last time. The city lords had to set the rules of each city regarding the new territories based on the newly released information within a week and announce it to the world!

After leaving the conference room, the six City Lords did not walk together, but they did not leave alone either. Instead, they walked away in groups of twos and threes.

Song Minded was invited to Huaxia City by Elder Long, so song minded did not refuse. Angor from the first city suddenly took the initiative to contact the fourth city lord, Elizabeth, and Elizabeth also invited the Second City Lord, Abe Qingming... ..

Mister was the only one who walked alone at the back. No one paid any attention to him. He walked to the teleportation device alone with a sullen face...

After the several castellans left, Lei Xue smiled and walked to the outside of the base alone... ..

At this moment, the impatient reporters who were waiting outside immediately rushed forward!

“Sir Manager, May I ask how the Star Ocean Platform will deal with the thug from Central China in this terrible mass murder incident?”

“May I ask who will compensate for the loss of the fifth city?”

“After such a terrible incident, will the general base have corresponding measures for the safety of the players in the future?”

The group of reporters who were asking questions were basically all American reporters, a group of Huazhong reporters at the side did not want to be outdone and asked, “Sir Manager, regarding the large-scale racial discrimination, persecution, and suppression in the fifth city, will the main base take corresponding measures? To prevent such a terrible situation from happening?”

“May I ask if City Lord Meester will be punished by the main base for indulging the white players and engaging in populism? Will he continue to be hired as the city Lord?”

The surrounding players were originally bored from waiting. When they saw the group of reporters tearing each other apart, they instantly perked up. Each of them took out the melon seeds that they had prepared beforehand and started eating while cheering... ..

“Quiet down...”Lei Xue called out helplessly.

The voice wasn't loud, but it was like a muted voice that made all the aggressive reporters choke the words in their throats. They realized that no matter how hard they tried, they couldn't utter a single word... ..

The scene instantly quieted down...

"I'll answer your questions one by one..." "..." Lei Xue said with a smile, "First, it's Wang Xiaojia's question. Wang Xiaojia's riot today caused a lot of damage to the fifth city. Naturally, she will be the one to compensate for these losses. Then, it's about the issue of manslaughter ..." ..

Manslaughter. That was clearly a murder, no... ! It was a tyrant-like massacre! ! !

Many American reporters wanted to refute on the spot, but they instantly realized that they couldn't say a word. It was as if their necks were being strangled. This made them look at Lei Xue in horror.

After the horror, there was an indescribable fear. It turned out that in this world, these powerful players couldn't even make them speak... ..

Chapter 1364: The Real Way Out!

"After the investigation of Wang Xiaojia's excessive behavior this time, it was because her bloodline was too powerful and affected her thinking, resulting in a weakening of her self-control that resulted in this tragedy. For the players who suffered misfortune in the fifth city, the higher-ups of Galaxy Express their deepest apologies. This time, they will send out excellent psychological counselors to provide free psychological counseling to those players who suffered from the shadow of death... ..

"Of course, there are severe punishments for Wang Xiaojia herself. First, the higher-ups sentenced her to 1,341 years of imprisonment. Ah, of course, due to her positive confession and sincere attitude, in addition to her outstanding performance in the previous mission, she was booked as a special-class student by the Federation's Advanced Academy, so her sentence was suspended... "..."

Everyone was stunned...

When they heard that they had been imprisoned for more than 1,000 years, the group of reporters still felt that it was reasonable. After all, in their western world, they also did not advocate the death penalty... ..

But this suspended sentence was very ridiculous...

The main point was that the other party did not even say how long the suspended sentence would be. This was clearly an empty promise... ..

However, at this moment, the faces of the reporters who had been silenced turned completely red. They could not say a single word. They could only stare at lei xue fiercely.

This was too much!

After returning, they had to properly expose the evil deeds of this Huazhong Manager!

"May I ASK... The Universe Federation Advanced Academy that you mentioned just now is?"

At this time, within the group of reporters, a crisp voice suddenly sounded out. The group of reporters turned their heads over in shock, discovering that within this group of people, there was actually someone who wasn't silenced... ..

And the only person who could speak was the short Cindy who had been squeezed out by the many reporters at the start... ..

Lei Xue smiled as she looked at this reporter whom she had met once before, her tone became much gentler, "The Space Federation Academy is an interstellar academy created by this high level civilization of the Space Federation. The academy that entered Huaxia City is one of them, but this academy only admits spirit department players. Didn't many non-spirit department players ask where their academy is? "Now, I can tell you clearly that we are in the distant federation of Planets!"

"F * ck!"

When these words were spoken, the players in the outer circle immediately burst into an uproar!

Federation of Planets? Was this the place where the alien civilization was located? When they had reached a certain level, they could go there to study? This was too awesome!

Immediately, a group of players joined in the questioning.

"What is the Federation of planets like? Is it the upper echelon of our Galaxy Faction?"

"A collection of alien civilizations? There's also a high school. Are we going there to study with aliens? What kind of aliens will we encounter? Are there any Asgardians?"

"You've seen too much of Thor, haven't you?"

"The key is what kind of standards do we have to meet before we can go?"

A bunch of questions came pouring in like chatters. Lei Xue had no choice but to impose a second gag... ..

However, this time, she was facing many players, including level 2 players. Although Snow had already evolved into a level 3 developer, it was still quite difficult for her to silence so many people at once... ..

"Regarding the interstellar federation and the Federation's higher education institutions, the information will be announced in the public announcements in the future. The application and admission requirements for higher education institutions will also be announced later. Please be patient..." . . "then she sighed and looked at Cindy again."Do you have any more questions

Cindy was stunned. She looked at the fierce American reporters around her and shivered. She hurriedly asked, "About Wang Xiaojia's question, may I ask... may I ask if you think her sentence is reasonable?"

Lei Xue shrugged his shoulders: "Has been so decided, I think reasonable is not important?"

Cindy bit her lip. "Did you mean what you said about Wang Xiaojia admitting her mistake sincerely?"

"Of course!"Lei Xue snapped her fingers, and the virtual screen in the center of the square instantly switched to where Wang Xiaojia was being held...

At this moment, in a special transparent cover, Wang Goudan, who was covered in dragon scales, was very irritable... ..

“Let me out, let this Goudan out! It’s hot enough, this Goudan isn’t wrong. They smashed this Goudan’s shop first, what’s wrong with me smashing their heads? Do you know how much water runs through this Goudan’s restaurant every day? Are their heads worth this price? Tell that dog city Lord Mister that if he doesn’t give this Goudan an explanation, he’ll have to block the entrance of the new territories every day. Every person who comes out from his fifth city will be slaughtered! “Quickly let me out!” “!”

Everyone:” ...”

“Cough...” Lei Xue coughed lightly, she immediately turned off the screen. “That... “...”. Cough... “...”. MHM, it seems that senior little Jia’s genetic riot has yet to completely subside. Everyone doesn’t need to worry. This is just some side effects from the second surgery. It’ll be fine as long as senior little Jia gets used to it in a few days... “...”. “...”

Everyone’s faces twitched. I don’t Believe You, my ass! !

He had a clear line of reasoning and even knew to block the entrance of the New World. How did he look like he was delirious from the genetic riot?

“Does this reporter have anything else to ask?” Lei Xue asked with a smile.

Cindy silently glanced at the closed screen, bit her lips, and finally asked, “Regarding the issue of large-scale racial discrimination in the fifth city, does the main base have any countermeasures?”

“As I said before...” “...”. Lei Xue smiled and replied, “All kinds of internal conflicts in the city are now resolved by the City Lord and the city insiders themselves. The galaxy platform is completely owned by the people of Planet d. the alien base is still observing us. Under normal circumstances, they won’t interfere easily...” “...”. “...”

Cindy:” ...”

When Yang Rui and the rest heard this answer again, they silently lowered their heads, but this time, they did not despair... ..

Because they saw that in front of a true powerhouse, those white people’s Bullsh * t sense of racial superiority became worthless. And the reason why they were bullied and humiliated was because they were too weak now!

But Wang Xiaojia was from Huazhong, and so were they. There was no reason why they could not become so strong!

It was officially announced that Huazhong players had the best talent. who was the one who was being bullied?

Now that he thought about it, it was really funny...

Yang Rui took a deep breath and looked at Lei Xue again. He understood what she meant. The path of Huazhong players had never been to the so-called castellan, but the vast starry sky outside!

At this moment, Angor, Elizabeth, and the second castellan, Abe Qingming, arrived at the second city together... ..

“The scenery here is really good, Castellan Qingming...” Elizabeth said with a smile.

In terms of city scenery, other than the well-built Huaxia City, Abe’s second city was the only one among the six big cities. The elves were full of artistic talent, even though the second city had not yet taken shape, however, many places were filled with all kinds of beauty under the players’ independent designs. The originally simple and rustic base was filled with different artistic styles.

Qing Ming covered the corner of his mouth with a fan with a smile. “You westerners often say that the Chinese don’t have artistic talent, but the facts have proven that this is not the case... Qing Ming pointed at the various artistic buildings built by the players in the fields and said with a smile, “Ninety percent of the buildings here, including the gardening, garden design, and basically all of them were created by the players in Huaxia “...”. “...”

“Then it seems that Qing Ming’s city lord policy is very successful...” Elizabeth said with a faint smile, “In such a leisurely environment, have the players in central China that you are afraid of turned into a flock of sheep?”

Hearing that, Qing Ming immediately put away his smile and slowly put down the folding fan in his hand. He narrowed his eyes slightly and said, “No...”

“Oh?” Elizabeth turned around and looked at the leisurely elven players in the field. If she took a closer look, she would find that in such a leisurely environment, the number of transformations of the players in central China was still astonishing!

“See?” Qingming sighed faintly behind Elizabeth. “Even in this kind of atmosphere, most of the players in central China can still transform in two months, especially some flower spirits. They eat and sleep as if they did nothing, but they are already close to the threshold of level three... “...”. “As for my subordinates, they train and meditate diligently every day, but they can only barely keep up with their footsteps!”

Elizabeth: “...”

Chapter 1365: Alliance!

Angor looked at Qingming in surprise. In his image, Qingming was always a low-key leader. He was a top-level mud worker. He had been dealing with Huazhong and Beimi all over the world. In Huazhong’s dictionary... The word “Good dancer” was probably used to describe this kind of person... ..

Angor did not expect Qingming to be so straightforward this time...

However, it was obvious that there was nothing more to talk about if it wasn’t straightforward now. The extraterrestrial higher-ups, the outcome of this time’s handling of Wang Goudan had clearly conveyed a message. Stronger players would receive more preferential treatment., d’s so-called political system and structure was no longer applicable in this civilization with clearly defined levels of life!

“But there are still exceptions... “...”. Qing Ming looked at Elizabeth with a smile. “At the very least, City Lord Elizabeth seems to have been very successful so far. There aren’t many players in the fourth city, Huazhong, but there should be a few thousand of them, right? City Lord Elizabeth was able to firmly occupy the position of the number one player, which also proves that the so-called genetic adaptation rate isn’t something that can not be broken one hundred percent...”. “...”

Upon hearing this, Elizabeth fell silent and did not reply...

In the fourth city, she was the first to break through to a level 3 life form. She once again established her prestige within the city, allowing the western European players to see the hope of surpassing the Huazhong players. However, only she herself understood the hardships of this period!

She was the city lord. She could make prior appointments with instructors, and she could use the resources of the fourth city. When the players still needed to spend time to earn points to buy high-level ingredients and supplies, she only needed to focus on training herself!

She had the cabinet ministers to help her with the administrative matters. There was also a city that had been nurtured by her clan for hundreds of years. It was not a big city and the system was not complicated. Moreover, as long as she controlled the general direction., she did not need to worry about the loyalty and unity of the members of her clan. This gave her a golden period of high quality to improve herself!

This was one of the reasons...

Secondly, she had implemented the primitive forest’s evolutionary system in the city. She had used the extremely cruel environment of pure biological evolution to pressure the players to undergo extreme training. This was something that the Knight clan had taken advantage of in the early stages, this was because the members of the Knight clan, including herself, had undergone cruel training when they were very young.

On the other hand, the other citizens, especially the players from central China, had relatively simple backgrounds. They were all children of commoners, and their adaptability was far inferior to theirs. In fact, many of the forest had suffered cruel deaths and were eliminated, and they were unable to recover, they did not dare to step into the forest again for a long time, delaying their time.

In order to prevent the emergence of dark horses, Elizabeth had very strict control over the introduction of players from Central China. Their backgrounds had to be clean. Martial arts aristocratic families, military aristocratic families, mercenaries, and those who mixed with the underworld were all rejected, the ones chosen were all ordinary immigrants and social animals who did not do high-quality jobs.

These people were much worse in terms of adaptability and willpower, and their degree of excellence was also very limited. After all, if they were outstanding, at least they would not always fail in the workplace.

On the other hand, in the introduction of Western European children, especially white players, they would choose outstanding soldiers, mercenaries, and members of Knight families. Even the more ordinary people would have to choose those born in famous schools, those with excellent results and learning ability were obviously better than ordinary people!

Those decadent descendants of the nobles who relied on the western European low-income welfare to survive and wait to die were all rejected!

There were even reporters who praised Elizabeth as the only city Lord among the six City lords who considered quality in the admission process. The fourth city was the fairest heaven for the strong!

Even so, even with many external factors, the overall level-up speed of the central China players was still higher than that of the Western European players. Among the 4,400 or so central China players who had been recruited, there were more than 1,500 players who had successfully reached Level 2, accounting for about one-third of the total!

The white players had recruited more than 119,000 players, but the number of players who had successfully reached level 2 was only about 10,000... ..

The other minority groups, such as Ah San, the african-americans, and others, were even more miserable. The probability of reaching level 2 was less than 1/30!

Although the white players were temporarily in the lead in terms of advanced results, and the top 50 players in the comprehensive data were all white players, Elizabeth, who had the data of the city, knew very well that this was only temporary... ..

Once the Huazhong players got used to this biological evolution system, they would catch up soon!

Taking a deep breath, Elizabeth said, "Let's not hide it anymore. Besides song, who still can't figure it out, our castellans all have ways to suppress the Huazhong players..."

"Castellan Qingming used a sugar-coated cannonball, and I'm relying on the advantage of population. However, these two methods are obviously expedient. They can only treat the symptoms, not the root cause..."

She then looked at Angor and said, "Now that I think about it, master Angor was wise enough to implement the separation policy under the great pressure of the country..."

Angor smiled wryly at her words.

If she could, she would not want to restrict the freedom of her own race. She would not want to restrict the players from central China at the cost of fixing her own race. She would also want to focus on her own race, it was already the best strategy she could think of.

But even so, the current situation was still grim... ..

According to Lei Xue, in the New Territories in the future, a few major cities could compete with each other. Everyone had to rely on the limited resources in the new territories to quickly enter the Emerald Star Field. Otherwise, once they were left behind, it would be difficult to catch up!

Her policy restricted the development of the central China players in her own city. Originally, she planned to increase the proportion of players such as Ah San and Ice Russia on a large scale in the future recruitment policy to expand the bottom level, relying on the sufficient resources in the new territories, slowly, the division of labor among all the players was realized. The West German players were in the lead, controlling the upper echelons of the pyramid of mind officers, high-tech Research and development, arcane magic professions, and the players from the central China were in the middle level, the middle level was led by agile mecha operators, agile warriors, dexterous high-end craftsmen, artists, and adventurers, the other minority races with low genetic rates like the three countries chose the strength-based genetic enhancement, heavy-armored warriors, and low-level artificial pyramid model!

However, the New Territories were currently short of resources. With the competition for jobs, this policy would be very troublesome... ..

Because they would have to compete with the players from Huaxia City!

Huaxia city was full of Huaxia City players. Each of them had allocated their talents and division of labor to the extreme. Today, they had also seen Wang Goudan's performance and realized the gap between high-grade and low-grade players. If they were to compete for jobs, it would be foolish for them to deliberately suppress the high-level players in the country.

Huaxia city would gain more and more advantages in the future competition!

That was not what they wanted to see...

However, they would not be satisfied if they were led by Huazhong players, especially Angor. She had already set up the system, and it would be very troublesome to change it now!

"Since Castellan Qingming has brought up this topic, let's not keep it a secret anymore!" Elizabeth said coldly. "Everyone is busy. We still need to come up with a new policy to deal with the New World Quest..." "..."

Hearing this, Abe slowly put away his folding fan. His expression turned serious as well. "Alliance!"

Chapter 1366: Alliance Cooperation!

"Let's not talk about formalities..." "..." Qing Ming said directly, "Everyone knows that once cities are allowed to compete with each other, Huaxia City will have a huge advantage. Only by forming an alliance can they have a chance to resist the possibility of Huaxia City monopolizing the New Territories..." "..."

"If that's the case, why not call the other two city lords over?" Elizabeth said with a smile that was not a smile.

"It's not worth it..." Qing Ming said calmly, "I understand what City Lord Elizabeth Means. She wants to let Mister Be the first to stand out. After all, if it's the Alliance, Mister, who is so fond of his achievements, would definitely be willing to be the leader or something ... "In addition, the players in central China currently have a strong resistance towards the fifth city. He can help us attract a lot of firepower, but I still feel that it's not worth it "..." "..."

"Oh? Why?" Elizabeth narrowed her eyes.

"Because he's stupid!" Qing Ming said directly. He then turned to Angor and said, "I'm sure Angor, who has dealt with Mister a lot, knows this..."

Angor could not help but twitch his lips. She had been ruling the West Germany for many years, and everything went smoothly for her. When she met Mister, that idiot, she really did not know why America chose such a person to take over. More importantly, there were so many supporters... ..

From a politician's point of view, they could see clearly that the guy was just a little opportunist trying to impress the public... ..

For example, in this city policy, every family had their own way of favoring their own people, but none of them were as excessive as him. This was because the players in central China were not only a threat, but also very valuable. Taking advantage of positions that did not threaten their own people could greatly promote the progress of the city...

Just like in Qing Ming's system, the red sun players monopolized the sacrificial industry and became the leaders of the civilization, but they could still be in the middle, they still needed a large number of talented players in central China to transform into excellent flower spirits, elemental messengers, and even Rangers to fill the gaps in the middle and improve the development of basic agriculture. This policy was currently very successful, at the very least, the agricultural development of the second city was already the best among the five major cities. It could already produce level 3 or so high-level ingredients, breaking the monopoly of China City to a large extent.

As for Mister? Such a blatant suppression of central China players and the growth of populism, the consequences were actually very serious.

Of course, they knew the benefits. Mister's actions could rely on everyone's dissatisfaction with the talents of central China players to form a squeeze circle, release the social contradictions of the capital monopoly on resources, and divert their attention, similarly, it could also grow the vanity of their own race.

It could attract the greatest number of brainless fans who supported him... ..

But what about after this?

How could productivity be resolved. The white players had a sense of superiority. Their level of effort and sense of crisis relied on the isolation and suppression of the central China players to escape. As time passed, it would not help them... ..

Qingming knew that most of the white players in the fifth city did not even have the interest to go to work anymore. They only relied on collecting tribute from the third city's players to be at ease. Their training level was not active either, currently, there were less than 200 level 2 players in the entire fifth city. It was even more exaggerated than the third city, which had a lot of learning tasks!

On the contrary, half of these 200 level 2 players were actually from the three countries. How could you believe it. By getting more white players on his knees and helping to suppress Huazhong's lackeys, his overall advantage was gradually surpassing that of the white players...

This was no ordinary fantasy...

They could see what Mister was trying to do. Mister did not care about the fifth city at all. He only cared about his family and his allies. He only wanted to use the city Lord's short-term power to quickly make money for his family and form a new big-capitalized family in galaxy... ..

That was his goal. Angor was sure that after hearing what Lei Xue said today, he would not stop squeezing the players in central China. Instead, he would go even further and try his best to reduce the space of the players in central China, it would cause a social rift.

The reason was simple. The castellan said that he would not be a castellan for long. Since he could not go back, he might as well go all the way to the dark side. As long as he could get his family to enter the Emerald Galaxy before the next castellan., his mission was completed. He could rely on his family and live a carefree life!

Such people were obviously different from them. Both Angor and Qingming were pure politicians. Their ambitions were not limited to just one family. They came to this new platform only to realize their own ambitions in Planet D, all kinds of political ambitions that could not be fulfilled with capital suppression. In such a new and clean platform, how could they just sit back and watch the rise of a higher power than the government? What was the difference between that and the past?

“What about song?” Elizabeth asked with a frown.

“That guy is not the same as US either...”. Qing Ming smiled and said, “Even though he and elder long seem close, they are not the same people. He is purer than us. He came here to realize his political ambitions without the slightest bit of national sentiment. He is a lone wolf who will definitely put the interests of the city first!”

“To be honest... someone like him might be what this alien civilization really wants...”

“Maybe...” Angor narrowed his eyes with a complicated expression and sighed. She also had her own vision for the city, but in terms of personal feelings, she admitted that song cared more about the city than she did!

“How do we form an alliance?” Angor asked directly.

“First, we need to support each other on trade!” Qingming answered directly. “Our cities have different advantages, but we can still make a lot of progress by complementing each other. The agriculture and high-level elements of the second city, advanced biotechnology and advanced combat strength of the fourth city, and the infrastructure and industrial advantages of the first city can all be combined to offset the tariffs. What do you think?”

“City Lord Qingming is quite straightforward!” Angor narrowed his eyes. She was from an agricultural civilization. With the help of the flower spirit, the cost of planting was actually not high. Other than experimenting with high-grade soil, there was basically no other cost requirement, in the three cities, the first city, which had to make steel, extract energy from ores, and build high-end machine tools, had a very high cost. Therefore, the price of industrial products would also be too high.

The other party canceled the tariffs. To a large extent, her first city was the one that benefited the most... ..

Elizabeth frowned slightly. Her city could only export medical products. Of course, there were also strengthening potions. The cost of chemicals was not as high as Angor’s, so it would be a disadvantage for Angor to cancel the tariffs on trade. However, since Qingming was willing to be the one who suffered the most, she could not object... ..

"I hope everyone can help each other when we remove the tariffs!" Qingming smiled. "Which player can take care of the overall situation? The other allies must support us as much as possible. What do you think? "For example, the second city will give priority to players who can level up a level-3 civilization. The three cities will give priority to it and let it enter the Emerald Starfield first to break the monopoly of Huaxia City for us. What do you think?"

"Well..."

Angor and Mister looked at each other. To be honest, their suggestion was not too much. The Elven civilization was known for their slow pace, especially the god-type sacrificial civilization they chose, their initial growth rate was the lowest among all civilizations.

In comparison, both Angor's mind machine civilization and the biological civilization promoted by Elizabeth City were civilizations that had the first-class advantage.

Wasn't it a bit generous of Angor to let them off so easily?

Chapter 1367: The New Territories Mission and the policies of the six major cities (I) !

The news of the New Territories finally came out at noon on the second day of the press conference. After the release of the mission, the five major cities also announced their city policies in the next few days... ..

In Huaxia City, Cindy, who had been arranged to stay in the villa area, told everyone about the new news and information that she had just compiled.

At this moment, the live-stream room was already boiling with excitement. For them, the fifth city discrimination incident and Wang Goudan causing a ruckus in the fifth city were all appetizers. What they were really concerned about was the re-opening of the New World!

This was because only when the new world was opened would the players from the accumulated cities go out in large numbers. Only then would the big cities be able to make room for them to enter, and only then would the scale be expanded, only then would the netizens who were queuing up have the chance to enter the galaxy that they had always dreamed of, instead of squatting in front of the computer and watching other people's wonderful stories every day!

"Sister Cindy, I've been waiting so long. You've finally started your live broadcast. Quick, tell me, what's the specific situation? How did the news get out?"

"That's right, that's right. Grandpa Lu has gone missing. We're counting on you..."

"That's right, that's right. What's the situation with the new territories reopening? Is it the same as before? What's the situation with the new jade star field that was mentioned before? Has it been announced this time?"

Cindy looked at the bullet screens and the private messages that were almost bursting out of her mailbox on the screen. She suddenly felt amused, but she also understood the thoughts of these people who were queuing up.

After all, everyone wanted to have a second life, especially a new platform like galaxy, which was not very hard to come by... ..

“Ahem... .. “Don’t worry, everyone. I will tell you one by one. The information this time is very detailed, including the detailed policies of the five major cities for the re-opening of the New Territories. I have also personally analyzed the pros and cons. Everyone, calm down and listen to me slowly... “...”

“Yes, Sister Cindy!”

“Yes, my dear wife!”

“Bah, Shameless, who’s your wife...”

“Third-generation players, please come out of the live broadcast room voluntarily. Lackeys, I’m ashamed to fight with you...”

Cindy covered her head with her hands, feeling a headache coming on. “Everyone, don’t argue. Let’s get to the main topic first. There’s a lot of content. When I’m done with one, your questions will be posted on the bullet screen in turn. Please don’t attack each other and pollute the environment in my live broadcast room. If there are any offenses, they will forever come out of the live broadcast room...”. “...”

As soon as these words were said, many netizens who were engaged in a war of words immediately became obedient. After all, everyone was mainly here to listen to the latest news. The War of words on the internet could be continued on other platforms in a short period of time... ..

Including the A3 players, they also became obedient. They also wanted to know the latest situation.

“First is the New World Mission... “...” . Cindy coughed lightly and said, “The news came from the announcement made by the main base. It’s absolutely true. Moreover, the change this time is very big. Previously, the expedition mission to the northern and southern grasslands in the new world has been canceled. The exploration mission in the mutated forest and the exploration mission in the Steel Arms Empire City have been completely canceled. Now, in the New World, all the missions are concentrated overseas!”

This news immediately caused the netizens to be in an uproar.

“Holy Sh * t, it’s a huge change... It’s a labor-intensive grassland khan dream!”

“Khan Your Head...”

“Holy Sh * t, are they all taking the Sea Route? Aren’t the sea elves and Nagas taking advantage?”

“By the way, why has the grassland mission been canceled?”

Cindy: “According to the published news, the New World has suffered some changes, resulting in the death of almost all living things on the steel weapon continent. Whether it’s land or other resources, they have been completely destroyed and have no value. Even if it’s overseas, the valuable land is still up for discussion. Therefore, the players have to go overseas to explore as soon as possible to find resources and land with colonial value...”. “...”

“Wow, it sounds so dangerous out there. All the dead creatures are here!”

“No wonder they had to seal off the area a while ago. It turns out that something big has happened. However, it seems that galaxy is quite responsible. At the very least, it knows to retreat and protect the players as soon as possible.”

“However, I’m very curious. Won’t the land of those great Lord players be ruined?”

“I don’t know, but it’s a good thing they lost it so we can have a chance...”

“What’s the mission, Cindy?”

“Ahem... . Cindy cleared her throat and took out the information that she had sorted out. She began, “First of all, the exploration mission. Players will sail overseas. Any Island or island that has life will be rewarded with points. The reward for discovering a primitive island will range from 10,000 to 100,000 points. The reward for discovering a civilized island will range from 100,000 to 500,000 points.”

“Wow, the reward has increased quite a bit. But how do we set sail?”The netizens immediately asked about the key points.

“There are two ways to set sail!”Cindy explained, “One is a rental service provided by the players of the ice fruit lord in the East Sea port. The force has been building a maritime civilization since a long time ago. They already have a mature shipyard, which can provide different types of ships for players to carry out or take risks. The Ice Fruit Lord has already gone to the Emerald Starfield, and the remaining ports can be provided to foreign players under the negotiation of the main base.”

“Players can first complete some retail quests to earn points when they arrive at the eastern seaport city. For example, collecting undersea resources, becoming a boatman’s apprentice, a sailor’s apprentice, or learning sea creatures breeding, as well as bone-cracking in restaurants. Once you have enough points, you can rent a ship and go on an overseas adventure. However, I suggest that you work with your friends and gather more points to rent larger ships. After all, the sea is not as inland as small ships have lower risk resistance. Moreover, if you encounter an island country, it will be more beneficial for you to come into contact with the aboriginal civilization with larger ships.”

“But you’ll only know the details when you get there...”

“Ah, that sounds interesting, but when will it be our turn...”

“That’s right, I don’t know if we’ll have anything to do after we enter the galaxy...”

“Then, Sister Cindy, you said there are two paths. What’s the second one?”

Cindy said, “The second route is to take other seaports. On the steel weapon continent, other than the east seaports, the other seaports are in a state of desolation. Players can go and build new seaports on their own. This will probably earn the six major cities more money. The major cities will probably encourage players and even organize them to fight for the location of the seaports. There are also regulations regarding the specific situation of the cities. I will explain them to everyone in a while...” . “...”

[wow, it sounds so intense...]

[exactly, didn't they say that the six major cities could compete with each other? would there be a civil war...]

[exactly!]

[I don't know if the third city I chose will be competitive...]

Cindy: "Then let me talk about the policies of the six major cities regarding the ports and the New Territories!"

Chapter 1368: New Territories Missions and policies for the six major cities (middle) !

"First, the threshold of the New Territories..." "..." Cindy took out the policies announced in the six major cities and said, "The threshold requirements of each city are different. Let me explain it to you one by one. First, Huaxia City. Huaxia city requires a level 2 lifeform, proficient in two weapons specialties, and a level 2 spirit-type player must be proficient in one arcana specialty and an A-level certification of a basic subject. Comparatively, it is more stringent for spirit-type players. Therefore, it is recommended that players who choose the spirit-type job should be mentally prepared. They are not brainiacs or those who are not interested in research and development. It is recommended to take a detour..." "..."

Obviously, Huaxia City had the highest demand for scientific research. Those who did not support the single-sided arcane route obviously wanted to improve the overall scientific research atmosphere, which greatly increased the travel difficulty of the spirit-type players. This made the players who wanted to purely walk the arcane route completely give up...

Cindy: "The requirements of the first city are similar to Huaxia City. Strength-type players and agility-type players need to reach level 2 and master two weapon specialties. Those who walk the Berserker route need to master anger specialty and at least one weapon specialty. Titan players have a special subsidy when they travel. They can support models other than mechanical templates as an additional civilization template option for the first city. Meanwhile, agility-type players are required to only continue walking the spirit-type mechanical civilization. This is an iron-clad rule!"

"Ah, you want to restrict the civilization template of the agile players?"

The netizens who chose the first city immediately burst into an uproar!

"Why?"

"Exactly, I wanted to go to the arcane civilization..."

"Exactly, why should I force the restriction? And why can the strength-type players freely choose the template?"

Cindy looked at the group of confused netizens and sighed slightly. Did these stupid kids think that the strength-type players had made a bargain?

Cindy took out the data and analyzed it. "Everyone, please calm down. Listen to me. According to my personal analysis, what I said is personal analysis, but that doesn't mean that it must be the case. If you feel that something is wrong, you can post your thoughts and discuss it harmoniously. However, you are not allowed to escalate it to personal attacks. Otherwise, all the live broadcast rooms will be cleared later...". "..."

"It's my dear wife!"

"Yes, my dear wife!"

Cindy: "Cities tend to be more civilized. Naturally, they want players to follow the same civilization model as the cities because it's more convenient for civilization to observe. Moreover, if many players follow this path, the cities will be more civilized and develop faster. They can gather everyone's strengths and quickly form a civilization to level up. This isn't just the first city. Other than the blossoming Huaxia City, the other five major cities will be more civilized...". "..."

"Therefore, players from fixed civilizations do not need to be discouraged. In fact, this is a good thing, because this is binding you to the city's interests and valuing the players...". "...". This point was actually very obvious. The psionic mechanical civilization definitely needed high-quality psionic masters. And in the first city, only the West German players could choose the only psionic race: The Marin clan. This would lead to the agile players establishing a force outside. They must invite at least one West German player to join them in order to develop!"

"F * ck, so that's the plan!"

"F * ck, he wants to bring the West German players to eat meat with him no matter what..."

"Heh, I'm afraid it's not as simple as eating meat together. Listen to the name, the spiritual machine civilization is definitely dominated by the spiritual master. At that time, it's hard to say who will take the majority..."

"F * ck, his heart is to be punished..."

"Then why aren't the strength-type players bound?" A netizen could not help but ask.

Hearing this, Cindy Sighed. "I looked at the description of the civilization model. In the machine civilization, the Mind Master is the core of the civilization and is mainly responsible for scientific research and command. The agility-type lifeforms are the main force of the mecha operators, as well as the operators of all kinds of high-level mechanical equipment. In terms of lifestyle classes, they can also be qualified for middle-and high-end handicraft industries, as well as arts-type professions. On the other hand, the demand for strength-type players is not very big...". "..."

"This means that the strength-based players that were recruited in the early stages of the game were not the main players that were needed to level up in the later stages of the game. That's why they continued to create a new civilization template and even gave out subsidies. This was because their future path would definitely not be supported by the city...". "..."

"F * ck! !"

The moment these words were said, a group of netizens who had previously applied to become the first city's Titan player were instantly enraged.

“Isn’t this too F * cking scheming? Previously, they hinted that we would choose Titan, but now they’re telling us that agile players are the main focus?”

“That’s right, then why did they hint at US previously?”

Cindy sighed, “In the initial stage of the city, a large number of strength-type players are needed to do the basic construction, especially the mining industry...”

“Oh, so it’s just a long day of absenteeism?”

“I knew it. These foreigners are biased towards their own people. Did you really believe their talk about freedom and equality? You were really tricked into becoming a cripple. You deserve it...”

“Hey, you chose Huaxia City Upstairs? There’s no need to gloat like this. Back then, it was the country that encouraged us to choose the first city. Is this our fault? We’re not like the fifth city, where we went for money and villas!”

“That’s right, that’s right. Huaxia city wasn’t big enough. Our country cooperated with the third city and the first city, and now they’re blaming us for siding with other races? What are you talking about...”

“Um... I didn’t say it was your fault... It’s just that Angor is too cunning... she was the one who came to Huaxia City to ask for our support, and now...”

“According to the city threshold policy, the number of agility-type players in the first city will increase, and the percentage of strength-type players will decrease. If you don’t like strength-type players very much, I suggest you change your choice as soon as possible!”

“Huh? You can change your choice?”

Cindy: “Yes, the first city has announced the policy that you can change your wish. I reckon that the West German authorities will announce it to the public later. Everyone can change it as soon as possible. However, changing your wish is still only recommended to the players in central China or groups that are suitable for the gene acceptance rate of agility players. It is not recommended to the players with low gene acceptance rate of agility, such as the AH San Guo, Ice Russia, and african-american players. After all, galaxy still recommended that the gene acceptance rate be the first choice. Although strength-type players are not favored in the first city system, they are not completely without a way out...” . “...”. “...”

“F * ck!”

A group of third-generation players and Ice Russia players cursed loudly!

Cindy felt a headache coming on. She quickly asked the building manager to clean up a group of them...

“Hehe, I suddenly feel that the Huazhong players have a clear advantage. We can play any race we want, but Angor is too much of a dog. He didn’t even let us choose spirit!”

“What else can she do? How else can she restrict us?”

“Cindy’s wife, what about the other cities?”

A group of players who filled in the blanks asked in the bullet screen... ..

Cindy came back to her senses and quickly said, "The second city is similar to the first city, but there are no obvious job restrictions. The main reason is that the Elven players' shapeshifting is out of control. The main civilization is the priest god-class civilization. I've seen this civilization model before. The main civilization is the priest, the flower spirit, and the elemental envoy. Finally, the pyramid civilization, which uses agile players such as Rangers as the pioneers of Combat Power, is also divided into different social classes. In the civilization system, the priests have the highest status, the flower spirit is second, the Rangers who are responsible for fighting and working on the front lines belong to the middle and high level, and the strength-type players belong to the labor type in the second city system

"However, elves can not be controlled. You can not become whatever you want to be. On this point, the second city might be fairer than the first city. Everyone's transformation is based on luck. There's nothing much to say, right?"

[er... that sounds about right...]

[that sounds pretty fair. After all, it all depends on the face...]

The Chinese players looked like they could accept it. The african-americans, AH SAN, Ice Russia, and the other netizens who filled in the second city had bitter expressions on their faces. The second city was dominated by elves, but they also supported other races, but why did the strength-based players always work as laborers?

Chapter 1369: New Territories Missions and policies for the six major cities (Part II) !

"The third city is still the city with the highest threshold in the New Territories..."

Cindy continued to report the policies of the five major cities, "Players are required to have level 2 HP, two weapons specialties, one arcane mastery and two basic subjects a level. This is not the key. Every player must master at least one production skill or one gathering skill before they can continue to travel to the New Territories!"

"Gathering skills give priority to seabed resources gathering, ore gathering, herb gathering, and so on. Production skills give priority to precision parts manufacturing, weapon forging, armor forging, leather making, tailoring, jewelry and luxury goods design, and so on... "..."

"I believe that many players in the third city have some understanding of this city's style, and they are still as dumb as ever. This leads to the players entering the third city having very heavy learning tasks in the early stages. As far as I know, the players in the third city spend 18 hours a day to earn points and study, and they have very little time to rest..." "..."

"But there are also advantages..." Cindy smiled and said, "Although it's a little harsh, the players of the third city will have a considerable advantage after entering the new territories. Especially if they take the route of the eastern seaport, they can directly go to the seaport territory to earn money without having to learn and collect quickly. The pace will be much smoother. Moreover, most of the players in the third city are of the Naga race, so they will have an advantage in sea exploration in the future."

“Moreover, the civilization model of the third city doesn’t have too many restrictions. The Naga civilization has four major models. They are the biological civilization with the Naga warriors as the main force, the sea priestess God civilization with the Naga priestess as the leader, the elemental civilization with the sea spirit as the main force, and the ocean mechanical civilization with the spirit-type players as the main force combined with the Naga elements. (this is the path that the ice fruit lord has taken...)) , whether it’s spirit-type players, agility-type players, special-type players, or strength-type players, they all have a lot of room for development in the third city system. In any case, I’m more optimistic about the future development of the third city. I’ve already confirmed that I’ve signed up for the third city...

[wow, Cindy’s wife chose the third city?]

[AH, aren’t you going to come to the second city to farm together, wife...]

[that’s right, come to the first city to mine together...]

Cindy was amused. “Forget about mining... .. As for the second city, it looks pretty good, but I feel weird. I feel that City Lord Qingming’s policy is very obscure. Relatively speaking, I think song Yi’s style of doing things is better

“Ah, I also think the third city is pretty good after hearing my wife’s words. Unfortunately, I can’t change this volunteer...”

“That’s right... sigh, I should have thought about it before...”

“All of you are fine. Our fifth city is only injured now...”

Cindy: “Let’s talk about the fourth city’s policy. The fourth city’s threshold policy has the highest requirements. Players must reach level 3 life form and possess an innate skill before they are allowed to go to the new world. The Civilization model is a pure biological civilization, which is relatively simple and crude. However, it seems that the overall level of the players in the city is almost the highest in the six major cities...”. “...”

“The new policy has new restrictions on players. From now on, only developers will be accepted by players from central China!”

“Holy shit!”

“This is even worse...”

“This is too much! You All learned from Angor, right?”

“This is worse than Angor. Angor only limited his race to spirit class. Although it’s too much, only a few people are willing to choose spirit class genes. The fourth city forcefully limited the number of players from central China to spirit class, which directly limited our quota...”. “...”

“That’s right... the demand for developers isn’t high to begin with...”

Cindy smiled wryly. It had to be said that the policies issued by several cities were more or less aimed at the players from central China. However, there was nothing they could do about it. The players from central China were too talented. If they were allowed to do as they pleased, they would... In the future, the players from other races would be reduced to the lower-middle class. Most of the Western governments probably wouldn't want to see this scene... ..

Cindy: "Although the occupation of Huazhong players in the fourth city is limited, there is a lot of compensation. First, the rules only allow Huazhong players to choose developers or other spiritual talent races, which strengthens the position of Huazhong players in a certain field. Second, there is a material subsidy. Every Huazhong player who is accepted will receive a city allowance. They do not need to work too much to enjoy education, and they can focus on their studies and receive guidance from their teachers..." "..."

[tsk, small favors...]

[exactly, aren't they fighting against the pyramid structure? It's probably another civilization template with them as the main force, right?]

Cindy immediately smiled. The netizens were all very smart now. After saying the first few examples, they instantly understood...

Indeed, the pure biological route that the fourth city took was a special predatory race that could absorb genes. After that, in the factions, whether it was strength or agility, they were determined by strength and weakness, it was originally very suitable for the players in central China.

Unfortunately, the players in central China were now excluded.

In the biological system, excellent researchers were needed to produce medicine, biological experiments, and biological weapons. Some biological alchemists were also needed.

However, the biological warriors were the main ones. Of course, the status of the researchers was not low in any civilization, so it was acceptable.

It turns out that both Angor and Elizabeth have done a good job of using central China's players.

It not only avoids the central China players from becoming the dominant society, but also makes full use of their value, and then gives preferential treatment in terms of treatment, positioning the central China players as the middle and high class, reducing the central China Players' resistance psychology...

After all... .. There were also the third-ranked players and the African-americans at the bottom... ..

Cindy could not help but sigh. What a cunning and shrewd politician... ..

In comparison, the fifth city's actions were a little counter-intelligent... ..

After Mister returned, he seemed to be planning to go down a dark path. He immediately issued a policy, directly prioritizing the white players and having the lightest requirements in terms of export restrictions.

The main HP level was Level 2, and one could go to the New World to develop!

The third-tier players, who were most supportive of the white players, slightly increased the restrictions. They required one weapon specialization, one physical specialization, and the spirit-type players required one arcane specialization!

The Huazhong players, on the other hand, had the most stringent requirements. Strength-type or agility-type players required their HP to be level 3, and they had to master three weapon specialization, while the Berserker System required their berserker proficiency to be level a!

Spirit-type players were required to have level 2 hp, and they had to be proficient in both arcane specialties and two technological specialties. They also had to promise to join a white player's faction before they could travel!

As soon as this news was released, the entire fifth city was once again in an uproar. The players in Huazhong protested, and Huaxia City once again warned Meister not to act blindly.

Meanwhile, the white players were in a frenzy...

After Cindy revealed the policies of the fifth city, the screen immediately went into an uproar. The netizens from Huazhong who had chosen the fifth city all shut themselves off!

This was simply killing the players from Huazhong...

It had just been revealed that the fifth city was crazily targeting the players from Huazhong. It was extremely difficult for the players from Huazhong to earn points internally. If it was difficult to earn points, it would be very difficult for them to have the money to make appointments with instructors for system training, the leveling efficiency would be greatly reduced.

The leveling difficulty would also raise the threshold for Huazhong's players to enter the New World. It was obvious that it was to delay Huazhong's players from entering the New World, so that white players could enter the New World First and gain an advantage... ..

This policy was very comical in Cindy's eyes. If there was only one fifth city in galaxy, then this policy might be able to suppress Huazhong's players.

But that was not the case now...

The six major cities could now compete with each other. If you suppressed the most outstanding group of people in the city and lowered the threshold for white players to travel, would the players in the fifth city be able to compete in the outside world?

In Cindy's eyes, this guy, mister, had not changed at all. He had always been scheming for himself. It seemed like he favored white players, but in fact, he was using a superficial policy to get the support of white players, however, the truth was that he had not put the interests of the white people first at all.

It was impossible for Yi not to know that doing so would cause problems for the white players in the fifth city in terms of their competitiveness outside. The only ones who could be competitive were the capital families that had obtained a large amount of city resources. After they entered the new territories first, they could quickly accumulate enough advantages!

It had always been... white people first was just a pretense...

This made Cindy very confused. Why would the higher-ups of galaxy allow such a person to be the city lord?

Chapter 1370: The Magical Fifth City

The New Territories had reopened, and the corresponding policies of the six major cities had caused a great response. The citizens of each city had different reactions.

This time, because the news report was allowed to be broadcast live, and because the Western media had deliberately distorted the report and had their right to permanently cancel Xing Hai's presence, the reporters and news agencies that had been invited this time were much more low-key... ..

After all, even if the news agency was tied to the capitalists behind the scenes, it had to ensure its own survival in order to have a chance to engage in behind-the-scenes transactions. Right now, the biggest news in the world was all in Xing Hai., the consequence of being shut out was that it would be eliminated by the times. There was no doubt about that!

The news agencies that were previously blacklisted, such as the North Star newspaper, the star of Western Europe, and so on, rapidly declined in the next half a year. To the extent that there was no one to buy them now, well-known reporters resigned and fled one after another, they also resolutely and harshly condemned the news agencies on Twitter for all kinds of distorted and fabricated dark deeds, drawing a clear line with them. They were afraid that they would be implicated and cause themselves to be blacklisted by Xing Hai!

Everyone knew that in the future world, Planet D and Xing Hai would be completely different worlds. If they were not able to successfully enter Xing Hai in this generation, they would be eliminated by the era. Not only themselves, but also their own descendants., they would all encounter tremendous resistance in the future to rise to the threshold!

This was something that anyone with a brain could see. After all, the qualified people that Galaxy invited were all relatively good people with no criminal records on Planet D and relatively good resumes. In short, they were left behind. Most of them were criminals or some trash that had no labor value at all...

Staying with these people was equivalent to entering a garbage dump. There was basically no hope of turning things around in the future...

When they thought about the consequences, most of the reporters could be said to be quite honest. Even if they were biased in their reports, they did not dare to be as unscrupulous as the previous batch of people... ..

The live reports were all quite realistic. They did not cut into the scenes and deliberately twisted the words of others. As a result, the data obtained by the major news agencies this time was relatively close and more realistic... ..

According to the data, first of all, in terms of the New Territories' export restrictions, Huaxia City had the highest level of satisfaction, while Huaxia City had the highest number of exports for the time being.

The conditions for Huaxia City to go to the new territories were not too harsh, and they were very well-behaved. They completely followed the basic settings of galaxy, causing most of the players, including the veteran players, to have no objections to them. As for the number of exports., as Huaxia City did not have any restrictions on the development of private players, the players from central China had an absolute advantage in terms of talent. In addition, Huaxia City's infrastructure, training grounds, and the number and level of instructors were the best among the six major cities, as a result, the leveling speed of the players from Huaxia City was very smooth.

This time, there were nearly 30,000 players from central China who had met the conditions to head to the new territories. They were the best among the six major cities, which was also in line with the general predictions of the outside experts.

The fourth city had the worst exit count and satisfaction rating!

Elizabeth had not only proposed a new policy that limited the players from central China to spirit-type players, she had also raised the threshold of the exit policy to hell-level!

The requirement was that the player's life rating had reached level 3, and the druid gene simulation had to reach five high-quality gene simulation levels before they could head to the new territories. As a result, there was only one person in the entire fourth city who could reach this level!

And that person was the city Lord Elizabeth herself!

This situation naturally caused the entire fourth city's population to be dissatisfied. They all gathered at the administrative hall to protest. It was currently the city with the most tense situation out of the six major cities.

However, this was also normal. After all, no one would be able to accept this. Clearly, many players were already gearing up to venture outside. Yet, a treaty was written to tell them that they were still far from reaching that level. Who would be able to accept this?

If everyone was like this, then it would be fine. However, the key point was that the other cities had already reached the standards and could leave. Yet, they had to be trapped in the fourth city and watch as others fought to make a name for themselves. It would be strange if they did not blow up... ..

However, City Lord Elizabeth's attitude was very unyielding. She did not have the slightest intention of changing the treaty because of the opposition of the masses. She only increased the city's subsidies and rewards for trips after level 3 and refused to back down on the threshold... ..

This caused the outside world to speculate. Many people could not understand what Elizabeth was thinking... ..

The citizens of the fifth city were the most divided among the six major cities. Due to Mister's further racist favoritism, his reputation developed in an extreme direction.

Most of the white players praised Mister as the greatest castellan. He was neither hypocritical nor pretentious, and his fans were extremely hot.

On the contrary, most of the Huazhong players gritted their teeth and became completely anti-fans. Of course, there were also some Huazhong players who thought that the Huazhong players themselves were not good enough and could not integrate into the white player community. As a result, they were isolated by the fifth city. They should learn from the people of the Three Kingdoms, show more loyalty, and quickly be accepted by society... ..

In any case, the city split was very serious now, and the evaluation of Mister was divided into two levels. However, because the proportion of Huazhong players in the Fifth City was not high, the overall support rate for Mister was actually not bad... ..

And there was an even more interesting statistic. Although the fifth city was very lenient towards white people, the number of white players who went to the new territories was still not very high. Because of being too lazy, most of the white players were lagging behind in their levels. There were only a few hundred white players who could reach level two...

This resulted in the majority of the population of the fifth city that went to the new territories this time was actually a three-ethnic minority!

According to the data, the fifth city had a total population of 8,700 people who went to the new territories. Among them, 400 were white players, 200 were players from central China, and 600 to 700 were african-americans and other minorities, the remaining 6,000 or so players were all from the third nation!

Once the data was released, the politicians of the third nation were delighted. They once again held a press conference to show off their strategic vision, believing that the cooperation between the third nation and Lord Mister was the wisest choice at the moment, they also encouraged more people of the three nations to choose the fifth city!

The Western society had mixed feelings about this data. It was not right to say that the three nations had stolen their position. In the cities, the three nations were extremely respectful to the white players, and almost all of them showed filial respect, many level 2 three nations players would even show filial respect to a level 1 white player for their points.

White players were obviously the ones who benefited, but this result made people feel that something was not right... ..

Therefore, there were people who proposed to lower the threshold for white players, saying that white players only needed to be level 1 to travel to the mainland... ..

This magical phenomenon was now being discussed very enthusiastically on various social platforms... ..

At the same time, the one with the most complicated feelings after hearing that the three nations' descendants had benefited in the fifth city was the former national hero of the three nations, Amir... ..

At this moment, he was sitting in the conference room of Huaxia City. When he saw the data that had just been released, he had a complicated expression on his face, as if he didn't know whether to laugh or cry... ..
