

SHE MADE A COMEBACK AS A RENOWNED DOCTOR

Chapter 865: Chapter 865: Jing Rao Extra: She's Not Good Enough for You

After the wedding, guests gradually departed, leaving only a few close friends still pulling Waylon Lewis to drink.

Waylon Lewis was happy today, so he let them make a fuss, though he didn't drink much.

Wyatt Lewis knew Waylon Lewis had gotten injured today, hastily bandaged the wound, changed into his wedding attire, and attended the ceremony, so Wyatt took on quite a bit of drinking for him. As a result, Wyatt ended up quite tipsy.

With Waylon Lewis's grand wedding, the outside world still deemed the Lewis Family's second young master, Wyatt Lewis, single, making him particularly noticeable.

Many high-status figures brought their daughters to introduce to Wyatt Lewis, hoping to seize the opportunity for the title of Second Young Madam Lewis.

The people present were also discussing, wondering which family's daughter would marry the second young master.

Aria Richardson stood amongst the crowd, staring fixedly at the man surrounded by several business tycoons and socialite young ladies.

Apart from the main characters of the night, Waylon Lewis and Hope Williams, Wyatt Lewis was undoubtedly the most striking presence.

With a tall, composed figure, a well-fitted suit, handsome and deep-set features, graceful demeanor, chatting and laughing with discretion...

The once frivolous second young master, who only drank and partied, was tossed into the company for a few months of training and now talks confidently with business moguls, showcasing more charm than he did in his former carefree, unruly days.

Sometimes, Aria wholeheartedly agrees with Alitzel Williams's remark that her son can't be all that bad.

Indeed, if the Lewis Family can nurture Waylon Lewis, Wyatt Lewis can't be far behind.

As soon as he shows a bit of brilliance, flocks of people gravitate towards him.

A man like him seems suited for a better woman...

She felt a slight pang of loss; compared to the Lewis Family, the Richardson Family simply didn't measure up.

If it weren't for Hope Williams, she would definitely not be able to interact with a family of such stature.

Thinking of this, she let out a sigh, downed the red wine in her glass, and then turned to walk towards the exit of the banquet hall.

As Wyatt Lewis raised his eyes, he happened to see that figure slowly walking out.

His gaze paused slightly, was about to chase after her when another CEO brought his daughter over for introductions.

"Young Master Lewis, this is my daughter, Emma..."

Wyatt Lewis tugged slightly at his lips, had to first hold his wine glass, and politely deal with it.

Today's attendees were nobility from across the regions; the Lewis Family was powerful, but no matter how powerful, they couldn't randomly make enemies.

Wyatt Lewis turned his head, glanced beside him, and saw Thomas Hughes nearby, "Assistant Hughes."

Thomas Hughes walked over, "What's up, young master?"

Wyatt Lewis glanced towards the door, "Aria drank too much, I can't break away here, help me keep an eye on her."

Thomas Hughes felt that he truly had a lot of duties.

Previously assisting the boss and the boss's wife...

Later helping the boss take care of the kid...

Now helping the boss's brother look after the girlfriend...

Indeed, he was indispensable!

This family wouldn't function without him.

Thomas Hughes smiled, "Alright."

The girl named Emma just now, wearing a silver gown, stood with poise and elegance before Wyatt Lewis, her eyes sparkling at the sight of Wyatt Lewis.

She observed him watching a girl's departing back without looking away, raised her eyebrows confidently, and extended her hand, "Hello, I'm Emma Winton."

Wyatt Lewis withdrew his gaze, glanced at her indifferently, raising his glass slightly, "Hello."

Emma gave a faint smile, naturally withdrew her hand, faced Wyatt Lewis's rudeness without anger, "The girl you were just looking at, is she the one you fancy?"

"Yeah, she's my girlfriend."

Emma nodded knowingly, "But her reputation isn't great, and her family background doesn't match yours; two such mismatched people are hard to stay together."

It's normal for someone to remember the previous commotion involving Aria Richardson.

Emma's tone was neutral, her gaze distant as she continued, "Just now, you stood in the spotlight, the center of attention, while she could only stand silently in the crowd, eventually leaving of her own accord, because she knows she's not a match for you."

Wyatt Lewis's brows furrowed slightly with displeasure, "Miss Winton, making such judgments about my girlfriend right in front of me, isn't that inappropriate?"

Emma's gaze stayed unapologetic, her slender fingers waved lightly.

"I don't see anything wrong with it, I'm merely stating facts about the disparity between you two. Time is precious, wasting it on the wrong person is definitely a mistake."

With a "thud," Wyatt Lewis put his wine glass down on the table next to him.

"According to you, my brother and sister-in-law would also be mismatched, yet they're happily together now."

Emma smiled softly, "Comparing your sister-in-law to her isn't appropriate. First off, your sister-in-law is a famously renowned doctor. Secondly, from what I know, your sister-in-law now owns the entire Williams Family in City A, and she also holds the Ansen Group in Emperor Capital, which is booming."

Also, the Carter Family; she's Chairman Carter's biological daughter. These two family backgrounds combined make her a fitting match with the Lewis Family.

Moreover, her reputation soared after a notable victory at a casino in Y Country, and just based on her winnings without considering the aforementioned assets, her personal wealth already amounts to billions, all of it liquid assets.

Factoring in her total personal assets, she's likely wealthier than your brother, making her undoubtedly a perfect match for him."