Chapter 491: The Mysterious Bok Choy Tribe (part two)

“Brother Barg, it’s time for breakfast!”

At dawn, Barg heard the call from Raley next door. He didn’t want to stay in bed, so he dragged his tired body and slowly got up. The lazy cat next to him in the tent was like a dead pig. No matter how much he barked, he couldn’t get up...

Seeing this, Bagg sighed and didn’t force himself. Instead, he tidied up a little and walked out of the tent... ..

He and Tommy weren’t lazy. In the Thunder tribe, they had long formed the habit of waking up early and going to bed late. After all, they weren’t of the royal bloodline, so they could only rely on hard work if they wanted to catch up with them when they didn’t have enough resources...

The reason why he couldn’t get up even when the sun was shining was because he had stayed up too late last night. It wasn’t that he didn’t have the habit of sleeping early. As a family with a warrior heritage, he naturally knew the importance of the body! However, the situation last night was really special. He himself didn’t expect that this mysterious cabbage tribe actually ate magical beast meat!

It was also because he and Tommy had eaten too much, causing them to train for too long at night before their energy was depleted. By the time they lay down in the tent, it was almost four o’clock in the morning.

He could not be blamed for not being able to resist the temptation. He swore that this was the first time in his life that he could eat magical beast meat until he was full!

That thing was usually enjoyed by the royal family. Usually, only warriors who participated in the hunt could get some miscellaneous items in the family. Moreover, even the royal family could not enjoy it every day. After all, that thing was rare. Whether they could hunt it or not depended on luck.

Since he was young, his experience of eating magical beast meat could be counted on one hand. Moreover, every time, he only relied on his grandfather’s hard work to get some scraps for himself. Sometimes, when he got a piece of bone, he would have to stew the soup for more than ten days... ..

And last night, what he saw was actually a table full of magical beast meat. The entire team, including those kobolds who were scouting the way, could enjoy some scraps of magical beast meat. This made him feel extremely incredulous! !

This tribe was so extravagant that he kept thinking, who the hell is this little cabbage tribe? Why haven’t I heard of it before?

With doubts that he couldn’t figure out after thinking for the whole night, Bagg slowly walked out of the tent. As soon as he walked out of the tent, he smelled the aroma of food.

Tommy, who was reluctant to get up, suddenly stood up after opening the tent and smelling the aroma...

“Hey, Brother Barg, come over here...”

Raley waved at him enthusiastically, and Barg walked over. The food for the morning was placed on a large piece of white cloth. Usually, thirty to fifty people would gather around a piece of cloth, and the cloth would be filled with exquisite pastries and fruits, although it was not as exaggerated as yesterday’s magical beast meat, the scene in front of him still shocked Barg.

If the magical beast meat from last night could be due to a chance encounter with a magical Beast Horde, and they accidentally caught so many stocks, it could still be explained by taking out some to boost morale., the things in front of him could only mean that this was a large tribe with a deep foundation.

Food crops, especially fruits, were definitely things that only large tribes could possess. In the environment of the grasslands, to grow food and fruits, one needed to have a high-level shaman... And several generations of Earth Elves to nurture it...

After Bagg sat down nervously, Reilly and the others enthusiastically served him a bowl of porridge with a milky fragrance.

The fresh wheat fragrance and the strong fragrance of milk mixed together, causing Bagg to feel his index finger move after taking a whiff. He immediately drank it down. The light and refreshing taste made him feel even more comfortable. He only felt a warm current surging through his entire body. It instantly swept away the cold air of the morning frost...

Then, he took another bite of a snow-white pastry. It was soft, fragrant, and sweet. There was obviously precious sucrose in it. Moreover, this texture was completely different from the coarse coarse coarse cereals in his tribe. He had never thought that the grains he grew would actually taste better than meat...

There was also that sweet fruit, which was many times more delicious than those sour fruits in his tribe. In the past, fruits were only used to clean the intestines and stomach, but he had never thought that they could also be so delicious. The Juice was even more intoxicating than the most delicious honey, and he suddenly felt like he couldn’t stop...

“Brother, don’t eat too much in the morning. Be careful, you won’t be able to catch up later...” Reilly laughed as he looked at Reilly. He was a little used to it, because any foreign orc would look like this on the first day... ..

Bagg nodded and looked at the melon in front of him reluctantly. Then, he looked around and found that although the other pieces of white cloth were not as rich as theirs, they all had real fruits and food. It was not the dried meat and milk skin that were commonly seen on long-distance trips of the orcs...

So, he asked curiously, “Big Brother Raleigh, you came from the south. How did you bring these fresh fruits and snacks all the way here?”

He still had common sense. He knew that even if he had this stock, these things were not suitable for long-distance transportation... .. even in winter, they could easily go bad... ..

Hearing this, Reilly smiled mysteriously. "I can't tell you that..."

Hearing this, Bagg was stunned. Then, he scratched his head embarrassedly and thought to himself, "That's true. This must be the secret of the other tribe..."

When the surrounding Old Warriors saw Reilly's smug smile, they could not help but laugh. Actually, everyone, including Reilly, did not know what was going on. They should have prepared dry food before coming here, in the end, lord cabbage had prepared this kind of fresh food for them. At that time, they were also puzzled. Of course it was good to eat fresh food on the way, but how could they maintain it?

In the end, they saw lord cabbage stuffed dozens of tons of food into a few large cages. From the size of the cages, it was difficult to fit a horse. But what made them dumbfounded was... Dozens of tons of food were actually stuffed into the cages by lord cabbage and his gang... ..

Moreover, the cages seemed to have a quality-preserving effect. Logically speaking, the fruits, in particular, should have been spoiled after being piled in there for so many days...

In the end, the fruits that were taken out of the cages every day were extremely fresh...

This made them feel very amazed...

However, although so many things seemed to be stuffed into such a small cage, the weight was not light at all. It was all thanks to the Evolved Gado Beast, otherwise transportation would have been a troublesome matter... ..

This matter also saved Alice a lot of worry. For a long journey, this simple and huge gado beast was much more useful than the mounts of other tribes.

After breakfast, the Orcs started to pack up and set off. Then, Bagg saw a shocking scene...

After the dozens of shamans in the base tidied up their tents, each of them took out a huge totem. He could sense from afar that the strong elemental power was definitely a great elven totem!

Earth, fire, water, wind, and even rare gold and wood spirits!

This magical scene even made Bagg wonder if he had seen wrongly. An expeditionary force of a few thousand people actually had more than ten great elf totems?

These things, even for the royal families of large tribes, were used as family heirlooms to carefully provide for them. Unless it was a life and death battle, they would definitely not take it out and risk it!

Even back then, when the previous powerful chief of the Thunder tribe, Kagar, wanted to ally with the other four tribes to attack the human capital, he had only managed to convince seven or eight families to take out these great elf totems...

However, they had sent out a total of 200,000 elite soldiers at that time. This was considered a country war by the humans, and it was only on that scale... ..

What was the situation with this tribe in front of him?

An Expeditionary Army with more than ten great elven totems? What kind of foundation was this?

Bagg silently looked at these busy orcs, and his heart was filled with amazement and awe towards this mysterious tribe... . .

Chapter 492: route selection

After interrogating the young man from the Thunder tribe over the past few days, Alice roughly understood the situation of the mutated infection in the black water area...

"According to the intelligence of the other party, the gold tribes in the middle and upper reaches have probably been affected..." inside Alice's tent... Alice opened the map and explained the current situation to the liver emperor and the old mayor Joseph who came with the army... ..

"There used to be a lot of powerful tribes in the affected areas, and the population was as high as ten million. As a nomadic race, the mobility and individual combat ability of the orcs are far higher than that of the humans. I estimate that the survival rate is at least 40% . In this case, the survivors will definitely be largely compressed in the Kaiser plains in the middle and rear reaches of the river and the Ogg Prairie in the north. With limited resources, perhaps internal disputes have already begun... "... What do you think?"

Old Joseph fell into deep thought, and the liver emperor also pretended to be deep in thought... "... the former is digesting the information, while the latter..." . "...". "... I don't understand it at all." . "...".

"How many routes are there now?" Old Joseph asked after thinking for a while.

"Three..." Alice pointed at the map, the first route was to go west along the Blackwater River region to the Kaiser Plains, which had the largest golden soil coverage in the north. There were many powerful tribes in this area, and three of the top ten golden tribes were all in this area, it was also the most likely destination for the disaster victims who escaped from the catastrophe zone in the Blackwater River region. That place was originally the most controversial place in the northern prairie due to the large number of tribes there, now that more than a million refugees had poured in, it would definitely be even more chaotic. It was the best place to fish in troubled waters. However, from the intelligence gathered by this little fellow called Bagg, the mutation zone was expanding very quickly there, it was very likely that they would face the threat of the mutated energy there. Moreover, the tribes there had strong resistance, so the risk was relatively high. "..."

After pausing for a moment, he pointed at the route in the middle, "The second route is to go straight to the central plains of the orc tribe in the north. The strongest Warhammer tribe in the north is stationed here, and there is only one central city of the Orc tribe: Org City. Furthermore, due to the Warhammer family's strength, this was originally one of the areas where the order of the Orc tribe was the best. However, the core of the map of the Black Goat was org city, so the losses of the orc tribe here would definitely be the most severe. Even if the Warhammer family were to face this calamity, they would definitely be torn apart even if they were not completely destroyed. Therefore, the resistance that we would encounter from here should be the smallest. However, due to the large area of the calamity, the resources and population that we can fight for should be limited..." . "..."

Old Joseph nodded and pointed at the map, "What about this last one?"

Alice looked at the route that the other party pointed at and the pretty night pupil slightly narrowed her eyes. She did not say which route the third one was, but the other party actually pointed it out directly. She did not expect that this old guy was not only an excellent politician, but also... He could actually understand military maps...

"The third route is to go to the black stone forest. After passing through the black stone path, you can go straight to the black gold plain. That is the territory of the Black Stone tribe and the Dragon Roar tribe, and there are many forces entrenched there. The situation is very similar to the first route, but there is an advantage that the first route does not have, which is that the mutated energy there is relatively weak, so you should not have to face the danger of the expansion and corrosion of the mutated zone for the time being...". "..."

"That sounds like the third option!" Emperor liver clapped his hands and thought to himself, 'finally, I have something to say...'.

Joseph quietly waited for the next part, because he knew that if this route was completely fine, the other party would not take the last part... And they would not give him and his group a multiple choice question... ..

"It's good, but we might encounter other competitors from the base...". Alice smiled and pointed at the southern part of black stone forest. "The southern part of black stone forest is the human city of Gondolin. I remember that two days ago, the main base announced that this place would be one of the strategic points for future players. The owner of this place seems to be quite familiar with you"

Emperor liver was stunned when he heard that. He felt that the name Gondolin was quite familiar. After thinking about it carefully, he remembered that this was the city that Pu Yunchuan relied on to earn a living?

F * ck... They met so soon...

"If Gondolin wants to expand to the outside world, he will definitely take this path. If we go this way, it is very likely that we will have a conflict of interest with them..." Alice laughed.

Joseph frowned when he heard this. "Do you know that force? If there is a conflict, how confident are you that you will be able to gain an advantage?"

Alice replied, "100% !"

Emperor liver and Joseph were stunned. They felt that these words were a little too domineering... ..

Alice laughed and waited for their reply. She was not exaggerating when she said that she had a 100% chance of winning against Pu Yunchuan's faction. She had been paying attention to that faction for a long time and was probably aware of the situation. In terms of strength on paper.., her side was filled with elite orcs that were fed with magical beast meat from cabbages. Regardless of stability or strength, they were stronger than the mutated soldiers under Isabelle's command. As for the weapons and equipment, due to the cabbages' early use of strength... She had nurtured quite a number of great elves. With the help of high-quality fire spirits and gold spirits, the forged armors and weapons were definitely beyond the standard of this planet...

In terms of high-end fighters, Emperor Liver was currently ranked third in the Green Titan, far higher than Pu Yunchuan. As for the strategic aspect... ..

Alice smiled slightly. She admitted that Isabelle was the most outstanding one among her descendants, but she was only outstanding. If she wanted to play with her, she was still a little lacking... ..

“No, no, no... it’ll be awkward if we bump into old chuan. Let’s go with the first option...”the emperor of the liver said righteously.

Joseph frowned. From the emperor of the liver’s words, the owner of the Gondolin Force should have a good relationship with him, but how could they be confused?

In his philosophy, favors were favors and benefits were benefits. He thought that he was crazy to give up a good route for a favor...

Therefore, he looked at Alice. As a newcomer, it was inappropriate for him to directly oppose the old man here. If Alice was willing to object, he would support Alice’s side...

Alice looked at Joseph’s expectant expression, then looked at the emperor of the liver. She smiled and said, “Okay, let’s go to the first one then...”

Her casual tone shocked the old Joseph so much that his face twitched. He thought to himself, this guy doesn’t look like a impulsive person. Why is he also messing around like this?

But when he turned around., he found that the emperor of the liver was smiling at Alice. “That’s right. Why fight for food with your brother when you have a choice? Oh, right, I remember that Pu Yunchuan girl seems to be related to you...”

“Yes... yes...”

“What relationship is that?”

“I’m her ancestor...”

“Damn, even her ancestors are here, how many generations ahead is that?”

“Let me think, Isabelle was passed down from me and my sixth husband, Medi’s child. According to the genealogy records, that lineage was passed down to Isabelle for a total of nine generations, so it should be nine generations ahead...” “...”

“The... the sixth husband?”Pu Yunchuan was stunned. He noticed that Alice was using a ‘ren’instead of a ‘ren’... ..

Facing this question, Alice did not hide her smile and said, “I am the first Duchess of the empire. According to the laws of the empire, I can have seven legal partners. This is not even counting my private male pets...”

“Your noble circle is really messy...”emperor liver said enviously while drooling... ..

Joseph could not help but cough as he watched the two of them getting further and further away. He said helplessly, “Should we discuss some serious matters?”

“Aren’t we done discussing? Let’s go to the first step...” Alice shrugged.

“I. . .” Joseph choked. He really wanted to say that he hadn’t expressed his opinion yet. ...

However, he suddenly realized something. He immediately understood why Alice would go along with the liver emperor’s intention. This guy was trying to rope them in to weaken his presence...

Looking at the two people who were getting more and more familiar with each other, Joseph became alert...

Chapter 493: Old Joseph’s counterattack

After setting up the route, the team began to move toward the northwest route in the next few days. They didn’t have any objection to the sudden change in the route of the other orcs. In any case, they were all here to look for trouble. It didn’t matter where they went to look for trouble?

However, Bagg, who was an outsider, was a little conflicted. His original plan was to first go to augg city, the greatest city of the northern orcs. That was the trading center of the northern orcs. It was said that there would be many military supply officers from various tribes coming here to select suitable warriors. Most of the adventurers from the South would first stop here... ...

However, the route chosen by this cabbages tribe was actually going to the Kaiser Plains. This was obviously not his expected destination, but he was reluctant to leave this team... ...

The main reason was that he had been living too comfortably in the team, especially after experiencing three months of hardships. He realized how rare it was to be full during his time in the north...

In the past few days, he had been eating magical beast meat every night, as well as crops and fruits of excellent quality and taste in the morning and noon. At night, he was assigned a cotton blanket made of some unknown wool, which made him sleep well...

He felt that he was living more comfortably than when he had stayed at home. Just look at Tommy to see how well-nourished he was. In just a few days, this guy’s fur had been well-groomed... He estimated that if he wanted to leave, this guy might not even be willing to follow him. ...

After all, it was probably the first time since Tommy was born that he could eat magical beast meat every day... ...

But what was the point of staying behind?

He was just a passer-by, not part of the other tribe. He couldn’t just stay in the other tribe and eat and drink. After they reached their destination, could he just stay here and not leave?

Or... ? ... should he apply for an employment relationship?

After thinking for a long time, Bagg thought hesitantly...

Since they were in the north, most of the southern Beastmen would choose a force to join. The nature was the same. Although he had never heard of this tribe before, it was obvious that it had a bright future... ..

Thinking of this, he didn't delay any further. He got up and prepared to discuss with Raleigh and see if he could apply...

However, after walking out of the tent for a few steps, he saw old Joseph coming out of the main tent, so he hurriedly bowed and said, "Sir Joseph..."

He wasn't very familiar with Joseph. He just saw that the people around him called him that, so he followed suit...

According to Reilly, this tall orc named Joseph was a quartermaster in the army, and he was mainly responsible for logistics!

Old Barg was not only confused about this, because he felt that the other party should be an elite orc, even though he had never seen such a green orc before. But judging from the other party's strong muscles and strong aura, it was definitely not inferior to those orcs with royal blood...

It felt a bit wasteful for such an outstanding existence to be a quartermaster instead of a glory warrior...

Old Joseph was preoccupied at the moment. Seeing the other party bow, he only nodded slightly and did not intend to respond. But in the next second, he suddenly thought of something and stopped in his footsteps, ready to leave.

The reason why he was so preoccupied was because of the relationship between Alice and the emperor of the liver. It was obvious that he was more like an outsider, and the other party seemed to have noticed that he wanted to interfere with the military power.

Indeed, the reason why he volunteered to participate in this expedition was not only because he wanted to accept the regime in the new territory as soon as possible, but also because he wanted to interfere with the army...

Not to mention getting military power, he had to at least give these high-ranking generals in the tribe an impression of him. However, it was clear that things were not going well these days.

These orcs valued the strong as their leader. Although they respected him as a political official on the surface, he could clearly feel that these guys were more inclined to emperor liver and Alice from the bottom of their bones...

Especially Alice. With her outstanding combat strength and skills, she was able to quickly subdue Reilly and the other veterans of the tribe. Now, she was almost unwavering in the army. And the emperor of the liver, who represented the highest combat strength of their team, seemed to prefer to interact with Alice. This made him feel rather isolated and helpless...

It was not that he was really ambitious and insisted on competing with Alice. The main reason was that the boss and the little cabbages in the group looked very unreliable at first glance, and Alice was a person with extremely strong skills, if Alice was more ambitious, how could the little cabbages suppress her?

If one day Alice's power was too inflated, he felt that it wasn't a good thing for the entire gang. He felt that he had to at least act as a counterbalance... ..

While he was distressed, looking at this young man who had just joined the army, he suddenly had a glimmer of inspiration...

Thus, he stopped in his tracks and smiled gently. "I remember that your name is bug, right? Why aren't you sleeping at this time of night? You're going to enter the Blackwater River region tomorrow, so you have to wake up early..."

Bug was stunned. Although the other party was a quartermaster, his status was clearly higher. It seemed that he was on equal footing with that Lady Alice. He was quite surprised that such a person still remembered his name, a good impression suddenly rose in his heart. Then, he scratched his head and smiled, "I. . . I want to look for Raleigh and ask him for a favor..."

"A favor?" Old Joseph's heart moved, and then he smiled, "It's so late, Raleigh should be asleep... why don't you tell me what it is, maybe I can help?"

"This..." seeing the other party's friendly attitude, Bagg's good impression grew, so he told him his thoughts... ..

"You want to apply for an employment relationship?" Old Joseph touched his chin, his eyes thoughtful, and said, "How about this, I'll help you talk to Lady Alice and try my best to get you a good contract..."

Bagg was instantly excited when he heard that, and he quickly showed a grateful expression, "Then... Then I'm really grateful to you, Lady Joseph! !"

Looking at the other party's sincere expression of gratitude, Joseph immediately discovered a brand new avenue.

That's right... "...". Since the old man in the tribe was already under Alice's control, why didn't he start with the newcomers?

Wasn't the purpose of coming to the north this time to expand his influence?

When he thought of this, old Joseph's mood immediately became much more relaxed. The smile on his face also became even wider. He smiled and said, "It's fine. As for the things that happened along the way, you can go back to sleep in the tent first. Wait for My News Tomorrow..."

"Yes!" Bug replied excitedly. "Thank you very much, Sir Joseph!"

Old Joseph gestured for him to go back, and arranged his thoughts to talk to Alice. . .

"We're about to enter the Cather Plain, and I think we should establish a complete system of military merits... No sooner had old Joseph returned than he suggested to Alice, whether it was necessary to inspire the soldiers' enthusiasm or to attract new comers to join them... "..."

Alice was a little surprised by old Joseph's return, but when she heard his suggestion, she immediately nodded. "It's necessary..."

“I have nothing to do these days. Why Don’t You Leave It to me?” Joseph smiled.

Alice narrowed her eyes slightly, but she didn’t refuse. He was a shareholder, and he was hired to manage the company. It was impossible for him to keep doing nothing...

“Then I’ll have to trouble you...”

“No trouble, no trouble...” Joseph rubbed his hands and smiled, just as he was about to leave.., suddenly, as if he remembered something, he turned around and said, “Oh right, I met that young man from the Thunder tribe when I went out just now. He wants to sign an employment contract with us. Why don’t I use this military merit system to sign a contract with him?”

Alice’s pupils contracted slightly when she heard that. She instantly understood what the other party was trying to do... ..

She could not help but think to herself, ‘this old fellow is a rather troublesome character...’. ...

Chapter 494: Breathing Technique!

Old Joseph’s efficiency was very fast. After changing into the Green Titan’s body, his energy was much more vigorous than his old and decrepit body. Overnight, he created a military merit system and also completed Bagg’s contract.

Early the next morning, he sent the contract to Bagg before the team set off. Instantly, he received a wave of sincere gratitude from Bagg... ..

Joseph looked at the other party’s grateful attitude and nodded in satisfaction. Looking at the other party’s manner, although it was not to the extent of saying that he could work for him, he definitely had a certain status in the other party’s heart...

That was enough...

After Old Joseph left in satisfaction, Bagg could not wait to look at his contract.

The contract was written in the common language of the tribe, and the content was in line with his expectations!

The contract was signed for five years, which was neither too long nor too short. It was equivalent to giving both parties a period of observation. After five years, he could choose to renew his contract or join the cabbage tribe.

Moreover, the contract had a very clear system for exchanging military credits. Military credits were calculated based on points, and the contract also included a reward list that could be exchanged for military credits.

He saw the high-level elemental elf that he wanted the most on the reward list!

This made him especially excited, because wasn't his purpose of coming here to get a high-level great elf so that his family could be promoted to royalty?

Moreover, this wasn't the only thing that made him pleasantly surprised. There were many things that could be exchanged for military credits. Weapons, equipment, military posts, high-end martial arts techniques, there was nothing that couldn't be exchanged, with more points, he could also exchange for runic weapons and warframes!

If he could really exchange for such an elemental warframe, he would probably be more awe-inspiring than many of the royal generals in the tribe!

Moreover, this contract was not just a pie in the sky for him. It clearly stated that as long as he signed the contract, he would be able to obtain a set of ordinary equipment and a set of breathing technique to train his body from the start... ..

This made him very satisfied. When he thought about how he would be able to obtain a set of excellent equipment immediately, his heart instantly filled with joy...

Although the contract said that it was normal equipment, he had seen it over the past two days. The lowest level of normal equipment in this tribe was a high-quality set equipment refined from gold essence. These days, he had long been drooling over the set of equipment on this tribe's warriors...

The equipment of this tribe's random soldiers were all so high-level, which made him feel embarrassed to wear his tattered clothes when he went out... ..

Of course, other than the equipment, the so-called breathing technique also made him very curious...

Regarding this so-called breathing technique, his anticipation was actually not inferior to that set of fine equipment, and it was even more important!

Because he had long noticed that the warriors of this tribe, whether they were Minotaurs or kobolds, seemed to be much stronger than the similar type of orcs that he had seen before.

As an elite orc of the Thunder tribe, he wasn't even confident of defeating any of the Minotaurs here... ..

This was very incredible in the Orc tribe environment where heroes were judged by their bloodlines...

Initially, he thought that it was the magical beast meat that had the effect. However, he had noticed a detail during the past few nights. He realized that the secret of the tribe's warriors' strength did not seem to be just because of the magical beast meat... ..

He realized that when the warriors of this tribe were training, they would spend at least two hours a day meditating and breathing in addition to normal physical exercises...

Moreover, the breathing method was obviously different from usual. Many times, Bagg had noticed that when the warriors of this tribe were meditating and breathing, they would gather next to the totem, and when they were breathing, there seemed to be elemental energy surrounding them...

Especially for Reilly and his group, the breathing formation was extremely large. Sometimes, Bagg could see from afar that when this guy was breathing, it was like when a whale was absorbing water, instantly drawing the surrounding air over, creating a airflow visible to the naked eye... ..

When he asked him during the day, he would mysteriously smile without replying. This so-called breathing training method must be what they did every night by the side of the totem, right?

The contract said that he could only choose one basic breathing method for training, could it be that there were several other breathing methods?

With doubts, Bagg decided to ask Reilly about it...

Reilly became even more enthusiastic after learning that Bagg had chosen to become a hired warrior of his tribe. He patted the other party's shoulder repeatedly and said, "Wise choice, brother. Trust me, you won't regret it..."

Bagg first responded with gratitude, thanking the other party for taking care of him these days. Then, he asked about what he wanted to ask.

"Oh... you mean the breathing technique..." Raleigh touched his chin and muttered, "I'm surprised that Joseph would give it to a mercenary warrior who just signed a contract. After all, there aren't many kobolds in the base..."

Bagg's face twitched when he heard that...

Raleigh realized that he had misspoken, so he quickly smiled embarrassedly and said, "Hey, brother, don't misunderstand. Of course, you're better than the Kobolds..."

The other party's explanation made Bagg feel even worse...

"Let's talk about the breathing technique, shall we?" Bagg said helplessly.

"Okay, okay, okay!" Reyton smiled and introduced, "This breathing technique is unique to our tribe. It's a body tempering technique bestowed by the chieftain, Lord Bok Choy. Believe me, brother, this is definitely the most advanced body tempering technique among all the beast tribes..." "..."

Hearing this, Bagg took a deep breath and revealed a shocked expression on his face. Not only was he surprised by the other party's confidence and arrogance in his own breathing technique, but he was also surprised by the name of the chieftain behind this faction...

It was actually called little cabbage...

Then, in the next few minutes, under the other party's description, he roughly understood the situation of this breathing technique... ..

According to Reilly, this breathing technique was a high-level training technique derived from the training breathing technique of the fire tribe's sword saint. When combined with the elemental elves, one could gain the power of the elemental bonus, it was said to be a technique that could train one to surpass the sword saint. Currently, the breathing techniques in the tribe were divided into the breathing of fire, the breathing of water, the breathing of wind, the breathing of the earth, and so on, as he spoke, he even demonstrated it to himself. This was also the first time that he had seen Rayleigh using the so-called breathing technique at such a close distance.

He only felt that as Rayleigh breathed, the surrounding air currents were instantly drawn over by him. All of a sudden, he felt as if he had entered a vacuum state, and there was no air to breathe in the surroundings...

Meanwhile, Rayleigh was really like a whale that had sucked in the surrounding Sea of air. As he breathed in and exhaled, a layer of air currents that could be seen with the naked eye was pushed away. Then, an orange-yellow light flashed in Rayleigh's eyes, and he stomped on the ground, Bagg only felt the entire earth shake. Then, he saw the opponent raise his hand and punch. From a few meters away, he shattered a piece of steel rock that was the size of a Minotaur!

Bagg was stunned on the spot. He knew that Rayleigh was very strong, but he didn't expect him to be so strong. This kind of fist power that could shatter steel rock from a distance, even the general of the tribe probably couldn't do it...

And the general of the Thunder tribe was almost on the same level as the general of the Steel Martial Empire!

After Reilly threw out a punch, he slowly calmed his breathing. Looking at Bagg's stunned expression, he nodded his head in satisfaction, then he said, "This is the power of the breathing technique. Don't look at how strong I am. In fact, I am still far from the general level..."

Bagger was startled and blurted out, "How is this possible? Your power just now..."

"General all can not hit out?" Reilly smilingly interjected.

Bug gawked for a moment, then asked carefully: "Could it be... is that what the function of breathing?"

"Brother, you are so quick to react... Raleigh smiled and said, "Indeed, this is the effect of the breathing technique. It can not only improve your body function, but also improve your combat ability in a short period of time. The state I was in just now did not last long because I did not practice for a long time. Now, I can only maintain it for about 70 seconds at most "... "..."

Seventy seconds... "...". Bagg heaved a sigh of relief. He could accept it a little. It would be too heaven-defying if he could maintain it for a long time. However, even so, it was still an incredible trump card. He did not expect this tribe to be willing to provide such a good thing for the newly joined mercenary warriors...

No wonder Raleigh would say something like that in the beginning...

At the thought of this, he quickly asked, "Then big brother Raleigh, what kind of breathing method do you think I should choose?"

Chapter 495: Something's Not Right, lord cabbage... ..

In the cabbage base...

A white deer man carefully served lunch to her chief. Her name was Ruth, and she was the personal nanny designated by Lord Cabbage... ..

Unlike the other orcs in the base, Ruth was very dexterous and beautiful. Her lines were not as rough as those of the other orcs, and it was in line with the aesthetic standards of humans... ..

However, due to the weak physique of these beastmen, they did not have the ability to compete. As a result, these kinds of beastmen were actually very rare in the plains of the beastmen. They usually lived in the forest and relied on sour wild fruits for food... ..

As for why they appeared in the cabbages base, it was actually a very coincidental thing. Behind the forest where the Tauren tribe was located, there happened to be a family of white deer people. However, this family was very low-key, they also knew how to hide, causing the Tauren on the mountainside to know that this family existed, but they rarely saw them.

Until that day, the fruit farmer of the tribe reported that a thief was stealing fruits. At first, the people in the tribe thought that their children were mischievous, so when they went back, they pulled the calf heads that were less than ten years old and gave them a good beating without any explanation...

In the end, through the gnolls' judgment of the traces, they found out that there really was a thief... ..

Later, under the leadership of the gnolls, they found Ruth's family...

That thief was naturally Ruth. Ruth's parents had been attacked by wild beasts some time ago and were injured. Her father was seriously injured and passed away. Her mother barely survived but was temporarily paralyzed at home. There were four or five other children in the family besides Ruth. As the oldest, Ruth naturally shouldered the burden of finding food...

However, it was too difficult to find food on the mountain in this winter. Her parents had gone to steal the wild fruit of a hill beast, which had angered the other party and caused her to be injured...

After wandering around with no results, she suddenly boldly came to the Tauren territory that her parents did not allow her to come over...

And then she found that there were actually so many sweet fruits planted here!

The sweet smell tempted her to summon up her courage. To be honest, she had never eaten such delicious fruits before...

So under the pressure of life, she finally sat down and had no choice but to steal, and was naturally found out a few days later...

At that time, her mother was very panicked, desperately begging those fierce-looking Tauren to let her child go... She was willing to pay for the loss with her body... ..

She didn't understand what it meant to pay with her body either. Her mother didn't seem to have much meat, not even as much as herself...

As expected, the chief of this tribe didn't take a fancy to her mother and asked her to stay and take care of her...

Because after she was taken in by this so-called lord cabbage, her younger siblings were also brought to the tribe and had warm tents and sweet fruits. Of course, the prerequisite was that she could take good care of lord cabbage...

In order for her mother and younger siblings to continue living such a comfortable life, she had been carefully serving them these days...

However, she actually found that this lord bok choy, who was revered as a god by so many tall orcs, was not difficult to take care of, because she spent most of the day sleeping... .. even more than those wild boars in the mountains... ..

What she wanted to do was to bring the food in when it was time, take care of the other party, and then bring it out after eating. At night, when Lord cabbage was awake, she would ask him what he wanted to eat the next day... .. that was about it... ..

At this time, as usual, lord cabbage was tempted to sit up by the aroma of the food without even needing to shout...

Seeing this, Ruth put the food away lightly and quickly came over to put a coat over cabbage...

However, she actually didn't think that this step was very meaningful. It wasn't cold inside the tent. According to the shaman, it was quite warm inside because there were fire elves guarding Lord Cabbage. As long as one was careful not to let the wind in.., actually, it was impossible to let lord cabbage get cold...

However, she heard that there was a Tauren who did not pay attention to the details and caused lord cabbage to fall sick, so he was chased out. This made her not dare to be careless...

Cabbage narrowed her eyes and walked to the food like a walking corpse. She started to eat and drink. In less than half a minute, a lot of food was eaten clean...

After eating, it sniffed and seemed to realize that there was nothing left to eat, so it didn't even wipe its mouth before it ran back to bed...

Ruth looked at the plate that had been licked until there was no fat on it, and thought to herself, looks like I have to increase the amount tomorrow...

She didn't expect this little cabbage to be so petite, but it was abnormally gluttonous, and it ate more and more every day. The key was that it didn't move, so it ate, slept, and ate...

She even suspected that this little cabbage lady was not awake, and her body was just instinctively guiding her to do so...

However, these things were not for her to care about. After cleaning up the plates, she carefully retreated out... ..

After leaving the tent, Ruth felt the temperature drop sharply, but it did not matter much because ever since she had the fur coat that the Lord had given her, she rarely felt cold. After all, wild deer people like her were very strong in resisting the cold and heat. In the past, they used to live naked in the snow and ice. When the family slept, they would hug each other in the cave to keep warm...

Unlike now, when there was a tent that blocked the wind, a warm quilt, fresh porridge in the morning, a full and delicious cake, and delicious meat soup and sweet fruits at night. She did not have to worry about hunger and cold in this kind of day. She really wanted to have it forever...

If she could meet this lord earlier, perhaps her father would not have to leave them...

With gratitude in her heart, Ruth carefully closed the tent. After carefully observing for a week to make sure that there was no air leakage, she took the plate and left.

Her work was not finished. Other than this sleeping chief, there was a group of people in the tribe who would only eat after being reminded...

It was the group of humans who gathered in the iron house all day long and looked as thin and weak as lord cabbage...

Unlike the sleeping lord cabbage, that group of people looked very busy all day and night, working day and night. Although she did not quite understand what they were busy with, she heard that they were all doing very important things. The shamans and witch doctors in the tribe treated these people like gods...

From time to time, they would see some shamans and witch doctors come to ask questions with doubts, and every time they received advice, they would giggle like they had received a treasure, their appearance was completely different from their solemn and solemn appearance when they were facing the other orcs in the tribe.

"Lilith is here?" In the iron house, as usual, the first person who noticed him after he arrived was a young man with a strange glass mirror.

This man was called Jimmy, and he was also the youngest person in the iron house...

He heard from the Tauren in the base that this guy was very difficult to get in touch with and always despised the kobolds in the base for serving food, but he couldn't tell. He felt that this person was quite enthusiastic, although sometimes he was too enthusiastic...

"What's good today?"

"Taro-scented, amethyst rice porridge, red crystal fruit..." after a pause, Ruth said with a crisp smile, "Before Lady Alice left, she said that you can't eat anything too greasy tonight..."

Looking at Lilith's Crisp Smile, Jimmy's heart jumped, and a trace of eagerness was clearly shown in his eyes.

As if she couldn't stand the other party's gaze, Ruth quickly served lunch to the others.

However, when serving lunch, she could clearly feel that Lord Jimmy's gaze would occasionally stare at her butt, but whenever she looked back, he would pretend to be serious and eat.

It wasn't until Ruth left with the bowl and chopsticks that Maya, who was in charge of potions, rolled her eyes at him and said, "Why do you always stare at Ruth's Butt?"

Facing his companion's straightforward question, Jimmy did not feel ashamed at all. He asked in a serious manner, "Then who else can I stare at? The cows in the tribe?"

"Young people have quite a strong taste... they actually like Beastmothers..."bill, the physicist in charge of the research on energy fusion and transformation, said. Ayres, on the other hand, had a flirtatious expression between men...

"What's The Big Deal? From a biological point of view, I'm not a human anymore. It's not against the law to pursue other races, right?"Jimmy retorted.

Madeline, who was in charge of biological genetics, said in a serious tone, "From a biological point of view, the chances of that girl liking you are almost zero..."

"Why?"Jimmy asked, stunned.

Madeline said, "I've been studying the orc genes of this planet for the past few days and found that the genes of these guys are very fusion-seeking, and there is no biological isolation between the different races."

"Isn't that great?"Jimmy quickly asked.

"But there is also a strong evasive ability. The weak genes seem to be very willing to fuse with the strong ones, but the strong ones are not interested in the genes that are not as strong as theirs. I've observed this phenomenon in biological performance. For example, the beastwoman you like seems to prefer the strong Tauren. She often accosted them, but those Tauren are not interested in her..." "..."

"How do you know?"Jimmy asked unhappily.

"Of course I know..."Madeline acted as if she didn't see Jimmy's unhappy expression, she said lightly, "I've asked the Tauren who were accosted, and they all said that they don't like people like Ruth. Their bodies are too slender, and when they mate, their pelvis is easily crushed by the impact..."

Jimmy:"..."

"Relatively speaking, you're the same..."Madeline yawned as she looked at Jimmy and said, "From a physiological point of view, your body is as unattractive as a needle to Ruth..."

"Enough, you vulgar person! !"Jimmy was so angry that he jumped up.

"Trust me, Jimmy. Although Madeline's words are a little straightforward, she decided to be sincere..."Maya laughed from the side.

God was F * cking speaking from the bottom of her heart...

After a pause, Jimmy said hesitantly, "What do you guys think will happen if I choose a different gene and choose the Green Titan?"

Madeleine looked at him seriously and said, "You will be kicked out by little cabbage..."

Jimmy: "..."

"Speaking of Lord Little Cabbage, do you guys feel that there's something wrong with her recently?" Maya suddenly asked.

"What's wrong with her? She's been sleeping like a pig lately..." Jimmy pursed his lips.

"She's sleeping a little too much..." Madeline frowned. Recently, cabbage had only been active for about two to three hours a day, and she had been sleeping the rest of the time. She did feel that something was wrong... ..

"Moreover, the rate at which the elves evolved in the base seems to be a little too fast recently..." bill looked at the big elves outside the window and said worriedly... ..

Chapter 496: parasitism?

About six to seven hours had passed since Ruth left. Only then did little cabbage open his eyes in a daze. Upon closer inspection, he discovered that little cabbage's eyes were crystal clear like Jade. Although his expression was hazy... However, his eyes were abnormally bright. In the dark tent, they were like two luminous luminous pearls...

Looking at the dark tent, little cabbage was stunned for a few seconds, then she muttered, "It's getting dark again?"

These days, she didn't know why, but she found herself getting more and more sleepy. She didn't even remember how many days she hadn't seen the sun... ..

"Could it be a problem with my body?" Little cabbage wondered. After all, although she had been lazy in the grassland for a year, she wasn't that lazy...

Just as she was thinking about it, her stomach suddenly growled. Little cabbage touched her stomach and frowned. "I'm hungry again..."

She vaguely remembered that she had eaten four meals today...

Whatever, she had to eat when she was hungry!

Little cabbage put on her clothes and ran out excitedly. She might be able to make it in time for the barbecue...

Just as she left, little cabbage heard a gentle voice. "Is lord little cabbage awake? Put on your shoes first..."

Little cabbage turned around and saw that it was Ruth, who had been taking care of him for the past few days. As a delicate and pretty white deer person, she looked much more pleasing to the eye than the Kobold. The lower half of the white deer and the upper half of the young girl's body... She looked a little like the tree demon in fairy tales...

“Has the barbecue started?” Little cabbage asked excitedly.

“Do you want me to bring some things over for you?” Ruth asked carefully.

“No need...” cabbage shook his head and asked, “Is there a letter delivered today?”

“Yes!” Ruth quickly took out the letter from Alice...

“Only Alice’s today?” Little cabbage frowned, feeling that there were even fewer things to kill time with.

Because there were no signal stations, the progress of Alice’s troops these days was transmitted through this kind of ancient letter.

Opening it, the first thing on it was Alice’s report on the formation of the troops.

It said that they would enter the largest golden soil in the North Tomorrow: the Kaiser Plains. Regarding the problem of route choice, both the emperor of the liver and Alice had sent letters yesterday saying that, today, Alice mainly talked about old Joseph’s military merit system.

There was a detailed form and plan for old Joseph’s system, which fully affirmed old Joseph’s ability. Naturally, the letter did not deliberately speak ill of old Joseph. However, little cabbage still vaguely felt the smell of gunpowder...

Then, it was about the breathing technique. Alice mentioned that a few days ago, the young man from the Thunder Tribe was willing to sign an employment contract with them. Old Joseph promised to use his beginner-level breathing technique. At first, he wanted to use the thunder-type breathing technique, but did he find it. In the end, he chose the most explosive breathing technique, the breath of fire...

Alice suggested that she cultivate some thunder elemental elves, and then let the base develop a thunder-type breathing technique to enrich the cultivation system of the civilization...

Finally, at the end of the letter, Alice answered the question she had asked about the identification of future generations...

Little cabbage did not expect this. She originally thought that Alice would not answer this question...

It was like this. Two days ago, the emperor of the liver had sent a letter about Alice’s relationship with the Pu Yunchuan faction, Isabelle. He mentioned that Alice had nine husbands and many lovers. However, he was very clear about who Isabelle’s bloodline was born with. He was quite puzzled and wanted her to ask on his behalf...

Little Cabbage’s brain went blank and she really did ask. In the end, she regretted sending the letter. She felt that it was not very good to ask about other people’s privacy like this...

In the end, she did not expect Alice to reply seriously...

The explanation for this problem was like this. Although Alice had nine legal husbands and numerous lovers, she had a very regular life. During that period of time, she had plans with every man. During that period of time, she had to be single-minded. After all, if she had a descendant, that man would be responsible for her upbringing. She was very busy and did not have the time on a normal day...

Looking at such a serious reply, little cabbage was speechless. She felt that as expected of a noble, he was so principled...

After reading the letter, little cabbage asked Ruth. She found that only 20 minutes had passed and she could not pass the time, so she decided to go to the micro-base to take a look.

After arriving at the base, the busy developers saw that the chief had come personally, so they temporarily put down their experiments and came to report on the situation of their research.

First was Madeleine, who was mainly studying the project of the evolution of the BEASTRACE genes. After all, the strengthening of the base was too expensive, so it was best to have a system for the evolution of the base itself.

The progress of the project was relatively slow. After all, it was a big project, and there would not be any results in a short period of time. The progress was slow, so there was not much that could be reported...

After that was Bill Ayres. His research was mainly related to the quality of energy. Recently, the project that he and Maya had been working on together was related to the elemental breathing technique.

After all, Madeline's project had not made any progress for the time being. If the cabbage tribe wanted to strengthen their army, this breathing technique seemed to be a more efficient method for the time being.

The patent for this breathing technique came from the main base. It was an improvement of the breathing technique developed by the big-shot developers of the main base from the Fire clan's sword Saint Clan!

After it was passed to him, Bill proposed to use the advantage of the wood elf elemental civilization to let the elements and ordinary people evolve together to expand the attributes of the breathing technique. For a moment, this proposal was unanimously agreed upon by the developers around them, and they all felt that it was meaningful to research...

Little cabbage also felt that it was not bad at the time, so he allowed it. In the end, the progress was quite good. In just ten days or so, they had developed the elementary breathing technique of various elements, and the results of Rayleigh and the others' practice were also very satisfactory...

Now, Bill and Maya were focused on the advanced breathing technique of elements. Although the progress was slightly slower than before, it was indeed one of the most unique and largest projects in the base...

Because of this project, the base even publicly encouraged them to reward them with 100,000 points...

The rest was about the progress of agronomy and magic plants. Because the shamans and witch doctors in the base were very modest and eager to learn, the progress was relatively good...

After understanding the progress, little cabbage saw that the situation was almost the same and was ready to sneak off to the barbecue, but he was suddenly stopped by Madeline.

“Chief, do you feel that something is wrong with your body recently?” Madeline used to focus on the biomedical field and was relatively sensitive in this area. In the end, she decided to ask to be on guard against it...

Little cabbage was stunned. Then, she remembered that she seemed to have overslept in the past few days, so she told her about it.

“Oversleeping, but eating more and more?” Madeline frowned.

Little cabbage looked at her and her heart skipped a beat. Then, she said carefully, “What do you think is the reason?”

“From a biological point of view, this kind of situation is usually because the body is parasitized by some other species. That’s why even if you don’t exercise, you still eat more...”

“Parasitizing?” Little Cabbage’s face twitched. “No Way?”

“That’s hard to say...” Madeline said with a serious face, “After all, this is a new planet. It’s not impossible for some unknown species to parasitize your body. I think you should go to the main base for a check-up...”

Little Cabbage, who was afraid of death, did not dare to delay when she heard that. She immediately ran toward the teleportation point... .

Chapter 497: Am I that good?

After little cabbage arrived at the base, she realized that many players were pointing at her from afar...

-LSB- damn, is that the big boss of little cabbage Grandpa Lu’s post?]

[yes, yes, that’s the best flower spirit of the base who was kidnapped to the prairie for a year and then rose to power... that elemental breathing technique was created by her faction, and it’s selling like hot cakes now...]

[what elemental breathing technique? Is It Awesome?]

[you actually don’t know? Didn’t you read Grandpa Lu’s new post? I’m telling you to buy it as soon as possible, it’ll definitely become more and more expensive in the future...]

“What’s going on?” Little cabbage was baffled. How did she become so famous all of a sudden? And why was everyone in the base discussing the elemental breathing technique?

Although she had some doubts, the most important thing was to check her body first...

After arriving at the base, she chose to look for the Lord first. However, the system informed her that the Lord had gone to Kunlun and had not returned yet. She was stunned for a moment. “Why hasn’t he returned yet? Hasn’t he been gone for a few months already?”

System: "There's a problem with the mystical realm of Kunlun, the Ling dynasty. It seems that there's a space-time disturbance. The Lord is guarding Kunlun to prevent any accidents..."

"Is that so?" Little cabbage was stunned. "That guy is usually so stingy. I didn't expect him to care about us so much..."

AI said, "Of course. The Lord has always treated you guys like children..."

Little cabbage said, "Hehe..."

AI said, "Why are you looking for the Lord?"

Little cabbage quickly explained her situation.

AI: "Rainy Girl, Wu Gua just happens to be in the base. How about I let her take a look at you?"

When little cabbage heard this, she quickly said, "Alright, Alright, Alright!"

AI: "But you have to wait a moment. She came today to make an appointment with the mecha teacher in the base for a training session..."

"Oh?" Little cabbage was stunned and immediately said excitedly, "The first mecha operator in the base is finally going to be born?"

AI: "Probably..."

Little cabbage: "Oh right, when I came here, I saw many people pointing fingers at me. Also, why do so many people know about my elemental breathing technique?"

AI: "Regarding this question, you can take a look at this..."

After saying that, a post appeared on the virtual screen. The title was shockingly: Grandpa Lu's analysis of the advanced chapters: the advantages of the wood elf civilization!

Bai Cai was stunned. She had long heard of the popularity of the unknown object in the base. She thought that she had nothing to do now, so she focused on reading the post.

Hello everyone, I Am Your Beloved Grandpa Lu, I am very happy to write a guide for you, presumably now the most concerned topic is the grassland south expedition project right? Grandpa Lu now responded to the needs of the public. First, he would give everyone a success story to stimulate everyone's enthusiasm. After that, he would give everyone a loser story to let everyone know how cruel and bitter it was... Cough Cough, alright, let's cut to the chase ..

"First, let me introduce the main character of our guide: the first success story on the prairie today: chief little cabbage..

[little cabbage, formerly known as Lu Xiaoke, was an unlucky person who was abducted by the Orcs a year ago. In the next year on the grassland, with her job characteristics, luck, and a little effort, she became the most successful private Lord faction player in the base.]

[today, we will use her successful case to introduce the advantages of the wood elf civilization to everyone...]

[from the looks of it, the wood elf civilization is very compatible with the situation on the grasslands because it is highly integrated with the shamanic civilization that respects the elements on the grasslands. This also makes it very easy for little cabbage to gain the approval of the orcs. The wood elf civilization's model of primarily nurturing elemental elves seems to be able to quickly promote the development of agriculture and the cold weapons industry...]. "..."

[I'm sure everyone has seen the video released by the main base about the cabbage expedition army?]? The powerful armor on the Tauren and the gorgeous rune weapons on the high-level generals were all obtained through the evolution of the elemental elves. High-level gold essence could nurture high-quality ores, while fire essence could help to refine and forge the ores to the greatest extent. With this, little cabbage quickly surpassed all the other civilizations in the New World in the level of her cold weapons. I believe that in the future, her faction's expedition will have the advantage over the other tribes' Beastmen!]

[then there's the elemental breathing technique that the main base introduced this time. This breathing technique was obtained from the research of the cabbage faction. Although they used the main base's patent on the sword saint breathing technique, the main base still accepted the scientific research contribution of the cabbage faction and gave them a new patent right. In other words, for every beginner breathing technique that the players in the main base exchanged for, one-third of the points would be given to the cabbage faction. If the players themselves wanted to use the beginner breathing technique, they would have to spend even more...]. "..."

[the current price of the beginner's breathing technique is 1,000 points per person. If you want your subordinate to practice it by contract, it will cost 50 points per person...]. "...". Of course, this is when you spend 1,000 points to buy a single person's portion. For example, if you practice the breath of fire, but your subordinate also practices the breath of fire, it will cost 50 points. But if your subordinate is suitable for the breath of wind, then you have to spend 1,000 points to buy a portion of the breath of wind cultivation technique, and then spend another 50 points to pay for your subordinate's cultivation... [...]

[as for this breathing technique, perhaps many people don't think much of it. Grandpa Lu will tell you that this breathing technique has an extremely high increase in combat strength. Grandpa Lu is here to advise everyone to buy it as soon as possible, because the pricing power is on the side of the little cabbages. When it becomes popular, the price will definitely rise. As for whether this breathing technique is worth the current price, Grandpa Lu is here to tell you with certainty that it is very worth it!]

[let me explain the effects of these elemental breathing techniques to you. There are a total of four types of breathing techniques produced by the current cabbage faction: Earth breathing technique, flame breathing technique, water breathing technique, and wind breathing technique. First of all, these breathing techniques can increase your lung capacity and improve the quality of your training. According to the data given by the developers in the base, the training effect of Ordinary Level 3 players after using breathing techniques will be about 2.5 times that of normal players, while that of the orcs in the new world will be more than four times that!]

[and then there are the attribute bonuses. These breathing techniques, together with the elemental elves, will give you a portion of the elemental power bonuses. The effects of each breathing technique are different. The earth breathing technique will give you a higher bonus to your strength and vitality, the explosive power of the breath of fire will be stronger, the breath of wind will greatly help your agility, and the breath of water will give you a higher bonus to your balance and flexibility...]. ∴ In any case, each has its own advantages. Everyone can choose according to their own circumstances. I will give you a detailed guide on these breathing techniques in the future. Today, let's talk about the advantages of the wood elf civilization... ..

[I believe that everyone has noticed the term "Elemental elf" in my description. Yes, that's right. If you want to practice this type of elemental breathing technique, high-level elemental elves are essential. In other words, if you want to improve this breathing technique, you need to have such high-level elemental elves. Then, the question is, how do you obtain such high-level elemental elves?]

[currently, the only class that can evolve elemental elves is the flower spirit. Among all civilizations, only the wood elf civilization is the most specialized in the evolution of elemental elves. In other words, in the later stages, high-quality elemental elves will definitely come from the wood elf civilization. If you are not a force of the wood elf civilization, then unfortunately, you can only spend money to buy from them...]. [...]

[from the current situation, the cabbages have a huge advantage. First, she can collect a large amount of patent fees, and the further she goes, the more she collects. Then, there's the training of elemental elves. She's far ahead now. If you don't want to be controlled by others in this area in the future, you can actually consider catching up...]. Of course, I'm not encouraging everyone to choose the wood elf civilization. Other civilizations also have their own advantages. For example, players from the original plan civilization would not need this breathing technique at all. Moreover, other civilizations might also be able to develop training methods to strengthen their combat power. This is hard to say

I myself still hope that the players from the base will blossom. Today's article is just to show everyone the advantages of the wood elf civilization with the successful example of the cabbage faction... [after that, I will find a loser to analyze the disadvantages of the wood elf civilization for everyone. Of course, Grandpa Lu, I will try to update the situation of other civilizations as much as possible. Currently, the second largest faction in the base is brother G's faction. I heard that he chose the Zu'an civilization. Grandpa, I will try my best to gather information in this area and try to write a Zu'an chapter for everyone as soon as possible. That's all for today. I'll leave first. Remember to like, coin, and share it with your collection. Thank you.] ! !

"Damn..." little cabbage looked at the strategy with a confused face and said blankly, "Am I that good?"

Chapter 498: unwittingly little cabbage... ..

"Why was our expedition recorded in a video? And even publicly shown?" Little cabbage asked after reading the guide.

AI: "This was proposed by all of you. The purpose is to publicize the strength of your base. The main purpose is to display samples of cold weapons for later sale..."

Bai Cai: "What's with the elemental breathing technique? When did we sell it?"

AI: "The breathing technique was authorized by your base to be sold by the main base a month ago. The main base is responsible for protecting the patent rights and supervising the illegal teaching by the players. Meanwhile, you guys contribute 70% of the profits to the main base..."

Bai Cai was stunned. "Why didn't I know about this?"

"How could you not know?" The intelligent voice sounded a little confused. "Weren't you at the scene when the two contracts were signed?"

As she spoke, a video of Bai Cai signing the contract was shown. Bai Cai looked at herself in the video, who was in a daze. Her face twitched as if she remembered something...

She vaguely remembered that Alice had come to her tent to wake her up before the expedition. She seemed to have said something about a sale and wanted her to sign the contract. Then, she was brought to the main base in a daze and seemed to have signed something... At that time, she only wanted to finish her work quickly and go back to sleep. She did not expect to sign something so important... ..

Oh My God...

At the thought of this, little cabbage was completely dumbfounded. Fortunately, Alice and the others did not have any evil intentions. Otherwise, she would not even know that she had sold herself...

After realizing the seriousness of the problem, little cabbage quickly asked, "Then since it's a 70-30 split, where's Our Money?"

AI: "Look at your account..."

Little cabbage was stunned for a moment. Then, he opened his account and was instantly stunned. He actually had more than 500,000 points in his account balance...

Oh My, he didn't even know that he had slept like a rich woman...

AI: "We'll split the daily payment. Your breathing technique is selling like hot cakes. I advise you to try your best to discuss the matter of raising the price with the gang earlier..."

"Then... can we discuss the matter of our share first..." Xiao Bai cai said pitifully, "Isn't it a little too expensive for you to charge 70% just for supervision?"

AI: "We're also responsible for promoting you..." .:"...". "The items produced by the main base are more reliable than those produced by your private base, right?" "Moreover, this cooperation is permanent. In the future, as more and more players join hands, the number of people under the players will increase, and the demand for training techniques will also increase. As long as you can maintain the lead in this area, you'll naturally earn some. If you have time to bargain with me, why don't you go back and supervise the progress of the scientific research..." .:"..."

Little cabbage was stunned by the other party's drawing, but then she said sadly, "But there are still too many of them. Let's make it ten percent more. How about the four of us and the six of You?"

Ai: "Rainy Girl, no melon is out. She wants you to go to the testing room..."

Little cabbage: "There's no rush. Let's chat for a while..."

Ai: "Friendly Reminder, the big boss developer in the base is very busy. If you miss rainy girl, no melon, the developer who is temporarily free is Jupiter..."

"Jupiter?" Little cabbage was stunned. She seemed to have heard of him. It was the guy who always said that he wanted to evolve gloriously in the base. She heard that he had transformed the people he bought into robots...

"Then... Let's talk about it another time..."

"What have you done recently?" Rainy Girl and Wugua asked curiously after they finished examining little cabbage's body.

Looking at the strange expression on the other party's face, little cabbage was stunned. He thought to himself, could it be that something very disgusting was in his body? What could it be? Bugs?

"Just tell me what's going on. I'm mentally prepared..." little cabbage took a deep breath and said.

"You're about to die..." rainmaiden Wugua said seriously.

"Wow! !" Cabbage suddenly issued a pig-like cry...

Rain woman without melon: "Didn't you say you are ready?"

"I'm Not Ready, my life is just beginning, how am I going to die? Woo-hoo, doctor, how many days do I have..."

"I'm kidding..."

"I'll kill you! ! !"

"The specific situation is like this..." after tidying up her hair that was messed up by little cabbage, raingirl WUGUA pointed at the data table and said, "The reason why you're lethargic isn't because there's something in your body..."

"Then why?" Little cabbage said in a daze, "I eat five meals a day. I eat so much and don't move. The key is that I don't gain any weight. I've even lost weight..."

"Of course it's because you used up a lot..." rainy girl, Wugua, rolled her eyes.

"Used up? I've been cooped up in bed all day. What did you use up?"

"Spiritual power!"

Little cabbage: "Spiritual Power?"

"According to the equipment, you used up a lot of spiritual power every day..." rainy girl, wugua frowned and said, "That's why you're always in a dormant state, and you also used up a lot of calories..."

"Why does it consume mental strength?" Little cabbage was stunned. How come she didn't know about this...

"It's probably because of the elves in your base..." "...". Rainmaiden wugua said solemnly, "I was a little suspicious when your expedition video came out. I saw that every shaman in your faction has a big elf totem. Although the Big Elves' life levels are only equivalent to our level one, to evolve a microorganism to level one in such a short period of time and to evolve so much, I found that you're exaggerating a little..." "..."

"Is it very exaggerated?" Little cabbage asked in a daze.

"It's very exaggerated!" Rain Girl, Wu Gua, said seriously, "Didn't teacher Vivian teach you that flower spirits will continue to provide nutrients after they have a connection with the elves, just like how the land provides nutrients to plants, is there a consumption? According to your teacher, flower spirits below Level-3 can only open for an hour a day at most to provide energy, and the amount of plants and animals they provide must be strictly controlled according to their own conditions..." "...". "..."

Little cabbage: "Uh..."

Looking at little cabbage's confused expression, raingirl, Wugua, came closer and asked suspiciously, "How many hours do you keep your spirit supply chain open a day?"

"That thing... turns out it can be closed..."

Raingirl, Wugua: "..."

Looking at Raingirl's speechless expression, little cabbage also scratched her head in embarrassment, and suddenly remembered something... ..

When she was kidnapped out of the base, her mentor, herring, had not taught her the spirit link skill. She had learned it herself when she saw the shaman summoning the earth spirit in the base...

No one had taught her that this thing could be turned off even if she did not use it... ..

She had said that ever since then, as the number of elemental spirits in the base increased, she had become more and more lethargic... .. Damn it, I didn't turn off my skill's mana... ..

Rainy melon looked at the silly expression on her face and didn't know what to say. Call her stupid, right? She seemed pretty stupid, but for some reason, she was ahead of the other players by a lot. Take the current situation as an example! This silly girl might not even know it, but because she forgot to turn off the spiritual link, her spiritual power had been greatly trained every day. Just now, the test device clearly showed that she was a level 5 lifeform!

Chapter 499: The Annoying Background Board is everywhere

One month ago:

"I wonder where they are now..." at night, after Isabelle finished dealing with some of the miscellaneous matters in the city management, she finally had time to worry about Pu Yunchuan and the others' schedule. ...

She looked up at the night sky, and it seemed that it was almost dawn...

These days, dealing with food distribution, regional reconstruction, labor distribution, scientific research decisions, and many other important matters, Isabelle really felt that it was quite taxing on her own...

It was said that the developer's bloodline could strengthen the brain, and the processing ability would also evolve by several times. In fact, Isabelle had some intentions, but as a warrior-born general of the empire, it made her give up her bravery and focus on internal affairs in the future. She was also a little unwilling...

That was why she had not chosen her new gene... ...

After thinking about it, she decided to wait for Pu Yunchuan to come back and decide based on the situation... ...

By now, she was almost at the periphery of the black stone forest... ...

Isabelle looked out of the window, a trace of worry rising in her heart. However, she also knew that although there was some risk, the current situation could not be delayed... ...

Yesterday, she received a video released by the main base. It was about the expedition of the cabbage faction. As she thought, her ancestor would not give up such a good place like the northern plains...

What made her even more afraid was the strength displayed by Alice's faction in the expedition video...

That group of expeditionary troops were obviously high-level orcs, and they were well-equipped, which made her a little envious... ...

She had fought on the battlefield, and her eyes were sharp. From the video, she was keenly aware that the quality of those cold weapons was definitely far beyond the standard of the Imperial Armory's ordinary military uniforms. The armors of those Tauren were probably only comparable to the armors forged by the imperial dwarven craftsmen for high-level generals... ... Perhaps not even...

The runic equipment on those high-ranking orcs at the back made her even more alarmed. Elemental weapons... ... Those things were usually only owned by the tribal chiefs, right?

Obviously, in the progress of civilization, the other party was too far ahead. If she wanted to not fall behind, she had to quickly make use of her geographical advantage!

She did not know which route Alice would take. If she took the black stone forest route, her life would not be easy. In this world, the only thing she was afraid of... Was the ancestor who had trained her... ...

After thinking for a while, she decided not to sleep. She would go to the laboratory to look for Su Changyun and the others at dawn to discuss how to increase the strength of the army as soon as possible... ..

On the other side, Pu Yunchuan followed Old Wesker and the others to the outskirts of the black stone forest. As the sky was already dark, it was too risky to enter the forest at night. Wesker told the others to stay away from the forest and set up camp...

At night, in such a wild place and so close to the mutated place, it was naturally necessary to leave someone to keep watch. Therefore, it was stipulated that two people in each tent had to take turns to keep watch at night...

Pu Yunchuan was assigned to the same tent as Jack. After discussing it at night, Pu Yunchuan decided to keep watch at midnight. After all, if he kept watch at midnight, he would be woken up halfway through his sleep. It was a f * cking scene where he had to continue on his journey after staying up until midnight...

Thinking about it, it was still worth it to stay up until midnight...

Pu Yunchuan was once a little prince who stayed up late. He originally thought that with his experience of staying up late, staying up for half a night was nothing. However, when he really stayed up, he realized that it was really difficult to stay up without a phone and computer... ..

However, he was still alright. It was just that he was bored. The other soldiers around him were much more miserable. They were all frozen into a ball!

As this place was not far from the black stone forest, Wesker was afraid of alerting some unknown things in the forest. Hence, he forbade the soldiers to start a fire at night. Without a fire to warm themselves, it was winter... Even the mutated soldiers were still shivering from the cold. Pu Yunchuan's night vision ability allowed him to see clearly. Many of the soldiers' faces had turned purple from the cold...

At the front of the many tents, old Wesker was standing guard at the front, following the soldiers to watch the night. Many of the soldiers were secretly moved when they saw this scene. Being the first soldier was also the reason why old Wesker's prestige was so high...

However, when Pu Yunchuan saw this scene, his thoughts were completely different from the other soldiers. Instead, it was: it seemed that this old fellow also knew that it was more cost-effective to watch the night...

Just as he was thinking, Pu Yunchuan's expression suddenly changed and he took a few steps forward...

"Where are you going?"

The voice calling out to him was from Wesker. Wesker was not far from Pu Yunchuan. When he saw that Pu Yunchuan was acting strangely, he asked curiously...

"Over there... there seems to be something..." Pu Yunchuan pointed forward and said.

Wesker was stunned for a moment when he heard that. He looked ahead in puzzlement. The area in front of him was completely empty with no obstacles at all. This was also the reason why Wesker chose this place to set up camp, at this moment, he looked in the direction that Pu Yunchuan had pointed, but he did not see anything. Hence, he frowned and asked, "Where is the thing that you said?"

"In that forest... it seems to be staring at us..." Pu Yunchuan said faintly.

The moment these words were said, the bodies of the surrounding soldiers clearly trembled. For the other party to suddenly say such words in the middle of the night, it was indeed quite frightening, hence, they all stared blankly at PU Yunchuan and said, "Brother, are you serious? What is it?"

Wesker frowned as he looked at the forest that Pu Yunchuan had mentioned. Although these people were facing the black stone forest, they were actually very far away from the stone forest. Moreover, there was a thick layer of fog surrounding the stone forest, even with his strength as a gold knight, his eyesight could not see so far. This fellow actually said that he could see what was inside the stone forest?

"Ha..."

Just as everyone was surrounding Pu Yunchuan and about to ask more questions, a sharp sneer suddenly caught everyone's attention. Pu Yunchuan heard the sound and looked over. He saw a young man wearing a full set of silver armor...

Most of the soldiers in the base were refugees. Although there were quite a number of soldiers in the Forest of Gondor, they were actually very short of equipment. It was rare for a young man to have a full set of armor like this young man. Most of them were only given the treatment of a general...

"Young man, if you want to show off, you have to find a reliable reason, right? You, who hasn't even reached the combat aura level of an apprentice, told me that you can see a thousand yards away at such a late hour. Are you trying to make me laugh?"

Pu Yunchuan looked at this person and immediately frowned. He knew this person. His name was Mirren... Dylan saz. He heard from Jack that he came from a traditional military family. He was extremely talented and had reached silver-rank at the age of 24. He was highly regarded by Wesker.

However, from the moment he joined the team, he realized that this guy seemed to be very hostile towards him. He did not know why...

The many soldiers only reacted when they heard this. For a moment, they looked at Pu Yunchuan with disdain. They thought to themselves, "So he is a sensationalist..."

Pu Yunchuan did not know how to refute. After all, the other party was right. His combat aura was indeed inferior to that of an apprentice. Before he joined the team, Wesker had given him a combat aura test... After the results were obtained, he was often looked down upon by some regular knights. ...

"There is indeed something..." Pu Yunchuan could only continue to emphasize the fact that he had seen it. ...

Looking at the pale and weak stubbornness on Mirren's face, the mocking smile on his face intensified, and he could not help but feel even more disdainful in his heart. How could such a person be worthy of Lord Isabelle's attention? How could someone actually believe such a ridiculous rumor. What a bunch of ignorant soldiers... ..

In his heart, even if the pearl of the Empire like Isabelle wanted to choose a man, she should choose someone as outstanding as him...

"Okay..." just when Pu Yunchuan was about to say something, Wesker, who had been silent all this time, said, "It's almost time for the shift change, Go and rest..."

These words were obviously meant for Pu Yunchuan...

Pu Yunchuan choked for a moment and looked into the forest. The thing just now seemed to have disappeared again. Then, he sighed and walked towards his tent.

"Sir, according to military law, if you lie about military information, even if the situation is not serious, you will at least receive fifteen lashes..." mi lun said faintly.

Pu Yunchuan stopped in his tracks when he heard that. Anger rose in his heart. He sneered and said, "Do you want to apply for you to enforce the law again?"

"If you have such a need, I can also satisfy you..." mi lun said coldly, "But I hit you harder. Whether you can get up or not is another matter..."

"Is that so? I really want to see it. Come, come, come..." Pu Yunchuan rolled up his sleeves in anger and made up his mind. As long as he dared to whip him, he would smash his head into pieces... ..

"Enough!" Wesker shouted and said with a gloomy face, "My words are useless, aren't they?"

"Er... I didn't mean that..." Mirren saw old Wesker get angry and hurriedly took a step back and bowed.

Pu Yunchuan directly ignored the two of them and walked straight into his tent...

Old Wesker was stunned when he saw this. Mirren's face darkened, and just as he wanted to stop him, he was stopped by Wesker.

Then, Wesker ordered everyone to disperse. After the crowd dispersed and everyone returned to their places, Mirren walked to Wesker's side, he complained softly, "Sir, this guy really thinks he's a big shot. Why Don't you take a look at yourself..."

"Alright, put away your petty thoughts." Wesker rolled his eyes at him and said, "It's better to complete a task beautifully than anything else. That Sir won't miss your hard work..."

Hearing this, Mirren's face turned red as if he was a little girl whose worries had been seen through. He stuttered and could not speak...

Old Wesker did not pay attention to the other party. Instead, he looked at the position that Pu Yunchuan had just pointed at and narrowed his eyes slightly. Although he did not really like Pu Yunchuan, who was obviously here to gain experience,. This time, he inexplicably wanted to stand on Pu Yunchuan's side...

Because even though he did not see it, he could vaguely feel that within the layers of fog, there seemed to be something secretly spying on them... ..

Chapter 500: The Strange Forest

After returning to the tent, Pu Yunchuan was getting angrier and angrier. After Jack was woken up, he looked at Pu Yunchuan's obviously sullen face and asked curiously, "What's Up, Brother?"

"Isn't it that guy called Milun?" Pu Yunchuan said angrily, "What's with the pretense? Did you eat his rice? Every day, I hate him..."

Jack was stunned when he heard that. He immediately realized that the other party was talking about the young major general. In fact, Jack did not like this genius Major General Milun. Although that Guy's strength was not bad, his aristocratic aura was too strong. He was too superior and inferior. In the army, he was not really close to grassroots soldiers like Jack and the others...

"Ignore him. That guy is just jealous of you..." Jack laughed.

"Jealous of me?" Pu Yunchuan was stunned. "Jealous of what? My beauty or talent? These things are natural, what's the use of him being jealous?"

Jack: "..."

"Of course that guy is jealous of you and the Duke..." black sheep, who was woken up by the noise, stood up and said speechlessly.

"What?" Pu Yunchuan suddenly exploded. "That F * cking guy still dares to have his eyes on my Isabelle..."

Your House...

Black sheep and Jack were instantly speechless. They felt that this guy was becoming more and more indecent...

Didn't he know that a duke like Isabelle in the Empire could have at least nine legal husbands?

This was still not considered a lover. With Pu Yunchuan's qualifications, according to their thoughts, even if that rumor was true, he would at most be a lover's boy toy...

Although they did not know why this greasy fatty would become a boy toy... Because according to the preferences of those female nobles, a boy toy was either handsome, thin and tender, or strong and strong with a strong back. Pu Yunchuan did not seem to possess any of these qualities... ..

Could it be that he was living well?

Pu Yunchuan naturally could not think of the racing imagination in the minds of these two seemingly honest fellows, he said with a face full of anger, "What the F * ck are you talking about? Why Don't you take a look at yourself in the mirror and see how you look like? You actually dare to have designs on Isabelle. I Can't stand it anymore. Brothers, I plan to find an opportunity to kill him when I pass through the forest. Can you guys cover for me?"

“What?” The two of them were stunned when they heard that, and their faces were filled with a strange expression.

After being stunned for a long while, Jack said in a daze, “Kill Milun? He... He is a major general, a real silver knight...”

“So What?” Pu Yunchuan said domineeringly, “If he dares to touch my woman, even a king should be killed...”

Black sheep swallowed his saliva and said to Jack, “Did you secretly give him wine to drink again? Don’t you know that it’s forbidden to drink during the March? And even if you want to drink, you should at least give him some peanuts...”

Jack also looked at Pu Yunchuan. “You’re tired, you’d better go to bed early... you can fuck him a few times in your dreams...”

Pu Yunchuan: “...”

“I’ll go to the vigil first...” Jack got up and said.

“I’ll go too...” Black sheep also stood up with a chuckle.

“You don’t want to sleep more?”

“Sleep for what?” Black sheep pointed at Pu Yunchuan and said, “This guy snores like thunder, it would be weird if he could sleep...”

“I say, you two... are you really not going to help me?” Pu Yunchuan frowned and said.

“Brother, it’s fine if you joke around in front of us... Don’t talk nonsense outside...” Jack sighed. “This isn’t like the city. The Duke can’t protect you...”

Pu Yunchuan’s face twitched when he heard that. He thought to himself, do these two guys really think of me as a gigolo?

When he saw that the two of them were about to leave the tent after putting on their clothes, Pu Yunchuan suddenly thought of something and called out to them. “You two be careful on your night watch later. There might be something unpeaceful happening tonight...”

Jack and the other two rolled their eyes when they heard that. They thought that this guy was hinting that the two of them would go and find trouble with Milun. However, they did not take it to heart. They thought that Pu Yunchuan was just saying that, although soldiers valued courage, it was not completely impossible to see the situation. A guy who did not even have the battle spirit of an apprentice going to find trouble with a Silver Knight’s grandfather, wasn’t he looking for a beating?

The two of them quickly went outside to report after leaving the tent. At this time, although the soldiers who had joined in the fun earlier had been chased away by Wesker, they were still discussing the lively incident when they were on guard duty. Jack and the others had heard about it along the way, they realized that most of the topics were still biased towards Milun’s side.

It was not that Milun was well-liked by the soldiers. In fact, compared to Milun, Pu Yunchuan, who had connections, was even more disliked. In the army, the people who were most hated were those who did not have good morals. Although Milun's attitude was arrogant., but where was his strength? As an outstanding person who had stepped into silver-rank at the age of 24, his aptitude was already close to that of the former Lady Isabelle. Compared to Pu Yunchuan, who obviously relied on connections to earn his qualifications... He naturally had to be more respectful... ..

If the two of them had not been saved by Pu Yunchuan before and knew that Pu Yunchuan was actually a brave warrior, they would probably not have liked that fatty as much as the others... ..

The two of them walked all the way to the front and reported to the commander in front. The commander's name was Olaf and he was an old acquaintance of the two of them. When Olaf saw that it was the two of them, he arranged for them to stand guard beside Lord Wesker.

When the two of them received this arrangement, they immediately beamed with joy and thought to themselves, 'Olaf is really a nice fellow... '.

Both of them were veterans, so they naturally knew the benefits of this arrangement. Many people might like to stay away from their leaders when they were working because they would be a little restless. However, the situation was different now, and the team could not light a fire, it would definitely be difficult to stand by the side of the Knights in such a cold night, but it would be different if they were standing next to the Knights' grandpas.

Because these knights' Grandpas had cultivated their battle spirit, they would involuntarily release energy to ward off the cold when the weather was cold. Lord Wesker was a general, so there was not much difference between standing by his side and standing by the heater. When they thought about it, they felt a little better at night. The two of them felt much more relaxed...

After accepting the arrangement, the two of them quickly found Wesker. At this time, Wesker was standing on a relatively large boulder at the front of the team, looking into the distance with a solemn expression...

"Lord..."the two of them hurriedly saluted after arriving.

Wesker looked at the two of them and smiled, "Oh, it's Jack..."

Seeing that the Lord still remembered his name, Jack smiled even more happily... ..

"What is the Lord looking at?"Black sheep quickly noticed that Wesker seemed to have something on his mind as he kept looking in the direction of the black stone forest.

Wesker paused for a moment and looked in the direction of the black stone forest. After hesitating for a few seconds, he finally lowered his voice and asked, "Look over there. Do you feel that something is wrong?"

The two of them were stunned when they heard that. They subconsciously looked over. It was flat. Other than the forest that was surrounded by fog in the distance, there was nothing else...

Seeing their expressions, Wesker sighed and jumped down from the stone. He did not actually see anything, but he felt that it was very out of place. However, he could not tell where it was at the moment...

“Let’s go over there to keep watch...”Wesker sighed, he was ready to call the two of them to leave. He planned to go to the middle of the crowd. He knew that his body could emit heat, so he also planned to go to a place with many people and try to take care of the cold soldiers.

However, at this moment, the black figure who was about to leave suddenly froze. He looked back at the stone forest in confusion.

Wesker was very sensitive to his actions and quickly asked, “Did you find anything?”

Jack looked at his partner speechlessly, thinking that this guy was not influenced by Yunchuan Kid and was planning to deliberately show off in front of the Lord, right. One had to know that although Wesker was close to the soldiers, he hated those who tried to impress others...

“Do you feel...”black sheep said in a daze, “That forest... seems to be... closer than when we set up camp in the afternoon?”

Closer?

Wesker’s body stiffened when he heard that. He immediately understood why he felt that it was against the rules... ..
