

A Bunch 781

Chapter 781 voting

Test? Castellan? Louvre? What the hell?

Angor stared at the man in shock. If it was not for the fact that the man was able to sneak into the office of the West German leader, she might have thought the man was crazy!

Seeing this, Vivian smiled and did not say anything, she threw out a chip and said, "This contains all the information you want to know. You can choose whether to accept our invitation or not after reading it. Since the election is coming up, please give us an answer as soon as possible..."

As he spoke, Vivian activated the teleport. A bright light flashed and disappeared from Angor's stunned face.

What was going on?

Angor caught the light purple chip in a daze. In the next second, the chip dripped into the computer on his desk like a drop of water. Then, the virtual screen in the office was activated. One by one, the information that the spies had desperately tried to take away from central China a few days ago appeared on the screen...

"this is..." Angor's eyes widened as he looked at the information. . .

A few hours later, a group of men and women in suits appeared one after another in the Capitol Hall. These men and women were of different ages and colors, but they all had very similar temperaments, anyone with a discerning eye could tell that they were politicians.

"Hey, Albert, you're here too?" A middle-aged woman who just came out of the garage looked at a white man of the same age and asked curiously.

The man quickly turned around and looked at the woman in surprise. "Louise? You're here too? I thought you were transferred to Xiyi as a diplomatic ambassador."

The woman nodded. "I just got word from Angor. I booked a flight and came here. I don't know what's so urgent..."

"Me Too..." the woman nodded. "I had an important meeting this afternoon, but Angor told me to push it..."

"Is that so?" The woman frowned. "I have a feeling something big might have happened..."

The two walked into the congress hall. When they entered the conference room, they were surprised. There were already a lot of people in the room, but they knew all of them.

After all, they had fought in the same place before!

That's right. These people were all Angor's trusted aides when he was running for leader. When Angor came to power, these trusted aides were all assigned to better administrative positions, such as himself, now, he was the ambassador of West Yi. With this political qualification, he could even run for mayor in a few years'time.

Angor actually recruited all his advisors back? What happened?

"Louise is here?"

A friendly voice came. Louise quickly turned around. It was Angor, who brought her all the way here!

"Angor!" Louise quickly bowed.

Angor waved his hand with a smile. He looked around the conference room and nodded in satisfaction.

"Everyone's here... Alright, let's begin. Louise, quickly find a seat!"

"Sir, what happened?" Louise asked as soon as she sat down.

Angor slowly walked to the leader's seat, he took a deep breath and said, "Everyone, I called you here today because of my personal desire. You're the best team of advisors I've ever met. We once defeated the Soaring Figg and took the leadership position together. Now... "I need your help again." "Huh? !"

Everyone looked at each other. The hall became very quiet. No one expected Angor to call them here to talk about something like this?

This was no longer ten years ago. They were no longer small assistants. Each of them was now in a good position. Some of them were even elected as the next mayor, they were already working hard for their political careers. Now, Angor asked them to return to being assistants?

He must be joking?

For people without political backgrounds, being an assistant was a shortcut to get into politics. As long as they chose the right person, they could quickly gain a position in politics with the help of their lord.

But they had already made it this far. Who would go back to being an advisor? Were they addicted to being lackeys?

However, now that their former boss was asking them for help in a serious manner, they could not say that directly. After a long time, Louise asked in confusion, "Sir, do you want to serve for the third term?"

"Sir..." before Angor could explain.., one of the oldest middle-aged men said, "You've been doing well in the economy and your popularity among the public has improved, but your approval rating is not as good as before. Compared to the most popular candidates now, you... "You're not even in the consideration of this election!"

The leader of West Germany had a four-year term. There was no limit to the number of terms he could serve. In theory, as long as his approval rating was high enough, he could serve for an unlimited number of consecutive terms. However, it was rare for a leader to serve more than two terms in the history of West Germany. The reason was simple, people were never satisfied. Angor might be doing well now, but they would always think that the next one would be better. Although the next one would be worse in most cases, people would never learn from their mistakes, they would always be confused by the policy slogans in the candidates' speeches. This was a common problem in the western electoral system.

Angor had almost no chance of being re-elected. Even if they were willing to be her aides, it was not realistic.

"I don't want to be re-elected..." Angor shook his head. "I just have a better direction..."

"A better direction?" Everyone was stunned. What better direction than the West German leader? The leader of the Federation. Are you kidding me? What's the point of that thing?

Angor did not explain everything, instead, he smiled and said, "Now that you all have your own careers, I won't force you. I called you here today to make a choice. If you feel satisfied with your careers, you can leave now. If you're willing to help me, stay. I'll tell you the details. I'll tell you first. If you decide to stay, you have to give up your careers and don't regret it!"

"Um..." everyone was stunned. This..? Was this too much of a gamble?

"Sir... It's such a big deal. Why Don't you tell us what you're planning before we make a decision?" One of the middle-aged men asked while rubbing his hands.

"No...". Angor shook his head. "We can't let outsiders know about this. We can't reveal the information. We can only share it with the people who join us. I can only tell you that this opportunity is very rare. If you miss it, you won't get a second chance in your life." "...". "..."

This...

Everyone looked at each other with strange expressions. Louise hesitated and said, "Sir, even if you say so, isn't it a little... a little too much to give up our current career when we don't have any right to know?"

"I know it's difficult..." Angor sighed. "But I'm sorry, I really can't..."

"Is it a big deal?" Louise asked out of curiosity.

"It is!" Angor said seriously. "It's beyond your imagination!"

SSS...

Everyone took a deep breath and thought to themselves, "What the hell is it?!"

"Then... is it a big deal?" Louise asked again.

Angor shook his head. "Not really..."

Everyone: "..."

"Time is of the essence, so we don't need to waste any more time..." Angor said seriously. "Let's vote now. Those who are willing to stay, just sit here and don't move. Those who are not, you can leave now!"

Chapter 782: Choice!

After Angor announced that he was going to let the people vote, the hall fell into a strange silence... ..

But that was normal. If you were someone who had already started your own business and made some achievements, and your former boss suddenly came to tell you that I had a big project, and it was awesome. Come back and work for me again!

What Project?

I Can't tell you...

How much did the project earn?

I Can't tell you, but it was awesome.

Can I. . . Work part-time?

No, you have to give up all the crap that you have right now and help me wholeheartedly.

So... how big is the risk?

It's huge, and the odds aren't high... But winning for thousands of generations, trust me, the project is awesome... ..

It's you... What's your choice?

Under normal circumstances, people would have called her a retard and left... ..

But she was Angor, the leader of West Germany in the 200 years since the federation was founded. Everyone had fought with her before, so they knew what she was capable of. If the Arthur family had not tried so hard to suppress her, west Germany would have returned to its former glory in her hands!

No matter how ridiculous her words were, people would always believe her... ..

Time... Seconds and minutes passed. Finally, someone began to make a decision.

"I'm sorry, Master Angor..." a handsome middle-aged man bowed slightly. "Even you can't convince me to give up everything..."

Angor looked at the man and nodded. His name was Niedergaard, and he was the best in his team. He was elected as the Mayor of Cologne a year ago, cologne was a famous city on the Rhine River and a heavy industry city in the west. It was ranked fourth among all the cities in West Germany. The mayor of this city was already considered one of the top politicians in West Germany, to be elected at the age of 33 meant that he would be a strong contender for the position of leader in the future.

He was the last person in Angor's team to stay because he only needed to work harder and he would be able to reach the pinnacle of power in West Germany.

Angor looked at the man with mixed emotions. The man's eyes were filled with high spirits. He dared to reject Angor first because he had enough capital and confidence. He looked like a young man with wings...

Angor did not mind this. She knew that the man was as talented as she was. He was like the rising sun, shining with the brightest light of his life.

Unfortunately, the information was not equal. He had no idea what he was rejecting!

After reading the information, Angor knew from his many years of experience as a leader that if the information was real, all the power in the Federation would be devalued at an alarming rate. A leader of a country.., would be worthless in the future!

Angor sighed and did not try to persuade them. There were some things that depended on fate. He could not risk leaking information just because someone was good. After all, he was not the only one with good talent who missed out on opportunities...

“How About You?” Angor asked with a smile.

With someone taking the lead, the pressure on the people behind them lessened. In an instant, more than two-thirds of the people expressed that they did not want to give up everything they had.

Angor looked at the probability and sighed in his heart. He had expected this outcome. After all, he had no information at all and his political career was at stake. It was reasonable for him to refuse.

If everyone rejected her today, she would not be surprised. However, she would have to find a new team. Unfortunately, finding a good team in such a short time was a bit difficult, and the opponents were all the top people in the world.

“I’m willing to join you, Master Angor!”

Finally, a different voice came from the crowd.

Everyone looked over. It was Louise, the ambassador from West Yi!

Angor was a little surprised. He looked over and realized something. How Old was the little girl?

He remembered that she was only 22 years old when she volunteered to join his team. She just graduated from college, but she convinced him to let her be the leader of his publicity team with her eloquence.

The other party had no background at all. After she was elected, she had suggested that the other party play to her strengths and accumulate resources from diplomacy. Over the years, the other party had also been doing very well, relying on her outstanding speech and negotiation skills, she had a very high reputation both among the people and in the industry. Among the many diplomats in West Germany, the possibility of her becoming the diplomatic governor was very high.

She had such a good career, yet she was the first one who was willing to give up everything to join her...

...

Angor smiled and nodded at her. He then looked at the remaining people who had yet to make a statement.

The remaining people looked at each other. After a few minutes of hesitation, half of them refused politely one after another. In the end, there were only five people left, including the first one, Louise!

Thank God... They were not alone...

Angor mocked himself in his heart. He was also a little moved by the fact that people were more realistic. Although everything they had now was brought to them by him, time had changed... His appeal was only this strong...

"Well..." Angor took a deep breath and slowly stood up with a smile on his face. He nodded at the people who rejected her. "Thank you for taking the time to come..."

"You're welcome, sir..." Niedergaard, who rejected her first, quickly bowed and said, "Without you, we wouldn't be here. I'm sorry that I couldn't make up my mind this time. If I can help you with my current status, please don't hesitate to tell me. I'll do my best." "..."

Everyone agreed to his words. Angor smiled and responded to each of them. He was right. At least they parted on good terms... . . .

But... That's it. She understands their choices, but that doesn't mean she'll agree with them, and since she doesn't want to believe in herself, she's a different kind of person. . .

"My Lord, will you speak now? What is it?"

Angor looked at them and nodded. He then waved his hand and five black contract papers floated towards them as if they were alive. Everyone was stunned by the magical scene, then they were pleasantly surprised.

Louise gulped and said dryly, "Master... Did You... get the ancient blood?"

The other four were also excited. In their eyes, such magical methods must have extraordinary abilities. In Western Europe, only ancient blood could make ordinary people extraordinary...

Ancient blood was the foundation of extraordinary families. A drop of pure ancient blood could develop up to ten descendants. After the bloodline was purified, the ancient blood could be divided again, and the family could flourish. This was something that would last for thousands of generations!

No wonder they said this was something more important than running for president. So that was it!

Thinking about how they would become extraordinary in the future and become a member of the Knight family in Western Europe, officially stepping into that circle, and even allowing their descendants to benefit from it, all of them were trembling with excitement, they were all glad that they chose to stay.

Angor looked at their questions and expressions. He shook his head and smiled. "It's not what you think. The Opportunity I'm talking about is much greater than something like ancient blood!"

Then, she opened the virtual screen and played the information!

Everyone stared at the information in a daze. Then, their eyes widened...

Chapter 783: public prediction

“You’ve read the information. According to the information they gave me, in ten days, we’ll announce the invited political figures and the rules of the election!”

In the conference room, Angor clapped his hands and said, “These ten days are the golden period for us to collect information and predict the future of the election. Now, let me assign some tasks...”

Everyone stared at Angor in a daze. Clearly, they were still shocked by the information they just received.

What... was that?

An immortal sect in the middle of China discovered a secret passage to an alien world thousands of years ago? For thousands of years, they had been collecting scientists from all over the world to develop the latest technology, which was at least three times more advanced than the world’s Industrial Revolution?

He had the space technology to travel through worlds? He had the genetic technology to extend his life and strengthen himself? He had the energy technology that surpassed their era? He also had a life planet that was estimated to be ten times bigger than planet D, and an immeasurable amount of resources and population?

Was he dreaming?

Was he sure it was not science fiction?

If not for the video showing numerous extraordinary organizations dying under the Dragon Group in Huazhong, as well as the secret information sent by the spies who risked their lives, even if Angor told them himself..., they would not believe him.

“Oh my god, Boss, is this real? This... is too... dreamy?”

Angor smiled. This information was indeed dreamy. It took him half a day to receive it for the first time.

However, she did not plan to give her subordinates the same amount of time. Every second was precious right now because she knew that she would not be the only one who received the invitation. Since the other party had chosen this model, she could even vaguely guess who she would be facing next...

It would definitely be the top political bigwigs in the International Federation. It could be the leader of a country that was currently dominating the world, or it could be a senior who had left a dazzling achievement in the history of the country. She did not expect that she would one day fight with them on such a platform. Just thinking about it made her a little excited...

“Alright, stop daydreaming!” Angor clapped his hands with a smile. “We don’t have time to waste. We need to prepare as much as we can. I’ve brought all the game guides from central China before you arrived. Carl, you used to be my best analyst. You’re in charge of collecting information and trying to figure out the current situation of that world...”. “...”

“Alright!” Among the five of them, an old man with gray hair, who was obviously the oldest, nodded excitedly, but then he said, “Sir, if it’s possible, it’s best to find a few players and ask them to help collect information. Just by relying on the strategy, there will definitely be many things that are missed...”

“I will naturally try my best to do this...” . Angor nodded. “But it’s a bit troublesome. The players from West Germany are being targeted by the Arthur family. I need to find a way to stop them from coming here to plunder players. Also, I need to try my best not to let them know that I’ve been selected as one of the candidates. So, I need to find players that they missed in their information to prevent them from leaking the information in advance.”

The old man nodded quickly. The Arthur family obviously knew something. They wanted those players because they wanted to control the resources of Western Europe. However, judging from their methods., they obviously did not know that the game world was going to be open to the public. In other words, they did not have enough information!

However, they could not keep this a secret for long. As long as they had a player in their hands, they would soon find out that Angor was going to run for City Lord. If they found out that Angor was one of the candidates, Angor might be in danger!

They knew that Angor would not cooperate with these extraordinary families once he was elected. After all, the people of West Germany had been oppressed by these extraordinary families for too long!

Angor continued, “Louise, you should continue with your old job. After Carl collects the information, you’ll be in charge of preparing the publicity plan based on the analysis.”

“Yes, Sir!” Louise nodded quickly.

“William, you’ll be in charge of helping me find the basic manpower. They’re obviously giving us some time to prepare the team. I need a professional team. We don’t have enough people for the upcoming election...” . “...”

“Leave it to me!” The middle-aged man named William Smiled. He had never lost to anyone when it came to finding young talents. This could be seen from the people he invested in this year.

Just like that, the team that helped Angor, a commoner-born girl, become the leader once again began to operate in an orderly manner. Seer, who was far away on Mars, looked at this scene and nodded in satisfaction.

“Lord, Han Lingqiu from the universe country has accepted the invitation. So far, 21 people have accepted the invitation. Among them are seven from America, two from Syder, one from west, one from west, one from West France, two from the universe country, three from Red Sun, two from Great Britain, and two from Ice Russia...” . “...”

Xi Ye looked at the name list and nodded slightly, the invitation list was based on the AI’s past achievements, reputation, and changes to the country, all of them were the most outstanding politicians in D Ball.

“Lord... why is there no one from central China?” Rainy Girl Wu gua immediately frowned.

Seer smiled and said, “Based on the situation, it’s not appropriate to use the word ‘Huazhong’...”

Rainless melon:" ..."

"Isn't that a little unfair?" Rainless melon frowned. "Currently, 70% of the players in the base are from Huazhong. Aren't you afraid that the players will rebel?"

"You guys signed a lifetime contract. What do you have to rebel with?" Seer tilted his head and asked.

"You..."

"That's why I said..." Xi ye patted rainy girl's head. "Even you are like this. With the current situation in the base, if we really let people from central China participate in the election, do you still have any doubts about your xenophobic attitude in the base?"

"That doesn't mean we can be completely excluded!" Rainy girl suddenly frowned. "You can adopt an identity-blocking election model. The players can only see the policies and speeches, but they can't see each other's identities. Isn't that fair?"

"That won't do either..." Seer shook her head. "The main base is basically built with the participation of the players from Central China. All the projects have basically been contracted out to you. Under such circumstances, even if a foreign person were to choose a city Lord, you would definitely not cooperate. When that time comes, the city will definitely be in a mess. We, who are currently facing internal and external problems, can not withstand such torment." ... "..."

"Huh?" Rainy girl was stunned. What did the lord mean by this? Since he was sure that the foreigners could not suppress this city, what was the point of this election? He ate too much?

Could it be...

As a Level 4 developer, rainy girl thought for less than half a second before she came back to her senses. She looked at the other party and said faintly, "So this is the Lord's plan..."

Xi Ye smiled, then ordered to the intelligence: "Twelve o'clock, on time to open the public forecast forecast, the World Open Intelligence, and forecast the player threshold rules!"

It is now time to issue an announcement: the Global Open Beta of galaxy will begin at 12 noon on the 10th. Players from all over the world can access the game through the 42 national channels that have been opened. However, please note that due to limited resources, even if the open beta was opened, galaxy would still maintain the policy of restricting the flow of players. The requirements for becoming a player would be raised. HINT: the requirements for becoming a player will be related to nationality, and it will also be related to the policy of the new city lord, the details of the situation would be announced in detail in 10 days. Everyone, please look forward to it!

As soon as the news was released, in less than five minutes, it was instantly forwarded to the discussion forum of the Morning Light Assessment. Instantly, in less than 20 minutes, there were already over 10,000 comments below...

Netizen a: I'm looking forward to it, I'm looking forward to it, the open beta is still limiting the flow? Why Don't You Go Die?

Netizen b: That's right, it's still related to nationality? Why Don't you go to Heaven? Not only did you give priority to the overseas channel some time ago, now you want to have a nationality discrimination? If you dare to make me, a player from greater central China, feel wronged again, I'm Warning You, it won't be as simple as sending a blade!

Netizen C: by the way, why is the player entry threshold related to the Castellan's policy? Can the castellan also set the player entry threshold? Isn't this power a little too big? Dog Planner, just say it. is the castellan you?

Netizen D: I've been waiting for the Dog Planner's address for a year and a half. I Don't care what your reason is. If they still won't let me in after the open beta, I swear, I'll definitely bomb that F * cking studio in Xing Hai! !

Chapter 784 Exposure (Part One)

After the release of the public beta, the entire internet quickly started a heated discussion, especially in central China, where it directly reached the top of the game rankings in the various virtual zones. However, although it was hot, it was only popular in the gaming circle, after all, not all the netizens in the world were gaming stalls. A large portion of them were passionate about various areas, such as film and television, celebrity chasing, and leisure.

Even in the game field, the share of online games was far less than single-player games. The reason was actually very simple. In online games, you were just an extra, but in single-player games, you were the main character, even though the authorities were now vigorously cracking down on overly large-scale training games, generally more elegant training games and high-quality single-player combat games were still the mainstream of the virtual market.

Therefore, even though the turmoil caused by the release of Galaxy's prediction was very big, in the huge internet, it could only be considered a big wave. Its popularity was not even comparable to the scandals of some fresh meat.

It was not until a post, a post that exposed the truth of the game, appeared on the Forum. In an instant, galaxy was trending in central China. Its popularity instantly surpassed all topics, it caused an uproar among netizens all over the country!

The person who posted the post was a netizen with the ID "Ancient Horizon". He claimed to be a new player in "Galaxy". In the introduction of the post, he claimed that the entire central China was entering a critical moment in history. One Step to heaven, one step to hell., if one went wrong, one would once again be left behind by overseas countries. This time, the distance was dimensional. If one fell behind, it was likely that even ten generations, a hundred generations, or tens of thousands of generations would not be able to turn the situation around.

Hyperbolic introduction let a lot of people who see this title think is a sensationalist marketing public account, in order to traffic again made the title party article, but after the entry, found that the content than the title shocked a million times!

Hello Everyone, my name is Tianya, today whether you are aiming at the title or other reasons to click in, I hope you can seriously read what I have written, because this post, it is very likely to change your life!

First of all, I'm not trying to sensationalize, nor am I trying to attract attention. What I'm describing has actually been known by many people, but they chose to remain silent, because of benefits, because they want to take the lead, because they want to be in the upper class, so a terrifying opportunity has brazenly appeared around us for almost three years, but 99% of people are still kept in the dark, they still spent their precious time chasing celebrities, playing douyin, chasing domestic bitter dramas, watching live games, and other content.

However, they didn't know that in the years that you spent, there were already people who were rapidly pulling away from you. Those people might have been chasing celebrities, chasing dramas, and playing gangsters with you some time ago, but in just two years..., they had already used this special opportunity to reach a height that you wouldn't dare to imagine. Everyone was silently making a fortune. Just like that, a great opportunity had actually been lurking in our country for three years, to be honest, if I didn't personally experience it, I wouldn't even dare to believe it myself.

That's right. Seeing this, perhaps many of the hidden big shots already knew what I was talking about. Yes, I was talking about galaxy, the great opportunity that was about to leave us! And the responsibility for all of this, at least half of the big shots who were the first batch to enter the game and had endless benefits!

Seeing this, many of the friends who didn't know much about the game might have looks of confusion on their faces, or they might ask what the so-called opportunity was? Was it those lucky people who used their queuing quota to exchange for millions or even tens of millions of federation coins?

I'm telling you now, no, on the contrary, those who sold their queuing quota were the real idiots, Hmm... It wasn't completely stupid, after all, the information wasn't equal. Many netizens who chose to sell their queuing places were actually more pragmatic people in theory, using a game queuing place to exchange for cash that they couldn't earn even after decades of hard work wasn't actually stupid, it was just a trick of fate.

Who would have known that the value of this game slot would actually be like this? If you knew the truth, I'm afraid that you wouldn't be willing to exchange the whole Alibaba for Your Ma Dad!

I was very glad that I was an irrational person at the time. I spent a year and a half waiting in line to play this game. Along with me were my three roommates from university. All three of them were more rational than me, all of them sold their qualifications to some rich second generation before waiting in line to play the game.

After graduating in an instant, they lived a life with a house and a car. They even went out to eat a few times and tried to persuade me not to be stubborn. But at that time, I was really stubborn. I just wanted to see what was in the game, so, I rejected the last rich kid who offered me 50 million federal dollars and chose to enter the game!

But to be honest, I had regrets. In the first year of the game, I sometimes saw my roommates driving luxury cars and living in a 200 square meter hardcover duplex building in the city center. It would be a lie to say that I wasn't jealous. Usually, when we gathered together, we could only improve our remaining sense of superiority by sharing the experience of the game with them... ..

I remember one day when the four of us were drinking. Because we were too drunk, I once again talked about how realistic the game was and how fun it was, the Big Brother in the dorm asked me with a laugh, "You have been mining in the game for more than a year. Is it really that fun?" "It's better to move bricks in reality. At least I can earn some extra money."

I was a little angry at that time. When I went back, I didn't sleep all night. To be honest, I really regretted it at that time. My intestines were green with regret...

After that, I rarely mentioned the things in the game in front of my roommates. After a while, I even avoided them asking about the things in the game. Every time they mentioned me, I would subconsciously change the topic. I even began to gradually decline their invitation to drink with me... ..

My roommates thought that I was holding a grudge for the last time I was ridiculed by the boss. The boss even personally apologized to me, saying that he was drunk that day and hoped that I would let it go.

But what they didn't know was that it wasn't because of that day that I started to avoid the topic of the game. It was because I knew the truth about the game that I started to avoid the topic!

We were extremely close. In University, it could be said that we were friends who wore the same underwear! We had fought more than ten times in the past four years. How could I hold a grudge for so long because of such a thing?

The reason why I avoided them wasn't because I was stingy, but because I was selfish! !

I was a Green Titan in the game. After I left the New Territories, the first thing I did was rush to the southern plains. I wanted to become a Lord Gamer. I was very lucky, luckier than most people, I quickly found a suitable antelope tribe. There, I helped them obtain a better life. I freed them from the bloodsucking and oppression of the large tribes and became their highly respected leader.

Then, I activated the biological civilization based on my geographical location and the Antelope Tribe's characteristic of producing witch doctors. I mainly used medicine to obtain certain results in the entire game market. Although my results weren't particularly outstanding., I'm not even ranked in the top 50 of the Lord faction rankings, but I still have things that you can't imagine!

You might not be able to feel what I said earlier, but let me say something that is related to reality. Five days ago, the official leader invited our top 67 Lords to participate in the Parliament. Yes, you heard right, it was the parliament, and it was the leader himself who invited us!

The discussion was about the future of our nation, and we are much more important than the top officials you see on TV. After the meeting, countless big families are trying to rope us in. Countless people who you can't imagine will come and smile in person. There are even people who introduce their beautiful granddaughter... ..

Don't laugh. Don't think that this is the plot of some urban YY Novel. In fact, my life is much more exciting than some urban YY novel. The Wooing of top politicians is nothing to me now, because what I have now is beyond their reach, and what I have in the future is beyond their imagination!

Post more to this time, due to word limit, interrupted the file, so the comment section instantly exploded pot!

Netizen a: how many dishes, brother? Drink like this? Why didn't the chief use his granddaughter to win you over?

Netizen B: Are you trying to say that those big shots in big families also want to play your game? So they don't hesitate to use their granddaughter to win you over?

Netizen C: Hurry Up, hurry up, continue to update for me, I want to see him continue to pretend to be gone! !

Chapter 785 Exposure (Part 2)

I know a lot of you are probably wondering if I've had too much to drink. Actually, I haven't. My body doesn't eat peanuts. You can make me drink three tons of beer without getting me drunk... ..

Many new gamers should feel this. Do you feel that your back doesn't hurt anymore since you started moving bricks in the game? Did they feel better? Did they stop getting up for the night?

Did they feel that their appetite for a meal was comparable to when they were growing? Did they feel that drinking a bottle of white wine at night was no different from drinking boiled water? Did they not feel drunk for a long time? Did they feel that they were more liver-capable than before?

Don't doubt it, these were not illusions. Your liver was indeed more liver-capable than before, and your kidneys were also more capable than before. If you don't believe me, you can try my method. The first method is to go to the gym!

Now that there are more players, the main base has been cut off from the basic nutrition training program, causing many players to not be able to feel their superhuman side as quickly as the first batch of players, however, there are still some small details that can let you find yourself different from the rest. The gym can let you feel this aspect more clearly.

If you try those professional equipment, you will find that your method is more professional than the coaches there. It is as if you have been through thousands of trials and tribulations. Why is this so? Of course, my friend, because you train these things in the fitness gym every day in the game. Your nerves have become a habit.

Do you think that an ordinary game can give you this kind of muscle memory?

If you think it is just a coincidence, I have another way. You can find a cat, find a quiet place to flick its balls. Listen, you will find that these cats can talk, of course, most of them are not good words, such as retards.

As for why this is the case, it is more complicated to explain. No matter which race you choose, there will be a certain level of mental strength. In the game, in order to let you understand the new world language, the language database will be implanted into you, this language database is implanted through mental stimulation to stimulate your hippocampus and a certain ripple to let you quickly remember and understand. Of course, this requires a higher mental endurance, so after the surgery, your brain..., in fact, most of them are already at the level of a level two life form.

This level can actively adjust the brain waves. Awesome developers can even use their brains to receive the radio messages in your phone calls. For ordinary brick-carrying players, as long as you calm down now, you can understand animal speech!

Speaking of which, I think many friends with no IQ problems finally understand what I'm going to say, right?

That's right, this isn't a game. Galaxy exists for real!

That world is an alien planet. Many people say that the scene inside is real. Of course, the scene is real. In fact, this game should have been suspicious from the very beginning. A studio that I've never even heard of..., how can you create a game that's even more awesome than the top game studios in foreign countries? You guys play 20 hours a day, but you're still alive and kicking after playing the game. Don't you feel that something is wrong?

For those players who have been in the game for a year or two and are still kept in the dark, I'm really drunk. I don't know if your acting skills are too good or if your brains are really leaking!

As for those players who have not been in the game, I can't provide you with direct evidence. I know that most people won't believe it because how many people with normal intelligence would believe it if they didn't see it with their own eyes? In fact, even if they did believe it, it might not be of much use because the players who had not entered the game were of no use. I am not writing this article for you, what I want to say is for the players in Huazhong who are in the game to hear!

Let me tell you about my experience:

When I first became a Lord, I had ten cooperation slots under me. In fact, I could have invited my roommate to enter the game and take the bus to the great era together, but I did not. At that time, the competition was unprecedentedly fierce, a group of players with the Lord's qualification were using their slots rationally, inviting more valuable scientists, doctors, or higher ranking combat players to improve the competitiveness of their forces!

I was the same. I knew that the slots couldn't be wasted. I knew that if I wanted to stand firm in this fierce environment, I had to make good use of the slots. So, I chose to use the slots to recruit a large number of biomedical experts, as for my three roommates, I did not keep any slots!

I once comforted myself in my heart. I told myself that now was not the time to act impulsively. Once I stood firm, once I grew stronger, I would compensate them. Once they entered the game... I would use my own resources to wholeheartedly help them walk at the forefront of this great era. However, I had to first accumulate capital. I had to first make myself stronger so that I could better help the people I care about...

It's funny, in the game, most of the lords are grassroots. We have all scolded those black-hearted capital, no humanity, only know how to exploit the people below, friends, family can be used, in their hearts, they have fantasized, one day... If I am awesome, I will not be like this, how I will treat the people below charity, how I will treat my friends and family, I will work hard to make them all better... ..

But the truth is, after we really do this for a day, we might not be much different from those black-hearted capitalists who have been scolded by us... ..

The public beta forecast... .. Is a wake-up call. It made me realize that perhaps... .. I will lose my friends forever...

Just yesterday at noon, the game announced that after the public beta, there would still be a limit to the flow of the game. Entering the galaxy would no longer be a mindless queue, but would require a certain threshold. What was even more terrifying was that the conditions for setting the threshold would be custom-made by the city lord together!

Many players should know what this meant. Once a foreign politician became the city Lord, the passageway for US Central China players would definitely be infinitely reduced because our advantage was too great, it was so great that the people at the top of the game had already begun to think of ways to balance us. Therefore, I also dared to confirm that the final spot for the city Lord election this time would definitely not be our central China players!

Actually, many of the Lords had top developers'think tanks under them, so they must have guessed this possibility. However, after the news came out, many of the Lords chose to remain silent and chose to protect themselves, all of them had tacitly agreed to the upper echelons'balancing method!

However, have you ever thought about it? Your friends have yet to come in, and your relatives have yet to come in. Back then, for the sake of our own development, we went against our conscience and decided to take advantage of our own interests, persuading ourselves to temporarily give up on preferential treatment for our family members, we chose to make our forces more competitive, but now, you may lose the possibility of helping them forever, do you still want to keep silent? Do you still want to act based on profit?

My father is 65 years old, for my house down payment and my wife Ben, at this age, he is still working part-time on the Internet, my three friends, over the years, secretly sent my father so many money, thought I didn't know... ∴ With my father's online part-time job, how can I find so many?

Facing these people, do I really have to wait for the back channel to be closed to them and then say sorry again?

What about you? Great Lords? In reality, there is no one I care about? Haven't thought of like Li Goudan to bring his mother in to enjoy life? ! At this moment, you're all silent, M! ! !

I've made up my mind. This time, I Won't lie to myself anymore. I'll take a gamble. Even if everything I have now will disappear, I'll try to get the people above to change this balance! I hope that the players who read my post can follow me and try to work a little harder for your friends and family. We're the largest player group in the galaxy, with 75% of the population, this time occupy the advantage still not to say, really want to wait for all irreparable time to regret it?

If you'd like to come, I'll be waiting for you at the main gate, I'll wait until noon tomorrow, and then I'll fight, no matter how many people want to come with me... .. Even if it's just me... . .

A lot of netizens play post after a stupor, and want to ridicule each other brain sick bar for a time can not be ridiculed, always feel this guy does not seem to be joking.

But if what he says is true... I'll go. ... ? . Are We missing something?

Chapter 786 Seer's plan!

This post quickly spread across the internet, causing an uproar in the online comments. Of course, most people still did not believe it. Instead, they thought that this guy was too stupid to distinguish between reality and the game. Douyin, Site B., the video authors of the various ghost districts only took half a day to show this post in various ways.

For a time, the two Little Heavenly Kings became the nickname of the person who wrote the post, and all kinds of funny videos of him appeared one after another.

Some people even promoted that this game was easy to make people go crazy, suggesting that the authorities should regulate or even ban it. Most of the people in this area were game operating companies that were led by the Internet.

After all, as the head of Huazhong's network, they did not want to disrupt the market with a game that could upset the balance, especially when the game was not in their hands.

However, the strange thing was that the matter had been blown up so much that the authorities had no intention of getting involved at all. It was as if they could not see such a big commotion on the internet, this strange phenomenon made many of the more sensitive and smart people instantly feel that something was not right.

Especially the public relations teams under Cyber Calamity. They created this threat that made people unable to distinguish between reality and the game in order to attract the attention of the authorities. After all, central China had strict controls, in the past, they had been able to ban cartoons like pleasant goat and big bear two for the sake of a few parents' reports. It was simply too easy to ban a game that had no background whatsoever.

However, now that there was such a huge discussion online, it seemed like there was not even a drop of water. It immediately made them feel that things were not simple.

However, with the logic of an ordinary person's heart, they would never believe that what was said in the post was true!

However, there was a group of people who believed it, and that was the players in the Sea of stars!

On this day, many players fell into confusion after reading this post. Novice players were confused about whether those words were true or false, while old players, especially lord-tier players, were confused about their lives... ..

As he said, most lord-tier players used the quota to compete when their forces were first established. Almost no one had considered things like family and friends.

Just like the thread's owner, everyone had the same thoughts. Only when they were strong enough and capable enough could they take care of the people they cared about in the D ball.

But was that really the case?

Today, in order to become more competitive, they could delay the arrival of the people they cared about. Would they give up on them for their own sake one day?

They thought so, too, but didn't expect the choice to come so soon.

What makes their heart more cold is that they seem to know that there is a high probability of the other side said the situation after the selection of silence...

I didn't know I was... So Cold?

This day... . Many of the great lord players were lost in thought... ..

Western islands:

At this moment, in an aristocrat mansion that was somewhat similar to the Mediterranean style, Li Goudan leisurely walked to the back garden with a bottle of purple fruit wine in his hand. Her cheeks were flushed red, and she was clearly enjoying herself!

However, at this moment, Wang Ye, who was at the back of the garden, seemed to have come to a realization. Li Goudan leisurely walked over, he patted Wang Ye on the head and said, "This wine is not bad. The taste is very interesting. It's just that the quality of the brewed fruit is average. When I bring the seed sample back, I'll let the agricultural developers in the faction research it and see if they can cultivate this variety. Perhaps we can even start a wine-making business!"

"Did you see the post that the players posted in the announcement today?" Wang Ye suddenly asked.

"Oh... I saw it..." Li Goudan laughed and took a sip of wine. "It's pretty good..."

Wang Ye was silent for a moment before he asked, "Jiayi, have you ever thought of bringing the people you care about to the New World?"

"Huh?" Li Goudan asked with a smile, "Do you want to bring your parents in?"

Wang Ye shook his head. "I don't have parents..."

"Oh, I'm sorry, I didn't know..."

"It's okay, I'm an orphan, and I don't have much of an idea in this area, but I do have someone I care about...". Wang Ye looked up at the brilliant starry sky and said, "I found that my comrades are very suitable for this place. They've been special forces soldiers all their lives, but because they didn't get into the military academy, they're not even a lieutenant. However, their abilities are actually better than many military officers. I always feel that this place is more suitable for them." ... "... Jiayi, do you think what the post said is true?" "? Will the people we care about really not be able to get in?"

"I don't know..." Li Goudan looked up at the sky and said, "In contrast, the people I care about have all been brought in."

Wang Ye's heart skipped a beat when he heard this. His mouth suddenly became a little dry as he said, "Which one is it?"

This should be me, right? Who else could it be but me? It Can't be Lei Xue, right. Wang Ye thought nervously in his heart... ..

Eggface Li: "Of course it's My Mom!"

Wang Ye: "..."

"What's wrong with you?" Eggface Li looked at him curiously. "Why is your expression so stiff?"

"No... nothing..."

Little Cabbage's faction:

"What's wrong with you today? You didn't even go to the bonfire party. It doesn't look like you..." Alice walked into the tent and looked at little cabbage, who had not slept at all.

Little cabbage looked at the starry sky outside the tent in a daze. His usually heartless face showed a hint of inexplicable emotion. He suddenly said, "Alice, do you have parents?"

"That's new..." Alice sat opposite him and said with a laugh, "I don't have parents. Did I jump out of a Rock?"

"Then... I've never heard you mention..."

"Didn't you also not mention your parents?"

"That's true..." little cabbage thought for a while with his fat chin in his hand. "Alice, do you care about your parents?"

"No..." Alice shook her head.

"Why?"

"Because when I was three years old, they sold me for a few pounds of flour..."

Little Cabbage: "..."

"What's Wrong?" Alice smiled and said, "You finally remembered your parents after reading the post in the notice?"

Little cabbage was silent for a while and then said, "I just realized today that I'm actually such a heartless person..."

"Really... then you really didn't realize it until later..." Alice curled her lips and said.

Little cabbage: "Alice, do you think... if I follow you to cause trouble tomorrow, Will the Lord kill me as a warning to others?"

"I don't know..."

Little cabbage heard this and was instantly curious: "There's actually something you don't Know?"

"That's right, I'm not an immortal in your eastern mythology, I know everything..." Alice rolled her eyes: "I didn't have much contact with that Lord of yours, I know very little. Most importantly, I don't know the specific situation of that universe federation. Under such circumstances where the information isn't equal, if I were to analyze what your lord would do, it would be a little difficult.""

"Is that so..." little cabbage seemed to have been prepared, he just bit his lips unwillingly.

"Then what are you going to do?" Alice smiled as she looked at her.

"I'm Going!" Little cabbage said.

"I might very well lose everything..." Alice said faintly, "Even though I can't quite deduce your leader's methods, but from basic logic, any leader wouldn't like his subordinates to rebel against him, no matter what the reason..." "..."

"Then I have to go!" Little cabbage said with a determined look.

"Alright then..." Alice nodded. "Then go..."

"Eh?" Little cabbage was stunned. "Aren't you going to stop me?"

"How? I'm not the boss here, the decision is in your hands!" Alice spread her hands and said, "And... This is your decision, why should I stop you?"

"But... but aren't you worried about me? or yourself? What will you do if I Fall?"

"Oh... Don't worry about it..." Alice said with a smile, "Don't worry, I've already contacted the next one!"

"I... You Scum, I misjudged you! ! !"

The next day at noon:

"Ha..." seer, who had been reading the data all night, gave a slight chuckle. As a level five life form, staying up for a few nights was nothing, but reading over ten thousand terabytes of data in a few nights was very tiring... .

"Your Lordship, the time is almost up!" said the intelligent machine.

"HMMM..." seer nodded. "How many are here?"

"43,000!"

"Where are the Lord's Players?"

"They're all here!"

“Tsk... they’re quite moral...”Xi ye laughed.

“Isn’t this the Lord’s plan from the start? The people you’ve chosen are all idealistic people... I’m actually very curious. If you want to develop more efficiently, shouldn’t you choose more rational people?”

Xi Ye: “Because this lord is a very emotional person!”

Ai: “Hehe...”

Xi Ye did not continue to pay attention to Ai, but looked at the large group of determined players displayed on the virtual screen...

In just a few years, the strongest of these players had already evolved to level 5, and the fastest power civilization had also touched level 4 technology. It could be predicted that in less than two years’ time... There would be a level 5 civilization unlocked by the players. At that time, the players would be able to step into the universe... ..

The development was really faster than riding a rocket, but the more it was like that, the more he could not wait. He had to settle some things before the universe era started. The internal competition environment had to be built up well, he could not let these guys waste their talents on internal strife!

Chapter 787 negotiation (Part One)

There were quite a few people...

Little Cabbage’s eyes lit up when she arrived at the meeting point. She had thought that there weren’t many people in the world who had guts like her. It seemed that she had underestimated people’s hearts...

Eh, not bad. At least there were so many people taking the blame. That Dog Lord probably wouldn’t dare to do anything to so many of us...

Right?

“Ai, sister Cai, you’re here too?”Pu Yunchuan saw little cabbage from afar and hurriedly waved his hand.

Little cabbage looked at him curiously. “Fei Chuan? You’re actually here too?”

“Hehe...”Pu Yunchuan scratched his head and smiled guiltily.

To be honest, he had actually hesitated for a long time...

When everyone saw these two big shots arrive, their uneasy hearts instantly calmed down a lot. The top two big shots in the base were already in place. The Lord should consider it, right?

“Hey, Gou Dan, Why are you here too?”After Xiao Baicai swept her gaze around, she suddenly saw Wang Gou Dan, who had been sneaking over from the corner. She was instantly stunned.

She had expected Pu Yunchuan to come, and even the top 50 lords were in place. After all, everyone had just become black-hearted lords not long ago, so it was normal for their hearts to not be completely extinguished.

However, Goudan was different. In the galaxy, she might be the one with the least worries, because not only did she bring her father in, but she had also brought her brother and sister-in-law into the game. She had once chatted with her..., the most regretful thing was that she had not managed to get sister-in-law Luo, who was downstairs with deep-fried dough sticks, in. Otherwise, Goudan's restaurant might have another ace deep-fried dough stick master.

He couldn't really risk his life for a fried dough stick seller, could he?

But if he didn't, what would it be? Could it be...

It was because of loyalty?

Thinking of this, the way little cabbage looked at Wang Goudan suddenly changed a lot. He didn't expect that the usually unreliable guy actually had such a bright side?

Just as he was about to sigh with emotion, he suddenly heard Goudan shout, "Hey, does anyone still want fried dough sticks and tofu pudding?"

"Eh, Goudan, can you sell that at a cheaper price? Two fried dough sticks and a bowl of tofu pudding for 1,000 points. You Don't kill people like that, do you?" One of the Lords said faintly.

"That's right... the portion is still so small. I'll just lick it a few times and it'll be gone..." a Green Titan next to him licked the bottom of the Shining Bowl and pouted.

"Hey, I say you guys... Don't have any ambition at all..." Goudan placed his hands on his waist and lectured, "Don't forget what you're here for today? You're here to rebel. If you succeed, you'll be able to eat well and drink well. Do you still care about that little bit of points?"

"Then what if you fail?" Someone couldn't help but ask.

"If you fail, why do you still keep the points?" Wang Goudan stomped his feet and said, "Anyway, you won't need them in the future. Why Don't you let me have them?" "I, Wang Goudan, promise you that if you sacrifice yourselves today, I, Goudan, will protect your family in the future!" "!"

Everyone:"..."

Little Cabbage's face twitched. So this guy was here to take advantage of the situation. He should have thought of it earlier. Why would he be so stupid as to believe in this guy's integrity?

"There are so many of us. There should be no possibility of failure, right?" One of the players couldn't help but ask, "If that dog Lord is still not a human, and we have the advantage in numbers, can't we send him to be rebuilt?"

These words immediately aroused the ambition of many new players, and each and every one of them became incomparably confident... ..

Meanwhile, the old players stared blankly at those new players, not knowing what to say for a moment.

If it was that simple, why would they hesitate for so long? They had long rebelled, alright?

All the old players who had experienced the void invasion period knew in their hearts that although that Lord of theirs usually looked silly with a helmet on, in reality, he was an incomparably powerful lord!

This was especially true for the Lord players who had already grasped quite a bit of knowledge. They also knew what kind of terrifying existence the monster that tore through space with his bare hands and created a spatial passage was, however, even that kind of existence could be killed by a lord. With their current level, they were no different from ants!

“Yo, what are you trying to do?”

Just as they were thinking about this, a familiar voice suddenly sounded in everyone’s ears. Everyone looked around in shock, but they couldn’t see anyone. However, that voice was clearly speaking to them face-to-face, as if they were very close to each other.

Just as they were wondering what was going on, something even stranger happened...

All of the players outside the main base suddenly discovered that their surroundings had changed. It had become a high-tech office-style sealed space. It was as if they had temporarily transmigrated. There wasn’t the slightest sign... ..

Everyone looked ahead in a daze. Only then did they realize that a desk had appeared before them. The Lord wearing the silly helmet was currently staring at them with a pair of purple eyes.

This place was...

Little Cabbage, Pu Yunchuan, and the other great lords looked at their surroundings. They felt that this place was very familiar. A few seconds later, they realized that this was the Lord’s room?

They had all been here before, but they remembered that the Lord’s room was only a 20 to 30 square meter room, there were tens of thousands of people here!

How did it fit in?

And...

Bai Cai looked around, feeling like there was no change from before. No matter how they looked at it, it was still the same small office that was less than 30 square meters, but the tens of thousands of people around it fit in... ..

Looking at the dumbfounded expressions of Bai Cai and the others, xi Ye said softly, “This office was bought by me at the cost of the Universe Federation. I used space stacking technology, this thing will be available when you unlock your civilization to Level 9...”

“Oh...”everyone nodded. They thought it was magic, but it turned out to be technology. ...

What a good thing. Wouldn’t it save on the cost of housing again? Many evil lords thought so, but then they shook their heads. No, we’re not here for this!

Just as the ambitious ones began to protest, a sobbing voice suddenly sounded, “Lord, sob, sob, sob, I’m not with them. I’m just here to deliver food!”

Everyone’s imposing manner suddenly froze. They stared blankly at Wang Goudan, who did not hesitate to distance himself from them. For a moment, they felt their imposing manner suddenly drop. They did not expect that before they could start their protest, two or five young men would appear first.

"I know..." Xi ye looked at Goudan with amusement and said, "Do you still have tofu pudding? Mix A Bowl for me!"

"Alright, My Liege, do you want salty or sweet?"

"You sell Sweet Things Here?"

Everyone: "..."

"My Liege, please be serious!" In the end, the liege named Tian Ya couldn't help but speak up. He felt that if he didn't speak up, today's scene would completely change!

"Ahem..." Xi ye coughed lightly. "Alright, then be serious. Tell me, what are you brats trying to do by gathering together to cause trouble?"

"Lord..." horizon mustered up his courage and said, "Do you really intend to rank the Huazhong people in this election?"

Xi Ye: "Yes!"

Everyone's faces instantly darkened. Actually, it wasn't that they didn't have any hope before they came. What if we were worrying over nothing?

However, the other party's answer without hesitation extinguished the hope in their hearts!

"But Lord, wouldn't your actions be unfair to the players of central China?" Ice crown frowned and asked.

"This Lord has also thought of that, but... you should know the current situation. Being Fair to You is unfair to all the players outside of central China!" Xi Ye narrowed her eyes and looked at everyone, she said faintly, "So, how do you plan to resolve this stalemate?"

Chapter 788 Negotiations -Partpart 2)

"You've all seen it too... .." seer spread out his hands and said, "You know what you've done recently. You've activated the lifestyle job training mode and compressed the employment space of overseas players. You've given preferential treatment to your own race, allowing a large number of lifestyle jobs that could earn money in the early stages to fall into the hands of the central China players. This has also caused the trainers and skill instructors to be occupied by the central China players for a long period of time. At this rate, as more and more high-level central China players appear, the space of overseas players will be further compressed. As time goes on, I'm afraid that you'll soon completely suppress them into the lower class!"

Hearing this, the many lord-tier players fell silent. They were indeed the ones who had done this. They had discussed and planned this back then. However, if they were to say that they regretted it, they did not regret it at all!

We Are Chinese. What's wrong with using the foundation that we worked so hard to build to benefit our fellow countrymen? If we don't side with our own people, do we side with outsiders? Is there something wrong with our brains?

“My Liege...”Tianya said, “Do you think that we’ve gone too far... we can change it...”

“Hehe...”Xi ye sneered as he looked across. “All of you have expressions that say that you’ll dare to do it again next time. I believe that you’ll change it? Do you think that your abilities are stupid? This isn’t like educating children in school!”

Everyone:” ...”

Xi Ye sighed, he continued to explain, “You have to understand what your future is. This city, this planet, and even the planet in the New Territories are nothing to you. As technology is unlocked, your future platform will become more and more vast, and the number of alien races you will have to face will also increase. Each of you has the aptitude to control the Sea of stars, so don’t make the situation so small. Today, you will use your race as the world to suppress the Outsiders. Tomorrow, when you come into contact with more alien races, what are you going to do? Have we always been excluding people who are different from us?”

Everyone:” ...”

“Lord, you say it so nicely...”. “...”little cabbage immediately said aggrievedly, “But we were the first batch of people to follow you. Every brick and tile in this city was earned for you with our hard work. From a desolate place with nothing to such a beautiful city, all of us worked hard for a few years “It’s true that we have your technological help, but this place is full of our hard work. What we worked hard to build, of course, is for our compatriots to enjoy. I also want to rent a manor for my mother in the city. You say that we exclude the dissidents, that we don’t give those overseas players a fair environment, but why should we let them enjoy the fair environment that we worked hard to create ? Where were they when there was nothing here ? Where were they when the purple monster invaded here ? You asked us to be pioneers, but you let them reap the rewards. Is that fair to us?”

Everyone nodded when they heard that. That’s right, what was wrong with the suppression? Everything here was the hard work of the first batch of players. Every brick on the land had their sweat. Why should they let outsiders reap the rewards?

Even if they did not kill them, on account of the fact that they were fellow D-ball players...

Bing Guan and Pu Yunchuan looked at little cabbage in shock. This guy... ! He usually looked heartless, but who would have thought that he could stir up emotions!

Xi Ye was silent for a while when she heard this. Then, she actually nodded. “What you said... actually makes sense!”

Everyone’s spirits were instantly lifted!

Xi Ye said, “But this isn’t a long-term solution. All of you have studied history before, so you should know that as the number of overseas players increases, your conflict will definitely escalate. I, as a faction, have just been established, and I don’t want to be destroyed in the midst of internal strife...”. “...”

Pausing for a moment, he continued, “But you’re right, Lass. This city was painstakingly built by the players of Huazhong. Every brick and tile has nothing to do with the overseas players. Letting them enjoy the fruits of your labor is indeed a little unjustifiable. How about this, I have a compromise plan. What do you think?"

For the next two hours, the meeting room was filled with heated discussions. Finally, under the bargaining of the players, they reached a solution that they were all satisfied with. After another afternoon of discussion, the group of players finally left the Lord's room with satisfaction.

After the group left, xi ye sighed, "What a bunch of difficult children!"

"This plan was actually planned by you, My Liege, right?" In the Liege's room, rainy, who had been silent the entire time, frowned. "Why didn't you just say it right from the start?"

Xi Ye smiled. "If I just said it right, they wouldn't be satisfied. They would definitely ask for more. If I let them fight for it themselves, they would naturally cherish this result more. At the very least, they wouldn't push their luck..."

Rain woman without melon: "What a shameless politician..."

Seer: "Shut Up, let the intelligence issue a notice, you and I go to the federation, some things should be prepared!"

Dear players hello, after a number of high-level meetings, the resolution of the final election plan and future open beta limit rules!

First: regarding the restriction of the flow, galaxy has now opened channels in 46 countries. However, due to the limited development of cities, there will be a threshold for the introduction of players, galaxy will open five new city channels on Mars. Each city will have a corresponding population introduction policy. The specific policy will be based on the introduction policy of the elected city lord of the city. The introduction policy will be the constitution, once determined, it can not be easily changed.

Second: regarding the election, Xing Hai will invite a group of politicians with outstanding political achievements to participate in the election in the 46 countries that currently open corridors, regarding the city intelligence, we will give the information to the invited candidates as soon as we have determined the invited candidates. The future urban style and cultural advantages of the five cities will be included in the intelligence, the city intelligence will be released to the world three days after the start of the campaign, the candidate will make detailed policy planning by making arguments on how to build, how to make use of the advantages of the city's civilization, how to attract the population, how to make the residents of their own city more competitive, etc. , note that the candidate can only choose one of the cities as his or her own city. He or she can not choose more than one of the cities. After the selection, he or she can not change the policy. The candidate's policy will be made public. Then, the three parties will grade the candidate, the result of the election will be selected by the highest total score of the three parties!

Third: regarding the grading rules, the grading will be assessed by the three parties. The first party: the evaluation will be conducted for the people of the higher-ups of Xing Hai, this party will use scientific methods to predict and calculate the advantages of your policy, so that the overall grading will be relatively fairest. The party with a total score of 100 will have the right to score 50 points.

The second side: score for the people. Citizens of the 46-channel countries can participate. Before the election begins, Galaxy will officially issue a blueprint of the city's future and cultural advantages. Citizens of the 46 countries need to vote for the ideal city first, note: this vote is very important. Whether you can go to galaxy immediately or not, you will be marked as a candidate citizen of this city and can not be changed. After the city is selected, you will have the right to vote for this city, choose the candidate you favor and cast your precious vote. The public vote will take up the right to score 30 points!

Third Party: for the assessment of the candidate's qualification department, the capacity of a city is always limited. As the mayor of a new city, you not only have to learn how to attract more people, you also have to learn how to attract a higher quality population. Different countries, different cultures, different social forms, the quality of the people formed will be different. How to select the best and admit them, excluding the low quality population to waste space was also one of the essential elements of a city lord. The candidate qualification department will provide you with a maximum of 20 bonus points according to your population screening policy. Please take note! Your population screening policy will also be made public to the public. Please make it carefully!

Finally, the city where the main base was located was officially named: Huaxia City, exclusive to Central China. It does not belong to the other five major public election cities. The candidate for the city lord of the city will be selected from the internal politicians of central China!

The above was the final rule of this election. No changes will be made in the future. Players, please pass on the message to each other and participate in the discussion in a harmonious manner. Thank you, everyone. I wish you all a pleasant journey to the galaxy!

Chapter 789 Exposing the world (Part One)

The day before the announcement:

A mysterious piece of information was released on the Federation's social media. A shocking piece of news that was a game in name was actually a power that could transcend high-tech organizations from other worlds was exposed. It instantly went viral on the entire federation's Network!

No matter how the upper echelons blocked it, this piece of news still appeared like a virus on all major social media. In an instant, everyone in the world was stunned by this matter!

In an independent world outside of Planet D, there was an incomparably vast space and resources, and an alien civilization that was still in the Middle Ages. A mysterious force that possessed technology that surpassed the world by more than a thousand years had taken control of that world, and they were willing to share it with the entire world!

By sharing the fruits of technology and the resources of the alien world, players could get rid of their ordinary and weak selves and possess a body that was comparable to the Marvel Hulk, go to that New World filled with the unknown and create your own epic story!

At first glance, this news seemed like a F * cking game advertisement, but it told you that everything was real! !

If it was just such a ridiculous news, perhaps most people would not believe it, but what followed was a large number of incredible live broadcasts on various social video software.

The first live broadcast came from America's famous Live.me live broadcast platform. It was a sunny afternoon. A magical live broadcast room appeared on the platform. The live broadcast room began to fill with a large number of viewers entering the room to watch!

In the live broadcast room, there was a huge green giant walking in the park. That huge body was extremely realistic. Under the HD camera, one could almost see the hair that was as thick as steel needles!

Netizen A: Holy Shit, what is this? Is this a new mechanical model? Isn't it too realistic?

Netizen b: it should be 3D modeling. How can a mechanical model be so realistic. Look at the blood vessels jumping...

Netizen C: 3D modeling? Dude, this is a live broadcast. Can you model one for me to see? See that background? That is a live shot of Herman Park. Tell me how to make the modeling so realistic into the environment? Take a closer look. The grass and footprints he stepped on, could this be done by 3D modeling?

Netizen b: Holy Sh * t, then what the Hell Is This?

"Hello, my name is Mike Andel, I'm a university student from the University of Texas at Houston!" The hulk who had been walking all this time suddenly waved at the camera and revealed a simple smile!

-LSB- damn, he's talkiOh.MyhGod god, he's really talking!]

[dude, are you sure you're just a university student? Did you go to the wrong set, Dr. Banner? When did you transmigrate? Didn't you say hello? Did Thor come with you?]

On the screen, when Mike saw these bullet screens, he immediately sighed. "Please don't confuse me with that macho guy from Marvel, even though I'm quite fierce now..."

"Damn, BRO, this prop of yours is pretty awesome. How did you do it?"

"Do you think this is a prop?" Mike smiled and clenched his fist, showing off his biceps. After the thick brush was rolled up, the bulging biceps bulged like a hill, the real blood flow and muscle changes made the audience gasp!

"Oh my God, how did you do it? If it's not a prop, did you also get injected with gamma rays?"

"Bullshit gamma rays. Didn't you guys see the information released by Galaxy This Morning?" "It says here that these are genetic materials. My roommates next door were also lucky enough to enter the game. Now, they also have a body like this. F * cking awesome!"

[are you serious, upstairs? That News is obviously a science fiction story, right?]

[I'm lying. That guy even transformed in front of us this morning. I'm already waiting in line for that game, but all the passageways have been temporarily closed!]

Then, the group of people began to discuss this topic for a long time. Mike did not interrupt them, but continued to leisurely walk in the park. During this time, many park visitors saw Mike and were shocked to see him, this caused more and more people to stream in this live broadcast room, and soon, it had over ten million views!

“Brother, is that intelligence video real?” Finally, someone asked in the bullet screen.

“Of course it’s real!” Mike said with a smile, “Otherwise, do you really think that I’m 3D modeling?”

“Is there really such a mysterious force that can change you? Turn ordinary people into this appearance? Don’t you have any objections?”

“What objections?” Mike smiled and said, “My previous body is still there, I can change back at any time, but now I prefer this body more. You Don’t know, this body is simply wonderful. It doesn’t have a sore waist, doesn’t pant, and is full of strength. I can now lift a pickup truck with my bare hands and jump three stories high!”

[are you serious?]

[that’s right, handsome, why don’t you perform one?]

[that’s right, perform one! ! !]

“Okay!” Mike laughed proudly. “Then I’ll perform one for you guys. Wait until I find an empty place... cameraman, take a good shot!”

Then, everyone saw the Hulk suddenly squat down and fly into the sky like a cannonball in the next second. In an instant, all the spectators in the park cried out in surprise and took out their phones to take pictures!

The live stream instantly went viral on the internet. In less than a few hours, a large number of such videos appeared on the Internet, in different places, a group of hulk-like hulks and some green jelly balls were streaming live from all over the world, and they could perform all sorts of unimaginable things.

For example, jumping onto a three-story-high roof on flat ground, carrying a heavy pickup truck or even a tractor with their bare hands, and those who were wild in Ice Russia were also performing and catching rocket launchers with their bare hands!

Of course, this kind of live broadcast would not last for long. There would be SWAT teams from all over the world coming to arrest them, but every time the SWAT team arrived, these guys would turn into a white light and disappear without a trace!

More and more such live broadcast videos made people in the world finally realize that the news that was popular all over the world was true. There were really a group of Lucky people who had benefited from it. They had extraordinary power and a brand new life!

The various major media outlets reported one after another. Some people guessed that this was a huge conspiracy, while others thought that this was the opportunity for humanity to enter a great era!

At the beginning, the local governments still wanted to first conceal this matter and then secretly capture the players. The typical examples were the Arthur family in Great Britain and the deputy commander of the Extraordinary Corps in the United States who stole information but did not hand it over.

However, they did not expect that this mysterious force, which had been hidden for a long time, would suddenly expose itself under the sun and allow many players to gain the public's trust through live broadcasts.

In an instant, Galaxy's intelligence could not be suppressed and appeared in the public's field of vision!

Moreover, two hours later, Galaxy officially released another piece of news: the local government must not attempt to harass or capture the players. Once they found out that the players were being persecuted, they would permanently cancel the opportunity for the participants to enter galaxy, and permanently blacklist them!

Once this news was released, all the forces, including the Arthur family, instantly did not dare to act Rashly!

They did not know if this mysterious force could discover that they were persecuting the players, but they did not dare to take this risk. The threat of permanent blacklisting was too great. These people who stood at the top of society were all smart people, they knew very well that once this matter was implemented, they might directly miss this historical ship, or even be abandoned on the Barren Island forever!

And so... ... Under such a passive situation, the major powers, led by the United States, began to send invitations to the entire federation alliance. They invited the political leaders of various countries to head to the Federation headquarters to open a world conference that had not been opened for 50 years!

Chapter 790 Exposing the world (center)

The location of the Federation headquarters was set on a small artificial island in the center of the ocean. That location was very special. In order to show fairness and respect to the Allied countries, the location chosen for the small island happened to be the location from the center of the original nine major allied countries.

Every year, the countries of the Federation would pay their membership fees to maintain the daily routine of the small island. Every time the federation had something important to decide, they would gather the leaders of the Allied countries to hold a meeting here to resolve it.

However, this kind of meeting was rarely held. The last time it was held was ten years ago. The content of the meeting was to discuss the big issue of whether new energy should be fully produced to replace oil, after all, at that time, once oil was completely replaced, the economies of many oil-based exporting countries would directly collapse. However, if it was not replaced, social science and technology would face the dilemma of stagnation!

That meeting had decided the fate of one-third of the Allied countries, and the discussion had lasted for more than 40 days. This time, the topic was related to the whole world!

The meeting was announced at 9:00 a.m. Asian time, which was three hours before Galaxy announced the election rules!

At this time, the leader of Huazhong, who had just gotten off the plane, looked at this familiar yet unfamiliar place with a sudden realization. The last time he had been to this place was ten years ago, when he had followed the previous leader to see the world. In the blink of an eye, he had been to this place. Ten years had passed... .. time really doesn't seem to notice... ..

The leader sighed.

The arrival of the leader of Huazhong had attracted the attention of many people. The reason was that behind him were two young men dressed as guards. They were dressed in standard huazhong-style guard uniforms, which were somewhat old-fashioned yet solemn and formal, however, the person dressed was unbelievably handsome. The leaders of other countries recognized him at a glance. This was the person in the intelligence report called the Dragon Group!

Especially the girl on the right, whose temperament was like a fog. In the video, she killed one of the Twelve Knights of Great Britain in one move!

"Long time no see, Mr. Dragon..." Arthur slowly walked forward and gave an elegant aristocratic salute.

"Well, long time no see, Mr. Arthur..." the leader replied with a smile, "Ten years have passed, and your appearance hasn't changed at all. It seems that the rumor that the bloodline of the Arthur family can keep you young forever is true..."

"You flatter me... it's just an illusion..." Arthur smiled and said, "People like us don't live as long as ordinary people..."

He wasn't lying. People who inherited the ancient blood only had an average life expectancy of around 50 years. Those who had poor maintenance began to fail at the age of 35.

"But the two children behind you..." Arthur looked at the two members of the dragon group behind the leader and said with a smile, "I heard that they can live for 300 years with such a body!" As he said that, his eyes revealed a strange desire. "Such a beautiful body and a lifespan of 300 years. What a wonderful thing. Do you think it's true?"

"How would I know?" The leader replied with a smile.

"The federation is one entity. As the ones who have the most information, shouldn't you share it? At this time, it's not good to be too selfish..." Arthur pressed on.

These words attracted the attention of the surrounding leaders. They all leaned over and looked at elder long, elder long smiled indifferently in the face of the pressure from the crowd. "Don't you all have the information? From your respective excellent spies..."

The corners of the leaders' mouths twitched slightly when they heard that...

Arthur's expression did not change when he heard that. "Speaking of which, I still want to ask. At that time, our intelligence department found out that someone had used the country's intelligence resources to go to your country to secretly infiltrate and attempt to destroy the friendship between the two countries. After knowing the news, we immediately sent out a cleaning force to clean up the house. The leader of the team was our Round Table Knight Legion's Enzo. "Fregel led the team, but he died at your border. Shouldn't Mr. Long give us an explanation?"

The leaders around them looked at each other. They didn't expect Arthur to be able to twist the truth. They looked at elder long with interest, wanting to see how he would respond to such a scoundrel.

Elder Dragon was stunned. He quickly turned around and said, "Doudou, I remember that you were the one dealing with enzoes, right? He said that he was here to help us. Is that what happened?"

The young girl called Doudou was stunned for a moment. She shook her head and said, "I don't know, I didn't ask..."

"Eh, you child, how can you attack without asking? How am I going to explain this to my friends?"

"Er... but he attacked first..." the girl said honestly, "And he was so weak and died instantly. How could I ask so many questions?"

"Oh? Sending such a weak person over really disappointed you," Arthur said coldly.

"Hey, Mr. Arthur, don't be agitated..." "It's obviously a misunderstanding," elder long comforted him with a peaceful look, "Well, I'll definitely give you an explanation when I return to China. Don't be agitated now. Be careful not to scare the children. You heard it just now. These naughty children didn't take it lightly." "...". "..."

Everyone: "..."

Was this considered a blatant threat?

Arthur's mouth twitched when he heard this, but he did not dare to continue releasing his aura. If the other party could kill Enzo in one move, he would naturally be able to kill him in one move as well!

The New World, the Geno Body, these things that suddenly appeared really made people love and hate them!

Arthur looked at the smiling elder long with a complicated feeling in his heart. In the past, the previous leaders of Huazhong had always kept a very low profile because they did not have any transcendent powers outside. But now, they were showing off their abilities, face oneself is also full of confidence, its fundamental reason is because of that New World!

Come to think of it, the opportunity of this great era is not necessarily a good thing for those who already occupy the top position in the world. It may even be a great crisis!

A careless, perhaps maintained for thousands of years Round Table Knight family, will become the dust of this new era!

"Are you sure it's Mars?"

With all the heads of state present, the meeting soon began in the General Assembly Hall, where the Chief Scientist of the American astronomical administration, James. Kerr is explaining his guess to everyone. According to him, the location of the so-called base city is likely to be on Mars next to sphere D!

“Is there any proof?” Angor frowned first.

“Yes...” James switched to the virtual screen, several pictures appeared on the screen, he pointed at the pictures on the screen and said, “We collected some early environmental pictures from players in the Forum of Dawn Assessment in Central China. In the pictures, the fairy-tale-like city hasn’t been built yet. There’s only a compressed base, and the environment around it was exactly the same as the pictures we took in the Atlun region on Mars!”