

Read Starting with A Divorce Chapter 41-50

Starting with A Divorce Chapter 41-Shameless

Cason's eyes darkened, and the corners of his mouth twitched unconsciously.

The woman in front of him had changed too much, and now she actually dared to speak to him in such a tone.

Seeing that Cason did not speak, Ainsley had no interest in continuing to tangle with this man. She was ready to leave.

Unexpectedly, when she stepped out, a big hand grabbed her wrist.

Cason was not so patient. He pulled Ainsley back to where she was and left a finger mark on her fair skin.

"Ouch..."

Ainsley held her painful hand and glared up at the man in front of her.

"Cason, what do you want? You..."

"I think it is necessary for us to talk."

Cason interrupted her coldly. His gaze unconsciously fell on Ainsley's swollen wrist. He suddenly had a strange feeling in his heart.

Ainsley laughed coldly. "I'm sorry. I'm not interested, and I don't want to talk."

Cason was choked by Ainsley's words. At the same time, his anger was completely ignited.

"Ainsley, I tried my best to retain our dignity. I gave you money and a house because I felt guilty. But the premise was that you did not have an affair with another man. You signed the divorce agreement so quickly. Was it because you had already found another man?"

"What did you say?"

Ainsley was stunned. She did not expect Cason to say that.

At this moment, Ainsley only felt that it was extremely ridiculous and did not want to continue arguing.

“Whatever you think.”

Ainsley had a calm expression. The anger that Cason had was like a stone sinking into the sea. He pinched his palm and looked down at her. He blurted out for no reason.

“Ainsley, I will get someone to investigate the evidence of your affair. Once it is found, I will sue you to take back all the property I gave you.”

Ainsley looked up. It was the first time she had looked at Cason today. Her eyes were bright and full of coldness. Cason was inexplicably shocked.

For the first time, she felt that the man she had loved for so many years had become so shameless.

“You know better than me about who was a cheater, Cason, I don’t know if you are just childish or shameless.”

After a pause, Ainsley frowned again, and there was a rare trace of impatience on her pretty face. “You wanted to divorce me to be with Kaliyah, and I gave you freedom. From the moment we divorced, we were just like strangers. I just want to live my own life. Cason, when we were a couple, we rarely met. Now that we have got divorced, can you just stay with your fiancée? Don’t come to me.

“I won’t let you take back the property I got from our divorce. If you want to check it, you can check it. If you want to sue me, you can ask the court to send me a ticket. But you didn’t have to threaten me.”

She did not really care about the property that Cason gave her, but she had bottom lines. In the past, she had tolerated him a lot, and the Baldry family felt that she was a pushover.

Cason was speechless. He only felt that his throat was sore, but he could not say a word.

“Take care of yourself.”

Ainsley did not want to waste her time. She left.

This time, Cason did not stop her.

Looking at the back of Ainsley, who had left, Cason felt a sense of frustration out of nowhere. The anger in his heart once again burst out, accompanied by an inexplicable sadness.

Starting with A Divorce Chapter 42-They Meet in the Club

It was not very far from the University of Washington to Ainsley’s home, but for the first time, Ainsley felt a little tired on the way back. After returning home, Ainsley did not even have the mood to make dinner. She just took out a bottle of beet from the refrigerator and nestled herself into the sofa.

She was a little agitated.

But she could not tell why.

She knew very well that she no longer loved Cason. Actually, she hated Cason now.

However, ever since Cason deliberately disgusted Ainsley after they got divorced, Ainsley could not help but feel irritated and even nauseous.

She could not believe that she fell for such a man before.

The alcohol went down her throat to her stomach, and it slowly dissipated the irritation in Ainsley’s heart.

Suddenly, her phone rang.

Ainsley moved her fingers slightly and pressed the answer button.

“Aisy, come out quickly. There is a new club in Seattle. I heard it’s super awesome!”

Ainsley thought for a moment and said, “Text me the location.”

After getting out of the taxi, Ainsley stood in the cold wind and looked up at the club's neon sign.

She couldn't understand the French on the sign, but she liked the decoration.

"Aisy!" Lainey shouted toward Ainsley.

Ainsley narrowed her eyes and saw Lainey trotting over, and then Lainey gave Ainsley a big hug.

After Lainey kissed Ainsley's cheek, Lainey saw Ainsley's clothes and immediately looked disturbed.

"Aisy, why did you wear this to come to the club?"

Ainsley wore a white T-shirt, light-colored jeans, and a pair of white canvas shoes. She didn't look like someone who would come to a club.

Lainey looked worried. "Ah, that Cason. If I meet him one day, I will definitely beat him up. He completely changed you. You used to be so cool."

Ainsley poked Lainey's forehead. "What nonsense are you talking about? I'm just too tired after working for a whole day. I really don't want to change my clothes."

Seeing that Ainsley was a little upset, Lainey stuck out her tongue and smiled. Lainey grabbed Ainsley's arm and walked into the club. "Alright, I was just joking. I have already taken a booth for us. Let's go."

They each ordered a specially made . Lainey saw that Ainsley had been a little disinterested. They were good friends for many years. Lainey knew there must be something on Ainsley's mind, but Ainsley was unwilling to say it. So Lainey did not ask. They comfortably nestled in the booth, casually talking about some interesting things they had encountered recently.

They did not know that a few men in the next booth were looking at them.

Lainey's face was small and pretty. Her thick hair was scattered down her shoulders. The camisole and shorts that she wore showed her good figure.

Ainsley, who was sitting opposite Lainey, was even more beautiful. Even though Ainsley's clothes were very simple, Ainsley was still very attractive to others.

“Hey, ladies. Fancy a drink?”

Ainsley and Lainey were chatting about gossip when a strange male voice suddenly sounded, making them a little disgusted.

Ainsley raised her head. A man with a fat face and his two followers with tattoos had appeared. before Ainsley and Lainey’s table. Those men had fierce expressions on their faces.

Ainsley furrowed her brows and looked at them coldly. “I’m not interested.”

Her tone was very cold, which showed there was no room for discussion.

Lainey looked at those men with ridicule. It was unlucky for them to tease Ainsley.

Before Ainsley married Cason, she was famous for beating up a bunch of hooligans.

The commotion here attracted a lot of people. No one noticed that at this time, two handsome men appeared at the entrance of the club..

Roman stepped into the club and immediately saw Ainsley and Lainey. He looked at the man beside him. “Manuel, isn’t that your crush, Ainsley?”

Starting with A Divorce Chapter 43-He Knows

Manuel looked up. Amidst the crowd, he still saw the booth where Ainsley sat not far away.

A few men were surrounding Ainsley with ill intentions.

A hint of coldness flashed through Manuel’s eyes.

Those men and Ainsley attracted many customers’ attention. The customers in the surrounding booths all noticed what was happening, but no one dared to go forward to help Ainsley. After all, those men were local hooligans who had been in this area for many years. No one wanted to cause trouble for themselves.

The head of those men looked at Ainsley and Lainey with a sly smile. “Ladies, you’d better take our invitation. I’m Scar. You can ask others about who I am. If you follow me, you will enjoy a good life.”

The man called Scar reached out his hand, trying to touch Ainsley's face.

Ainsley's eyes flashed. She grabbed Scar's wrist with her slender white hand.

Scar was about six feet tall, but Ainsley grabbed him so hard that it made him too painful to move and his expression even changed!

"You ... Ahhh!"

Before Scar could finish his words, he wailed in pain.

He wondered, ! Is she really a woman? How can she be so strong?

"Get lost!" Ainsley said coldly and threw away Scar. She had no intention of causing a scene in the newly opened club.

Lainey took a tissue from the table and handed it to Ainsley with a smile.

Ainsley took it and wiped her hands in front of the few hooligans. She wiped each of her fingers.

Scar had already been humiliated. Seeing this, he was immediately exasperated. He shouted at his followers, "What are you all standing here for? Are you a bunch of losers? All of you, go ahead and take these two girls. I must sleep with these two girls tonight!"

Scar actually wanted to force Ainsley and Lainey to come with him.

Ainsley frowned, but there was a bit of joy in her eyes.

It just so happened that she had been feeling frustrated recently. Those hooligans were just like sandbags for her to vent her anger.

Scar got up and raised his fist to punch Ainsley.

Ainsley dodged slightly and then lifted her knee to kick Scar. Scar held his stomach and fell to the ground. The other hooligans saw this and reacted. They raised their fists and rushed forward.

They thought, this woman is quite good at fighting. We can beat her up together.

Starry Night Club went viral online.

Someone posted the video of a beautiful woman beating up hooligans on the opening day of Starry Night Club. Before Ainsley finished beating up this group of hooligans, the video had already gone viral online.

Ainsley had not finished the beating, but the police came.

Ainsley stopped it smartly.

The police looked at the familiar hooligans lying on the ground and understood what happened. The police had seen those hooligans many times.

“Who called the police?” the police officer in the lead looked around and said.

“It’s me.”

A low and magnetic voice came.

Ainsley was stunned. She looked up and saw the handsome face of the man.

Ainsley wondered, Manuel? Why is he here?

Roman followed Manuel and waved at Ainsley very warmly as a greeting.

In fact, Roman also did not understand what Manuel was thinking. It was a good chance for Manuel to save Ainsley, but Manuel had to watch it from afar. Then Manuel called the police and stopped Roman from coming over to help Ainsley.

It was as if Manuel knew from the beginning that Ainsley was very good at fighting.

Starting with A Divorce Chapter 44-They Are Close to Each Other

The police made everything under control very quickly, and it returned to normal not long after in the club.

Because there were a lot of witnesses, and someone had recorded all that happened by a camera, Ainsley and Lainey were only brought to make a statement and negotiate compensation for the loss of the club owner in the police station before they were released.

When Ainsley and Lainey came out of the police station, they saw Roman's car parked right at the entrance of the police station. Seeing them coming out, Roman rolled down the car window and waved at them. "Ainsley and Lainey, hurry up to get in the car, please!"

Ainsley could figure out the delicate facial features of the man in the back seat through the window that was rolled down. She hesitated for a moment, but the next second, Lainey had already pulled her hand and ran to the car.

"Great, I was just worried about what to do if I couldn't call a taxi because it was too late!"

Lainey got into the passenger seat next to the driver quickly by a move and left Ainsley behind.

Ainsley opened the door of the back seat. The man's slender legs ran into her eyes. He looked smart. and delicate in his expensive wrinkle-free suit. Ainsley got a faster heartbeat.

Different from last time, Roman played a lot of club songs in the car now. Lainey shook her head. with the music in the front seat. It made everyone in the car more relaxed.

Ainsley turned around to look at the elegant man beside her and thanked him, "Mr. Gage, thank you for helping us call the police today."

Manuel was indifferent. He looked at Ainsley and put on a faint smile. "I thought your me for not helping you out."

would blame

Ainsley had seen it through. Although Manuel said that he wanted to be friends with her, he was still among the upper class. Seeing what happened today, as the young master of the Gage family, Manuel could never stand up for an ordinary girl like her. It might ruin his reputation, furthermore, if it was recorded by a camera by someone, it would be breaking news in Seattle.

Manuel found Ainsley so calm and somehow felt disappointed.

He was not worried about being involved in the headline news, but he just wanted to see if she was still the same as before.

Roman looked at the rearview mirror and thought for a moment. He suggested, "Well, everyone, after this whole game, are you hungry? I have a barbecue grill in my car. Let's buy some ingredients and go to the beach to have something for food."

"I agree!" When Lainey heard that Roman wanted to invite them for dinner, she could not help agreeing with it. After all, Roman's cooking skills were the best ones that she had ever seen.

Manuel in the back seat also nodded. "Okay."

Now, they were waiting for Ainsley's answer.

Ainsley rarely stayed up late. But after running into such an accident overnight, she could not fall asleep now. So Ainsley nodded.

It was summer now, and the sea breeze at night was very comfortable. They got out of the car and found a good place on the beach to set up a barbecue grill.

Lainey even took out fireworks in Roman's trunk. She was so excited that she ran happily on the beach while playing with fireworks in her hands. Roman was roasting meat on the side, leaving Ainsley and Manuel sitting on the side alone. Ainsley and Manuel had no work.

Ainsley curled her legs and sat on the beach. Looking at the dazzling fireworks in Lainey's hands, she could not help but smile. It had been a long time since she had enjoyed such a sweet time.

The sea breeze blew her hair, and some hair was sticking to her mouth.

Ainsley was to fix her hair behind her ear, but suddenly someone moved before she started. Someone gathered her hair and took out a rubber band from somewhere. Then he carefully pulled her hair to the back of her head and gently tied it up.

He occasionally touched the back of her fair neck with his warm palm.

Ainsley instantly got blushed.

Starting with A Divorce Chapter 45-Is It the Evidence?

She tilted her head to the side, trying to avoid it.

“Don’t move,” Manuel’s low voice sounded.

Ainsley froze and replied a little unnaturally, “Mr. Gage, I can do it myself...”

“It’ll be okay soon.” Manuel did not intend to let go of Ainsley. He lowered his eyes and continued to tie her hair up seriously.

Ainsley’s hair was very thick. It was heavy in his hand. It was black and smooth, and Manuel felt very good touching it. The sea breeze entered his nose along with the fragrance of her hair.

Manuel could see Ainsley’s fair neck. It was so beautiful, and he was attracted.

Manuel tried hard to cover his feelings and finished his work. Then he quickly moved his eyes away.

“It’s done.”

“Thank you,” Ainsley also thanked Manuel somewhat unnaturally.

Manuel found Ainsley unusual and kidded her for no reason, “What’s wrong? Ms. Easton. Are you interested in me?”

Ainsley was shocked.

Just now, she indeed felt something different when he touched her.

However, a person like Manuel would never be her man.

Firstly, she had divorced before. Secondly, the Gage family had a powerful family background, and the Baldry family could never be compared with it. They would have more requirements than ordinary families to choose the wife of Manuel. So Ainsley would never have the chance.

Therefore, Ainsley felt she’d better keep a distance from such a sweet dream.

“Mr. Gage,” after thinking for a while, Ainsley looked at Manuel and said sincerely, “I think we should keep a good social distance. The only reason we could meet was because of Serina’s illness.

As for the future, if Mr. Gage wanted to be friends with me, I would be very honored.”

Ainsley finished her words and stood up to walk to the grill. She intended to go over and help

Roman.

Manuel looked at her back and raised his eyebrows.

Manuel knew it was him who couldn't bear it and frightened Ainsley.

But it was fine. They had the future.

They enjoyed the barbecue by the sea, and Roman drove Lainey and Ainsley back home in turn.

Ainsley got out of the car, and Roman turned back to kid Manuel, “Mr. Gage, it seems that you are so that into Ainsley.”

Manuel closed his eyes and pretended to be asleep. He did not even glance at Roman and asked, “Why?”

Roman grinned and replied, “Last time we wanted to go to the seaside to barbecue, but you refused because it was not clean. You forced us to have dinner at the restaurant instead.”

Manuel kept silent.

Perhaps because it was too late and made Ainsley feel exhausted last night, she went back and enjoyed a good sleep, completely forgetting about the unpleasant afternoon.

The next day Ainsley was a little late, but she still arrived at the school on time.

But she felt something was quite different today.

Ainsley frowned and looked at the students who were passing by and frequently gossiping about her. Recalling what happened before, Ainsley directly took out her phone and checked the school forum.

A title on the head of the forum that was put in bold and bright words entered her eyes.

“The beautiful teacher had an affair in her marriage. She was abandoned after her ex–husband uncovered the truth!”

Ainsley smiled.

Even now, the Baldry family still trapped her. Weren’t they too confident to look down upon her? Ainsley clicked on it and looked at the so–called evidence. She could not help sneering at the news.

She was very familiar with the photo. It was taken when Manuel came to pick up Serina and invited Ainsley to have dinner with them. Manuel and Serina, and even Manuel’s car had been covered by Mosaic. Only Ainsley could be figured out. It looked like she was dating a man.

Was it the evidence?

Starting with A Divorce Chapter 46-Lindsay Traps Ainsley

The photo was taken after Ainsley and Cason divorced. Even if it happened in her marriage, she was getting in another man’s car, which should never be counted as evidence of having an affair!

This time, the post was no longer judged as brainlessly as last time. Although there were many unpleasant sounds, many students were still on Ainsley’s side.

Ainsley’s fingers moved slightly as she scrolled through the comments.

“Ms. Easton must have offended someone, right? Why were there so many people criticizing her on the forum? Just a photo without evidence could prove nothing.”

“I don’t think so. It was her fault. Or why didn’t they target others?”

“Focus on the key point. Ms. Easton already got divorced at such a young age!”

At the same time, Lindsay was in Raymond's office at University of Washington.

"Mr. Ford, I have already told you what happened. It was the misfortune of our family to marry a daughter-in-law like Ainsley. How dare you hire such a teacher at University of Washington? Aren't you afraid of ruining the reputation of University of Washington?"

Lindsay sat on the guest sofa in Raymond's office, drinking tea and questioning Raymond arrogantly.

Cody, Ainsley's mentor, sat on the other side and angrily replied, "Mrs. Baldry, you have to have evidence before you conclude. Ainsley is my favorite student. You came to school to spread rumors.

with just a photo that was almost full of mosaic. You have overdone it!"

Lindsay did not put Cody in her eyes at all. She looked at Raymond seriously. "A photo was enough. to explain everything for our family. Mr. Ford, although the Baldry family does not have many shares in the school board, we are still a member. Now you dare to hire such a bad girl like Ainsley, do you still put the board in your eyes? It seems that in the future, University of Washington does. not need our investment anymore. Right?"

It had always been Lindsay's good habit to threaten people with power.

Sure enough, Raymond hesitated.

University of Washington cherished talented teachers, but they couldn't easily offend the school board.

Raymond thought for a moment and suggested, "Mrs. Baldry, how about it? Although this photo. can indeed cause misunderstandings, we still need to pay attention to the evidence. Our school leaders will hold a meeting to discuss it and call Ainsley over. If it was true, we would never cover it.

Can you agree?"

Lindsay gave him a dirty look, but she also knew that Raymond had already compromised. She did not intend to pester him to conclude now. After all, the Baldry family had to pay attention to manners. Moreover, she had other evidence that would shock everyone.

Raymond glanced at Cody and hinted at him to call Ainsley over. Then, Raymond sent an email to the various school leaders and prepared to hold a meeting.

Cody shook his head helplessly and could only take the order.

Cody went out to make the call. He gave a glimpse at Lindsay and could not help but feel sorry for Ainsley. This silly girl had quitted from school and was determined to marry into such a family. Why?

How much would Ainsley have suffered in the past few years?

As Ainsley was flipping through the comments, Cody called.

“Hello, Professor Wade,” Ainsley answered the phone.

Cody’s voice slowly came on the phone, “Ainsley, Mrs. Baldry came to school to trap you and forced our university to fire you... Do you want to come over and deal with it?”

Cody was informing her of the news rather than questioning her.

Ainsley was a little touched, but she estimated that the one who asked Cody to call her should be a leader of a higher level. Ainsley did not want to make it difficult for Cody, so she nodded. “Okay, I got it, Professor Wade. I will be there immediately.”

Starting with A Divorce Chapter 47-Lindsay’s Behavior

Ainsley prepared herself and got ready to go over.

Just as Ainsley arrived at the door, she ran into Serina, who was running over angrily.

“Aisy!” When Serina saw Ainsley, Serina looked angry. “Did you also see the forum? It’s highly likely that it was Kaitlin who did this!”

Serina really couldn’t think of anyone else who would target Ainsley like this.

Ainsley smiled faintly.

Ainsley liked” “as much.

Ainsley reached out and patted Serina on the back, comforting her, “Don’t worry, we’ll handle it. Go to class quickly. I have a way.”

Serina was obviously still worried, but Serina noticed Ainsley’s confident appearance. Serina thought that she really had an important class to attend next, and in the end, Serina could only say, thought that she really had a “Aisy, I’ll go to class first. If something happens, you must tell me immediately.”

Ainsley waved her phone at Serina, indicating that Serina should go with ease.

Serina looked back three times with worry.

Ainsley was a little helpless and sighed.

Although Manuel asked Ainsley to help treat Serina’s psychological problems, it was more like Serina was healing Ainsley after the time they spent together.

The principal’s office building was not far from the Department of Psychology, and Ainsley arrived at the door of the principal’s office in less than five minutes.

Ainsley knocked on the door.

Raymond’s deep voice quickly came from the office. “Come in.”

Ainsley pushed open the door. The first thing Ainsley saw was a group of school leaders, Cody was there, not to mention Lindsay. Lindsay was sitting on the left side of Raymond. When Lindsay saw Ainsley, Lindsay let out a snort. Lindsay rolled her eyes so hard that they were almost turned to the sky.

Ainsley frowned imperceptibly and walked in.

It was a meeting but it was more like a trial for Ainsley. After all, Lindsay was there. At this time, there were many empty seats at the conference table, but there was no extra chair. Ainsley could only stand.

Raymond looked at Lindsay and then looked at Ainsley. “Ms. Easton, I think you know why I called you here. Today, Mrs. Baldry came to the school mainly to ask you to give an explanation.”

Ainsley looked around and finally fixed her gaze on Lindsay’s face.

Ainsley looked at Lindsay with a bit of mockery and coldness. This was the first time Lindsay had seen such a look on Ainsley’s face, and Lindsay inexplicably became a bit more flustered.

Although Ainsley had always looked indifferent, Ainsley had been still very nice to Lindsay. Lindsay had never been stared at like this by Ainsley.

Ainsley is indeed not a good woman. As soon as Ainsley divorces my son, Ainsley reveals her true face. What a ***!

A fierce expression appeared on Lindsay’s face. Lindsay said, “What are you looking at me for? You’re a *who cheated, yet you still have the nerve to glare at me?”

Lindsay’s words were unpleasant to hear. All the people present were cultured people, so they couldn’t help but frown.

Ainsley had just returned to school not long ago, but when Ainsley was studying at University of Washington, Ainsley had a good relationship with many of the teachers present. Some teachers couldn’t help but look at Ainsley sympathetically.

Everyone knew that the photo could not prove anything, and all of them were helpless against Lindsay’s power and influence.

Ainsley looked coldly at Lindsay and said, “Mrs. Baldry, it’s better to be polite. This is not the Baldry family. It’s good for the Baldry family to hide your shrew face.”

Lindsay’s expression changed. Lindsay could not believe that this was what her obedient daughter-in-law had said.

Starting with A Divorce Chapter 48-Manuel Shows Up

“How dare you talk to me like that? Are you thinking of rebelling?” Lindsay raised her hand and pointed at the tip of Ainsley’s nose.

Ainsley glanced at Lindsay indifferently and ignored her.

Ainsley shifted her gaze to the people present.

“Hello, school leaders. First of all, I am very sorry that I have disturbed you because of my personal affairs. I saw the posts on the forum, but you want to convict me with just a photo with almost the entire image mosaiced. Don't you think it is ridiculous?”

Ainsley said calmly and confidently instead of being subservient.

Raymond and the others glanced at each other, feeling very embarrassed.

How could they not know that the photo was not convincing, but they could not withstand the influence of Lindsay?

Lindsay sneered and stared at Ainsley. Lindsay said, “If I don't have enough evidence, do you will come here?”

After saying this, Lindsay took out a USB from her bag and motioned for Raymond's assistant to insert the USB into the projector. Lindsay stared at Ainsley fiercely and said, “Let's see if you can so arrogant later!”

The assistant quickly inserted the USB into the projector. As the projector ran, the image was projected onto the big screen.

The projector was playing surveillance camera footage. The image was very blurry, but Ainsley's figure was surprisingly clear. The time shown in the lower right corner was last year.

In the video, Ainsley was walking into a hotel with a man.

When Ainsley saw the video, she almost laughed.

Wasn't this footage of Ainsley and Manuel going to dinner that day?

Lindsay had put in a lot of effort. Lindsay even hired people to change the video time to last year. Lindsay even photoshopped out Serina's figure. Manuel's figure was so blurry that one couldn't tell who it was. Only Ainsley was clearly seen.

From the photos to this video, Lindsay couldn't hide her thoughts. It was just that Lindsay didn't want others to know that the man they thought to have an affair with Ainsley was Manuel. Lindsay also wanted to show the world the evidence of Ainsley cheating.

“Mrs. Baldry, you should find a technical expert before you try to frame someone.” Ainsley couldn’t hold it in and mocked, “Look at the watermark under the date. The other ones are quite blurry. Why are there two dates?”

When the school leaders in the office heard this, they immediately looked at the date. Sure enough, under the date, as the video played, the real date was faintly discernible.

The people in the room immediately knew what exactly happened.

Lindsay saw that her trump card had been ruined and immediately became angry.

Lindsay slapped the table and glared at Raymond and said, “Mr. Ford, I can promise you. If you don’t want to offend the Baldry family, you have to fire Ainsley today!”

Hearing this, Ainsley got nervous.

At this moment, the door of the conference room suddenly opened.

A beam of light shone in, and Manuel walked in unhurriedly.

Manuel was dressed in a custom suit, and his cold vibe surrounded him. Manuel’s overly powerful aura made people not dare to look him in the eye.

There was a brief silence in the conference room.

Raymond and the others exchanged glances. They were all surprised that this big shot had suddenly come.

They greeted Manuel one by one. Manuel nodded lightly and his gaze fell on Ainsley.

For some reason, Ainsley calmed down when she saw Manuel.

Manuel did not say anything, but Ainsley had a feeling that Manuel was there to help her.

Starting with A Divorce Chapter 49-Mr. Gage to the Rescue

When Lindsay saw who it was, Lindsay couldn't help but panic. The man in front of her was the Mr. Gage of the Gage family in Seattle. Manuel was not someone that the Baldry family could offend

Lindsay secretly glanced at the blurry surveillance video and determined that the man in the surveillance could not see clearly.

Maybe it was just like what Kaitlin had said. Manuel was just playing around with Ainsley. With such a noble status, how could Manuel fall for a woman like Ainsley who had been married before?

Thinking of this, Lindsay instantly calmed down a lot. Not to mention that Kaitlin was a noble lady, Kaitlin had a good education. Kaitlin was much better than Ainsley. As long as there was a chance, Kaitlin would definitely be able to be with Manuel.

What Lindsay needed to do now was to make Ainsley look worthless. Not only did Lindsay want to confirm that Ainsley had an affair, but Lindsay also wanted Manuel to stay away from Ainsley. In front of so many people, men would always care about their reputation, and Manuel might not stand up to help Ainsley clarify.

"Back then, this woman, Ainsley, was crazily sucking up to the Baldry family. I don't know what method this little used to bewitch my husband and make him acknowledge her as his daughter-in-law." Lindsay saw that everyone was silent, and she seemed to be very sure that Manuel would not stand up to help.

The more Lindsay said, the more excited Lindsay became.

"After the divorce, Ainsley tried every means to extort the house and money from the Baldry family. I have never seen such a shameless woman before, and now she even cheated on my son and gave him such humiliation! Who can take that?"

“This kind of woman with bad moral character must be expelled no matter what. Otherwise, it will not only affect the image and reputation of University of Washington.”

Manuel stood on the side. Manuel’s handsome face was half hidden in the darkness, and there was terrifying violence hidden in his eyes.

It was hard for anyone to ignore the aura from Manuel’s body.

The school leaders looked at each other. They naturally wouldn’t believe this speech. Just based on Ainsley’s outstanding performance in school, how could Ainsley do such a thing?

Manuel, the big shot, stood there. They didn’t dare to say anything, afraid that they would offend Manuel with a single sentence.

Lindsay saw that Manuel was indifferent. Lindsay instantly looked arrogant. Lindsay had to drive Ainsley away today and make Ainsley return the Baldry family’s house and money.

Otherwise, Lindsay could not vent her anger.

“It seems that the Baldry family’s etiquette is just so-so,” Manuel said with a deep voice, but it carried a strong sense of oppression.

In an instant, everyone focused on Manuel.

“If I remember correctly, the place in the surveillance camera footage is Pearl Hotel, and the man who was covered fully by mosaic is me.”

As Manuel finished, the school leaders looked surprised. They looked at Manuel and then looked at Ainsley. They didn’t expect that Ainsley would know Manuel.

Ainsley looked up at Manuel, and Ainsley seemed to have brightened up a bit. Ainsley felt warm.

Ainsley did not expect Manuel to be so decisive and not even mind these things.

If it was any other man, they would definitely hide far away because of what Lindsay had just said. After all, who would be willing to be linked with a woman with a bad reputation?

Manuel said, "I never thought that just having a meal with a friend would make me involved in an affair. This is the first time I've encountered such a thing." Manuel's cold gaze fell on Lindsay, and his body was filled with coldness.

Ainsley said, "Indeed. If Mr. Gage didn't arrive in time, I would have become a woman who had an affair. Nowadays, people don't need to pay much to create a rumor. People can do it with just a few words."

Ainsley glanced at Lindsay calmly. Lindsay and Kaitlin had nothing to do and took turns framing Ainsley all day long. They even made rumors to damage Ainsley's reputation at all costs.

Ainsley was surprised by them.

Manuel moved his feet and his tall figure and stood next to Ainsley. The faint scent of snow on his body made Ainsley relax.

Then, Ainsley heard Manuel saying in his low and charming voice, "If I remember correctly, it was son's lover who came back. Then, your son asked for a divorce from Aisy. Aisy was kind. She was willing to let them be together. Aisy agreed to divorce your son and help him marry his old your lover."

Ainsley tilted her head in surprise and then calmed down. Who was Manuel? It must be very simple. for Manuel to know some things. When Manuel came to ask Ainsley to treat Serina, Manuel must have investigated everything about Ainsley.

It was not strange that Manuel knew these things.

"Mrs. Baldry, before I divorced Mr. Baldry, he had already been flirting with Ms. Packer. Who do you think is cheating? The Baldry family knows how to distort the truth."

Ainsley looked firm and calm. Ainsley then said, "Mr. Baldry has wasted three years of my youth. He volunteered to give me the money and houses as compensation. How can it be considered extortion? I will still say the same thing. If Mrs. and Mr. Baldry have any dissatisfaction, we can meet in court."

Lindsay's face quickly went pale as she thought, after the divorce, this bitch seems to have changed into a different person. Ainsley is eloquent. Ainsley even knows how to resist.

Looking at Ainsley's face, Lindsay wanted to rush over and tear her face apart.

Manuel saw Ainsley's calm response, and Manuel's thin lips formed an indistinct smile. It was exactly the same as before. Ainsley would not let herself suffer. This was the real Ainsley.

A moment later, Manuel looked at Lindsay and slowly said, "Mrs. Baldry, please remember one thing. The Gage family is the largest shareholder of University of Washington. If the Baldry family pressures the school to expel the talent, then don't blame me for being unreasonable and take back the shares that the Baldry family owns in University of Washington."

When Manuel said this, the murderous and decisive aura on his body was clearly visible, almost making people not dare to resist.

Lindsay's expression froze. There was no place for her to behave atrociously here. If the Baldry family could stand side by side with the Gage family, they could easily expel Ainsley from the school with a phone call. They wouldn't even need to come over.

When Raymond heard this, he also quickly stood up. "Ainsley, we apologize for what happened just now. We will monitor the content on the forum of school and forbid these rumors to appear again."

"It's okay, Mr. Ford. Thank you for your trust. If there is nothing else, I should go back to my study."

Since it had been clarified, Ainsley did not want to continue staying here. The look in Lindsay's eyes that she wanted to kill Ainsley could be seen by anyone.

Manuel did not continue to stay here. Instead, Manuel left with Ainsley. Manuel came to the school to help her solve this matter. Otherwise, Manuel would not come here.

Starting with A Divorce Chapter 50-You Owe Me One

This matter quickly spread in the school. One after another, everyone knew what happened.

The legendary Manuel showed up on the campus of University of Washington, and Manuel was also friends with Ainsley. It was said that the reason why Manuel came to University of Washington was to help Ainsley clarify this matter.

If the two of them were just ordinary friends, would this busy Manuel personally come? Manuel could have just casually sent an assistant could solve this matter.

Therefore, the relationship between Manuel and Ainsley was not ordinary. The scene of Ainsley and Manuel walking side by side was perfect. If these two people were together, how good-looking would their children be?

The posts about Ainsley's rumors on the forum had already been completely deleted. Instead, they were replaced with pictures of Ainsley and Manuel walking side by side. Happiness would be nothing more than this.

People had already started talking about this couple in the comments, and Manuel and Ainsley did not know about this at all.

At this time, the matter of Lindsay coming to the school to frame Ainsley had completely spread out. People started looking at Kaitlin unkindly,

"Now I'm well informed. Lindsay's son had cheated, and she even framed her ex-daughter-in-law with an affair. It was all for the sake of taking back the money and the house. Whoever encountered this kind of evil mother-in-law would be unlucky!"

"That's right. I would rather marry an orphan than have this kind of evil mother-in-law. Ms. Easton has the real bad luck to run into this family."

"Have you guys seen the video that was spread? It is outrageous. Sure enough, rich people are quite stingy. What's wrong with a few houses and a sum of money to compensate for a woman's youth for three years..."

"What do you people know!" Kaitlin angrily stood up and slammed the book on the table, angrily glaring at the students who were gossiping.

Who knows what method that * Ainsley used to make public opinion change. Even my mother personally coming out here has been useless. Ainsley even shifted everyone's attention to us.

If my brother finds out about this matter, he will be angry.

When Kaitlin saw the photos that had been posted on the school's forum, Kaitlin was almost overwhelmed with jealousy. Ainsley does know how to seduce men. No wonder things have been turned around.

"We know nothing but we do know that if the Baldry family does not have your brother, you will be nothing. You can only rely on your family to intimidate others."

"That's right. If you put on the air in front of us, you probably won't even dare to make a sound in front of greater power."

"All of you, shut up!" Kaitlin did not think that these submissive people would dare to mock her. It was outrageous. Kaitlin said, "If you dare say one more word, believe it or not, I will have my brother expel you."

Hearing this, the students looked at each other. In the end, they did not say anything else. They just looked at Kaitlin with even more disdain.

Ainsley and Manuel came out of the office. The two walked on the school's sidewalk. There was not much around to hide them. It was because of this that the other students took pictures and posted them on the forums.

Ainsley glanced at Manuel, who was walking beside her, and said softly, "Thank you for what happened just now. If not for you, it would still be a bit troublesome to solve it myself."

Manuel chuckled. His laughter was particularly bewitching. Ainsley couldn't help but stare at Manuel's beautiful profile, lost in thought.

Manuel was a perfect man, who had no flaws at all.

I really don't know what kind of woman would be worthy of such a man.

Only when Manuel spoke did Ainsley retract her thoughts.

"No need to thank me. Just remember to owe me a favor."

Ainsley slowly stopped. Ainsley knew that Manuel's favor was not so easy to repay, but Ainsley would repay it.

“Don’t worry, Mr. Gage. I will repay the favor I owe you. Although I don’t know what I can help you. with. As long as you bring it up, I will do my best to complete it.” Ainsley stared straight at Manuel with her clear eyes seriously and decisively.

Manuel smiled. His eyes lit up as if there were stars. Manuel looked both evil and attractive. He looked like a fox.

Looking at his appearance, Ainsley was attracted. Ainsley’s heart *a beat.

However, Ainsley felt as if she had fallen into a pit.

Unable to think of any clues, Ainsley was too lazy to think too much about it and walked Manuel out.

Manuel had helped Ainsley so much, so it was indeed impolite to leave him here.

Kaitlin returned home after school and threw what was in her hands into the arms. Kaitlin looked so grim that it was like she had eaten a few flies.

“Mom, what’s going on today? Manuel stood up to help that . Do you know that because of this matter, I was humiliated? Those people all said that you were an evil mother-in-law!”

“Do you blame me for this matter?” Lindsay’s mood was not much better. When Lindsay thought of today’s matter, Lindsay felt extremely aggrieved.

“If not for Manuel’s sudden appearance, I would have already asked the school to fire Ainsley. Who knew that Manuel not only helped Ainsley but also threatened me? If he takes away the Baldry family’s shares in University of Washington, your brother will have to scold us to death if he finds out.”

Lindsay had wanted to use this matter to put pressure on the school. Lindsay never thought that Manuel would give her pressure instead. If Lindsay continued to argue, it would not be good for them and the Baldry family.

What else could Lindsay do other than give up?

“Then what should we do now?” When Kaitlin thought of the gazes her classmates had given her today, Kaitlin wished that Kaitlin could find a hole to hide in. Kaitlin was also a member of the Baldry family, so being humiliated would naturally involve her.

Usually, when those people saw Kaitlin, they would be respectful and flattering her. Now, all of them dared to mock Kaitlin. How could Kaitlin endure this?

Kalayah had already heard the noise outside before coming in. Kalayah couldn't help but feel a little puzzled. In the days Kalayah had been with Lindsay and Kaitlin, they had always been getting along.

It was rare to see such a ruckus today.

"What happened?" Kalayah walked up to them with a bunch of things in her hands.

"If there's anything, we can slowly resolve it. There's no need to quarrel and ruin everyone's mood. These are the bags and jewelry I bought for you. Do you like it?"

Lindsay and Kaitlin indeed liked Kalayah very much, but even though Kalayah had said and done a lot for Cason's father, the old man's attitude towards Kalayah was still indifferent.

Since that was the case, Kalayah had to curry favor with Lindsay and Kaitlin and have them stand firmly on her side.

Kalayah was determined to be part of the Baldry family!

Lindsay's and Kaitlin's eyes lit up. They took all of the bags and carefully opened them.

As expected Kalivah, you are the best. I feel angry whenever I think of that Ainsley!"