Chapter 581 Market Shock on campus (Part One)

Recently, the lord-tier players had been having a hard time. To outsiders, they had already obtained the tickets to begin their grand plans. Many new players envied them, especially those who could only move bricks and graze in the base.

However, only those who were part of it knew how difficult it was to start a business. Although it looked impressive to start a business, it was actually very difficult to move forward in the dark.

Firstly, there was the issue of the shops. Although the market had just opened, the competition was already very intense. If one wanted to occupy the market, they would have to rely on their research level and market positioning. For example, the first one that researched military grain pills.., they were currently taking advantage of the situation.

Meanwhile, even if the other players reacted, if they wanted to reorganize their research, they would not only be one step slower than the others, but they would not have enough manpower!

The lack of research manpower was a common problem for all the lords. Even the two leading forces like little cabbage and Pu Yunchuan did not have enough research personnel. The culture level of the natives was low, and it was rare for them to be literate, not to mention finding research assistants. This also led to the popularity of human mages, orc shamans, and witch doctors, after all, these people's ability to accept and learn was much better than ordinary people.

However, these types of jobs were already considered scarce in the new territories, especially the mages. They were all born nobles, and there might not even be a few in a large city in a human city. Every player had very few of them, this led to the fact that some people in the market could not buy them even if they offered 5,000 points.

Then, there were the top research talents. To put it bluntly, they were developers. Not everyone reacted as quickly as cabbages and others, running abroad to recruit top research personnel.

Most of the gazes were still focused on the high-level developers in the base. However, a big shot like this could take away at least one-third of a player's shares. They simply could not afford to hire a second one, this also led to the fact that many player lords only had one developer in their hands.

The recruitment of developers was also imminent...

As for the problems encountered when exploring the map, there were countless of them. This also caused the forums of Xing hai technologies to be extremely noisy. Grandpa Lu was gathering all kinds of information in front of the computer. Finally, he decided to write something useful before he ran out of money, write something useful first, so that your credibility is not affected by too much advertising.

With this in mind, he first wrote a piece of advice on the resource constraints of scientific research.

The title is very modest, but now his first-hand information and prediction in the base staged many myths, resulting in the post once issued, click rate broke 100,000!

“Because the forum has been too popular recently, Grandpa saw that all the Lords were greatly troubled, so I worked overtime and summarized some problems and suggestions. If you can help the Lords, please give me a good review!”

Now that the new dungeon had opened, any force that did not want to fall behind must have already started their own exploration journey. As the pioneer of the first exploration, it was definitely going to be a lot of trouble, today, let's first discuss the common problems encountered by the Lord players who could afford to rent shops. After that, Grandpa Lu would release a common article about exploration players as soon as possible.

Getting back to the main topic, let's get to the main topic.

First, the opening of the market. For the big bosses who could afford to rent shops, they would definitely want to occupy a market share. According to Grandpa Lu's statistics, there were not many players who were qualified to explore the market, as a result, the amount of business in the market was not enough for everyone to have soup to drink. A large portion of the big shots were probably losing money. Yesterday, Grandpa Lu saw many people discussing the issue of whether to give up.

However, Grandpa Lu's advice was to advise that it was best not to give up. Although the market in Gondolin was still small, as the first station in the game, if one could open up the market here, not to mention making money.., this was extremely important for your brand promotion and product development in the future!

Although it was a tough nut to crack, Grandpa Lu still suggested that you try your best to bite down on it.

Okay, now to sum up the problem, the first problem was the product opportunity. Grandpa Lu suggested that everyone should not blindly follow the trend of the market, they had to see if the civilization system they chose was suitable for that. For example, the current military grain pill market would definitely be very popular in the future. However, if they chose to focus on the origin plan civilization that focused on the mechanical civilization.., wouldn't it be nonsense for them to compete with other biological forces?

The grain market was indeed very big. However, there were hundreds of flowers blooming in the current civilization. As long as it was useful, there would be a market for any product. Magic scrolls, antibiotic potions, and magical beast mounts were all indispensable, including mechanical products. High-destructive firearms and convenient means of transportation for exploration in the wild were all very good directions...

Then, I would like to talk about the biggest problem of the current shortage of manpower. Almost all the major forces had this problem. Grandpa Lu would like to share my views.

In the long run, popularizing education and nurturing more educated people were the priorities of the long-term construction. Just by relying on the existing mages and shamans, the supply and demand would only become tighter and tighter. Of course, that was a matter for the future.., after all, establishing an education system and nurturing their own talents required a certain amount of time. It would not be able to solve the current urgent matter, but the long-term plan had to start making plans as soon as possible.

Next was the urgent need for population. Most of the developer players were currently in dire need of assistants that could help alleviate the pressure, but with the current quality of the Aboriginal culture., only shamans, witch doctors, and human mages were able to become assistants in a short period of time.

However, the number of assistants was indeed very limited. Grandpa didn't need to explain how shamans and witch doctors could be obtained. The many raids on the grasslands were probably the work of the big shots, grandpa, today, I will talk about another possible channel to obtain talents in this field: the Western Islands!

That's right, compared to the shamans of the orcs, the human mages were more adept at research and acceptance than the stubborn shamans of the orcs. This also caused the population of the mages in the base to be very tight, the chief mage of the Steel Martial Empire under the player [the little fairy with athlete's foot] was not even willing to make a move even if someone offered 10,000 points.

And according to the information that Grandpa had obtained from the history of the Steel Martial Empire, the number of mages in the Western Islands was far higher than the Steel Martial Empire. This was because the first emperor of the empire had only managed to pull in a group of Mage clans from the Western Islands to form an alliance, from that, the Empire was established. In other words, the birthplace of the mages was on the island!

Of course, this was only Grandpa's guess. Although it was a reasonable guess, if the situation was different from what Grandpa had said, Grandpa would not be responsible. This was just a deduction, whether everyone believed it or not...

However, Grandpa still suggested that everyone should organize a wave. Because the problem of insufficient manpower would probably continue for a long time, whether it was for himself or to speculate in a wave of human trafficking... * Cough Cough * * Cough Cough * . Grandpa advised you to hurry up. If you don't make it in time, don't regret it at that time...

Alright, after saying this grandpa, let's talk about the issue of the number of developers. Right now, the price of developers in the base was very high. I'm afraid that ordinary forces wouldn't be able to hire a second one, and I also want Grandpa., right now, most of the Lord tier players would definitely have empty spots for their companions.

There are only 10 spots, and to quickly unlock the technology tree, developers must join the players, on how to get new developers to join the players, Grandpa I see the forum discussion is very intense. Here, Grandpa, I have a suggestion...

Lu's suggestion was trending among the players almost the next day, and because of his suggestion, the C city school enrollment market suffered an unprecedented shock this year...

Chapter 582 611: Campus Recruitment Shock (middle)

In the online world, Xing Hai's gamers appeared to be very lively after the new dungeon was opened. However, this was only a small flop to the entire central China. Although Xing Hai had caused a huge wave in the PC online gaming world due to the leakage of videos and screenshots, as well as the innovative freestyle play method, it had caused a huge wave in the PC online gaming world. There were close to a million views, but this was actually nothing to the entire central China.

The reason why those penguins and netease paid so much attention to this game was because they valued the post-game market. However, now that there was only one game planning company's publicity, Galaxy's scope of influence was actually limited. In terms of traffic., it couldn't even be compared to a fresh meat that had just become popular.

Moreover, that was only within the gaming circle. For the real world, now that the new year had just passed, the hottest issue that deserved the attention of the society was: Spring Recruitment!

After the establishment of the D Ball Federation, although the population had decreased, due to the rise of artificial intelligence and the proliferation of university students, the employment situation was becoming more and more serious. This also made the annual school recruitment., all the university students were even more nervous than when the college entrance examination results were released!

At this time, in the C University campus, a student wearing thick lenses was sitting in front of a recruitment window called an shuo information.

The person interviewed was a middle-aged man in a high-end suit.

He looked at the somewhat dull man in front of him with a scrutinizing gaze and flipped through his resume.

"Xie Donglin? He's only 21 years old?"

The student hurriedly said nervously, "I... I studied... I studied earlier. I went to primary school at the age of five..."

"He didn't repeat his grade at the age of five and entered C University. His learning ability is not bad..."the other party nodded and directly skipped over some basic information to look at the professional introduction.

Proficient in Java, JavaScript, skilled in using Eclipse, node. JS SQL Server database, familiar with Tomcat; familiar with Servlet, JDBC, JSP, SQL, Struts, Spring, Hibernate and other frameworks; familiar with HTML5, CSS3, Ajax, jQuery and other ancient web front-end development technologies; familiar with the standardized software development process SDLC and PQA, understanding software engineering;

The other party looked at the other party and said, "Have you learned Ajax and jQuery, these ancient technologies?"

"Eh..."the student quickly nodded and said with a silly smile, "I have learned some. It is said that some enterprises still retain the old version of the web framework, and there is a certain market, so I have learned some..."

"Not bad..."the person nodded. "Your self-learning ability is quite strong..."

Hearing the other party's praise, Xie Donglin's heart was greatly excited. He had cultivated painstakingly for many years. When others played King of Glory, he was studying. When others fell in love, he was studying. Now, the heavens finally did not let down a person with a heart. He finally saw the results...

"Do you know our Anshuo Information?"

"A little..." Xie Donglin, who had already done his homework, hurriedly said, "Your company is an asset management solution provider that integrates software services, consulting services, cloud services, and data services. Its headquarters is in Shanghai. At the same time, it has subsidiaries/branches in Beijing, Shenzhen, C City, Xiamen, and Suzhou. It has more than 2,500 employees. The a-share listing code is 300380. Your Company's project coverage plan has been completed..." "..."

Xie Donglin looked at the other party, nodding his head in satisfaction, he said, "It seems that you've done your homework well and are better than many students. Nowadays, many university students only know how to invest in overseas companies. They have a look of confusion on their faces when it comes to companies that need to work. They don't even know what industry they are in. One look and you can tell that they don't have any plans. You're very good. How about this, when can you come to work?"

"I... I can come at any time! !" Xie Donglin said excitedly.

"Well..." the other party looked even more satisfied when he heard that. This attitude of his was very proper... ..

"How about this, you prepare yourself and report to my company's personnel department tomorrow. Do you know the company's address?"

Xie Donglin: "I know, I know!"

"Okay, wait there before nine o'clock tomorrow. Someone from the personnel department will come and register you... Okay, next!"

"Oh, okay, okay!" Xie Donglin was happily getting ready to leave when he suddenly thought of something and quickly asked, "I'm sorry, I forgot to ask. May I ask... how much is the salary?"

"Salary?" The other side was instantly amused. "You, a newcomer, still want a salary?" "It seems that you haven't understood the market. Go to the company and have an unpaid internship for half a year. However, our company is still very humane. At noon, there will be a ten yuan meal supplement. Those who live far away can apply for a three hundred yuan bus fare subsidy every month..." "..."

"Half... half a year?" Xie Donglin's expression froze... "..."

"Oh right, you don't have to wear a formal suit when you go to the company tomorrow. The company will give new employees a new suit worth five thousand yuan. Of course..." "..." "This suit isn't free. During the six-month internship period, if you don't meet the company's requirements and are fired, the suit can not be refunded. You have to compensate the suit's cost in full!"

Xie Donglin didn't even know how he got out of the talent zone. It was true that he didn't know much about the job market, but he didn't expect it to be so bad. His family wasn't rich, and his father worked in a large factory as a mechanic and electrician, after his mother was eliminated by the previous company, she was now helping him with the job of a nanny. The family lived in a 60-square-meter house in the county town. It was tight, and all these years, in order to pay for his education, his father couldn't even bear to buy a pack of dragons and phoenixes that cost seven yuan. He was just waiting for him to come out to work and reduce the burden on the family.

In fact, the family didn't expect him to earn a lot of money to supplement the family. As long as he could be self-sufficient, it was equivalent to reducing the burden on the family. The family could start saving money and prepare for the down payment for the child's future house.

In the end, what was he going to tell his family when he went back? He had found a job, but he still had to eat them for half a year?

How could he say that?

The most important thing was that he had to pay five thousand dollars for a new suit. If he was careless and got fired, his family would have to fork out a sum of money again. were college students nowadays so ridiculed?

At the thought of this, a sense of grievance welled up in Xie Donglin's heart. His eyes could not help but Blur. F * ck, he had learned to be a nerd for so many years. Was this the result?

Just as he couldn't help but want to find a quiet place to vent his anger, a soft and cute familiar voice suddenly sounded from behind him, "Brother, it's right there!"

F * ck, why would this kaka have someone come?

Xie Donglin hurriedly wiped his reddened eyes and pretended to walk out of the stone staircase by the side. He walked in the opposite direction of his dormitory, but in order to prevent outsiders from seeing his useless appearance.., he could only choose this direction.

"Hey, senior Xie Donglin, wait a moment! !"

Xie Donglin was stunned. The person who came actually knew him?

Just as he was puzzled, the female voice continued, "Brother, this is the god-level genius of our computer science department. He is proficient in various development languages and frameworks. The thesis he wrote about data mining and the revolution of the basic algorithms and matrices of the new era's sixth generation languages has even been published in the Imperial Capital Journal!"

"Oh, good, good, good! !"The person nodded in surprise and quickly walked up. "Boss, please wait!"

Xie Donglin steadied himself and turned to look. The girl who spoke had a ponytail and was dressed neatly. He had some impression that she was a member of their computer science research club, Zheng Jie. He had never seen the man beside him. From his attire, he did not look like a student.

"I don't dare to be a big shot..."Xie Donglin suppressed his disappointment and tried his best to squeeze out a forced smile. "Is there something you need me for?"

"It's like this. I heard that big shot is looking for a job? How is it now? Do you have a direction?"The man quickly asked.

The smile that Xie Donglin had just squeezed out immediately froze for a moment. After being stunned for a while, he forced a smile and said, "Ah... I just found one. He works at an Shuo information. I'm considering whether to go..."

"An Shuo information? It's a big company. Brainiac, you're really amazing!"The girl with a ponytail said with envy, "A few seniors and seniors in my group are still trying to invest in it. The Big Boss was actually taken in by a listed company so quickly!"

"What are you trying to fool me for?"The square-faced man turned around and glared at the girl. "What's so good about a listed company? The salary isn't high and it's tiring. 996 doesn't give overtime pay. It's a scam for newcomers..."

Xie Donglin sighed and thought to himself, "What's overtime pay? I'm not even going to pay her!"

"My friend..."Xie Donglin looked at the other party and said, "Why are you looking for me?"

"Oh, it's like this, student Xie Donglin. I'm in need of a talent like you. Are you interested in coming to work for me?"

"Eh?"Xie Donglin was stunned for a moment and asked subconsciously, "What for?"

"Playing games!"

Xie Donglin:"..."

Chapter 583: the market

"Playing video games?"Not to mention Xie Donglin, even the girl with a ponytail was dumbfounded. She glanced at her brother and wondered if his head was stuck in the door?

You came here to look for a substitute trainer, but you still want to look for a straight-a student? Are you crazy?

Xie Donglin also smiled bitterly. When he heard that he was going to work, he thought that he really had a job. He graduated from 985 and went out to train for a substitute trainer? What was he doing studying for so many years?

Seeing the disappointed expression on the other party's face, the person hurriedly said, "A monthly salary of 30,000, including food and accommodation!"

When these words came out, Xie Donglin was so shocked that the resume in his hand almost flew out of his hand.

Was substitute training so rampant now?

The girl with a ponytail was also dumbfounded, after being stunned for a while, she hugged her brother's arm. "Brother, if you want to find someone to play games, look for me. What are you looking for, a straight-a student? Are you looking for a promotion in the competition or an RPG to farm equipment? Your sister, I'm good at it. These nerds can't play this kind of thing! !"

"Go Away!" The square-faced man pushed the other party to the side in disgust. "Your family sent you to college and you're addicted to the Internet every day. Now that the employment situation is so grim, I want to see what you'll do when you graduate!"

As he said that, he looked at Xie Donglin's side. "Big Brother, are you interested?"

Xie Donglin: "..."

These two guys... : "...". Are they here to trick me?

Seeing Xie Donglin's suspicious look, the man seemed to have expected it, he smiled as he took out a document, "This is the contract of our company. You can take it back and take a look. If you think it's suitable, you can contact me!" As he said that, he handed over a business card.

Xie Donglin took it and looked at it. Monarch era's General Manager: Ye Xuanguan!

This name... .. It had the demeanor of an online gaming guild... ..

"Regarding the treatment and obligations, it is written on it. If you feel that any of the terms are unclear, you can call me at any time. Classmate, our company's projects are very marketable. This is a rare opportunity, I advise you to consider it carefully..." . ..

Xie Donglin took the contract in a daze when he heard that. He did not regain his senses until the other party left, he only heard the coquettish voice of the ponytailed girl from afar. "Brother... Give me a chance. I'm serious. I don't want 30,000. I only want 15,000, okay?"

"You? You Don't want it even if I give it away. Do you know how expensive the quota is now? Hurry up and move aside!"

Quota? What quota?

Xie Donglin looked at the contract in his hand and thought to himself: Is it some kind of prank?

Back to the dormitory, Xie Donglin saw his three roommates like a dead dog general collapsed on the bed, it seems to be a big blow.

Xie Donglin carefully put the contract into his resume file bag, slowly walked in, looked at the three dead dogs curiously asked: "What's wrong? A listless look?"

"I feel that this world is full of malice!" A man in the upper left corner of the bed covered his face and said, "Are the requirements for recruiting new people so high these days? "To know this language, that technology, and to have this certificate and that certificate, is this really recruiting new students? "Do they know what the three words 'new students' mean?"

Another man also complained, "That's right. If you say that it's a big company, then forget it. F * ck, I'm interviewing for that third-rate small company today. I've never even heard of the name of the company. The way I talk is like a boss. I want to be skilled and have a strong ability to withstand pressure. Ask my boss if he has an urgent project that requires me to work overtime for a month. How will you respond?"

"What do you think?"The people around him quickly asked.

"I said yes, just pay me overtime. In the end, he directly threw my resume back and said the next person! "I have a monthly salary of two thousand yuan. I just asked for overtime pay, and this B * Stard threw my resume away. F * ck his Grandpa!"! !"

"You actually have a salary of two thousand yuan?"Xie Donglin's spirit was roused. "What company? where is the Window? I'll go and Try?"

"I'll go, it can't be..."that person rolled his eyes at Xie Donglin and said, "God Xie, you're the Ace of C University's computer. What is this dog doing when it sees bones? Can you endure 2,000 yuan?"

"I can!"Xie Donglin nodded repeatedly and said, "I took a look. The coffin apartment in the North District of C City only needs 600 a month. After deducting the fare, it should be enough to live on..."

"F * ck..."that person immediately jumped up, he gritted his teeth and said, "It's because of you guys that those unscrupulous companies are so unscrupulous to exploit us! Dogs, if you get used to bending your knees, you won't be able to stand up. We have to be united!"

"We also want to eat!"Xie Donglin rolled his eyes at the other party and slowly climbed onto his bed.

Next to another roommate took over the conversation: "Your family is rich, but can be so arrogant, can we be the same?"? Especially Xie. Do you think we want to? If we had any other choice, do you think we'd let those black-hearted dogs take advantage of us?"

Other options?

Xie Donglin on the bunk stared blankly, then looked at his file bag, hesitated for a while and finally took it out.

In an office building in Jiangbei, C city...

"Brother Sheng? How was it today? How many newbies did you recruit?"A man in a suit had just returned to the office when a group of colleagues asked him.

"None. I threw away all my resumes..."the man loosened his tie and said.

"Wow, brother Sheng is so domineering!"A slightly plump man next to him laughed and said, "The leader's mission this time is to recruit ten new graduates who are developing backstage. It's best if there are a few spare ones. How will you explain it later if you don't recruit one?"

"Isn't there still a few days left?"That person nonchalantly threw the document bag on the table. He sat on the chair and drank the goji berry water in the thermos glass. "Are you still afraid that all the university students will be recruited? When did this thing become a rare thing?"

"That's true..."that person nodded, but then he said, "But there isn't anyone that you like?"

“It’s not that there aren’t any, it’s just that his attitude isn’t very upright. He asked if he could adapt to the high-intensity overtime work, but in the end, he said that overtime pay would be enough. He’s just a newbie with no results, yet he asked for overtime pay? These students nowadays... “...”

Everyone nodded one after another with a look of deep agreement, but it seemed that they had forgotten that a few years ago, they were just a university student who only asked for a living wage...

“Yanagi! !”

Just as he was lamenting the quality and awareness of today’s college students, a dignified-looking middle-aged man suddenly knocked on the door.

“Yan general?” That person hurriedly stood up, a face is respectful.

“I need you in the office...”

“Good Yan! !”

Entering the private office, Yan gestured for the other party to close the door and cut to the chase. “I heard from the technical department that you confiscated a resume this morning?”

“Sigh...” Liu Sheng quickly smiled apologetically, “I’m just respecting the company’s intention to strictly check it out, right?”

Director Yan frowned, “But I heard from Old Wang from the technical department that there were a few very good students who were interviewed today. They answered technical questions very fluently and knew a lot of things. They were not inferior to programmers who had worked for two or three years. You threw away your resume for such a seedling?”

“That’s still a newcomer...” Liu Sheng quickly said, “We can’t really talk about it as a technician with two or three years of work experience, right? Director Yan, don’t worry. There are a lot of university students like this now. I guarantee to complete the task within three days!”

Seeing the other party’s confident look, director Yan’s brows furrowed even deeper. He did not know when it started, but many companies’ human resources took the honor of squeezing out the benefits and benefits of their employees, although saving the company’s human cost was also a human resources task, but he felt that the ethos was getting more and more outdated recently.

What unpaid internship for half a year, unpaid 996, delaying the transfer period, and some companies, in order to squeeze their employees, they took a few hundred dollars worth of suits and said that it was five thousand dollars worth of suits to give to the employees, demanding that after the transfer period, they repay it in installments...

All kinds of tricks came out one after another. Although this made the company’s books look better and better, the loyalty of the employees was becoming more and more fragile. More and more people were jumping ship, especially in the past, a large number of programmers in City C had resigned, including several old programmers in their company. When the company called, they found that their numbers had been blocked.

He did not know the reason for this, but he always felt that if the company did not treat its employees so harshly, at least they would give an explanation if someone else wanted to leave...

He looked at the other party and said seriously, "Liu Sheng, the technical department has been lacking people for a long time because of the last resignation incident. Our project's progress can not be affected. You'd better not make any mistakes in this recruitment!"

"Rest assured Yan General, tomorrow will give you all the people recruited!" Liu Sheng patted the chest to guarantee.

Out of the office after Liu Sheng secretly pursed his lips, still a face of disapproval, he naturally knew what Yan was worried about, in his view this is a blind worry.

C city, there are more than a dozen local schools, and computer is a popular major, at least thousands of graduates every year, with the current market companies can not digest the gap.

Their companies could only be considered third-rate enterprises in C city, but didn't they disdain to recruit students from some trash second-tier schools such as industrial and commercial schools?

How could they be in the mood to recruit second-tier students when they were struggling to pick heavy capital?

As for the problem of squeezing, the current market was this market. All their peers were doing it. If they didn't do it, where would their performance come from? The conditions on his side were considered good. He still had 2,000 basic salary. He had seen many companies listing as unpaid half-year internships yesterday!

He decided to reduce his salary to 1,000 tomorrow and start recruiting again. If he did not recruit 10 people by 12 o'clock in the afternoon, he would eat shit while standing on his head...

This new President Yan looked like he did not know anything at all. He just happened to give him a lesson and teach him what the market was... ..

Chapter 584 where is the person?

Party A: King over the World Group, legal representative: Ye Xu

In order to establish labor relations and clarify rights and obligations, this contract shall be concluded on the basis of equality, voluntariness, and consensus in accordance with the relevant provisions of the labor law contract of the federation...

Xie Donglin looked at the beginning of the standard contract and was slightly stunned. He thought to himself, "That group's self-proclaimed name...". ... Is it serious? Hello? Hello?

First, the term of this contract will be from XX year, XX month, XX Day of the Federation to XX year, XX month, XX Day of the Federation. The trial period will be one month. Trial Conditions: master the basic application of the race named [developer] in the game, and complete the basic knowledge training of the race. If the adaptation is slow, it can be extended to two months:. Note:. (salary will be paid as usual during the trial period. The trial salary is 20,000 one month. The company will take care of the food and accommodation during the internship period.)

Article 2: according to the work needs of party A, during the period of conversion, party B will be responsible for completing all the research projects assigned by party A. The conversion salary will be 30,000, increasing by 20% every six months, additional bonuses and commissions can be obtained according to the progress of the project.

Article 3: Working Hours and rest, social insurance, labor protection, labor conditions and occupational hazard protection in accordance with laws, regulations and other provisions!

Article 4: both parties shall terminate or terminate the labor contract in accordance with legal procedures, party A for party B to terminate, terminate the labor contract notice or relevant certificates. In accordance with federal laws and regulations, pay party B economic compensation.

Article 5: After the five-year contract expires, party B can choose whether to continue the contract or not, but if the contract is renewed, party B can get a share of the shares of the group according to his contribution, and be promoted to partner status! !

After Xie Donglin finished reading it, he was in disbelief and read it eight times from beginning to end. He could not see any traps at all. The main reason was... ! The rules of the entire contract were too simple and crude!

Moreover, the treatment and benefits were also simple and crude. The intern's salary was 20,000 yuan, and he was promoted to the top 30,000 yuan. Furthermore, the salary would increase by 20% in half a year? He could be promoted to a partner in five years?

This was F * * king... a contract from his grandfather's generation, right?

When he was young, he had heard his grandfather sigh. In his era, although the pressure of employment was already great, the workers still had the backbone.

At that time, young people had to work overtime to earn a reasonable wage. Big companies had five insurance policies and one gold. During holidays like National Day and the spring festival, overtime was paid three times. Those who praised 996 would be despised by the masses, even if that big boss ma said that 996 was a blessing, he would also be attacked by the Internet. Although it was useless to attack, at least he was not as powerless as he was now. Moreover, there were rumors of university graduates earning several hundred thousand dollars a year... ..

Xie Donglin calculated the salary on this contract. One month of internship, 30,000 yuan. If there was still some bonus, it could be said to be an annual salary of 400,000 yuan, right?

In this current market, a new graduate earning 400,000 federal dollars a year? This could be recorded in the history books of C University, right?

Was the substitute training so rampant now?

However, the only thing that made Xie Donglin puzzled was the explanation of the nature of the job in the contract. At the beginning, the conditions of the internship were still very understandable. What was familiar with the basic application of race? It sounded like a game, but what the hell was the scientific research project after that?

After hesitating for a while, Xie Donglin finally decided to pick up his phone and dialed the number on it. With a salary of 30,000, let alone playing games, it was worth a try to pick up feces...

"Hello, President Ye?"

"Oh... It's god Xie? Have you thought it through?" On the other end of the phone, ye Xuanguan's face lit up. This was already the fifth call from a top student. Grandpa Lu's method was really effective.

"May I ask, President Ye, your studio... ahem, ahem, where is your group located?"

"Oh, Guanyin Bridge, 11th floor, Tower B of Lang Qing Square. It's very easy to find. God Xie, are you coming over now?"

Guanyin Bridge? Lang Qing Square? Hearing this place, Xie Donglin felt even more relieved. In C City, Guanyin Bridge was almost the busiest commercial street. The traffic of the office buildings there was unusually large. If it was some organization that wanted to murder people, they wouldn't have set up such an eye-catching location...

Thinking of this, he took a deep breath and said, "If it's convenient for President Ye, I'd like to come over now to take a look..."

After hanging up the phone, his roommates came over sneakily. Xie Donglin, who was about to rush over, was stunned. He looked at them and asked, "What are you doing?"

"A big boss is a big boss. You already have a job so soon?" One of his roommates asked with a smile.

"I'm not sure. I still have to go over and take a look at the situation. I might not be able to do it..." Xie Donglin said as he put on his shoes.

"You're too modest, God. Oh right, God Xie, what company is it? Can you tell us?"

"King's Landing Glory World..."

"Damn... is its name so domineering? What does it do specifically? Finance or cloud data?"

"It's a game for practice..."

"Oh... game... What?" A few of his roommates were stunned. However, Xie Donglin did not have the time to argue with them. He hurriedly walked out of the door.

After a few of his roommates had left, they finally reacted and said with a confused look, "Damn, even a god has been reduced to playing substitute training. Then what are we going to do? Pick up feces?"

"I wish..." another roommate rolled his eyes and said, "My father's generation was doing hard labor to earn money. In second-tier cities, the monthly salary of moving bricks was 10,000. Now, there are robots everywhere. The high-paying job of picking up feces has long disappeared..."

"Oh my God... I've been living in the cold for 20 years, and I'm not even good enough to carry bricks? This World... Let Me Live..."

“Liu Sheng, you promised President Yan yesterday, Ha. Let me tell you, the company has set a deadline of next year for several major projects. With that little manpower now, we won’t be able to finish them even after the next year. If we don’t hire more people, we won’t be the project manager anymore. Whoever wants to do it will do it!”

“Old Wang...”. “... Don’t be so excited.” “...” Liu Sheng said leisurely while eating his noodles, “It’s not like you didn’t see the scene yesterday. As long as we’re willing, a dozen or so newbies won’t be a problem.” “? You have to understand that in the current market, it’s us who pick them, not them who pick us. Are you afraid that no one will pick us in the market?” “? Don’t worry, I’ll definitely find someone you’re satisfied with today!”

“Hehe...” the bald middle-aged man called Old Wang said with a face full of disapproval. “Don’t be so full of yourself. Previously, you also patted your chest and promised to recruit Pu Yunchuan and the other elders back. What happened in the end?”

Once this topic was brought up, Liu Sheng, who was eating noodles, suddenly choked.

A few days ago, programmers had resigned in large numbers. The entire market had been in turmoil. Their company had also suffered a loss. At that time, he had also patted his chest and promised to persuade Pu Yunchuan and the others back, he had made a phone call and painstakingly told the other party that it was difficult to find a job now. He had asked the other party not to take his job and be willful. In the end, he had even generously said that he could ask for an increase of 1,000 yuan in salary. 1,000 yuan!

In the end, that fellow had directly cursed a retard and hung up the phone. He had even blacklisted him. This was simply outrageous! ! !

At the thought of this, Liu Sheng said with a gloomy face, “This group of Baldies really take themselves seriously. Do they think that the company won’t change without them? Nowadays, there are many young people who are diligent and eager to learn. Isn’t it still the same to hire a group of qualified young people for two months of training? Isn’t it better than this group of old programmers? Each and every one of them is in their thirties. If they were in a big company, they would have been eliminated a long time ago. If they were given face, they wouldn’t want it. Just wait and see. There will be a time when they regret it...” “...” Liu Sheng said as he took a deep breath.

Old Wang rubbed his bald head with a dark face and looked at him gloomily.

“Don’t misunderstand. I’m not talking about you, Old Wang...”

“HMPH!” Old Wang snorted coldly and looked at him faintly. “But it’s already ten o’clock. The recruitment window of C University has already been occupied. You are still leisurely here. How Do you plan to recruit people?”

“Sigh, I told you not to be anxious...”. Liu Sheng returned to his previous leisurely smile and said, “I contacted the teacher of C University and asked him to introduce the best seedlings in their computer science department. We’ll open the back door directly. Isn’t it better than going to the recruitment field and panning for gold?”

“Yo, you have such connections?”

“Sigh, how can I not have some connections for a living?” Xie Donglin said proudly.

“OK... . Whatever you can get people to say... .” Lao Wang curled his lips. Although I don’t agree with this guy’s idea of looking down on technicians, as long as he can get things done, he doesn’t care. After all, this plan sounds quite reliable...

But it’s also because they were late today and didn’t go to the campus sign window that they can be so relaxed. If they were on the job site now, they wouldn’t think like this at all...

On the second day of the spring recruitment, many HR personnel at the window of C University were as well-dressed as they were yesterday, still waiting for these top students to line up and present their resumes, wondering what excuse to use today to continue beating this group of children who have not experienced social beatings?

But as the minutes and seconds passed, these HR suddenly felt something was wrong. The windows of the administrative, planning, or content sections of those recruiting clerks were still fine, but they were still as busy as yesterday, however, the engineering department, especially those who were looking for computers, suddenly felt that the situation was a little abnormal...

“Hasn’t the notice been sent yet?” A few HR personnel looked at the windows of their colleagues around them and looked at the scattered people. They couldn’t help but be stunned.

Where are they?

Chapter 585: How is this possible?

“This is?” After arriving at the agreed location, Xie Donglin spent a lot of effort to find the so-called King’s Landing Glory World Group on the 11th floor of Lang Qing Square!

To be honest, it was not that he had never seen such a shabby studio. When he was an intern in his third year, he had seen a few entrepreneurs who rented three rooms and a living room in their neighborhood. They had converted the living room into an office space, and there were clothes hanging on the balcony.

However, it was not like the current situation where there were no windows. In broad daylight, they actually had to rely on fluorescent lighting!

This was probably a place to store sundries in the past, right?

However, he looked familiar with the few people inside. It seemed that they were all from C University, especially the one with the thick lens on the far left. He had a good impression of them. They were called Hu Kaifeng. He was recognized as a god in the physics department, he was extremely famous in C University. It was said that Professor Liu, who had helped him write several theses, was highly regarded by the other party. Originally, the other party had the ability to get a phd from Tsinghua University, in the end, the other party promised that as long as he chose to study at this university and continued to help write his thesis, he would help recommend him to stay in the university to teach!

The other party did not think for long and agreed. After all, it was difficult to get a job now, and Tsinghua University was not a rare thing. In comparison, a lecturer recommendation from a major university was more attractive!

So this guy chose to stay at C University to study for his phd. He helped this Liu write his thesis for four to five years, and in the end... In the end, the lecturer position at the university was taken by his young mistress... ..

The ridiculous thing was that the young mistress was his girlfriend when he was studying for his second phd!

Who could tolerate this? At that time, he could not help but start a fight in the campus bar. This matter caused a stir, and the relevant departments specially came to do an investigation. In the end, Liu was fired from his job because he asked a gunman to write for him, and this big shot did not end well either. Because he had helped someone become a ghostwriter, he had been expelled from the school due to moral issues. Moreover, on the day he moved out of the dormitory, he seemed to have been blocked by his young mistress at the door and scratched his face...

This matter had happened just before the New Year. The Gossip index was still very hot, and even he, who did not care much about gossip, had eaten Bogua. He did not expect to meet the main character of the gossip today!

“Come, let me introduce you,”ye Xuguan said with a smile. “These are your seniors from C University. They are all elites. This is student Sun Xiaolin from the chemistry department, Wei Jiaming from the electromechanical department, and Hu Kaifeng from the physics department!”

It really was Hu Kaifeng...

Xie Donglin was stunned. Hu Kaifeng was not the only one. The others were all well-known and were all big shots in their respective departments. Although he had never seen them before, he had more or less heard of them...

Then, he looked at the other party and could not help but ask, “Director Ye? Are You... really hiring a substitute?”

Ye Xu was stunned for a moment. Then, he looked at the other party and said, “Who said that I’m hiring a substitute?”

After saying this, the rest of the people were also stunned. Hu Kaifeng stammered, “But... but didn’t you say that you were playing games before?”

“Playing games is playing games... but it’s not a substitute...”the other party wanted to explain, but then he felt that it wasn’t very easy to explain, so he simply took out the contract and said, “Anyway, the work is in the game, and I’ve already bought the game pod...”as he said that, he pointed to the back, when everyone heard that, they looked over and really saw the neatly arranged game pods, and they were all the latest models.

These latest models cost hundreds of thousands of yuan each. The few of them immediately nodded. Although the office was a little shabby, the equipment was still very good. As expected, it was a professional substitute training...

However, the problem came. If they weren't looking for godly players to train with, why would they look for engineering dogs like them?

Looking at everyone's puzzled expressions, Ye Xu didn't explain further. If he explained now, the other party probably wouldn't believe him either. When they entered the game, everything would be easier to talk about, then, he took out the contract and said, "I'm sure all of you have seen the contract before you came. There are two copies in a row. Everyone can take a look again. If there are no problems, you can sign it now and start working!"

Everyone took the contract and compared it with the one in their hands. They found that there was no difference and couldn't help but be stunned. Although the other party's behavior was very strange, this contract was solid...

"Then... may I ask President Ye, when will our company pay?" Xie Donglin asked carefully.

"Our company pays salaries on the fifth of every month. Of course, considering that you're all new students, it's not easy, so the company can advance your salary for a month..."

An advance? Are you serious? What kind of boss is that now?

Everyone suddenly became excited, especially Xie Donglin, who had to ask his family for living expenses again at the beginning of this month, but if he could get a salary now, he could not only start to rely on himself immediately, and maybe take some of the burden off the family...

"Of course it's true, after signing the contract, you can transfer the money immediately..." Ye Xu said with a smile, "Is there anything else you want to ask?"

Without saying anything else, everyone picked up the pen and quickly wrote their names on the contract.

Xie Donglin suddenly felt a tremor at his waist as he lifted the pen. He immediately took out his phone to take a look. When he saw the caller ID, he quickly picked up the phone. "Hello, teacher Bai?"

"Hey, Donglin, where are you now?"

Xie Donglin: "I'm outside. Is there anything I can help you with?"

"Oh, I just wanted to ask you how your job search is going. If it's not going well, I have a recommendation for you. The person who is looking for you is also your former senior brother from C University."

"Oh, really?" Xie Donglin was stunned for a moment. In the end, he decided to ask. After all, the job in front of him seemed to be very well-paid, but there was a hint of weirdness in it. If he could find a more normal job, he might consider it.

"This company is called Hong Kong and Macao people. They are looking for software engineers, which is very suitable for your major. I showed the other party your information, and he expressed that he was very satisfied. If you are willing, you can work at his company tomorrow."

"How much is the salary?" Xie Donglin asked.

The other party was silent for a moment, and then said, "The salary is two thousand for the time being. Of course, this is the salary of an internship. There will be a great change after the transfer."

"Then how long will the transfer take?"

"Half a year, it's usually..."

"Do you need to work overtime?"

"Look at what you're saying, how can a program ape not work overtime?"

"Then do you give overtime pay?"

"Donglin, teacher, what did I teach you? You just came out of society, so you should focus on learning and accumulating yourself instead of staring at those two small sums of money. You should take a long-term view..."

Xie Donglin's face twitched when he heard that on the other end of the phone. His grandfather didn't believe in this kind of chicken soup, so he sighed and directly signed his name on the contract, he said to the other end of the phone, "Uh, it's like this, teacher. I've already found a job here. Forget about your side, I've Troubled You..."

"Eh? Found It? Why didn't you say so just now?"

"I'm just comparing it, right?" Xie Donglin said honestly.

"Eh, Donglin, teacher wants to tell you that you have to be careful when looking for a job. Don't be obsessed with the initial salary. The first job is very important to freshmen like you. Everything must be based on accumulating solid experience. Those small companies may seem to offer a little salary, but in fact, it will greatly delay your future..." "..."

Xie Donglin was expressionless. "Teacher, I think this place is pretty good. If there's nothing else, I'll hang up first. The contract is still being signed here..."

On the other end of the phone, the Old Baldy surnamed Bai looked at Liu Sheng and Liu Sheng. As the phone was quite loud, the two of them heard it clearly. Liu Sheng frowned and immediately made a hand gesture that they could discuss.

Teacher Bai nodded knowingly and quickly said, "How about this, Donglin? How Much is your salary? I can help you fight for it..."

Xie Donglin: "30,000..."

"Oh, 30... 30,000?" Teacher Bai almost choked. He frowned and said, "Donglin, I'm talking to you. Be Serious."

"It is indeed 30,000..." Xie Donglin replied innocently. Then, he saw that everyone around had handed over the contract. He did not dare to delay and hurriedly said, "Then that's it, teacher Bai. I'm busy here. I'll hang up First!"

"Hey, wait, Donglin..."

Du Du...

Teacher Bai stared blankly at the phone and did not know what to say for a moment, Liu Sheng, on the other hand, laughed and said, "Thirty thousand? Why didn't he say 300 million? What's wrong with these students now? Do they not take their future seriously?"

Teacher Bai opened his mouth, not knowing what to say.

Liu Sheng sighed, then he said, "Forget it, teacher Bai. How about this? Our company can't afford your introduction of this great Buddha. Why don't you introduce some ordinary ones? There's no need for them to be top students, as long as they are relatively outstanding in the Computer Science Department."

Liu Sheng also understood the market. Ever since the rise of intelligence, many traditional industries had fallen behind. However, the computer science industry had become more and more popular. This had resulted in many of the computer science departments in their respective schools receiving exceptionally high marks. Take C University as an example., if one did not score 680 points in the college entrance examination, they would not be able to enter at all. If they had scored 680 points in science, they would be able to strive for top-tier schools like the North Qing Fu Jiao University if they changed majors!

Therefore, anyone who could get into the computer science department of C University would at least have good learning ability. As long as they didn't have four years of experience, they should have a solid foundation and could use any random training.

Teacher Bai nodded and made another call...

About half an hour later...

After hanging up the last call, teacher Bai looked at the other party and said with a strange expression, "This... seems to have a direction..."

Liu Sheng and old Wang sat on the chairs in a daze. It took them a long time to react.

"How is this possible?"

Chapter 586 the Coders who were snatched away (laugh for the alliance leader, but still frown!)

"Teacher Bai, is... is it really gone?" Liu Sheng asked with a dull expression.

The teacher surnamed Bai looked at the other party's expression and felt inexplicably amused. He actually felt a sense of satisfaction. After all, all these years, the attitude of the company towards the students they nurtured was like picking cabbages from the streets.

Although there were more and more undergraduate students these years, the quality of the students they had nurtured was getting higher and higher. The seedlings that they had painstakingly nurtured were devalued by others to the point that they were worthless. Being a gardener actually made them feel uncomfortable.

At this moment, professor Bai shrugged and said, "There are a total of 314 graduates from our computer science department this year. I've already contacted the students who have chosen my course all year round in front of you just now. There really aren't any more. How about... Why Don't you go next door to Professor Huang?"

Liu Sheng:" ..."

On the way back, Liu Sheng behind the old Wang face gloomy, but did not say anything sarcastic words, silent for a long time before asking: "Now what to Do?"

Yanagi heart is also fidgety, feel F * * King intruding ghost, this kind of thing can meet?

"Now we can only come early tomorrow to fight for the window seat. Let's lower the price a little this time..."Liu Sheng sighed and compromised, his tone no longer as arrogant as before. ...

Now he knew to lower the conditions. Old Wang was fuming in his heart. Originally, he had seen quite a few students who submitted their resumes yesterday, and they were all pretty good...

Just as he was thinking about it, a sharp voice suddenly came from afar, "Hey, isn't that director Liu?"

Liu Sheng's footsteps froze, and he immediately turned back to look. When he saw the person who came, his heart inexplicably sank. That person was a colleague of his former company. In his current situation, he didn't want to meet his former colleague.

I should deal with it as soon as possible... Liu Sheng thought to himself.

"Director Liu, long time no see!"A middle-aged man in a suit with a straight face walked over quickly.

Most of the people in the HR industry had decent looks. A square face like Liu Sheng's with a bit of dignity was the most popular.

"I haven't been in the Anxin Group for many years. Forget about the director..."Liu Sheng hurriedly waved his hand.

"Didn't you bring this up by yourself? Are you used to shouting?"That person smiled gently and asked, "Director Liu, I saw you walking out of the teacher's office just now. Is there any backdoor?"

Sure enough, there was no good intention to curry favor for no reason...

Director Liu laughed coldly in his heart, but his face did not change as he smiled and said, "It's not considered a backdoor. I went to see a former teacher of mine and tried to pull some connections with him to get a few juniors with good conditions into the company..."

"Oh?"That person's eyes lit up when he heard that, then, he leaned closer and said in a low voice, "As expected of director Liu, you actually have such connections. Director, this little brother's recruitment today did not go well. Do you have any extra candidates over there? Help two of them so that I can go back and report to them..."

"Huh?"Liu Sheng was stunned when he heard that and looked at him strangely. "Me helping you? You really know how to joke..."

"I'm not joking!" The other party quickly said, "You really are a bad person. You also know about the programmer's inexplicable resignation some time ago, right? "Our leader has set a hard target this time. We must recruit 20 people, and I've only recruited four in total... "Moreover, there was a call in the afternoon saying that he couldn't come "..."

"It can't be?" Liu Sheng was stunned. "Your Company's conditions won't be able to recruit people?"

"I don't know what's going on either!" That person looked around and said in a low voice, "Yesterday, there were so many people, but today, it's completely different. There aren't many people, and the few who come are all that kind of hooligans. The kind of hooligans who can't answer any of the technical staff's questions. One look and you can tell that they've been playing King's glory for four years..." "..."

Liu Sheng's heart sank and he quickly asked, "How did this happen?"

"How would I know?" That person sighed and said, "It wasn't until the end of the recruitment in the afternoon that we felt that something was wrong and didn't dare to be picky. Three or five families had already snatched all those hooligans..."

"You guys want this too?"

"Sigh, we can't help it. It's the police. If they can get into C University's computer science department, at least their learning ability won't be too bad. It's just that the foundation is lacking and the training will take more effort..." that person shook his head and sighed, then, he said, "Tomorrow, we're all planning to go to the University of post and submit to a few universities to set up windows..."

Liu Sheng swallowed his saliva when he heard that. His heart suddenly felt cold. Even a large company like an Xin had to go to a second university to recruit people. Then wouldn't his side... ..

"Oh right, director Liu, help this little brother out. If you have any good seedlings on your side, help two of them over. Let this little brother go back, at least my books will look better than the other colleagues..."

"i. . ." Yanagi smiled wryly and thought to himself, "You still have four. It's a question whether I can recruit anyone now." . . .

He couldn't imagine how he would face the dark face of President Yan. . .

Can somebody tell me what the hell is going on?

General Base, XI night looked at the new influx of game population data, secretly wry smile shook his head.

Due to Grandpa Lu's bad idea, many players had set their eyes on the spring recruitment market. In order to control the situation back then, he had basically set the recruitment scope at City C, but in the end... ..

There were over a thousand players in the base who had met the requirements of a Lord. Although most of the requirements were simple, it did not stop them from recruiting their own researchers first.

Moreover, Grandpa Lu's five-year contract renewal made many lords lower the risk of their shares...

These more than a thousand lords were basically people from city c. the average number of recruits was 7.5. In total, almost eight thousand new players had entered the base.

This caused the outstanding engineering graduates from City C to be swept away, especially those from the computer science department.

In a civilized system, whether it was mechanical, biological, or arcane, computer programming talents were indispensable, especially now that there were not enough people, if they could develop a private force's artificial intelligence, the efficiency of scientific research would be greatly improved.

But the problem was that there were only so many computer students in City C who graduated in a year, and there were even fewer outstanding ones. How could they withstand the crazy competition from these dog lords? In just one day, all the computer science graduates from City C's Best University of Science and Technology, C University, had been dug up.

Of course, there were still some left. Just like what HR had said before, those hoodlums who had played King's glory for four years were naturally not considered.

And these were the Lords who reacted faster. Those players who reacted so slowly that they did not even manage to grab the soup, had already started to make their moves on mail or Jiaojiao University, which were two of the schools in City C that had fairly good results in science...

The computer science department of these two schools also had a score of over 620 points. Along with the developer's bloodline, it shouldn't be a big problem for them to become computer science researchers.

With this, the disadvantages of the players concentrating on City C had appeared!

If this recruitment was placed on a nationwide scale, it would probably not even be worth a single blow. However, if it was concentrated in one city... It would cause quite a stir...

I hope it won't cause too much of a stir... ∴ Seer thought helplessly.

Chapter 587 all part-time workers...

"Yes, chairman Zhou, I will try my best to handle the matter well..."

In the office building, director Yan assured the phone with an apologetic smile on his face. After hanging up the phone, he looked at Liu Sheng and the others and his expression instantly turned terrifyingly cold. "Liu Sheng, you said that three days have passed. Where are the people you promised?"

Liu Sheng's face was pale as he lowered his head. He completely lost the air of being in complete control of the situation from before...

After that day, on the second day, he reacted and gathered all his colleagues. Not only C University, but the other engineering schools had also set up windows...

However, it was clearly too late. A large number of outstanding freshmen had inexplicably disappeared. No matter how hard he tried, he could not contact them. Due to the previous incident of resignation, a large number of companies had sent out staff. Under such circumstances... The next day, all the students who had anything to do with computer science were swept away by the major companies. For a third-rate company like him, let alone soup, he did not even get a fresh bite of SH * t...

At this moment, Liu Sheng's head was lowered like a woodpecker. He did not dare to raise his head to look at director Yan's face.

Director Yan glared at him gloomily. Then, he directly ignored him. Instead, he looked at another old man in the HR department: Zhang Yan...

"You heard the phone call just now. Zhang Yan, tell me, if the task is handed to you, how long will it take to recruit enough people?"

Liu Sheng felt a chill in his heart when he heard it. He knew that he had been too arrogant in the past. Now, the leader didn't even intend to hand the task to him... ..

"This..."Zhang Yan hesitated for a moment, in view of the classic case of his boss beside him, he didn't dare to be the slightest bit exaggerated, he said honestly, "These two days, I've inquired about it from my colleagues. The freshmen of the computer science department are too popular now. Even the computer science graduates in C City Normal University have been recruited. Now, many companies have begun to book third-year students..." . "..."

"Book?"Director Yan was stunned. Although he had vaguely heard some rumors, he did not expect the situation to be so serious.

He remembered his grandfather's generation. He heard that when computers were still in their era, there were cases of third-year students being booked, especially those in the computer science department. It was near the end of the semester, in the middle of the night, he was knocked on the door by those HR people every day.

"Hey, classmate... are you willing to work at Huawei? Your monthly salary is tens of thousands!"

He did not expect that when he was almost 50 years old, he would still be able to see the grand scene described by his elders?

President Yan: "That's a big company. They can recruit reserve staff, but we don't have that condition. We are pressing for several projects. Being able to squeeze out a few months to train new people is already a condition that old Wang and the others have given their lives for. You want them to wait for a year? "Do you believe that if I tell them, they will smash the computer on the spot?"

Zhang Yan wiped his sweat. Recently, the programmers in the technology department seemed to be quite irritable... ..

Director Yan sighed and said, "If City C can't recruit them, can we think of a way from the outside?"

Zhang Yan smiled bitterly when he heard that and said, "Director Yan, our City C isn't a first-tier city like Shanghai. Even if the new graduates consider going to other cities to develop, they wouldn't consider our city."

Director Yan: "What about increasing the salary?"

Zhang Yan: "Director Yan, our remote place is also an unknown company. If you write a recruitment letter for the new graduates, even if the salary is 10,000, people would believe it. If they didn't know better, they would think that we are using the same training structure as under foot and Danai..."

Director Yan frowned when he heard that. Nowadays, with the development of the Internet, many of the training methods were exposed very quickly. He had also heard of the training methods of those training institutions. They were all disguised recruitment. The conditions were all written very well. The salary was not low and there were no seniority requirements, in the end, the first thing you did was to trick you into paying money to undergo skills training in their institutions!

There were too many similar schemes, and it also made many freshmen not believe that they were willing to offer a high salary to a newcomer...

Of course, if it was a big company like Penguin or Internet Explorer, it would be fine. But for a third-rate company like them in C City, to recruit freshmen from a province across, and give them such good treatment..., a normal person would probably feel that there was something wrong.

"Then what do you think we should do?"

Zhang Yan carefully looked at director Yan, his heart could not help but be a little excited. He knew that this was a great opportunity to rise to the top. As long as he performed well and Liu Sheng got out, he would be the director of HR!

"Director Yan, now that the situation is passive, we can only go on the Headhunter route. We can spend a high price to recruit old programmers from outside. Although the cost is high, it can greatly reduce the pressure on the technology department..."

Director Yan was a little hesitant when he heard that. Now, the technical department had a big gap. In the past, those old programmers in the company were as docile as sheep, and their salaries were all pressed on the passing line. Now, if they took the Headhunter route..., if they wanted to recruit old programmers with almost the same experience, the salary cost would probably have to double or triple.

After all, old programmers had at least four to five years of experience. Now that City C was in a tight spot in this area, everyone held tightly onto the employees in their hands. It was very difficult to poach them, but for those from other places... Most programmers of this age could have bought a house in the local city. It was impossible to poach them over without an attractive salary...

Seeing that President Yan was hesitating, Zhang Yan continued, "This is the way to ensure the safety of the company. In addition, I think we can also organize people to contact those old people who resigned some time ago and try to persuade them back..."

"Persuade them back?" President Yan's eyes lit up. This was a better idea. After all, for the internal structure of the company, the old people in the past were more convenient. No matter how powerful the people outside were, they still needed some time to get used to it, moreover, the cost of recalling the old people was also lower.

"Are you sure?" President Yan looked at Zhang Yan and asked suspiciously.

After all, according to Liu Sheng, the attitude of those old employees was extremely arrogant, especially that Pu Yunchuan. He didn't even bother to come to collect his monthly salary. He was extraordinarily confident...

"I know the address of some of the old employees. I can come and have a good talk with them. As for whether it can be settled, I won't vouch for it..." Zhang Yan said honestly.

Director Yan nodded his head in satisfaction when he heard that. After being tricked by Liu Sheng, he was very satisfied with this pragmatic style, hence, he smiled and said, "Good, good. He's a person who does practical things. Don't worry about it. You can try to find out as much as possible about the treatment. No matter how outrageous their request is, don't give them any face for the time being. Call me. I'll make the decision!"

"Yes, director Yan!"

"Alright, Hurry up and go. Don't delay the work..."

After Zhang Yan left, director Yan immediately looked at Liu Sheng. His smile disappeared in an instant. His face was gloomy.

Liu Sheng smiled bitterly and said honestly, "Director Yan, I'll write a resignation letter in a while. Please give me a recommendation letter on account of the many years I've worked for the company..."

Their line of work depended on reputation. If he was fired by the company, it would be difficult for him to find a job at his age...

President Yan nodded. "Liu Sheng, you're already so old. I didn't want to be so ruthless, but the losses you've caused to the company these two times are indeed not small..."

After a pause, he said, "I just did an investigation in the technology department and found that many employees have a lot of opinions about your style of doing things. This time, the entire company including your own department did not even have a single person to speak to you. Do you know what this means?"

Liu Sheng heard a stunned, swallowed a mouthful of saliva, but a long time can not say a word, he knew that the company may have some people on their own, but did not think of this some people... . So many... . .

My heart is filled with mixed feelings!

President Yan sighed, pat him on the shoulder: "Although HR has the function of helping the company save human capital, but this is only one of the functions, this career is not for you to squeeze others for fun, think about it when you get out, you know, you and those technicians, but also just an employee..."

After walking out of director Yan's office, Liu Sheng looked lost. Director Yan still wrote him a recommendation letter, but he was almost 50 years old now. Even if he had a recommendation letter..., it would be very difficult to find another job with the same salary at this age.

His popularity... ? Was actually so bad... ? Liu Sheng passed by the office and looked at those employees who were secretly gloating. His heart was complicated to the extreme. ...

But thinking about it, it made sense. For the sake of his good performance, he had helped the company squeeze out a lot of employees' benefits. He was harsh when he could. He did not know when it started.., he seemed to have developed the habit of treating employees like dogs.

But it was not until President Yan's words just now that he realized that he... ... Actually, he was just a worker... ...

Chapter 588: Grandpa's new routine

"Hello, everyone. Your Beloved Grandpa Lu has returned. At the call of the star friends, Grandpa Lu has specially come to fulfill his promise from last time. He will give you a summary of the problems in the exploration mission and suggestions on how to solve them

"First of all, let's talk about the problem from last time. My suggestion seems to have been accepted by many people, Hahaha. Moreover, I have also received many personal thank-you letters. This has made me full of vitality!"

"However, after thinking about it, Grandpa's plan is indeed impeccable. Currently, the biggest problem developers face is the difficulty of getting started. After all, everyone came in with the mindset of playing games. In the end, when they entered the game, they were forced to learn mathematics, physics, and chemistry. It is understandable that they would have a mental breakdown. Moreover, some players do not like to study since they were young (for example, Dogball) . Doing scientific research is simply pushing ducks onto the shelves. My method perfectly avoids the above problems. First of all, I advise you to recruit new graduates from engineering universities. At the very least, you can confirm the other party's basic level of education. Moreover, in the name of work, the other party will not use the mentality of a player to complain. Naturally, the efficiency will be greatly improved. Ah, I am so impressed by my own wit...". "..."

"Alright, let's get back to business. Let's Not Brag about ourselves anymore. Let's get back to the main topic. I would like to add a few more points regarding the previous strategy. Right now, everyone is using high salaries to recruit developers, so there's no need to make do with the selection. After all, money doesn't come from the wind...". "... Although a farmer is worth millions..." "...". "It's indeed a little profiteering, but it's also the result of us working hard on the quest, isn't it?"

"As for many players who complain that they're too slow, the good seedlings have all been snatched away. Grandpa, I'm puzzled. Why are you only looking at City C?" "They can afford to pay tens of thousands of dollars. Isn't it the same if you take the subway to other cities to enroll at good schools?" "The cooperation quota is very expensive. Nowadays, many rich second-generation students are offering 200 million each. Wouldn't it be a loss if you took it to recruit some underachievers?"

"The second issue is related to specialities. Everyone's attention is now focused on scientific research. For physics, Biology, chemistry, electromechanical, computer, and other pure engineering majors, Grandpa Lu actually has a suggestion. If the quota is sufficient, we can actually consider recruiting a more comprehensive one. Grandpa Lu here recommends a big shot in the metalworking major."

“As you all know, there is a lot of knowledge in the design of financial engineering majors. To master finance, to manage accounts, to master advanced mathematics, and to master computer programming and big data development, those who can afford this major in a good college are all big shots, and their learning ability is definitely not bad. If we recruit them, not only can we let them help us plan our own financial market, but we can also let them learn another scientific research major to fill the gap in their scientific research. It’s simply too perfect.”

“Alright, now let’s talk about the main topic of today’s post. It’s about exploring the map.”

“Grandpa, let me summarize. Most of the complaints today have many problems. There’s the problem of food supply, the big shortage of medicine, the weak constitution of soldiers, the poor adaptability in the face of the mutated zone, and so on...”

Grandpa picked the most critical questions to talk about first. The first was the food problem. Grandpa had said before that the soldiers’ evolution period required very high nutritional requirements. Those players who used cheap nutrient fluids to deal with the soldiers.., grandpa was going to explain it here. Not only would it cause your soldiers to evolve incompletely due to poor nutrition and even develop deformities, it would also cause your soldiers to become weak due to poor nutrition absorption, it would cause your body to accumulate too many mutated abilities that could not be digested and undergo mutation!

Right now, many of the soldiers under the command of small lords had already experienced this situation. The cost of treatment in this situation was not low. In total, it was more than five times higher than the cost of buying high-nutrition food in the beginning!

Therefore, this was a solemn reminder to everyone. Do not be stingy with the cost of food. If you can not afford military food pills, buy fresh food. If the progress of exploration is slow, then slow down. You must be clear about how much you are worth. Do not aim too high.., thinking of ascending to the heavens in one step!

Then, there was the issue of medicine and the immunity of soldiers. Currently, there were all kinds of antibody vaccines for viruses on the market. The price was not cheap. Moreover, due to the endless emergence of all kinds of viruses in the mutation zone.., as a result, a soldier often needed to get more than ten kinds of vaccines. The cost was indeed high. The most important thing was that even if you got a vaccine, you didn’t know if you would encounter new viruses, right?

Therefore, Grandpa thought that instead of spending so much money on vaccines, it would be better to try to do biological surgery. Gondorin was a purely biological force, many of the GONDORIN soldiers you saw were much stronger than your men because they had done biological surgery.

According to Grandpa’s knowledge, there were several types of bio-surgery, and the cost would be different. However, even the cheapest bio-fusion surgery could greatly improve the body strength and immunity of your soldiers, it could be immune to almost dozens of existing viruses.

Grandpa Lu highly recommended this thing that could not only be immune to viruses but also improve the combat ability of soldiers. If you are interested, you can go and learn about it, and you can also try the effect. Of course.., i feel that Grandpa Lu is wasting his money on advertising, so I can choose not to believe him. After all, it's not the first time Grandpa Lu has been blackmailed. I don't need to say more about what will happen to those who don't believe Grandpa Lu, right?

Then, let's talk about the issue of weapons supply. I believe that many Lord tier players with deep pockets are already feeling the pressure on their equipment, right?

Fighting against high-level creatures would cause a lot of wear and tear on weapons. Most mutated creatures' blood was corrosive, and the wear and tear on weapons would be even greater. Moreover, low-level weapons were very ineffective in armor-piercing, many people in the base should have experienced this by now.

Therefore, Grandpa Lu did not recommend that civilized lords who were not good at making cold weapons use low-level products. Of course, good weapons were expensive, especially the one and only hex weapons in the market, the price made many big shots reluctant to buy them, which was also a problem.

However, Grandpa Lu suggested that those who could afford high-end weapons should not be stingy with money. After all, it was a principle passed down from the ancestors that if one wanted to do a good job, one must first sharpen the weapon.

However, Grandpa Lu also did not recommend that everyone equip their soldiers too well from the start. This way, not only would the cost be too high, but it would also cause the soldiers to not cherish these high-end goods.

Actually, Grandpa Lu felt that it was very feasible to implement the current system in Gondolin. He would try out the points system in his own forces. He would only provide the soldiers with the most basic equipment. The high-end items would be bought by the soldiers after they earned rewards, this will not only increase the enthusiasm of the soldiers, but also make the soldiers pay attention to these precious materials.

Alright, that's all for today's basic explanation. After that, I'll conduct a business survey and give a rating to the products of the various shops in Gondolin. I'll give a subjective description of the use value and the performance-to-price ratio of various products, it'll also make everyone spend less money for nothing.

Of course, what Grandpa said may not be all right, but we will try our best to obtain more reliable data through real investigations. I hope that everyone will support Grandpa more. If the number of long-click likes exceeds 100,000, grandpa I will open the liver emperor mode, as soon as possible to make a follow-up strategy, thank you!

Chapter 589 the counterattack of the outside world!

As Grandpa Lu's post about the recruitment had been well-received and received good reviews, his fan base had once again increased.

As a result, this post was once again on the top searches of the game category on almost the first day, and many onlookers began to ridicule it.

"Although what Grandpa said is very reasonable, I still suspect that Grandpa is stingy with money!"

“That’s right, that’s right. Only the Gondolin family has biological surgery now. It’s a complete monopoly business. I Won’t believe that Grandpa doesn’t have that pile of stingy money!”

“Business Investigation Section? Haha, everyone who can afford a shop in Gondolin, do you understand the hint? Hurry up and make money. If you’re late, your products are all fake and useless!”

[666 from upstairs!]

[speaking of which, Grandpa, you have to have a conscience if you have bad money. You keep saying that biological surgery is more cost-effective. If we do it and the result is not like this, will you be responsible?]

[exactly. If you promote biological surgery, you will know that there are no side effects from the biological surgery? Gondolin has earned so much and you are still advertising for them. Won’t your conscience hurt?]

[the person above must be in the vaccine business. He’s desperate...]

[Hehe, I’m telling the truth. You Bunch of licking dogs, just keep licking. There will be times when you’ll regret it.]

[quality of the weapon. Recently, I really feel that the equipment has consumed a lot of energy, and it was scrapped with just two slashes. It took too long to form. Who knows where high-quality weapons like Grandpa said are sold?]

Player A: Cabbage!

Player B: It Goes Without saying that the quality of the weapon is of course cabbages!

Player C: I Go, Grandpa this post originally pinched two families of rotten money!

Player D: Business Genius!

— — — —

Lu Xiaowei looked at the comments that were criticizing him, but he did not care. Although he did indeed have bad money, he knew his limits. At least the things recommended so far were very reliable. For example, Isabelle’s biological surgery, the cost-effectiveness ratio was indeed much higher than the current vaccine!

A single vaccine was not worth it to begin with. When that time came, the market effect would prove that this Grandpa’s post was a post of conscience!

Grandpa yawned and walked out of the gaming cabin. He was ready to have dinner and go out for a stroll. Recently, he often lay in the gaming cabin. It had been a long time since he had gone out, so he had to go to the supermarket to stock up.

Just when Grandpa Lu didn't care about the group of Internet trolls who were slandering him, he didn't know that due to the popularity of his recent posts, the players weren't the only ones who paid attention to him.

Net Difficult Headquarters, a group of game planners sitting together, is discussing what, if Grandpa Lu here will find, his post is actually used by these first-class game planners as material analysis!

"Director Jiang, you asked us to focus on this article about recruiting new college students to participate in scientific research projects in the game. What does this mean? "Could it be that this game has already reached such a level of realism? "Can all the scientific research projects in the real world be moved into the game? "DAMN! "This way, this game might even have the effect of saving the cost of scientific research!"

"How is that possible?" A middle-aged man in a blue suit sneered and said, "This must be a gimmick. Is the scientific research project going to be used in the virtual reality?" Even the research institutes in North America could not do this. Scientific research required actual experimental data, and it was not just based on intelligent simulation. If the intelligence could simulate all the results and predict the future of the experiment, why would scientists be needed?"

"That makes sense!" The few people beside him nodded.

In order to complete scientific research in the game, the intelligence had to calculate the results of the scientific research in order to show the results of the research. But obviously, the results of the scientific research were the most unpredictable, in other words, the scientific research products in the game were all made up.

"But the game is made up!" A middle-aged man sitting in the center of the meeting room frowned and said, "Director Jiang, what's the point of having your subordinates study this guide?"

The man who spoke was the leader of the current Internet Cafe, CEO Ding Jr. .

"It's very meaningful!" Director Jiang stood up and said proudly, "CEO Ding, although there is no interview for this game now, judging from the images, the way the game is played, and the comments of the players, it is impossible for the games on the market to defeat him. Once it is publicly tested, the online game market may face a devastating blow. My suggestion is that if you can't buy the game under the banner of Internet Cafe, then destroy him!"

"Oh?" President Ding raised his eyebrows. "You have a solution?"

"The solution is in this guide!" President Jiang smiled and said, "From the guide, the so-called scientific research project in the game has probably been simulated to a very exaggerated degree. Otherwise, there wouldn't be a need for professional engineering students to choose that developer occupation."

"So What?" President Ding asked curiously.

"If it was like before, the players would play their own game, and there would be no way to make a fuss about it. But now, it's different. In order to have enough developers to partner with, the players in the game actually chose to recruit in the real world, and the targets are all engineering students who are looking for jobs in the school!”

“Huh?” Director Ding’s eyes lit up. He got the hint and quickly said, “Continue!”

Director Jiang was even more pleased with himself when he heard that, he smiled and said, “Although our Huazhong’s attack on the virtual world is not as good as before, there has always been a bottom line, which is that we can’t affect reality too much. This time, the players in this game have touched the bottom line. I just heard a piece of news. Because of this post, almost all the freshmen of the computer science department in City C have been snatched up by the players. This has caused many enterprises to face the dilemma of not being able to recruit people!”

“Moreover, the scientific research in these games will mislead the real scientific research people in the real world. Think about it. After these students go in and play that game, when they get used to the messy sci-fi research in it, will they be able to adapt to the scientific research work of normal society after they come back? “If this game is released to the public in a large scale and there are a lot of such situations, will the country tolerate it?”

President Ding was getting more and more excited as he listened. He slammed the table and said, “Old Jiang, you are indeed the one who can see things far ahead. You even thought of this...”

The people around him also applauded and praised him. Some of the shareholders who came to listen could not help but applaud. It had to be said that this director Jiang’s analysis was very reasonable!

“President Ding, you flatter me!” The smile on President Jiang’s face became even more smug, however, he still said seriously, “What we need to do now is to report the other party before the other studio notices this problem. We Can’t give the other party enough time to rectify it!”

“Good, good, good!” ! President Ding clapped his hands and laughed loudly. “Well said. Such a big mistake can’t let that whatever studio react...”. While saying that, he looked at the public relations manager sitting next to him and said, “Xiao Li, go and find deputy director Cui”

Chapter 590 sometimes, being too smart isn’t a good thing

“Wow, this is...” Xie Donglin and the others stared blankly at the scene around the base after entering the game. Ye Xu Lun was also used to their expressions. Almost every newcomer here was like this... ..

“What kind of engine is this? The image... isn’t it too exaggerated? And why can I smell such a realistic smell? Does the latest game cabin have the function of stimulating nerves?” As a computer scientist.., xie Donglin was the first to ask.

“Uh... this, I think so...” ye Xu laughed.

“Does this... comply with the rules?” Xie Donglin asked curiously. Because in his impression, nerve-stimulating equipment seemed to be strictly controlled... ..

Therefore, most games nowadays, no matter how realistic they were, would not have such rich five senses...

“Wow, this equipment...” one of the mechanical major students stared at the equipment in the main base with a face full of disbelief.

The rookie teleportation point had always been set in the center of the main base with gravity protection, which was where Seer’s first base was. The main base was a multi-functional base. Other than the biological operating table that was used to perform genetic surgery on players., this included the energy ore refining equipment. Seer only had one of these so far.

The main reason was that it was too expensive, but it was also because it was expensive that the precision of the machinery was extremely high. The student’s eyes lit up when he saw this. His master’s major was in the field of material formation and control engineering, his teacher had once shown them many of the cutting-edge equipment in large factories. Those were all equipment that had been imported from the Western European industrial powers. Even Huazhong had not been able to crack the technology inside. Ordinary people might not be able to see much difference, however, professional people like them could tell at a glance that the precision of this kind of high-end equipment was different from that of ordinary domestic equipment.

As for the one in front of him, it was energy decomposition and solidification in nanometers. The extremely tiny but extremely complicated mechanical operation made the student’s eyes widen... ..

“It’s too... too realistic, right?” After thinking for a long time, he could not come up with a word. In the end, he could only attribute it to illusion. However, for some reason, he felt that the delicate process did not seem to be fake...

Xie Donglin also looked at the equipment around him in amazement. Although he was a computer science student, he also felt that these things were too realistic... Too realistic. It did not seem to be fake.

“Ahem...” ye xuanguan coughed lightly and interrupted the discussion of this group of Brainiacs. He said softly, “Come here and line up. Let’s make a race agreement first.”

As long as they signed the contract with the main base, everything would be settled!

The few of them walked to the biological operating theater. As there had been a lot of newcomers in the past few days, the line was quite long. Moreover, the people in the line looked quite familiar.

“Hey, God Xie? Why are you here too?”

Xie Donglin was stunned. When he heard the sound, he looked over and saw a tall and thin young man. Xie Donglin immediately recognized him. He was a classmate of their department. His foundation was not bad. He seemed to be called Yang Dongshan...

“God, you were also recruited to play games?” When that person saw Xie Donglin, who was an acquaintance, he seemed to have become much more enthusiastic. However, it was also normal. This kind of inexplicable and strange situation., it was better to feel at ease when meeting an acquaintance.

“Ah... you... didn’t you go to take the postgraduate entrance exam?” Xie Donglin asked curiously.

To be honest, if Xie Donglin did not have a family background, he would have wanted to take the postgraduate entrance exam. After all, companies that did intelligence development seemed to only recruit postgraduate students now. That was the high-end field of programmers, he had a better future than ordinary code farmers.

"I heard that there are high-paying jobs, so I came to try. If it's possible, why take the postgraduate entrance exam? Nowadays, research institutes are not worth much, right?"

It made sense... Xie Donglin nodded.

"God..." Yang Dongshan suddenly lowered his voice and said, "How much did your side give you?"

"30,000... What About You?"

"About that..." Yang Dongshan looked around and whispered, "There might be a problem with this game!"

"What do you mean?" Xie Donglin's expression suddenly turned serious and he asked.

"God, you might not know that you don't usually play games. This game has been popular for more than a year, but it has been limiting the number of slots. Now, a slot is sold for 100 to 200 million outside, but these players don't sell it, but they gave it to us..."

"One to two hundred million?" Xie Donglin's tongue twitched. "Really?"

"Xie Donglin, come and sign the contract!" Not far away, Ye Xuguan waved at him.

Xie Donglin was stunned for a moment before he walked over and entered a private room.

The other party held a glowing contract and placed it on the table. He smiled and said, "Come Sign Your Name and go in for the surgery."

Xie Donglin was stunned for a moment, then he said, "Didn't you sign the contract? Why do you still need to sign the contract?"

"This is the contract in the game, and it belongs to the game process..." Ye Xuguan explained impatiently, "Hurry up and sign it. There will be a lot of people coming later. If we can't wait for the surgery, we'll have to wait for a long time!"

"Oh..." Xie Donglin looked at the people around him and then looked at the game contract. The content written on it seemed to be... It seemed to be a child's play. There shouldn't be any problems, right.

Moreover, international law had also stipulated that any contract in a virtual game had nothing to do with the real world!

After hesitating for a moment, he finally signed his name and pressed his handprint... ..

However, the moment he pressed his handprint, Xie Donglin suddenly sneezed. The taste of the small noodles he had eaten in the morning instantly spread to his windpipe, making his throat feel a burning pain...

Then, the shiny contract was stained with the chili skin that he had sprayed on his teeth when he sneezed. This made Xie Donglin feel quite embarrassed. After all, such a high-class contract was still glowing. At this moment, it was quite unsightly to be stained with a piece of chili skin. If he had known earlier, he would have brushed his teeth and come back...

Xie Donglin scratched his head in embarrassment and hurriedly reached out to wipe it off, but in the next second, his movements froze...

That's not right...

This was a virtual world. How could the chili skin left behind by the teeth in real life be sprayed out here?

Bang! Just as he was in shock, his hand felt light, and the glowing contract was grabbed by Ye Xusuan.

"Mm... okay..."ye Xusuan looked at the handprint and nodded. "Go and do the surgery..."

As soon as he said that, he saw two giant mechanical arms in the operating theater grab him.

"Wait... Wait!"Xie Donglin reacted. He wanted to resist, but how could he resist? He was instantly grabbed into the operating theater!

After entering the operating theater, Xie Donglin realized that no matter how much he shouted, there was no sound at all... ..

"Players, please be quiet and relax so as not to affect the effect of the surgery..."

Hearing this mechanical notification sound, Xie Donglin quickly looked around. He saw all kinds of surgical blades and syringes slowly approaching from the countless mechanical arms. Just one look was enough to make his scalp go numb!

He was wondering, how could there be such a good thing in the world. There was a salary of 30,000 after graduation...

Actually, he had thought that it was a trap, but he did not expect it to be so big!

The scenes of all kinds of sci-fi horror movies kept appearing in his mind...

What exactly were they going to make them into? Biochemical Monsters? Abnormal Monsters? Human centipedes?

"Do players need anesthetic?"

"I..."Xie Donglin looked at his body, which was held tightly by the mechanical arm, and said with a sad face, "Make more money..."

Outside the window, ye Xu Sighed to himself when he saw this scene. "It seems that sometimes being too smart is not necessarily a good thing..."then, he took out a contract and shouted to the outside, "Uh, Hu Kaifeng, hurry up and sign the contract to do the surgery!"
