A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 101-Queen-like Presence She would never let Blanca confront Cedric head-on at a time like this!

Blanca and Natalie were good friends. The thought of Cedric repeatedly causing trouble for Natalie for the sake of that woman made Bianca furious.

Every little thing set him off, and Blanca couldn't stand it.

She was really angry this time.

"Go inside the room," Natalie said Natalie was touched by Blanca's words, but even so, she couldn't let Blanca face Cedric.

Listening to the commotion, Natalie knew that if it came to blows, bones would be broken.

She had seen Cedric in his angry state before.

"But you..." Bianca was furious, but she was still worried about Natalie.

"I can handle it!" Natalie said.

It was something she expected.

Natalie was also furious! What right did he have to be angry here?

In the end, Bianca went back to her room.

Bang! Bang! Bang!

Just as Natalie reached the door, she heard the door being kicked again!

She heard the neighbor across opening the door, but then closing it again. It was clear that Cedric was in a murderous mood.

Just as the man was about to kick the door again, Natalie threw it open. The man stood at the doorway. shrouded in an icy aura en their eyes met, the dangerous glint in Cedric's eyes seemed to intensity. Natalie remained calm and Natalie!" They both spoke simultaneously, standing on opposite extremes. Cedric was enraged to the limit, while Natalie was surprisingly calm when she spoke despite being furious moments ago.

She was calm as if everything that had happened recently had nothing to do with her.

Cedric couldn't believe it.

How could she be so indifferent? Even at this point, she seemed unaffected!

How great of her! She was truly something else!

The next moment, Natalie felt pain in her wrist.

Cedric had forcefully grabbed her and dragged her out before she could react. Her knees hit the floor, and the pain was piercing. However, the man in front didn't stop at all; he continued dragging her across the floor.

Natalie couldn't see her own disheveled state, but she was instantly filled with anger.

She stood up only when getting into the elevator, intending to struggle and break free from Cedric. However, his strength was immense. His grip almost crushed her wrist.

"Cedric, let go of me!" Natalie roared.

At this moment, she was a mess.

Her previously carefully styled hair was now a complete mess. She had always been a delicately pampered doll when she was with him.

When did she ever experience getting dirty like this?

Cedric remained silent. After exiting the elevator, he continued dragging her into the car.

Natalie knew they were heading to the hospital.

She kicked Cedric in the stomach and shouted, "Stop the car!" This roar even made the car sway.

Sensing the tense atmosphere, the driver didn't dare to stop without Cedric's order. And so, they went straight to the hospital.

was about to jump out of the car, but the man grabbed her back and forcefully pressed her onto NUS. There was a fierce and ruthless light in his eyes, and he looked like a wolf ready to devour its prey!

Natalie didn't misunderstand; Cedric genuinely seemed like he wanted to kill her.

She had never seen this kind of wildness in him before.

But she fearlessly met his gaze.

She thought Cedric would say something to scold her, but in the end, he said nothing. When they reached.

the destination, he tried to drag her out again.

“I can walk on my own!” Natalie couldn’t bear it any longer and said angrily.

Did her heart hurt?

She pondered on that question.

No, it didn’t!

There was nothing but anger as she faced Cedric at this moment. Her heart was dead now, and there was nothing left of her feelings toward him.

That was good.

It turns out that no matter how strong the emotions, letting go could be so effortless.

The two walked into the hospital, and countless gazes were cast their way. But everyone averted their eyes when those gazes landed on the man who radiated coldness.

Natalie looked at the distant flashing lights!

She took out her phone and called Karina, who quickly answered, “Ms. Walker.” “Keep an eye on things tonight. No matter what happens, don’t allow anything to leak out!” We’ll go after anyone who dares try! They’ll be bankrupt tomorrow morning! If anyone dares to privately spread rumors, get them out of Verde City!” Natalie’s words were cold and ruthless.

Cedric pruned at her words. Then, he turned and looked down at her from his higher vantage point, a cold gleam in his eyes.

She... dared to speak such arrogant words even now?

She was a petite woman, and her whole appearance seemed disheveled. Yet, none of those concealed her imposing aura!

At this moment, she stood like a queen on the peak. Though he looked down at her, it was as if she were so high that no one could grasp her.

“Alright, I understand,” Karina replied.

In fact, before leaving work, Karina had already arranged everything.

When Natalie mentioned that Isabella was really blind, she knew these people would probably use public opinion to attack Natalie again.

And Natalie was tired of such tactics.

Once that was done, Natalie hung up the phone.

Looking up at Cedric, who was observing her, Natalie tilted her head defiantly..

Cedric said, "You really are something!" The man who hadn't spoken a word throughout the journey suddenly said that to her.

If she wasn't something else, what was she?

That was what he used to say to those under him!

Who would have thought that the once gentle and elegant Mrs. Johnson from the Johnson family, the gentle and demur young mistress, would now be so fierce?

Natalie sneered. "I'm not afraid of embarrassment. It's your family reputation that has taken a few hits recently!" Speaking of the Johnson family, a cold light flashed in Cedric's eyes. She had taken away the eastern. suburbs project!

It had stirred up turmoil within the Johnson family that she... actually had the ability to do such things now!

"Let's go!" Cedric didn't want to get so involved with Natalie at this moment.

didn't care either She kept up with the man's brisk pace. Her legs were short, and Cedric's long legs could cover two of hers in one step, making it quite difficult for her to keep up!

However, he showed no consideration for her.

So Natalie ran all the way to the entrance of the hospital room!

Cedric pushed the door open, and Natalie followed him in.

At this moment, Isabella was sitting on the hospital bed. Upon hearing the commotion, she reached for the kettle on her bedside table and knocked it over.

Hot ot water splashed on the back of her hand the moment it hit the ground. The pain made her gasp.

In a swift move, Cedric was there, asking. "Are you okay?" "I'm fine," she said, but her hand was already turning red.

After Cedric checked and confirmed that everything was fine, he finally stopped.

not entering but He looked towards Natalie, who stood at the door, coldly observing everything.

He barked angrily, "Come In!" Natalie's eyes were cold. She looked at Isabella without any warmth in her eyes.

To others, Isabella was a pitiful sight. It was heart-wrenching to look at her.

The coldness in Natalie's eyes only angered the man holding Isabella.

"Kneel!" The man's eyes and tone were equally icy.

Yes, kneel!

Natalie heard it right.

She might have doubted herself if it were before, thinking she misheard.

But now, looking at these two, how could she be mistaken?

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 102-I Came Just for You "You want me to kneel... to someone like her?" Natalie said with an icy tone.

That woman couldn't afford it even if she paid Natalie to kneel!

Even though Natalie's heart was already dead inside, she couldn't help but feel disappointed in this man right now.

Her stunning face overshadowed her disheveled state. Even though Isabella was truly blind now, she could still feel Natalie's queen-like demeanor.

Isabella stiffened!

Her brows furrowed, and hate flashed across her face. What did Natalie have to act so high and mighty? She was also just an orphan with nothing!

Where did she get the confidence to act this way?!

Natalie and Cedric continued to stare at each other, neither willing to back down.

The air in the ward became even colder.

"Ced!" Isabella tugged on Cedric's sleeve.

This small action gave off a pitiful vibe. Natalie looked at Isabella's delicate fingers on Cedric's sleeve with a cold gaze.

She clung to Cedric's sleeve, and he showed no intention of shaking her off!

After so many years of marriage, he never allowed other women to get close, even with such small gestures.

So, the presence of Isabella in his heart was indeed different... Natalie's lips curled into a mocking smile. "Kneel!" Cedric said in an even colder tone when he saw Natalie's smile.

"Forget it!" Isabella's grip on Cedric tightened.

Every one of her actions, the pretended intimacy, was done as a provocation to Natalie. However, Cedric couldn't see it Isabella was deliberately infuriating her, wanting Natalie to reveal that crazed expression in front of But she... failed!

Natalie remained indifferent to everything happening before her. Her gaze was fixed on Cedric, dismissing whatever she caught in her peripheral vision.

Her disdain, in turn, provoked Cedric!

"Do you want to go to prison?" Finally, the man showed his trump card. In his hands were the evidence Stefan had investigated and given to him.

Prison!

Before, the mere thought made his heart tighten. But now, he presented it to Natalie like he was giving her a lifeline. He used it as a threat, intending to force Natalie to kneel and apologize to Isabella.

However, Cedric underestimated Natalie!

At this moment, he seemed to forget Natalie's pride and backbone.

Even when Rebecca threatened her with something so significant back then, she remained nonchalant. She only listened to Cedric because she was together with him.

Back then, she listened to him no matter what!

Even when she had endured hardship in the Johnson family, she had done everything he asked.

But what about now?

She remained as nonchalant as ever. There was a hint of a charming smile on her lips, which complemented her disheveled appearance.

It sent a chill up the spine of anyone who saw her now.

Instinctively, Cedric was about to push Isabella away.

But the next moment, Natalie mocked, "Go to prison? Sure, ask the woman behind you if she'd let me go to prison." She was indifferent and was deliberately provoking Cedric. Her words were unexpected!

Isabella had been hiding behind Cedric the entire time. When she heard Natalie's words, she stiffened but quickly regained composure. "Ced, don't do this for me." Isabella looked pitiful and acted as if she were being considerate of Cedric's feelings.

Natalie laughed.

The sarcasm in her laughter was thick.

Cedric was furious. "Kneel and apologize to her!" How could she laugh after doing so many malicious things?

She had bribed people to kidnap Isabella, causing her to go blind and breaking her legs. And then she released that video and images...!

Now, she still appeared unrepentant!

Was he truly mistaken?

How could the gentle and kind woman from back then turn into this?

Cedric felt not only disappointed but also angry at Natalie.

"Now that she's blind for real, does that mean the things I had people release aren't true?" "You..." Natalie's words made Isabella's face turn even paler.

To Isabella, Natalie was someone not worth explaining to.

However, were these words an explanation now?

She was blind and couldn't see anything. Even her perception of people's emotions was merely based on her own assumptions and feelings. She tried to sense what Cedric was feeling now.

When Natalie uttered that sentence, she distinctly felt the man's arm beside her stiffen instantly.

"Ced." Isabella tugged at Cedric's sleeve once again, hoping to shift his attention with such a small gesture.

The changes on her face were clear from Natalie's perspective.

One couldn't deny that this woman was truly cunning.

The smile on Natalie's lips widened, Cedric, what makes you think that the current public opinion is me framing her?

What about the previous public outcry against Natalie? Why didn't he ever think that they were wrongly accusing her?

Indeed, people were different. Their perceptions differed and would lead to completely different perspectives.

The two remained silent and continued staring at each other.

Seeing Cedric ignoring her, Isabella made a greater effort to pull at him.

"I'm fine. Please don't make a scene anymore, okay?" They couldn't continue like this!

That damn Natalie! Isabella didn't expect her to be so difficult to deal with.

Isabella was a bit scared now.

What would have happened if Isabella had not noticed her attending physician had resigned? What if she hadn't noticed Natalie sending someone in to retaliate against her?

Isabella had come this far, and she couldn't afford to fail!

"Let's just say I blinded myself." As expected, this statement landed like a bomb.

Cedric instantly shifted his focus onto her.

Turning around, he grabbed her shoulders, his anger evident. "I won't allow you to do this again!" Why should he give in to Natalie?

She was a malicious woman...!

Seeing Isabella pushed to this point by Natalie, Cedric wished he could press Natalie to the ground and make her apologize to Isabella Kidnapping, crippling, suicide...!

The thought of Isabella attempting suicide made the expression in Cedric's eyes even colder.

When he turned to look at Natalie, his gaze was an icy stare. 'How far do you want to push her?' if you hate me, just come after me!

Yes, Natalie hated him!

Ever since those rumors started circulating, he hadn't given her any explanation, thinking she trusted him:

But little did he know, she harbored such deep hatred for him.

Natalie smiled again.

"Yes, of course. Aren't I already doing that?" Indeed, she had already started coming after him. The eastern suburbs project was just the beginning.

There was a murder Natalie.

a murderous glint in the man's eyes. He looked as if he wished looks could kill as he glared at Natalie fearlessly met his gaze, showing no signs of backing down. She glanced at Isabella, who was being protected by Cedric.

She smiled and said, "Isabella, I truly admire you!" Without any further explanation for her words, Natalie turned and walked away.

Yes, she admired Isabella!

To scheme against Natalie, Isabella went to the extent of blinding herself and crippling her own legs! Natalie had to admit that Isabella truly was a wolf in sheep's clothing.

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 103-You'll Be Disappointed After Natalie left, only Cedric and Isabella remained in the ward. The man stood up and covered Isabella with the blanket.

When he spoke, his tone had lost all the coldness from before. He said apologetically, "I'm sorry; I intended for her to apologize to you." He didn't expect Natalie to be so unyielding. Despite everything she had done and witnessing Isabella's current state, she remained so stubborn!

When did her heart become so cold, to the point that he had no idea?

Isabella replied, "It's okay. Please don't argue for my sake anymore. I hope you both will be fine." Her words sounded genuine. Yet, she was well aware that the more she acted this way in front of Cedric, the more he would resent Natalie.

“It’s impossible for there to be anything between us anymore! Cedric said just as Isabella finished speaking.

He uttered those words without any hesitation.

Once so adamant about not divorcing Natalie, now he harbored so much hatred for her, to the point of believing that all the years with Natalie were a stain.

As this thought emerged, an inexplicable pain struck his heart. He didn’t even know where this pain originated from.

With how things were, he shouldn’t feel such pain for Natalie anymore.

Just when it seemed like the misunderstanding between Natalie and Cedric would be resolved, Isabella unexpectedly employed such a despicable move.

Natalie felt disdainful.

Getting entangled with someone like Cedric only brought bad things into her life.

this moment, Jocelyn arrived at the Johnson Manor. She appeared a bit slimmer after being absent for Y days, and it was obvious that she hadn’t been doing well.

Rebecca still liked Jocelyn. So when Jocelyn took the initiative to approach, Rebecca readily accepted her.

“You know, I’ve always liked you” Rebecca held Jocelyn’s hand and said.

Jocelyn blushed.

“About what happened with my parents, I apologize on their behalf.” “Oh, you’re such a sweet child.” Rebecca lovingly touched her cheek. The gesture appeared genuinely affectionate, like that of a caring elder.

Christina stood at the corner of the stairs, her eyes filled with gloom!

Jocelyn continued, “I’ve talked to my parents about it. In the future, Ced and I... “Don’t worry. I still would like to see you and Ced together,” Rebecca sincerely said.

Rebecca didn’t expect Jocelyn to be so persistent about Cedric, even after the embarrassment at the banquet and the unfavorable attitude of Jocelyn’s parents.

But now, Jocelyn had taken the initiative to visit Rebecca. It also sounded like she had the support of the Lambert family, which was why Rebecca naturally welcomed the development.

“Thank you, Aunt,” Jocelyn said and smiled brightly at Rebecca.

Jocelyn had waited for so many years. How could she back down over such a small matter? After all, getting Cedric and Natalie divorced was not an easy task.

Moreover, now that Cedric was divorced, Jocelyn was well aware many others had their eye on the Johnson family.

Natalie took a cab back to the Elegance Bay. Once she was home, Karina called.

Rest assured, no one dares to leak what happened at the hospital tonight!” Okay, Natalie replied, then hung up Karina’s call.

Isabella was not as simple as she appeared on the surface. That woman was quite formidable, not just relying on manipulative tactics to sway public opinion.

Who knew what she would have prepared next?

Natalie closed her eyes.

When she opened them again, there was a sharp glint in her eyes. She picked up her coat and exited her room.

When the butler saw her descending while putting on her coat, he asked, “Are you going out?” It was quite late now.

Natalie nodded. “Yes, make the arrangements.” She was referring to Stephen’s b*dyguards.

Now Now Verde City was in quite a turmoil. Natalie still had to heed her uncle’s advice. Apart from being with Irwin or going to Bianca’s place, she had dedicated drivers and b*dyguards wherever she went.

The butler acted swiftly and returned after a few minutes. The driver and b*dyguards have been arranged and are waiting outside for you.” “Alright.” Natalie nodded.

She stood up and headed outside.

In the car, Natalie called Karina. “Find out where Cedric is. If he’s at the hospital, find a way to keep him occupied.” “What’s going on?” “I’m heading to the hospital right away!” Natalie said coldly.

She wanted to personally go to the hospital and investigate. She couldn’t wait any longer. Today at the hospital, everything became clearer to her.

Isabella was plotting against her. She didn't just want to snatch Cedric away. She hated Natalie and wanted her dead.

wanted to know the extent of the woman's hatred towards her, which was enough to make her resort to such drastic actions. She needed to find out for herself.

think you shouldn't go to the hospital! You know that woman could stage an accident anytime to frame That sounded indeed like something Isabella would do.

Everything that woman was doing now was akin to staging an accident to frame Natalie. That woman truly dared to do anything.

Natalie took a deep breath. "It's okay. I'm not afraid of her framing me." Had Isabella ever refrained from tarnishing Natalie's reputation in this life and her previous one?

Natalie didn't care about these trivial matters anymore.

"Okay, I got it." Karina, understanding Natalie's intentions, knew that Natalie was going to see Isabella without Cedric's knowledge.

She hung up the phone.

While Natalie was heading to the hospital, Karina took action!

It's unclear what methods Karina used, but as soon as Natalie arrived at the hospital, she saw Cedric's figure leaving the hospital premises.

Natalie got out of the car and entered the hospital.

Then, she went to Isabella's ward!

For the first time, she entered this place on her own initiative. Previously, Cedric had always accompanied her.

Isabella wasn't asleep.

Unlike before, her eyes were now covered with white cloth all the time. Upon hearing the commotion, the coldness on her lips instantly transformed into a gentle demeanor.

"Ced?" "Why did you come back?" Her tone was extremely gentle.

Natalie looked at Isabella, a mocking smile playing on her lips.

Compared to their past lives, this blind woman was much clumsier. Even her sense of perception wasn't now about herself back then when she had been blind, Natalie had been able to deduce who it was footsteps, or even just a subtle movement.

But even with such strong sensitivity, she ultimately couldn't escape and died in the fire.

Thinking about that fire, her eyes turned ice-cold, and her tone lost any trace of warmth.

"It's me!"

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 104-Sending Her to Prison When Isabella heard it was Natalie, the warmth on her face disappeared completely. It was replaced by coldness!

When both of them were equally cold, there was a subtle similarity in their expressions that was hard to notice! This resemblance was like having a common point.

"Why are you here?" Isabella's tone was icy, mocking, provocative, and... triumphant!

All these emotions were intertwined.

Undoubtedly, it was meant to provoke Natalie.

Unfortunately, Isabella was mistaken to think it would work.

This version of Isabella could no longer provoke Natalie.

Natalie smirked. "To see how miserable you are! Not a bad look on you, you know? Just what I wanted." Natalie effortlessly countered Isabella's feeling of triumph.

Isabella was speechless.

At her words, the atmosphere around her abruptly turned cold.

"Hmph, revel in your triumph. Your time in the limelight is running out. I can't wait to see you in a worse state than me!" "Why?" Natalie's tone turned cold as she asked.

Natalie couldn't help but feel a bit uneasy about this woman's words. Thinking about how Cedric had repeatedly mentioned making her give her eyes to Isabella proved that this woman was extremely cunning.

Even when her conspiracies were exposed, she still calmly responded. And the way she had was...!!

Isabella was determined to take Natalie's eyes, Natalie could tell, she wanted to blind her, make her see nothing, and let everyone trample her dignity underfoot.

around, the hostility emanating from her was so intense! "Why? Because you deserve to die!" "I don't remember ever offending you!" "Even if you didn't do anything, I would still hate you!" Isabella's words were sharp and ruthless.

However, it was hard for Natalie to accept such a deep hatred toward her when she hadn't done anything.

Even if she were to die, it was normal to want to know the reason, right?

In her past life, she had died without knowing why!

In this life, she wouldn't be so confused.

"It seems like you won't tell me, huh?" Natalie's tone turned cold. Without waiting for Isabella to respond, she added, "Those hooligans, did they go abroad?" To what extent did Cedric's heart lean towards Isabella?

When Karina told her that after Cedric bailed out those people, they went abroad! Natalie was curious about the methods Isabella used.

This woman was truly appalling.

"No, they're already dead," Isabella replied.

Natalie was silent, and a flash of shock passed through her eyes.

What?

Natalie didn't have any words to say in response. She didn't even have the words to describe her! This woman had overturned all her perceptions.

Saying that Isabella was ruthless didn't even cut it close!

Was venomous a more accurate description? Like a cunning snake and a poisonous scorpion?

No, she was even worse than that!

"Heh, do you think that I can't do anything to you at this point?" Isabella started it! It wasn't Natalie's fault!

So what if Isabella lost her life due to her own actions?

Since Isabella was so adamant about hating her and unknowingly retaliated normally, then... There was nothing wrong with what Natalie was doing!

Having said that, Natalie turned around.

Then, Isabella's mocking voice came from behind, "What do you think about him personally sending you to prison?" Natalie stopped in her tracks!

A chill filled her body.

Turning back, she looked at the woman sitting on the bed, smiling at her. That smile seemed so eerie.

Describing her as venomous was not an exaggeration..

“You’ll be disappointed!” “Is that so?” “Why don’t you give it a try?” “Sure, I’ll do just that!” Isabella smiled.

Natalie ignored her and turned away.

On the other hand, Cedric had gone to the company for a meeting after leaving the hospital. When he came out, it was already past midnight.

Upon seeing him exit the room, his secretary respectfully stood up and said, “Mr. Johnson, Ms. Lambert is waiting for you.” “At this hour?” Yes, sir. She’s in the lounge.” Cedric frowned, and an unfathomable expression flashed across his handsome face.

Though there was a hint of impatience in his eyes, he still headed towards the direction of the lounge.

Jocelyn Lambert.

the embarrassment at the banquet, Cedric thought that the Lambert family wouldn’t let her have with the Johnson family embrace How unexpected!

Cedric silently entered the lounge. When Jocelyn heard movement, she stood up.

She turned to look at Cedric with a gentle smile on her face. Just like Natalie in the past, her actions flowed effortlessly, leaving no room for any flaws.

“You’re done with your meeting,” Jocelyn spoke softly in a soothing voice.

She picked up the thing she had brought and walked towards Cedric. “I brought you a late-night snack. Why don’t you give it a try? I made it myself.” Cedric looked at her without any reaction.

Jocelyn didn’t mind. Before coming, Rebecca had given her a lot of advice. Though Rebecca was anxious to form an alliance with the Lambert family previously, she hadn’t dared say anything much.

But now, Jocelyn took the initiative and approached her first.

So, Rebecca didn’t hide anything from Jocelyn about the situation between Cedric and Natalie.

Jocelyn knew that Cedric had a good relationship with Natalie in the past, so she was trying her best to emulate Natalie's demeanor.

However, there was a stark difference between Jocelyn and Natalie, Jocelyn had a tall figure. She didn't give off the same delicate, weak vibe that Natalie did when standing next to Cedric.

"What's wrong?" Seeing the man looking at her in silence, Jocelyn felt a bit uneasy. Still, she maintained a calm and composed expression.

That was exactly how Natalie was.

'Don't do such things in the future,' Cedric finally said after a long pause.

Jocelyn was stunned!

She didn't expect Cedric to be so direct.

Her face returned to normal instantly as she calmly said, "I'm more than willing to do this for you. After all, a lifetime is a long time." She would take it slow and wait for him to accept her love.

Cedric was silent.

He looked at the woman before him indifferently, and his eyes were devoid of any warmth.

Jocelyn didn't care about the way he was acting.

If it weren't for being confined at home during this time, she would have eagerly sought opportunities to be close to Cedric at every moment.

Natalie didn't have a place in Cedric's world anymore.

Just as she was about to say something, Cedric's phone suddenly rang.

It was from the hospital.

Cedric answered, and Jocelyn didn't know what the person on the other end said.

Now emanating a chilling aura, the man said, "I'm coming right away." After saying that, he ignored Jocelyn completely and turned to walk away.

Jocelyn hadn't heard what the person on the other end of the line had said, and Cedric didn't care.

His abrupt departure startled Jocelyn, and she instinctively followed him.

“What’s wrong with you?” “I’ll have the driver take you home.” Cedric’s tone remained ice-cold.

Still, the fact that he arranged for someone to take her home showed his consideration for the Lambert family’s status in Verde City.

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 105-How Much Blood Was Shed When Cedric arrived at the hospital, the blood in the ward hadn’t been cleaned up yet.

His gaze fell on the large patches of fresh red on the folded bed sheet.

His eyes narrowed.

The young nurse who noticed Cedric trembled in fear. The air he exuded right now was powerful and intimidating to the core.

“Where is she?” Cedric roared.

The nurse stammered in fright, “M–Ms. Morgan is in the emergency room!” With that, Cedric rushed towards the direction of the emergency room.

On his way, he thought it was just a minor injury. However, seeing the blood on the bed and the floor moments ago... How much had been shed for her to...?!

Even breathing felt like a chore at this moment to Cedric. Yuvan had also arrived at the scene, and he was already at the entrance of the emergency room.

“How is she?” Cedric asked Yuvan.

Yuvan replied, “She’s been inside for a while now. No updates yet, but they just handed me a critical condition notice.” Cedric’s expression grew colder at the news.

The already ominous atmosphere now felt even more chilling.

A critical condition notice?!

Damn it, how severe are her injuries?

“What happened exactly? Cedric questioned Yuvan.

Yuvan looked at Cedric solemnly, Obviously, he had been here long enough to know everything that had happened Spit it out!!

eng Yuvan hesitating, Cedric knew there was something going on.

“Umm... Maybe you should ask Ms. Morgan about it yourself,” Yuvan suggested.

Before he could finish, Cedric kicked his leg.

“What use is keeping you if you can’t speak up?” Was he keeping Yuvan around so that the man could be emotional around him?!

This kick instantly brought Yuvan to his senses, reminding him of his true standing before Cedric.

Yuvan’s breath caught.

“If you’re not clear about what happened, then find out immediately!” “It was Ms. Walker!” Cedric was speechless.

Natalie?!

Yuvan continued, “She arrived shortly after you left. According to the timestamp on the video and the time Ms. Morgan got injured...’ At this point, Yuvan trailed off. Cedric had already guessed the outcome, even if Yuvan didn’t say it explicitly.

Natalie....

Alright!

Cedric closed his eyes, hiding the fleeting pain and helplessness.

When he opened them again, they were sharp.

“Fine!” Cedric had given her many chances. She had chosen not to take them, even resorting to more malicious actions.

In that case, he couldn’t continue to cherish the feelings between them.

They had ten years together.

Thinking about the ten years they had together, Cedric’s heart tightened. There was a pain that seemed to resonate from the depths of his soul.

It was also a sleepless night at Elegance Bay for Natalie.

Her phone rang, and it was Karina calling.

She answered, “Hello.” *Isabella is in the emergency room. She was stabbed in the abdomen.” These words made Natalie’s heart skip a beat.

Then, it all made sense!

Wasn't that woman the one behind this?

"Do you suspect it's me?" "No. I just want to tell you that before you went there tonight, you should have considered this outcome.

That woman set you up!" Karina was an intelligent person, and she stood on the sidelines. She clearly saw through the entanglements between them.

So, she was convinced that Natalie had been set up tonight.

Natalie smiled slightly. "Thank you for believing in me." "I've already called Mr. Jarvis." *There was no need to alarm my uncle." *After tonight, Cedric will only be more ruthless towards you. Without his intervention, I can do nothing on my end!" Karina spoke the truth.

Since Isabella was kidnapped, all fingers pointed towards Natalie. Cedric not only believed it was Natalie but also had Stefan obtain evidence.

Tonight, he even threatened her!

Thinking about the harsh words Isabella had said to her before she left the ward, Natalie couldn't deny that it was truly malicious.

Natalie closed her eyes.

in though she claimed not to care, somehow, the thought of Cedric candie "Alright, I understand. Let's go with that." She and Cedric were already divorced.

So, it didn't matter if Stephen stepped up.

After hanging up the call, Natalie pressed the switch for the bedside lamp. In the warm-colored room, her heart remained cold.

The luxurious surroundings couldn't fill the emptiness within her.

At the hospital, Cedric hung up the phone.

Just a moment ago be bad bon Just a moment ago, he had been on the phone with the police. He had been firm in his stance!

He insisted, "She must be sent to the detention center tonight. I won't wait a moment longer!" Yuvan stayed silent on the side.

The atmosphere was heavy.

Isabella was brought out of the emergency room, unconscious. Her pallid face stirred something in Cedric's nerves.

The state she was in continuously reminded him of what Natalie had done to Isabella.

To think he had protected Natalie all along...!

"Perhaps I've been too indulgent with her...!" His statement carried a sense of helplessness.

There was coldness in Yuvan's eyes as he watched the scene before him. "Ms. Walker's methods..." He trailed off, knowing it was not appropriate to finish his sentence.

However, Cedric automatically continued the thought. Natalie was indeed exceptionally ruthless.

He closed his eyes, thinking about the facade she had maintained in front of him over the years. However, that did little to hide the turmoil he felt inside.

Yuvan remarked. The police are probably on their way." red in response It was best if she went to jail. She was a danger to everyone in the outside world, after all!

Cedric stayed by Isabella's side throughout the night. It was only near the start of working hours that the woman finally woke up.

Doctors had come by several times during the night, expressing concerns about a potential fever.

Fortunately, it didn't happen.

"Ced, I.." Upon waking up, Isabella reached out for Cedric. There were no tears, and he couldn't see any. But when she held his hand, he sensed the slight trembling in her cold hand.

Rebecca somehow got wind of this news, and she rushed over early in the morning.

"How could that woman be so cruel?!" Rebecca fumed at the thought of Natalie.

In Rebecca's heart, Natalie had always been a ruthless woman, to a degree that was unimaginable.

"Oh, you poor child," she sympathized, observing Isabella's pale face.

Learning that Isabella was truly blind only intensified Rebecca's hatred for Natalie.

“I never thought that woman could be so malicious to stop to such levels.” Cedric remained silent.

“Is there anything left in this world that she wouldn’t dare to do?” Every word Rebecca spoke was against Natalie.

Cedric’s refined features were also steeped in coldness.

That woman should be in jail now, right?

He hadn’t paid attention to the news throughout the night, but he was convinced that Natalie’s suffering had begun.

It was time for her to face some consequences,

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 106-Still Showing Off Cedric had indulged her too much in the past.

He had also been misguided about her! To the extent that she committed so many outrageous acts!

At this moment, Cedric firmly believed that Natalie was behind everything.

He couldn’t accept the fact that he had lived with such a treacherous woman for so many years.

No, she wasn’t like this before.

It was all because of him... being overly indulgent!

But that was okay; she would naturally revert once she faced some hardships.

And naturally, she would come begging to him.

That was what Cedric thought at this moment!

Rebecca was still speaking. First, she criticized Natalie, and now she turned her attention to Cedric.

“Have you finally realized what kind of person she is now?” novelbin “At this point, you’re still protecting her?!” Rebecca recalled how Cedric had protected Natalie.

Rebecca only felt anger toward Natalie at this moment!

Cedric looked at Rebecca and said, "She should be at the police station now." "What are you saying?" "She should pay for what she did!" Cedric declared in a deep voice, concealing the pain within.

He might not even know what kind of struggle his soul was undergoing deep inside.

A voice was constantly telling him, 'You can't, you can't treat Natalie like this, she won't forgive you!' However, this voice was ultimately defeated by another saying, 'She should pay for what she did!' that women had done so many outrageous things; she should bear the consequences herself.

Reached this point, and there was no one else to blame but herself for the fate she deserved she had misheard. What did you say?

Then it hit her!

Without waiting for Cedric to speak, she asked, "Is that true? Is that woman at the police station now?" "Yes." "It's about time," Rebecca said with a satisfied tone. "Ever since Bella was kidnapped, that woman should have been thrown into the police station. That would have prevented her from committing so many outrageous acts!" There was still anger in Rebecca's voice when she spoke about Natalie. She was affectionate towards Christina and Isabella. However, it was different when it came to Natalie.

Hearing that Natalie was now in the police station gave Rebecca a sense of satisfaction.

"Ced, why go to such lengths for me?" Isabella, who had been silent, finally spoke.

When she spoke, her voice trembled. It was as if she was enduring an unimaginable pain.

Seeing Isabella speak well of Natalie, Rebecca couldn't help but feel heartbroken.

"You're just too kind, child! Even when she's done so much harm to you!" "It's all my fault. She wasn't like that originally." "Bella!" "Ced, how can you divorce her? She... hates me, she hates me!" The more Isabella spoke, the more choked up her voice became.

"Would she dare hate you?!" Rebecca got even more furious when Natalie's hatred was mentioned.

How could that woman have the audacity to hate Isabella? What right did she have? She had no right to hate at all!

Cedric's eyes grew cold.

She made a fuss about divorcing him, and still harbored hatred towards Isabella?!

That damned woman! She has done so much harm to others, and now she hates Bella? She should rot in Vaill When she thought about how Natalie was now facing judgment, Rebecca had a pleased smile on her face.

She wished that Natalie would never have a chance to come out of prison. She hoped that Natalie would forever be confined and never see the outside world again!

As always, there were two sides to a story.

At the hospital, Cedric had done the harshest thing he believed he could to Natalie. They all believed that Natalie was now facing judgment at the police station.

aft to Caleb.

However, she was now at the Premier Garden Corporation, submitting her initial draft The woman sat in Caleb's office, looking fresh and presentable. Her appearance was far from the pitiful state Cedric and the others had imagined.

The man behind the desk casually perused Natalie's design draft. Afterward, he elegantly pushed it back.

towards her.

"Irv has really recommended someone good indeed. I had no idea we had such hidden talents in Verde City!" "What do you mean?" Natalie looked at the elegant man before her.

If she had to say...!

Previously in Verde City, the most handsome man she had seen was Cedric, However, after meeting Irwin and now Caleb, she understood the meaning of each having their own merits!

Only by venturing out could one truly understand what beauty in this world looked like.

The man lit a cigar, adding a touch of dominance to his already elegant demeanor.

"Let's go with this. The bidding will be in three days." "It's that soon?" "Who knows what they're up to? We had time to prepare for the previous biddings. But this time, they're unexpectedly in a rush to get this out." Many will participate, and it's uncertain who will win. However, I trust you. After all, you helped Irv win once What do you say, Mr. Walker? Caleb said as he looked at Natalie.

M:

A sharpness in his eyes slightly overshadowed his initial appearance of being elegant and refined. He even found the woman before him somewhat amusing.

She was too petite and lacked any hint of aggression.

Before, he had no idea how this small woman had the courage to confront Cedric and the Johnson family.

Now, he understood...!

“Don’t worry. I’ll work overtime in the coming days to handle the details. I won’t let you regret working _me!” “Do I need to be concerned about your previous identity?” “Of course not. How could I have helped Mr. Frazier win if that were the case?” Natalie laughed a little, diffusing the awkwardness.

Her previous identity was Cedric’s wife.

Anyone cooperating with her was concerned she might be a spy for Cedric.

Caleb chuckled.

What a sly vixen!

After Natalie left Caleb’s office, Yvonne was waiting for her. Yvonne’s attitude towards her was slightly more respectful than when they had first met. This was clearly influenced by Caleb’s demeanor, “This way, please.” Thank you.” “You’re welcome,” Yvonne said.

The woman appeared professional, and her height made Natalie envious.

People of small stature often gave the impression of being easily bullied, just like herself.

She was aware that she sometimes seemed too easy to take advantage of.

leaving Premier Garden Corporation, Natalie received a call from Dylan.

Natalie was speechless.

Irwin seemed to really enjoy having meals with her, huh?

dup “We’re not victorious yet. After all, it’s still uncertain whether the land will end up with Premier Garden. There are many outstanding design companies and designers in the world, you know? I’m not the only one around.” “Mr. Frazier believes in you.” Fine. That made Natalie unable to refuse the invitation even if she wanted to.

In the end, Natalie didn't refuse.

"Okay, I got it." Unexpectedly, news reached Irwin so quickly. Although it was good news, considering Caleb's positive response, it was still too fast.

Getting into the car, she pulled up the navigation and headed straight to Apex Global.

It was not early in the day.

Although she didn't spend much time at Premier Garden Corporation, her sleep last night had been restless.

So, she ended up starting her day at the studio later than usual!

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 107-Driven to Madness by Hatred On the other side, Cedric had left the hospital.

Rebecca was there to stay with Isabella, so Cedric headed back to the company to deal with the land near Dragon Park.

On his way back, he saw Natalie's Bugatti speeding past him.

Cars on the road swerved to avoid the two luxury vehicles. A collision involving any of them would be financially unbearable!

"Natalie..." When the name flashed through Cedric's mind, his eyes turned icy.

"Follow her!" he ordered the driver in a cold tone.

Swift accelerating, the driver followed Natalie's car. Soon, the two cars were speeding side by side. Cedric tilted his head and saw Natalie concentrating on driving.

At that moment, a flash of anger crossed his eyes.

"Force her to stop!" "Mr. Johnson, that's..." The driver's forehead was covered in cold sweat. Although he didn't see it was Natalie, it was still a Bugatti!

Forcing her to stop might lead to a collision, and with his salary, he couldn't afford such consequences!

"Hit her!" Cedric issued a direct order this time.

The driver hesitated, his hand trembling. He unintentionally swerved towards Natalie's direction and, as expected, collided with her!

Bang!

Impact caused Natalie to lurch forward. Fortunately, the car's stability helped her regain control quickly!

Removing the earphones from her ears, she glanced at the rearview mirror.

When she saw Cedric's Phantom, she had a rough idea of what was going on.

This man was truly ruthless.

He had reported her to the police last night!

Her uncle had handled it.

So, was Cedric doing this out of sheer frustration because she was out and about like nothing had happened?

Natalie got out of the car. In her flat shoes, she appeared even more petite. She stood by her car door, looking at Cedric's Phantom with a mocking glint in her eyes.

Cedric also got out of his car and approached Natalie. Looking down at the petite woman, he asked, "What are you doing here?" "Disappointed? You want to ask why I'm still out and about, right?" Natalie said while fixing Cedric's already messy tie.

Their distance seemed ambiguous to onlookers, but Cedric felt a sudden choking sensation on his neck!

Natalie viciously tightened his tie, watching him choke and his face turn red.

She laughed.

That cheeky and mocking smile looked frivolous no matter how you saw it. It seemed like the satisfaction of a malicious person who believed they wouldn't be punished for their wrongdoing.

"Natalie!" Cedric gritted his teeth, almost wishing he could tear her to pieces.

Natalie looked indifferent, saying, "You must be disappointed. Turns out that there are things even Mr. Johnson can't accomplish in Verde City." "Who helped you this time? Irwin?" "No, it was Stephen!" Cedric was speechless.

She had boldly uttered that person's name!

In the next moment, Natalie felt something wrap around her neck. It was as if the man almost wished he could crush her throat.

ined indifferent and taunted, “What are you anne la int “Do you think I have no way to deal with you anymore?” Cedric was furious.

Natalie replied, “If you could, would you be this angry?” “You... Very good!

Now, everything she did and said was all done with the intention to challenge and provoke Cedric.

She was the only one who dared to do so.

Who else in Verde City dared to confront Cedric like this?

Despite there being people like Irwin and Caleb, they competed based on their strengths and wouldn't intentionally challenge each other.

They understood the principle of avoiding situations where the costs of conflict outweighed the potential gains.

“Is there anything else? If not, I'm leaving!” Natalie pushed the man away, ignoring the state of her car.

She got in the car and drove away.

Cedric watched as her car's beautiful taillights disappeared. Her speedy departure was also a provocation aimed at him.

He clenched his fist tightly until his knuckles cracked.

Natalie...!

Natalie went straight to see Irwin.

In the restaurant, the atmosphere between them was harmonious. Watching the man elegantly sip his red wine, the lingering gloom in Natalie's heart dissipated.

“What are you looking at? Irwin asked.

Natalie smiled and raised her glass to him.

arks for your help with Premier Garden, she said, sincerely “That was your own effort! Caleb is a very picky person. I didn't expect you to pass on the first try,” Irwin said.

Picky?

Natalie didn't feel it since her draft had passed on the first inspection. She instead thought Irwin was the more discerning one in this regard.

“What’s wrong?” Irwin asked.

“It’s only because his assistant, Ms. Lane, came to see me before this. I designed it according to her suggestions,” Natalie explained.

The fact that it passed smoothly on the first try was a significant achievement!

Irwin nodded, “I see.” In Verde City, Caleb was one of the people that was quite difficult to deal with. The fact that Natalie’s design draft passed his review was quite impressive.

Irwin had to admit that she did have some outstanding skills.

The two get along harmoniously, creating a picturesque scene.

This rare tranquil scene was quickly spread out to the public.

After visiting Isabella in the hospital, Rebecca took Christina out for a meal with some upper-class ladies.

Christina had reached a marriageable age. As a child Rebecca had raised on her own, she naturally hoped to choose a good match for Christina.

Unexpectedly, she saw Natalie dining with Irwin upon entering the restaurant.

Her expression darkened.

“Mom, what’s wrong? Christina asked.

“It’s nothing. Let’s head in!” Rebecca’s mind was in turmoil.

Wasn’t Natalie supposed to be in prison? Why was she here?

She wouldn’t do such things in public.

In the end, she took Christina inside first. Although Christina also saw Natalie, she didn’t care much since Natalie had divorced Cedric.

Despite some jealousy over Natalie having been Cedric’s wife, they were no longer together.

So, what was there to be concerned about?

Natalie received a message from Rebecca: [Come to the restroom!] Seeing the message, Natalie instinctively looked around but didn’t see Rebecca.

Irwin asked, “What’s wrong?” “Nothing,” Natalie said, shaking her head.

Though she said that, her mood had already been influenced by the people of the Johnson family.

Even if she didn't see Rebecca's face, Natalie could imagine how Rebecca acted like a high and mighty empress when she had sent that commanding message.

In the restroom, Rebecca deliberately slowed down her actions.

However, she still waited for almost ten minutes before Natalie arrived, "You're so arrogant now, aren't you?!" Rebecca exclaimed in an unpleasant tone when she saw Natalie arriving late.

Natalie ignored her words and said, "Alright, what is it?" Rebecca was obviously displeased as she asked, "Why are you still out and about?" At the hospital this morning, Cedric clearly said Natalie had already been sent to prison.

Now, seeing her strutting around outside, Rebecca couldn't hide her frustration.

Natalie sneered.

This mother and son were truly amusing!

Nothing to do with you? Or do you think work wasn't that how it used to be?

At the Johnson Manor, Natalie rarely appeared in public areas as Rebecca preferred to confine her to the kitchen!

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 108-Amazing Woman Rebecca looked at her with a deep sense of disgust. Then, she unabashedly said, "I've really underestimated you. How dare you?!" "I don't know what you're talking about," Natalie replied, a phrase she had heard too often recently.

Rebecca continued, "How could you treat Isabella like that? Do you realize that your actions could ruin her life?" Natalie was silent.

"What happened to the teachings I imparted to you? It's as if our family wasted our efforts letting you in!" Rebecca grew angrier as she spoke.

Thinking about Isabella's miserable state in the hospital, she wished she could gouge out Natalie's beautiful eyes and transplant them into Isabella's eye sockets!

Natalie was washing her hands at the sink, and she froze for a moment after Rebecca finished speaking.

She looked at Rebecca through the mirror with a cold smile on her lips.

“Since when did you start caring about Isabella?” “I’m talking about your... “Teachings?” Natalie finished Rebecca’s sentence, tearing off a piece of tissue to wipe her hands.

She twirled a lock of her curly hair with her slender fingers and turned around.

With a smile on her lips, she faced Rebecca and said, “Who do you think you are? You really think too highly of yourself!” With a swift and arrogant movement, she crumpled the tissue into a ball and flicked it at Rebecca!

Then, Natalie confidently walked away.

Her departing figure also looked so arrogant!

was seething with anger. She had witnessed Natalie’s changes during this period, but such naiveness and arrogance...!

After walking a few steps, Natalie suddenly stopped. She turned around and smirked.

So, what right did Rebecca have to lecture Natalie?

Rebecca’s face turned red with anger.

She had never been fond of Natalie. However, she had grown accustomed to bossing Natalie around over the years.

With this sudden change, Rebecca felt uncomfortable.

Not only that, she was thoroughly infuriated by Natalie!

She picked up her phone and called Cedric. He answered quickly and asked, “What’s the matter?” His tone wasn’t very pleasant.

He was deliberately suppressing his emotions!

Seeing that there was no one around, Rebecca didn’t hold back and angrily questioned, “Why is she still outside? Didn’t you say she’s already in prison?” “Are you still protecting her?” At this moment, all Rebecca could see was Cedric protecting Natalie. Even as she became so unbearable, her son was still shielding her?!

What about the suffering Isabella endured? Did that not matter?!

On the other end, Cedric pinched his nose irritably. His head was throbbing, and he thought about Natalie’s provocative attitude towards him and the situation in Isabella’s hospital room last night.

The smell of blood had been so thick in the air!

His eyes darkened.

Before he could say anything, Rebecca continued to shout over the phone, 'Cedric, I'm telling you now that protecting her like this is equivalent to covering up a crime! Do you understand?!' Don't you know how cruel she is? How many more people do you want her to harm by keeping her outside? How many people do you want to see maimed or lose their eyesight before you realize how despicable that woman is?

one she spoke the andrin She thought about Isabella's miserable state and Natalie's arrogant attitude just moments ago.

That was her true nature!

Reflecting on her interactions with Natalie over the past few years, Rebecca shuddered. Thankfully, in countless nights and days, Natalie's cruelty hadn't turned towards her.

Otherwise... "If there's nothing else, I'm hanging up!" Cedric's headache was getting worse, and he didn't want to hear anything more from Rebecca.

"You dare...!" The response to her words was the sound of the call being disconnected.

At this moment, Rebecca's face turned ashen, and she resisted the urge to smash the phone!

After Natalie came out of the restroom, she sat back down across from Irwin.

Irwin caught a glimpse of Rebecca following Natalie and then understood what had happened.

He raised the glass of red wine in his hand and elegantly took a sip, causing Natalie to harshly swallow.

Lowering her head, she stuffed a piece of steak into her mouth.

He looked simply enchanting right now!

"How is it going with the Johnson family?" Irwin asked Natalie.

Natalie replied, "I've already divorced him." She said it indifferently, seeming casual. There was no hint of the melancholy tone in her voice, as if divorcing Cedric was a breeze for her.

But in reality, she didn't know how she was able to suppress the emotional turmoil of their ten-year relationship.

Irwin said, "I'm not asking about that. I mean, they seem unwilling to let you go. This statement made Natalie pause.

In an instant, the smile was back on her face.

"Yeah, they're still treating me the same way out of habit!" Like Rebecca, who thought that things were still the same when Natalie had been in the Johnson family.

Back then, Rebecca could do whatever she wanted to Natalie.

Irwin was silent.

Natalie said these things casually, but the bitterness beneath the surface was evident.

Irwin wanted to say something comforting, but he realized that it was inappropriate for an outsider like him to comment on matters concerning the Johnson family.

"You're amazing!" After a long pause, Irwin complimented Natalie with these words.

Natalie's smile widened. She lifted her glass of red wine and took a sip. "I feel the same.

Many women, after divorce, would feel desolate for a long time. Some dared not divorce due to economic dependence and would compromise with the man and his family.

However, giving in did not guarantee respect.

That was Natalie's greatest realization in this marriage.

Soon after Natalie finished her meal, she and Irwin were about to leave when she saw Christina running out of the private room in tears.

Rebecca followed after her with a somewhat impatient look on her face. It looked like something significant had happened inside the room.

As they exited, Rebecca subconsciously glanced at Natalie with a look of cold arrogance.

"Let's go. I'll drop you off at your company," Irwin said as he stood up.

Natalie shook her head. "No need, I drove here!" However, the situation with her car was complicated.

Cedric was such a jerk! She had no idea when he became so uncontrollable emotionally, even to the point of crashing into her car! Simply chuckled Natalie was silent.

What a true devil this man was!

If it weren't for the fact that she had failed her first marriage, she would have taken the initiative to pursue this devil of a man!

But she wasn't worthy of him.

Irwin... he was too perfect. He was so perfect that one could only admire him from a distance and not dare to approach him.

She took a deep breath and said, "Sure." When he put it that way, how could she refuse? Besides, Irwin was a significant client of hers, and he had also introduced so many clients to her!

In this regard, Irwin was an absolute figure she couldn't offend. He was someone she had to cherish.

The two walked together to the parking lot.

Irwin furrowed his brow when he saw Natalie's car, "Did you get into an accident?" "A dog was chasing me!" Natalie's mood took a deep plunge when she recalled the incident..

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 109-Sweet Dreams Compared to the harmony between Natalie and Irwin, things were tense on Cedric's side in the office. He exuded an icy aura, and many executives were severely scolded during the meeting.

When he exited the conference room, Yuvan was waiting outside.

"Have you investigated the situation?" Cedric asked sharply without waiting for Yuvan to report.

Cedric walked ahead with his Yuvan glanced nervously at Cedric, and a chill ran down his spine. As Cedric walked ahead with imposing figure, he suddenly stopped and turned with a sharp gaze.

Yuvan hesitated momentarily before answering. "Regarding last night, it seems that it was indeed Stephen who got involved. We're looking to investigate the matter thoroughly now." "Investigate the matter?" Cedric furrowed his brow.

"Yes, it was a request from his side. They want a clear understanding of the situation." Cedric sneered.

Stephen wanted the matter looked into?!

Hah... Interesting!

“If that’s the case, make sure to investigate thoroughly.” “Yes, sir!” Of course, an investigation was necessary.

Since Stephen had such confidence in Natalie, let him clearly see what kind of person she was and her true colors!

Cedric wanted to see if Stephen would still protect her in the same way when he discovered the darkness within her.

“As for Ms. Morgan... What should we do now?” Yuvan gathered his courage and asked.

during this period, all of Cedric’s emotional fluctuations were tied to Natalie and Isabella.

At the moment, the matter concerning Isabella had to be addressed.

When Isabella was mentioned, Cedric turned around with narrowed eyes. There was a sharp glint in them, he said, I’ll handle it.

What was Isabella’s situation right now?

They couldn’t wait any longer!

Glancing at his watch, Cedric had originally intended to return to the office. However, he changed his mind and headed towards the elevator.

Yuvan moved to follow, but Cedric stopped him and said, “No need to come with me.” “Yes, sir!” Yuvan remained in place, watching as Cedric entered the elevator. When the doors closed, a chill ran down his spine.

Natalie returned to her studio, and everyone who saw her greeted her respectfully.

“Hello, Ms. Walker.” on with what you were doing.” “Hello. Carry on Natalie walked into her office. The designs for Premier Garden had been approved, but the bidding was in three days, and she needed to prepare.

In the meantime, she received a call from Yvonne conveying Caleb’s intentions. Natalie accepted each one and made the necessary modifications.

For Irwin’s designs, she decided to handle them personally. As for the project with Caleb, she would delegate the work to a team if they passed the bidding in three days.

Bang!

Natalie looked up to see Cedric standing at the entrance of her office, a cold expression on his face.

She rubbed her temples, already feeling a headache building at the thought of the upcoming confrontation.

After a brief moment, she said. "Why the hell did you think that coming here to make a scene was a good Idea?!" Cedric remained at the office entrance without stepping inside. He silently observed the woman within Seated in her spacious office chair, Natalie had been busy even before entering the room. Cedric had followed behind her and overheard the conversations.

People here addressed her as Ms. Walker.

Ms. Walker... Hah!

Watching the few designers working diligently, it was evident how occupied her studio was.

"Why are you looking at me like that?" Natalie's eyes sharpened as Cedric remained silent.

Cedric chuckled, his laughter carrying a hint of sarcasm. "I never thought you'd rise so swiftly!" The entire Verde City believed that Natalie was nothing without him. Some even though she wouldn't be able to land a job washing dishes at a restaurant.

They believed Natalie had been pampered and sheltered by Cedric's affection and could not stand on her OWNL After all, she was just like any other ordinary housewife. She had never known financial independence since marrying him. Cedric had always be supporting her high monthly expenses.

Of course, Cedric had never mistreated her.

In fact, he had turned her into a high-maintenance housewife that was elegant and noble.

But who would have guessed that after leaving him, she would thrive so quickly? Her career took off at such a high pace, and no one knew what the future would be like.

Natalie replied, "Did you come here just to say that? It's meaningless to do so." She didn't look at Cedric. Talking to him now seemed pointless.

Undoubtedly, Cedric wasn't accustomed to her absence. It wasn't just Cedric; the entire Johnson family was unaccustomed to it. Rebecca wasn't accustomed, and neither was Christina.

Everyone continued treating her the way they did, as always. But in reality, she and Cedric were divorced.

She was the one who initiated it!

Now, the entire Johnson family no longer had the right to treat her that way.

Unfortunately, those people failed to understand the current situation, “Heh, then who is meaningful to you?” Cedric questioned.

After ten years together, did she now find their relationship meaningless? In that case, who was meaningful to her?

“Is it Stephen? Or perhaps Irwin?” “Everyone is meaningful to me except you!” Natalie retorted.

Cedric fell silent, and dangerous vibes emanated from his eyes. The temperature around him dropped drastically at her words.

She now had the ability to make him tremble in anger with just her words!

Just as Cedric was about to say something, Karina interrupted, “Ms. Walker, Mr. Lawson will arrive in ten minutes.” Was it a new collaboration?

Natalie nodded. “Alright. You may leave for now.” “Yes, ma’am!” Karina nodded and left.

After so many encounters between Natalie and the Johnson family, Karina had grown confident in Natalie’s ability to handle things well.

After Karina left, Natalie faced the intense man and said, “Do you want these big shots to see what kind of demeanor Mr. Johnson, who dominates the entire Verde City, possesses?” Cedric’s already unpleasant expression worsened at her words, his anger churning inside him.

Natalie met his burning gaze, and Cedric said sarcastically, “With what you’ve done, you can still sleep in peace at night, huh?” “I sleep like a log,” Natalie replied.

Cedric clenched his fists, his knuckles audibly cracking.

Natalie stood tall, exuding an arrogant, domineering air that seemed incompatible with her petite stature.

In the end, Cedric stormed off.

Coming out of Natalie’s office, she received a call from the hospital.

Isabella’s surgery was imminent, and Cedric had already contacted experts from both domestic and International sources.

However, such resources were scarce.

Clearly, Isabella's path to regaining her sight was a distant one.

After Cedric left, Natalie received a call from Isabella, who was undoubtedly aware that Natalie hadn't been imprisoned the previous night.

In the call, Natalie could hear the deep resentment in Isabella's voice.

"I truly underestimated you," Isabella said.

"Disappointed? Feel free to use any means against me," Natalie responded.

In contrast to Isabella's frustration, Natalie stood as a victor on her end.

She had infuriated the other party to an extreme point and felt a deep sense of satisfaction.

In pursuit of her eyes, Cedric had caved and signed the divorce agreement.

With the marriage dissolved, the assets that were owed to Natalie were also transferred to Natalie's name. This was a slap that resounded loudly on Cedric's face.

"Go ahead and revel in your triumph for now!" Isabella said angrily.

Natalie retorted, "Of course I will! Didn't you want me to witness how Cedric would personally send me to prison? You won't see that happen, but you—I'll personally escort you to prison!"

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 110-Christina is Terrified Natalie didn't have time to play around with her like this.

So, she called Karina over, who promptly came over.

"What's going on?" Karina asked.

"Any updates?" Natalie was referring to the private investigator Karina had hired.

Karina checked the time on her wristwatch. "Not yet, but we should get it in the next couple of days." "Alright." Natalie was genuinely curious about why Isabella harbored such intense resentment toward her. Karina understood Natalie's intent.

Isabella's arrival in Verde City seemed directly connected to her, and Natalie wanted to uncover the truth behind it as quickly as possible.

Understanding the sequence of events was crucial for Natalie to plan her next steps.

However, before learning the motives behind Isabella's hatred, it was impossible for Natalie to trust anything she might attempt against her.

"In half an hour, the two new designers will arrive. Would you like to conduct the interviews personally?" "No need. You handle it," Natalie replied. She was more focused on planning the future of her studio.

With the substantial amount of money gained from her divorce from Cedric, Natalie intended to expand her company. Having reached this point in her career, running just a small studio was no longer sufficient.

After Karina left, Natalie began working on the design drafts for Premier Garden. Unbeknownst to her, rumors about her and Irwin were spreading outside.

But this time, the public perception was different from before. Following her public press conference, the narrative around her shifted from being a housewife to a career-oriented woman.

Photos of her and Irwin having a meal together were circulated, but reports suggested that they might have a new collaboration.

All the coverage was positive, focusing solely on their professional relationship and avoiding any intrusion into their privacy!

At the hospital, Isabella listened to the nurse reading the news. The resentment in her heart intensified, causing pain to flare up in her wounds.

"Leave! The news of Natalie's growing success ignited the flames of jealousy in Isabella's heart. The sinister aural emanating from her was so tangible that even the nurse felt it and hastily exited the room.

As soon as the nurse left, Christina entered. Her steps were light, unlike before.

"Who is it?" Isabella asked in an unfriendly tone.

She was on high alert and was listening intently. The darkness was truly frightening.

She regretted it!

She regretted plotting against Natalie to the point where she found herself in this situation. The wound on her abdomen still throbbed with pain.

And Natalie?

She was boldly building her career!

Isabella had lost her sight and had taken a stab to her abdomen, yet not a single hair on Natalie was harmed.

“Are you here to flaunt your achievements?” Christina was silent, and Isabella assumed it was Natalie in the room with her.

Christina narrowed her eyes dangerously.

1 Before she could say anything, Isabella continued, “Do you think it’s over? Let me tell you, Natalie, it’s not! This is just the beginning! You’ll get what’s coming to you!” “And what’s that?” Christina finally spoke.

She hadn’t expected Isabella to harbor such intense hatred towards Natalie. Why did she hate her so much?

Isabella was stunned!

She didn’t expect it to be Christina.

Her perception was still too weak; she couldn’t sense who was approaching. Christina had taught her a Pasort Isabella had to control her emotions, and she was relieved that it was Christine If it were Cedric....

Pain and helplessness overwhelmed her. She truly regretted it. She hadn’t realized that one’s aura could change so much that she couldn’t even sense who was approaching.

“Why are you here?” Isabella had no favorable attitude towards Christina.

Christina casually touched her red nails, a mocking smile playing on her lips. “I came to see what tricks you had up your sleeves to have bewitched my mother!” Thinking about Rebecca’s current attitude towards Isabella, Christina was quite anxious. What right did this woman have to gain her mother’s favor?

Everything in the Johnson family belonged to her—Rebecca’s love, Cedric’s heart—or so she thought.

She had initially perceived Isabella as someone honest and modest, but now it seemed she had underestimated her.

Isabella stiffened at Christina’s words. “I didn’t do anything!” “Heh, nothing?” Christina’s tone carried an implied threat.

All those people who wanted to have Cedric and stay by his side... Christina wouldn’t allow it!

None of them would be allowed to!

Watching Isabella's demeanor, disdain flashed in Christina's eyes. When Isabella had appeared before her with such self-righteousness, Christina had thought she was different from the other women.

Now it seemed she was no different from them.

"Your task is done. I'll arrange for you to go abroad immediately. Once you're there, I'll transfer the promised amount to your account in full per our agreement." Isabella should leave.

Keeping her around might lead to more trouble, and Christina was uncertain about what might happen.

So, Christina would only feel at ease by sending Isabella away.

Isabella turned towards her and said, "Our cooperation is over, but there wasn't a clause in our agreement about you helping me go abroad.

"Consider it an extra gift, Christina said arrogantly.

Isabella's lips curled into a mocking smile. But I don't need it." The atmosphere between the two instantly tensed. Christina looked at Isabella, feeling that this woman's scheming surpassed that of any other woman she had encountered.

"Well, then I'll have to tell Ced everything," Christina's tone dripped with danger.

She knew every detail of what Isabella had done to Natalie during their collaboration. She was there every step of the way. This understanding had made Christina confident that Isabella wouldn't try anything fishy during their recent collaboration.

Even if she played dirty, Christina wasn't afraid!

Isabella had taught her a lesson. In this world, one might believe they hold everything in their hands, but they might not know how ruthless the other side can be. In response to Christina's threats, Isabella remained silent. She removed the bandage covering her eyes.

The wound was still gruesome!

"You..." Christina was nauseated with just one glance.

Even though everything had gone according to plan, Isabella had...?!

"Tell me, will he believe what you say, or will he believe my injuries?" With those words, Christina's face turned ashen. She trembled in anger.

“You actually...” Before coming here, Christina wasn’t aware of everything that had happened. She approached Isabella with heavy steps.

When she reached Isabella’s bedside, she extended her hand to gently touch Isabella’s wound.

It was just a light touch, but Christina recoiled as if she had touched something scalding.

“You actually did it for real?!” Her quivering lips expressed her shock.

Christina had considered herself the most ruthless person during this period. But now, looking at Isabella, she realized the true extent of cunning and ruthlessness—it was the fearlessness to be cruel to even one’s self!
