Starting with A Divorce Chapter 111-Write a Thesis

Manuel's face was gloomy. He asked eagerly, "Are you okay?"

"I'm fine, Manuel. I'm taking a picture What happened?" Serina was a little worried

"Ainsley went to save you" Manuel gasped

"Save me? What do you mean?" Serina widened her eyes.

"It's too late Let's get in the car and say " Manuel quickly opened the car door.

Serina immediately got into the car and then Manuel told her what had happened.

"What? How is this possible? My phone is out of battery and off. I didn't answer the phone Serina took out her phone in shock

Manuel's assistant was sitting in the passenger seat. He was searching for the car's license plate information

Manuel clenched his fists. This afternoon, during the meeting, he received a call from Ainsley, but she did not speak He asked several times but Ainsley still didn't speak. At first, he thought that it was the wrong number. Fortunately, he did not hang up and heard the most important content.

He immediately got people to find out all the information about Kiera and all the information about this license plate.

After checking the surveillance and seeing Serina, he was sure that Ainsley had been deceived.

In an abandoned courtyard, Ainsley looked at Kiera in fear. "Kiera, don't do something that you will regret. Didn't you say you would bring me to see Serina? Where is she?"

"You are really good to her. When you heard that she was kidnapped, you didn't judge if it was true or not and rushed out. I was originally worried that you would not be fooled, but now it seems that my worries are unnecessary

Kiera placed the paper and pen on the table in front of Ainsley. "Hurry up and write."

Ainsley threw the paper and pen on the floor. "You mean that Serina was not kidnapped? You were lying to me just now, so how would I know which of your words are true and which are false?"

The cold tip of the blade was placed on Ainsley's neck, and her back instantly stiffened. "You want to kill me?"

"Hurry up and write," Kiera shouted madly.

"Give me the pen and paper," Ainsley said with a trembling voice.

Kiera took the blade away and brought up the paper and pen.

Ainsley picked up the pen and slowly wrote a few words on the paper. "Look, I can't write it, and I need a computer."

"No," Kiera said coldly.

Ainsley found that there was no one else in this courtyard except Kiera. It could be seen that she was impulsive.

"How about this? don't want a computer. I need some information. You know that writing a thesis requires a lot of information. Moreover, I need to refer to documents. You can download it and give me a computer that has no internet connection. How about it?"

This time, Kiera did not refuse directly. Ainsley continued, "I can't run away at all. My phone has already been thrown away. There is only one exit here. You can lock the door and then I will not be able to get out."

Kiera thought for a moment and said, "Stay here honestly."

Kiera turned around and went out, probably to get her computer.

Ainsley was tied to a chair, but to let her continue writing the thesis, Kiera didn't tie her hands.

Ainsley used her arm to untie the knot behind her back, but it was tied too tightly, and it took a long time to untie it.

Ainsley used the chair to block the door and then moved all the cabinets over to block the door. She saw an old broken window on the wall without a switch. This was the reason why Kiera was sure that she would not run away.

However, Ainsley found a brick and smashed it at the window. The window broke.

Hearing the loud noise, Kiera immediately ran upstairs and frantically knocked on the door. "Open the door. Ainsley!"

At this time, Ainsley jumped onto the platform. There was a platform between the second floor and the ground.

She jumped off the platform and ran out of the door.

Kiera quickly drove to chase Ainsley. Ainsley ran to a place where Kiera could not drive and finally avoided Kiera.

However, she did not dare to walk on the main road, afraid that she would be discovered by Kiera again.

Ainsley ran wildly on the path. Her feet had been ground out with blisters. Her phone was not with her. She had been running on this path for nearly an hour and had not seen a single person.

A clap of thunder resounded through the sky. Ainsley did not know where she was. She just saw a field and no place to shelter from the rain.

She could only try her best to run forward, but the rain slowly fell on top of her head, wetting her hair. Her body was already wet with rain.

A trace of coolness came from the bottom of her feet. Her clothes were all wet, and when the wind blew, Ainsley only had a cold.

feeling

Ainsley walked with her arms crossed, following the direction of the road sign. After walking for a long time, she saw that the lights of a car flashed in the heavy rain. She struggled to raise her hand. "Help..."

The car stopped in front of her. A person got out of the car and ran to Ainsley. "Aisy! Aisy!"

Manuel's heartbeat beat fast. He hurriedly picked up Ainsley. "Aisy!"

In the hospital...

When Ainsley woke up, she found herself in the hospital. She was on a drip and felt her forehead was hot

She coughed a few times and saw Manuel come in with a thermos. He put the small table on her bed and took out a bowl of soup from the thermos.

"This is cooked by Roman. Drink it quickly."

Ainsley looked at the thermos in a daze. "Why am I in the hospital?" She clearly remembered that she had fainted in the rain.

"My people found that car. Kiera was frantically looking for you. I knew that you had escaped. I sent ten cars to look for you on different roads, but there was no news. In the end, I saw you faint."

Although Manuel's tone was calm, it was difficult to hide the anger in his eyes.

"Where is Serina?" Ainsley coughed twice again.

"She's fine. She is also frightened. That day, she followed me to find you. When she saw you faint, she was so scared that she didn't speak. She's currently at the old house. Don't believe in others next time." Manuel paused.

"What if it's true?" Ainsley shook her head and asked.

At that time, she had already seen the photo and remembered that she saw that Serina was wearing this dress at that noon.

“Where is Kiera?”

There was another important person in this matter. She had to find Kiera to know who had stolen her thesis.

“She was locked in that courtyard,” Manuel said coldly.

“She mentioned someone when she kidnapped me. I feel that this matter is not that simple. There should be someone behind the scenes who deliberately misled her. Ainsley glanced at Manuel.

Manuel also looked over. “Who do you think it is?”

The two looked at each other. They both had an answer in their hearts.

In the Department of Psychology, there was only one person who could contact Ainsley and Kiera. Moreover, there was only one person who hated Ainsley very much. The person was Kaitlin.

“Didn’t she remember what happened last time? How could she still dare to do it?” Ainsley’s eyes were cold.

Manuel said in a deep voice, “She is taking advantage of Kiera to deal with you.”

“I want to see Kiera.”

“It is not late to see her after drinking the soup.

Starting with A Divorce Chapter 112-Witness

Manuel looked at Ainsley, who was lying on the hospital bed and having porridge obediently. He kept thinking about her collapsing in the rain

When he saw she fainted in the pouring rain, he only felt a sense of emptiness in his heart.

Manuel silently walked to the window and looked at a few conspicuous flowers on the green lawn behind the hospital. The buds started to bloom

A patient sneakily walked to the lawn and reached out to break the stem of a flower.

Manuel's heart skipped a beat, and his face darkened.

A girl was in a pool of blood. Another girl cried crazily and eventually passed out.

This scene made him unable to stand. He held the wall with one hand and pressed his temple with the other Ainsley asked, "What's wrong?"

Manuel forced a smile and slowly smoothed his brows. "I'm fine. Have you finished eating?"

"Yes." Ainsley took out a tissue and wiped the corner of her mouth.

She wanted to pull the infusion needle off the back of her hand but was stopped by Manuel.

"It won't take long, and your fever hasn't been completely brought down."

In a deserted house, a Cayenne car stopped in the courtyard. A woman in a hospital gown walked out of the car with a pale face.

Manuel walked to her and supported her.

As soon as she entered the room, Ainsley saw a middle-aged woman tied to the chair to which she had been tied before.

Kiera struggled frantically, but the rope was very thick, which was specially brought by Manuel's subordinates.

Moreover, the exits on the second floor and the first floor were all guarded by people. Even if she could really break free of the rope. she would not be able to get out of there.

As soon as she saw Ainsley, Kiera immediately became excited.

However, her mouth was covered by a large piece of tape. Having taken Manuel's hint, his subordinate immediately took the tape off.

"Ainsley! What do you want? Even if I really broke the law, you should have called the police. What do you want to do by confining me here?" Kiera stared at Ainsley with bloodshot eyes.

Her eyes were filled with resentment and panic.

Ainsley chuckled. How could an ordinary teacher not be afraid when faced with such a situation? Putting aside how imposing Manuel's subordinates were, she probably had never met such an intimidating scene.

"Tell me, is it Kaitlin who stole my thesis and told you to publish it?" She firmly stared at Kiera.

Kiera avoided Ainsley's gaze and finally closed her eyes. "I don't understand what you are saying."

"You don't understand? I just can't figure it out. How did you manage to obtain my thesis? After checking all the surveillance cameras, I found that there was nothing abnormal about you, but we all understood that it was her." Ainsley's expression was gloomy.

Manuel put a piece of paper in front of her. "I checked your account. Yesterday, a sum of 80 thousand dollars was transferred to your account. The transferer was Kaitlin." He released his hand and the piece of paper lightly fell.

Kiera watched the piece of paper fall to the ground. Her hands behind her back trembled slightly. "Since you've known it, why did you ask me?"

"I don't know what benefits Kaitlin has given you. However, you should also know what kind of crime it is to steal another person's thesis and have it published. The school expelled you, but I have the right to sue you. Besides, since this matter happened, what you've done is more than kidnapping," Ainsley said.

"So what? In any case, I have already been screwed. I no longer have a future!" Kiera said sadly.

Ainsley shook her head. "I have checked your profile. You have a daughter. If you have a criminal record, do you want your daughter to be criticized since she's little? You are also a psychology teacher. You should be very clear about how complex people can be and how terrible the discrimination against criminals is. Do you want me to repeat it to you?"

Kiera's eyes were misted. Her lips trembled slightly. "But you definitely won't let me go. Even if I didn't do this today, I'd already violated the law."

"But I originally planned to let you go. You have been expelled from the school and I have re-published the thesis. The people from the Journal Academy and Psychological Science are fighting to confirm it with me. I don't need to destroy you."

She looked at Kiera sincerely. She did not look like she was lying.

Kiera stared at Ainsley in disbelief. "Impossible! Impossible!" She struggled to shout, "She told me that you wanted to completely ice me out! I was fired, so I wanted to open a consulting center, but she said that you would not let me go. I had no choice. I really had no choice. That's why I wanted you to write a thesis for me."

Ainsley asked, "Even if I write it for you, can you have it published?"

"Yes! She said she would help me. Her family is so powerful. She can definitely help me."

Ainsley heaved a sigh. "Do you really think I can completely ice you out of the industry?"

Kiera glanced at Manuel. "You can't, but Manuel can. She told me that the two of you had an affair."

"Who exactly is she?" Ainsley subconsciously glanced at Manuel.

"No, I can't tell you. If I do, I will definitely get revenge." Kiera shook her head frantically.

Ainsley pointed at Manuel and said, "She does not dare to take revenge on you because Manuel is still here."

Only then did Kiera lower her eyes. When she looked up again, her eyes were already tearful. "I know I made a mistake. That thesis was given to me by Kaitlin. She told me that this thesis would be published in my name. I had originally thought that there would be something fishy about it, but after reading that thesis, I could not help being intrigued. I had written many papers and read many papers, but I had never seen a thesis that was so detailed and professional. As a result, I did not even think for too long before I published the thesis the next day."

She paused and then continued speaking, "You know what happened afterward. The thesis was picked by the Journal Academy and publicized on the school website. I was disclosed within two days."

"How did she get this thesis?" Ainsley coughed.

Kiera shook her head. "I don't know how she got it. After I was expelled from school, she came to me again and told me that even if I wanted to start over again, you would not allow me. The only way is to kidnap you and let you write a new paper."

Ainsley laughed and said, "You are so naive."

"She said that even if you helped me write it out, it might not be able to be published. But she can use the Baldry family's power. She said that she would help me, and the sum of 80 thousand dollars is just the down payment," Kiera replied.

Manuel sneered. "You were deceived by her. How could she allow herself to suffer a loss? The 80 thousand dollars you had got was forcibly transferred out just now."

Kiera widened her eyes in disbelief. She took the risk simply for the 80 thousand dollars.

Why could the money in her account disappear? Then what did she do all of this for?

Starting with A Divorce Chapter 113-The Police Car

Ainsley sneered, "Kaitlin has hated me for a long time. I think you should know better than me about what she does at school. After all, you have taught her before. She likes playing tricks. Even if you really get my thesis, she won't help you. She only wants to set against me. After her goal is achieved, how can she care about you?"

Kiera burst into tears. She bit her lips. "It was my fault. I listened to her and kidnapped you. It was all my fault."

"Explain the photo to me," Ainsley recalled it was because of the photo that she fell for the trick that day.

Kiera kept quiet for a moment and pursed her lips. "It was Kaitlin who arranged for someone to get close to Serina. Then, the person took a photo with Serina. That photo was half real and half fake."

After Kiera finished speaking, her face turned pale and her head drooped.

Ainsley and Manuel looked at each other. They were very clear that based on Serina's personality, it would not take long to get close to her.

She was quite into fun and rather sociable. Yet, if she knew that it was because of her that Ainsley became like this, she would only feel guilty. Ainsley looked meaningfully at Kiera. She realized she couldn't let Kaitlin off anymore.

She signaled to Manuel with her eyes, and Manuel had his subordinate let go of Kiera.

"You want to let me go?" Kiera looked at Ainsley in disbelief.

"Of course, it's not that easy. You need to testify as a witness to accuse Kaitlin of kidnapping me. I will give you a letter of understanding."

"Will you really do that?" If Ainsley was really willing to give a letter of understanding, she would be sentenced but her sentence would be reduced.

“Of course.”

“I am willing to testify,” Kiera said solemnly.

After leaving the house, she got into the car again. Just now, she felt uncomfortable and dizzy. She had been holding on. Now that she sat down, she finally relaxed. Her forehead was covered in sweat.

Manuel looked at her worriedly and touched her forehead. It was very hot.

When she came out of the door of the hospital, her fever had already subsided. Why did she have a fever again now?

Manuel felt very regretful. He should not have taken her out.

In the hospital, Ainsley was lying on the hospital bed, on a drip, and her fever had not subsided.

Serina came to school. She already knew the truth of the matter. Last night, Manuel called her, telling her everything over the phone.

Originally, she was very sad, but when she thought of that classmate, she was so awfully angry.

Her state was unstable, so she took several days off in a row.

When she appeared in the classroom, everyone was very surprised, especially Serina’s friends, including Lydia, who had hidden her mobile phone.

“Serina, why did you come to school? The teacher said that you asked for leave.”

“Yeah, Serina, why don’t you rest at home for a few more days?”

Serina glanced at Lydia. The latter avoided her eyes in fear and wanted to sneak away.

Serina immediately rushed over and grabbed Lydia’s hair. “Lydia! Don’t you try to escape!”

“Ah! Help! Serina, what are you doing? We’re at school!”

Although the other students in the class were all panicking, no one dared to stop them. They were very clear about who Serina was

They couldn’t afford to offend her.

Lydia screamed frantically, but Serina ignored her. She pulled Lydia’s hair and walked to the back row, “How dare you lie to me!”

She suddenly threw Lydia to the ground and fiercely slapped the latter. “Tell me! Did Kaitlin tell you to do that!”

She vented all her anger on Lydia. Particularly, the worry and guilt she felt yesterday all turned into anger.

“I don’t understand what you are talking about. Serina! Look clearly, we are at school. How can you hit me like this?” Lydia said as she cried.

“You don’t understand? I will let you know well!” Serina grabbed her hair.

“Yesterday, you were the one who secretly turned off my phone and hid my phone! You did that to prevent me from answering the phone!”

Serina immediately took out Lydia’s phone from her bag and forcefully pressed her hand to unlock it. After finding the chat records with Kaitlin, Serina got increasingly angry. Sure enough, it was Kaitlin who had told Lydia to get close to her, take selfies with her when they felt bored and hide her phone.

It was all because of Lydia that Ainsley failed to contact her and got into trouble! This was definitely unforgivable!

“The evidence is already here. How can you argue back?” Serina said coldly.

She looked at the people around her. “This person stole my phone yesterday and even discussed how to get close to me with Kaitlin!”

Do you want to stand up for her?"

The students all shook their heads and took a few steps back.

Bullied by Serina, Lydia felt disgraced and found it unacceptable. "Serina! This is the school! Believe it or not, I will tell the department head about this!"

"Sure! Go ahead! You better go and report this! I'll tell the department head what you did!"

At that moment, the department head and the teacher came over.

The department head recognized Serina. When he saw her, his eyes softened.

The teacher immediately helped Lydia up. "What is going on?"

Serina snorted. "Lydia accidentally fell and almost tripped me. I think she should apologize to me!"

The department head glanced at Lydia. Lydia clenched her fists and took a deep breath. "Yes, that's true. Sorry, Serina."

"Since it was an accident and Lydia also apologized, Serina, will you let go?" the department head asked discreetly.

They knew that Serina was the eldest daughter of the Gage family, but it was known to all that Serina had always been very polite and never threw her weight about. It seemed that she was too angry this time.

"OK," Serina said reluctantly.

After the department head and the teacher left, Serina looked at Lydia coldly. "Listen, I will not let you go!"

Lydia nervously looked at the book, not daring to look at Serina again.

After class was over at noon, she immediately ran to Kaitlin's floor.

“Kaitlin, you must help me! It was you who told me to lie to Serina. Now, she wants to take revenge on me. My family is small and humble. You’ve got to help me,” Lydia said imploringly.

Kaitlin only coldly glanced at her “You’re so stupid that you got discovered. She wants to take revenge on you. How do you want me to help you?”

Lydia widened her eyes and took a step back. “You refuse to help me? Kaitlin, don’t forget that you were the one who taught me to do that! You must be responsible for it.”

“Do you have evidence?”

“We have a chat record!”

“So what? What a coincidence. My phone was lost the day before yesterday. I don’t know who picked it up.” Kaitlin sneered and turned to leave.

At this time, the police siren sounded throughout the entire school.

Kaitlin got nervous. So did Lydia. They watched the police car driving in this direction.

“Why are you looking at me!” Kaitlin glared at Lydia and quickly turned to leave.

Staring at Kaitlin’s running away, Lydia was astonished for the moment. Her pupils shrank. She seemed to have thought of something and then hastened to run off.

Kaitlin did not even have time to pack her things, let alone ask for leave. She directly ran out of the school gate and stopped a car to go home.

Upon seeing Kaitlin come home all of a sudden, Lindsay felt quite confused. "Kaitlin, I thought you had classes this afternoon Why are you back? I'll play cards with my friends later."

Kaitlin looked at Lindsay in a panic, "Mom! What should I do? The police are coming to arrest me!"

"What are you talking about? Why would the police arrest you?" Lindsay was confused.

However, when she saw her daughter's flustered look, she instantly understood "What have you done this time?"

"Mom! It must be that woman! It must be that She called the police again!" Kaitlin's voice trembled.

Lindsay quickly calmed her daughter down and asked a few more times. Only then did Kaitlin say tremblingly, "Mother! You know, not long ago, a teacher in our school stole someone's thesis and published it online. Then, the teacher was expelled. Yesterday, she kidnapped Ainsley and almost got the latter killed!"

"What does this have to do with you? Even if there's anyone to be arrested, it should be that teacher."

Kaitlin was about to cry. "Mom! You still don't understand. I stole the thesis first and then gave it to the teacher And it was me who told her to kidnap Ainsley, but I did it in a fit of temper! Why does Manuel always take her side?"

Her tears flowed down. "Mom, what should I do? The police had just gone to school. They will come here for me soon!"

Lindsay pretended to be calm and thought for a while. "Grab your passport and visa. You'll immediately go abroad! Your uncle is in Canada He will take care of you.”

Kaitlin immediately returned to her room and found her passport and visa without hearing what Lindsay had said. She got her visa not too long ago Originally, she meant to travel with a friend Unexpectedly, it would actually come in handy now.

She carried a suitcase downstairs. Lindsay had already asked the driver to get the car ready. She got into the car directly and the car drove in the direction of the airport.

Lindsay watched the car disappear on the main road in a daze. She slumped onto the sofa as if she had lost her strength. Before she could regain her senses, the phone rang all of a sudden.

It was from Cason. Lindsay took a deep breath and picked up the phone. “Cason, what’s the matter?”

“Is Kaitlin home?” The voice on the other side of the call was serious and urgent.

“No.” Lindsay laughed dryly. “Shouldn’t she be in class?”

“Mom, Kaitlin really doesn’t go home? Where are you now?”

“No, she doesn’t. I’m at home right now. I even have two friends over to play cards.” Lindsay tried to be calm.

“She is in big trouble this time. She will be sentenced.”

Lindsay got nervous. “Cason, tell me what exactly happened.”

“She stole Ainsley’s thesis and coerced a teacher to kidnap Ainsley. Ainsley is in hospital now. The teacher suddenly called the police and turned herself in. Now, everyone is looking for Kaitlin!”

“Then, then Kaitlin...” Lindsay’s forehead was covered in sweat.

Cason sighed and said, “Mom, if she really can escape... Well, I’ve got to go.”

After hanging up the phone, Cason pinched the middle of his eyebrows. According to Lindsay's reaction just now, Kaitlin had definitely gone back. Now, she might have gone to the airport.

This was his younger sister. Of course, he did not want anything to happen to her.

On the highway, a dark black Maybach drove fast regardless of the speed limit signs and the speed measurement intervals. The driver stepped on the accelerator hard. He could feel that he was about to lose control of the steering wheel.

Yet, Kaitlin still felt that it was not fast enough. After she got in the car, she immediately booked a flight ticket which would set off in half an hour. As long as she immediately arrived, she could safely go to Canada

However, just as she was about to see the airport clearly, a police motorcycle came out from the side of the car. The sound of a siren came "Stop the car! Stop the car!"

"Don't stop!" Kaitlin yelled. The driver did not dare disobey her order. He stepped on the accelerator hard and the car dashed forward once more.

Just as she was still in shock, a few police motorcycles rushed out from both sides. A few police cars also ran from behind, and the sound of sirens resounded through the entire highway.

Kaitlin's heart was violently beating. She looked out of the window in fear.

"What should we do, Ms. Baldry?" the driver asked in a flurry.

"What do you ask? Continue driving! Speed up!" With her eyes bloodshot, she had lost all her rationality.

The police motorcycles drove in front of the Maybach, trying to stop the car.

"Stop the car. Stop the car..."

A police car approached the Maybach, and the driver did not dare to speed up any further. "Ms. Baldry, I can't accelerate the car anymore!"

Kaitlin fiercely smashed her seat a few times. She looked at her car being surrounded in despair. She seemed to lose heart. "Stop the car."

The Maybach slowly stopped at the side of the road, and the police cars directly drove near it. "Get out!"

Kaitlin's eyes were slightly red. She slowly placed her hand on the door handle and opened the door.

She knew that the moment she stepped out, she was done.

In the hospital, Ainsley was on a drip. Manuel walked in after answering the call. "Kaitlin has been caught. The police must have been seen by her when they went to the school. They caught her on the way to the airport."

Ainsley sneered. It really was Kaitlin's style. Whenever something happened, she would run away. She raised her head and looked at the IV drip. It was about to end. "My fever has also gone down. I want to be discharged later."

"No way." Manuel frowned. He thought of what happened yesterday. Yesterday, Ainsley went to the deserted house after her fever went down. However, she got a fever again later on.

"I am really fine. Ainsley insisted on leaving.

"Sure. Then, I'll stay at your house today," Manuel said with a cold face.

"That's not necessary. Only you and I stay at my place..."

"Are you afraid? There are so many rumors about us. Isn't it a little late to be afraid now?" Manuel raised his eyebrows.

After the drip was over, Ainsley still went home. Although Manuel had brought her a coat, she still felt very cold

The cold wind blew. She tightened her clothes and turned back to look at Manuel.

Manuel sat in the car and looked at her gently. The light of the car was switched to faint mode. He had his back facing the light.

The car window rolled down and she asked, "Aren't you going up with me?"

She was actually looking forward to it. Even her cheeks were still hot.

Manuel chuckled and got out of the car. "You can't bear to part from me?"

Ainsley turned around and left in embarrassment. "Whatever."

As she walked, she was annoyed about what she had just done.

Why did she become so pretentious when she got sick? She was acting like a spoiled girl in front of Manuel just now.

That was not her style!

Ainsley entered the elevator and took a deep breath. She thought, I'm not a little girl anymore Calm down Calm down!

When the elevator door was about to close, a hand blocked the door. Then, Manuel walked in and slowly approached Ainsley. Manuel carried the fragrance of cedar.

Ainsley only felt that she was getting more and more obsessed with that fragrance. The elevator seemed to be filled with the fragrance of cedar. Ainsley's cheeks were flushed. She touched her cheeks and felt that they were very hot.

Manuel looked at Ainsley worriedly. "Are you OK?" He even reached out and placed his hand on her forehead "It's not hot"

Ainsley was stunned and almost forgot to breathe Manuel's hand was warm and powerful Ainsley stared at Manuel's hand as it left Ainsley's forehead. In the end, Manuel's hand fell back to the side of his trouser pocket.

"I don't have a fever," Ainsley said firmly.

"I know." Manuel suddenly leaned over to Ainsley. He asked gently, "Are you shy?"

Ainsley's eyes moved left and right, not daring to look at Manuel. She said, "I'm not!"

Ding!

The elevator arrived. The moment the elevator door opened, Ainsley left Manuel's side and quickly went to open the door of her house.

When Ainsley entered the house, she smelled the food. She thought that her neighbors were cooking.

Suddenly, the lights in the house lit up Ainsley widened her eyes. Lainey and Serina each held a bouquet of flowers. They said to Ainsley, "Welcome back from the hospital!"

Lainey put the bouquet in Ainsley's hands and hugged her. Lainey said in a sobbing tone, "Ainsley, you didn't tell me anything about this!"

Serina also hugged Ainsley, "Ainsley, it was all my fault! If I had received your call, none of this would have happened."

Manuel entered the house and closed the door. He said, "Ainsley has just been discharged from the hospital. Let her sit down and rest first."

Lainey and Serina immediately let go of Ainsley. They even remembered to take the flowers in Ainsley's hands to the side Ainsley walked to the dining room. There were indeed many dishes on the table. But Ainsley remembered that Lainey and Serina didn't know how to cook.

At this moment, someone wailed, "Help! Ms. Easton, you have to help me! These two people directly took me away I am Pearl Hotel's famous chef. People sometimes have to pay me 16 thousand dollars for one dish cooked by me! But these people actually asked me to peel potatoes and garlic! I haven't done this kind of thing for a long time. You have to ask Mr. Gage to give me a raise."

Roman complained to Ainsley in a sobbing tone. When he saw Manuel, his voice got lower and lower.

Manuel said, "Roman, you have worked hard to cook so many dishes. Thank you. Is there anything I can help with?"

Manuel glanced at Roman. But Roman immediately waved his hands and said, "No need! I've already finished them all."

Roman pointed at the table in the dining room. Then, Manuel turned his head and saw that the table was full of dishes. But there was no greasy food on the table.

"The meal looks very sumptuous. Thank you."

Roman replied, "You're welcome. It's my pleasure!" Then, they sat at the dining table.

Ainsley noticed that Serina had been down all the time, so she quickly said to Serina gently, "Serina, I'm fine. It's not your fault. Don't blame yourself. They want to hurt me. Even if it was not you, they would use other methods to hurt me."

Then, Ainsley said to Lainey, "Lainey, I didn't tell you because I didn't want you to worry. Look, I'm fine now!"

Ainsley smiled. Then, they chatted as they ate Ainsley couldn't drink. Lainey held the glass of wine and drank with Roman. She wanted to drink with Manuel, but Manuel was too serious, and she didn't dare to do that.

Before Lainey and Roman finished their meal, they had already drunk several bottles of wine and gradually became drunk.

Roman drank the last drop of wine and lay his head on the table. He pointed at Manuel and said, "Mr. Gage! Mr Gage! You are so stupid You have spent so much time, but you still didn't get that girl's heart!"

Manuel's face darkened, and he glanced at Ainsley again. Then, Manuel said to Roman, "You are drunk"

"No! I'm not drunk. You have been talking about Ms Easton with me all the time Roman murmured When Ainsley heard this, she immediately looked up at Manuel Seeing Manuel's expression, Ainsley immediately understood something. She finished the soup in her bowl and stood up with her hand on the table. Then, she said, 'Well Enjoy your meal I'm a little tired I'm going to the bedroom

Then, Ainsley left her seat as if she was escaping from something She went back to her room and ran to the dressing table She saw her flushed cheeks through the mirror Ainsley thought, what did Roman mean? Manuel is pursuing me? How is that possible?

I know that Manuel likes me But Roman's words sound like Manuel has liked me for a long time, and Manuel even wanted to win my heart This is so After a while, Ainsley left the room. Then, she saw that Serina leaned on the table and closed her eyes to rest.

Roman and Lainey had already drunk. But where was Manuel?

Someone was in the kitchen. Ainsley saw that Manuel was boiling something. She only smelled the familiar bitterness when she walked in. It was herbal tea again.

As expected, Manuel came out with some herbal tea. Manuel said to Ainsley, "Since you've come out, drink this. I saw that the number of tea bags in the refrigerator didn't change much. You definitely did not drink it. I heat a pack of it for you. Drink it while it's still warm."

Ainsley looked at the brown medicinal soup and felt desperate. She drank it slowly. She had a cold and couldn't taste things right.

Ainsley thought that the herbal tea tasted even bitterer this time.

Finally, Ainsley finished the herbal tea. Then, Manuel looked away.

Ainsley sent Lainey to the guest room. Lainey was already drunk.

Manuel and Serina were cleaning up the plates. Ainsley went forward and wanted to help them, but she was stopped by Manuel

"Go to rest," Manuel said to Ainsley as he took the plate from Ainsley's hand.

"I'm fine. Let's clean them up together." Ainsley picked up another plate and went to the kitchen stubbornly. Manuel didn't stop her this time.

After cleaning up the dining table, Manuel took Roman into the car, and Serina followed them into the passenger seat.

"Be careful on the road," Ainsley said as she walked them downstairs.

Manuel suddenly came over and said to Ainsley, "Remember to take the herbal tea "

"Yes, I know" Ainsley felt that her heart beat faster at this moment.

Manuel suddenly approached Ainsley and kissed her forehead. Then, he got in the car and drove away Ainsley was stunned because Manuel kissed her forehead.

Ainsley immediately blushed and turned back home.

After Kaliyah returned to the Baldry's house from the villa, she saw that Lindsay was crying. She immediately asked, "Mrs. Baldry, what's wrong?"

Lindsay said, "Kaliyah, you are finally back. Kaitlin was taken away!"

"What? Who took her away?"

“Police! It’s because of that bitch again!” Lindsay said angrily.

Kaliyah pondered. She knew in her heart that Kaitlin had definitely done something again.

But no matter what Kaliyah was thinking, she still said to Lindsay, “Mrs. Baldry, does Cason know about this? He definitely has a way

“No Cason didn’t answer my call!” Lindsay was very anxious.

“How could that be? I’ll call him and ask him.” Kaliyah hurriedly called Cason. As expected, the call was not connected. Kaliyah called Cason’s assistant, and the assistant told her that Cason had already gone home.

Then, Kaliyah said to Lindsay, “Mrs. Baldry, Cason’s assistant said that Cason has already returned home.”

At this time, someone opened the door. It was Cason. Cason entered the house with a gloomy face.

Lindsay immediately rushed to Cason. “Cason, how is your sister?”

“I haven’t seen her yet.” Cason’s face was cold, and so was his tone.

“Cason, you must save your sister! She was very scared when she entered the detention center last time. She can’t take it again!” Lindsay said.

But Cason said with a face full of annoyance, “Do you know what she has done? They have both physical evidence and witnesses this time. How can I save her? I already warned her last time. But she changed nothing!”

“Yes, she didn’t listen to you. But you can’t just leave her, right? Kaitlin also cared about you. That *cheated on her husband and even took away so much money. Your sister stood up for you. How could you not save her!” Lindsay pointed at Cason’s nose as she spoke.

Kalayah also said to Cason, "Cason, she is your younger sister after all. This matter may also affect the Baldry family's reputation. Last time, there were already many people who mocked the Baldry family. This time, I'm afraid."

Kalayah was not worried about Kaitlin but the Baldry family's reputation.

Lindsay looked at Kalayah gratefully. "Kalyah, you are really kind and considerate."

Cason frowned. How could he not know this?

If Ainsley were alone, it would be very easy to deal with her. However, Manuel had been targeting the Baldry family all the time.

"In fact, the result of this matter depends on what the witness says," Kalayah said slowly.

"Kalyah, what do you mean?" Lindsay immediately stared at Kalayah.

Cason also looked at Kalayah in confusion. "What do you mean?"

"Anyway, Ainsley can say anything! But what if Kaitlin never knew about this matter, and it was all Ainsley who bribed the witness to slander Kaitlin? That witness is only a teacher. We should pay attention to what she says." Kalayah glanced at Cason with her face full of innocence. "Cason, I am doing this for Kaitlin."

"I know" Cason patted Kalayah's hand.

Cason thought Kalayah's idea was not bad.

At night, Ainsley lay on the bed, coughing from time to time. Even though she had already taken the herbal tea, she still could not stop herself from coughing.

In the small hours of the next day, Ainsley suddenly felt uncomfortable. She forced herself to go to the bathroom to vomit twice. Then, she sat back on the bed, feeling exhausted. She only felt that her body was very heavy, and she felt pain in her head.

But Ainsley felt very hot. She touched her forehead and realized that she had caught a fever again.

Ainsley hurriedly pulled the cabinet to find the anti-fever herbal tea. After taking a pill, Ainsley closed her eyes and wanted to sleep. But she felt very uncomfortable.

An hour later, Ainsley woke up. The burning feeling in her throat almost killed her.

It was difficult for Ainsley to even lift her hand. She felt weak all over. She took out her phone powerlessly. She really felt it was hard to lift her phone up.

Ainsley wanted to make an emergency call, but she did not have the strength to do so. She could only press the first call log.

The call was quickly connected. But Ainsley did not even have the strength to speak.

“Hello? Aisy? Aisy!”

Ainsley wanted to speak, but her throat hurt, and she couldn't make a sound.

Manuel shouted anxiously, “Aisy, what's wrong? Say something!”

“Help...”

Ainsley's whole body was hot. Before she lost consciousness, she saw that the phone had been hung up. Then, she closed her eyes.

Beep Beep...

The heart rate monitor made a rhythmic sound. In the single ward, Ainsley was lying on the bed, having a drip.

Ainsley opened her eyes in a daze. Other than exhaustion, she also felt dizzy.

Manuel was sitting by Ainsley's bed with his hand on the edge.

Ainsley reached out and touched Manuel's hand. Manuel's hand was cold.

“You are awake. Manuel's tone was cold, but he couldn't hide his concern.

“Did you send me here?” Ainsley's last memory was the phone call she made last night. That call had been hung up before she closed her eyes.

Manuel found it hard to describe what he was feeling now. He was so worried when he received Ainsley's call. But no matter what he said to Ainsley on the phone later, she did not say anything.

After that, Manuel immediately hung up the phone and drove to Ainsley's residence. Manuel knocked on the door for a long time, but no one came to open the door for him. Fortunately, Serina had told Manuel the password.

When Manuel opened the door of Ainsley's bedroom and saw her, he panicked.

Manuel touched Ainsley's body, and it was hot.

Manuel didn't dare to waste any time. He immediately carried Ainsley to the hospital.

From two to five in the morning, Ainsley's fever finally subsided. But Manuel didn't dare to fall asleep at all during this time. He stared at the dripping bottle nervously and observed Ainsley's condition.

"You can't leave the hospital this time." Manuel sounded like he didn't accept objections.

Ainsley looked at Manuel's face and naturally knew that he must be very angry now.

"I'm sorry. Thank you," Ainsley said awkwardly.

Manuel chuckled with anger. Ainsley always said this to him. Manuel didn't know why she was always so distant.

"No. Don't say those words to me again." Manuel suddenly leaned over to Ainsley.

Ainsley was shocked and lowered her head slightly. "Don't get too close to me. Don't get infected."

After saying that, Ainsley covered her mouth and coughed a few times

However, Manuel did not retreat. Instead, he stared at Ainsley carefully. Ainsley was trying to avoid Manuel's gaze, and Manuel thought she was very cute.

Suddenly, Manuel had an impulse. It was a very strange feeling. Looking at Ainsley's lips, Manuel suddenly thought of the unexpected kiss that day. But it was actually not an accident.

At this time, Manuel kissed Ainsley again. Ainsley pushed Manuel weakly.

But Ainsley really didn't have much strength now, and she couldn't push Manuel away.

The moment Manuel's lips touched Ainsley's, Ainsley put down her hand and looked at the person in front of her with her big eyes. Manuel's eyebrows were sharp, but his eyes were gentle. Ainsley even noticed an imperceptible emotion in Manuel's eyes.

Ainsley was stunned and didn't react. She only looked at Manuel blankly.

Time seemed to have stopped at this moment. It was five in the morning. The moon had disappeared, but the sun had not come out Manuel's scent made Ainsley's heart thump, and she could not help but blush.

At this time, a nurse walked in.

Ainsley was startled. She immediately closed her eyes and pretended to sleep. But Manuel didn't react.

"What are you doing?" the nurse asked Manuel in a low voice. But when the nurse saw Ainsley, who was sleeping, her face immediately changed.

"Get out! Get out! This is the hospital. How dare you harass the patient?" The nurse looked at Manuel warily and took out her phone from her pocket.

Manuel frowned slightly and did not speak.

Ainsley only felt it was noisy. When she came back to her senses, she saw a nurse with a guarded face and Manuel with an awkward expression on his face.

After hearing the nurse's words, Ainsley understood what had happened just now. She glared at Manuel angrily and said to that nurse,

"You have misunderstood him. He is my friend."

"Really? That's impossible. I saw him kissing you with my eyes. I saw it all!" the nurse said.

"What happened? This is the hospital. You can't disturb the patient!" The nurse on duty came in with a medical tray.

When that nurse saw that the nurse on duty had come, she immediately recounted what had happened just now.

The nurse on duty looked at Manuel and Ainsley and revealed a meaningful look on her face. Then, she said to that nurse, "Alright, I understand. You can get out first."

"But..."

"There is no 'but'." The nurse on duty pulled another nurse aside and whispered a few words in her ear.

After hearing something, the nurse blushed and went out of the ward. The nurse on duty immediately apologized to Manuel, "I'm sorry, Mr. Gage. She is new here. Please forgive her. She doesn't know your relationship."

Manuel looked at the nurse on duty thoughtfully. He asked, "What's our relationship?"

The nurse on duty was stunned for a moment. "What's your relationship? Aren't you this patient's boyfriend?"

Starting with A Divorce Chapter 117-Reconciliation

The nurse on duty looked at Manuel nervously, wondering, did I say anything wrong?

Manuel said, "Mmm, you can get out now."

After the nurse on duty went out, Ainsley looked at Manuel angrily. "You. You just "

“What? Did you hear what she said?” Manuel looked at Ainsley meaningfully.

Manuel even licked his lips. Ainsley was so angry that she turned over and didn't want to talk to Manuel anymore Ainsley thought it was so embarrassing They had been seen just now, and the nurse thought they were a couple.

Ainsley's face was flushed, and it was very hot.

At this time, Manuel even walked over and stared at Ainsley with a smile.

Because Ainsley was sick, it was difficult for her to turn over. But she was very angry, so she reached out her hand and slapped Manuel's shoulder The sound of the slap was a little loud, and Ainsley was shocked.

Ainsley asked, “Why didn't you dodge it?”

“It doesn't hurt,” Manuel smiled and stopped teasing Ainsley. Instead, he picked up a phone call After Manuel hung up the phone, his expression turned a little gloomy.

“Kiera's daughter was taken away Manuel's expression was still gloomy.

Ainsley was stunned. Kaitlin had just been caught, and Kiera's daughter had been taken away. Ainsley thought that Cason's actions were really quick.

The Baldry family was a shameless family, and they might come to Ainsley soon.

At this time, Cason came to the hospital with Lindsay and Kaliyah. On the day of the Quiz Show, they were as arrogant as they could But now, Lindsay's face was pale, and she was also very angry.

“Please leave! Or I will call the security guards!” Ainsley said weakly.

Manuel was not here. He went to get some breakfast.

“Ainsley, don’t be in such a hurry to chase us away,” Cason said slowly.

Lindsay had already rushed over in exasperation. She pointed at Ainsley’s nose and cursed, “You bitch! Last time, you caused Kaitlin to be sent to the detention center. And this time, you even sent her to prison. I think you just want her dead. Do you really hate our family so much? Why don’t you just kill me?”

Ainsley looked at Lindsay wearily. Lindsay was noisy, which made Ainsley feel a headache. Logically speaking, the nurse should have come a long time ago. But she didn’t. Ainsley guessed that Cason should have said something to the nurse.

Kaliyah also said, “Ms. Easton, speaking of which, you hate the Baldry family because of me. I apologize to you. Just let Kaitlin out.”

Lindsay said to Ainsley, “You are so cruel! Kaitlin is so young! And she is just a kid.”

Ainsley chuckled and thought it was ridiculous. She said to Cason, “Cason, I have never known you so clearly before. I thought you were and numb Now, I realize that all your family members are so shameless.”

Cason did not speak He looked at Ainsley’s pale and haggard face and felt a little sorry.

The last time Cason went to the infirmary, he was too impulsive. But he definitely didn’t regret it. But now, when Cason saw Ainsley’s appearance, he felt that he should not come here today.

“Ainsley, it was Kaitlin’s fault. She was the one who hurt you,” Cason said with a bitter smile.

Lindsay was unhappy to see this. “What are you talking about? Kaitlin is innocent. Ainsley, I have long known that you and Manuel are in cahoots. The two of you deliberately joined forces to deal with us Kiera must have been bribed by you!”

Ainsley smiled faintly and said, "Cason, you know the best whether I have bribed Kiera or not. Her daughter was taken away by someone early this morning. No one knows who took her away better than you. Now, you even brought your whole family to question me. Don't you think it is too shameful?"

Kaliyah saw Cason's reaction. She was furious, but she didn't show it.

"You're the shameless one! You're so shameless! We came here this time to settle this matter. We want to reconcile with you. Don't you want money? I've given you so much money and property before, but you're still not satisfied! I want you to let Kaitlin go. How much do you want this time?" Lindsay glared at Ainsley.

Ainsley said, "Cason owed me that money, so that was what I deserved. As for the reconciliation you mentioned, I won't agree to it."

"Do you think it's useful for you to disagree?" Lindsay took a step forward. She sneered, "Don't think that the Gage family will protect you for the rest of your life. How could someone like Manuel like you? He protects you now. But in fact, he's just playing with you.

Ainsley, don't think that you're so important. He has never even taken you as his woman."

"What are you saying to my girlfriend?" A cold voice suddenly sounded.

Manuel walked in and put the breakfast on the table. He walked to Ainsley. Then, he looked at Lindsay and sneered, "I think the Baldry family has been a bit arrogant these two years. Have they reached an agreement with Applegath?"

Cason felt like he was stabbed by something in his heart. Applegath was an international enterprise. Two years ago, Applegath entered the domestic market. In the beginning, Applegath cooperated with the Gage family. Recently, Applegath wanted to add another partner. Cason wanted to be the one, but he hadn't even gotten the chance to meet the CEO of Applegath

"Not yet," Cason replied.

But Lindsay's attention was on Manuel's first sentence. She asked, "You two are in a relationship?"

"Yes, Mrs. Baldry, do you have any questions?" Manuel narrowed his eyes.

Cason felt upset and glanced at Ainsley.

Cason wondered, why didn't Ainsley refute? Is it really true?

"Mr. Gage, this woman has married my son before. But she had done many bad deeds, so they divorced. She has no morals and is not worthy of your love." Lindsay looked at Ainsley arrogantly.

Manuel looked at Lindsay coldly. "Mrs. Baldry, as far as I know, Cason has never done his duty as a husband after his marriage with Aisy. He always has Ms. Packer in his heart. Who exactly has no morals and has done many bad deeds?"

"Mr. Gage, we'd better let Ainsley speak." This was the first time Cason looked at Manuel like this. He didn't want to show his white feather in front of Manuel.

"I was the one who saved Ainsley. I am also a witness. Of course, I'm also involved in this matter." Manuel blocked Cason's line of sight

"Ainsley, is he really your boyfriend?" Cason clenched his fists in anger Ainsley raised her head and looked at Manuel. Manuel's eyes were gentle and peaceful.

Then, she smiled at Cason and replied, "Yes. If you have anything to say, you can speak to him."

"That's impossible! Did you chase him?" Cason frowned. Cason wondered, how could they be in a relationship? When did they agree to be together?

"It was me who chased Aisy." Manuel walked over and held Ainsley's shoulder. "It took me a long time to let Aisy agree."

Kaliyah felt embarrassed. She tugged Cason's sleeve and said, "Cason, hurry up and solve Kaitlin's matter. We can't waste any more time

Manuel said in a deep voice, "If you are here to reconcile with Aisy, then you may have to leave. We won't agree. Cason, do you really think I will tolerate you again and again?"

"Mr. Gage, I didn't mean that. If we can reconcile, it is good. But if you don't want to, we won't force you," Kaliyah said with a smile Then, she hurriedly pulled Cason and wanted to leave.

Although Lindsay was angry with Ainsley, she still didn't dare to offend Manuel. After all, the Gage Group was one of Manuel's strong backgrounds.

Starting with A Divorce Chapter 118 You're My Girlfriend

Cason saw the expression on Manuel's face and did not dare to say anything more. Lindsay's words woke Cason up in time.

Cason was too impulsive just now. He had almost forgotten who was standing in front of him.

"Ainsley, I can let Kaitlin apologize to you. We can also compensate you with some money. You can tell me how much you want, and I will do my best to satisfy you." Cason said.

Ainsley looked at Cason with a cold face and said in a cold tone, "No need Please leave

Cason's face darkened Kaliyah and Lindsay's expressions also changed greatly They didn't expect Ainsley to be so stubborn

"Since you don't want to reconcile, then we won't force you. Don't regret it and beg us for forgiveness in the future Lindsay glared at Ainsley fiercely

After getting out of the hospital, Cason thought of the embarrassing scene just now and was very upset. He murmured, "We clearly knew that she would not agree to reconcile. Why did I come here?"

The decision to come here was made by Lindsay. Lindsay looked at Cason unhappily. "What do you mean? Are you blaming me? I just want to help your sister. I thought that she liked you so much in the past. If you have said some good words to her, she might have already agreed. I didn't expect that she would become Manuel's girlfriend. She didn't like me in the past. Now, I'm nothing in her eyes'

Lindsay walked while cursing. "That is really lucky. How did she get Manuel's favor? I don't believe that Manuel's grandfather will really tolerate that woman!"

"Mom, what do you want to do?" Cason noticed the in Lindsay's eyes and had a sinking feeling.

"Don't ask. Just get someone to take care of Kiera's daughter. Ainsley and Manuel already know that Kiera's daughter is missing. I don't believe that they won't do anything."

Kaliyah walked behind Cason and Lindsay. The only thing that appeared in Kaliyah's mind was Manuel's gaze as he looked at Ainsley

It was gentle and possessive.

Who wouldn't be moved by a man like that?

After returning home and entering his bedroom, Cason grabbed a cup on the table and threw it onto the ground. Then, the cup broke into pieces

Kaliyah nervously entered the room and could not help but feel fear.

"Cason, are you alright?" Kaliyah said with a bit of fear

Cason's expression softened a little. He forced out a smile and said, "I'm fine. I was just thinking about Kaitlin."

Kaliyah sneered in her heart, Cason hadn't been so emotional when he was in the hospital just now But Cason changed after he heard

Manuel say that he and Ainsley were in a relationship

Kalayah saw it clearly and could also feel the change in Cason.

Cason had always been indifferent to everything except for Kalayah. But now, Ainsley had also become the one that Cason cared about very much.

Kalayah couldn't understand what had changed Cason.

But just now, Kalayah truly felt Cason's anger and unwillingness. Cason changed not because of Kaitlin but Ainsley.

"We already have Kiera's daughter, right? Kaitlin will be fine. We can also ask your grandpa for help. Your grandpa won't let Kaitlin stay in prison," Kalayah said. But she didn't really think so.

Cason sat tiredly on the edge of the bed. Kalayah sat beside him and held his hand.

Cason heard Kalayah's gentle voice. But unfortunately, the only thing on his mind was what Manuel had said and what Ainsley had already admitted.

"Cason, what's wrong with you?" Kalayah finally couldn't hold it in anymore.

Kalayah had enough of it. She didn't want to keep talking to herself in front of Cason anymore. The way Cason treated Kalayah had changed a lot.

Cason finally turned his eyes and looked at Kalayah. He wondered, yeah. What's wrong with me?

Why does it seem like I am possessed? Kalayah is the one I love, and she is right beside me now What am I thinking about?

Cason pulled Kalayah in his arms and smelled the faint gardenia fragrance from her hair

Suddenly, a light pushed open the door of the room

It was Cason's imagination. Ainsley walked in and handed Cason a cup of tea. Her hair was still wet, and the water stains on her pajamas were very eye-catching.

In Cason's imagination, he saw himself taking the cup of tea coldly. But he ignored Ainsley.

Ainsley playfully leaned her head on Cason's shoulder and deliberately let him smell her hair. She said to him excitedly. "Smell it I used the shampoo I bought recently. Does it smell good?"

But Cason pushed Ainsley away with an expressionless face and said coldly, "Don't disturb me Be good" Then, Cason went to the study room.

In reality, Cason suddenly said, "I'm sorry."

Kaliyah was stunned. She thought that Cason was apologizing to her She wrapped her arms around Cason's neck and sobbed, "Cason, I don't blame you. I really love you. Don't let me down."

Cason suddenly became absent-minded and hugged the person in his arms tightly.

Cason took a deep breath and smelled gardenia. He realized that the person in his arms right now was Kaliyah!

On the other hand, only Manuel and Ainsley were left in the ward.

"What you said just now..." Ainsley paused here because she did not know how to bring it up. She was even unsure about her identity

now

Ainsley thought she couldn't just ask Manuel directly, "Did you really treat me as your girlfriend? Since when did I become your girlfriend? Why don't I know about it?"

Ainsley lowered her eyes, not daring to look at Manuel's gentle eyes.

"Are you shy?" Manuel chuckled.

Ainsley immediately glared at Manuel. "I'm not! You were the one who said all that just now."

“That’s right. I was the one who said it.” Manuel picked up an apple and began to peel it. At this moment, his attention was all on the apple Ainsley could not help but feel a little upset. She wondered, what has happened to me recently? Does my personality change because I’m sick?

I’m no longer like myself in front of him.

“You... Why did you say I was your girlfriend?” Ainsley suddenly asked.

“Aren’t you?” Manuel handed Ainsley the peeled apple as he asked back.

Manuel’s gentle smile made Ainsley feel a little confused. She couldn’t tell if Manuel was telling the truth or joking.

Ainsley took the apple and then placed it on the table beside her. “Don’t say that again in the future.”

“Why

“Manuel, I don’t like to joke about this kind of thing.” Ainsley looked a little serious.

“Why do you say that?” Manuel looked at Ainsley, stunned.

“You are Mr. Gage from Seattle. There are so many young ladies in Seattle who like you. There is no need for you to waste your time on someone like me. Besides, I don’t want to play that kind of game with you.” Ainsley looked at the needle on the back of her hand. Somehow, she felt a little pain in her heart.

Moreover, Ainsley was really afraid that Manuel had come to flirt with her just for fun. In that case, if Manuel got tired of it, he would abandon Ainsley at any time. Ainsley had learned the lesson from Cason, and she could no longer fully trust another man.

Manuel had shown up in front of Ainsley frequently since the last banquet. Ainsley was not confident and didn’t believe that she was so attractive to Manuel.

But Roman said that Manuel had been chasing Ainsley for a long time. Serina always wanted Ainsley to be her sister-in-law. Manuel always appeared when Ainsley needed him. He helps Ainsley and trusts her unconditionally.

But Ainsley knew that she was just a divorced woman.

Starting with A Divorce Chapter 119-I Mean It

She was a teacher who wanted to live a peaceful life after divorce and focused on doing psychological consultation at the University of Washington.

Suddenly, she laughed at herself When did she become so unconfident? In the past, she was lively and confident. She was as energetic as Serina, but now

Manuel sat down and put the apple back in her hand. He looked into her eyes and said word by word, "This is not a game I mean it I thought you could feel it."

He looked at her eyes earnestly. "Aisy, tell me, who do you think you are?"

"I" Ainsley was at a loss for words.

"Who are you?" Manuel still stared at her as if he wanted to burn a hole in her face.

"Just like what Lindsay said, a woman who has been divorced and has bad habits," Ainsley sneered.

However, Manuel shook his head. His eyes were cold. His pupils were locked. "Do you accept that judgment?"

Did she accept it?

Why should she accept it?

Cason was the one who had divorced and did something bad.

This world was always harsh on women. Women who had been divorced suffered more discrimination than men did. When Lindsay said this, she really wanted to ask if Lindsay was not a woman.

“Of course not.” Ainsley pursed her lips.

Manuel’s eyes became gentle. This was Ainsley he knew.

“Aisy, I have never thought of playing with you. I’m serious about our relationship.”

Ainsley felt disturbed, but she did not know how to respond. She lowered her eyes, not daring to look at him.

“Look at me.” Manuel lifted her face and stared at the eyes that wanted to escape.

Ainsley’s eyelashes trembled slightly as she met those eyes. “I shouldn’t say that to you.”

She was the one who was impulsive and said such words.

Even if Manuel just wanted to have fun, he had helped her so many times, she should not say such words.

If it was true, she should not have.

“You still don’t believe me. I like you. What about you?”

Ainsley’s heart suddenly a beat. She did not know how to answer. Did she like him or not?

How could she lie to him?

“I... I don’t know.” Ainsley didn’t know if she should like him or not.

“Let me try it for you,” Manuel smiled.

“What?” Ainsley looked at Manuel in confusion.

The handsome face slowly approached her and moved closer to her lips. At that moment, she felt her breathing stop and her heartbeat fasten. However, she did not want to push him away.

“Do you know your feelings?” Manuel raised his head again.

He didn't say it clearly, and Ainsley didn't want to say it either. But her heartbeat became faster and faster.

She understood that only people who liked each other wouldn't refuse intimate contact.

Manuel didn't force her to admit it, but he brought a bucket of mushroom soup that was cooked in the evening. “I cooked this myself. You have to drink it.”

Ainsley looked at it with expectation and tasted it. In addition to mushrooms, there was also some meat.

“Thank you for your kindness”

Manuel should be very busy, but he still took care of her when she was sick. But she was not a little girl anymore.

“Don't you have to work? I can take care of myself,” Ainsley said seriously

Manuel sent an E-mail and said, “Why do you think I spent so much money to hire so many people? I didn't ask them to get paid without doing anything”

Ding, ding, ding

Manuel picked up the phone and listened for a few seconds. Then, he opened the speaker meaningfully and placed it next to Ainsley

“Is Ainsley feeling better? Can I go see her? I have been staying at home all this time to give you two space, but I'm so worried about her Manuel, why are you so stupid? It's been so long, and you still haven't gotten her. You have to be nice to her when Ainsley is sick this time!”

“Serina Ainsley said awkwardly.

The voice on the other side of the line stopped abruptly. The phone was hung up, and a few seconds later, Ainsley's phone rang.

“Ainsley, are you better? I was joking just now. Don't take it seriously,” Serina said timidly.

“It’s much better. My body temperature has already returned to normal,” Ainsley said with a chuckle

“That’s good. I’ll hang up then.”

After Ainsley finished the drip as well as the soup, she slept for a while. When she woke up, she found Manuel resting with his hands on his cheeks.

He had sent her over early in the morning and accompanied her for so long. He must be very tired.

His sleeping face was less sharp but gentler. His eyelashes were thick and long. She reached out and touched them. They were very soft

She touched his nose, touched his cheeks, and his mouth which he used to kiss her several times

That night when he put his hand on her lips, she wanted to do it.

Suddenly, he opened his eyes. She was just about to retract her hand when she was caught. “Didn’t you sleep?” she asked in embarrassment.

“I didn’t sleep well. He had woken up since she opened her eyes. He just wanted to see what she wanted to do.

Ainsley withdrew her hand, turned around, and covered herself with the blanket before falling asleep again.

At the police station, Kiera, who had originally insisted that it was Kaitlin who asked her to do that, suddenly changed her words. She said it was Ainsley who had bribed her to do this sort of thing.

No evidence could prove it was Kaitlin who had instigated it. When Manuel released the recording from that day, Kiera actually directly changed her words and said that she had been forced by Manuel.

Lindsay was happy and felt that it was Kaliyah who had persuaded Cason and even given her a bracelet.

However, Kaliyah found that Cason was becoming more and more strange. He would often be in a daze by himself or when he ate

It took Cason a long time to react when she spoke to him.

The hug that night did not give her a sense of security. It made her even more uneasy.

Ainsley came out of the hospital. Manuel picked her up.

Since the last time they talked about it, Ainsley was very awkward and did not dare to go see Manuel.

Along the way, she tilted her head and pretended to be asleep. This time, she stayed for a full two days before Manuel agreed to let her leave the hospital.

When she returned home, Ainsley sat on the sofa in a relaxed manner. She had been smelling the disinfectant for the past two days.

"It's so comfortable," she sighed.

"Don't forget to take the herbal tea," Manuel said as he placed her herbal tea on the table.

He was just about to leave, but he was a little reluctant.

When he thought of the call he had received in the middle of the night last time, he could not help but worry. "Aisy, I am very worried about you."

Ainsley was slightly dazed. The last person who said that he was worried about her seemed to be only Serina and Lainey.

Also, her father...

"Don't worry, I'll call you if I need anything." The feeling of dependence was actually like this.

“You can call me anytime.” Manuel looked at her gently, then turned around and left. He answered the phone with a serious look in his eyes

“Hey, when are you coming back?”

“Half an hour,” Manuel said.

“Yes, come directly to my study.” His dignified voice made Manuel puzzled.

Koen had never asked about his affairs. Why did he suddenly let Manuel go back this time?

He got in the car and went back home. He stopped the car and ran to Koen’s study.

Starting with A Divorce Chapter 120- Arrest

In the study room, there was a lot of tension, which made Manuel a little breathless. Koen was writing something on the table, not even looking at him.

After a long time, Koen finally finished. He then put down the pen and said, “What have you been doing recently?”

“Nothing important.”

“Nothing important? I see that you have been indulging in love. I don’t object to you falling in love, but you should know about that woman.” Koen’s face was full of worry.

“Koen, I know her best. There’s no need to listen to others,” Manuel laughed at himself.

“How do you know?” Koen smiled.

“There must be someone telling you about it Or you won’t suddenly look for me ” Manuel shrugged.

“Yes, someone did send me some messages.”

Manuel declined to comment. Koen probably wouldn't believe it. The reason why Koen acted and called him back was probably just to tease him.

"I won't interfere in the matters of the relationship. You decide for yourself. Get out," Koen said.

After the thesis was published last time, Ainsley signed a contract with "Psychological Science" and published her paper on it.

This matter caused a huge sensation in the school and was even published on the school intranet.

It was at the police station.

Kaitlin anxiously waited. She did not know when Cason would be able to get her out of there. She raised her head and waited for Kalle Zavala to arrive.

"Ms. Baldry, after the witness changed her words, the police can only detain you for 24 hours. Now that 18 hours have passed, I will bail you out. However, this process might take a period. During this time, you have the right to remain silent."

Kaitlin nodded heavily. She understood what Kalle meant.

Thinking that she would be able to come out after a short time, she showed a bit of joy on her face.

Kaitlin thought, Ainsley, you probably won't think of it even if you die.

In the Gage Group, Manuel was tapping on his computer. He answered his phone, and when he heard what the other person said, the corners of his mouth rose.

At the same time, Cason suddenly threw a teacup to the ground.

"How is this possible? What are you all doing?"

“If you can’t even watch a child, why should I hire you?”

The subordinate trembled and said, “Mr. Baldry, they have many people, and they are all very powerful.”

“Shut up! Are you saying that you guys are good for nothing?” Cason narrowed his eyes.

“I’m sorry, Mr. Baldry.” His subordinate immediately shook his head.

“off!”

Cason clenched his fists. Kiera’s daughter had been taken away. The person who took her daughter away was definitely Manuel’s person.

It was still a procedure away from Kaitlin’s bail, so how could it be in vain?

When Kalle finished the procedures and wanted to take Kaitlin away, something happened.

The police suddenly arrested Kaitlin again. Kaitlin was startled and was about to run out, but she was stopped.

“What are you doing? I have already been bailed out My lawyer is here.” Of course, Kaitlin could not accept it. The door was just ten steps away, and she had yet to leave before she was caught.

“Kaitlin, the witness identified you as the mastermind. Now, we will arrest you according to the law!” The police placed the arrest warrant in front of Kaitlin

Kalle looked at the arrest warrant in shock, and the bail warrant in his hand fell to the ground.

Kaitlin was caught by the police. She screamed, “Hurry up! Go find Cason! Let him save me!”

Kalle left the police station with a black face and called Cason, “Mr. Baldry, what happened? Why did that woman suddenly change her words?”

“Yes, her daughter was taken away,” Cason took a deep breath and said.

“What do we do now?”

“You go back first.”

Cason was also in a mess right now. Once he got home, Lindsay would only ask endlessly. Even if he didn't go home, she would keep calling him.

What was worse, he found out that the Gage family was working on it and even began to target the Baldry family's shares.

Everything seemed to have been set in stone. He put down the phone.

In the Psychological Counseling Room of the University of Washington, Cody sent the flowers. Raymond also congratulated Ainsley. Ainsley's thesis was published by “Psychological Science”. This added glory to school history.

Carrying the flowers out of the school gate, Lainey and Roman also came this time.

“Aisy, let's go to the resort!” Lairtey held a few tickets and looked at Ainsley excitedly.

Ainsley knew about this resort. Lainey had always wanted to go there a long time ago.

Lainey talked to Ainsley no less than five times and asked her why she didn't go. It was because the resort had just opened for a year.

Many big shots would choose to treat their friends there. Many people from outside would be arranged there too.

Ainsley looked at Manuel and knew that Manuel gave them these tickets.

Serina saw that Ainsley was hesitating and hurriedly pulled her into the car. “Ainsley, let's go. Just treat it as celebrating your thesis!”

Ainsley didn't know whether to laugh or cry. Serina carried her into the car, and Lainey sat in Roman's car.

They directly booked a suite. There were exactly five rooms inside, which was equivalent to a villa. The back garden of the small villa was facing the pool, and the garden was set up with a barbecue rack.

The waiter brought up all the dishes and a lot of wine. Lainey opened all the wine. In addition to Serina, everyone had a bottle in front of them. Serina gave Manuel the puppy dog eyes. Manuel finally agreed and gave her a bottle of low- alcohol beverage.

“Aisy, we drank last time. You didn’t drink because you were sick. You can’t escape this time!” Lainey raised the bottle and touched it with Ainsley’s. She drank two mouthfuls.

Ainsley smiled and took a sip. The red wine was not . It was bitter and sweet in the mouth. She swallowed it, but she still felt a little uncomfortable after drinking so much in one mouthful.

When Ainsley saw that Lainey was drinking so much wine, she laughed out loud. Serina also drank as she did, and Manuel and Roman poured the wine into the glasses.

Lainey grabbed Roman’s bottle and said, “Are you a man? Look at how happy we two women are drinking! Use the bottle!”

Lainey looked at Manuel again She retracted her hand. She did not dare to ask Manuel to do anything. They were eating and drinking Manuel saw Ainsley holding the bottle and drinking. He was a little worried. “Be careful.”

Im not drunk Ainsley’s face was slightly flushed.

She then took another bottle and opened it to drink a few mouthfuls. She felt that it was not enough, so she drank half a bottle

Manuel wanted to stop her several times, but when he thought about how she had finally relaxed once, he did not want to be a bummer.

Ainsley was dizzy and swayed left and right as if she couldn’t stand still. She didn’t feel that she was drunk and was still letting the others drink with her.

Beside her, Serina had fallen asleep on the table with a flushed face. Roman and Lainey were still playing the finger-guessing game. The bottles in front of them had already piled up a lot.

‘OK, that’s enough.’ Manuel took out the bottle in Ainsley’s hand.
