

A Divorce 311

Chapter 311-The Video.

Ainsley suddenly looked at Agnes, thinking about what the man just said.

Agnes's face was pale. She suddenly rushed over and wanted to take the phone away, but a few reporters immediately blocked her. Soon, Lainey was surrounded by a protective circle, protecting her and the phone in the middle. Agnes could only be isolated in despair.

The voice in the video came out. It was Agnes's voice. Agnes said, "We are very lucky to meet that young lady. We just met yesterday. She thought of a new trick and gave me 16 thousand dollars."

"16 thousand dollars? Really?" Jeffrey said.

"Yes, it was a reward for what I did on the top floor of the school building. That young lady's watch is worth millions. We won't be able to make that much money in our entire lives."

Jeffrey asked again, "Why did she want to make things difficult for Ms. Easton?"

Chapter 312 You Are Doomed

In the face of this question, Agnes shushed Jeffrey. She replied, "Such a big shot is not someone we can see through. In this world, if you want to earn money, say less and work more."

Agnes seemed to feel that what she said was not appropriate. She immediately said, "Alright, alright. How can we know what those big shots think? We just need to do things well. Look, 16 thousand dollars! Do you know how many things we can buy with this money?"

Jeffrey did not answer this question. Instead, he continued to ask, "Then what is the final goal of that young lady?"

This time, Agnes told the truth. "I don't know much about it either. I only know that she made me insist that Ainsley is a mistress and said that she would help me with other matters."

In the video, more private things about Jeffrey and Agnes were recorded, but nothing else could be more surprising than the conversation that had just been released in the video.

Lainey turned off her phone screen and said, "You all recorded this video, right?"

The reporters looked at each other. Then, they looked at Agnes with disdain in their eyes.

Agnes sat on the ground in disbelief. Everything had been carefully designed. She couldn't believe how things went like this.

Moreover, all of her secrets had been revealed in front of so many reporters.

Agnes was very puzzled. She noticed that the angle of this video was very close, and it didn't look like a sneak shot.

Moreover, Agnes thought that no one would know about the location of Jeffrey's rented apartment.

Before Agnes could think further, the reporters surrounded her once again, asking questions that made her feel extremely awkward.

Agnes could still argue that the previous recordings were fake, but now that the videos were being played. Agnes knew that what they said would be useless.

Ainsley and Lainey stood to the side, looking coldly at Agnes. Agnes also knew that she couldn't let this continue.

"Ainsley! You ***! You did it on purpose!" Agnes scolded angrily.

As soon as Agnes finished speaking, someone slapped her. Agnes immediately covered her face and looked at the person who was rushing over.

"How dare you hit me?" Agnes pointed at Lainey with her trembling arm.

Agnes thought, in front of so many people, this scene must have been filmed.

Agnes covered her face and cried, "Help! She hit me! Well, all of you join forces to bully me! You reporters, hurry up and take photos of her. She hit me!"

Lainey sneered. She said, "Agnes, you just wait to be sued unless you tell us who that woman is. Maybe we will be lenient."

Agnes forced herself to calm down. She did not dare to say it.

Agnes shook her head. She said, "I don't understand what you are saying. Ainsley is the mistress. I am not lying! If you dare to hit me, I will not let you go."

The reporters aimed their cameras at Lainey. Before they could speak, Lainey said coldly, "Mr. Gage told me to come over. He asked me to slap this woman. Hurry up and interview Agnes!"

Hearing Lainey mention Manuel, no one dared to take photos of Lainey anymore. Instead, they surrounded Agnes.

Agnes picked up the child and was about to run when the reporters chased after her.

After this, Ainsley and Lainey entered the campus.

Serina had been doing the test questions. She did not know what had happened just now. Ainsley did not intend to tell Serina. Anyway, it would be hot online soon.

Ainsley was still thinking about what Lainey had just said. Ainsley asked in a low voice, "What does Manuel have to do with this matter?"

Lainey said with an unnatural expression, "Roman gave me the video and asked me to bring the video to save you. I made up those words."

"You made it up? You are bold." Ainsley took a deep breath.

Lainey said indifferently, "Why do you think Roman found this video? This is all ordered by Manuel. This video is quite valuable. It costs 160 thousand dollars."

Ainsley was confused. But, when it came to Manuel, she didn't want to ask.

"Aisy, you should have asked me to come earlier. Just give her a good slap. This kind of person should be taught a lesson!" Lainey scolded.

At this moment, Serina felt something was wrong. She asked, "Ainsley, what's wrong? Did Agnes make things difficult for you?"

Lainey quickly said, "Serina, you didn't see how cool I was just now! I directly slapped her..."

Lainey described what happened just now exaggeratedly, making Serina stunned.

"What! How could you not ask me to go over?" Serina curled her lips in dissatisfaction.

"I didn't expect Lainey would come." Ainsley went out just to play the recording, but she didn't expect Lainey would appear with the video.

Lainey smiled and said, "I will inform you in person next time."

"OK. OK," Serina quickly took out her phone. Sure enough, what had just happened at the gate had been reported online.

At the same time, Agnes ran away with the child in her arms. Finally, she got rid of the reporters in the alley that was full of twists and turns.

Agnes carefully walked into Jeffrey's rental apartment and found that he was packing up.

"Jeffrey? What are you doing?"

"Pack up my things and leave this place," Jeffrey said as he glanced at her.

"Where are you going? Why didn't you tell me?" Agnes asked nervously.

“Why do I have to tell you? You are doomed. You have violated the law, and you still want to live a good life? I advise you to stay away from me.” Jeffrey looked at Agnes coldly.

Agnes looked around the apartment and suddenly saw the camera. The angle of the camera was the same as that in Lainey’s video.

Agnes pointed at the camera in disbelief and asked, “Jeffrey, what is that? It’s you! Did you film it? You deliberately induced me to say those words.”

Jeffrey chuckled. He said, “You just found out? You are so ***. Someone spent 160 thousand dollars on that video. If it was you, would you give it?”

*160 thousand dollars?” Agnes murmured. She looked at Jeffrey with joy. “Jeffrey, you got 160 thousand dollars?”

“Of course.”

“Jeffrey, where are we going?” Agnes thought, Jeffrey had 160 thousand dollars. Even without Irene’s money, we would still be able to live a good life.

Jeffrey sneered. He said, “It’s not us. It’s me.”

“What... what do you mean?” Agnes widened her eyes.

“It means that I have long lost interest in you. Hurry up and get out of my sight.”

“Jeffrey, are you going to abandon us? To be with you, I divorced Elmer and gave birth to your child. Don’t tell me you don’t even want your son?” Agnes carried her son over and placed him in front of Jeffrey.

“I’m not sure this is my son. Besides, you divorced Elmer not for me but for yourself!” Jeffrey did not even look at Agnes.

Chapter 312

Lainey quickly said, “Serina, you didn’t see how cool I was just now! I directly slapped her...”

Lainey described what happened just now exaggeratedly, making Serina stunned.

“What! How could you not ask me to go over?” Serina curled her lips in dissatisfaction.

me you don’t even want your son?” Agnes carried her son over and placed him in front of Jeffrey.

“I’m not sure this is my son. Besides, you divorced Elmer not for me but for yourself!” Jeffrey did not even look at Agnes.

Chapter 313 Abandon

Agnes did not expect that the love between her and Jeffrey would be so weak at this moment. She even suspected that Jeffrey, who she had always loved, had never exposed his nature in front of her. It was so hard for Agnes to accept it at the moment when they broke up.

“Jeffrey, how could you say that? I have been with you since I was not married to Elmer. Later on, that thing happened... I finally got over it with great difficulty. Now how could you say that you don't know who the father of my son is? If not for you, why would I divorce Elmer?” Agnes's eyes were red.

Only the person one loved knew the weakest part of his or her. Agnes was very sad about what Jeffrey said.

Jeffrey was busy packing his luggage. He said perfunctorily, “You and Elmer divorced completely because three years ago, he...”

“Shut up!” Agnes screamed. Agnes didn't expect that Jeffrey would not care about her feelings at all.

“Agnes, admit it. You did all this just to get revenge for what Elmer did to you. I am just a tool used by you.” Jeffrey sneered.

Agnes hugged her son and said with a choked voice, “You can say whatever you want. Are you so ruthless to ignore your son? At least he called you father for a while. He is your biological son!”

“Get lost!” Jeffrey pushed Agnes hard. Agnes almost couldn't stand it.

The child in Agnes' arms began to cry as if he had never seen Jeffrey behave like this.

Agnes comforted her son while trying to grab Jeffrey's hand.

But the result was destined to disappoint her. A person who would rather choose to sacrifice his wife and children in the face of death, how could there be affection?

Jeffrey directly shook off Agnes's hand and glared at her in disgust. “Can you get out of the way? Can't you see that I am packing my things? Anyway, you are afraid of others gossiping. It is better to take this opportunity to break up. I will leave Seattle and never come back.”

Agnes's hand that had been shaken off stopped by her side and she muttered, “You won't come back again?

Why can't you take us away?”

Faced with Agnes' questioning words, Jeffrey did not answer.

His hand that was packing his things was stunned for a second. This was a transaction. The video was exchanged for 160 thousand dollars to pay for the debt, and there was also a deal that was worth 80 thousand dollars.

For 80 thousand dollars, Jeffrey chose to abandon Agnes and his son.

“You are no longer young. You don’t need me to teach you the reason why people are selfish, right? After all, you used Elmer very well. Bringing you along will only be a burden. Elmer is so honest. If you go back and admit your mistake, maybe he will forgive you.” If it was anyone else, they might have already obtained 800 thousand dollars, but unfortunately, the person Jeffrey and Agnes met was Ainsley.

Hearing Jeffrey’s words, Agnes burst into tears and said in despair, “You will receive retribution. You will receive retribution!”

Agnes cried out in a shrill voice. Her voice filled the rental house.

Jeffrey said nonchalantly, “Agnes, can’t you tell? I’m not the person from a few years ago. I’m just a bad person! I just want to live even if I live like a dog.”

“Yes, you are a bad person!”

“We are the same. You are not too innocent. Who knows what other men you have slept with besides me and Elmer? You are also a ***!”

The two of them cursed with the most vicious words as if they wanted to uncover the deep scar in the other person’s heart.

In the end, Jeffrey pushed Agnes out of the door. The child was crying, but he did not care.

“Don’t bother me anymore. I don’t want to see a woman like you anymore!”

Bang!

The door of the rental house was closed. Agnes was very sad.

They were so intimate yesterday, and everything was good. Agnes couldn’t understand why it became like this after just one night passed.

Half an hour later, Jeffrey came out of the rental house. He took his luggage. He walked out and looked at Agnes and the child outside left. Jeffrey just glanced coldly at them and left.

“Jeffrey! You are so heartless.” Agnes cried.

Agnes watched Jeffrey’s figure walk further and further away from her. Jeffrey never looked back, not even looking at the child.

Agnes wiped her tears and hugged her son who was still crying. Agnes knew that she had to be strong, and she had to take care of the child.

But the world was so big, Agnes didn't know where she could go.

Just as Agnes was about to leave with the child, a few middle-aged men appeared and took the two away.

It was at the University of Washington. There were no longer any reporters at the school gate. It was as if this matter was just a farce. Ainsley was innocent, and all the posts that discussed this matter on the forum were deleted. Elmer returned to his class.

"Ainsley, thanks to you knowing that you have to record, and also thanks to the video Lainey brought."

"You told him, right?" Ainsley asked thoughtfully.

Serina lowered her head guiltily and stuck out her tongue. She said, "Ainsley, don't blame me. I accidentally said it when Manuel called me."

"Accidentally?"

"Alright, alright. I told him, but he knew it from the beginning. He has been sending people to investigate Agnes's movements to help you. Roman has already told me." Serina tugged at Ainsley's sleeve.

Ainsley rubbed Serina's head. She did not blame Serina, but she thought of the figure that fell that night. She asked hesitantly, "Has Manuel gone home?"

Serina looked at Ainsley with a smile and said, "Oh. So, you wanted to care about Manuel. Don't worry. He is fine."

Talking about this, Serina was unhappy. Because Irene always went to the Gage's home.

Serina did not want to tell Ainsley about these things. Serina thought, the fewer people knew about this, the better. Serina did not want Ainsley to know that Manuel had connections with Irene.

Serina and Ainsley walked to the teaching building. Before they entered the office, they heard several people swearing and pulling a woman's hair to the teaching building.

It was Agnes.

Ainsley had yet to sue Agnes for slander, but Agnes had appeared at the school again.

The scene in front of Ainsley told her that Agnes was not willing to do so.

Soon, many students gathered around them, watching the show.

Elmer came down from the teaching building. When he saw the two people in the lead, he said in a dull voice,

“Mom, Dad, what are you doing?”

“Elmer, your dad and I watched TV interviews and found out that Agnes was so disgusting. You didn’t even tell us about such a big thing. This child is not your child. How could Agnes ask us for so much money? ***!” The middle-aged woman slapped Agnes because she was too excited. The sound resounded through.

the entire campus.

Chapter 314 I Am Sorry for Agnes

None of the students dared to step forward to dissuade them. They were all watching the show, and most of them took out their phones to take videos.

In the previous events, Elmer had never appeared. This time, Elmer was standing in front of Agnes.

This scene was a bit dramatic. A few days ago, Agnes had always been aggressive and forcing Elmer. She had always played a victim as if Elmer was an extremely evil person.

Now that the situation was changed, Elmer looked at Agnes with eyes full of unwillingness and guilt.

Perhaps the look in Elmer’s eyes was too strange. Ainsley suddenly felt that this matter was not so simple.

Agnes’ eyes were filled with despair and unwillingness. She was not as aggressive as before.

What disappeared from Agnes’ eyes was the desire for money. Agnes seemed to have begun to accept her fate.

Hadley Myers, Elmer’s mother, said, “Elmer, she betrayed you and the Myers family. We will never forgive her. Moreover, your father and I have seen the interview. She took your house, on which your father and I have spent half of our savings. We have to get it back! We also have to ask her to compensate!”

Agnes was silent, and the child was crying.

“No need! Mom, Dad, let her go!” Elmer suddenly stretched out his hands to block in front of Agnes.

Apart from Elmer’s parents, there were other members of the Myers family. They said, “Elmer, we are doing this for your reputation. If this is spread out, everyone will laugh at you. Moreover, that house is yours. Do you want to leave it for this *and the ***?”

Elmer shook his head. He said, “Dad, Mom, no matter what, this is my own business. Moreover, I have already divorced Agnes. I voluntarily gave up those things.”

“You fool! You don’t know what this **did. The **she gave birth to is not your son. We don’t know who his father is. This child was born before you divorced. Isn’t it an affair?” Hadley rebuked Elmer angrily.

Hadley wanted to slap Elmer so that she could wake up Elmer who was muddle-headed.

‘I know! I know! I know that the child is not mine!’

However, no matter how his parents persuaded Elmer, Elmer was unwilling to leave. He resolutely stood in front of Agnes.

Elmer’s relatives could not wait any longer. They immediately asked two people to pull Elmer away.

They were going to pull Elmer away, while Elmer continued, “I was the one who let her down first. I should be the one to bear this price. It has nothing to do with her.”

Elmer lowered his eyes. It could be said that Elmer was very sad. Ainsley did not understand.

“What nonsense are you saying! Your parents are watching you from the front. How could you say such words to disappoint them?” The relative scolded.

At this moment, Agnes, who had not said a word from beginning to end, suddenly laughed.

“Haha...” Agnes looked at Elmer angrily and shouted, “Don’t pretend to be kind! The one who wants me to be unlucky is you! Get lost! Don’t stand in front of me! Get lost!”

Elmer had a sad expression. He didn’t want to listen to these harsh words, but those words still hurt him.

“Agnes, this is my fault. It’s all my fault!” Elmer murmured. He walked to Agnes’s side and pointed in the direction of the gate. “Go, leave.”

Hadley pointed at Agnes and scolded, “Look at this*. I don’t know what kind of method she used. At this point, my son is still begging for mercy for her!”

Donte Myers, Elmer’s father, could not wait any longer. He said, “What are you waiting for? Hurry up and pull him away!”

Several relatives wanted to pull away Elmer who was blocking in front of them and pull Agnes away. Elmer, who had always been gentle, seemed to explode with endless strength this time. He directly pushed down the two people and returned to Agnes again.

Ainsley found that Elmer’s eyes were red as if he was about to cry.

Agnes looked at Elmer with hatred. She shouted hysterically again, “Get lost, Elmer! Get out of my life forever!

Get lost forever!”

Agnes seemed to be shouting with her life. The intense anger made Ainsley feel despair.

"I'm sorry, Agnes." Elmer slowly turned around and glanced at Agnes. The affection in his eyes seemed to be the last time he looked at his lover.

Ainsley looked at this strange scene. Ainsley thought, the angry one should be Elmer. Why was Elmer guilty?

What exactly happened between them?

Just as Ainsley was guessing, a few people in the crowd argued once again.

"I betrayed Agnes. It was me!" Elmer's tears welled up in his eyes.

"Agnes didn't cheat on me. She didn't let me down. I was the one who had an affair with her. I was also the one who let her down!" Elmer shouted.

"Shut up!" Agnes shouted, staring at Elmer with hatred.

Everyone present looked at Elmer in shock. Donte and Hadley were about to stop him. They said, "Elmer, shut up! You two are already married. You are the legal husband."

"No!" This roar was from Elmer. He coughed a few times before saying again, "Three years ago, I fell in love at first sight when I saw Agnes. I knew that she and Jeffrey were lovers and had been together for a long time. But I just can't accept it. I can't accept why I can't be her husband. So, that day, I drank wine... I let Agnes down. I harmed her. I deprived her of her happiness to create the illusion of my happiness. After marriage, I have always been honest, but I can't sleep well."

"Don't say anything more!" Agnes screamed miserably, and Elmer dared not say anything more.

Hadley and Donte looked at them in shock. Looking around, they remembered that they were on the campus, and almost everyone had heard what they had just said.

Ainsley listened to what Elmer had said without missing anything, Ainsley understood.

Ainsley suddenly did not know how to judge who was right and who was wrong. Ainsley understood why Elmer was willing to compensate Agnes.

Ainsley finally understood why Elmer had not refuted, because the wrong one was him.

However, Donte and Hadley didn't take Elmer's words seriously. They said, "When we went to the Bennett's house, we agreed. It was not all Elmer's fault. When we went to the Bennett's place and talked about your marriage, why didn't the Bennett family refuse?"

Everyone looked at Agnes again.

Agnes held the child in one hand and pushed Elmer with the other hand. She said expressionlessly, "We do want to refuse, but what did you say?"

Chapter 315 Call the Police

"Nonsense!" Elmer's parents panicked.

"You said if I didn't agree, you would immediately tell everyone what Elmer had done to me. How could I refuse in that situation?" Agnes shouted.

Ainsley finally understood why Agnes would say in the school building that Elmer didn't deserve to be a teacher. But despite what Agnes had suffered, it shouldn't be the reason why she hurt others.

What Ainsley cared more about was whether Agnes was willing to expose Irene.

This had been a complete farce, especially when compared to what Agnes had said a few days ago.

What was most unexpected was that the victim at first had now become the culprit, while the culprit at first was now the pitiful victim.

Ainsley was silent and did not know what to say at this moment. She could only watch as those people tried to catch Agnes by getting past Elmer, who struggled to stop them.

Agnes held the child in her arms behind him and stood unsteadily. Seeing this, everyone seemed to have forgotten what she had done and felt pity for her.

Hadley gave Elmer two hard slaps and scolded in dissatisfaction, "Can't you wake up at this moment? How could you still protect this * Don't you know that a woman should follow her husband no matter who he is? Since she married you, she has to be loyal to you. Even though you were wrong at the beginning, after marriage, you're so tolerant of her. Is it not enough? But she had another man's child, and we raised the child for a long time. We've done enough to make it up to her, haven't we?"

These words annoyed Agnes, and she suddenly looked at Hadley who looked particularly arrogant in the crowd. "No, you will never be able to make it up to me! If I hadn't been a country girl, and my parents hadn't cared about other people's gossip, how could I have agreed to marry a*** You knew that Jeffrey and I were about to get married, but you still forced us to break up in anguish. I felt extremely disgusted every day. after marriage. Can you compensate for my suffering? Why don't you marry the person who rapes you and see how it feels?"

Hearing the words, Hadley, who had been angry, blushed in embarrassment and scolded, "How shameless! say such disgusting and dirty words here? There're so many students watching!"

Realizing that it was inappropriate to deal with the thing in this place, several relatives wanted to take Agnes. away and stopped her from making a scene in Elmer's workplace.

Ainsley took out her phone and sent a message.

Not long after, Raymond rushed over with several security guards behind him.

He pointed at the crowd, and the security guards quickly stopped Elmer's parents and relatives. After that, Raymond glanced around. "Don't you need to go to class? Can you all get high scores? Go back right now."

The students followed his words, and after a while, there were only a few people left in front of the building. Ainsley was also watching. She did not leave with Raymond's permission.

Raymond first calmed down Elmer's parents and asked them to send away the relatives who had come to help. After that, they went to his office to figure out what had happened.

Elmer's parents were very respectful to Raymond because he was their son's leader.

They asked their relatives to leave and then followed Raymond to his office.

Elmer's parents said a lot in the office. Raymond finally figured out the whole story and looked at Ainsley with mixed feelings.

Ainsley understood what he meant and went out with her phone.

No matter what Elmer's parents said, Agnes remained silent. She smiled at Raymond and occasionally looked at Elmer with hatred.

"Mr. Myers, is what Ms. Bennett said true?" Raymond frowned slightly.

Elmer was honest and nodded, "It's all my fault. It has nothing to do with Agnes."

"I think what Mr. Myers did has violated the law. If Ms. Bennett agrees, it's better to call the police to deal with

Of course, such a teacher is not allowed to work in our school, so we'll dismiss Mr. Myers," Raymond calmly said.

Elmer's parents were stunned to hear this. They did not expect such serious consequences.

“Mr. Ford, all of this is a misunderstanding. My son did not break the law. They are married, and my son isn’t a rapist as you said,” Hadley pleaded.

Ainsley suddenly said, “Madam, I think I should tell you that having sex with a woman with violence or other means is rape! Moreover, your son and Agnes were not married when this happened.”

Hadley suddenly pointed at Ainsley and said, “I know you! You are the woman framed by this ***. She did that to you, but you still speak up for her! Don’t **. My son will not break the law!”

Agnes seemed not to expect Ainsley to speak up for her. She opened her mouth several times as if she wanted to say something, but she said nothing in the end.

Elmer pondered for a moment and took a deep breath. “Just call the police. This is a relief for both Agnes.

and me.”

It had been three years since that happened. Over the past few years, whenever Elmer opened his eyes and saw Agnes, he would always think of her resentful eyes.

He knew that Agnes would not kill him, but he was afraid of a woman who hated him so much.

Moreover, he had always been tortured by a great sense of guilt.

In the past three years, he had thought about going to the police station and confessing his crime many times, but he never dared to walk in.

He had done so much to marry the woman he loved and couldn’t bear to lose her and their happy life.

“Do you need to call the police?” Ainsley suddenly looked at Agnes.

Chapter 315 Call the Police

Agnes looked straight at Elmer with hatred but said as if she had let go of the past, “Forget it. I know that he has suffered a lot in the three years, and especially after our divorce, I have tortured him severely. Although I always feel that I haven’t done enough, I don’t want to call the police.”

She turned to look at Elmer’s parents, “But I’ll keep the house and money. Elmer owes me and deserves to pay the price!”

Hearing that Elmer wouldn’t go to jail but couldn’t get the house back, his parents had mixed feelings at this moment.

Chapter 316 That Woman Is a Wade

Ainsley laughed softly. Everyone looked over in confusion. She raised her phone and said, "I called the police when I arrived at the school building. The police are coming. Both Elmer and you will be punished."

She looked at Agnes. People had to pay the price for what they had done. They should not regret it when it was time to be responsible for their choice.

No one could run from the law. No one could continue to live safe and sound after hurting others.

"Ainsley, I admire you." Agnes, who had been terrified all this time, smiled in relief.

"Oh? What do you mean?" Ainsley raised an eyebrow.

"You are beautiful. From the moment I saw your photo, I was shocked by your beauty. In fact, when I chose to frame you, I was also wondering whether someone would believe that you could be with such a horrible man. I overestimated others. The poor all hate the rich. Your wealth makes you lose the poor's sympathy. When I wronged you, I even wondered if you would beat me in anger. You didn't do it. You were calm. It seemed that everything was in your control. I don't like it. Just now, you could even say good words for someone who hurt

you. I thought you were a saint, but you called the police."

Agnes laughed at herself and then continued, "To be honest, if not for this, I might have liked you a lot.

Unfortunately, you offended someone you shouldn't have. I shouldn't have been with Jeffrey. I should have known who he was. Otherwise, the one who would have failed today would be you."

"How can you be so sure that I don't have a backup plan?" Ainsley asked.

Agnes's smile was dull. She didn't know anything about Ainsley. She didn't even know if Ainsley had any other trump cards.

Elmer's parents shouted at Ainsley, "You liar! Elmer is innocent! It's Agnes, that ***, who seduced Elmer!"

"Enough! This is the principal's office. If you want to quarrel, go out! I can ask the security guards to kick you out." Ainsley gave them a cold look.

Elmer's parents did not dare to say anything, but their eyes were full of anger.

Amidst the cries and shouts, Elmer and Agnes were taken away by the police.

Ainsley looked at Elmer's parents who constantly slammed the police car that was about to leave. Agnes was taken to another police car.

"Can I have a few words with her?" Ainsley slowly walked over.

The police seemed to know that she was the reporter. They looked at each other and nodded in agreement.

Agnes looked at her in confusion. "Do you want to ask me something? Don't waste your energy. Although you spoke up for me just now, I will tell you nothing."

"I just want to know what she promised you. What made you bear the risk of breaking the law to set me up?" Ainsley smiled faintly.

Get Bus

800 thousand dollars." Agnes did not hide it.

"Do you know how much 800 thousand dollars is? The first time I heard this number, I almost fell to the ground. I did not believe that my words were so valuable. But she gave me 16 thousand dollars first, which made me confident enough to set you up. To you, this money might mean nothing. It's not enough for you to buy a bracelet. But to me, it is a lot. I have never seen so much money in my life. You heard everything that Elmer's parents said. My parents are farmers. I'm from a small place. I have not seen much of the world. Ms.

Easton, I have told you what you want to know. As for others, I have no idea," Agnes said calmly.

Ainsley didn't respond. She changed the subject and asked, "Do you know about Jeffrey's gambling?"

"Gambling? I don't know."

"He owed 160 thousand dollars in gambling. Thus, he intended to pay it back when you got the money. But the creditor could not wait. If he could not pay back, he might die." Ainsley was expressionless.

Agnes's eyes flashed with a hint of hurt. "Ms. Easton, why did you suddenly tell me this?"

"Do you know what the man you love has done in the face of death? He told the creditor that he could sell you and your kid to repay the debt, but was rejected. Later, he made a deal with someone else. As long as he exposes your plot, he can get 160 thousand dollars." Ainsley felt that it was time to let the truth come out.

"Oh, I got it."

"Maybe the man you fell in love with was full of hope for the future three years ago. He was willing to do everything for you. But these years have turned him into a rat. He can't give you money to ensure the life of you and your child. In the face of danger, he was only thinking about how to sell you out. But Agnes, do you remember Elmer who saved you in the teaching building?" Ainsley suddenly said.

Agnes seemed to have guessed what Ainsley wanted to say, but she did not stop her. Her face was pale.

"Elmer made a mistake. He has been regretting it. In the past three years, you hated him and he felt guilty. You couldn't face each other in this marriage. But if he goes to prison and accepts responsibility for his mistakes, you could give him a second chance when he is released. I don't believe that you have no feelings for him in your three years of marriage."

What Elmer did was irreparable. But when Elmer was about to be taken away by the police in the office, she clearly saw the helplessness and panic in Agnes's eyes.

Fortunately, everyone had gotten what they were supposed to have.

Just as Ainsley turned to leave, Agnes suddenly called out to her, "Ms. Easton, can I ask you something?"

"What?"

"Child, my child. I know Elmer's parents won't care about him. Can you help me send him to my parents?" Agnes's eyes were filled with pleading.

Okay." Ainsley nodded.

"Well!" Agnes wanted to say something. After thinking for a long time, she made up her mind and said, "That woman is a Wade."

She saw Ainsley straighten her back and leave without looking back.

In the Wade's place, Irene frantically threw everything in the room. She had heard the news.

"Idiot! What a waste!" She stared at Agnes's face on the screen and threw her phone at the wall. She did not expect Agnes to be so ***and let others exploit the loophole.

Chapter 317 Being Kidnapped

Irene thought, I have advised Agnes to throw away that **man, but she refused, insisting on believing in love. Now, all my efforts have been ruined.

Ainsley is suspicious of this matter, not to mention Manuel.

Irene could not figure out why Lainey happened to send the video over. What method did she use to get this video?

It was only in the afternoon when the assistant told her the investigation report that she found that she was framed by Manuel.

Manuel loved Ainsley so deeply. However, he would rather accompany her to go shopping that day to let her guard down. So that was the reason why Manuel accompanied her that day.

Thinking of this, Irene took out the bracelet from the cabinet, threw it on the ground, and stomped on it a few times angrily.

After a moment of silence, she squatted down and picked up the bracelet. Then she wiped it with the handkerchief, and carefully checked to make sure there were no traces of destruction before she breathed a sigh of relief.

Irene lost her temper again because of Ainsley.

If Brady saw her like this, he might be disappointed. As a member of the Wade family, Irene was decisive in her career, and she made up her mind that she couldn't lose to anyone in her life, especially to a woman like Ainsley.

She poured a cup of water and drank it in one gulp. Only then did she regain her senses. She knew that she had not lost yet.

Agnes and Elmer were just two pawns for her. There was still another person who stayed by Ainsley's side and didn't expose her identity.

After thinking for a while, Irene called that person, "It's time to take action."

Before that person could reply, she hung up the phone.

Then she tidied up and walked out of the door. She said to the **who had been waiting outside the door, "Clean the room. Don't let Grandpa notice anything."

"Yes."

In the branch company of the Easton Group, Emily carefully hung up the phone. After coming out of the restroom, she looked around to make sure that no one was in it.

She walked to the sink and looked at herself in the mirror with some panic. She had delicate makeup on, and her clothes were all set by the famous designer, but she covered her chest with guilt. She felt that her heart. was beating so fast.

Taking a deep breath, Emily knew that she had to take action. If she failed again this time, Irene would not let her go.

Looking at herself in the mirror, she tried to calm down.

Agnes and Elmer were both sent to prison. Looking at the two old men crying at the door, Ainsley sighed.

If they hadn't insisted on bringing Agnes over to look for Elmer, how could such a thing have happened?

When Ainsley returned to the office, Raymond came over to comfort her. It was the weekend in the next two days, and she could rest at home.

The weather in the early autumn of the city was changing. It was sunny in the morning, but there was a wind blowing at noon. Soon, it rained heavily with thunder at four or five o'clock in the afternoon. The sky looked so dark that people would think it was at night.

Serina left before school ended. She was called away by Koen.

Ainsley opened the umbrella and looked up at the terrible sky. The weather forecast said that it wouldn't stop raining for a while. She waited in the office for half an hour, but the rain didn't seem to stop. Thinking about it carefully, Ainsley decided to go home.

The umbrella was blown askew by the wind. After Ainsley made a great effort to get in the car, she soon found that the car had broken down.

She patted the steering wheel twice angrily. What an unlucky day for her.

It was half the way to Matteo's house, so it was unrealistic to walk there. The rain was terribly heavy, and the thunder roared.

She took out her phone, trying to call a taxi. Even if she could get a taxi in this weather, she would probably have to wait for a long time.

It was strange that this time, she didn't have to wait for long. Just five minutes later, she saw a taxi. Ainsley thought that maybe it was just a passing car.

Without thinking much, she saw a taxi stop in front of her. The driver looked kind and honest.

Ainsley got in the car and looked at the driver's information, only to find that the words on it were blurred.

The driver noticed her gaze and hurriedly explained, "I went to the store to buy food. The door was not closed, and then there was heavy rain. It should have been blurred at that time. I'm so sorry."

Ainsley shook her head, thinking that she had thought too much. Halfway there, when there was a junction away from Matteo's house, the route to the mountain was around the corner.

However, when Ainsley was not paying attention, the taxi drove in the direction of the mountain at a fast speed. Her face turned pale, and she only heard a "click" sound. The door of the back seat had been locked.

What are you going to do?" She forced herself to calm down.

At that moment, the driver tore off his mask. "I just want to take you to a place. As long as you cooperate with me obediently, I won't hurt you."

Chapter 318

Kidnapped

Ainsley did not say anything else. She looked around. The phone was still in her hand. Then she put the phone in a place where the driver could not see it and secretly made a phone call.

However, she failed after making two calls. She looked at the screen and discovered there was no signal.

She forgot that there would be no signal on the mountain.

Ainsley was very familiar with this mountain. At that time, Serina tricked her out to watch the fireworks with Manuel on the mountain. Ainsley did not expect that the second time she came over, she would be kidnapped.

She heard the driver's arrogant laughter, "I advise you to save your strength. No matter what you do, you can't escape. There is no one else on the entire mountain. And there is no signal here."

Ainsley did not say anything. Instead, she silently memorized the route. It was a round-the-mountain road. She remembered when she looked at her phone at the foot of the mountain, there was still a signal.

Suddenly, Ainsley thought of something and pretended to faint. "I'm so dizzy. Please slow down! Why can't the window open?"

The driver replied impatiently, "Shut up! You don't have to know about it. Just endure it when you feel dizzy."

Ainsley didn't dare to speak again. She was afraid that the driver would slap her violently with impatience.

Soon, the driver stopped the car and knocked her unconscious.

At the same time, the Easton Group was in chaos.

When Matteo received a phone call, he replied with a dark face, "I'll give you the money. Tell me when and where to meet you."

The man on the phone chuckled, and casually gave an address, "I'll kill her if I can't get the money at five o'clock tomorrow."

Ainsley had just woken up, and when she heard the kidnapper's words, she shuddered.

When the kidnapper turned around and saw that Ainsley had woken up, he said, "I advise you to be obedient.

Otherwise, I will cut you in the face. If your face is disfigured, you will be ruined for the rest of your life."

Ainsley rolled her eyes in her heart when she heard this. She pretended to be calm, saying, "You just want money, right?"

The man laughed wildly, looking at Ainsley playfully. "Do you think that we only want money?"

We?

Ainsley realized that there were other people. Could it be Irene?

Ainsley had experienced this kind of thing several times. She felt that it was not that simple this time.

On the other hand, Matteo, who had been hung up, was gloomy. He said to the secretary next to him, "Go check the location of the phone call just now and the location where Ainsley disappeared."

Chapter 318 Where Is She?

Ainsley was brought to the mountain by the driver. When she woke up, she felt sore all over. The coldness.

made her shiver.

The taxi driver did not lock her up. There was no place on the mountain that could withstand the heavy rain.

The man simply set up a canopy and tied Ainsley to the tree.

She was forced to sit at the roots of the tree and the man tied her tightly to the roots with a rope.

The mountain roads that had been washed by the rain were covered in mud, and Ainsley's entire body was soaked.

Being on high ground and attacked by the storm, she sneezed several times.

Ainsley wanted to break free, but she couldn't.

"Don't waste your energy." The man said, wearing a raincoat. He looked at Ainsley mockingly.

He slowly walked in front of Ainsley and squatted down. He took out a cold dagger and slapped Ainsley's face with it twice. "Do you know what a hanging knot is?"

Ainsley did not answer and still wanted to break free.

"It seems that you really don't know. Don't struggle anymore. Don't you realize that the more you struggle, the tighter the rope will be? In the end, I'm afraid that you will strangle yourself to death."

Ainsley's heart trembled, not daring to move anymore.

There was a canopy, but because of the tree, Ainsley could not hide completely under the canopy. Her back which was pressed against the roots was already soaked.

She felt an unprecedented coldness. "What are you trying to do?"

"Don't you know what I want to do? Didn't you hear what I just said clearly? Stop pretending."

"I mean, what else do you want other than money?" Ainsley continued expressionlessly.

The man smiled playfully. He smoked all year round, so his teeth were full of yellow spots. Ainsley could even see the dental calculus that was left behind by years of chewing food and not cleaning his teeth well.

He was very close to Ainsley, and his breath smell was disgusting.

Ainsley forced herself not to throw up. This kind of person who struggled to survive was probably most sensitive about the dislike of others.

His hand holding the dagger slowly fell down. The man inserted the dagger into the ground and then raised a hand to touch Ainsley's cheek.

A chill climbed up Ainsley's heart. She stared at the man in disbelief. "Don't you dare!"

"What are you afraid of?" The man suddenly laughed, and he looked even more disgusting.

"Don't you dare! I advise you to think it through. If you dare to touch me, I will die in front of you. I guarantee that you will not be able to take a single cent." Ainsley looked determined, swearing that what she said was not false.

"Do you really think I'm afraid?" The man suddenly clenched Ainsley's chin and raised her head fiercely.

It was a gorgeous face. Unfortunately, her eyes were filled with determination.

"If not for money, do you think I would tolerate you?" He threw Ainsley's face to the side.

Of course, it wasn't all for money. He still remembered his instructions.

Emily had been sitting in a daze after work. She sat in the living room, her hand tightly gripping her phone.

Outside, there was a heavy storm. She knew that Ainsley had already been brought to the mountain.

She was not sure if Matteo would pay, but she had no other choice.

She could not take out the money to compensate, so she could only listen to Irene.

The door was kicked open, and the loud sound made Emily's body tremble. She looked at the person in fear. It was actually Matteo.

At this moment, his body was drenched in rain, and his eyes shone with a cold light.

Emily forced herself to calm down. "Matteo, you're back. I, I'll go get you a cup of hot tea."

She picked up the cup on the table in a panic and was about to go to the kitchen when she was grabbed by the wrist the moment she turned around.

"Matteo, you..."

"Where is she?" Matteo exerted force with his hand, and Emily's wrist was pinched until it turned white.

Emily painfully tried to pull her wrist back from Matteo's hand. "Matteo! I don't know what you're talking about. Who is she?"

"Don't play dumb. I know that you did this. I didn't argue with you when you stole the proposal and gave it to the Wade Group. You made such a big mistake. Do you think the Easton family will let you go? Before I completely lose my mind, tell me what you did." Matteo's eyes were indifferent.

This was the first time Emily had seen this kind of gaze from Matteo. She had never seen Matteo with such a terrifying appearance.

"Matteo, it hurts. Let go of me. I really don't know what you are talking about."

"Matteo, what are you doing?"

A deafening thunder woke Matteo up. Under the dazzling lightning, he saw Robyn coming.

She quickly walked over and separated their hands. Emily immediately shrank behind Robyn. "Mrs. Easton, help me. Matteo is crazy!"

"Mom, don't stop me. I have something to ask her."

"If you want to ask, just ask. I am here." Robyn shielded Emily behind herself.

Matteo did not hide anything. He said coldly, "The one who stole the design of the company and gave it to the Wade Group was Emily. I did not tell anyone else about this. But today, Aisy was kidnapped on the way back. from work. Half an hour ago, the man called me for 50 million dollars."

He looked at Emily again. "You did it, right?"

"Matteo! It really wasn't me. Why would I do that? Even if I really wanted to hurt Ainsley, why would I ask for money from you? You are my cousin, and I have always respected you. How could I harm you?" Emily said in a panic.

Robyn nodded in agreement. "Matteo, what Emily said was right. She grew up with you and would never do something like that to hurt you. Plus, she is working at the company now."

"Heh, Emily, do you really think I don't know? After the recording incident was exposed last time, Irene found you, right? If I'm not wrong, the price you needed to pay was compensation, or do something for her." Matteo looked at Emily as if he was looking at a fool.

Emily never thought that Matteo would actually guess everything, but the meeting between her and Irene was very covert. How did he know?

"Why did I arrange you to a branch company instead of the headquarters? Do you really think that I just wanted you to stay away from me?" What Matteo did not say was that when he arranged for Emily to enter the branch company, he had already asked two people to watch Emily's every move.

Coincidentally, they heard Emily's conversation in the bathroom that day clearly.

Emily's face was pale, but how could she admit it?

"Mrs. Easton, I really don't know! Ainsley's disappearance has nothing to do with me. You must believe me!" Emily pulled on Robyn's sleeve and cried.

Chapter 319 I Know Who You Are

"Mom, you'd better not interfere in this." Matteo also looked at Robyn.

Robyn looked at Matteo with a serious expression. She knew that although Matteo had always shown respect to her, their relationship had long been very awkward.

She stepped aside. "Emily, Ainsley is after all a member of the Easton family. If something really happens, you will be responsible. It would be better to confess now than be found out."

"Mrs. Easton, you also..."

Matteo looked at Emily coldly. "Emily, leaking the company's secrets is illegal, let alone stealing confidential documents. Do you want to go to jail?"

Tears welled up in Emily's eyes and dripped down. She looked at Matteo in pain. "I... I'll confess."

The door was opened again. This time, it was Serina who came in. She had just been sent back.

As soon as she entered, she saw the three people in the living room looking at each other. Judging from the tense atmosphere, she knew that something was wrong.

“Matteo, where’s Ainsley? I remember that she should have gotten off work two hours ago. Hasn’t she got home?” Serina asked doubtfully.

“Serina, Aisy was kidnapped.”

“Kidnapped?” Serina widened her eyes.

Matteo did not answer her. Instead, he looked at Emily again. “Tell me! Where exactly is Ainsley?”

“In an abandoned factory in the eastern suburbs...” Emily’s voice trembled.

Matteo immediately rushed out..

“It’s you!” Serina looked at Emily in shock. “Did you send someone to kidnap Ainsley? I won’t let you off!”

Serina suddenly remembered something and quickly ran out of the door, shouting at the car that had disappeared in the rain, “Matteo! Come back!”

Unfortunately, the distance was too far, and Matteo didn’t hear it.

Serina took out her mobile phone and called Matteo.

“Ainsley was kidnapped!”

Ainsley did not want to talk to the man anymore, so she closed her eyes. It seemed that she really had to stay on the mountain the whole night. The heavy rain would not stop for a while. She felt a little dizzy.

If she really spent a night on the mountain, she might die.

Ainsley’s hands were tied behind her back. She tried to untie it, but just as the man said, the rope would become tighter and tighter if she moved.

“Why are you not listening to what I said? It’s not my fault if you strangle yourself later.” The man clicked his tongue.

“I’m very cold. I need clothes. I need shelter from the rain.” Ainsley stared straight at the man.

The man laughed, “You don’t think that I kidnapped you to invite you as a guest, do you? Don’t worry. You won’t die from the rain, but...”

He raised his head and looked at the tree. “Now that there is thunder and lightning, do you think you will die if the thunder really strikes?”

Ainsley frowned. Although she knew the chances were slim, it didn’t mean it wouldn’t happen.

The next second, the man suddenly unzipped his raincoat. "If you are cold, why don't you crawl into my arms?"

I will warm your body. I can even do more to help you get rid of the coldness immediately."

"***off!" Ainsley said coldly.

The man was furious and was about to give Ainsley a slap when his phone rang.

He thought of the person's cruelty and immediately picked up the phone. He said respectfully, "Miss, the matter is settled."

"We can't escape. The phone has already been called."

"Her? That woman won't know."

"I know."

Ainsley suddenly said, "Give me the phone. I want to talk to her."

"Miss, she wants to talk to you." The man paused.

Ainsley continued, "I know who you are. You asked someone to tie me up, but you're afraid to talk to me?"

Ainsley's voice was very loud and heard by the woman.

"Give her the phone," the person sneered.

The man frowned as he walked over and placed his phone beside Ainsley's ear.

Ainsley was trembling all over. She tried to calm herself down. "I know who you are. Irene, what are you doing all this for?"

"Don't be silent. You have already asked someone to kidnap me. Are you still afraid that I will tell Manuel?"

"You are not short of money. Why do you want Matteo to give you 50 million dollars? What other plans do you have besides money?"

After a moment of silence, the person on the other side of the line finally said, "Ainsley, I have to say that you are really smart. You actually recognized me so quickly. Or is it that in the entire Seattle, I am the only one who wants to kill you?"

Ainsley sneered, "Good for you. Irene, don't you think that everything you are doing now is very childish? I can think of it. Don't you think Manuel can also know that you did it?"

"You are wrong. Do you really think that I am ***enough to not find a scapegoat?"

Ainsley said in a low voice, "That's true. Every time you do something bad, you will find a way out for yourself. You will find a scapegoat that can take the blame for you every time. Kaliyah, Kaitlin, Glenn, and Agnes were all your scapegoats."

The voice on the other side of the line did not have the slightest bit of fear. "Oh right, I almost forgot that you even went to the prison to find Glenn. It's so funny. I know better than you what kind of person he is, and you actually trusted him. Ainsley, do you know that it is all because of you? If you do not seduce Manuel, how would I deal with you like this?"

"Irene, I thought you already knew that Manuel did not like you. If it wasn't me, it would be someone else. Would you have to kidnap every woman around him?" Ainsley said in a deep voice.

Unexpectedly, this sentence provoked Irene. She could not help but curse, "Shut up, **! How do you that he doesn't like me? We grew up together. In the past, he loved me very much. Wherever I wanted to go, he would be my company. When others bullied me, he would protect me. Since you came, everything has changed! Why did you show up? Why? You should have died a long time ago!"

At this point, Irene laughed crazily. "Ainsley, I can guarantee that Manuel won't save you this time. The secret he does not dare to let you know is more important than you."

"So, what kind of secret is it?" Ainsley asked.

For all this time, Ainsley always felt that she was in a mystery, and the truth that everyone knew was something she could not figure out.

The picture she found in the old house and the bracelet that had been given to her a few years ago resurfaced in her mind. She asked uncertainly, "Is there something wrong with my memory?"

Irene paused. "Think about it yourself. But don't worry. I won't let you die. If you die, he will remember you."

Chapter 320 Agree to the Engagement

"You still haven't told me what your purpose is." Ainsley's tone became cold.

Irene laughed coldly. "Ainsley, you still haven't learned to be smart. What you can do now is to be at my mercy. Be obedient. Maybe I will spare your life if I am happy."

"Ms. Wade, you just said that if I die, Manuel will always remember me. You won't let me die."

There was no sounder on the phone. After a long silence, Irene hung up.

The man took the phone back and looked at Ainsley fiercely. "You could actually talk to her like that!"

On the way to the eastern suburbs, Matteo had been staring at Emily coldly.

Emily dialed the number again and again in fear. She clearly told the person that they had to keep in touch even after he kidnapped Ainsley. But for some reason, she still couldn't get through after a few dozen calls.

"Matteo, I, I can't get through," Emily said in a trembling voice.

Matteo looked at her in confusion. "Why can't you get through? Continue! We're almost at the factory."

Ten minutes later, in the abandoned factory in the eastern suburbs, the black car stopped at the entrance of the factory, and Matteo entered the factory with Emily.

Emily's face was pale, and her body trembled. She knew that Matteo was very disgusted with her now.

Similarly, if something really happened to Ainsley this time, Matteo would definitely not forgive her.

Emily originally wanted to teach Ainsley a lesson, but she never really wanted to harm Ainsley.

There was no one in the large abandoned factory. Emily took Matteo to the hiding place they had discussed.

beforehand. A secret room had already been prepared in the workshop on the second floor. There were only two keys to the secret room, and she had one on her.

After opening the iron door, they found that the secret room was empty. There was no one at all, let alone

Ainsley.

"This is impossible! We planned everything three days ago. From the route to the time... We have carefully discussed every possible problem. That person should not lie to me. Something must have gone wrong," she muttered to herself.

However, Matteo no longer believed her. He grabbed Emily's hand and forced her to face him. "Where is Ainsley? Don't play any tricks. Emily, there is a limit to my tolerance for you."

He ruthlessly threw Emily to the side. "Hurry up and speak!"

Emily also did not expect that things would end up like this. She was about to cry. "Matteo, you have to believe me. This is really the place we agreed on beforehand, but I don't know why he didn't bring her here. But don't worry! I warned that person not to hurt Ainsley."

"You warned him, didn't you? If your warning really worked, they wouldn't have disappeared into thin air here."

Chapter 320 Agree to the Engagement

Matteo said coldly.

In the car, Matteo was not in such a bad mood. He thought that Emily would not dare to lie again, but unexpectedly, things had gotten worse.

"Keep calling that person until it gets through!" Matteo said angrily.

Emily immediately got into the car, not daring to do anything else, dialing the number again and again.

At that moment, Serina was in Manuel's car. "Manuel, what if something really happened to Ainsley? Who wants to harm her?"

Manuel's fingertips trembled. He had heard from Serina that Emily had done it, but he felt that things were not so simple.

The same method was used three years ago. At that time, he had not been able to protect Ainsley. This time, he would not hesitate even if he lost his life. He did not want the same thing to happen a second time.

Under Serina's gaze, he dialed a number.

"Irene, what are you doing?"

"I'm at the company. I've been very busy dealing with the factory these past two days. Why did you suddenly call me?" Irene was really sensitive.

"Do you know about Aisy's kidnapping?" Manuel asked with a serious expression.

"Of course. There are no secrets in Seattle, especially the top families. If there is even the slightest sign of trouble, they will make a big fuss." Irene sneered.

"So do you think that the kidnapping of Ainsley is just a small matter?" Manuel frowned slightly.

"Manuel, of course, this is a small matter. I heard that the man asked for 50 million dollars as ransom. The Easton family has a big business. It is impossible that they can't take out 50 million dollars, right? For the sake of his sister's life, he won't disagree, right?" Irene said mockingly.

Serina looked at the message on the phone and immediately showed it to Manuel.

He only glanced at it briefly before continuing, "Of course, but what conspiracy is it that the man disappeared with Ainsley?"

Irene said calmly, "Manuel, this has nothing to do with me. You don't think that she was kidnapped because of me, right?"

"Speaking of which, the Wade family is quite powerful in the entire Seattle. Ms. Wade, if you want to investigate, you will definitely be able to find out, right?"

"Manuel, Ms. Easton is my love rival. Why should I help her?" Irene burst out laughing.

"By the way, about our engagement, can we discuss it tonight?"

Manuel clenched his fists and looked at himself in the rearview mirror.

“Yes,” he said coldly.

Irene chuckled. “Manuel, don’t worry too much. Perhaps Ms. Easton will come back tomorrow.”

“Yes.” Manuel hung up the phone and slapped the steering wheel with all his strength. He was already very wary of Irene, but he still failed.

It was his fault that he did not protect Ainsley well.

Serina was shocked. She quickly grabbed Manuel’s hand and asked worriedly, “Manuel, what’s wrong?”

Manuel did not answer her. He started the car and turned around.

“Manuel! What are you doing? Aren’t we going to look for Ainsley? We don’t know who has taken her away now. Will she be in danger? How can you ignore her?” Serina said excitedly.

“Shut up!” Manuel was upset and his voice was a little impatient. When he realized that it was his sister who had just spoken, he quickly apologized, “Serina, I’m sorry...”

Serina’s eyes were full of tears. “Manuel! Are you going to give Ainsley up? But you said that she is the person you like the most. How can you not look for her?”

“Serina, Roman has already sent people out to look for her. I have also sent people to check the surveillance footage from that night.”

From the moment he knew that Ainsley had been kidnapped, Manuel had been worried sick. He wanted to see Ainsley immediately, but no matter how his people searched, they could not find any traces.

Other than finding Ainsley’s car at the corner not far from the school, there were no other traces.
