Chapter 1861: Demon Gene Selection (Part One)

Emerald Starfield:

The place where the players were received was the central console of the Emerald Starfield. It was a platform made entirely of an unknown emerald jade. It stood at the highest point of the entire Starfield, and the Emerald Jade had special magical effects, it allowed one's vision to see extremely far.

Chen Shanshan, who had come to the Emerald Starfield for the first time, was incomparably curious. She felt as if she could see the vast expanse of stars before her eyes. That kind of grandeur reached her heart and lungs. To be honest, Chen Shanshan could not take her eyes off of it the moment she laid eyes on it, no matter how good the descriptions in the books were, they were not as shocking as what she saw in real life.

She suddenly understood a little why so many boys were shouting about the Sea of stars all day long. If you did not mention it, it was quite beautiful... ..

“Oh, welcome to the Emerald Starfield, my lovely child... ”

Just as Shanshan was immersed in the vast starry sky, a gentle voice that was as gentle as the ocean came over.

This analogy might be a little strange, but that was what Chen Shanshan felt. The other party's voice was very gentle, as gentle as water, but the owner of the voice gave people a feeling of vastness. Gentle as water, but as vast as an endless ocean... ..

Looking up, Chen Shanshan was stunned again. This was the first time she had seen a creature like a dragon. To be honest, after seeing the real thing, she had a feeling that the movie was indeed lying to her. Whether it was the flying lizard in the west..., or the mythical dragon in the east, none of them could be compared to the beautiful creature in front of her.

The feeling of being beautiful and elegant yet filled with the strength of a mountain could not be picked out at all.

No wonder all living beings liked to use dragons as the standard in their plans. Who would not want such a perfect body?

“Hello, senior... ” Chen Shanshan came back to her senses, she bowed slightly. As a priestess, her etiquette lessons were not very good. But this time, she tried her best to make her movements more standardized. subconsciously, she suddenly felt that some existences... Indeed needed etiquette to demonstrate respect... ..

“Another exquisite piece of jade... ” the huge green dragon looked at the place with a smile. More and more such excellent seedlings came into the emerald star field. It made the Emerald Star Field, which she had spent half of her life making, full of vitality. It also made her treat the juniors of planet d more and more as her own juniors... ..

“After reading the information, it seems that you want to develop in the abyss.

That is a dangerous place, little girl... ”

Ysera looked at her gently with a smile on her face.

“Well... it is quite risky... ” Chen Shanshan scratched her head, she didn’t have the money to buy a full-body copy insurance now. If she died accidentally, she would have to start from zero. However, the population of the city would be more and more open, and the resources would be more and more scarce, it would definitely waste a lot of her time to start all over again.

However, she still nodded seriously and said, (‘I have thought it through. Thank you for your reminder, Senior!’ ”

She was a good child with good will...

Ysera nodded in satisfaction. The citizens of Seer were not bad. Of course, there were differences among them. For example, Wang Goudan’s talent was far inferior to that of ordinary players. However, this was still a minority. Even on average., the quality of Seer’s people was greater than that of many top-tier aristocratic family members!

However, having talent did not mean that one could become successful. The universe was vast, and there was great opportunity for competition. If one’s temperament was not good enough, no matter how good one’s talent was, it would be useless.

She had read about this child called Chen Shanshan. She had read about an elemental priest with a talent in prophecy. He was proficient in ocean gathering and first aid. Such a comprehensive ability was indeed very popular on the battlefield. If one could grasp his talent well... Very soon... ..

“Do you know that you need to transplant the second demon gene to go to the Abyss?”

“Yes... I’ve heard of it!” Chen Shanshan nodded.

Ysera smiled. Natives were better than natives. They did not dislike the demon gene. If it was a descendant of a federation family, they would not be willing to go extinct.

“There is a gene chart here. Take a good look and choose your second gene carefully. This is related to your future direction of development. Please consider it carefully!”

“Yes!” Chen Shanshan nodded excitedly. “Thank you for your reminder, senior... ”

After thanking her, she did not hesitate and immediately opened the link sent by Ysera to look at it carefully.

There were dozens of demon genes in the gene table. There were the fallen devil that was good at melee combat, the blood devil that was good at agility and extremely strong in recovery, the four great elemental demons that were good at elemental cores, and the shadow devil that had strange talent. As a priestess, most of the races had the same job because every demon had a priestess job, and they all had different enhancements. For example, the shadow priestess of the Shadow Devils could control shadow power, and their abilities were strange, it was an extremely unique type of magic.

Another example was the warrior priestess of the Fallen Devils. She could invite more than ten kinds of abyssal evil gods to possess her body. She was a priestess with extremely strong overall combat strength. She was very suitable for the battlefield, but she was a little ugly.

“UH... Senior, do you have any recommendations?” Chen Shanshan hesitated for a moment, but she still asked modestly. After all, these information had not been released to them in advance, so she was still a little confused when she was asked to choose at the first moment... .

He was impulsive but not impatient. He had a good personality...

Ysera's evaluation of him was even higher, he nodded and said, “There are a lot of genes in here, but it's actually not difficult to choose the ones that are suitable for you. You Can Make a comprehensive evaluation based on your occupation, physique, needs, and the situation of your faction.”

“You're an elf. Since Your Elf bloodline has made you a priest, it proves that you're suitable for the priest class. Choosing the same type of demon genes will be more suitable for balance. As an elemental priest, you 're more suitable for the elemental demon class, and then there's the need. You need to figure out your future class plan. Do you want to be a pure elemental priest or expand some other class, and then you'll make a fuss about it. Finally, it's the influence of power...”. “.”

Ysera paused for a moment and opened the screen. A form from the Bolton force was displayed on it, she smiled and introduced, “The Abyssal Force You're heading to is a comprehensive demonic force. Most of its army is under the control of purebred demons. These abyssal demons have a very strong sense of bloodlines. It's very difficult for non-descendants of their own lineage to make a name for themselves in their army. The force has a total of ten legions, and nine of the great demonic legions are recruited by outsiders. In other words, although there seem to be so many bloodlines that can be chosen, in reality, there are only nine that have the best prospects for development... “.

(I see... “Chen Shanshan thought that she was lucky. Fortunately, she had asked and did not make a random choice. Otherwise, it might have been a tragedy. Why didn't she remind the players of such an important matter?

Ysera: “The nine demon species are the fallen angels, the four elemental demons, the blood demons, the shadow demons, the fallen demons, and the earth demons. Each army is responsible for a different war zone and the nature of the mission. Moreover, the types of priests in each army are different. You can take a closer look and make your choice after you have made up your mind... ”

“Okay, okay! “Hearing that she could take a closer look, Chen Shanshan immediately replied happily.

Through the situation just now, she finally understood that this genetic choice was extremely important, and it even determined the path she would take to go there.

Not daring to waste time, Shanshan carefully opened the information and started reading... “

Chapter 1862: Demon Gene Selection (Part Two)

The nine legions were the main force of the Bolton Force. Over the years, the Bolton force had risen rapidly, and the legions had started to expand. They had been stationed in the major star fields that Bolton had occupied!

Each Legion occupied a different place, and they had different resources and faced different problems. Furthermore, their race characteristics and promotion system were also different.

The introduction gave a general introduction, and Chen Shanshan quickly read it very carefully.

First was the first Legion of the Bolton Force: Fallen Angel Legion. It was located on the main planet of Bolton: Sargeroras Galaxy. This galaxy was where the Bolton Force started, and it had the most perfect order and a large amount of resources, the basic security for every soldier was very adequate, especially in terms of logistics, transportation, and group battle arrangements. It was very standardized, and the promotion system was also relatively stable. Whether the soldiers were stationed abroad or on missions in the local galaxy.., the conditions along the way were very good.

In terms of resources, apart from basic energy resources, Sargeroras also produced high-quality Lux elemental stones. These were the crystallization of the fall of the high-level ancient elemental elves, and were very rare elemental mineral resources, whether it was used to forge high-level elemental equipment or to refine elemental essence for elemental mages, they were very good raw materials!

In terms of bloodline, the fallen angels were the top demon species in the abyss. They had a very high cost-effectiveness ratio. Like the elves, they were both spiritual and physical beings. Moreover, they had very strong elemental perception. They were the representatives of the abyssal nobles!

There were many advantages and disadvantages. Firstly, Sargeroras Galaxy was the main galaxy of the Bolton faction. The population density was very high now. There were actually very few resources that could be mined. Although it was safe for the army to carry out missions.., there were not many opportunities to obtain battle achievements.

And although the logistics treatment was stable, it was not very good. It was stable here, but the rookies had to slowly rise to the top.

Only the war missions abroad received a higher salary, but the stability of these missions abroad was extremely poor. The good missions were not given to the rookies who did not have a relationship, and the bad missions were very dangerous... ..

The recommendation index was only three stars...

And then there was the ninth Legion of the fallen devil (Dylan) . This was a stark contrast to the Fallen Angel Legion. The Fallen Devil was Bolton's mother race, but they joined the Bolton faction very late, and were considered to be the type who would come to help in times of need, they were the type who would come to add icing on the cake after they had developed.

The places the fallen Devil Legion was assigned were all very new galaxies, and new galaxies were also rich in resources. However, as they had just been developed, the instability was very high, and the various resistance forces of the indigenous civilizations had to be suppressed.., many evil gods within took the opportunity to bewitch some dark forces into hiding. There were also some extremist cultists that would deliberately attract the void or even the undead calamity, which was an extremely unstable region.

The logistics and transportation support were terrible. The fallen demon itself was not very good at administration, and the galaxy was almost a mess. Moreover, there seemed to be conflicts between the chief administrative officer and the commander of the army, and they often quarreled, this caused the logistics to be very unstable.

The advantage was that there were many opportunities. Due to the chaos of the galaxy, there were many precious resources that had not been discovered. Moreover, due to the lack of supervision and management system, the soldiers did not have to hand in whatever they found, they could secretly make a small fortune!

The Helenghal Galaxy, where the fallen devil was located, was rich in inkstone crude oil. It was a very popular chemical raw material. It was also a high-quality oil recommended by many mecha. The Inkstone formed from it was an excellent mechanical energy crystal composite material, the market was very popular.

In other words, it was very easy to make a small fortune in this place!

The recommended index was four stars!

Next was the galaxy where the four elemental demons were located. The elemental demons were divided into the flame demon army, the Wind Demon Army, and the Rock Demon Army, the Water Demon Army.

The galaxy where they were located belonged to a high-quality galaxy. There were quite a number of single-attribute crystal ores.

Elemental Demons were one of the earliest demon-type forces that supported Bolton. The maturity of the galaxies they controlled was second only to the fallen angel army, and they also had a pretty good management system.

Although their internal stability was not as stable as the fallen angels, it was still alright. Of course.., there would still be occasional suppression missions and internal civilization punitive missions!

The materials that the elemental demon army produced were mostly related to elements. Other than ores, there were also many animal and plant products made from high elements, all of which were very suitable for elemental priests.

Their shortcomings were obvious. They were the kind that followed the rules. Their chances were not as great as those of the fallen devils, but they were also not as rigorous and difficult as the fallen angels.

The star level recommended to Chen Shanshan was five stars!

Then there were the blood demons. In terms of bloodline and specialty resources, the blood demons were actually not very suitable for the priest profession. Of course, the blood demons also had priests. However, the blood priests and shadow priests were the same. They were the more bizarre type of evil priests, if one wanted to enter the profession, the previous elemental priestess profession would not be very helpful to the new profession. Moreover, it was equivalent to practicing two professions. It would consume a lot of energy, and it was also easy to cause chaos.

The advantage was that the blood demon army was easy to take care of. The commander of the Blood Demon Army was a staunch ally of our faction: Vera. With her around, she would definitely prioritize all kinds of missions for the D Ball Players 'children. In terms of obtaining short-term benefits.., it was quite profitable!

The recommended index was four stars!

The final Shadow Demon Army, Ysera, directly did not recommend a choice. Most of the shadow demons were eccentric and eccentric, and they were extremely xenophobic. Furthermore, shadow priests were one of the most unfriendly professions among the evil priests, the evil gods that they came into contact with were all very dangerous types. It was very easy to create unexpected risks, so they did not recommend a choice.

Chen Shanshan looked at all the information and fell into a dilemma. The pros and cons of the above were very clear, which also caused her to think more. For a moment, she became a little hesitant.

“Are you still hesitating?”

While she was engrossed in reading, a gentle voice was heard. Chen Shanshan was momentarily stunned, and she raised her head to look over.

She did not know when, but there were other players here. It was a Green Titan player. His facial features were more gentle, and it was obvious that he was not a berserker type player. Chen Shanshan knew this person, they had even worked together a few times on the New Street Quest.

In fact, most of the top players in this batch of new players knew Yang Rui. This guy was one of the few central China players who could come out of the fifth city. Moreover, whether it was his combat quality or the planning ability he displayed when completing the quest.., they were all very impressive. In Shanshan's impression, a few collaborations were considered relatively pleasant. When she met such a reliable acquaintance, Shanshan's mood instantly improved.

“When did you come?”

“I've been here for a while...” Yang Rui grinned, displaying the unique charm of a middle-aged man.

Yang Rui was not considered old. Among the people in D world, he was thirty-two years old. He was considered at the peak of his prime, but in the life form calculation formula, he was already past the peak of his Qi and blood.

However, this was not an absolute thing. Among the same batch of players, Yang Rui's momentum was definitely above most of the young ones. In fact, such examples were not rare in the base. Among the first batch of Green Titan players, there were a few who were the best. Other than Leng Xing, the others, such as Pu Yunchuan and the Emperor of the liver, were middle-aged men in their thirties...

However, their momentum was among the best among the players...

“Have you made up your mind? “Yang Rui looked at Chen Shanshan and smiled.. Do you want to tell me your concerns and let me give you a reference?”

Chapter 1863: invite...

Give some advice?

Chen Shanshan was stunned. You Act Like You're familiar with us, let's...

Weren't they the first batch of people to cross the river by feeling for a rock?

However, since the other party had said so, she couldn't not give him face. She smiled gently and said, “Then, uncle, please give me some advice...”

This “Uncle” made Yang Rui's smile freeze for a moment. He knew that the other party was a university student who seemed to still be studying. Compared to him, he was indeed considered to be of average age. However, wasn't calling him “Uncle” a little too much?

“Ahem...” Yang Rui coughed lightly and said in a low voice, “The pros and cons of the various Legion races are written very clearly on this. Therefore, it's very easy for us to be confused at first glance...”

Chen Shanshan nodded. The other party's “We” had unknowingly brought their relationship closer. At the very least, it proved that the other party was not teaching her with the attitude of a moralist. Instead, it was a discussion between people who were also choosing.

“But as long as we can be clear about what we want, it's not hard to choose... <per_o> . “Yang Rui grinned. “You chose to come here for a reason, didn't you? Most people, if they weren't military-born, wouldn't take the battlefield route. Missions like exploring planets in the emerald quadrant are fun and not too dangerous for most people. You're here to prove that you have your own ideas, aren't you?”

Shanshan was stunned when she heard that. She immediately reacted. That's right, what was her original purpose in coming here? How could she be confused by these advantages?

The main reason she chose a battlefield was to maximize her advantages and quickly obtain resources!

Thinking about it, many options seemed to be eliminated instantly... ..

First, there was the ninth legion of the fallen evils. Although there was a high chance of obtaining resources there, it did not meet her requirements and could not use her advantages. The fallen evils were a typical physical evolution-type life-form player, even if they were priestesses.., they also needed a strong body to support the projection of an evil god from outer space. They did not have a fusion rate with elemental elves like her.

Moreover, Chen Shanshan was not interested in this priestess mode at all.

Although there were many opportunities to earn money, it was too unstable. Moreover, it was not very good for her future development. What was the difference between this and the Emerald Starfield?

The emerald star also had the opportunity to make a fortune when exploring new places. Moreover, there was no need to take risks. After all, there were all kinds of problems in this place when it came to embezzling resources. For example, whether the boss would be with them.., for example, if you discovered the resources, would your teammates have evil intentions towards you and directly kill you.

If the emerald star field discovered anything, it would be counted as your performance. Many plots of land could be directly rewarded to you. wasn't it more cost-effective than the Emerald Star Field?

Seeing that Chen Shanshan had immediately closed the information of the Ninth Legion, Yang Rui smiled and said, "Look, doesn't this make things easier?"

"Thank you, Uncle!" Chen Shanshan grinned and said.

"Don't call me uncle! "Yang Rui couldn't help but emphasize, then he continued, "After eliminating the ninth legion, the rest can be divided into three major categories. First, the first category is the elemental demon category. This type of Legion is normal. The chances are average. The demon genes are also average. Everything is average, but nothing is outstanding."

"That's not right, right?" Chen Shanshan smiled. "That's for you, uncle, right? I am very compatible with the elemental demons. How can I say that my genes are average?"

"I already said that you shouldn't call me uncle. How much younger than Me Are You?" Yang Rui could not help but protest, he sighed and said, "You are a sea priestess, so you subconsciously think that you are very compatible with the elemental demons. However, in reality, you are not. Sea priestesses are close to the water element, but they are also very compatible with the wind element. After choosing the Elemental Demons, your attributes will become single. Either the wind element or the water element. The two genes will affect each other, so you will most likely choose the water element that is most compatible with you. However, this way, the other talent will be considered to have been given up..."

"A priestess is different from a single elemental envoy. A priestess is more knowledgeable than a priestess..."

"Uncle, you're right..." Chen Shanshan nodded. "Then what do you think is the most advantageous gene?"

"The fallen angel, of course!" Yang Rui was too lazy to correct her, he sighed and said, "The fallen angel gene is very comprehensive. It's a life form that grows in both directions, just like the elves. Furthermore, it's very flexible. I've read the information. This life form can specialize in martial arts, strengthen the body, or focus on the spiritual core, becoming an elemental angel. Of course, it can also dual-cultivate. Furthermore, its quality and attributes are extremely high. For future development, it's an excellent booster gene!"

As he spoke, he looked at the other party seriously and said, "Leaving aside the option of an elemental demon, the rest is actually quite easy to consider. If you only want to develop in the abyssal passage for a short period of time, and you only want to use this place as a springboard, if you want to gain benefits in the short term, then decisively choose the blood demon army. With our own people as the commander of the army, there's almost no need to worry about the mission arrangements. You'll definitely be able to obtain a very good opportunity to profit in the short term. As for after leaving this place, you can use your own wood elf gene as the main gene. The blood demon gene can only be used as a support gene for special situations. It's actually not bad. After all, this race has very strong regenerative abilities and is very good at tracking. It can also be used many times...". "... I'

"And if you want to develop here for a long time, if you want to make use of this force to achieve your own success, such as becoming a high-ranking military official and making long-term profits, then the fallen angel army is very suitable. Even if you are recommended to be promoted to a higher education institution later, you can still return to work. After all, most of the students who graduate from higher education institutions also go to various places to work for the god Lord."

"Since it's a part-time job, we might as well choose a faction that we're more familiar with. Since this faction can accommodate us to go to the novice trial, it naturally can also accommodate us to develop in there. With cooperation, the difficulty of promotion might be a little lower, right?"

Chen Shanshan was stunned when she heard that. After she heard it, she was stunned for a few seconds before she reacted. She immediately smiled and said, "Uncle, you can do it! I"

Yang Rui pursed his lips. This girl was such a cute little girl when they worked together in the past. She was quiet and gentle. Why did it feel like she was jumping around when they were slightly familiar with each other... ..

"What did Uncle Choose?" Chen Shanshan asked curiously.

The other party had a set of theories. She was very curious about the other party's choice.

"I haven't thought about it..." Yang Rui said straightforwardly.

Chen Shanshan: "...

She was the one who had been struggling for a long time, and she still had the nerve to talk about her?

"How about... We Go to the First Army Corps together?" Chen Shanshan smiled.

"Oh?" Yang Rui was stunned. "Why the First Army Corps?"

"You're right, the future is more secure!" Chen Shanshan smiled and said,

"Killing the goose that lays the golden eggs is still not good. Although the Blood Demon Army's profits may be very high in the short term, it is exchanged with our future potential. But I think that our future potential is not worth exchanging for some current resources!"

"You are quite confident in your future, little girl!" Yang Rui grinned.

"I wouldn't be here if I didn't have the confidence!" Chen Shanshan stretched out her slender and fair hands and imitated Yang Rui's smile. "Want to join us?"

Yang Rui was stunned for a moment before he grinned. "Alright, you will be bullied if you go out like this. Uncle will take care of you!"

"Tsk... it's not certain who will protect who!"

For some reason, the usually quiet Shanshan was strangely jumpy today.

Thus, under Ysera's smiling eyes, the jade-like elf girl and the Mighty Titan of the Sun stood above the brilliant starry sky. With a longing for the future, they chose to travel together!

What a wonderful time of youth...

The corners of Ysera's mouth curled up slightly, as if recalling the time when he first flew out of the dragon's nest. He was also like this, full of confidence and fear for the future... ..

At that time, even the solitary dragons liked to travel together like this....

Chapter 1864: Newbies who have been noticed... ..

Although the new channel had been officially opened and the six major cities had issued corresponding laws, which had caused great waves, in reality, the number of people who had signed up was very small. After all, at this stage, there were very few players who could reach level 5, except for a small number of the first batch of players, most of the new batch of players were still lingering around level 3 or 4. Those who were slower would probably need more than a year of hard work before they could register.

Therefore, the reception area for the rookies in the several passageways was deserted, especially the abyssal passage. When soap came to pick them up, he had a dissatisfied look on his face!

"Just the two of you?"

Yang Rui and Chen Shanshan were both stunned and nodded their heads repeatedly.

This was especially true for Chen Shanshan. Although she had never seen this fellow before, she had long heard of his name. After all, in the online posts back then, other than the Silly Bird Lu Xiaowei, grandpa soap was the most famous. Back then, there were at least a thousand posts discussing what this fellow would evolve into in the end...

After seeing it, Chen Shanshan could not help but sigh...

So... There was really someone who could transform into such a strange thing...

Before transforming back then, many of her friends had discussed with each other worriedly. Because elf transformation was extremely unstable, no one knew what they would become. In addition, there were a few seniors who had done it before, which made her even more worried.

However, she was fine with it back then. After all, soap never allowed people to take photos. Outside of the circle, the internet was considered a rather mysterious senior. She had always felt that the legendary living soap was an exaggerated statement made by the base players.

After all... "... . How could it be possible for a human to transform into something like that? It wasn't a funny manga. Even evolutionary soap would come, so why didn't it evolve into a toilet?

Most of the time, it was a rumor that was deliberately made fun of because the shape was a little too square... ..

But after seeing the real person, Chen Shanshan suddenly felt that she was naive... ..

Oh My God, there was really someone who had transformed into such a thing! !

For a moment, she had mixed feelings. She felt that everything in the world was strange and lucky that she wasn't one of those strange things. If she had also transformed into such a baffling thing, she... Would definitely have no face to live on... .

"Hello, Senior! "Yang Rui greeted him with a smile.

Senior? Soap took a look at the guy who was smiling brightly. He tried his best to look serious, but the corners of his mouth curled up slightly.

The newbies nowadays were still quite sensible...

"Come with me... "soap waved his hand with a reserved look. Then, he led the way to the other side with his hands behind his back.

Chen Shanshan lowered her head carefully, afraid that the other party would look down on her after seeing her weird expression.

To be honest, she could not be blamed for having an unnatural expression. It was true that normal people would have an unnatural expression when they saw this thing. A piece of live soap glided on the ground with human-like facial features and a pair of slender arms... ..

If it was placed in a two-dimensional space, it would indeed be quite cute. For example, a famous anime with a sponge as the main character. However, if it was placed in a three-dimensional space, this thing would look a little scary...

However, very quickly, Chen Shanshan's attention was drawn away from the strange appearance of the soap.

She looked at the surrounding scenery!

This was a huge corridor that connected a galaxy. It was like a train that crisscrossed across the entire huge galaxy. At the center of the countless crisscrossing orbits was a huge red planet, it might be called a planet, but it was actually more like an incomparably huge heart. Walking along this corridor, Chen Shanshan could even vaguely feel the throbbing sensation!

"It's really spectacular! "Yang Rui looked around in surprise and exclaimed in admiration.

"Is that... A Planet?" Chen Shanshan could not help but ask.

"Titan's heart! "Soap replied telepathically. "This is the new project of the Emerald Starfield. It's an experimental project that Ysera modified based on Bolton's previous bio-activation star technology. Previously, that Dragon Soul Star was directly destroyed by Ysera. "

Chen Shanshan. " ... "

"Is that so... "yang Rui asked curiously, "Senior, what kind of work do you do

He had actually been very curious. This abyss passage had been mentioned a long time ago. It seemed to be opened to them by a demon-type great Lord's power. However, from the fact that they wanted to use demon genes to hide their identity.., it didn't seem like a formal cooperation.

However, as this fellow had walked through the abyssal passage, the various demons around him had greeted him respectfully from afar. Soap's status seemed to be quite high. This made him very curious about the relationship between this power and his own power!

"I am currently one of the Guild's internal affairs ministers. I am currently in charge of the Guild's administrative affairs..." Soap slowly explained as he shook his head.

Naturally, the truth of the faction would not be revealed to all the players. After all, the faction was filled with high-level demons. If more people knew the truth, it was inevitable that it would be revealed. If such a thing were to be revealed, the consequences would be quite serious.

Therefore, the fact that Bolton was actually the main body of soap was only known to a very small number of players, such as Eggface, rain girl, and the others.

"Which faction is this young man from?"

Just as the two rookies were curiously sizing up their surroundings, many people along the way were also curiously sizing them up!

Although the level of this male and female fallen angels did not seem to be high, their expressions and bone statues caused some of the fallen angel powerhouses who were passing by to cast sidelong glances at them!

This was especially so for some of the fallen angel elders who had just sent their juniors over to join the army. They were very surprised as they looked at the two guys who were following behind soap.

"Elder..." at this moment, a high-level angel in black armor looked curiously at a cloth-clothed angel beside him and carefully transmitted his voice, "Is there something wrong with those two little guys?"

The left shoulder of the high-level angel in black armor was engraved with a black sun symbol. In the Burton faction, this was considered a lieutenant general rank, and in the faction, it was considered a middle-level general in the army.

However, he had a lot of respect for the cloth-clothed angel behind him. Those who were familiar with the high-ranking members of the fallen angel clan would be able to recognize that this cloth-clothed angel was the third elder of the Fallen Angel clan, Luce!

"This is a big problem!" The cloth-clothed Angel looked young and handsome, but his voice was deep and gloomy, he transmitted his voice in a low voice, "The bone structure of those two little guys is almost perfect. Although I haven't measured them carefully, I'm afraid that they are probably of royal blood!"

"Royal Blood?" The Lieutenant Angel was stunned. There were only 13 newborn babies in the royal family of fallen angels. Except for Safilos, the second son who had died, the remaining 12 were.., they were all protected by the elders and families of various sects. No one had ever sent anyone here!

Moreover, there were no women among the newborn babies of this generation of royal family!

“Go and investigate the situation of those two children! “The elder transmitted his voice in a low voice.

“Yes! “The Lieutenant General’s Angel accepted the mission without hesitation, even though this mission might very well cause him to lose his current position.

However, this matter concerned the royal bloodline, so it was indeed worth the risk. After all, there were many elders in the fallen angel clan, and all of them had their own noble daughters married into the royal family. However, not everyone could give birth to a royal bloodline, at least for this generation..., the bloodline of the third elder did not have royal blood!

Chapter 1865: Confusion...

“My Lord... What are you doing?”

In the Archives Room, a big-headed demon archivist looked at the guy in front of him in a daze, his face full of confusion.

Why would a fallen angel lieutenant general come to the Rookie Archives Room? Even if these arrogant angels sent their juniors here, they would never be bothered with the matters in the archives, right?

“Ahem... “the black-armored fallen angel coughed lightly and tried his best to remain expressionless as he said, “Let me take a look at the latest enlistment information. Acura battlefield needs new recruits. I need to see if there are any suitable candidates... ”

“Acura Battlefield?”The big-headed demon was stunned. wasn’t that the newly developed planar battlefield? There were very few places for generals to lead their armies there. They either took care of their direct descendants or recruited veterans with rich combat experience. There was no need for them to come here to look for the list of new recruits, right?

But even though he was puzzled, his military rank was there. There was no reason for him to look at the information...

“Sir, this is the new recruit who has signed up for nearly a month. Please take a look... ”

“HMM... “the angel gently took the name list and read it from beginning to end with a serious look.

The angel who came to look at the name list was Helsinki, the junior who had just been arranged by the third elder, Luce, to investigate the situation. He originally wanted to look at the latest list of the two little guys who signed up to join the army, but he could just flip through it at the end. However, the fallen angel was too concerned about his reputation, so he patiently looked at the information in front of him and made up an excuse that he was not very smart... ..

Actually, this kind of thing could be done by one of his subordinates, which would be more natural. After all, even if there was a certain person on the battlefield, it should not be him, a general-level figure, who would personally pick people.

However, he could not hand this matter over to his subordinates.

After all, he was spying on the juniors of other families. This kind of thing was not very honorable. Moreover, if there were juniors who were infinitely close to the royal bloodline secretly joining the Bolton Force, this kind of thing was naturally not suitable for too many people to know.

Although in his heart, he felt that the elder was most likely mistaken... ..

After all, it sounded too incredible!

The royal bloodline was extremely precious. In the fallen angel clan, where the fertility was already low, every royal descendant was treated as a treasure.

Moreover, every time a pure royal descendant was recruited by the various big families through marriage, they would be equipped with the most outstanding male or female bloodline in the family.

According to the rules, a female who could give birth to a royal bloodline would give birth to a bloodline family name according to her mother's nature. It was a system that the fallen angels protected the top families.

This year, the number of young royal descendants was the highest in the past generations, reaching as many as thirteen. However, even so, this luck did not fall on the third Elder's bloodline!

However, this was also very normal. There were hundreds of top fallen angel families that were qualified for this marriage alliance. Every generation, 99% of the families would not be able to get a royal bloodline. Many families might not even be able to produce one in millions of eras.

The third elder himself had the royal bloodline, but he was helpless. Although he would have dozens of outstanding descendants of his own family every year, he was still unable to give birth to a bloodline. It could be seen how difficult it was for fallen angel descendants to be born, the third elder, who had lived for millions of eras, had only given birth to two children, but they were all marriages between outsiders, not his own family.

It was the iron rule of the universe that creatures in the universe's life sea could not give birth to descendants. For the sake of children, the third elder had been stuck at the threshold of life sea for a long time...

The family was anxious, so was he. Perhaps he was too anxious. Everyone looked like royalty?

Helsinki shook his head and quietly flipped to the last page of the information. His gaze stopped at the names of the newly recruited soldiers.

The high-definition headshots were correct. It was the two children. Their names were a little strange. One was called Rui and the other was called Shan, but they did not have surnames.

Helsinki frowned. He could not help but point at the two names on the register and asked, "What's with the names? Why don't they have surnames?"

The big-headed demon was stunned when he heard that. He carefully looked at the other party. "Sir, this... most of the clansmen who joined the army do not have surnames. Isn't that a very normal thing?"

Lord Bolton's power developed towards the abyss demons, but not all of the people who came were noble children, especially low-level soldiers. Most of the soldiers were demons who lived in the wilderness to try their luck. The children of demons from well-off families actually responded less to Lord Bolton's call... ..

"You 're saying... These two children... are registered without surnames?" Helsinki asked in disbelief.

He naturally knew about the demon soldiers without surnames. Most of the soldiers in his army were also scattered without surnames. These soldiers were mostly mixed-bloods and were not recognized by the family, or they were abandoned for various reasons, or they were the descendants of sinners who were exiled, and so on.

But that shouldn't be the case!

Even if elder Luce was mistaken and wasn't of royal blood, his bone image shouldn't be bad. Otherwise, he wouldn't have attracted the elder's attention.

But how could those wild demons have such good bone images?

"It's a good idea for you to choose to join the First Army..."

In soap's office, soap said lazily to the two of them, "The bloodline of fallen angels is infinitely close to the ancient times. It's one of the best demon genes. Indeed, it's better than elemental demons. It's not wrong to choose to be at the top in terms of genes..."

"However, it is more difficult to make a name for yourself in the First Army in a short time..."

"There is no chance at all?" Yang Rui frowned.

"It is not that there is no chance! Soap opened the information screen and said, "It depends on which general you join. The division of Labor in the First Army is clear. Some generals are responsible for maintaining the security of the galaxy, some are responsible for opening up the outside world, and some are responsible for certain important battlefields. If you can join the general who has battlefield resources, there are still a lot of opportunities..." ". "

"This is good..." Yang Rui's eyes lit up. Since he had chosen the abyss, he was not afraid of war- If he chose to stay in the Emerald Starfield. he might as well stay there...

"This is more troublesome..." Soap shook his head. "Most of the generals who have the resources on the battlefield are the elders of this force. They are also born in the fallen angel families. There are many descendants of their families. The expansion of the army will often be started by their own descendants. Even if they choose from the outside world, they will always choose veterans who have contributed to the war. It is difficult for new recruits like you who do not have any background to join the important battlefield..." ". "

"Then... is there any other way?" Chen Shanshan couldn't help but ask. After all, she came here to speed up her progress, and she didn't want to waste her time here... ..

"I can only find an Aboriginal planet that needs to be suppressed first to let you guys go and mess around. However, it's a little hard to find. The Galaxy where the first Legion is located is the main galaxy of the Bolton Force. It's developed and mature, and there are very few rebels left... .. Tsk... .. How about this, you guys go to the testing base to test your basic qualities first... ..

“soap paused for a moment and looked at them seriously. “Remember what Ysera said when testing the data.. Only one-third of the standard, understand?”

Chapter 1866: Testing (Part One)

When Chen Shanshan and Yang Rui arrived at the testing ground, they realized that there were quite a number of people lining up. There were all kinds of demons, and they immediately looked around curiously.

The two of them looked around, and many of the demons around them also looked at them curiously. This made Yang Rui and Chen Shanshan feel puzzled. They did not understand why the two of them had attracted so much attention, it was not appropriate to ask, so they could only lower their heads and line up.

After queuing for almost a few hours, they finally arrived at the registration office. The registration office was also occupied by a big-headed demon. When he saw the two of them, a hint of surprise flashed in his eyes. “Ah, a pure-blooded fallen angel? How Rare!”

The two of them were stunned when they heard that. How Rare? Didn’t they say that the First Army was the headquarters of the fallen angel demons?

But to be honest, they had seen so many fallen angels lining up along the way, but there were almost no fallen angels like them. They were all different kinds of demons...

The Fallen Angel Legion that they had agreed upon didn’t seem like it...

After all, the Fallen Angel Legion that the two of them had thought of was all armored angels, the kind that looked quite spectacular. But now...

In fact, the two of them could only say that they did not understand this place or the abyss.

Fallen Angels were of a high-level bloodline. It was extremely difficult for a pure-blooded fallen angel to give birth to a child. A pure-blooded fallen angel, if not for the crime committed by their direct elders, would basically have a noble surname.

In fact, these good-natured children with surnames were indeed the main force of the high-level military officers of the First Army. However, it was too much to think of using the good-natured children to form a fallen angel army.

There were not many fallen angels in the first place, there were even fewer that could be taken out to join the army. It was impossible to form a legion with just pure fallen angels. In fact, every pure fallen angel in the Fallen Angel Legion would be equipped with dozens of auxiliary demons, these auxiliary demons were mostly mixed breeds in the wild. There were also some fallen angel mixed breeds.

These demons were the true foundation of the first Legion’s Army!

As for purebred fallen angels, they were usually introduced directly by the elders, and the data was used to test them. It was rare for purebred angels to be tested directly... ..

The big-headed demon took the form and looked at it, and was immediately stunned.

The name on the form was obviously not the main surname of the fallen angel family. It seemed that... . It was indeed an illegitimate child of a non-family...

Bighead nodded. He did not have too many doubts and began to record the information.

Although this situation was rare, it was not unheard of. Fallen Angels were noble, but there were also scattered pure blood. For example, it was possible for their parents to be implicated in a crime, or for the descendants of some mixed-breed fallen angels to return to their ancestors.

Over the years, he had seen too many strange backgrounds in the Bolton Force, so he was already used to it.

“Please come in and test... “after filling in the information, bighead gestured to Chen Shanshan, who was in the front row.

“Thank you... “Chen Shanshan replied with a smile, and carefully walked into the test room with the number plate in her hand.

The test room was very large, and one could not see the end of it at a glance. It was estimated to be over a hundred square kilometers in area, and the equipment looked much more advanced than those on the Mars base.

“Don’t just stand there in a Daze! “A tall black-armored angel shouted at Chen Shanshan from afar. “Hurry up and come over. There are a lot of people lining up at the back. Don’t delay the others! ”

“Oh oh! “Chen Shanshan quickly replied, and she held her head in embarrassment as she jogged over.

“Name, age, life class, genetic lineage, and the test program! “The other party did not even look at Chen Shanshan as he asked in a swift and decisive manner. Chen Shanshan felt that his attitude was very similar to the doctors in the public hospital.

However, the truth was that the flow of people here was indeed not lower than that of the public hospitals. Ever since the Bolton Force opened up to the abyss, those wild demons who had a hard time surviving in the Abyss had swarmed over, this caused the employees who were in charge of the screening to become somewhat numb. They did not even have the energy to raise their heads to take a look, just like those doctors who could not be bothered to listen to the detailed description of the illness... They would just give you a bunch of tests and ask you to queue up to pay for it...

Faced with this kind of aura, Chen Shanshan subconsciously became as weak as a patient seeking medical treatment. She carefully replied, “Name is Shan, age 21, Life Level 5, fallen angel bloodline, uh... What does the test mean?”

“Fallen Angel Bloodline?”The other party sneered. “Speak clearly, what else is there other than the fallen angel bloodline? Mixed bloodlines must not be hidden! ”

These wild hybrids often dared to call themselves fallen angels, not even considering whether they were worthy or not. He had seen many of these people, some hybrids that had bred for countless generations., mixed with an unknown number of low-level demon bloodlines, some even had the disgusting bat wings of blood demons. With just a tiny bit of black feathers on them, they dared to call themselves fallen angel bloodline!

Chen Shanshan was stunned when she heard that. She could not help but feel shocked. Didn't they say that a pair of bloodlines would not be seen through? How could a registered person see through her? Wasn't that too unreliable?

"Mute?" Seeing that Chen Shanshan did not reply for a long time, the other party turned her head in dissatisfaction and was immediately stunned!

The woman in front of her had a lithe body and was exceptionally handsome. Her pair of black and gold dual pupils that were unique to fallen angels were incomparably pure. Her life level was clearly far lower than hers, but her pupils were emitting an inexplicable sense of pressure.

This was obviously... the symbol of a high purity bloodline!

"You... you... you..." the black-armored Angel was obviously a little shocked.

"Are you a member of an aristocratic family?"

With her appearance and temperament, he would believe that she was a pure-blooded angel born from a noble family. Why would she come here?

"ER... not really..." Chen Shanshan smiled embarrassedly. Brother Soap had given her a hint in this regard. When she was asked such a question, she would say that she was a wild one... ..

"Not a member of an aristocratic family?" The black-armored Angel was stunned. At the same time, her eyes were filled with excitement.

Those who came here to test were all active-duty sergeants. They were here to recruit auxiliary combat personnel for themselves. In the First Army, a fallen angel usually had to bring more than ten auxiliary personnel.

It was very difficult to find such pure angel auxiliary personnel. Most of the pure-blooded angels in the wild were descendants of atavism. The probability of this happening was very small, but if one bumped into them, it would be a good harvest.

After all, the battlefield was dangerous. Everyone wanted to recruit some reliable members and command an angel whose bloodline was purer than their own as an auxiliary soldier. Thinking about it, it was quite exciting!

"Let's go in and test it first!" The angel looked around, afraid that the other party would be noticed by others and be snatched away, so he hurriedly covered Chen Shanshan with his wings, hoping that the testing machine would send her over...

He just did not expect, in the outside, someone has already targeted this wild angel...

“Elder... I have checked, it is indeed not a nobleman, should be the wild hybrid! “In the distance, Helsinki carefully to the side of the third elder said.

“Hybrid? “The third elder looked over with narrowed eyes, full of disbelief, nodded and said, “Let’s see first....

Chapter 1867: Testing (Part Two)

Bone groping was a strictly prohibited process. To determine whether a junior’s bone structure was intact, one had to go through a thorough examination. This was because many genetic defects were very subtle and were hidden deep within the bone structure, the disadvantages would become more and more obvious when one’s level was high.

Therefore, even an elder like Lius did not dare to confirm that the other party was of royal blood before groping the bone. However, from his many years of experience, even if that child was not a member of the royal family, he was still considered to be of a very high bloodline!

If he was not a member of the royal family in the wild, it would be a harvest and not a waste of time...

With this thought in mind, Liu Si patiently observed the test of the younger generation... .

Chen Shanshan was a priestess, which was a dual cultivation path of the spirit system and the physical system. The main items to be tested were the strength of the body, agility, strength burst, and the basic strength and flexibility of the bones.

The spirit system mainly tested the strength of the spirit, the affinity of the elements, and the efficiency of the priestess Type’s prayer power!

Chen Shanshan first tested the body’s strength. The sophisticated instrument was like a massage, carefully testing every inch of Chen Shanshan’s muscles.

The feeling of the nano-robot testing on the body... It was so comfortable that Chen Shanshan almost moaned. It felt even more comfortable than the advanced massage in the base... ..

While Chen Shanshan was enjoying herself, the data displayed outside gave the soldier who was recruiting a shock. The machine displayed a full score!

The so-called full score was a body that was almost completely compatible with one’s own bones, meridians, and body. This was usually observed by the top physical trainer in a large family from a young age, it was a result that could only be achieved by strictly controlling one’s diet and training process. In any case, he himself did not achieve it. As a descendant of a regular fallen angel family, he remembered that his test score was 67 points.

I don’t know about the big families, but a perfect score... ? ... is not necessarily, this is a wild atavism of the species is the body full score, is it wrong?

While the distance secretly observing the Lius and Helsinki is the heart of a jump!

Bolton's testing equipment here was not considered low-level. If placed in the federal center, it would also be considered high-level testing equipment. The test score should not be water. A full score organism, even if it was a member of a large family, wanted to achieve this achievement, .

Yes, it was luck. Because no matter how much one controlled their diet and exercise patterns, it was extremely difficult for a low-level organism to obtain a full score organism. This was because it was inevitable that there would be errors., the majority of the children were above 90 points.

This actually did not have much meaning. It did not mean that one's full score organism would be better than 90 points in the future. In fact, a full score organism was only useful for one's battle at that time. When one's Qi and blood was circulated, the full score organism would be smoother. That was all., because the higher the level, the more complex the body's energy structure would be, the harder it would be to maintain a perfect body score. Before reaching the dragon-level, it was rare for most disciples to maintain 80 points.

But even so, the little girl's results still made his heart skip a beat. Because logically speaking, a devil species in the wild shouldn't have such a high body score. This required very good secret methods of training.

Of course, there was another possibility. The genes were too good. With just a casual training, the body would automatically grow towards the most perfect direction, forming a perfect body. and the third elder remembered that., he could also guarantee a perfect body before he reached level seven!

Following that, the strength and flexibility of the bones were displayed as excellent. However, this data did not cause the three to be too surprised. The bones were only a rough test. It was impossible for a machine to perfectly measure the bone phase. Furthermore, it was impossible for Lord Bolton to prepare a professional bone prober for the area where ordinary soldiers were recruited. .

As long as one performed slightly better, the bone structure test would be excellent. Hence, regardless of whether it was the soldier or the elder in the dark, they did not pay too much attention to this number. Instead, they fixed their gazes on the other party's next explosive strength test!

A perfect body represented a body that could unleash 100% of one's Qi, blood, and muscle tissue. Hence, the explosive strength test would be able to determine the strength of the other party's genes!

At the very least, one could clearly see the strength of the genes when they erupted their strength.

Chen Shanshan, who did not know that she was being secretly watched by the three burly men, clenched her fists nervously as she looked at the equipment in front of her to test her strength...

Before coming here, be it senior Ysera or senior soap, they had reminded them to control the test data. The strength and agility test had to be controlled at one-third of the standard.

This thing was a little difficult for Chen Shanshan. After all, she was not a warrior. Although the priestess also had to learn some basic fighting and physical training, she had never practiced this kind of precise control of strength.

Just try to be as small as possible...

Chen Shanshan could only sigh and throw a soft punch!

She could not use one-third of the precise strength. Rather than causing trouble by not being able to control the strength, she might as well throw a punch in the water and completely weaken the strength.

Although this might not be good for her future development!

As expected, after a Ding Dong Sound, the number that appeared on the machine immediately caused the three people outside to frown!

One hundred and thirty star pounds. This number would be more normal if it was a level-five two-headed demon or a level-two demon. A high-level life form like the fallen angel had an average level-five of more than one hundred and eighty star pounds, not to mention that the other party had a perfect body. A perfect body was most likely to produce perfect vital energy and blood, but this was the result?

“The elder might have really seen wrongly!” Helsinki smiled. He said, wild royal bloodline. How could it be... ..

Could it be that he really saw wrongly? Luce frowned slightly, his eyes filled with pity.

He had been stuck at the gate of the Sea of life for a long time. If he did not break through, he would enter the star transformation stage. Since there was no royal bloodline in the family, he very much hoped that there would be a successor.

Especially when the other party was a girl!

One had to know that among the royal bloodline of Fallen Angels, a girl was more popular than a boy. According to the rules, the child born would have the surname of a girl. A female royal fallen angel would be able to marry anyone, as long as the child born was a royal gene, it would definitely be his!

Unfortunately, the child in front of him was not the miracle he had expected. The perfect body could only produce that kind of strength. It was most likely due to the damage to the gene and the lack of blood supply in the body. It was the type that was strong on the outside but weak on the inside.

Just as he sighed, Chen Shanshan had already begun the next step of the Spirit System Test.

In the next second, a red light appeared. Helsinki subconsciously looked over and was immediately stunned. “This little girl’s spiritual power is quite high!”

Hearing that, Liu Si looked over and narrowed his eyes. Level five. This spiritual power had basically surpassed most of the descendants of the aristocratic families. However, it was still a little inferior to the descendants of the royal family...

Then, he sighed slightly, he patted Helsinki’s shoulder and said, “For a wild atavism bloodline to have such strength is already considered a treasure. Take it under your banner and nurture it well. If your subsequent performance is good, you can consider taking it into your family and give it a status!”

“Yes, Elder, I will arrange it!” Helsinki smiled and said. This trip was not for nothing. Such a high-quality wild fallen angel was much cheaper than the descendants of the aristocratic families to rope in, moreover, he could be directly taken in as a member of his own family. His loyalty would generally be higher in the future.

“Work hard...” elder Luce praised tiredly before turning around to leave. Actually, he had gained something today. However, this feeling of hope and immediately disappointment overshadowed the small joy of his gain... ..

Moreover, for a figure of his level, being taken in by a junior with good aptitude would not arouse much joy in him. After all, his family did not lack outstanding juniors.

However, just as Luce turned around and walked out less than four or five steps, he suddenly stopped in place and looked around. A pair of high-quality black angel dual pupils was filled with astonishment.. Even the hairs on his body stood up instantly!

Chapter 1868: This Is... .. Promoted?

This is...

The Elder’s sudden stop made Helsinki, who was following behind him, suddenly alert. This was because a figure like the elder had seen many things. It was probably not a small matter that could make him show such an expression!

He immediately activated his divine sense!

However, he still did not find any danger after activating his divine sense, Helsinki

He could only vaguely feel that the elemental fluctuations around him were somewhat abnormal..

“Elder?” After being stunned for a few seconds and still not seeing any reaction, he finally couldn’t help but look at the elder in confusion.

The elder didn’t reply him. Instead, he closed his eyes and carefully sensed something, which made Helsinki even more confused!

However, he didn’t dare to ask anymore. Obviously, the elder didn’t want to be disturbed in his current state. He could only suppress his confusion and obediently wait for the result.

After about 15 minutes, the elder opened his eyes again and looked at Chen Shanshan, his eyes full of excitement!

“Elder, did you... See Anything?” Helsinki couldn’t help but ask again.

“Didn’t you see it?” Liu Si rubbed his hands and smiled.

“Um...” Helsinki looked around, then looked at Chen Shanshan who was testing, and then frowned, “Elder, are you referring to the elemental fluctuations around here?”

Indeed, the surrounding elements suddenly became very active. It seemed that the source was attracted by the little girl in the testing room.

To be able to trigger the elemental resonance through the isolation of the testing room, it was indeed an excellent talent. However, it was not to the extent that it was so exaggerated by the Elder, right? At this level, as long as it was a fallen angel born from an aristocratic family. it should be able to do it!

The elder looked at him strangely, then pointed outside, "You can 't see such a big movement?"

Helsinki was stunned, then looked along the elder's finger. At first, he was still puzzled because there was indeed nothing there, but in the next second, he froze on the spot!

He suddenly realized that the elder was pointing outside, outside this huge corridor! !

Helsinki looked outside through his spiritual power and was instantly stunned!

"What's going on?"

Outside the huge corridor, countless fallen angels descended from the sky. Powerful elemental halos wrapped around these angels, forming a scene like heavenly flames falling from the sky. It was quite a spectacular sight!

And at the very front of the corridor, a unique figure of a fallen angel landed directly in front of the base. Unlike all fallen angels, this fallen angel in front of the landing corridor was wrapped in a layer of blood-red energy, the pair of wings was not black like the fallen angel's, but crystal-like bright red!

"What's the landing, a pair of ruby-like eyes stared sternly at the fallen angel officers around them.

When the fallen angel officers saw this figure, they all saluted!

The person who came was the most trusted commander by Bolton's side: Blood Demon Vilafa!

With the bloodline of the fallen angel, she was still in control of the command center of the first Legion. Although the fallen angel royal family had repeatedly said that they would send a second son of the Wang family to replace the previous commander of the First Legion, Safilos, the agreement had never been reached.

Vilafa was actually temporarily taking over the military affairs of the two military regions.

However, in order not to cause a strong dissatisfaction and backlash from the fallen angel clan, most of the military affairs were still managed by the military higher-ups of the fallen angel clan. Other than a few high-level military meetings, she rarely interfered with the military affairs of the first legion.

However, today was exceptionally different. The commotion was too big, so the commander naturally had to come personally!

dragon-level Angel with a powerful aura hurriedly reported, "For some unknown reason, the 170 or so planets near the third chamber of the starry corridor have produced a strong elemental resonance! !

strange look flashed across Vera 's crimson eyes as she looked at the vicinity of the third chamber.

Other people might not have seen such a scene, but Vera was actually more familiar with it, because in the Emerald Starfield, more than three developers and two flower spirits had caused such a scene!

Especially that one called little cabbage, who had resonated with the elements of more than 10,000 planets. At that time, she was quite frightened and thought that the surrounding planets were unstable and about to explode, so she quickly pulled the saab-starized planet and ran out...

Thinking of this, Villafa could not help but cover her forehead. She remembered... There were two little guys coming over today, right?

At this time, coupled with the fact that the source of the accident happened to be at the fourth warehouse, which was recruiting new recruits, Villafa could roughly guess what had happened...

Damn it, what was soap doing? Didn't she ask him to remind those kids to keep a low profile?

After taking a deep breath, villafa quickly walked toward the fourth warehouse. The two internal affairs officers behind him didn't know what was going on, so they had no choice but to quickly follow him!

Just as they arrived at the entrance of the fourth warehouse, they saw a handsome angel in white cloth standing at the door. With his hands behind his back, he was smiling and sizing up villafa who had rushed over.

After seeing that person clearly, the fallen angel officer who was accompanying him immediately stopped and saluted him on the spot! "Yo... What a rare guest! "Vera stopped and looked at him mockingly. However, her heart suddenly sank. Why was this guy here?

"Fine, then I won't see you, Scarlet Girl..." it was elder Luce who was guarding the door, he looked at her with a smile and clicked his tongue. "She's really getting more and more beautiful. I really don't know what the Great Elder is thinking, to be willing to throw away such a perfect piece of art...

Vera FA laughed coldly as she looked at him, "I'm not interested in what that old bastard is thinking, but if you keep looking at me like that, I'll Gouge Your Eyes Out! P'

"Oh?" The elder smiled as she looked at him, "That sounds quite interesting..,"

The auras of the two star levels instantly spread out, and the entire space instantly became oppressive due to the two of them!

"Huh? What's Wrong?"

When she felt the affinity of the elements, for some reason, she felt as if her soul had left her body, floating out of the starry sky, and then countless huge and heavy beings. In the curious to look at their own, to pass on their own extremely friendly goodwill...

However, the existence of the kindness was huge, so huge that she could not feel the end of it,,

"You 're Awake?"

A gentle and charming voice sounded beside her.

Chen Shanshan was shocked and quickly looked over. Then, she saw an angel covered in black armor.

"You are?" Shanshan looked at the other person curiously. She remembered that before the test, there was clearly another fallen angel guarding here. Why was there a change in person all of a sudden?

"I am the commander of the 17th Division of the 1st Legion: Helsinki."

Commander. Chen Shanshan was stunned, he seemed to be a big figure.....

"May I ask what is the matter, sir?" Chen Shanshan asked carefully.

"Oh, it's like this! "Helsinki smiled and said, "Due to your superior test data, this commander decided to promote you directly to a sergeant, and follow our army to develop on a full-time battlefield. Do you think you can adapt now? "If you can adapt, then you can choose 20 soldiers to follow your army here.

What. Chen Shanshan was instantly dumbfounded. Just like that... Promoted?

Chapter 1869: a short-sighted bastard... ..

The third chamber was a way to divide the space corridor. In fact, most factions would establish a link between the planets to facilitate logistics and energy transportation. This kind of infrastructure was unavoidable, otherwise, if they were to rely entirely on air transportation, especially for some unstable energy blocks, the transportation cost would be very high.

The third warehouse of the Burton faction was a region that was temporarily used to recruit soldiers from their hometown in the starry corridor. The person-in-charge was naturally vera. This was not an easy task, after all, most of the people who joined the army were wild mixed demons without any background. These guys had lived in places with harsh living conditions for a long time. Most of them were violent and had poor discipline. It would be more troublesome to maintain law and order.

However, it seemed that the other party was doing quite well.,,

The third elder placed his hands behind his back and sized up the guards behind Vera. His heart sank slightly.

All of them were fallen angel troops. He had thought that Bolton would use this little guy to maintain law and order in the main star system. The other party would use the foundation of Blood Demon Saab and the Blood Demon Army to maintain law and order. However, since the unrest just now., he had not seen a single high -level blood demon. All of them were from the fallen angel clan.

Furthermore, they seemed to be very obedient towards Vera Faa. This result made him feel a little uncomfortable...

These lowly bastards really did not care about the big picture. They only knew about the small profits in front of them! ! !

If Vera FAA knew about the complaints of the third elder at this moment, he would definitely laugh out loud. Of course, there was a reason why elder Luce was so indignant in his heart.

When Bolton joined the Deity Academy, the Fallen Angel clan was the biggest supporter. The expensive tuition fees and the attitude of supporting cooperation had always been the stance of the fallen angel clan, however, it did not mean that all the families of the fallen angel clan approved of the clan leader supporting a fallen devil descendant as the representative of the Devil Deity!

In fact, other than the clan leader and the first elder who were very optimistic about Bolton, most of the families did not think highly of the Bolton faction. Of course, this included the Copperfield family, where the third elder Luce was from!

Therefore, even though the fallen angels supported Bolton when he started his family, most of the people who went to work for him were not the legitimate children of the clan. Most of the clans used the children of the concubines or the offshoots to make up the numbers.

When he first saw this phenomenon, he felt that this was not a good phenomenon.

He could either support him completely and send out the outstanding direct descendants of the clan to serve as the underlings of Bolton when he started his family. After that, if Bolton was able to rise to power, he would quickly take over the important military and political positions in Bolton's hands, only the fallen angels would be able to reap the greatest benefits.

If they did not support him in the beginning, this sort of opportunistic and perfunctory action was the worst.

In the end, his bad premonition had come true!

Bolton had indeed placed great importance on the descendants sent by the fallen angels. According to the data, the first Legion of Bolton's family had basically given all the authority to the first batch of descendants who joined the army, giving them a considerable private bonus, moreover, as the Guardian Army of Bolton's main star system, the resources that the First Army received should have been the best among all the demons.

But now, the situation was very complicated!

Because those who gained power were the children of concubines or side branches who were not favored by the family in the beginning! This was a little troublesome...

As everyone knew, although the abyss demons often emphasized that the strong were respected, they were an ancient conservative race that placed great importance on bloodlines and inheritances. In the family, the legitimate children were the main ones, and the illegitimate children were the auxiliary ones, the resources and nurturing of the illegitimate descendants were completely different from those of the lineal descendants. Even if you were more outstanding than the lineal descendants, most of the time, you would still be forced to submit to others because of this set of rules!

When the resources were firmly in the hands of the lineal descendants, most of the side branches had no choice but to compromise. However, if there were new resources to be developed, who would really be willing to submit to others forever?

In fact, Bolton had probably valued this point back then as well, so he had frantically recruited these side branch disciples who had joined the army. Now, it was clear that his goal was slowly being achieved. These side branch disciples who had gone out had already begun to obey the master's orders behind his back!

This could be seen from the fact that these people had so much respect for vilafa, this mixed breed who had been spurned by the fallen angels!

As for why these people were so obedient to vilafa, who had just taken over the military affairs, the third elder could think of it with his butt!

The first Elder's first son, Safilos, had fallen. The clan had planned to send a second son of authority to replace Safilos, but the person they had sent had never been able to take over. The reason was very simple.., the negotiations between the fallen angels and Bolton had not gone smoothly.

According to the clan's expectations, Bolton had discovered many outer planes. As the first clan to support him, he should have received more. However, the other party had not relented, and the two sides had come to a deadlock over the distribution.

At this time, the attitude of the Fallen Angel Army, which was responsible for the military affairs of Bolton's main star system, was actually very important.

Just as he had initially thought, if the direct descendants of the clan had control of the military and political power, then their attitude would have been able to force Bolton to bow his head. However, the problem now was that most of the officers of the First Army.., were illegitimate children!

The problem that he had predicted at the beginning began to happen. As illegitimate children, they had been suppressed by the direct descendants for their entire lives. It was not easy for them to finally have a platform that they could improve by relying on their own efforts, in their hearts, they hoped that the family would not interfere too much in this place?

In fact, they did not want to. On the first day of the negotiations, the family had sent a secret order to these illegitimate children, telling them to try their best not to cooperate with Bolton's management, to force Bolton to choose a direct descendant from the fallen angel clan as soon as possible.

But from the extremely obedient attitude of these guys today, elder Luce could only chuckle in his heart!

This group of people who couldn't stand up to the public were indeed short-sighted. He wouldn't believe that this little girl, Vera, who was mixed blood with demons, could convince Safilos's subordinates to trust her so quickly.

To be so obedient, it was all because of his own little plan!

Other than not wanting to have a second direct descendant to suppress them, he was probably also ambitious for the position of the first Legion's Commander!

After all, Vera was only in charge for the time being, right? Sooner or later, he would have to choose a commander. This commander, the Fallen Angels and the royal descendants could do it, but couldn't they do it?

Those so-called direct descendants of the royal family had never done anything for this force. They could become their superiors just based on their status. On what basis? On the contrary, most of them had outstanding battle achievements and had paid a lot for Bolton force. On what basis could they not sit in this position?

These lowly bastards probably thought so in their hearts, right?

Luce looked coldly at the few disciples behind Vera. He could roughly guess that Bolton was hinting at something to them, which was why these guys were so obedient to this girl!

When they met the elder's cold eyes, the few disciples behind Vera immediately avoided them guiltily.

However, Vera didn't feel much burden in her heart, she, who had always hated the elders of the fallen angel clan, walked up directly. "Lord Luce, something has happened here. If you don't have any advice, please make way for us. Don't delay our work!"

Luce:" "

Chapter 1870: I can also recruit people?

What an unlikable girl! !

Liu Si rolled his eyes at her, but in the end, he didn't say anything. Right now, these bastard children were clearly standing on the side of Bolton Force. If he and this girl were to be in a deadlock, no one would help him, it wouldn't have the effect of embarrassing the other party.

And what was with this girl's cultivation?

He remembered that the last time he met this girl, although she was already at the peak of star rank, there was still some distance between her and his sea of life, right? Why did it feel like her aura wasn't much weaker than his now?

One had to know that he was an expert who could break through tens of millions of eras ago. His foundation was incomparably perfect, and his aura was far from what an ordinary star rank could compare to. However, when they were at loggerheads just now, he had a feeling that he couldn't suppress this girl...

Could it be that this girl... had some fortuitous encounter recently?

That's right, that Guy Bolton had obtained so many outer realms, so he must have hidden many things about them. It wasn't strange for them to have fortuitous encounters.

Today's discovery should be reported to the higher-ups immediately!

Thinking of this, Liu Si looked at the position of the third warehouse behind him and thought to himself, after delaying for so long, Helsinki should be almost done, right?

"l.. . Sergeant?" Chen Shanshan stared blankly at the Handsome Angel in front of some daze.

Helsinki smiled in her heart at the young man's foolishness. It seemed that the little fellow's character and knowledge were not in proportion to her qualifications.

It's good to be there. It's easier to win him over.

"Well, Stop Your State said quickly.

To be honest, if he hadn't seen it with his own eyes, he really didn't believe that such a little guy could resonate with the elements of hundreds of planets.

This kind of elemental sensing talent had never appeared in the royal family before.

Not to mention that the other party was not only a woman, but also a priest!

A descendant of the royal family who was a priest was like a golden ball in the fallen angel family, because the priest profession was a strong contender for the throne!

Of course, it was still too early to say all of this. After all, whether this child had the aptitude or not was another matter entirely. However, according to the elder, he would first accept her as his subordinate!

“Oh, oh!” When Chen Shanshan heard the other party’s words, she hurriedly stopped her elemental sensing state. With this pause, the reaction in the test room was not great. However, the outer galaxy had gone from its exaggerated resonance state just now.., it quickly calmed down, causing the fallen angel officer in charge of the outer perimeter to be stunned!

“I will issue a transfer order to you in the afternoon for the rank of sergeant. The situation on the battlefield is more urgent, so we have to set off tomorrow. You can choose some auxiliary soldiers here first, and report directly to My Place Tomorrow!

“Ah?” Chen Shanshan was dumbfounded. “Recruit... Recruit Auxiliary Soldiers? How... How do I recruit them?”

“Do you still need me to teach you how to recruit glared at her and pretended to be impatient. “I’ll let you use this test for the time being. Get it done as soon as possible!”

“Yes, Sir! “This time, Chen Shanshan finally reacted and quickly saluted!

“Well... “Helsinki nodded with satisfaction and then pulled away the dumbfounded NCO officer who had originally planned to recruit Chen Shanshan as an auxiliary soldier.

Chen Shanshan, who was still a little confused, was left behind...

Helsinki didn’t walk out for long before he bumped into Vera, who was rushing over with everyone!

“Sir! Helsinki immediately saluted!

“Why are you looked at him with a frown.

She knew this person. He was the junior of the third elder, the descendant of the Copperfield family. He was one of the few direct descendants who were willing to come here to join the army.

However, he came relatively late and was still a lieutenant general. Although the real Lord Bolton enthusiastically gave him a spot in the outer region battlefield, he was actually secretly suppressing him.

“Reporting to my Lord... “Helsinki hurriedly said, ““The elder sent a batch of disciples here today. I came by to take a look...”

It was very straightforward. They said that they were here to take care of their juniors, but this kind of attitude was more believable.

Vera nodded on the surface, but secretly, she inadvertently glanced at the place where Chen Shanshan was in the distance.

She could clearly see that Chen Shanshan, who had just signed up as an auxiliary soldier, was now standing outside the test room, carefully fiddling with the function of the test room with an excited expression.

Logically speaking, a recruit would not have the authority to control the testing room. This was the authority of a regular NCO officer. It seemed that the little guy had already been targeted...

Villafa's expression did not change, but he was quickly analyzing the pros and cons in his heart.

Was it a good thing or a bad thing that the little guy was valued by Luce? Perhaps it was not a bad thing. A wild purebred who had been roped in by a high-class family was very likely to inherit a large number of resources under the direct line of descent. As long as it was not exposed, it was definitely a good thing.

Moreover, he and soap did need a group of fast-growing players to take over the important military and political positions. Otherwise, it would be very troublesome to do certain things when there were people from the abyss around.

Thinking of this, Vera pretended to be serious and said, "Lieutenant General Helsinki, is there anything unusual in the third warehouse?"

"There is nothing unusual here!" Helsinki quickly said, "After noticing the situation outside, I also checked the surroundings carefully and found nothing unusual. I am going to check the other warehouses!"

"I see...". "You don't have to check the other warehouses. You can send the big engineers who are on break nearby to check the Arcana support equipment in the corridor carefully to see if there is anything unusual caused by the energy leak!"

"Yes, my Lord!" Helsinki quickly bowed and walked out quickly. He didn't have any intention of staying here, and he didn't even look at Chen Shanshan, who had just been promoted by him, all he did was secretly sneer at villafa.

He really acted well...

"Elder, everything has been done according to your wishes!" After Helsinki came out, he secretly transmitted his voice to the third elder who was not far away.

Liu Si nodded, indicating that he understood.

Helsinki could not help but continue to ask, "Sir, you saw these two juniors who might be of royal bloodline before. Don't you need to rope in the other

"But..." Helsinki wanted to say something, but he hesitated. Was he going to let go of the other junior who might also have excellent aptitude?

Obviously, that girl's degree of elemental affinity with another kid, who was also valued by the elders, was probably not that bad!

“Don’t worry...” Luce sighed and said, “Although that girl’s talent is very good, her knowledge is obviously average. She just came to a strange place and was pulled to another strange battlefield at the last minute. She will definitely bring that guy who has a good relationship with her with her. That’s why she asked you to give her the authority to recruit auxiliary soldiers.

“Is that so...” Helsinki suddenly realized.

Liu Si sighed secretly. At his insistence, the family still compromised and let a direct descendant come over, but they still couldn’t bear to let an outstanding direct descendant come over. Helsinki’s aptitude was still passable, it was just that his brain wasn’t too good, and he couldn’t bear the big responsibility!

On the other side, Villafa pretended to take people again in the third round of inspection, but secretly said to Chen Shanshan: “What Just Happened?”
