Chapter 591: We Can't let our guard down!

"Hu! !"

Xie Donglin suddenly woke up from the game cabin. He opened the game cabin and sat up, looking around in horror.

The scene was the same as before. It was the same simple office without even a chair. At a glance, he could only see seven or eight virtual game cabin equipment!

Then, he quickly touched his whole body with his hands. His face, arms, legs, and legs seemed to be fine...

Xie Donglin panted heavily, and sweat kept coming out. He looked around, and after making sure that there was no one around, he scrambled out of the gaming cabins and ran outside without hesitation!

The process of escaping was quite smooth. It was not until he ran all the way to the pedestrian street of Guanyin Bridge and looked at the dense crowd of pedestrians and the bright sunshine that he felt a sense of security...

On the way, the pedestrians did not seem to have any strange looks toward him. It seemed that his appearance did not become too exaggerated...

Then, he took out his phone and took a photo of himself. His fat face was reflected in the dim screen of the phone. Other than feeling that his hairline seemed to be a little higher, there did not seem to be anything unusual...

Xie Dong-lin finally a little relieved, and then looked back doubtfully at the towering sunny building, thought: could it be... ? . Is It really a game?

But anyway, he didn't have the guts to go back there now, so he got on the subway and prepared to go back to school first. . .

Inside the Yanjing Virtual Supervision Bureau, a middle-aged man in a black suit sat in a separate office and answered the phone. He tilted his head slightly and looked for something on the computer. The phone was clamped between his fat neck, he leaned on his shoulder steadily.

"HMM... Galaxy, right? Oh... "... This game, I remember, I remember. I understand the situation that you said. I will handle it. Forget about the meal, President Ding is also a busy man. Moreover, this is not a suitable time for it "... "Okay, I will call you if there is any situation later!"

After the fatty hung up the phone, he immediately looked at the computer with a hint of excitement on his face.

He had actually set his eyes on this game called galaxy a long time ago. It had been hyped up on the Internet, and an inside account had been hyped up to a sky-high price. This allowed him to instantly see the huge business opportunity of this game.

Therefore, a long time ago, he had been rubbing his hands together, preparing all kinds of reasons, and waiting for the other party to apply for public beta for all kinds of difficulties!

For a big production like this, the greater the business opportunity before the open beta, the more they couldn't let the game go on the shelves easily. In any case, they were using all kinds of reasons to hold him back for half a year, if the investors were anxious, they would naturally know what to do.

If they didn't know better, they could even hold you back for three to five years. For a big production like this, they still had to rely on the open beta to make money. The longer they dragged it out, the greater the loss.

But...

To director Cui's surprise, after a year, the game didn't seem to panic at all. Not to mention the open beta, even the inside account was restricted. In addition, the content of the game was closed. This made him, a dignified deputy director, have all kinds of tricks, but he was still stuck at the door and couldn't use them... ..

Then, when he saw the news that the rich second generation was willing to buy an inside account for one to two hundred million, his eyes became even more red. At this time, the news of Boss Ding had given him a huge piece of evidence, and he didn't hesitate at all, he immediately called his subordinates.

"Hello, Xiao Wu, um...". "... Go and take that game called galaxy off the shelves first. Yes, yes, the reason is that the content of the game affects social stability. Yes, write this in the announcement. After that, call the C City Security Bureau and have them start investigating the specific situation." ..."

After hanging up the phone, director Cui stretched his body and mind comfortably. He felt extremely carefree. He had long wanted to punish this kind of game merchant who did not know the rules...

He had been on the shelves for more than a year, but he had not come here to ask for instructions. What was he trying to do? Titan, who wanted to learn from the rainstorm?

That's right, galaxy was not the first game that did not know the rules. Titan was the same back when it was on the shelves in China. It did not accept the threat of the virtual reality bureau at all. Just like that, it was put on the closed beta for more than a year.

At that time, in other countries, Titan had already brought about huge economic benefits. One had to know that in the virtual era, the economic share of this virtual game had already surpassed that of real estate ten years ago, it had become the pillar of the economy of the major countries. Otherwise, Houston would not have wanted to give up on the traditional scientific research market to focus on the virtual network.

As the unfair beta testing was delayed, many players in the country chose to play in foreign clothes. Looking at the large number of players leaving the country, Penguin, who had signed a contract with rainstorm, and the top leaders of the country had no choice but to personally put pressure on them, after the Virtual Bureau suffered this loss, rainstorm's operation became the most humiliating period in the history of the domestic virtual bureau since its establishment.

Choi won't let this happen again!

On the other side, Xie Donglin returned all the way to the university town, but he saw a familiar figure walking in a hurry in front of him from a distance. Donglin took a careful look and quickly shouted, "Senior Hu Kaifeng! !"

In front is actually the big brother of the physics department: Hu Kaifeng!

He actually ran out before him?

However, after thinking about it carefully, Xie Donglin recalled that he did see one of the game cabins open.

Hu Kaifeng turned around and saw Xie Donglin. He immediately walked forward as if he had seen a ghost. When Xie Donglin saw this, he immediately caught up to him and pulled him back. "Senior, don't be agitated. I just ran out too..."

Hu Kaifeng's body stiffened when he heard that. He turned around and looked at Xie Donglin, who was sweating profusely. He was stunned for two seconds before he nodded. However, he did not know what to say for a moment.

"Senior, do you also feel that something is wrong?" Xie Donglin hurriedly asked.

Hu Kaifeng nodded.

"Senior, do you feel any discomfort in your body?" Xie Donglin continued to ask.

"Not for the time being..." Hu Kaifeng shook his head, obviously also some anxious.

Finally two people talked for a while after definitely find a place to check carefully first.

After discussion, the two did not go to the hospital for a check-up at the first time, but came to Hu Kaifeng rented a small single room outside.

The main thing was that they were afraid that if something really happened to their bodies, they would be caught and dissected by the state.

After returning to their suite, Hu Kaifeng and Xie Donglin hurriedly found a mirror and took off their clothes. They carefully observed each other from top to bottom!

"Senior, there doesn't seem to be anything wrong with your body. Look at me."

Xie Donglin: "Senior, there's no need to mind..."

"Oh... I see..."

“Senior, it seems that there aren’t too many changes to our bodies!” Xie Donglin seriously changed the topic.

Hu Kaifeng nodded, and then carefully looked at the mirror again. After confirming that nothing strange had grown out, he let out a sigh of relief.

However, his face didn’t relax completely. Instead, he said seriously, “Junior, although there seems to be no problem on the surface, it doesn’t mean that our body structure is still normal. We can’t let our guard down!”

“Senior, what do you mean?” Xie Donglin’s heart skipped a beat as he asked.

“We still have to examine it carefully!”

As he spoke, Hu Kaifeng took out two buckets of instant noodles from under the table... ..

Chapter 592 Danger Level!

“Senior, what is this?”

Xie Donglin stared at the two buckets of instant noodles in a daze.

“Are you used to the taste of pickled peppers?” Hu Kaifeng raised his head and asked.

Xie Donglin replied, “Other than braised chicken noodles with mushrooms, I can do anything else...”

Hu Kaifeng nodded silently and silently picked up the kettle to boil the water... ..

“Senior, why do you suddenly want to eat instant noodles?” Xie Donglin asked in a daze.

“To see if our stomachs are still normal!” Hu Kaifeng explained as he tore open the instant noodles, “In sci-fi movies, some people who have been experimented on may not have changed their appearance, but their body structure has actually become a monster. They are not interested in ordinary food. Instead, they are interested in some fresh meat. Some perverts are even more interested in fresh blood. There are many examples like the Golden Wood in the Tokyo Ghoul, or the venom in Marvel...” “...”

“Senior, you’re really knowledgeable...”

“Junior...” Hu Kaifeng suddenly raised his head after pouring boiling water on the instant noodles and asked, “If it’s really as I expected, and we’re only interested in human blood, what would you do?”

“Uh...” Xie Donglin was stunned for a moment, and then his face darkened as he muttered, “Yeah... what should I do?”

Two minutes later...

“AH, instant noodles are so fragrant! !”

“Senior, do you have ham sausages?”

“Junior, you’re also from C University. You should have heard about me. I was expelled from school and couldn’t find a job. I could only make a living by posting posts on the Internet. How could I afford such a luxury item like ham sausages?”

Xie Donglin was stunned. “Senior, have you been unable to find a job?”

“Sigh...”. Hu Kaifeng sighed and said, “In my major, the scope of employment was already narrow. Now that I’ve been expelled from the school, the path of being a university teacher has been completely closed. I don’t know what to do without a phd degree in a research institute. If it was my father’s era, even if he couldn’t do office work, he could still sell some hard labor, move bricks, deliver food, and so on. As long as it was hard work, the money earned wouldn’t be worse than working in an office. But now...” “...”

When Xie Donglin heard this, a sense of sadness rose in his heart. As a doctorate student, he had no way to deliver food. Now that he thought about it, was it a good thing for society to be intelligent?

The two of them finished their instant noodles in silence. After Hu Kaifeng drank the last bit of the noodle soup, he looked at the other party and said, “Junior, how is it? Do you feel uncomfortable in your stomach and want to spit out the food?”

Xie Donglin touched his belly and then shook his head. “No, I feel like... I want another bowl...”

“Junior brother, this instant noodles is full of salt. It’s not good for your health if you eat too much...”

Xie Donglin:”...”

Ring, Ring, ring...

Just as the two of them were in a strange silence, Xie Donglin’s phone suddenly rang. Xie Donglin picked it up and looked at it. When he saw the name of the caller, he was so scared that he almost threw his phone out. Wasn’t the caller the young CEO ye from before?

Hu Kaifeng looked at Xie Donglin’s caller ID. After a moment of silence, he said in a low voice, “Junior, it seems that there is nothing wrong with our bodies now. Perhaps... that is really just a game!”

“How is that possible?”Xie Donglin shook his head repeatedly. He did not believe that a virtual game could reflect things in reality at all times.

“Then what are you going to do? Give up this job?”Hu Kaifeng continued to ask.

“This...”Xie Donglin was stunned when he heard that.

30,000 yuan...

If this kind of job was given up because of his paranoia, he might never have this opportunity again...

But...

Bang Bang Bang!

Just as the two of them were in a dilemma, there was suddenly a knock on the door. The two of them were immediately shocked!

They didn't come after us, did they?

Xie Donglin dry looking at Hu Kaifeng, Hu Kaifeng swallowed a mouthful of saliva, carefully went to the door, through the peephole to look out, but saw the situation outside is a gawk.

"How?" Xie Donglin sees a situation to see hurriedly ask a way.

Hu Kaifeng looked back and stammered, "Look at the uniform... it seems... it's the police..."

At the NSA, a group of people are in a meeting...

"Now I'm going to sort out the whole case..." in the conference room, a square-faced middle-aged man in the first seat looked at the information and said, "During the spring festival rework period, which was from February 3 to February 6, there was a large-scale resignation incident in C city. The main type of resignation was from IT engineers. In three days, a total of more than 7,600 people resigned. This caused a considerable impact on many enterprises in C city. On the 7th, after we gathered the information, we opened a case to investigate. However, these resigned employees could not be contacted. Even if they were contacted, they were very uncooperative, causing the case to remain unsolved... "..."

"And three days ago, the spring recruitment market was once again in turmoil. Over a thousand fresh graduates were poached away with high salaries, especially those from the computer science department. Almost all of them were wiped out in an instant, causing many local enterprises to fall into the predicament of not being able to recruit people. Faced with this strange situation, there was finally a clue from the imperial capital yesterday!"

As he spoke, the middle-aged man winked at a young man with a crew cut.

The young man quickly stood up and turned on the virtual screen in the hall. On the screen was a game icon. The icon was made very nicely. If a familiar player saw it, they would definitely recognize it as galaxy's icon.

"This is an online game called Galaxy!" The crew-cut young man introduced with a serious face. "Ever since it was set up on the closed beta platform, it has caused a huge internet storm. Now, a closed beta account slot has been disturbed to over a hundred million yuan!"

"This..." some of the old men looked at each other in shock, obviously, they felt that it was a little exaggerated. Although the virtual economy had gradually become the number one economic pillar of the major countries, a closed beta account with more than 100 million yuan was still a little exaggerated, right?

"According to the information collected on the Internet, this game has reached a very exaggerated level in terms of both the graphics and the game's freedom. Many players call it the second world. Its technological content far surpasses the online games on the Market!"

"Is this related to our current case?" One of the middle-aged men asked with a frown.

"It's directly related!" The crew-cut youth said seriously, "According to intelligence, all the program apes who resigned this time were players of this game. Due to the huge economic benefits generated by this game, many players have given up their traditional jobs. And because a large number of players are concentrated in our city C, that caused the previous storm...". "..."

"I see..." everyone nodded.

"Then we can close the case, right?" One of them said, "We can't interfere in this kind of situation, right?"

"No..." the young man shook his head and said, "According to the information given by the imperial virtual administration, as well as the information I've collected over the past few days, this game has already reached the level of endangering social stability! !"

Chapter 593: as expected, it has something to do with the dragon group...

This... isn't this a little exaggerated?

The old men from the Security Bureau looked at each other, and then looked at the young man with a strange expression.

It was a good thing that the young man had the drive and wanted to make a name for himself, but he couldn't be too exaggerated. He couldn't force things to happen just because our local security bureau was too useless...

The so-called Security Bureau was a special department created by the world's supernatural forces after the founding of the Federation. It was the type of organization like the 9th organization or the S.H.I.E.L.D. Secret Service in American dramas, it was specifically responsible for the investigation and handling of major security incidents.

In theory, it had considerable privileges during emergency times. It could be transferred to any department of the local armed forces, public security, and law enforcement to assist in the investigation. It could even mobilize the army at critical moments.

Unfortunately, in theory, if it was the headquarters, there were still many opportunities to use such privileges. After all, these departments were usually responsible for the security of the country's periphery, they would deal with many supernatural agents who tried to enter the country.

However, the local departments were completely different. Since the supernatural incidents in the country had been handled by the major sects, they could only do some trivial things.

For example, preventing the bio-mutated creatures from destroying the stability of the city, preventing the alien civilization from invading Planet D, preventing the major evil religious forces from instigating the uprising, and so on.

It didn't sound like a trivial thing, did it. If it were to happen... ...

In fact, the real daily work of the local security department was to record the information of the supernatural beings from the major sects that were stationed in the city and build a good relationship with the local sects. It was purely a pension department. It was indeed not suitable for this young man in front of him who seemed to be on stimulants...

And this new director was also the same. He looked to be almost forty. Why was he fooling around like this young man? Was it not good to play cards and drink tea when there was nothing to do?

Seeing everyone's expression, the young man could only continue to say seriously, "Seniors, I am not joking. This conclusion was drawn from multiple sources of information."

"What information?" A few old men asked lazily. Since the director had supported the young man's speech, he still had to give face.

"The first information comes from the high-end players of this game. On the Internet, a player named Grandpa Lu will regularly update the game's information and strategy. It's also because his strategy has attracted many netizens to queue up to enter the game...". "..."

As he spoke, he opened Grandpa Lu's previous post. "According to the content of the post, there is a class called developer in this game. The way of playing is completely different from the normal class. Other classes enter to do life quests and then kill monsters to level up. They need to learn knowledge, which includes advanced mathematics, physics, and chemistry, as well as various biological, medical, computer, and other aspects of traditional knowledge...". "..."

"And... Such a perverted job? Is anyone playing it?" Some of the old men were dumbfounded, they were young people who were also obsessed with online games. Although they hadn't entered the virtual world yet, they had never heard of that crazy studio creating such a backstory of anti-human games...

"Because there's no one, many high-end players have started recruiting engineering students from the real world to play this job after they obtained a closed beta slot. It's said that they can help their forces develop high-tech products...". "..."

"Not bad..." an old man patted his thigh and said, "I think it's very meaningful that the current game companies can think of such a way to let people learn..."

"That's not the case!" The young man said helplessly, "This is not a science and education game, but a game that combines magic and science fiction content. According to the guide, these developers will start to research and develop from traditional science to science fiction and magic fiction products in the later stages. If this goes on for a long time, it will easily cause chaos in the real world, especially when the players are recruiting a large number of new students. Once these engineering students who are supposed to invest in the physical research industry get used to the half-true and half-false content in the game, and in addition to the current popularity of the game, once the game is released for public testing, there will be a big hidden danger to the real world!"

"This..." everyone looked at each other and then nodded. It did sound like there were some hidden dangers... ..

"Little Wu, your idea is not bad. You have a good sense of security. It's really rare to be able to notice this game's image in real life so quickly. If it's as you said, once this game is released to the public, it might indeed cause hidden dangers in real life...". One of the old men nodded and said, "How about this, you write a report to the virtual administration and list out the hidden dangers that might occur. Let the virtual administration contact the game developers to make corrections. Before the corrections are confirmed, they are not allowed to go online"

As he spoke, he picked up his teacup and had an expression that said that the meeting was over...

"Don't worry, Little Wu still has other things to say..."the bureau chief faintly called out to these old foxes who were ready to run away...

"Is there anything else?"The old man immediately frowned. At three o'clock in the afternoon, he had even called an emei foreign affairs elder to play cards. This was the important matter that he was most concerned about...

"Everyone!"The young man called Little Wu said with extreme seriousness, "According to the latest intelligence, this game is not as simple as a game. It is very likely to be a conspiracy designed by a mysterious force with cutting-edge black technology! !"

"Cough cough! !"The group of old men almost choked on their tea. After coughing for a long time, they looked at each other speechlessly. "Xiao Wu, you... Where did you get this conclusion from?"

"From various sources of intelligence..."looking at the extremely strange expressions of the group of old men, the young man hurriedly said, "The intelligence comes from two aspects. One is the newly recruited players. I've asked the Comrades of the Public Security Bureau to invite over a dozen recently recruited players to assist in the investigation. According to them, the knowledge that they are asked to learn in this game doesn't seem to be fabricated. From theory to formula, the logic is very reasonable. Some of the formulas even solve scientific problems that haven't been solved in the current world. Think about it, even if a game is made more realistic, is it necessary to do it to such an extent?"

"Um..."the old man in the meeting looked at each other, except for the director, he still had a funny expression on his face. "Just because of this, you deduced that there is a mysterious black technology force behind this game? Why didn't you say that it was an extraterrestrial force?"

"It's not this little thing..."Xiao Wu quickly said, "Many players feel that this game is not like a game, but like another real world. This is something that officer Yang of the Public Security Bureau has been investigating for a long time!"

"Why are the public security people involved?"The old man immediately frowned.

Xiao Wu said seriously, "According to the information provided, this mysterious organization has a lot of power behind it. It might even be related to some of the people above..."

"Xiao Wu..."the old men's faces immediately darkened. "Don't make trouble..."

As soon as they finished speaking, they heard a knock on the conference room door!

"Come in..."the director immediately frowned.

A young woman in a work uniform entered the room and said, "Director Luo, there's someone outside who wants to see you..."

"Who?"The director's frown deepened...

"They said it's someone from the dragon team..."the woman said excitedly.

“The Dragon Team?” The people around were stunned. The young man named Little Wu narrowed his eyes and thought, as expected, just as Uncle Yang thought, this game is related to the dragon team!

Chapter 594 If This Isn't a game, do you know what it means?

“You Are... a member of the Dragon Group?” Director Luo looked at the new era Major General Badge and the new seal certificate and said seriously.

The major general rank was so young. It seemed that the newly established Dragon Group was the only one in the country that had such conditions.

In fact, as a pension bureau that wanted to make a difference... Ah Pui, the Director of the Security Bureau, he was very keen to capture the impact of the establishment of the Dragon Group on their security bureau.

In the past, the biggest role of the security bureau was to use the national machinery to investigate extraordinary incidents, and then assist the extraordinary personnel of the local sects to eliminate hidden dangers.

And most of the work would be undertaken by the headquarters. The local departments basically only had the task of assisting in the investigation, but once the dragon group appeared, the situation might be completely different.

Because the country had the ability to resolve extraordinary incidents, which the officials had always wanted to have, but had never been able to do so. They could only rely on the private sects, until the mysterious Luo Fu appeared, this caused them to always have to look at the faces of private sects!

And according to the results of the latest Kunlun martial arts demonstration, the quality of the members of the newly formed Dragon Group was quite high. They completely had the ability to handle extraordinary incidents independently. It seemed that the Dragon Group's plan was no longer a joke, and if the Dragon Group succeeded, the role of their security bureau would immediately rise to a whole new level!

Of course, it would first depend on whether these extraordinary individuals would manage them, whether they would be their assistants or whether they would manage these extraordinary individuals. This would determine the future status of the security bureau.

And even if it was the former, the authority of the Security Bureau to the outside world would probably be greatly increased. This was because they would no longer rely on the external private sects, but on their own strength. This meant a lot.

Because of this, when this young man showed his name, the other elders of the security bureau all revealed warm smiles, trying to build a good relationship with him.

Only the young man surnamed Wu and the director of the Bureau had slightly different expressions. The reason was because of the information from Yang Rui.

“Yes, comrade ye Xu Lun, right? May I ask why you are here?” Director Luo narrowed his eyes and asked.

“Well...”the man laughed. “Two of my employees seem to have been brought here by some misunderstanding. I’d like to take them...”

I knew it!

Luo Bureau and Small Wu pupil constriction, and Yang Rui conjecture is same, this game really and Dragon Group is concerned!

“You just let people take away?”Xiao Wu home, a handsome middle-aged man suddenly stood up.

If Pu Yunchuan was here, he would definitely recognize that this was officer Yang, who had always wanted to make things difficult for him!

“What else can we do?”Director Luo rolled his eyes at the other party and said, “The privileges of the members of the long group are specially approved by the higher-ups. Let alone taking people from a soy sauce department like ours, even if we rushed into the Ministry of Public Security to take people, no one would dare to stop us, Okay?”

After a pause, he said, “By the way... Are You sure you want to continue investigating this matter? The power behind this is not something you can imagine. You have to know who is in charge of the Dragon Group!”

“We can’t let this matter go!”Yang Rui said with a serious face, “If we let it go, the consequences may be more serious than you think!”

“What exactly do you know?”Director Luo looked at his classmate and asked seriously.

“To be honest, I still can’t believe what I saw that day...”Yang Rui spoke solemnly about what happened a few days ago...

That day, he followed Pu Yunchuan and his group to a foreign country and found that those people were actually contacting famous scientists in Houston. Along the way, he followed them and found that all the scientists who had come into contact with Pu Yunchuan had mysteriously disappeared, what was even stranger was that almost that afternoon, his colleague had called him and told him that Pu Yunchuan had already returned home!

And half an hour before he had received this call, he had even seen the other party eating a double-decker beef burger at Burger King...

Just Like Old Wang in the Bureau back then, he had clearly set off after Yang Rui, but he had arrived at Kunlun ahead of him. If the first time was an exception, then this time, Yang Rui was almost certain that the forces behind Pu Yunchuan., had an extremely sci-fi-like device that could reach all parts of the world in a short period of time!

After learning about this, Yang Rui immediately realized the seriousness of this matter. He instantly analyzed that the authorities definitely did not know about this matter, because if the authorities had such a device, they would have long been invincible, okay?

Don't think that the red police's hyperspace teleportation soldiers were trash. In the real world, they were simply bugs. Could you afford to provoke an army that could teleport you to your back door at any time?

After many days of investigation, the source of everything made him focus on the game called Galaxy again.

Therefore, he began to try to investigate the content of the game, but the testing quota for the game was too expensive. Even if he sold his 70 square meters house, he would not be able to get a fraction of it...

In the end, he had no choice but to use the police system to investigate the real players. Therefore, after many days of hard work, he finally confirmed the address of a player...

"And then, did the player say anything?" The two people were shocked and quickly asked.

"No..." Yang Rui shook his head. "Before I came here, I checked the surveillance cameras and confirmed that she was at home, but there was no response after several knocks on the door, so I broke in..."

Director Luo: "That's not very good, right?"

Yang Rui ignored the other party and continued, "The room was empty and there was no one in it, but I saw that the game pod in the bedroom was activated. When I got close to the game pod, I found that there was no one in the game pod that was activated, but then something incredible happened!"

"What happened?" The two of them asked immediately.

"That player appeared out of thin air!" Yang Rui said seriously, "Just like the teleportation in science fiction, a light flashed and that player appeared out of thin air in the game cabin!"

The two of them were stunned and quickly asked, "And then?"

"Then, the other party called the police and arrested me!" Yang Rui spread his hands helplessly and said, "You know what happened after that. I was detained by the Bureau for Trespassing and attempted to molest an underage girl. I was temporarily suspended from duty..."

Xiao Wu: "..."

Director Luo also covered his forehead. "Are you sure you're not making up a story to clear your name about that girl of yours?"

"Damn, am I that kind of person?" Yang Rui rolled his eyes. "I'm so handsome, do I need to use that kind of method?"

Director Luo rolled his eyes. To be honest, if it were anyone else, he would never believe such nonsense. However, he knew this old classmate very well. He would not be so bored to tease him with this kind of sci-fi story.

"Old Luo, trust me!" Yang Rui said seriously, "This matter is definitely more serious than you think. I read the game guide. If this is not a game, do you know what this means?"

Chapter 595 "Is this game... Serious?"

“Damn... What kind of background does this guy have?”

Xie Donglin and Hu Kaifeng carefully followed behind ye xuanguan, not daring to say a word for a long time.

To be honest, from the police station to the Security Bureau, the two of them were indeed frightened. After that, this person directly appeared in the security bureau and took them away, making them feel that there was a lot of shady business going on...

If they had been taken away, they could still think a little. At most, they would think that this mysterious force was rampant, but in the end, they were actually taken away openly?

It felt like the matter was much more complicated than they had imagined...

“President Ye... What exactly is going on?” After a long while, Xie Donglin finally summoned up his courage and asked.

“What do you mean, what’s going on?” Ye xuanguan turned around and looked at the other party in bafflement. “The two of you signed the contract and got paid. I haven’t even said that I’m off work yet, and the two of you have already disappeared without a trace. I also wanted to ask the two of you what’s going on? Are you trying to break the contract? I heard that the two of you were taken away by the police when I chased you here. Isn’t that why I’m here to bail you out?”

The two of them felt their faces twitch. They felt that the other party was speaking very casually.

This was the security bureau...

They said that they could bail you out?

And it seemed like they were talking about our big health care getting arrested. Come on, it seemed like we were cooperating with the police to investigate your strange game, right?

“Boss, where are we going now?”

“Back to the game, of course!” Ye Xu Guan said without turning his head, “There are a lot of work arrangements that haven’t been explained yet, but you two escaped so quickly, causing me to look everywhere...”

Hearing that, the two men’s hearts sank, and they looked at each other...

At this time, the developer bloodline in their bodies was slowly getting used to it, and the speed at which they analyzed things was also getting faster and faster. If it was in the beginning, they might have already run away...

But now...

They looked at ye Xu, who was walking casually in front of them, and seemed unguarded, as if they were not worried at all about their escape. But from the fact that they’ve only been at the NSA for half a day and the boss is already pulling them out, it’s not like they can just turn around and run right now...

We'll have to take it one step at a time...

Back in the rudimentary office, they looked at the open game rooms and asked curiously, "Where are the others?"

"Of course off work ah... .."ye Xu Lun rolled his eyes at the two: "Do not look at what time it is, not because you two I also off work, hurry up, into the game I have something to tell you!"

The two of them hesitated for two seconds before obediently lying down in the game cabin. Judging from the previous situation, this mysterious boss shouldn't have caused any harm to them for the time being. At least, they didn't realize it, in such a situation, if they were to act too emotionally, it might cause more danger to themselves. It was better to understand the situation clearly first.

Following a flash of light, the two of them returned to the game once again, returning to the game base that was bursting with technology.

At this moment, the two of them looked around. There was still a lot of traffic. However, as most of the old players' teleportation points were located in their own dormitories, there were a lot of developers in the main base at night.

Along the way, the two of them saw players wearing white coats operating various machines. These players looked relatively ordinary, unlike the ones they saw in the day. They were either unbelievably handsome.., or they looked like green orcs.

These players looked a little like humans in real life, and they looked Asian...

These players skillfully operated the seemingly complicated machines. Even though the two of them were mechanical laymen, they could feel that these machines seemed difficult to operate. At least the densely packed buttons alone made people's scalps go numb. Moreover, a light screen would appear when a button was pressed, and there were thousands of buttons on the light screen...

To be honest, it would probably take a lot of time to backlight the effects of these buttons...

Just as they were thinking about it, they saw the other party bring them to a glowing ring. He took two clothes from the side and said, "Put them on!"

"What is this?"The two of them were stunned. They felt that the design was a little similar to... .. protective clothing.

"Your levels are too low right now. You Can't adjust your body to adapt to the outside environment on your own. You'll have to wear this before you can go out and exercise..."

The two of them were speechless. Wasn't this game setup a little too hardcore?

Although the protective clothing looked quite thick, it was unusually easy to wear. When they brought it over, it was as if it had a life of its own. The two of them immediately heaved a sigh of relief and thought to themselves, if it was really like NASA.., it would take a few hours to put on a protective suit. That would be too much. It seemed that this game still knew its limits...

As they sighed, they suddenly felt the space around them shake. Their vision blurred. Before they could react, the scene in front of them changed from a base that was full of technology to a prairie with blue skies and white clouds!

After the two of them woke up from their short daze, they looked at the clear blue sky and the things that looked like Mongolian yurts on the prairie. Their eyelids twitched.

They felt that this scene was jumping too fast?

“This is where you will work from now on!” Ye Xuanguan returned to his green titan body, as he walked, he introduced, “Let me first introduce the situation of our force. Our [King’s Landing World Tribe] currently has four main partners. Other than me, the major shareholder, there is also a flower spirit, a wind demon, and a mechanical alchemy developer. According to the rules of the game, we still have six partners, and the shares are still 40% empty.”

“Oh...” the two of them were stunned. This serious introduction of the shares came up with some mechanical alchemy, wind demon, and other such lines. They felt that the style was very strange... ..

“Our force has a population of more than 9,400 people, 99% of which is made up of orcs. About 2,000 of them are fighting people, and there are less than 50 shamans and witch doctors in total. The rest are responsible for herding and producing animals or children who haven’t grown up yet. In the current general base, our force is ranked 21st in the evaluation. We have great potential and advantages, and the future is promising. You will definitely not regret joining us...”. “... Come with me, I’ll tell you what you should do next...”. “...”

The two of them followed behind in a daze. Even though the developer’s bloodline had greatly increased their analytical abilities, they could not figure out what the other party was talking about.

Then, they saw the burly president Ye leading them to a base with a strong metal texture.

This steel-skinned house that stood out in the middle of the grassland was very strange when compared to the yurts around it...

After entering the base, the two of them felt like they had returned to the style of a sci-fi game.

“This is our experimental base. There are many complete facilities inside, and there are simple artificial intelligence that can assist you. Your current mission is to learn knowledge...”

With that, he brought the two of them to a corner of the base. “There is a virtual computer inside. When you open it, there will be the basic courses that you need to learn. In addition to the advanced courses of your major, there will be some other basic courses for you. Our base civilization is a civilization of magic mechanics, a civilization that mainly focuses on machinery and arcane energy shaping. The intelligence will arrange courses for you according to your situation. You need to complete the learning tasks according to the minimum amount of courses every day. The courses inside are all compiled by the Master of the base with a special tutor. If you encounter difficulties in the learning process, you can call the tutor remotely for online tutoring. Currently, there are fewer developers in the base, and the tutor resources are not tight. Generally, you can call the tutor.”

The two of them looked at each other. Due to their developer bloodline, they had memorized every word of the other party's words in their minds. However, because of this, they found it even more baffling.

The other party's tone did not seem to be asking them to level up and fight monsters, but to learn and research in the game!

"You can take a look at your classes now. If you have any questions, you can ask me. If there are no questions, you can get off work later. Remember to come on time tomorrow..."

Xie Donglin was stunned. He subconsciously tapped on the virtual screen and saw the display: player Xie Donglin, identity confirmed. Do You Want to enter your syllabus.

Xie Donglin clicked on enter and saw the display again: Xie Donglin, Life Level 1, specialized in subjects: computer programming applications, determined to be the basic computer of primitive low-level civilizations, the programming principle was still the old-fashioned object-oriented backward programming thought, which was less than 0.1% of the current mainstream computer knowledge. The courses set up according to the requirements of the Lords were divided into two categories, they were the basic subject knowledge popularization category and the computer science advancement and improvement category!

Xie Donglin's face twitched when he heard that, and he had a strange expression on his face. The basic computer science of primitive low-level civilizations? Was object-oriented programming a backward idea? Was it the advancement and improvement of computer science?

Was this game serious?

Chapter 596 What Kind of immortal background is this?

It seems... to be serious...

At first, Xie Donglin and Hu Kaifeng felt that it was ridiculous. This game actually said that their knowledge was at a low level?

The two of them were furious. As top students, they were described as low-level? They really wanted to ask what level the god in charge of the game content was at? Had he gone through junior college. He was speaking so indiscriminately...

But in the end, Xie Donglin felt that something was wrong the day after he arrived.

The main thing that made him feel that something was wrong was the learning content. He clicked on the computer learning content, intending to see what kind of foundation this game was going to use to advance and upgrade a low-level freshman like him!

He opened the course, the content was very sci-fi: the new BASIC programming language of Ellonia, the arcane multi-data structure, the 92nd edition of Ellonia's divine machine-style operating system, the multi-microcomputer and arcane assembly language, the system structure of the magic net, the multi-program-oriented design, the hyper-chimeric distributed system, the four big data systems of Ellonia, and so on... ..

At first, he could not help but laugh when he saw this name. It was so flashy, and he could tell what was going on at a glance, that so-called new BASIC programming language was most likely a program design in C language in sheepskin, and that so-called divine armament type 92nd edition operating system was most likely a Linux system, if it was a little lower-end, it might directly be a Windos. As for that so-called pluralistic program design, Xie Donglin was even more hehe. What was pluralistic? Different civilizations, different religions, and different species could all be called multi-dimensional. How could a programming language possibly involve all of this?

It was most likely a magical modification of the object-oriented programming design to bring out the principles of utopian technology...

In the end, he had just opened that so-called new basic language for less than a minute when he was attracted by the content inside. By the time he came back to his senses, it was already dark. If it wasn't because he was too hungry,. He might have been able to see it until the next morning...

This thing... ... It should have been made up by the game's content planner based on his imagination, right?

But wasn't this made up a little too well?

Why didn't I know how to refute it after watching it for a whole day? Instead, I felt that it was very reasonable?

Emmmmm..

With a complicated mind, Xie Donglin strolled out of the office building. When he reached the door, he saw Hu Kaifeng, who was also in a daze.

Therefore, he hurriedly went over to greet him and asked, "Senior, how are things on Your Side?"

Hu Kaifeng stared at him in a daze, after a long while, he swallowed his saliva and replied, "I feel that... I seem to have learned physics for nothing all these years. It's divine planning. No wonder there hasn't been any progress in science and technology over the past few decades. It turns out that even a God has gone to be a game planner..."

Xie Donglin: "This should be a fake, right, senior?"

"So what if it's fake? It's so well-made. If it were you, would you be able to make it up?"

Xie Donglin: "..."

Gulp Gulp...

Just as they were lamenting, both of their stomachs suddenly thumped. Only then did they remember that they were so engrossed in the game that they hadn't eaten anything.

"Senior, do you still have instant noodles over there?"

"Junior, we are already earning 30,000 yuan a month, why are we still eating instant noodles?"

"That makes sense. What are we going to eat?"

Hu Kaifeng looked at a small stall in the distance and his eyes lit up. "I must try it today. What does it feel like to add ten eggs to a pancake?!"

Xie Donglin: "..."

"Hey, director Cui, what's going on here? Why did you put the game back on the shelves after less than half a day? And you even removed the previous announcement?"

In the Cyber Disaster Headquarters, director Ding personally called to ask.

On the other end of the phone, director Cui said in a serious tone, "Good morning, director Ding. We have already conducted a strict review of the content that your company reported previously, but we did not find the alarmist situation that you described. Director Ding, please do not take such malicious methods to defame your competitors in the future...". "..."

Director Ding's heart skipped a beat when he heard this. He thought to himself, what's going on?

Isn't this falling out a little too quickly. This person with the surname Cui is not a dog...

"Director Cui, a wise man does not speak indecipherable words. How much did they give you..."

"Shut up!!" Director Cui suddenly raised his voice. "Someone with the surname Ding, you f * cking..."

Before he could finish his sentence, he suddenly heard the voice on the other end of the line stop abruptly. After that, about five or six seconds passed, another voice sounded on the other end of the phone. "CEO Ding, right? Since you don't beat around the bush, then tell me, how much are you willing to offer?"

CEO Ding: "..."

Beep...

A drop of cold sweat slid across CEO Ding's forehead. He knew that something had happened over there without even thinking...

The deputy director of the Virtual Reality Bureau, a person who could shake the entire virtual gaming market with a stomp of his foot, was detained just because he had taken down a game less than a day ago?

Moreover, the voice of the person on the other end of the phone...

It Can't be...

"Why isn't chief Ding speaking? Is he asleep?"

The voice sounded again. This time, Ding was finally certain that it was that person...

This result made him so scared that his phone flew out. His legs went soft, and he sat on the ground as if his bones had turned to mush. He looked like he had lost his soul.

How could it be that person? Why would someone like him pay attention to such a thing?

What was the background of this game?

“Oh?” On the other end of the phone, a kind-looking old man in casual clothes looked at the phone and said with a smile, “This kid from the Ding family has grown up. How dare he hang up on Me?”

“Head of state...” at the side of the office, a white-haired old man in formal clothes first glared at director Cui, who was in a daze. Then, he said with a smile, “You can just make a phone call for this kind of thing. Why did you have to come here personally?”

The person who spoke was the head of the Virtual Administration Bureau, Huang Huafeng...

“Make a phone call?” The old man smiled. “What if you hang up on me like that Ding de?”

“You’re joking!” Huang Huafeng said with a bitter smile.

The old man smiled and didn’t continue to tease him. Then, he said in a low voice, “This game is a national secret project. I didn’t inform you before because I wanted to keep it a secret. I didn’t expect that it would backfire... it’s our negligence...”

“Head of state is too serious. Since it’s a secret project, we shouldn’t reveal it privately...”

“But, Old Huang, when the virtual bureau was built, I told you that although the administrative level of this department isn’t high yet, due to the rapid development of the virtual network, its real power is very big. The more it is like this, the more we can’t use our power for personal gain. You, you must be careful when judging people!”

“Yes, yes... head of state, it’s my fault for not knowing people well.” Huang Huafeng repeatedly promised, “This time, I will be serious and clean out all the pests in the department!”

“We will talk about this later. The key now is the matter in front of us...”. The old man sighed, “This time, you made such a high-profile announcement, and now you immediately deleted the announcement. It will easily cause public opinion on the internet. You have to think of a way to control it. Do not let the foreign media notice our project, understand?”

“I understand!”

The old man nodded. Just two days ago, Old Li had brought good news. Sect Master Luo Fu had agreed to let the Army select elites to be stationed in this game for the Cultivation Aptitude Test!

Such a scale of cooperation with the cultivation world was something that even the magnificent Tang dynasty had never done before. Once it was successful, the government would completely grasp the extraordinary power and would no longer be blocked by those extraordinary great nations...

This was also the reason why he came personally. He had to make the various departments pay attention to this matter and must not let this project cause any more waves. Otherwise, foreign forces or domestic cultivation sects would find out something fishy, this matter would be troublesome!

Chapter 597 It’s not far away!

Shocking! Xing Hai Technologies was accused of endangering social stability and forced to be taken off the shelves. It only took half a day for it to resume operation, and the notice was also swallowed up by the administration. Was there a distortion of humanity or a depravity of morality behind this?

Internet Explorer reporting in person, and the virtual administration eating books for half a day? Just how deep was the water in the virtual network?

If he couldn't get it, he would destroy him. In terms of how difficult to get it, he had been eating unsightly all these years!

In front of the computer, Yang Rui, who was watching these heated discussions, had an extremely grave expression.

"What's wrong, Old Yang? Why Do You Look So Ugly?" The director, who was eating noodles at the side, looked at the other party in shock.

"This background is bigger than I imagined..." Yang Rui's expression was gloomy. He immediately stood up and went into the room to pack his luggage...

This action startled the two of them to put down the noodles. They walked over and said, "What are you doing? Where are you going?"

"I'm going to run!" Yang Rui narrowed his eyes and said, "If I don't run now, I'm afraid I won't have a chance..."

"What's the situation?" Director Luo frowned and said.

Yang Rui didn't explain and just quickly packed his luggage. It wasn't that he didn't want to explain, but he was afraid that if he did, he might not even be able to leave this room.

He had already deduced that the power behind this game was very big, but he did not expect it to be so big. After the virtual web series was taken down, it was only half a day before it was put back on the shelves, logically speaking, the security bureau should have already reported the possible social harm that this game could cause, but there was actually someone who could brazenly suppress this matter!

This matter was not alarmist. According to the characteristics of the game, it was indeed possible to cause that kind of unrest, but the authorities actually ignored it?

Moreover, the important thing was that although the local security bureau was a soy sauce department, it was directly under the jurisdiction of the head of state. Who was the person behind it who could suppress this matter? Was there even a need to think about it?

In order to verify his own guess, he had even tried it out a moment ago. He changed countless accounts and wrote a post in detail on this argument that endangered social stability. He posted it on all the major platforms, but in just a few seconds, all his posts had disappeared without a trace, and his ID was instantly blocked...

This made Yang Rui break out in a cold sweat!

Normally, even if he wanted to control the comments, he would wait for the comments to ferment before the higher-ups would issue an order for the major platforms to start controlling them. But how could it be so efficient? He had just posted it and it had not even had any effect before it was deleted?

Moreover, judging from the results of the audit, the audit teams of the major platforms should not have reacted at all. Otherwise, his post would not have been sent out so smoothly!

And there was only one thing that could delete his post and lock his account without the auditors knowing!

That was the country's Super Intelligence!

Super Intelligence, the national terminal network equipment, had the highest authority. It could instantly access any platform, including the military's database, and instantly retrieve any data they wanted. And it only took a few seconds.

This super intelligence with super high computing power and the backdoors of the major platforms was equivalent to a nuclear bomb. It was impossible for ordinary people to activate it.

In central China, there was only one person who could activate it...

The head of state was actually on the side of this faction! !

Yang Rui's face was gloomy. He felt that this problem had already exceeded his expectations.

As for why he wanted to escape, it was because the computer he used belonged to director Luo. Since the other party had used the super intelligence, it would definitely be able to lock his IP. He believed that someone would come knocking on his door very soon.

He had to leave the country as soon as possible. With the current situation, it was already impossible to investigate in the country... ! With Super Intelligence's ability, as long as he knew his identity, it would be too easy to lock down his position. At that time, even if he was monkey sun, he would not be able to escape!

"Old Yang, say something!" Chief Luo, who was about to be tricked, obviously did not know what he would face. He frowned and glared at Yang Rui.

Yang Rui looked at director Luo, finally, he sighed and said, "Old Luo, listen to me. No matter what the higher-ups say to you in the future, don't believe it. Don't believe that this game is some national secret research and development project. Remember, don't believe it!"

"Old Yang... you... What do you mean by this?" Director Luo was shocked when he heard it.

"This matter is not done well, I'm afraid it is not the matter of our Huazhong family..." after Yang Rui finished, he did not stay any longer, picked up his luggage and walked out!

"Lao Yang, what are you trying to say? Tell me clearly!"

Yang Rui took his bag and walked quickly to the airport. On the way, he booked a ticket to North America on his mobile phone!

The game could not have been developed by the state in secret. This was the conclusion that Yang Rui came to in an instant!

He carefully investigated the whole incident. From the appearance of the game to the appearance of this mysterious sect called Luofu and their cooperation with the authorities, all these things seemed to have appeared out of thin air, and they were also extremely coincidental.

As a senior police officer, he also knew the history of the cultivation world. A sect that he had never heard of had suddenly appeared and was able to contend with Kunlun and fully support the state in forming the Dragon Group. This kind of thing was very suspicious.

Therefore, he had decided to continue following Pu Yunchuan and the others after watching Kunlun's martial arts practice.

And as expected, the events that happened later proved that this newly emerged sect was definitely not a good person, and it was definitely not as simple as an ordinary cultivation sect.

After discovering that the game had a connection with Luo Fu, he carefully studied the nature of the game. After many days of research and seeing that girl appear out of thin air from the game pod that day, he was very certain, this was definitely not a game!

In fact... .. this was probably not something that should be on this D ball... ..

The other party used the supernatural powers that the authorities wanted as bait and used the authorities' powers as cover to allow the game to continue operating!

As for what exactly that mysterious force wanted to do with this game, he could not deduce anything because there was too little information. However, he knew that it was probably not a good thing...

Since even the head of state was on their side now, it was probably impossible to find support in the country...

The only thing he could do now was to get out and try to investigate in the foreign countries that were not covered by this mysterious force!

"Damn, there are so many hidden dragons and crouching tigers in City C!" On the other side of the main base, looking at Yang Rui who was escaping in the picture, rainless melon muttered as she ate the freshly chilled amethyst melon, "First, there's Goudan's father, and then there's this Yang Rui. are the police in City C all this powerful?"

The deputy covered his head and said, "Boss, isn't it not too good to be so relaxed? I admit that this guy is quite smart, but it also proves that our game is getting harder and harder to cover up. There are too many loopholes!"

"It doesn't matter..." Yuenu wugua sighed and said, "According to the current progress, the threat of D ball to us is getting smaller and smaller. It's not far from this game being completely announced to the world!"

Chapter 598 Xie Donglin's daily work (Part One)

“Donglin, can you hear me?”

“Yes, Dad, What’s the matter?”

“I’ve received the money you sent over. I was wondering how a fresh graduate like you could get so much money? You’re not doing something illegal, are you?”

“What’s on Dad’s mind? How Bold is your son? How would I dare to do something like prison?”

“I’m reminding you that at such a young age, you should never do evil things, especially in your line of work, such as game cheats, Trojan horses for XX websites, and the development of special services to develop games. You should never touch them!”

“Dad... you... know so much...”Xie Donglin covered his head and said.

“If you are already doing these things, hurry up and resign. Our Old Xie family can’t afford to lose face!”After a pause, he said, “Ahem, but before you resign, you can make full use of it and give dad a backdoor...”

“Backdoor?”Xie Donglin was stunned...

“Sigh, dad is bored. Ever since your dad half-retired, he has nothing to do. I don’t know how to play those complicated games. When I get old, I can only play simple and easy-to-understand training games. Nowadays, many training games in the market have been banned. Dad, I’m bored to death. I heard that although those games are banned now, some companies can actually let us in through the backdoor. If you have that channel, get one for Dad!”

Xie Donglin:”...”

Seeing that Donglin did not speak, his father continued, “Father, I don’t want anything. I just want to see some young girls and feel a little better...”.

Xie Donglin’s face was dark as he said, “Aren’t there a lot of nurturing games left online? Let’s play another one...”

“The rest are all serious games. Nurturing games. Who’s playing serious games?”

Xie Donglin:”...”

“Dad, I’m going to work. Can We Talk About Anything Tonight? I’m hanging up now...”

“Hey, Hey, remember to send dad a backdoor...”

Beep Beep...

After hanging up, Xie Donglin covered his head. What kind of nonsense was going on on the Internet now. He had taught the old man badly. Fortunately, the authorities cracked down on him in time...

With a sigh, Xie Donglin lay down in the game room and started the game. . .

With a wave of space, he came to the vast prairie, took a deep breath of the sweet air inside, Xie Donglin face revealed a pleasant look.

Compared with the turbid air of the city, the smell of the prairie does feel like washing one's lungs, although occasionally it smells like cow shit.

He had been here for almost a month. As a developer, even if he was a little slow, he was slowly beginning to understand the nature of this game.

This was indeed not a serious game. To be honest, the aliens who thought of using this method to invade planet D were really talented.

Although he did not know why the alien forces with such an amazing civilization would use such a gentle method to invade, this might be an opportunity for the grassroots like them.

As usual, he quickly walked towards the small base after teleporting in. Along the way, the orc guards greeted him with respect, and Xie Donglin politely responded to each of them.

In this base, not only were they responsible for scientific research, they were also responsible for teaching the next generation of orc children about knowledge. According to what he knew, in the traditional Orc tribes, the only ones who could learn about knowledge were the children of the shaman family or the Witch Doctor family, such an opportunity was very rare. After all, the great shamans protected their knowledge very strictly. This was also the reason why many tribal shamans were able to become high-ranking nobles.

However, now that they were able to teach their children knowledge selflessly, they naturally won the respect of the majority of the orcs. However, regardless of the reason, it was really pleasant to enjoy the feeling of being respected...

"Sir, your breakfast!"

After entering the base, Xie Donglin had just sat down when a female Beastman eagerly brought him breakfast. A happy smile appeared on Xie Donglin's face. This was the second perk of this job...

Breakfast was very simple. A piece of sweet mixed grain cake, a cup of milk beverage similar to oats, and finally, half a cup of crystal clear purple fruit. Although it was simple, the taste was definitely not something master Kang could compare to, he was even certain that the food here was even more delicious than the top-grade luxury cuisine of Ball D!

Even though... The top-grade luxury cuisine he had eaten was the steak in the buffet... ..

He picked up the multi-grain cake and took a bite. The high-grade crops and finely processed pieces had a unique taste. They both had a rich sense of hierarchy and retained the original flavor of the grain. It was so delicious that Xie Donglin almost moaned.

It was said that this was one of the popular products of their forces in Gondolin...

From the latest information on the market in the database, although many forces could grow high-grade crops, their processing was abnormally crude. Only their forces put in a lot of effort in the field of grain processing!

Apart from crops, they also raised large amounts of high-grade livestock. Along with excellent mechanical technology, they made many processed delicacies, apart from pastries, they also made delicious sweets, ice cream, dried fruits, secret meat jerky, and many other snacks. This allowed them to snack on high-grade crops. In this market, they ruled the world!

As for why they chose such a domineering name to make it into a snack market, Xie Donglin had also seen the specific situation in the market data.

Currently, the Gondolin market was intense, and the big shots had long since taken over all the business. As a mechanical force, they naturally wanted to make a huge profit in the arms business, they did not want to sell traditional daily necessities such as noodles or bread machines.

However, there was nothing they could do. The arms market was too intense, and now that traditional cold weapons occupied the main market, mechanical forces like them were at a disadvantage in this aspect. If they wanted to quickly make money back, they could only find another way...

Of course, there was still a market. As the market for biological surgeries in Gondolin grew larger and larger, some agility-type soldiers began to appear. The demand for long-range weapons had been slowly increasing during this period of time.

Many people had already set their eyes on this area, especially the mechanical forces. Most of their current hot-selling products were explosive devices, but the demand and supply for those things were not very large, now that long-range weapons had increased, it was a good opportunity for them to promote their firearms products.

During this period of time, the developers in charge of this area seemed to be studying non-stop. Even Hu Kaifeng had been pulled over to be a binder these few days, in charge of the physics and mechanics formula...

Xie Donglin had been relatively relaxed recently. His task was to use the multivariate code to develop a basic application system to optimize the current manual labor. This was a big project, and it was not very urgent. However, he was not as nervous as Hu Kaifeng and the others...

After eating breakfast, Xie Donglin burped contentedly and opened the virtual screen. He was ready to finish optimizing the human labor system yesterday and save some time. He might even have time to attend a meditation class in the afternoon.

Chapter 599 Xie Donglin's daily work (part two)

During lunch time, Xie Donglin finally met Hu Kaifeng, whose face was covered in butter. It had only been a few days of overtime, but his senior's face looked much more haggard.

As expected... overtime was still too bad for his body...

However, he could understand why his senior seemed to be enjoying himself. As a straight-A student, he had an infatuation for experiments in his bones. Scientific research experiments told them that... As interesting as the average Netizen's fascination with King's glory...

Lunch was a private meal. High-ranking officials like them did not have to eat big pots of rice like the orcs. They were equipped with specialized chefs.

When he thought about how he could be considered a high-ranking official, Xie Donglin's mood improved, with a bright smile, he said to the fox girl, "One star Rhino Steak, one glass of fresh-squeezed red crystal fruit juice, and one star Berry sundae. That's it!"

"Alright!" The Fox Girl Winked at Xie Donglin and said with a smile, "What kind of sauce do you want for the steak?"

"Beef bone braised sauce!" Xie Donglin rubbed his hands and said with a smile.

The other party jotted it down with a smile. Then, she looked at Hu Kaifeng who was beside her. Hu Kaifeng yawned and said lazily, "Same as him, but I want fresh milk and mushroom sauce for the steak..."

"Okay, please wait a moment!" The Fox girl smiled very gently at the two of them. Then, she swayed her graceful body and slowly left.

The Fox clan was born with a beautiful appearance, and they often had to rely on powerful clans. Now, in the base, these single grandfathers of mages were a rare delicacy, so they naturally had to work hard to perform...

However, it was clear that Xie Donglin was more interested in delicacies than the fox. The star Rhino steak here was plump and juicy. The taste was far from what he could compare with the synthetic steak he had eaten in the buffet. In addition, the rich beef bone braised sauce., the taste was simply explosive. This also made lunch time one of the times he looked forward to the most!

He had checked the information. The beef bone gravy here was made from the star rhinoceros steak that had been cooked for more than eighty hours. The process was complicated. In Gondolin, a portion of the gravy was sold for a lot of points. The One Hu Kaifeng ordered was not cheap either, spiritual Velvet was a type of mushroom, but it was extremely difficult to grow. There were very few plants in their base, and they only provided high-level personnel like them.

Thinking about the discrimination and preferential treatment everywhere, Xie Donglin finally understood why those rich people liked this kind of class life. Not to mention the taste, just the feeling of being able to enjoy the feeling that others could not enjoy was very wonderful... ..

"Senior, I haven't seen you for a few days. What are you busy with?" Xie Donglin asked curiously.

"Isn't it still about the new gun design?" Hu Kaifeng sighed. "In the past, most of the Lord players were ORC soldiers. There were fewer agility types, and they were more enthusiastic about melee weapons. Now that there are more agility types with great difficulty, the demand is greater. Of course, we have to seize this opportunity..." "..."

'We?'

Xie Donglin was slightly stunned. Unknowingly, his senior seemed to have integrated into the faction...

"Did it go smoothly?" Xie Donglin asked.

“Not very smoothly...” hu Kaifeng shook his head. “Compared to firearms, traditional crossbows seem to be more popular recently.”

“We can also make crossbows, right?” Xie donglin hurriedly said, “Are mechanical point-pressing composite bows and mechanical crossbows inferior to traditional crossbows?”

“They really can’t be compared...” Hu Kaifeng sighed and said, “Nowadays, traditional crossbows use high-grade wood cultivated by the elemental elves. Crossbows made through crafts are completely unfamiliar with mechanical crossbows in terms of strength. Moreover, their bows are easier to maintain, and the cost is lower. Most importantly, they have the ability to conduct magic!”

“The ability to conduct magic?” Hu Kaifeng was stunned.

“It’s enchantment...” hu Kaifeng said faintly, “It’s the additional elemental power blessed by the elemental elves. The enchantment of wood is obviously better than metal. This is more attractive to soldiers who have practiced elemental breathing!”

“Then is there no market for weapons in our mechanical civilization?” Xie Donglin was stunned.

“That’s not...” Hu Kaifeng shook his head and said, “It depends on the person who uses it. Enchanted wooden bows are more suitable for elite soldiers who have cultivated the elemental breathing technique. In order to unleash its power, there is a certain requirement for one’s own strength. However, for low-level soldiers, mechanical products can improve their combat ability in a short period of time because the firepower of the machinery is fixed. It Won’t be increased just because of the bullets or crossbows that you use to shoot!”

“But... our force is not a pure mechanical civilization!” Xie Donglin frowned. “Aren’t We the Magic Power Civilization? Can’t we solve the problem of magic conductivity?”

As far as he knew, the magic power civilization was a combination of the mechanical civilization and the arcane civilization. The original intention of this series of civilizations was to combine the advantages of the mechanical civilization and the arcane civilization!

The mechanical civilization relied on high-tech weapons and did not pay attention to its own evolution, which led to the eventual decision to abandon its fragile life forms and go on the path of transforming humans. That was also the reason for the rise of the planned origin civilization.

On the other hand, the arcane civilization relied too much on the life forms themselves, which made many untalented life forms extremely inefficient.

The magic power civilization was different. By combining the strengths of both civilizations, they did not give up the root of the evolution of life, but also took advantage of the external effects of the mechanical technology!

For example, HAX technology was a successful example of the magic power civilization. The equipment of hax was made of metal, but the magic conductivity of the weapons was not inferior to that of traditional wood, moreover, as the use of metal materials was studied, it was even more powerful. Moreover, because it was a mechanical product, it was far superior to conventional cold weapons in terms of enhancement, and it was very popular in the market.

Including the late kinetic energy firearms, in addition to the firepower of the firearms themselves, it could also absorb the energy of the weapon users themselves to add to it. It was really able to stack the advantages of the mechanical civilization and the arcane civilization!

However, the drawback was...

"The cost is too high!" Hu Kaifeng said helplessly, "Not to mention that it can't be made now, even if it is made, there are not many people in the market who can afford it. Moreover, there are already people who are ahead in the market for Hex Weapons."

"Then, should we give up?" Xie Donglin frowned. He always felt that the decision made by his own force was not very good. Although the market for high-end weapons was small, if they did not develop in this aspect, they would always lag behind.

"Not exactly...". Hu Kaifeng smiled and said, "The research and development costs in this aspect are too high. That player named Xu Xian only focuses on the research of close-combat hex weapons. The main products now are the hex gloves and kinetic energy greatsword. There are still gaps in the long-range equipment, so our magic-powered weapons should try to develop in this aspect, but the prerequisite is that we can successfully negotiate today!"

"Negotiate?" Xie Donglin was stunned.

"Why do you think I have time to eat steak today?" Hu Kaifeng rolled his eyes at him and said, "It's because all the shareholders have gone to talk about the raw materials business. If you want to study these things, high-grade raw materials are indispensable. You must find a long-term supply partner."

"Who?" Xie Donglin asked quickly.

"Of course! Haven't you been familiarizing yourself with the market data for the past two days? What have you gotten familiar with?" Hu Kaifeng rolled his eyes and said, "The most powerful tribe in the raw materials market is naturally the little cabbage tribe!"

"This name..." Xie Donglin could not help but roll his eyes.

"The name is a little LOW, but our strength is first-class. Let me tell you, if this negotiation doesn't go smoothly, our strength will probably go down a notch in the future..."

As he said this, Hu Kaifeng looked around, then, he lowered his voice and said softly, "You must remember to improve yourself after work. Our contract is only for five years. If you want to get more shares in five years, it will definitely depend on your ability. To take a step back, if this power is not strong enough, as long as we are outstanding enough, we still have many ways to go. I've checked, developers like us are very popular!"

Xie Donglin nodded. This was also why he would try his best to use his spare time to attend meditation classes. Only by improving himself could he be valued more and more in the future...

This platform had a great opportunity now, but correspondingly, the competition was also great!

Chapter 600 Planning and looking forward to the future

In the evening, Xie Donglin dragged his tired body towards his dormitory. In fact, after knowing the truth, he could stay in the game forever and save unnecessary bus time.

However, the boss did not let them stay. The reason was said to be to delay the time for the game to be discovered.

The disappearance of the people in the game cabin was already a flaw. There was a large number of new recruits nowadays. In order to prevent more people from finding out anything fishy, they had to implement a mode of control. Firstly, the game cabin had to be unified in the office, secondly, they had to make these freshmen look like ordinary people who were working.

Xie Donglin was not concerned about this because he knew that the leader of the extraterrestrial forces would have a corresponding plan.

What he needed to do now was to make use of the opportunity to gain enough advantages in the game before the game was completely released. As the senior had said, only by being strong could one have enough competitiveness in the future.

For a grassroots like him, it was a rare thing to have such a large platform, especially in today's society where there were fewer and fewer ways to rise...

If the opportunity came and he didn't seize it, then he deserved to be a loser for the rest of his life!

Back in his dorm, Xie Donglin climbed onto his bed tiredly. His three roommates hadn't come back for the past few days, so he didn't know what they were doing.

After lying on his bed, Xie Donglin began to think about his future path.

He had studied the occupations of developers these days and learned that there were still many paths for this type of occupation to grow. Moreover, because the basic requirements were relatively high and there were fewer people playing, it seemed that no matter which path he took, it would be quite popular!

According to his understanding, this type of job class could choose a very high-end spiritual job class according to the subject they were good at in the later stages, which was also known as the mage in the game!

However, because of the different subjects, the type of mage they would eventually become would also be different, for example, those who were good at chemical engineering would be more likely to become elemental alchemists. For example, those who were good at biology could either become biochemical alchemists or magical plant alchemists, this depended on the direction they chose.

Compared to their own specialty, there were many choices. Computer specialties could design various auxiliary systems for them. Whether it was the experimental route or the battle route, they had a lot of advantages.

For example, they could become a mechanical alchemist, use their programming ability to make various high-end mechanical puppets, or they could become a traditional shapeshift mage, his programming ability could make him a support system that could adjust his shapeshift ability in battle. He had certain advantages!

However, the disadvantage was that none of them completely suited him. This meant that as a computer major, he could adapt to almost any spiritual power job in the later stages of a developer's career, including the currently popular mecha warrior, however, no matter what he wanted to become, he would learn another major!

If he wanted to become a mechanical alchemist, he had to learn the major of mechanical manufacturing and mechanical applications. If he wanted to become a biological alchemist, he had to learn the major of biochemistry.

In other words, a computer science major was only an auxiliary subject...

What Path should he choose?

Xie Donglin lay on his bed and thought about it with some hesitation.

Currently, he was working for someone else. Not only did he have to spend a lot of time on learning computer content, but he also had to spend time on the development of various systems in the company. The amount of time he could spare for learning was actually limited.

In such a situation, he had to be careful. First of all, he had to choose a mage profession that was compatible with the current civilization of his company.

After all, there were two advantages to this. First, the civilization library in the base could greatly enrich his knowledge in this area. Second, learning knowledge that was compatible with his own civilization would be beneficial for him to fight for shares in five years.

Although he did not know whether the shares of his company would be valuable in the future, it was still much more reasonable than learning a subject that had nothing to do with the civilization of the company.

Then what were the categories that his [ruling the world] tribe could choose?

He had gathered some data from his own civilization database over the past few days and came to some conclusions. His own force was the Arnia civilization, specializing in the fields of machinery and arcane plastic energy, the spiritual professions that matched were: mechanical alchemist, Arcane Plastic Energy Mage, magic powered Mech Warrior, and Pure Material Alchemist!

Mecha operators had a very high cost, and they had to learn a lot of subjects. They had to understand all kinds of knowledge, and their own spiritual power requirements were very high. They belonged to the class of the rich and handsome. Although Xie Donglin was quite yearning for it..., but he rationally threw it aside first.

Then came the Pure Alchemy Material Alchemist. This type of alchemist could use spiritual power to change the properties of objects and exchange them with materials of equal value. He was the most traditional alchemist, but his knowledge was also quite complex, moreover, he would most likely be a material master in this company. If he chose this profession, then he would be a pure researcher in the future. This was something that Xie Donglin was quite dissatisfied with.

Although he was a top student, he also yearned for his own powerful combat strength. When he was young, he actually wanted to practice martial arts. However, his family didn't have the conditions, so he eventually embarked on the path of the program ape.

Now that he had the opportunity, he naturally didn't want to be a pure researcher.

Moreover, he didn't like materials science...

Then the remaining considerations were mechanical alchemists and shapeshifters. Both classes were mages with high combat strength in the information evaluation, but one relied more on the storage of magic puppets or mechanical alchemy equipment, the other relied entirely on the control of mental strength over the elements.

The former was definitely more comprehensive, but...

Xie Donglin thought that the leader of the developers in his base seemed to be a mechanical alchemist. The class that he chose to repeat with him would probably be suppressed forever in the future.

Moreover, there was also a mechanical major among the new recruits now, the other party would most likely take this path, so he definitely did not have an advantage over the other party. After all, the other party was also learning mechanical knowledge during working hours, while he needed to use his spare time to learn the mechanical major, his efficiency was definitely not as good as the other party.

In that case...

Thinking of this, Xie Donglin finally made a decision. He could try in the direction of a shapeshifting mage. When he went to work the next day, he would go and take a look at the main threshold of knowledge required for this class.

After temporarily deciding on his career direction, he began to worry about the negotiation issue that Hu Kaifeng had mentioned today.

Since he had entered this power, he naturally hoped that this company would do better and better. This way, the company's shares would have a fighting value five years later. Otherwise, even if he was capable enough to jump ship, he was afraid that when that time came... It would be difficult for him to become a partner with shares from other powers...

Unless he started his own business...

At the thought of this, he began to lament about his experiences these past few days...

His parents had sent him to study for so many years. Previously, he had thought that all his years of study had been in vain. However, he had not expected that by chance and coincidence, his ability would allow him to have such a leading initiative in the New World!

He had to seize this opportunity and become a true master in this great opportunity!

With full of hope and anticipation for the future, Xie Donglin's body was very tired, but the excited brain cells made him unable to fall asleep for a long time...

On this day, the students who had just joined the game like him were also like this. They were filled with anticipation for the future and could not fall asleep...
