A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 551-Cedric furrowed his brows, his gaze fixed in the direction where Natalie and Heather had just departed.

“Stop looking at them!” Stephen commanded, his tone significantly graver.

There was an unmistakable difference in his attitude.

Before, Natalie was his niece.

Now that he confirmed Natalie was his own daughter, everything was different!

Many things had transpired that Natalie hadn't spoken of since her return from Wexford, but Stephen had learned much from Clyde.

Hence, his stance toward Cedric now was markedly different than before.

Cedric glanced at Stephen and began, “She just...”

“As you've seen, her vision has deteriorated rapidly. The doctors say that without surgery, she won't have much time left with her vision,” Stephen cut him off coldly.

At that moment, Cedric felt an overwhelming pang and suffocation in his chest.

“How...?” he managed to murmur.

“Heather mentioned that Irwin took her to Mount Elven,” Stephen elaborated.

Mount Elven?

Cedric's heart tightened. When he discovered that Irwin had taken Natalie there, his heart had been gripped with tension.

He had subconsciously believed that Natalie's constitution wasn't suited for such cold climates. However, he hadn't expected the consequences to be this severe, least of all for her eyes...!

“The snow and sunlight had a profound impact on her eyes, leading to her current condition,” Stephen said with a sigh, his voice laden with regret.

Cedric felt an intensified pain in his heart upon hearing Stephen's words.

Was it truly Irwin's decision to take her to Mount Elven that caused her rapid vision decline?

A storm of emotions raged within him, plunging him into a cold, frenzied world.

Feeling Cedric's intensity, Stephen sighed again. "Don't come looking for her anymore."

Stephen had given him one chance, but Cedric failed to cherish it.

Cedric had assumed that Natalie would always be there. He assumed she would always wait for him, hence his reckless behavior!

Yes!

That was how the old Cedric behaved.

Natalie had given him countless chances, so he recklessly chose her to abandon first every time something happened!

But things were different now.

Natalie once had nothing, so Cedric always had her forgiveness as long as he wanted it. So, he took her for granted.

However, Natalie's world was now filled with various family members. It was because of these very relatives that they were showing Cedric, through their actions, that he likely had no more chances left.

Cedric had exhausted all opportunities within Natalie's world.

Now... even if Natalie wanted to give him another chance, what difference would it make?

The people around her would never agree.

Indeed, those surrounding Natalie would never grant him any opportunities.

"It was excruciating circumstances last time. At that time..." Cedric began.

"It doesn't matter!" Stephen interrupted, his tone laced with a hint of hostility.

At that time? Did he dare to bring that up in front of Stephen?!

The look in Stephen's eyes turned dark, and his voice grew colder than before. "That time might have been significant to you."

"..."

“But for us? Even if it meant that child’s death, you should have taken her away and kept your distance! Whatever importance it held for you, it meant nothing to us.”

“Yet, you intended to use my granddaughter to save someone who meant nothing to us?”

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 552-“Mr. Jarvis...” Cedric looked at Stephen in disbelief, clearly taken aback by the words that had just left Stephen’s lips.

Stephen cut him off sharply, “She’s just a child. Is that what you’re trying to tell me?”

Hadn’t Cedric emphasized time and time again in front of Natalie that Kayla was just a child?

“Just because she’s a child, does that mean Natalie has to accept it? Did Luna have to be sacrificed because of that?”

Stephen’s words hit Cedric like stones, each one piercing his heart like a blade.

These were universal truths everyone understood!

Yet, when faced with reality, people often showed favoritism.

And Cedric’s favoritism was clearly directed towards Isabella and her daughter.

Did he feel trapped at that time? Even if he did, his actions were unforgivable to Natalie and Luna!

“This is your last warning, Cedric!” Stephen’s voice was icy and dangerous. “Leave this place. Now!”

With those final words, Stephen departed. Cedric was left rooted in place, struggling to process the gravity of the moment.

Stephen rarely spoke so much at once, but the essence of it all was captured in one question...

What right did Cedric have to expect Natalie and Luna to accept those he deemed important?

From start to finish, whether it was Isabella or Kayla, they were pivotal figures only in Cedric’s world.

Neither Luna nor Natalie had any obligation to accept or acknowledge them.

But what had happened between him and Natalie?!

How had their relationship deteriorated to this point?

How?!

Heather paced around in Lotus Villa as she held Luna in her arms, attempting to soothe her.

Luna was Cedric's daughter, yet the moment she saw that man, her eyes reflected an unmistakable fear of him.

Stephen approached Heather and said to Luna, "Come to your grandpa, Luna."

"Grandpa!" Luna looked up at Stephen with a pitiable expression, clearly shaken by the recent events.

Ever since Luna returned from the hospital, she had been restless for several days. It was evident that during those three days, Cedric had become a demonic presence in her world.

Now, that demon had resurfaced, terrifying little Luna.

"It's okay now. Grandpa has scared away the bad man. You don't have to be afraid anymore, little moon," Stephen said, taking the child into his arms.

His tone was tender, filled with affection.

Luna nestled comfortably in Stephen's embrace, her little arms wrapped tightly around his neck with surprising strength.

"Grandpa," she murmured. novelbin "It's all right now, no need to be scared," Stephen reassured her, noting the tremble in Luna's body.

A hint of anger and danger flickered in his eyes.

Meanwhile, Natalie sat on the sofa, struggling to collect her thoughts. Clearly, Cedric's sudden appearance had left her stunned!

According to her calculations and precautions, Cedric shouldn't have been able to appear here.

Yet, he had!

This suggested that many things related to Wexford might not be as straightforward as she had perceived.

It was becoming evident that things were more complex than what Stephen had conveyed to her.

And maybe, just like Cedric had said...

Perhaps things weren't as simple as Natalie thought it was.

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 553-When Clyde returned, he saw Cedric standing in the courtyard, seemingly hesitant to leave!

Clyde frowned and glanced inside instinctively. His fists clenched as he approached.

The moment the two stood together, an air of tension enveloped them.

Clyde remarked, "I didn't think it would be possible for you to be here at this time!"

What was happening in Wexford?

Since Stephen had completely pulled out of there last time, Natalie hadn't been involved or informed about the situation.

But Clyde knew. He understood the significance of Wexford for Cedric and Irwin right now. Given the circumstances, one would expect Cedric and Irwin to be fully engrossed there.

Yet here Cedric was, seemingly splitting his attention.

Looking at Clyde, Cedric noticed the striking resemblance between him and Natalie. A complex emotion flashed in Cedric's eyes. In the previous life, he had been unaware that Natalie and Clyde were siblings.

A closer look would have revealed their similarities. If he had done that...!

In fact, if Cedric had returned to Wexford and met Clyde in his past life, he would have known that Natalie had a family in this world after all.

"I underestimated you. You managed to disentangle yourself quite effectively,"

Cedric was talking about Clyde's involvement in Wexford. If Clyde hadn't been skilled, the situation in Wexford would undoubtedly have been critical for him.

"In life, as the map of importance expands, sacrifices are inevitable," Clyde replied calmly and mysteriously.

Cedric looked at Clyde, trying to discern the meaning behind his words.

Sacrifice? What was Clyde implying?

Before Cedric could respond, Clyde added, "Yet in your world, it seems there's little you're willing to sacrifice."

"..."

"For example... Kayla."

Kayla? That was right!

Though the root of the issue between him and Natalie was Blair, Kayla was what was currently standing between them.

Cedric pursed his lips and glared at Clyde.

Clyde didn't intend to engage with Cedric any longer. He turned to head inside but threw over his shoulder, "I advise you to return soon. Wexford's situation is far from stable."

Cedric's unexpected appearance here, especially at such a critical juncture, highlighted Natalie's unique importance in his heart.

But what did it matter?

If one couldn't attain what was most crucial, the inevitable outcome was merely pain.

When it came to Cedric, Natalie had endured enough pain.

Thus, to the members of the Jarvis family, Cedric's current demeanor seems utterly pointless! – When Clyde entered the room, Natalie was lying gracefully on a chaise longue, appearing outwardly calm. No one could discern the turmoil in her heart right now.

Clyde approached her and said, "I didn't expect him to come looking for you at this time."

Natalie responded flatly, "Even if it was unexpected, what of it?"

They were truly siblings!

Her reply mirrored Clyde's earlier sentiment towards Cedric.

Indeed, no matter how unexpected or rare the occurrence was, what did it matter?

Cedric and Natalie's relationship now seemed to be devoid of anything but pain!

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 554-Clyde's warm fingertips gently grazed her eyes.

Feeling this warmth, Natalie felt as if she had been scorched. A stifling sensation rose in her chest.

Clyde said, "The doctor mentioned your condition is severe. You need to listen this time, okay?"

"Okay."

Previously, Natalie's family had insisted on an immediate surgery. However, perhaps due to her past life's harrowing experience with darkness, Natalie still harbored deep-seated fears.

Regardless of the advice given, she resisted, not wanting to plunge back into that abyss.

In truth, she was terrified!

The risks associated with the eye surgery were high. Should it fail, she would be plunged into an endless darkness.

In her previous life, she had suffered enough within that void. So this time around, she was adamant about not spending even a second enveloped in it.

Like a devil's lair, the overwhelming darkness left one feeling utterly trapped—a sensation only those who've endured could truly grasp.

"Nat."

"Hmm?"

"Try to relax as much as possible during this period. It'll be beneficial for the surgery."

Clyde's words were firm, as if he would quickly secure the resources for Natalie's operation.

However, just as he was about to stand, Natalie suddenly grasped his hand.

"What's wrong?" Clyde asked as he lowered his head to look at Natalie.

"Let things flow naturally, alright?" Natalie said in a heavy tone.

Clyde paused for a moment, realizing the gravity of Natalie's words. Considering the Jarvis family's background, it wasn't particularly challenging to arrange this surgery for her.

However, he now understood why she hesitated.

Natalie had endured so much.

From Cedric to Isabella and Kayla...!

Yet, despite the myriad pains life had thrown her way, what was truly remarkable was her enduring attitude toward it all.

Clyde's eyes softened. "Don't worry."

The man's tone was gentle, and Natalie released his hand only then. With that, Clyde departed from the room.

Left alone, Natalie lay on the chaise longue. She closed her eyes for a moment and then opened them, attempting to see clearly.

Yet, no matter how hard she tried, everything remained blurred before her.

Back in Mount Elven, she could see the snow and the sunlight so vividly that she thought her eyesight had improved.

However, that was not the case.

The brightness of the snow and sunlight had given her temporary clarity, but her vision deteriorated rapidly once she left that environment.

Under such harsh treatment, her eyesight was diminishing.

No one truly understood the depth of her fear now. In her previous life, she had felt unburdened and indifferent.

But now, she feared not witnessing her parents age or seeing Luna grow up.

These thoughts constantly assailed her sanity, plunging her heart into an abyss! – Cedric wasn't sure how he had returned to the hotel.

Kyle was just about to call Cedric's phone, but he hurriedly approached after seeing Cedric's return.

"Your Excellency, things in Wexford are...!"

"Kyle."

"Yes, Your Excellency?"

Kyle was abruptly interrupted and taken aback by Cedric's appearance.

He looked at Cedric and waited in confusion.

"Do I look like a bad man to you?" Cedric asked.

Kyle was momentarily lost for words.

What was going on?

It wasn't as if they were saints!

Kyle had always seen himself that way as he worked by Cedric's side.

So, Cedric's remark left him bewildered.

Staring at Kyle, who remained silent, Cedric pressed, "Do I?"

"Somewhat," Kyle cautiously responded.

Somewhat?

What did that even mean?

Judging by the flicker in Cedric's eyes, Kyle had a rough idea of where Cedric might have been just moments ago.novelbin

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 555-Despite the situation in Wexford, Cedric still had to come to Simeria.

Apart from Natalie being the reason, it was also naturally because... of Luna!

After what happened the last time, there was no need for others to guess just what kind of presence he was in Luna's heart.

Kyle took a deep breath. When he spoke, he couldn't help the tightness in his voice.

"Did you see Miss Luna?"

Luna...

Thinking of her reaction to him and how she had hid in Natalie's arms...

Luna's eyes had been filled with fear when she saw Cedric, and he felt more than just a suffocation in his chest.

He took several deep breaths, but it did little to quell the stifling sensation in his chest.

He moved to the nearby couch and lit a cigarette.

“Is there any news about that person?” he inquired gravely.

At Cedric’s words, Kyle promptly stepped forward, nodding. “Mr. Larkin is currently in Yuloria.”

“Yuloria?”

“Yes, we’ve obtained his address. He’s been living in seclusion there for years.”

Edward Larkin!

He was a renowned figure and a medical practitioner with vast knowledge and experience. After retiring from Wexford International Hospital at the age of seventy, he vanished without a trace.

During his prime, securing an appointment with him was nearly impossible. However, it was said that any patient he treated would eventually see the light again, regardless of the cause of their blindness.

Cedric was well aware of Edward’s existence.

He had once considered taking Isabella to him. However, Edward had already retired by then, and his whereabouts were unknown.

But now, they had found Edward!

Having come from another life with Natalie, Cedric knew better than anyone else what Natalie feared most—darkness.

It was this fear that had kept her from undergoing surgery all these years.

Even if her vision remained blurred, she refused the operation!

The thought of potential surgical failure terrified her, as it would condemn her to eternal darkness.

Having experienced such profound darkness and the accompanying helplessness and agony, how could she willingly subject herself to that again?

Despite having numerous family members by her side, Natalie remained resolute in her fear.

Darkness was terrifying to a person.

And to Natalie, darkness wasn't just an inconvenience. It symbolized an overwhelming vulnerability, especially during perilous times!

"Should we inform Mr. Yarbrough?" Kyle looked at Cedric and asked.

Edward was crucial to Natalie right now. It was essential to get to him as soon as possible, especially since Natalie's vision was rapidly deteriorating.

However, Cedric shook his head decisively. "That won't be necessary."

Kyle paused for a moment, clearly puzzled by Cedric's response. "Then what...?"

Wasn't this a hard-won opportunity? Shouldn't they let Clyde take Natalie to see this individual immediately, considering Natalie's deteriorating condition?

After all, with Edward's advanced age, time was of the essence!

Cedric glanced at Kyle and said, "I'll take her myself."

At this revelation, Kyle felt his chest tighten.

"But... Your Excellency, things in Wexford are—"

"Go back with Lucas. I'll take her to Yuloria," Cedric interrupted Lucas before the latter could finish speaking.

It was evident that Cedric intended to personally accompany Natalie to find this renowned doctor in Yuloria.

He wanted to witness her recovery with his own eyes.

But what about the situation in Wexford?

The trip to Yuloria would undoubtedly be time-consuming.

Given all the past events concerning Natalie, Kyle had often thought Cedric was too indifferent.

Why would he...?!

After experiencing so many things and knowing all that he knew, how could Cedric still hurt her so much?!

Yet, looking at Cedric now, Kyle realized that perhaps Cedric was merely struggling with a life-altering decision at a critical moment.

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 556-At this moment, Kyle finally understood that Cedric wasn't feeling good about the decisions he had made.

Unfortunately, these choices were ultimately beyond anyone's comprehension!

Or, more accurately, Natalie was one of the people who would never understand his decisions!

"If you go to Yuloria at this time, it'll take at least six months," Kyle solemnly reminded Cedric.

Indeed.

Six months!

Under normal circumstances, half a year already felt like an eternity.

Who knew what would happen in Wexford during that time?

Given this situation, Kyle was firmly against it. However, Cedric seemed determined.

Clyde's words echoed in his mind.

Priorities... and choices!

In life, there were many significant considerations. Sometimes, one must make difficult choices.

He owed Natalie so much... from across both lifetimes!

Everything she had gone through ultimately traced back to him.

"Alright. I understand." Kyle nodded.

At that moment, his eyes were unwavering. All his doubts about Cedric turned into reverence.

Cedric wasn't heartless!

It was just that he had too many important things in his life.

And whenever someone important to him faced challenges, he couldn't just stand by.

That was true then, and it remained so now. – Meanwhile, things were critical in Wexford, especially for the Entes family.

Malcolm had arrived at Versant Villa!

Recently, Malcolm's visits had become more frequent, and the reasons were clear.

"Bianca," the man said, staring at the woman elegantly holding a coffee cup across from him.

His eyes were deep and icy.

However, Bianca looked at him mockingly, seemingly enjoying his evident frustration yet appearing unfazed.

"Is she going to die soon?" Bianca smirked.

Malcolm's already cold demeanor grew colder upon hearing her words.

Bianca raised an eyebrow. She could feel his aura clearly, yet she met his gaze fearlessly.

"You don't know yet, do you?"

"What?" he asked.

"Zane went to Entes Manor," Bianca stated slowly, emphasizing each word.

Entes Manor?

What was happening now?

Everyone who should be guarding it was there. It was evident that things had reached a critical juncture.

Everyone was standing by at Entes Manor...!

However, Malcolm found himself unavoidably distracted by Jade's matters. Previously, the only way to keep Malcolm away from Entes Manor was for Bianca to create trouble with Jade.

Now, even without any interference from Bianca, Malcolm seemed overwhelmed.

"State your terms," the man said coldly, not responding to Bianca's remarks.

In Malcolm's view, when a woman acted this way, it was surely because she had demands. A woman would continue to act out... until her demands were met.

Bianca locked eyes with Malcolm, a dim glint in her gaze.

"Terms? I've presented you with numerous conditions before, haven't I? And you never complied with any of them," she retorted.

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 557-When did she present her terms?

When?

At the very beginning, Bianca had repeated the same things.

Faye's fall had nothing to do with her.

Let her go!

She had also said Malcolm had no right to treat her this way!

All these incidents were conditions Bianca set forth for Malcolm.

But what was the outcome?

For two long years, she watched as he slowly dismantled her career in Verde City and tarnished her reputation.

Rumors swirled in Verde City about the true nature of the undefeated lawyer...!

No one knew the turmoil within Bianca when people read those articles filled with lies about her.

"When you destroyed me, weren't you adept at it? I never thought emotions would ensnare a man like you, Lord Malcolm!"

As Bianca continued to speak, her tone grew colder.

Indeed, she had clearly laid out her desires and revealed all the facts to Malcolm.

Yet, he never listened.

Now, he wanted to hear her terms, but Bianca felt there was nothing left in her life worth bargaining for.

Even if all the conditions were met, what difference would it make?

Those were not the things she desired.

“I’ve always been meticulous,” Bianca said, locking eyes with Malcolm.

Malcolm remained silent.

“So, what do you think compensating me would achieve?”

Even if he placed her in an equivalent position now, it wouldn’t matter. Those things weren’t genuinely hers anymore.

For Bianca, any form of compensation had lost its meaning!

Malcolm began, “You’re an arrogant woman! You act so superior, believing-“

“Yes. I’m superior, but my greatness wasn’t self-proclaimed!”

Bianca had no influential background. She knew what she wanted and worked hard to achieve it. Along that journey, no one had the right to judge her or tear her down!

She stood up and approached Malcolm. She snatched the cigar from his hand and tilted Malcolm’s chin up with her slender fingers.

At this moment, between the two of them...!

A dangerous aura continued to permeate the air.

Bianca said, “How dare a pampered young master like you accuse me of thinking too highly of myself?”

Shouldn’t that accusation be directed at people like them?

They always bullied the weak!

If someone like Malcolm didn’t have a powerful backing like the Entes family, where would he be today?

With a swift motion, Bianca pushed away Malcolm’s face and sneered.

“It would be better if you spent your time finding another way out of this situation quickly. Time isn’t on your side. Otherwise...”

Bianca trailed off, locking eyes with the increasingly grim-faced Malcolm before continuing coldly, “You’ll witness her suffer, gradually deteriorating until she meets her end!” novelbin To put it bluntly, even if Malcolm had knocked down the door of the villa and demanded it, Bianca would never agree.

Some say that any problem that could be solved with money was a good problem.

Malcolm used to scoff at this notion, but now he understood its true meaning.

Indeed, the world was right.

Problems that money could solve were good problems.

But for a woman like Bianca, who rejected everything Malcolm offered, she was undoubtedly the most challenging woman to handle...!

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 558-“Bianca, do you really believe your relationship with him will last?”

“...”

“You don’t hold his heart! Sooner or later, you’ll be discarded, and when that happens-“

“By then, I’ll have witnessed your miserable end, Lord Malcolm. Everything that I wanted to do would have been done. I’ll have no regrets!” Bianca interjected sharply.

Malcolm remained silent, his aura growing even colder at that moment.

Bianca was not just a tough nut to crack.

She was like a wolf, fierce and untamed!

Eventually, Malcolm stormed off in frustration, finding Bianca impossible to deal with. He had laid out all his demands, but she remained unmoved no matter what he offered.

This further infuriated him.

Inside the car, Conrad sensed the tension in the air. “Did Ms. Sanders still not agree to it?”

Ms. Sanders?

Indeed, when Bianca wasn’t around, Malcolm’s people often referred to her as Ms. Sanders. Conrad recalled an incident where someone had addressed Bianca as Lady Bianca in Malcolm’s presence and was promptly dealt with.

Clearly, Malcolm never truly accepted the relationship between Bianca and Zane.

Now, as he mentioned her refusal, Malcolm massaged his throbbing temple and murmured, “I truly underestimated that woman!”

And it was true.

Back when Bianca was by Malcolm's side, he had employed countless tactics to sway her. Now, he struggled to recall what methods had finally made her yield, even if just slightly.

Despite her seemingly submissive actions, her stubbornness always shone through her eyes, making Malcolm wish to dismantle her proud spirit bit by bit.

Bianca had completely overturned Malcolm's understanding of women.

Over the years, countless women had thrown themselves at him for various reasons he understood all too well. Yet, Bianca was the exception. She didn't want anything!

In fact, she wanted nothing to do with him from the start and had tried various means to distance herself.

And now, after everything that had transpired between them, she seized every opportunity to strike back like a ruthless woman. It was as if she was eager to tear him apart slowly!

"From now on, go all out and find one!" Malcolm's voice was laden with intensity.

Upon hearing these words, Conrad understood that Malcolm had given up on getting Bianca to agree.

Indeed, after such an extended period of maneuvering, Bianca's stance had become crystal clear.

She would not relent.

Despite offering all that could be possibly given, she remained unyielding. Even when she made audacious demands, those around Malcolm knew of her relentless nature.

They were well aware that even if Malcolm were to kneel before Bianca that day, she would still not relent.

That woman was bold and dared to play such games with Malcolm.

Bianca didn't care about life and death now.

Having said that, why would threats and conditions sway her?!

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 559-Although Malcolm was reluctant to admit it, he had to concede that he had truly met his match in Bianca. – At Lotus Villa, chaos erupted early in the morning. Everyone was in a frenzy, and the entire villa was in an uproar because...

Natalie was missing! She was missing, and there was only a letter left behind in her absence!

Stephen examined the note. It wasn't in Natalie's handwriting—it was Cedric's.

The letter contained just one line, [I will bring her back safely.] "Safely? Does he even know what that word even means?"

Clearly, Heather also recognized the sender of the letter.

Cedric had been there just yesterday, and now, Natalie was gone. Evading all the security systems at Lotus Villa to successfully abduct someone was no small feat, making Cedric both impressive and infuriating.

Stephen's eyes flashed with determination.

"Steph, we must get her back, no matter what! I don't care what we have to do...!" Heather said, struggling to maintain her composure.

Given recent events, Heather knew that Cedric was nothing short of a disaster for Natalie.

Whenever Natalie was with him, nothing ever went right!

"Of course." Stephen nodded, his eyes reflecting a hint of menace.

Natalie was already in a critical condition and was soon to undergo critical surgery, yet Cedric had taken her away at this time!

This was no time for games...!

Clyde's men were also out looking for them.

Just then, a call came in from Hillside Villa. After answering, Agnes approached with a grave expression. "Madam, sir...!" "What is it?"

"Something's happened at Hillside Villa..." Agnes hesitated for a moment. "Lydia and Xyla are missing."

Heather and Stephen were stunned.

Lydia and Xyla were the people Heather trusted the most. They were always by Natalie's side, looking out for her.

Now, they were also missing?!

Natalie had gone missing last night!

The pieces were falling into place, pointing unmistakably to Cedric's involvement. novelbin "Cedric...!" Stephen hissed.

He wasn't just angry now. He was furious, pushed to the edge by Cedric's audacious actions!

Cedric must have lost his mind!

"Nat! Nat!"

At this moment, Heather was entirely unable to contain her emotions. The mere thought of Cedric taking Natalie away now...!

As Natalie's mother, Heather was acutely aware of the depth of her resistance towards Cedric and how bad Natalie's vision was now.

Especially considering the series of unfortunate incidents around Natalie when she was with Cedric over the years, it seemed as if they were destined for trouble whenever they were together.

That was precisely what concerned her the most!

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 560-"Steph, we need to find her as soon as possible!" Heather's voice tightened with urgency.

Yes, they needed to bring Natalie back swiftly. They needed to get her away from Cedric!

The situation in Wexford was already precarious. Given Cedric's unique status there, it was impossible to think that it wouldn't affect Natalie.

When Clyde returned, Heather approached him anxiously. "Cly, is there any news? Did he go to Wexford?"

Wexford!

Upon learning that Cedric had taken Natalie, their immediate suspicion was that he had taken her to Wexford.

Considering Wexford's unstable situation, Cedric taking Natalie there would be extremely dangerous.

Heather was already on the verge of losing her composure when Clyde shook his head.

“No.”

The answer only tightened the knot in everyone’s hearts.

They weren’t in Wexford?

“Kyle, who came to Simeria with him this time, has gone back. We have no idea where Cedric is!” Clyde said.

At this revelation, Heather felt as if all the strength had been drained from her.

If Cedric had taken Natalie to Wexford, they would at least have a direction, a purpose. But now, he had disappeared with her, and they were clueless about Cedric and Natalie’s whereabouts!

“What does this man want from Nat? What kind of grudge does he have against her?” Heather’s frustration was palpable.

Not just Heather, but Stephen too was on edge. Clearly, this was far from good news. The less they knew, the greater the risk.

Now, having learned about Blair, they were convinced that Natalie wasn’t a priority in Cedric’s eyes.

In such a situation, unexpected events were more likely to occur.

Since Natalie wasn’t the most important to Cedric, there was even a possibility that he was going to sacrifice her for something...!

Natalie wasn’t the only one who thought this way. The people around her now share the same thoughts about her and Cedric.

Therefore, in this situation, everyone was more than worried about Natalie’s safety! – While tension was rising in Lotus Villa, Lydia and Xyla were on a plane in the sky. They exchanged glances, both cautiously observing Cedric with alert eyes.

In the cabin, Natalie remained unconscious and lost in deep sleep.

“Don’t worry. Your task is to care for her just as you did back at Hillside Villa.”

Cedric was referring to Natalie!

Lydia and Xyla exchanged another glance, and Lydia asked, “Mr. Johnson, did you forcibly take Ms. Walker out?”

The emphasis Lydia placed on the word “forcibly” carried a hint of discontent. Their experiences at Hillside Villa had given them insights into Cedric’s role in Natalie’s life, especially concerning the incident with Luna.

It wasn’t a secret in the Jarvis family, so everyone, including the servants, had various opinions about Cedric.

Cedric raised the glass of red wine before him and took a sip, choosing not to respond directly to Lydia’s inquiry.

At that moment, Lydia and Xyla noticed a grave concern: their phones were missing.

Xyla was usually gentle and mild-mannered, but even she now harbored some discontent towards Cedric.

She asked, “Did you take our phones?”

“For the time being, it’s best you don’t have such devices with you,” Cedric replied in a calm yet assertive tone.

Initially, Cedric didn’t have a concrete plan.

However, Kyle suggested that due to Natalie’s current resistance towards him and her fragile physical condition, it would be best to have familiar faces around her.

So, upon his instruction, someone was sent to Hillside Villa to bring Lydia and Xyla along.

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 561

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 561-Natalie woke up with a slight headache and immediately sensed that something was amiss.

The bed seemed to be swaying, and it felt like an earthquake was happening.

She opened her eyes to assess the situation.

However, she stiffened instantly!

She sat up from the bed with a swift motion, closed her eyes, then opened them again.

Yet... darkness...!

Complete darkness filled her vision.

She reached out, but she couldn’t see anything in the darkness, not even her own hand.

The common belief was that in any kind of darkness, one should at least be able to see moving shadows as long as one's vision is intact.

However, Natalie couldn't see anything.

As Natalie tried to comprehend her situation, Cedric came over after being alerted by the commotion.

When he arrived, he saw Natalie getting out of bed.

Her eyes were... blank and dull.

Cedric's heart skipped a beat. He knew all too well what it meant when a person's eyes in that state.

And Natalie now...

"Nat."

His chest tightened with pain as he spoke.

When Natalie heard Cedric's voice, she tensed even more. She strained to look at Cedric, trying to see clearly.

Could it be that she...!

"You..."

Could it be that she had returned to her past life?

No, that was impossible!

"What's happening to you?" Cedric approached and embraced Natalie.

However, Natalie pushed Cedric away with an expression as if she had seen a ghost. Her face was pale.

At this moment, countless possibilities flashed through her mind.

She tried hard to calm herself, but peace seemed impossible right now. Her thoughts were chaotic, as if caught in a storm that swept through her nerves and sanity.

"Where are we?"

It took a long time before Natalie was finally able to calm down, and her voice was hoarse when she spoke. "We're on a plane," Cedric replied.

A plane?

Natalie tried to recall her past life. She remembered that after being forcibly operated on, Cedric had never taken her away from Scarlet Villa, let alone on a plane to somewhere else.

So, she hadn't returned to her past life!

Could it be that after her vision deteriorated, she had completely lost her sight now?

When this possibility flashed through Natalie's mind, her world seemed to lose all color. She couldn't stop trembling.

"Nat."

A strong arm wrapped around her slender waist, and Cedric pulled her into his arms.

"Let go of me," Natalie said as she forcefully pushed the man away.

At that moment, Cedric keenly felt Natalie trembling.

She... was scared!

She had completely lost her sight.

Even though it was a different lifetime, she still had to endure such a fate. No matter how she tried to avoid it, she couldn't escape it in the end.

Cedric took several deep breaths but couldn't suppress the suffocation in his chest.

"I'm taking you to see a doctor now. You'll regain your sight soon," Cedric said, making a determined effort to speak calmly.

Natalie was now sitting on the bed, curled up.

Cedric had seen the medical records of patients Edward had treated—some with more severe conditions than Natalie's and some with similar situations.

He could clearly see that Edward's medical skills were not just rumors. Once they went to see Edward, Natalie's sight would surely be restored.

However, at this moment, Natalie couldn't hear anything. Her world was filled with darkness, overwhelmed by fear.

She was scared... even terrified!

Somewhere along the way, even towards Cedric...!

Nothing else was left in her world but fear.

The two remained in a deadlock for a long time.

Finally, Natalie said, "Send me back!"

"Nat, we have to go to Yuloria now."

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 562-Yuloria?

Natalie had heard of that place before. It was a place with beautiful landscapes.

Cedric had even once mentioned taking her there when he had time to relax, enjoy delicious food, and experience the local customs.

Little did they know that they would end up going there under such circumstances.

"I want to return home!" She said with unwavering determination.

She didn't want to go to Yuloria. She just wanted to be far away from this man, especially in this helpless darkness. Right now, all she wanted was to return to her family and to be with her parents.

She had no desire to be near Cedric.

"Be good," Cedric said.

He came to her side and took her ice-cold hand that lacked any warmth. Natalie was about to forcefully pull away from him, but he tightened his grip so she couldn't break free.

Natalie was silent.

Her whole body was trembling, and Cedric clearly felt her shivering.

"Nat."

"I told you, let go of me!" Her voice trembled, showing extreme resistance to this man.

Cedric naturally sensed her resistance, and it made his chest feel even more suffocated.

"I won't let go of you."

Each word he said carried a sense of bitterness.

Indeed, he wouldn't let go.

Wouldn't let go?

What was the point of saying that now? She struggled to pull her hand back, but he suddenly embraced her tightly, making it nearly impossible for her to break free.

"Cedric!"

"Don't move. Be good."

Her body continued to tremble, and Cedric felt an ache in his heart because of her fear.

He didn't want her to be afraid of him.

He never wanted that to happen.

But more than that, he... never wanted her to have such a resistance against him.

However, Natalie's entire body was trembling in his arms.

"Cedric, I told you to let go of me."

Her eyes were lifeless now. If there was any life left in them, Cedric would surely see the disdain in Natalie's eyes.

The trip to Wexford revealed too much to her, things that she absolutely couldn't accept.

But whether or not she could accept it, Cedric had never thought of letting go of Natalie's hand.

"Nat!" Cedric's voice gradually tightened.

"Do you know how repulsive you look right now?" Natalie said harshly.

Repulsive?

She uttered those so easily.

"Even if you're disgusted with me, you still need to go to Yuloria," he declared firmly.

"I won't go!"

If Cedric was with her, Natalie didn't want to go anywhere!

This man was like a plague to her, something to be avoided.

Why would she willingly go anywhere with him?

Cedric seemed indifferent to her resistance and continued to hold her tightly.

“Cedric, I won’t go!” Natalie reiterated her refusal.

However, Cedric simply responded, “That’s not up to you!”

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 563-What a statement!

When Natalie heard those words, she laughed—a crazy, tear-inducing laughter.

“Nat!”

Her laughter, in the end, stabbed his heart.

Their relationship shouldn’t be like this.

Why did it have to come to this point?

And at this stage, who should be blamed?

After her moment of madness, Natalie suddenly seemed to calm down. However, even in this calmness, Cedric could still feel her body trembling.

“It’s like I’m like someone without free will in your world, Cedric,” Natalie said.

Once, when they had been together....

Even in their past life, others used to say she had a luxurious life. They said that Cedric cherished her so much and that she didn’t need to do anything. She just needed to be the young mistress of the Johnson family and live a good life. novelbin But only Natalie knew...

She never had any freedom after she got together with Cedric.

Regardless of anything, it was always Cedric who made decisions between them. She was never in control.

Now, as she spoke of it, Cedric also recalled the role he played in Natalie’s world.

He was a very dominant and stubborn man. Whatever it was, he had the final say.

He was meticulous in caring for Natalie, but looking back now...

She had to follow his lead in both big and small matters. Over time, he started viewing her like a child who never grew up.

“Nat...”

Cedric thought he had done those things for Natalie’s sake back then, but now...!

Natalie interrupted him, “We’re divorced, you know?”

Cedric fell silent.

Natalie had reminded him of this multiple times in the past. But now, Cedric felt a sharp pain in his chest when she brought it up again.

Yes, they were divorced.

Did that mean the feelings between them had ended because of that?!

No matter how much time had passed since then, Cedric was never willing to accept it.

He had never admitted that things had ended between him and Natalie.

“I regret it!”

In response to Natalie’s reminder, Cedric tightened his embrace.

And for the first time, he expressed his regret so straightforwardly.

It was the truth!

Since divorcing Natalie, he had been thinking about how to remarry her. When he saw the people around her, he went mad with jealousy. He wished he could drive them all away.

“Is your mind clear now?” Natalie responded calmly to Cedric’s expression of regret.

Within that calmness, there was a hint of mockery.

“Nat!”

“Blair!” Natalie emphasized the name with a cold and stern tone.

Cedric fell silent.

When Natalie mentioned Blair’s name, she felt Cedric stiffen slightly. Subsequently, her smirk became even more pronounced and taunting.

With such a reaction, it was obvious what kind of presence Blair held in Cedric's heart.

"Nat, actually..."

"Send me home."

Natalie didn't want to hear anything else.

Once, she truly didn't know or understand!

Her relationship with Cedric had been great, so how could Isabella have the chance to come between them?

And why was it that every time Isabella was in trouble, did Cedric decisively lean towards her?

At that time, Natalie genuinely had no idea.

She didn't know anything.

When she learned about Blair, everything seemed to suddenly make sense.

It was because of Blair.

Between Natalie and Blair...!

"Our encounter, even our relationship... It was all because of Blair!"

When Natalie spoke about their meeting, it was more than mockery.

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 564-When conflicts and disagreements occurred between Natalie and Cedric in the past, Natalie would diligently recall the beautiful moments they shared.

Initially, she believed her encounter with Cedric was wonderful and worth remembering.

But later...!

Too much happened between them. It was to the point that even those beautiful memories couldn't support her to move on.

She completely let go of this man.

Now, Natalie was glad that she had let go of him early. If she had discovered the shocking conspiracies hidden between them when she still cherished him deeply...

Natalie didn't think she would have been able to endure it.

"I'll let you decide everything else, but about us going to Yuloria... you'll have to listen to me!"

At this moment, Cedric's tone became more forceful.

Natalie felt her heart sank when she heard this.

Cedric carefully placed her on the bed. His presence was so strong at this moment, and Natalie could clearly sense it.

This sensation made her heart tighten even more.

She realized...!

It was as if she had returned to the previous lifetime when her perception in the darkness was so keen.

That was because she had spent too much time in the darkness back then.

As a result, many memories from the past lifetime emerged mercilessly in her mind.

After Cedric left, Lydia and Xyla came in.

"Miss," Lydia called out as she approached Natalie.

Natalie couldn't help but shudder when she heard Lydia's voice.

"Lydia, why are you...?"

"Miss, your eyes..." Lydia noticed the emptiness in Natalie's eyes, especially when Natalie looked at her without any sign of recognition.

It made Lydia's heart leap to her throat.

Natalie thought she was the only one Cedric had taken from Hillside Villa. She didn't expect him to have also brought Lydia along!

"What in the world happened?" Natalie already hated Cedric.

And now, she couldn't help but tense up even more after hearing Lydia's voice.

"I don't know, Miss. Xyla and I woke up here this morning," Lydia explained.

“Xyla’s here too?” Natalie’s complexion turned even paler upon hearing that Xyla was also with them.

Cedric was truly a terrifying man!

“Miss, don’t worry about us. We’re fine, but you...” Lydia’s voice choked with tears.

She was referring to Natalie’s eyes.

Lydia tried to wave her hand in front of Natalie’s eyes, but... she was disappointed!

Lydia’s suspicion was confirmed when Natalie did not react at all.

At this moment, Lydia couldn’t help but cry, “Miss, what are we going to do?”

“I’m fine.” Natalie shook her head.

She said she was fine, but in reality, she was enduring her fear of darkness!

Fortunately, Lydia and Xyla were by her side, which helped to ease the tension in her heart.

Kyle’s suggestion regarding Cedric proved to be useful. With two familiar faces beside Natalie, it did provide some assistance in managing her emotions. novelbin “Don’t say you’re fine. If Madam finds out, she will surely worry a lot!”

Natalie couldn’t see anything anymore!

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 565-When Natalie heard Lydia’s words, she stiffened instantly.

Lydia was right.

If Heather were to know about her current situation, she would worry.

At this moment, Natalie’s restlessness and longing to return to Simeria quieted down.

“Miss.”

“Lydia, bring me some water,” Natalie took a deep breath and requested.

“Of course,” Lydia said and hurried out of the room. She soon returned with a glass of water for Natalie.

Cedric watched from outside. He saw how everyone in the room calmed down quickly, and there was finally some relief in his eyes.

It seemed that having familiar faces around made a significant difference.

No matter what he said in front of Natalie now, she wouldn't listen.

That was the most distressing part.

But things were better now. With Lydia and Xyla by her side, Natalie seemed a bit calmer.

When the plane landed in Yuloria, it felt like even the air had cleared up. While the climates in Simeria and Wexford weren't great, Yuloria was renowned as a habitable place. Many retirees like to spend their golden years in this location.

Looking at the airport with its distinctive cultural elements, Cedric couldn't help but develop a liking for this place in just one glance.

"I can walk by myself."

Natalie felt the warmth in Cedric's hands and sensed how he was relaxed, but she didn't particularly appreciate it.

He seemed to like this place, huh?

Considering what she had heard about Yuloria's unique features, she had wanted to visit this place for a long time! However, she and Cedric had been forced to stay in a tense situation with the Johnson family for a long time. It made it difficult for people like them to visit places they both liked.

"Nat, be good, okay? You're unfamiliar with this place, so it's better to stay close to me!" Cedric knew about her sensitivity to darkness. No matter how clear or good her perceptions were... the fact remained that this was a foreign place.

In their previous life, Natalie never left Scarlet Villa after losing her sight. As she became familiar with the villa, she could still manage to move around and care for herself in such an environment.

However, things were different here.

It was an entirely unfamiliar environment, unlike Scarlet Villa.

"Lydia can assist me," Natalie's tone became even more rigid in response to the man's words.

Cedric fell silent.

At her words, he stiffened even more.

Lydia!

He seemed to regret bringing Lydia and Xyla along now. If they weren't here, Natalie would have no choice but to rely solely on him.

But soon, a bitter glint appeared in Cedric's eyes. He knew all too well what kind of temperament Natalie had.

In their previous life, she had nothing.

Despite that, she still dared to propose a divorce. Even though she would face a miserable situation after leaving him, she never submitted to him.

From that, it was evident how strong-willed Natalie was!

If it weren't for Lydia and Xyla, she would demand even more to go back.

"Seriously..." Cedric sighed helplessly and scooped her up into his arms.

Natalie struggled instantly. "Let go of me!"

She didn't like his touch. Even in her tone, there was an endless resistance.

She didn't conceal the disgust she felt in the slightest!

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 566-Currently, Natalie seemed to have become indifferent to everything!

In the past...

Cedric felt that Natalie had let go of everything. But after she learned about Blair, it felt more than that...!

"Mr. Johnson, please let go of Ms. Natalie!"

In the end, Lydia couldn't stand it anymore. She stepped forward and stood in front of Cedric.

Cedric had to admit that this girl had some courage. Even in this situation, she knew how to protect Natalie.

Cedric looked at Lydia, and his eyes dimmed. "Move!"

His voice was cold and dangerous.

"Ms. Natalie doesn't want you to hold her!" Lydia exclaimed.

Cedric was silent.

Natalie didn't want him to hold her?!

The chill that was already present in the air became even colder under Lydia's words.

However, Lydia didn't give in.

"Mr. Johnson, the fact that Ms. Natalie is here in Yuloria with you and not insisting on returning to Simeria is already her limit for you."

Limit?

That was right!

Natalie wanted to go back to Simeria. With how she was right now, she wouldn't want to go anywhere with Cedric.

So, why did she suddenly change her mind?

It was just because of Lydia's words about how Heather would worry!

Because Heather would worry, Natalie temporarily set aside the idea of going back. She wasn't adapting well to the darkness right now.

If she returned to Lotus Villa and let Heather see her like this, Heather would worry and be sad all day. Natalie didn't want her family to be sad, so she reluctantly stayed for now.

Ultimately, Cedric ignored Lydia. He carried Natalie into the car, and Lydia and Xyla had no choice but to follow.

Inside the car, Natalie asked, "Is that person reliable?"

The fact that Cedric had brought her all the way to Yuloria indicated that the person was indeed reputable.

Cedric replied, "Rest assured, I've done a thorough investigation. I wouldn't have brought you here if I wasn't confident."

He spoke the truth. He was particularly attentive to Natalie's affairs this time. He absolutely wouldn't allow any room for failure.

Natalie was silent. She didn't feel moved by Cedric's actions at all!

After thinking for a while, she finally said, "Just give the address to Lydia and leave!"

She could manage to see a doctor on her own. After all, Xyla and Lydia were with her now. For them, seeing a doctor wasn't a difficult task.

However, Cedric said, "We've just arrived in Yuloria. There are still many things to be done. It's not that simple."

"What do you mean?"

"Mr. Larkin has a strange temper. He hasn't taken on any patients since retiring, and those who come expecting great things end up leaving disappointed."

So, even though they had just arrived in Yuloria, there was still a lot to deal with.

Getting Mr. Larkin to examine Natalie would likely take some effort.

Natalie was silent.

The air around her became even more intense upon hearing this. At this point, she started to believe that the doctor Cedric had found probably had some real skills.

Those with high skills usually had eccentric personalities.

"Nat, don't worry. It will definitely be okay," Cedric said.

Definitely?

"I'm not as pessimistic as you think!" Natalie retorted.

Cedric made it sound like Natalie had to follow his train of thought just because he was tense.

When he heard her words, he felt like someone had poured a cold bucket of water on him.

He smiled bitterly.

Faced with her icy demeanor, a painful feeling welled up in his heart.

"Are you concerned about it?"

"About what?" Natalie didn't quite understand Cedric's sudden and inexplicable words.

"Blair!"

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 567-As soon as Cedric finished speaking, the air instantly became silent.

Even those apart from Cedric and Natalie, especially Lydia and Xyla, felt their hearts rise to their throats.

They all sensed that something was off with Natalie.

Naturally, Cedric felt the same!

What kind of existence was Blair in his world?

Natalie knew, especially after reading the documents. Blair was a presence a thousand times more important than even Isabella or Kayla.

Throughout the years...

Only now did Cedric mention Blair's name, indicating how deeply he had buried her existence in his heart.

The pain associated with her was something Cedric never wanted to face in his lifetime.

It was too agonizing.

Every mention of her made his heart ache to the point of suffocation.

Yet, at this moment...

When her name was brought up again, his heart couldn't help but tighten.

Blair...!

Natalie chuckled coldly. The mockery in her smile made Cedric's chest feel even more constricted.

"Nat!"

"Tell me, Cedric... If she were still here, and she asked you to kill me, would you do it?"

Would he?

Cedric questioned himself, but Natalie already had an answer in her heart.

In the past, Cedric had done all those things to Natalie just for Isabella's sake.

In that case, there was no need to guess when it came to Blair, right?

The kind of existence Blair meant to Cedric made Natalie certain of the answer.

It seemed Natalie had seen through everything. This kind of insight made Cedric feel suffocated.

“Nat, actually...!”

“You would, right?”

“No!” Cedric shook his head. However, his denial only elicited a more mocking smile from Natalie.

“For Isabella’s sake, you were willing to throw me into a blazing fire and even prison. Blair is more important to you than Isabella, right?”

Yet, he said he wouldn’t?

Who would believe it?

Cedric stiffened.

Before he could speak, Natalie continued, “With things at this point, what else do you have to say to say?!”

“I didn’t know about the fire at Scarlet Villa!”

Previously, Natalie had claimed it was him!

But since it happened in their previous life, there was no longer a way to investigate this matter.

Even so, Cedric wanted to clear things up with her.

Natalie smiled again.

“Is that the only matter between us?”

The matters of another lifetime were unclear, but in this current life, there were just too many uncertainties.

Indeed, there were far too many things that were unclear, and Natalie didn’t want to think about them.

“Alright, let’s not talk about it anymore, okay?” Cedric said.

He didn’t want to continue.

As Natalie suspected, there were truly too many unknowns between them, to the point where they couldn't even express them.

In such a situation, it was better to say nothing at all.

"As for the matter with the doctor, I'll handle it myself. You can go back!" Natalie maintained this stance.

Since they were in Yuloria, and there was such a doctor here, she naturally wanted to investigate before returning.

Cedric remained silent.

The atmosphere in the car grew even more tense.

Finally, they arrived at a courtyard.

As the car stopped, Lydia and Xyla looked at the building before them and drew in a cold breath...!

There were sounds of insects and birds around, providing a soothing feeling.

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 568-Courtyard Residence As Cedric got out of the car, he instinctively moved to carry Natalie.

However, Natalie called out, "Lydia!" "Yes, Miss." Just as Cedric was about to reach out, Lydia hurriedly approached Natalie, extending her hand to carefully assist Natalie out of the car.

Listening to the surroundings, Natalie concluded that it was nighttime here.

A cool breeze swept in. It wasn't chilly but rather pleasant, giving off the fragrance of flowers, some of which she couldn't name. The scent was delightful, creating a likable atmosphere.

Upon entering the courtyard, both Lydia and Xyla held Natalie carefully to support her.

"Miss, be careful. There's a threshold!" Threshold?

Natalie couldn't help but wonder about the place Cedric had brought her to. There was the smell of wood and a faint odor of paint, unfamiliar but pleasant. It instantly brought a sense of peace to her heart.

"Sir, you've returned." The butler said as he approached, bowing respectfully to Cedric. Cedric nodded. "I'll be staying here for a while." "Understood, sir. We've prepared everything for you," the butler said respectfully.

Evidently, Cedric had informed them beforehand, and the place had been tidied up.

Courtyard houses needed to be well-maintained for comfortable living.

The butler led Cedric and Natalie to their rooms.

The courtyard was not too large but warm, with dwarf pines and bamboo planted everywhere. Lydia found the atmosphere pleasing. The small courtyard made the air feel even more comfortable.

“Lydia.” As Lydia helped Natalie settle into a chair inside the room, Natalie ran her fingers over the firm wooden surface.

“Yes, Miss? Would you like some water?” “What is this place?” Natalie asked with a frown.

This was the primary reason she feared the dark. Not knowing what surrounded her was truly 1 +15 BONUS Lydia spoke respectfully, “This is a courtyard residence, Miss.” “A courtyard residence?” “Yes, Miss.” As Lydia explained, there was a hint of regret in her tone.

Back when they were at Hillside Villa, Natalie had always talked about building a courtyard residence, expressing her preference for Yuloria’s courtyard houses. She found the unique characteristics of such houses very comforting.

She liked that kind of dwelling!

It was a pity that Natalie was here now, but she couldn’t see anything around her. It was distressing to see her in this state.

Natalie furrowed her brow, showing a hint of seriousness.

A courtyard residence?

When Cedric arranged everything upon their arrival, he told Lydia and Xyla, “The layout of these rooms has been modified for convenience.” “Understood,” Lydia replied, taking note of Cedric’s words.

Cedric approached Natalie and sat beside her. Then, he took Natalie’s somewhat cold hand in his.

“The climate here is different from Simeria. It can get a bit chilly in the morning and evening. You need to be especially careful now.” Natalie withdrew her hand from his, clearly not taking his words to heart.

Cedric looked at her indifferent and distant demeanor.

There was a suffocating feeling in his chest, yet he showed no expression.

After all, this was something he had brought it upon himself. So, he now had to bear the consequences.

“I had the kitchen prepare some local dishes from Yuloria. Would you like to have some?” he offered.

Natalie had always loved eating. She had always wanted to come to Yuloria to enjoy the local snacks.

Can Wexford Wait?

Back then, Cedric never had the time to accompany Natalie to such leisurely places.

Natalie was not particularly against eating. When she returned to Simeria, she found the taste there quite unfamiliar.

During her time in Wexford, she also struggled with the food. But thankfully, Irwin was considerate!

Without Isabella and Kayla around, Cedric’s attention was completely focused on her. If those two were present, Natalie would have had to make do.

Thinking about this, Natalie asked, “How long has it been?” Natalie’s sudden question made Cedric’s heart leap to his throat. Clearly, he understood the implied meaning in her words.

“Nat, I’m sorry,” Cedric said in a deep tone.

During this period, he realized how much he had neglected Natalie, especially after she had found out about Blair.

He was in complete panic. novelbin Past feelings... always carried a heavy weight. When faced with trouble, most people hope not to deepen their past feelings.

However, upon reflection, the past feelings between him and Natalie were far from perfect.

“Hah!” Upon hearing the man’s apology, Natalie found it ironic.

The food in Yuloria tended to be a bit spicy. However, due to Natalie's eyes, Cedric didn't allow any of those dishes.

Despite the mild taste, they still had a unique flavor, making them easily likable.

At the dinner table, only Natalie and Cedric were present.

"Where's Lydia?" Natalie asked when entering the dining room, noticing Lydia and Xyla were absent.

"Since it was a long journey, they were tired. I dismissed them so they could eat," Cedric explained.

Natalie remained silent. The already tense atmosphere around her grew colder.

Cedric didn't seem to mind Natalie's demeanor.

"Try this soup. It has pig trotters in it, but it's not greasy at all. I remember you've been +15 BONUS There were many things that Natalie had wanted to try eating in Yuloria, but it never happened.

Natalie reached out. The next moment, Cedric brought the spoon to her lips and said, "Open your mouth." "I can do it myself." "Nat!" "You don't have to feel so guilty towards me..." Natalie said directly.

Guilty?

It was a lie if Cedric said he felt no guilt towards Natalie!

He failed to protect her in the past life, and in this life, she had suffered such heavy losses.

However, before Cedric could speak, Natalie said, "After all, I'm not the one you love." So, the hurt was inevitable.

Cedric's throat felt a bit tight.

"Let's not talk about these things now, okay?" His tone carried a restrained air, something Natalie could discern.

Yes, it felt just like this.

It was exactly the same as it was in their past life.

Whenever issues of this nature arose, Cedric would speak in the same tone.

“If you don’t have the patience for this, you can leave. No one’s asking you to stay here!” Natalie took the spoon from the man’s hand and expertly lifted the soup bowl in front of her.

It wasn’t too hot, and the soup was very fresh.

However, the familiar ease in how she did it caused a suffocating to well up in Cedric’s chest immediately.

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 570

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 570-Even if It Can’t Wait, I’ll Still Wait!

In their previous life...!

Initially, she would always cause a mess when she reached out for something.

But now?

Was it a habit formed from their previous life?

She was afraid and terrified of the dark but was also familiar with it! She became adept at performing basic tasks because she had spent too much time in the darkness.

A pain spread in Cedric’s heart as he watched Natalie.

He took a deep breath and said, “It’s not that I’m impatient. It’s just not the time to face these things now.” “After you recover... However we settle things between us, I’ll leave it to you!” Cedric said firmly.

He would leave it to her?

“I wish I could cut you into pieces!” “I’ll make sure to hand you the blade when it’s time, alright?” That should be enough, right?

With that, would Natalie cooperate with him and get treated?

Natalie fell silent. When she heard Cedric’s words, she stiffened, and the discomfort in her chest intensified.

So, that was how Cedric was now.

It made Natalie feel like her words did nothing, and it felt incredibly suffocating.

“Hmph!” Now that Natalie had finally stopped picking a fight with him, Cedric also felt relieved.

After all, her eyes were the most important at the moment. When that was done, Cedric would leave it up to her to decide how to settle everything else between them.

After dinner ended, Natalie put down her cutlery with a small hint of satisfaction on her face. Obviously, these foods suited her taste.

+15 BONUS Cedric's lips curled into a faint, relaxed smile.

Natalie was actually quite picky about food!

Over the years by his side, he had pampered her. But ultimately, he didn't force her...!

When those things were not on her mind, they coexisted peacefully. Once reminded, even Cedric felt suffocated.

Natalie asked, "When are you going back?" Her words were straightforward. Evidently, she didn't want much contact with Cedric here.

"...I'll leave when your eyes are better," Cedric replied.

"Really? Can you wait that long?" Natalie mocked him.

Eyes, like a woman's body, were challenging to adjust to!

From Cedric's words, she could understand the implications that he didn't intend to let her return to Simeria until her eyes were better.

As this thought flashed in her mind, Natalie's expression turned a bit colder.

Cedric said, "This time, everything is up to you!" Natalie fell silent.

Everything?

Hah... This man really dared to say that.

"Wexford can wait, right?" Natalie sarcastically questioned him.

He thought his time was entirely at his discretion? That he could do whatever he wanted? novelbin It wasn't that simple. Many things in Cedric's world had not been under his control for a long time.

Perhaps Cedric himself was unaware of this?

Cedric said firmly, "Even if it can't wait, I'll still wait!" There was a deep meaning in his words.

Natalie already felt she couldn't understand this man. Therefore, when Cedric said such things, she felt even more uncertain about him.

But no matter how his world was, or how much Natalie hated him and wished she could overthrow him completely....

Those things seemed less important to her, now that her eyes were completely blind.

+15 BONUS After all, nothing was more crucial than clearly seeing Luna grow up!

As for Cedric...!

Perhaps surviving the chaos of Wexford until the end was also a skill of his. After all, Wexford was now under constant threat. The dangers were unpredictable, and it wasn't easy to guard against them.

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 571

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 571-No Contact With the Outside World Cedric escorted Natalie back to her room, where Lydia and Xyla were already waiting.

As soon as Cedric left, Natalie asked, "Have you contacted them?" Natalie was referring to Stephen and Heather.

"Miss, when Mr. Johnson took us out, he took our phones!" Lydia explained.

"What?!" Natalie had just relaxed, but her expression instantly darkened upon hearing Lydia and Xyla's words.

Was Cedric out of his mind?

"Mr. Johnson said that until your eyes are better, we can't contact the outside world!" Lydia said.

11 11 Cedric!

What was this? He really hadn't changed from before! He was as reckless as ever!

Cedric had secretly taken her away from Lotus Villa in her current condition. If her family didn't know anything, then her parents...!

Natalie was right in her assumptions.

From the time they discovered Natalie was missing until now, Heather and Stephen had been tensed the entire time. They hadn't relaxed for a moment since then.

When Clyde returned, Heather quickly approached him and asked, "How is it? Any news?" Throughout the day, Heather had been on edge. No one in this household considered Cedric a reliable person.

Now that they knew Cedric was the one who took Natalie away, Heather and Stephen's greatest concern was that accidents might happen.

And with Cedric, the possibility of some unexpected incident was extremely high.

"None!" However, the news Clyde brought back ultimately disappointed them.

He hadn't managed to get any information.

Heather's chest tightened further.

+15 BONUS It was unbearably suffocating.

"How can there be none?" Had Cedric really become so capable?!

However, Cedric had always been an enigma to everyone.

Heather was truly anxious now.

Clyde said, "His people have completely concealed his whereabouts. It seems like he planned for this." In such situations, extracting the whereabouts of someone like Cedric was usually difficult.

"Where in the world did he take Nat?!" A wave of urgency swept over Heather when she thought about this.

Seeing Heather's worried look, a stormy look entered Clyde's eyes.

"I've investigated the most authoritative eye doctors nationwide!" "You think he took Nat to see a doctor?" "Most likely!" Clyde nodded.

However, Heather and Stephen's expressions didn't improve much. Cedric's actions have never been very reliable. Even if he took Natalie to see a doctor, they were still uneasy.

Moreover, the current situation in Wexford didn't look good, and they had seen it themselves.

Cedric had left alone, leaving all the important people around him in Wexford. If something happened to him, then Natalie...!

“Find them, no matter what means necessary. We must find them as quickly as possible,” Heather said tensely.

She can't help but feel anxious. So many things had happened to Natalie before this when she was around Cedric.

If something happened again... Heather was terrified at the thought of it!

“I got it.” Clyde nodded.

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 572-Misfortune Heather wasn't present in the study, and Stephen looked at Clyde.

He took a deep breath and asked, “What do you think of this?” Stephen was referring to Cedric taking Natalie away.

Clyde frowned. “This time, he's really disregarding everything!” For Natalie, Cedric truly ignored everything.

They didn't know where Cedric took Natalie. However, with how things were in Wexford, Cedric still took Natalie with him.

It indicated that Natalie still held a place in his heart. Their relationship started because of a woman named Blair, but at some point, it changed completely.

Stephen sighed after hearing this. “What a misfortune!” Indeed, what else can it be called but a misfortune?

Despite everything that had happened, their relationship remained turbulent.

If things continued like this... “Luna has been looking for her mother every day.” When Stephen mentioned Luna, it was a heartbreaking topic.

Thinking about how Cedric had disregarded everything for Kayla's sake... Even if Cedric abandoned everything in Wexford to seek medical help for Natalie... As Natalie's father and Luna's grandfather, it still couldn't make Stephen forgive Cedric for what the latter had done previously.

“I'll find them as soon as possible,” Clyde said after some thought.

Stephen nodded, “Yes. Do it as soon as possible.” As Heather suspected, Stephen was also worried about Natalie and Cedric being together.

After all, Natalie has never fared well when she was at Cedric's side.

How could Stephen feel at ease?

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 573-When Natalie woke up the next morning, the rain was still dripping steadily on the roof. It was still falling after an entire night.

The warmth beside her remained...!

When Cedric heard movement, he hugged her and asked, "Are you awake?"

"Get off me!"

She had been unable to resist falling asleep last night, but why was Cedric still here?!

He was so shameless...!

But as Natalie moved, Cedric gripped her hand tightly and said, "Don't move. It's cold!"
When Natalie extended her arm out of the blanket, she indeed felt a chill.

In Yuloria, people often said it was very comfortable during the summer. That was because the courtyard houses were built with stones, which provided good insulation.

It would be warm in winter but cool in summer...!

Cedric got up and said, "Don't move."

In contrast to Natalie's irritability, his tone was full of patience, as if they hadn't had such moments in a very long time.

Cedric seemed to treasure this time with Natalie.

Natalie was immediately upset!

"Are you getting up? Let me help you get dressed."

"Lydia will do that!"

Natalie's temper was already bad because she couldn't see, and now this man kept pestering her...!

It made her patience wear thin.

"Lydia and Xyla are out," Cedric replied.

Out? That was impossible!

Lydia and Xyla knew that Natalie hated interacting with Cedric. So, no matter how busy they were, one of them would always stay behind to help her.

“Cedric!” Natalie’s tone got more serious.

However, seemingly oblivious to the irritation in her voice, Cedric continued, “It’s okay if you don’t want to get up. I’ll stay with you a little longer.”

Natalie remained silent.

At this moment, she couldn’t see the expression on her face, but she could feel it turning ashen in Cedric’s teasing words!

In the end, she allowed Cedric to dress her. Although this trip felt rushed for Natalie, Cedric was well- prepared. Considering the local climate, he had especially brought plenty of clothes for Natalie.

After putting on the clothes, Natalie felt much warmer.

“Do you like this feeling, Nat?”

“No!”

How could she possibly like it?

Who did he think he was...?!

“I was talking about the feeling of living in a house like this,” Cedric elaborated.

Natalie fell silent.

“Did you think I was talking about something else?”

This man...!

No matter how calm Natalie usually was, Cedric managed to make her somewhat impatient now.

This damn man!

This house...!

When she had once heard about what it felt like to live in a house like this, Natalie was particularly eager to try it.

But this time was different.

Probably due to her physical condition, she felt uncomfortable after staying here. No matter how much she liked it, her liking for it would diminish once her body couldn't bear it.

"Nat?"

"I don't like it!"

Cedric was silent.

At her words, a trace of disappointment flashed in his eyes.

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 574-Did Natalie dislike it because Cedric was here with her?

Once, she had been most eager to stay in a place like this with him.

"Have Lydia come over!"

Natalie could keenly feel Cedric's presence, but she didn't want to feel it at all.

She just wanted...!

However, Cedric still insisted, "I just told you, Lydia and Xyla went out. They went to find something you'd love to eat. The breakfast here is special, so the kitchen wasn't prepared."

Natalie fell silent.

She also calmed down.

However, this kind of silence and compliance were not what Cedric wanted.

She was quietly waiting.

She was willing to wait quietly and not willing to ask him for help!

Even though Cedric had been busy in the past, he knew Natalie's routine after she got up in the morning.

"I'll help you to the bathroom."

"No need!" Natalie's tone was icy.

"This is not good for your health. Be good, okay?" Cedric said.

“You took Lydia and Xyla’s phones, didn’t you?”

She didn’t want to continue this topic with Cedric, so she changed the subject.

But when Cedric heard this, he paused.

“...Yes.”

“I have to call my parents and tell them where we are, right?”

Natalie was already in a bad mood, and it became even more strained after thinking about Lydia’s words from last night.

This man was still the same as always! He completely ignored other people’s feelings.

What had he done for Isabella’s sake in the past? novelbin Up to now, Natalie didn’t want to think about it.

However, Cedric said, “I left them a note. They know you’re here to have your eyes checked.”

“Once you’ve recovered, you’ll return to them.”

Natalie inhaled sharply at his words.

“So, you’ve concealed our whereabouts?!”

Her tone became even worse.

Cedric was insane... he was a maniac!

To think he had actually done such a thing...!

But it shouldn’t be surprising.

Was there anything in this world that Cedric wouldn’t do?

“Yes,” Cedric replied.

“...”

Natalie was engulfed in darkness, but her mind suddenly felt blank.

The feeling enveloping her currently was clearly unbearable.

“Be good, okay?” Cedric said.

Okay?!

How could it be okay?!

“Cedric, I’m different from before!”

In their previous life, whatever he said was law.

If he wanted to take her somewhere, they went there. If he wanted to keep her in the golden cage of Scarlet Villa, she stayed in Scarlet Villa.

But now...

“With how I left, my parents will worry!”

“I understand that, Nat!”

At this moment, the man’s tone became heavier.

“...”

Understand?! What did he understand?

He didn’t understand anything!

But Cedric said, “I know I’m not the only one in your world anymore...!”

In fact, he missed their previous life.

As Natalie mentioned, she didn’t have anyone back then. He was the only one in her world.

There had been no one else...!

“But even so, I still hope I’m the most important one...!”

Every word Cedric spoke was hard and cold.

Yes!

Even though he wasn’t the only one now...

But at least the most important...!

Natalie laughed coldly. “You’re really greedy!”

Until now, did he still want to surpass her parents and become the most important person in her heart?

Seriously?!

“In your world, I was never the most important one!”

This statement from Natalie was somewhat dangerous, reminding Cedric of how their relationship had started.

It was really unexpected that he could say such absurd things!

To say he had no shame was overestimating him.

How could a man like him feel any shame?

This man had nothing

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 575-Later in the morning, Cedric went out. He went to meet the rumored doctor, Edward!

During this time, Lydia and Xyla tried to find someone they could borrow a phone from, but all their efforts were in vain...!

Since Cedric had confiscated their phones, he naturally had plans to guard against this.

“When we went out in the morning, his people followed us the entire time. We didn’t have a chance to contact anyone,” Lydia said with a hint of annoyance.

It was evident that Cedric truly wasn’t allowing any contact between them and anyone from Simeria during this period.

Natalie sat in the darkness. Her surroundings were pitch black, making it impossible to sense any directions.

Lydia glanced at Natalie. “Miss.”

“Hmm?”

“We need to at least contact Madam...!”

Lydia and Xyla both understood the depth of Heather’s concern towards Natalie. They could disregard everything else happening, but...

Heather must be the one who was most anxious and unable to calm down right now!

Ever since she found out her child was missing, Heather had been tormented over the years.

Now...!

With such an incident happening, it was easy to imagine what Heather must be going through.

Natalie's head ached.

"Yeah."

That was all Natalie could respond with!

She had already said all she needed to say to Cedric, but that man was so persistent.

"Has it been raining the whole time?"

"Yes."

Even though Natalie could hear the rain on the roof, hearing Lydia say it made her feel that the weather in Yuloria wasn't really good.

The feeling of listening to the rain in the darkness could calm even the most restless of hearts.

When Cedric returned, he saw Natalie sitting on a chair under the eaves, draped in a cloak that Lydia had put on her.

At that moment, she looked so serene.

The man was soaked from head to toe, and Natalie felt it immediately!

This kind of perception made her heart beat uncontrollably.

She didn't like this feeling, not at all...!

"What's wrong? Why do you look like that?" Cedric approached and saw Natalie's pale face. novelbin "At least let me tell them I'm okay," Natalie said.

She didn't answer his question.

"I've contacted them and told them that you're fine."

"..."

Her heart leaped to her throat when she heard that.

Cedric had contacted them?!

Her parents were probably worried half to death when they heard Cedric's voice!

This man truly had no self-awareness.

Natalie couldn't help but feel exasperated about this.

Cedric sat down on a chair beside her and said, "You have to at least... take a look at this courtyard."

Natalie fell silent.

She could sense the bitterness in Cedric's tone.

Before she could retort angrily, Cedric continued, "You'll definitely like it here. Everything is laid out according to what you wanted."

According to what she wanted?

Once upon a time...!

She used to talk to Cedric about the kind of small courtyard whenever he had time.

What had Cedric said back then?

"There isn't such a place in this world..."

Yes, that was the answer he gave her at that time.

But now, he was saying that this place...

"Why bother doing all this?" Natalie's tone was full of mockery.

Yes, it was indeed mockery.

Back then, when she wanted something, he never gave it to her.

Now, she no longer wanted everything she had dreamed of before, but this man insisted on imposing it on her?!

It was ridiculous!

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 576-"Nat."

Watching Natalie resist him, Cedric's heart ached.

Their past was something better left forgotten, something unspeakable. Every time it was brought up, it felt like reopening a healed scar, causing the pain to flare up again.

It was something they couldn't face, but they had to anyway.

"Let's talk about everything once your eyes are better," Cedric said.

He wanted to say more but ultimately swallowed his words.

His tone contained more than bitterness.

Natalie ignored him. He hadn't expressed any intention of taking her to the doctor. It seemed that the doctor truly had a peculiar personality, as he had said.

So, was his trip today a wasted effort?

During lunch, Natalie reached out across the table. As she did, Cedric grabbed her wrist.

"I'll help you."

However, it was too late. Natalie knocked over the cup in front of her, and water splashed everywhere.

Lydia and Xyla hurriedly cleaned up.

Cedric held Natalie, preventing her from getting wet. At that moment, he keenly felt her trembling.

It was a lie to say she didn't care about her situation right now.

How could she not care?

"Nat."

She still feared the darkness.

Despite becoming proficient in navigating the darkness in her past life, she couldn't fully accept it when it came to this moment.

Who could adapt to a life in darkness?

Who wouldn't want to live under the bright sunlight?

Who wouldn't want to witness the various colors and beautiful scenery?

Natalie cared about all these things, and now...!

Cedric always remembered how desperate Natalie was when she was blind in their past life.

At that time, he was angry and frustrated.

He was angry that she had signed the consent for surgery. He was frustrated that he couldn't accept her in that state.

He didn't want to see her trapped in the darkness, so he desperately searched for a suitable donor for her eyes.

Before he could find one, the massive fire at Scarlet Villa happened.

The flames lingered in Cedric's heart, unable to dissipate.

After Lydia finished cleaning up, Cedric placed Natalie back on the chair.

"Let me help you, okay?"

His tone was full of patience and indulgence.

"No need!" Natalie said as she reached out again.

However, Cedric wrapped his hand around hers.

"You'll knock things over again in a moment," Cedric said in a somewhat distressed tone.

Knock things over again?

"So, I'm useless, huh?"

Natalie's lips curled into a bitter smile that stabbed at Cedric's heart.

Before Cedric could speak, Natalie continued, "But I'm quite capable, you know?"

She was referring to the habits she had formed at Scarlet Villa.

Habits... truly were a terrifying thing.

No matter how hysterical or scared a person used to be, everyone would eventually get used to days without light in the darkness.

Natalie was no exception.

“Nat!”

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 577-It was just this much, yet Cedric couldn't bear it anymore?

Then, what about Natalie?

How much did she endure and suffer by his side before? Did Cedric still remember?

He seemed to have forgotten everything.

Natalie took a deep breath and said, “Let go!”

“When you recover, you can do whatever you want,” Cedric said in a restrained tone.

That was right! They could talk about everything once she recovered. Her emotions shouldn't fluctuate too much now.

Cedric was genuinely worried about her current state.

However, Natalie seemed to pay no attention to any of this.

Cedric felt helpless because he realized he didn't know what to do with Natalie right now.

Natalie said, “I said, let go!”

Her tone remained cold.

Cedric looked at her adamant appearance. Even with hollow eyes, she couldn't hide how stubborn she was.

This was the real Natalie...!

At this moment, Cedric also remembered that in their last life...

Their relationship had only truly shattered after she lost her sight.

Before losing her sight, Natalie had always had reasons to believe in him, no matter what happened between them.

The more Cedric thought about those times, the more the chill in his heart grew...!

As she said, she had indeed given him many chances, but he never cherished any of them.

Yes, he didn't cherish them.

In this regard, Natalie wasn't to blame at all.

"Nat!"

Cedric wanted to say something, but his throat was dry. He couldn't say anything at the moment.

Natalie forcefully pulled her hand out of Cedric's palm. Fearing that he might hurt her, Cedric eventually chose to let go.

Natalie groped for a spoon.

Lydia and Xyla wanted to help, but Natalie said, "You're dismissed."

"Miss!"

"I can..." Natalie's voice trembled with a coldness that prevented Lydia and Xyla from taking another step forward.

Humans had their pride.

Especially Natalie.

Since returning to the Jarvis family, everyone had seen how prideful she was.

And now, such a proud person was enduring such pain...

How could Natalie bear it?

Seeing Natalie in this state, Lydia and Xyla couldn't help but feel distressed.

"Miss!"

"Dismissed!"

Natalie's tone became stern.

There were many things in Natalie and Cedric's previous life that she couldn't let Lydia and Xyla know.

Whenever she and Cedric interacted now, they would inevitably bring up things from their previous life.

In the end, Lydia and Xyla went downstairs, leaving only Natalie and Cedric in the dining room.

Cedric looked at Natalie. "You actually..."

"Look, aren't I doing fine?" Natalie shoved a spoonful of something into her mouth with familiar ease.

Cedric was instantly speechless.

His chest tightened when he saw Natalie in this state again.

His heart... it hurt so much!

It felt like someone was squeezing his heart, and it was a pain Cedric never wanted to feel again.

But he...!

"Look!" Natalie repeatedly did everything very well.

She was only clumsy initially because she was unfamiliar with the layout of things before her.

Once she adapted to it, she not only did well but also exhibited a proficiency that made people feel distressed.

Cedric subconsciously clenched his fists.

"Cedric, you really disgust me, you know?"

Natalie's words were venomous, and her words stabbed Cedric without mercy.

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 578- Cedric figured it out.

She... was deliberately provoking him!

Knowing he had a bad temper, she wanted to provoke him so that he would leave.

She... didn't want to see him!

She couldn't stand even feeling his presence!

“No matter what you say, I won’t leave,” Cedric declared.

Natalie fell silent.

He figured it out?!

“After all, it’s been so many years,” Cedric said.

Regardless of the nature of their relationship, they had a certain level of understanding between them, right? novelbin They had been together for a decade!

Regardless of how they started, Cedric thoroughly understood what he should know about her.

Natalie remained silent.

Lunch passed in such a tense atmosphere.

Although Natalie used to love Yuloria dishes, they tasted bland with Cedric around.

She had said too much, hadn’t she?

That was why Natalie didn’t talk to Cedric after that. She didn’t answer any of his questions.

She completely ignored him!

Cedric bought her the best-known snacks from Yuloria, saying that whenever one came to Yuloria, they must try them.

However, Natalie didn’t take a bite.

“Nat.” Cedric looked at her and felt even worse than before.

He knew!

The incidents between him and Natalie were already irreparable. Now, after she found out about Blair, she... probably wouldn’t open up her heart to him for a while.

“If you can’t maintain a cheerful mood, your eyes won’t be able to recover fast. If that happened, you won’t be able to get rid of me as soon as possible. You’d better think about it,” Cedric warned.

Natalie was silent.

At his words, the air around her turned colder.

What did he mean?

Was he implying she couldn't leave if she didn't get along with him now?

Or was he suggesting he would be with her until her eyes recovered?

"Hah!" Natalie finally responded. She laughed coldly and said, "Do you have so much time?"

Was he even aware of how long the treatment cycle for eyes was?

Threatening in such a manner was probably something only he could do!

"I do!" Cedric responded without hesitation.

Natalie fell silent.

His words sounded so resolute.

At this moment, Cedric gave Natalie the feeling that he had seemingly put aside everything related to Wexford.

However, anyone familiar with Wexford knew that it wasn't something he could just put aside.

No one knew what price Clyde paid to extricate himself from that place...!

Meanwhile, Cedric had been avoiding Wexford issues for so many years.

Indeed.

After Natalie went to Wexford, she realized Cedric had spent all those years in Verde City to escape that place.

Yet, after so many years, he still had to go back to face it!

Now...!

"Is that so?" Natalie mocked.

"Yes!"

He answered in a more resolute manner than before!

However, Natalie knew better.

It wasn't possible.

For Cedric, Wexford represented the abyss of utter despair. It was a depth from which escape seemed impossible.

Whether it was him or Irwin, it was a whirlpool filled with moments of helplessness.

If that wasn't the case, the matter about Blair wouldn't have been suppressed to this extent, and he wouldn't have to face Wexford again after so many years!

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 579-And now, Cedric was spending so much time by her side?

In Natalie's mind, that was simply impossible...!

However, in the end, Cedric confirmed his words with actions.

A few days passed... then even a week!

Even... after half a month, Cedric showed no intention of leaving.

He remained by her side!

He acted in such a carefree manner as the days passed, and Natalie couldn't contact anyone in Simeria, so she didn't know the situation in Wexford either.

Cedric went out every day, but the rumored doctor seemed very stubborn and never gave in!

So, Natalie still didn't receive treatment during the half month she spent in Yuloria. However, there was a doctor there to stabilize her condition.

It seemed that Cedric was willing to pay any price to get that rumored doctor. –
Meanwhile, Irwin was in Wexford and was aware that Cedric had taken Natalie away. He found out after a week, and he even knew that Natalie might be permanently blind.

From the information Irwin had obtained from Stephen, Natalie's condition was likely due to her trip to Mount Elven.

In the study, the air was tense and cold.

"Is there still no news?"

Dylan shook his head. "No!"

They were talking about Natalie. So far, there has been no news about her.

Cedric...!

Irwin didn't expect Cedric to take Natalie away while Wexford was in such chaotic conditions, disappearing for half a month.

"Where could he take Natalie?" Irwin frowned.

Undoubtedly...

After ne naa gotten tnis news, ne was clearly worried about Natalie ana naant slept mucn.

Her vision nad never been good, and if it nad deteriorated rapidly due to tne trip to Mount Elven...!

At tnis moment, Irwin was obviously tense!

"We've cnecked all tne possible places, but we still didn't find anytning," Dylan's tone became even more solemn.

Irwin closed nis eyes.

When ne opened tnen again, a sharp glint flasned in tnen.

"Find ner!"

Regardless of wnat it took, tney nad to find ner.

If Natalie's vision nad truly deteriorated to tnat point, surgery was inevitable!

It nad to be done as soon as possible.

Irwin couldn't let ner act recklessly anymore. In tne past two or tnree years, ne nad been empnasizing tnat sne nad to undergo surgery!

But Natalie always nad various reasons for not agreeing at tnat time. Now, it was different. If ner vision deteriorated rapidly, surgery was tne only option now.

Otnerwise, Natalie would be left wtn endless darkness. novelbin "Yes, sir." Dylan nodded gravely.

As long as Cedric left and wanted to nide, finding nim would be far from easy. When ne was in Verde City before, it took an unknown amount of time for Irwin to locate nim.

When Cedric didn't want to be found, there was no way anyone could find nim.

And now, it seemed that Cedric intentionally wanted to hide with Natalie. In this situation, finding him would be even more difficult.

"How has that child been recently?" Irwin asked in a heavy tone.

The child? Kayla!

Dylan replied, "She's at Kritz Manor. She has recovered well after being discharged."

Recovered well?

So, Cedric had not taken Kayla with him.

In that case, this matter would be easier to handle.

Irwin took a deep breath. "Spread the word. Say the child has relapsed."

Dylan fell silent.

Was Irwin using this method to force Cedric to return?

"But he'll..."

"Dylan, is your intelligence degrading?"

Instantly, Dylan understood the meaning behind Irwin's words.

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 580-When someone was crucial in another person's heart, they would undoubtedly feel uneasy when they got news of them, regardless of whether it was true or false.

Undoubtedly, Cedric allowed the people on Irwin's side to see the importance of Kayla in his heart.

If he really received such news, how would he react?

Regardless of what was said here, there would be doubts in Cedric's mind.

Irwin understood Cedric too well.

He knew Cedric's biggest weakness, which was why he wanted to spread such a rumor.

"Understood!" Dylan nodded.

Irwin's tone was deep. "Nat can't stay by his side."

Since they couldn't find Cedric, they needed to make him appear voluntarily.

Irwin knew what kind of person Cedric was over the years and how he felt about Wexford. So, no matter what, he couldn't...

Irwin already regretted that Natalie was dragged into Wexford's mess, so he didn't want her involved further.

"Yes, sir." Dylan nodded, showing that he understood Irwin's intentions.

Although he hadn't said anything, he had been with Irwin for many years. Because of that, Dylan could see that Irwin regretted involving Natalie.

People were like this sometimes. They only recognized their true feelings when it was impossible to turn back. Irwin was like that...

And Cedric was the same!

Wexford seemed to be in a stalemate now. Many people were looking for Cedric, but he seemed to have disappeared.

On the other hand, something significant happened in Simeria.

Jade...

In the end, she couldn't hold on until Malcolm found a suitable donor for her.

Malcolm went to Versant Villa, glaring at Bianca with crimson eyes.

The air around them was heavy and tense, and there was a dangerous aura around Malcolm.

Seeing Malcolm in this state, Bianca could already guess what had happened. Her eyes were icy.

"Bianca!"

"It's 74," Bianca corrected coldly, emphasizing her existence as a numbered entity to Malcolm.

Being such an existence, she knew she had no place in his heart.

Since that was the case...

"Such an existence isn't worthy of your hatred, right?" Bianca said coldly.

Malcolm was silent.

Yes! What kind of existence was she?

She was just an existence that didn't evoke any emotions from him.

So, why harbor such hatred for her?

But Bianca deserved to die!

"In your hands, Faye couldn't withstand the abyss of despair. And her sister...!"

"Lord Malcolm!" Bianca sternly interrupted the man's words.

At this moment, she sat on an elegant sofa, admiring her recently manicured nails. Zane's presence had clearly elevated her temperament.

Now, she spoke slowly, "Their life and death have never been my concern. Do you need me to remind you of that, Malcolm?"

Lord Malcolm!

Malcolm!

These two completely different identities represented distinct natures.

Malcolm's eyes dimmed.

He couldn't hide his anger any longer...!

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 581

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 581-At this moment, the aura emanating from Bianca sharply contrasted with Malcolm's fierceness.

She remained calm and indifferent.

Even Malcolm, who had witnessed numerous instances of coldness over the years, found Bianca's demeanor chilling.

However, it evoked a disturbing sensation in him.

"You're truly indifferent," Malcolm said, his words dripping with danger.

Bianca replied, "I apologize. I can't empathize with the pain of those unrelated to me."

It was always difficult to feel when things don't happen to oneself.

This wasn't about being cold or not, especially considering that Bianca had no significant connection with Faye, Jade, or even Malcolm.

Even if they had some connections, their interactions were far from pleasant!

So, when their lives met tragic ends, she remained indifferent.

Moreover, so much had happened between her and Malcolm!

Did he expect her to feel regret and sadness for Faye and Jade's fate after suffering so much?

Suddenly, Malcolm reached out to grip her shoulder. The man's strength was overwhelming, almost as if he wanted to crush her.

Undoubtedly... Malcolm attributed Faye and Jade's death to Bianca!

Faye fell victim to Bianca's lawsuit, and Jade suffered because Bianca refused to cooperate.

"Bianca, a woman like you shouldn't exist in this world!"

Malcolm's voice was filled with ruthless determination.

Slap!

A resounding slap landed on the man's face, and the air instantly froze.

As Malcolm's grip loosened, Bianca straightened her posture.

Even in the midst of such chaos, she maintained her composure, showing no signs of distress or disorder.

The onlookers, mostly under Malcolm's influence, were taken aback. In previous situations, someone could have called Zane. But today, not a single person managed to leave.

Evidently, Malcolm came prepared!

Yet, even without Zane present, Bianca displayed no fear.

"Are you awake now?" Bianca coldly asked as she observed the man's darkened expression.

“You really have the guts...!” Malcolm spat.

“When I was by your side, I learned one thing early on!”

“What is it?”

“To cast life and death aside!” Bianca said with a smile on her lips.

Indeed.

Around such a man, danger could arise at any moment. She couldn't afford to be afraid. Once she succumbed to fear, only endless submission awaited her. But this man wouldn't spare anyone, not even if they submitted to him.

The more she feared, the more she would be plunged into an endless abyss.

In that case, how could she possibly submit?!

She had been alone all her life. Even when faced with any kind of difficulty in Verde City, she never surrendered.

Even when encountering people scarier than Malcolm, she never submitted!

So, why would she submit before Malcolm now?

“Hehe... You really aren't afraid?”

“Afraid of what? If I truly lose my life, even as a ghost, I won't let you off.”

Every word from Bianca was filled with ruthlessness.

Malcolm had encountered many women over the years. Few possessed such strong pride, making Bianca the most challenging woman he had ever encountered.

Now, she sought revenge against him...!

And she was also fearless in her retaliation.

As Bianca looked at the man's cold face, her smile deepened.

She said, “Did she die a miserable death?”

Obviously, Bianca was talking about Jade.

Boom!

Instantly, it seemed like she had hit a nerve with Malcolm!

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 582-The atmosphere had initially calmed and became relaxed, but Bianca stirred it up with her words immediately!

The smile on her lips seemed mocking but also exuded a venomous vibe. She gazed at Malcolm's furious eyes, the crimson within them revealing the intensity of his anger.

However, she remained indifferent. She took a deep breath and said, "Since it was a severe illness, her death must have been miserable."

It was more than miserable...!

When Jade had been on the brink of death, she pleaded with Malcolm not to let her die. She had schemed and calculated everything just to avoid such a fate.

How could she willingly depart the world like that?

But even Malcolm, who was like a god in her eyes, couldn't save her at that moment.

Yes, in that situation, Malcolm was utterly powerless.

Jade breathed her last right before his eyes, and the despair surrounded Malcolm.

He had the means to save her, but because of Bianca...!

"You...!" Malcolm hissed through gritted teeth.

Bianca raised an eyebrow. "Jade was just the beginning."

Bianca spoke each word deliberately, suggesting that there were many more things waiting for him.

If he couldn't handle this much, what would he do when something else happened in the future?

Bianca looked at Malcolm with a calm smile.

The scene erupted into chaos.

Upon hearing the news of Jade's death, Zane rushed back immediately. After all, Malcolm was his brother.

Despite their strained relationship, there was still some understanding between them.

Sure enough, Malcolm was at Versant Villa.

“Why are you here, Malcolm?”

Zane immediately stepped forward and rescued Bianca from Malcolm’s grasp. He pulled Bianca into his own arms and shielded her.

As Zane held Bianca protectively in his embrace, Malcolm’s already burning anger flared even more fiercely.

“You’re protecting her?”

“Malcolm, it seems you’ve forgotten that many things have changed during this time,” Zane said coldly.

Malcolm fell silent.

The already chilly atmosphere reached its freezing point upon hearing these words.

However, before Malcolm could respond, Zane continued, “Do I need to remind you of her current identity?” novelbin Identity?

Regardless of the nature of Bianca’s presence at Malcolm’s side before, everything changed when she came to Zane.

Even Malcolm had to admit this fact.

The originally tense scene, intensified by Zane’s presence, was on the verge of erupting.

When Zane saw Malcolm’s men controlling the butler and servants, a hint of ruthlessness flashed in his eyes.

“It seems our brotherhood has come to an end!”

His tone was unprecedentedly cold, and it was the first time he had spoken to Malcolm this way.

Upon hearing this, Bianca stiffened involuntarily.

Subconsciously, she looked at Zane.

What was he doing?!

Bianca was not the only one stunned by Zane’s attitude. Even Malcolm was somewhat bewildered, staring at Zane in disbelief.

Malcolm must have misheard!

If not, how could Zane say such a thing?

Yet, Zane's expression was cold. It didn't seem like he was joking.

He... was serious!

After a moment, Malcolm looked at Zane and said in a colder tone than before, "Just for the sake of this woman?"

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 583-The two of them locked eyes in an icy standoff, and Bianca could feel the chilling and ruthless aura emanating from both.

In the past, she had never thought of relying on anyone.

Throughout her life...!

When she was in Verde City, she had no one except for Natalie.

Yet, Natalie wasn't someone she could rely on!

Many times, Natalie needed her support. Even after Cedric came into the picture, Natalie's world remained chaotic.

So, most of the time, it was Bianca who held up Natalie's crumbling world.

Since coming to Simeria, Malcolm had thoroughly shattered Bianca's world! Even so, Bianca never novelbin considered relying on anyone.

But now...

"Hah... Zane! Let's see how long you can protect her!" Malcolm harshly said. Then, he turned around and left.

Even after he departed, the air remained cold.

Zane looked at Bianca, whose face remained pale. It was evident she hadn't fully recovered from the earlier confrontation.

Zane chuckled softly, and Bianca snapped back to reality. She looked at Zane, somewhat perplexed.

"Why are you laughing?"

"I'm laughing because... Seems like you also know what fear is, huh?"

Fear?

Of course!

Despite her determined resistance against Malcolm earlier, she had to admit that she was scared at that moment.

She was terrified.

Especially now...

Even with Malcolm gone, she felt a cold sweat on her back!

“You’re well aware that your sixth brother is a lunatic!” Bianca sighed.

Zane nodded. “Yeah.”

He was indeed a lunatic.

Bianca had experienced some inhumane torment by his side. She had tried escaping repeatedly, only to be recaptured eventually.

It was only after meeting Zane that she found an opportunity for resistance, and naturally, she fought back with all her might.

“Bianca.”

“Yeah?”

“Actually, Malcolm is rather pitiful,” Zane said with a deep tone.

Bianca paused upon hearing this.

Pitiful?

Such a description of Malcolm coming from Zane’s mouth was truly rare.

After all, the Entes family’s familial bonds were inherently weak. So, when Zane described Malcolm as pitiful, it caught Bianca off guard.

This indicated how much Zane understood Malcolm and was somewhat aware of the things that happened in the latter’s life.

Taking a deep breath, Bianca said, “No matter how pitiful someone is, it’s not an excuse or justification for their wrongdoing.”

Her tone was icy.

Clearly, regardless of Malcolm's stance on Faye's matters, Bianca could never forgive him. Her once peaceful life had been ruined, and she had yet to find someone to hold accountable.

"You're quite something," Zane sighed, pinching her delicate cheek. Knowing that Bianca held grudges, he understood why she had been behaving this way recently.

"Is there any news on Frederick?" Bianca asked Zane.

After all, the Entes family was still in a crucial period, and Frederick was an important person for them.

Even in the search process, they had to be cautious. They had to not only to find the person but also to protect themselves.

Zane glanced at his watch. "You don't need to worry about this matter anymore, okay?"

"Zane!"

"Stay here and be good. Avoid Malcolm when he comes," Zane advised.

After all, he couldn't stay in the villa for an extended period. And with Natalie currently absent, Bianca had no excuse to go to Lotus Villa.

And speaking of Natalie...!

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 584-Zane glanced at Bianca.

"Do you know what's happening with her?"

"Nat?"

"Yeah."

"I went to Lotus Villa the day before yesterday. They said Nat might have lost her sight by now."

Bianca's heart tightened as she spoke about it. Back in the Jarvis family, it was evident how much importance Heather placed on Natalie's eyesight.

That was why even Bianca was concerned about it.

What would it feel like for a person not to see, especially when taken away by Cedric?

It only added to the worry, considering Cedric had never been a good person in Natalie's world.

As Bianca finished speaking, the man beside her shuddered visibly. Bianca sensed Zane's change but chose not to say anything.

After a while, Zane left. Whenever he left, it was uncertain when he would return.

However, there was one thing that surprised everyone. No matter how busy he was outside, Zane always managed to return swiftly whenever Malcolm came to the villa.

It was evident he wouldn't allow any mishaps to happen to Bianca here.

Zane truly kept his end of the bargain.

At any time, he ensured that nothing untoward happened to Bianca and always protected her well.

She provided him with the clues he wanted, and in return, he gave her the protection she deserved.

Not long after Zane left, Yvette arrived in the tea room.

It was just her and Bianca.

Yvette picked up the coffee in front of her but didn't drink it. Instead, she said, "I got divorced from Alto yesterday."

Bianca was about to sip her tea, and she paused at Yvette's words. She looked at the other woman with surprise.

In Bianca's eyes, there was a hint of coldness.

Yvette gazed back at her with an unprecedented calmness in her eyes, even a sense of relief.

However, this sense of relief looked so pitiful to Bianca.

"It's been difficult for you these years, huh?"

It had been half a month.

Yvette hadn't appeared here for half a month.

And now, she has revealed such significant news after arriving.

What could Bianca possibly say to her?

Yvette was silent.

After hearing Bianca's words, she felt a suffocating feeling in her chest!

Difficult?

While she had been at Alto's side, it couldn't exactly be called difficult. That man had always respected her!

Even so, every moment by his side felt suffocating.

Now, everything had finally come to an end.

But in Bianca's eyes, this was also a new beginning. Yvette probably hadn't realized what kind of beginning it truly was.

And Bianca could feel the change in Zane! She genuinely thought Yvette's upcoming path was pitiful.

"My father promised to support Zane."

Yvette didn't respond directly to Bianca's words. Instead, she spoke coldly and got directly to the point.

This was just short of directly talking about how things were between Yvette and Zane.

However, Bianca understood it crystal clear.

This situation... was beyond pitiful. novelbin "So, what are your plans?" Bianca asked directly, without any beating around the bush.

Yvette fell silent.

When asked about her plans, her face turned a shade paler.

In recent days, she had been getting closer to Zane. But for some reason, that man always avoided her.

Even though she had received support from her father, he still...!

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 585=-Be Ready for It Yvette suddenly thought of something and looked at Bianca. There was more than just coldness in her eyes.

She spoke with an even colder tone, "You know very well what the Entes family is like now.

"My father's support for him is crucial!" Indeed.

The reason she ended up with Alto was merely because he had used underhanded means to marry her.

Even though he had shown respect later on, in Yvette's heart, that man was absolutely unforgivable.

Over the years, she had been trying to find a way to break free from him. During this time, she finally managed to persuade her father to agree.

However, this agreement also brought a great deal of sorrow.

"Bianca, I know you understand what I'm saying!" Seeing Bianca remain silent, Yvette's tone became sharper, After so many years of trying to find a solution, why was Yvette being so firm this time?

It was because of Bianca!

Bianca felt the change, and Yvette felt it too.

However, the objects of their perception were entirely different.

In Yvette's eyes, Zane's change was entirely caused by Bianca.

So, no matter what was said now, it couldn't continue like this!

If it did, things would surely spiral out of control completely.

Yvette didn't want it to reach that point, so she displayed this attitude now.

This wasn't Yvette's fault!

Bianca mockingly laughed as she looked at Yvette.

"I have to say, I really don't understand what you're talking about." This woman probably didn't even know what she was saying.

+15 BONUS Bianca clearly saw the panic in Yvette's eyes Why was she panicking? Why was she so afraid?

It was because Yvette knew very well that things had already gotten out of control.

Zane was a person... he was a man!

In Bianca's eyes, men's emotions are the most unpredictable, especially when it comes to someone like Cedric She couldn't see through him at all.

She had dealt with numerous divorce cases before and knew very well what those men were like.

What were those men, really?

Bianca was well aware!

A woman, especially one who was very rational in matters of the heart, was terrifying. It was because she could give you her heart and take it back.

Bianca was such a woman!

Zane was a captivating man, but she knew very well that it was best not to get emotionally involved with men from the Entes family.

“The situation will end soon. Be ready for it!” This time, Yvette finally spoke directly.

However, Bianca pretended not to understand. “What should I prepare for?” To step down?

Even if Bianca had no intention of taking that position, could Yvette be sure that it would be given to her even if Bianca stepped aside?

Yvette looked at the smile on Bianca’s lips, and her eyes darkened.

Her words had been explicit enough, but Bianca maintained her ignorant attitude. It was to the point where even her usual composure was slipping away.

But Yvette held on tightly.

There was a storm in her eyes, and just as she was about to speak, Bianca said, “Regardless of what decision is made, have you asked Zane?” Yvette remained silent.

“Rather... does Zane know about your decisions? He probably still doesn’t know you’ve cleared.

Yvette remained silent.

+15 BONUS Her already unpleasant expression became even worse when she heard Bianca’s words.

Bianca’s eyes were sharp. It was as if she could see and understand everything, even without seeing or looking.

Watching Yvette's pale face, Bianca continued mockingly, "Zane probably rejected your father's support, right?" The sarcasm in her tone made Yvette's complexion lose even more color instantly.

Bianca was right...!

She was such a schemer.

At this moment, Yvette seemed to suddenly understand. Zane had always been in the same place, but then he suddenly disappeared.

It was because of this woman...!

It was no wonder Zane had suddenly become involved in the struggle to succeed the Entes family.

It was because Bianca was by his side!

Once, he never...!

Zane had left Simeria since Yvette's marriage to Alto, and there had been no news of him.

No one knew where he had gone, but Zane had never returned over the years, regardless of what happened with the Entes family.

But now, he suddenly returned.

Was it... really because of this woman?!

Yvette looked at Bianca.

Her eyes were sharp, as if she wanted to pierce through Bianca.

Bianca observed Yvette's reaction, and the smile on her lips widened. "It seems I was right." "Are you satisfied?" Seeing Bianca's triumphant expression, Yvette completely lost her composure.

Everything that had happened in the Entes family over the years had worn away her composure, leaving her with nothing.

What was she now?

+15 BONUS Yvette really didn't know.

Yvette felt the hatred bubbling under her skin as she looked at Bianca.

Why was Bianca by Zane's side?

Everything was supposed to end. Yvette had been waiting for this moment for so many years.

Yet, when Zane returned... it was with another woman by his side!

Bianca didn't know what the villa meant to them!

Yvette and Zane had designed it together. They had said that they would live here after getting married.

And when he finally returned and moved into this villa... it was with another woman.

Why did things turn out like this?

Yvette's mind seemed to be overwhelmed.

She had prepared herself before she came here today. Who would have thought Bianca would be so sharp, leaving her completely defenseless?

Bianca said, "It's not about being satisfied. I just think you're pitiful." This statement undoubtedly touched Yvette's nerves.

Pitiful?

She was pitiful?!

How could she be pitiful?

"You...!" "Don't deny it. You're really pitiful! Since Zane isn't here, I'll tell you the truth." Yvette remained silent.

"Now that Zane has rejected your father's support, you should be able to understand his attitude towards you!" That was right.

That rejection wasn't just a refusal. It also conveyed Zane's attitude toward Yvette.

When Zane returned to the Entes family, it was impossible for him not to know about her relationship with Alto.

In this situation, why did he refuse his father's help?

+15 BONUS It was because he was telling Yvette... not to wait anymore.

Yes!

Zane was telling Yvette that everything was over in this way.

Bianca could see the problem, so how could Yvette not see it?

It was precisely because Yvette could see it that her heart and chest tightened even more

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 586-Zane's Intentions Toward Bianca +15 BONUS
Watching the woman in front of her tremble, Bianca said, "Stop doing these meaningless things!" The more Yvette did, the more disappointed she would be. Eventually, she would put all the blame on Zane.

Bianca had seen too many of the same situations over the years.

It was just wishful thinking on Yvette's part!

Yvette became increasingly angry and intense. "Lord Malcolm, right?"

Bianca remained silent.

At this moment, Yvette's tone was full of restraint.

"What do you want to say?" Bianca's tone grew colder.

"Do you think no one knows about what happened between you and Lord Malcolm? If that person finds out..." Yvette trailed off, and her gaze at Bianca became sharper. Her eyes carried a strong sense of warning and threat.

Bianca naturally noticed.

"Are you threatening me?" "If that person knows, Zane must get my father's support. Do you think Zane would still want you then?" "You can try." Bianca looked at Yvette, who had lost all rationality.

Regardless of Yvette's words, Bianca's tone remained cold.

Her fearless demeanor kept Yvette in constant internal struggle.

Yes!

Even at this stage, Yvette had always considered Bianca's relationship with Malcolm as the trump card held against her, at least until the matters of the Entes family were completely resolved.

Regardless of whether it was against Bianca or Zane, it was valuable!

Originally, Yvette didn't want to be such a despicable person. As long as Bianca cooperated, Yvette wouldn't need to resort to such methods.

+15 BONUS But unexpectedly, even in the face of this situation, Bianca remained so cold and indifferent, as if there was nothing to fear in her world.

This made Yvette even more anxious.

"So? Will you try it out?" Bianca challenged.

"Lord Malcolm won't let you go. Jade is already dead!" Yvette said.

When Yvette came over to Versant Villa, she already knew that Malcolm visited earlier.

It was clear why Malcolm had come, Yvette had investigated Bianca. She had to admit that Zane had protected Bianca's information very well. Yvette had used many methods before she finally found what she wanted.

"Faye... Jade! All because of you..." Yvette said slowly.

Bianca replied, "If you think that what you've found can bring you comfort, then comfort yourself for now." Yvette fell silent.

What...?!

She actually....

"I have other matters to attend to. I won't stay with you any longer," Bianca said as she stood.

Clearly, there was nothing more to say at this point. Bianca was a clever person, and she could see that Yvette had come prepared today.

However, all of Yvette's trump cards had been laid out. There was no reason for Bianca to stay with her any longer.

As for Yvette... She hadn't anticipated that even with so many cards placed in front of her, Bianca could remain fearless.

What was this woman afraid of? What were her limits and vulnerabilities?

At least in today's confrontation, Yvette hadn't seen anything.

Just as Bianca took a few steps, Yvette called out, "Bianca..." When Yvette spoke, her tone trembled.

Bianca paused but didn't turn back. Her voice was loud, fearless. "Is there something else you think you can threaten me with?" Something Yvette thought could threaten her...?

24 +15 BONUS Bianca actually said that...?

Were those things not threatening enough?

What was this woman really afraid of?

Looking at Bianca's retreating figure, Yvette saw the woman's upright posture. Bianca seemed like she genuinely didn't care about anything.

"Lord Malcolm won't let you go!" "I don't know if he will, but I know you'll never achieve what you want in your heart." With that said, Bianca walked away. Her footsteps were steady. Bianca currently appeared like someone who truly didn't care about anything. This version of her made people wonder what she would be afraid of. She was just a woman!

Yet she actually...!

Yvette sat in place for a long time, never quite coming back to her senses. She watched as Bianca walked outside, and the servant handed her a little orange cat.

Her appearance looked so beautiful in this situation. Even in such circumstances, she still had the mood to pet a cat...!

This woman was not just fearless... She was simply incredible!

Bianca looked at the little kitten in her arms. "It must have been born not long ago, right?" The tiny, cute bundle in her arms was still a kitten.

The servant nodded. "Yes, Lord Zane ordered someone to bring it back, saying he found it on the road and thought you might like it." Found on the road? Zane was quite cute.

In Bianca's opinion, men wouldn't usually do such things.

Yet, Zane surprisingly did.

Zane was not only cute. He was so adorable and also a reliable man!

As Bianca held the kitten in her arms, it nuzzled against her. Its actions were simply lovable.

“Elise.” “Yes, Madam.” +15 BONUS “What do you think this kitty eats?” “Lord Zane had someone check and said it probably needs to drink milk for now. It shouldn’t eat anything else.” “Oh, I sec.” Bianca nodded.

When Yvette came out of the tea room, she heard that Zane had arranged for someone to bring a kitten for Bianca. He even went to the trouble of finding out how to care for the kitten at this stage.

When did Zane become so thoughtful?

A suffocating feeling spread in her chest. It constantly tore at her heart and caused her pain.

He had changed...!

He had really changed.

Zane’s status in the Entes family had also changed. He had changed as a person, and his attitude towards women had changed, especially towards Bianca.

Her eyes glittered with extreme jealousy as she looked at Bianca, who carefully held the kitten in her arms.

It was Bianca... It was all her.

Now, everything Zane had was given to Bianca.

Every single thing... had been given to her.

The connection between Bianca and the Entes family seemed to be getting deeper.

Meanwhile, even after everyone in Simeria had searched for a full twenty days, Cedric remained undisturbed in Yuloria.

It seemed as if he was determined not to leave until Natalie’s eyes improved.

In those twenty days, Lydia and Xyla couldn’t find a way to contact the Jarvis family, not matter what they did.

This showed a deep conviction in Cedric’s heart...!

It was unclear how Cedric persuaded the rumored doctor, but on the twenty-first day, Edward finally agreed to examine Natalie.

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 587

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 587-He Agreed Cedric led Natalie out. As they left, cold raindrops splashed on their faces.

Natalie asked, "Where are we going?" "The doctor has agreed to examine you."!

In these twenty days, despite Natalie's rejection of this man, he remained by her side. Natalie had no idea about the current situation in Wexford, but she felt it must be in chaos.

Yet, Cedric had not left her side.

In the car, Natalie said, "Don't think I'll forgive you just because of this." Did she feel touched?

Not at all...!

Even though Cedric had accompanied her through these troubled times in Yuloria, Natalie felt no sense of gratitude.

Her words made the man sitting beside her stiffen for a moment, and then he unabashedly pulled her into his arms.

Then, he said, "I don't need your forgiveness. I want you to get better." Forgiveness?

Given the current situation, Cedric naturally understood that Natalie could never forgive him.

Indeed, she would never.

But so what?

He just wanted her to get better. During this time in the darkness, Cedric felt like he had seen. them from a past life.

Back then, Natalie was just like she is now.

They seemed to have returned to that time!

At that time, he watched how stubborn Natalie was and how she gradually became accustomed to the darkness.

No matter who tried to help her, she refused.

Even with Xyla and Lydia by her side, she refused help from anyone.

During their past life...!

+15 BONUS She had nothing and no one except for him.

That was why she learned to be independent. She adapted to the darkness and refused to rely on him.

But in this life....

Even with so many loved ones around her, she was working hard to make herself independent. She... was preparing to face the darkness permanently.

Yet, Cedric knew Natalie didn't like the darkness. She disliked it even more than in their past life when she had no attachments.

But she wanted to see so many people and things in this life.

So, how could she willingly stay in the darkness?

"Can you let go of me?" Natalie didn't like such physical contact with men, but Cedric showed no intention of releasing her.

Instead, he tightened his grip around her!

"During this time, can't we just stay like this?" Regardless of how much she usually avoided him, Cedric believed they should be together, at least during this time.

"Cedric!" "I know you hate me, w you hate me, I know... He knew.

"But I've also said, once your eyes get better, you can settle the score with me however you want!" Cedric had said these words countless times during this period, and he continued to persist.

Natalie found him exasperating. At times when she was truly angry, she couldn't be bothered to deal with this man.

However, Cedric was relentless, Also, he was getting more and more intrusive!

When they reached their destination, the first thing Natalie noticed was a faint scent of sugar.

It was a pleasant fragrance, one that she liked.

Cedric said, "Mr. Larkin really likes lotus flowers. His yard is filled with them." Lotus flowers?

Natalie actually liked them, but the climate in both Verde City and Simeria wasn't suitable for +15 BONUS However, Yuloria had a good climate.

It was summer, but Natalie seemed to struggle a little, even in such a favorable climate, most likely due to her health.

During the examination, Cedric stepped out to take a call. In the darkness, Natalie could only smell the strong scent of herbs.

After examining Natalie's eyes, Edward asked in a hoarse voice, "Did you suffer from smoke inhalation?" Natalie paused at his question and then nodded.

"Yes." "You didn't go completely blind at that time?" "No." "Why didn't you choose to do surgery back then?" That time also in those circumstances, surgery would have been a viable option. The doctors at that time emphasized that conservative treatment might lead to a rapid decline in her eyesight.

Natalie replied, "There wasn't a right moment." "Are you from the Jarvis family?" "Yes," Natalie's voice sounded somewhat rigid.

Edward sneered. "It's not like arranging such a surgery for you would be difficult for them!" It seemed that this old man was not an ordinary person. At least, he seemed to understand the people from Simeria.

Well, a valuable doctor like him must be well-known among the upper-class elites.

"There are too many people in need," Natalie said.

Her tone was indifferent, as if she harbored no resentment or regret for her blindness. The coarse fingertips on her pulse paused for a moment. Then, Edward said with a faint smile, "You're very fortunate." Natalie fell silent.

Fortunate? What did that mean?

Before she could speak, Edward continued, "That kid is lucky to have a daughter like you!" H +15 BONUS "And you're fortunate to have a husband like that kid outside".

Husband? Cedric?

When Edward mentioned her relationship with Cedric, Natalie stiffened instantly. Subconsciously, she was about to say something, but Cedric returned at that moment.

Cedric respectfully asked Edward, "How is her condition?"

There was a hint of urgency in his tone. Natalie's complexion wasn't great.

In her eyes, his saying "relationship between her and Cedric had long been clear. So, she didn't like him saying such things to outsiders.

After all, humans should accept the reality of losing something once it has happened.

Cedric and Edward conversed quietly. Natalie didn't know what they were talking about. After a long time, Cedric returned with medicine.

Then, he carefully helped Natalie into the car, "Mr. Larkin said to take the medicine for half a month first and then return for a follow-up examination." At this moment, Natalie also regained her composure. The mention of half a month's worth of medicine surprised her.

Half a month? What kind of time frame was that?

Over the past two years, Heather had been having her regulate her body. Natalie had taken all sorts of bitter medicine, which made her feel exhausted.

Perhaps it was because her body had been severely injured before. So, no matter what methods.

Heather tried, Natalie's body never seemed to improve.

After all, an empty body was difficult to replenish.

For instance, even though it was summer in Yuloria, Natalie still had to wear a thick coat.

Natalie remembered that despite being small in stature, she excelled in physical education when she was in school!

This indicated the true condition of her physical health.

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 588

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 588-The Pain of Treatment "Well, I think we can consider surgery..." Natalie said.

Cedric replied, "Mr. Larkin has treated over a hundred cases of severe patients like you and has excellent experience. Trust me." Trust him?

Natalie sneered.

Cedric fell silent. Watching her reaction, he couldn't help but feel a bit uneasy, but he couldn't blame her.

After all, the situation they were in now was mostly caused by him. Cedric didn't say anything to defend himself.

In her heart, he had let her down repeatedly when she needed him the most, and her lack of trust was completely understandable.

It was the consequences of one's actions, as they say.

Cedric was now tasting the bitterness he had brought upon himself.

In the courtyard, the scent of traditional medicine permeated the air.

Over the years, being around Heather had given Natalie enough experience to recognize the aroma of these herbs.

This time, the medicine was very bitter.

At lunchtime, a bowl of medicine was handed to Natalie.

"Take your medicine first." Cedric's tone was gentle, as if he wanted to present all his kindness to Natalie.

Once, he had hurt her deeply.

Now, he seemed determined to make amends for everything.

"Do you know how long I have to take this medicine?" Natalie asked.

When she was with Heather, she had been forced to take these medicines without knowing when it would end.

Natalie felt fed up with the constant regimen but couldn't break free from it.

Whenever she resisted, she would be met with Heather's worried gaze. Ultimately, she +15 BONUS No matter how bitter the medicine was, she had to take it in front of Heather. Even at the office, Lydia and Xyla would bring it to her, and she had to drink it there. Heather would show up at the company if she didn't, ready to watch her drink it.

At that time, she didn't understand why Heather, her aunt, was so concerned about her.

Later, she finally understood that only true family members would worry about her so much and care for her that way.

"Ugh...!" As she took a sip, Natalie groaned sharply.

Indeed, it was truly bitter!

Cedric asked, "Is it very bitter?" The man's eyes were full of distress as he watched her struggle.

Natalie's forehead was already covered in cold sweat, indicating the intensity of the bitterness. It was more bitter than any medicine Heather had given her before.

"It's too bitter." Natalie took a deep breath.

It was not just bitter.

It was unbelievably bitter...!

"Open your mouth," Cedric said.

What?

"Just open it!" Despite crying, Natalie opened her mouth. In an instant, a piece of sweet rock sugar was placed in her mouth, relieving the bitterness and making her feel much better.

However, it was still uncomfortable.

"Mr. Larkin said you need to take it for at least half a month. But judging by your condition, it will probably take about two months to make a full recovery!" Two months?!

And he....

"I'll wait and watch you get better," Cedric said bitterly before Natalie could continue her thoughts.

+15 BONUS Natalie fell silent.

Watch her get better?

So, would Cedric really do as he had said previously?

Was he really following through with it?

Was he truly going to stay by her side and witness her recovery?

But in Natalie's heart, the current situation in Wexford had become unclear over the past. twenty days!

Now, he still wanted to accompany her for two more months?

What would happen in those two months?

Before she could speak, she heard Cedric continue, "It depends on your progress. If things don't go smoothly, it might take up to half a year!" Natalie remained silent.

Upon hearing this, she stiffened instantly. Two months was already a long time, but the possibility of half a year...?

“Nat, no matter how long it takes, I’ll stay with you until you recover!” Each word from the man was resolute.

Natalie’s heart sank “Kayla just got out of the hospital, right?” Natalie got straight to the point. Even at this stage, her tone was still filled with mockery when talking to Cedric.

Kayla had recently been seriously ill, yet now he wanted to accompany Natalie for an extended period?

Could he really afford it?

“Yes.” “In that case, can you afford to stay with me for such a long time?” Indeed! Could he afford it?

After all, it was such a long time.

“No matter how much time it takes, at least this time, I’ll be by your side,” Cedric replied.

“You really dare to say that!” She didn’t believe that with the current situation in Wexford, he could truly stay here for a +15 BONUS In fact, Natalie could sense it.

Even though Cedric was by her side, he was constantly busy with matters in Wexford.

“Take your medicine first.” Cedric didn’t want to continue this topic.

In the past, he owed Natalie something. So, he would lose something for her sake this time!

But if he could lose something to make up for it, he didn’t mind those losses.

He just hoped that she would be well.

This was what Cedric was thinking now. No matter what happened, he wanted Natalie to get better.

“It’s so bitter!” Natalie felt that there must be rhubarb in this medicine.

No, it was even more bitter than rhubarb!

She really thought that this medicine was too bitter.

“Hang in there a bit longer, okay?” Cedric said.

Looking at her little face involuntarily wrinkled in pain, he felt quite uneasy. If those things hadn't happened, Natalie wouldn't need to endure this bitterness now.

But there were no 'ifs' in this world.

What happened had happened, and there was no going back.

Even though Cedric came from another timeline, he also knew that some things that have happened were destined and couldn't be undone.

Even if one returned to a time before it happened, one couldn't change the trajectory of certain events. After all that had happened, Cedric understood these things.

The medicine... was truly bitter!

After drinking it, Cedric keenly felt that Natalie was shaking all over. She had always been delicate, but Cedric also knew that she wouldn't have this expression if it hadn't reached an unbearable point.

He took a sip.

Ugh!

Even he felt that the medicine was really bitter!

"Have another piece of sugar" Cedric placed a piece of rock sugar in Natalie's mouth.

It was yellow rock sugar, which had a slightly better taste than normal rock sugar.

It could also relieve bitterness.

However, the taste of this bitterness lingered in Natalie's mouth, even with the sugar.

+15 BONUS Moreover, she had to take this medicine for a long two months, which was a conservative estimate.

If things didn't go smoothly, it would possibly even take half a year!

Thinking about this timeframe, Natalie felt like there was no light at the end of this dark tunnel.

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 589-Her Pain As Cedric watched Natalie endure the bitterness, he felt helpless and distressed.

If it were possible, he truly wished he could be the one taking this medicine.

This way, Natalie could feel a bit better.

“Cedric, I hate you!” Natalie trembled at the mere thought of having to endure this bitter medicine for such a long time.

So, regardless of her previous restraint and efforts to conceal her emotions, she now displayed them to Cedric without reservation.

She genuinely hated this man!

She wished he were dead!

Yes.

She really hated him.

“I know,” Cedric replied.

He knew...!

“You don’t know. You know nothing.” Natalie murmured softly.

Indeed, Cedric knew nothing.

A person didn’t usually harbor such deep hatred unless the other person had hurt them to the novelbin extreme.

If it were any other matter, it wouldn’t be a big deal.

However, Cedric was more than just detestable to Natalie.

“Yes, I don’t know.” Cedric acknowledged.

He didn’t know if he and Natalie had a future together. Their path forward seemed so uncertain.

In this regard, Cedric was anxious.

At night, Natalie consumed another bowl of medicine. During the process, Natalie vomited.

The medicine was unbearable even for Cedric, not to mention Natalie, who had reached her limit of endurance.

+15 BONUS She couldn’t bear it any longer.

She vomited everything out.

Cedric felt tense as he witnessed this.

She threw up everything!

And then... she still had to drink another bowl.

After finishing the medicine. Natalie was covered in cold sweat. Her whole body was soaked.

Cedric held her, his tenderness exceeding all bounds.

Lydia and Nyla, who were initially unwilling to let Cedric get close to Natalie, witnessed Cedric's care and attentiveness towards Natalie over the past twenty days.

His gentle demeanor made it seem as if Natalie was the most cherished thing in the world to him.

As time passed, Lydia and Xyla knew that Cedric couldn't ease Natalie's mood. However, they also knew that no one besides Cedric could make Natalie take such a bitter medicine.

At night, Cedric held Natalie in his arms.

The weather here underwent significant changes, and it was raining again. The sound of raindrops ticking on the roof seemed to make Natalie especially afraid of the cold every time it rained.

"Leave!" Natalie still refused to let him approach, However, in the darkness, Natalie was helpless against this man.

"Go to sleep." He coaxed gently, his tone as if comforting a child.

Natalie had a petite figure. In Cedric's arms, she indeed resembled a child.

"You don't need to do this," Natalie said.

"Is the medicine making you particularly sleepy?" Cedric was attentive. Although he was busy in the afternoon, he knew that Natalie had slept for three hours straight after taking the medicine.

He remembered that she would always have difficulty falling asleep at night if she took naps.

Nights were also a more challenging time for Natalie. But tonight, she had gone to bed unusually early and appeared extremely tired.

“Cedric, leave. Just go...” +15 BONUS Natalie was already too tired. Looking at her in this state, a hint of helplessness flashed in Cedric’s eyes.

Just how much did she hate him?

Even when she couldn’t hold out anymore and knew she couldn’t drive him away, she still resisted so vehemently.

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 590-The Most Bitter Medicine Pain reflected in Cedric’s eyes as he touched the uneven skin beneath her neck.

Originally, he had considered getting her skin treated together, but after witnessing her struggle with the medicine... Cedric couldn’t bear it.

It was too painful.

He finally understood why she had refused surgery, whether for her eyes or her skin.

It was simply too agonizing.

Just taking the medication was subjecting her to such profound suffering, let alone the multiple procedures to repair her skin.

As she had said...!

Did he really think that after being injured, getting medical treatment would be enough?

The pain during an injury was one thing, but during the recovery, there was a different, more excruciating kind of pain waiting for her.

Once someone got hurt, often they lost the courage to get better.

That was what Natalie had experienced.

She was telling him that now she didn’t even have the courage to recover.

Those experiences were more than just painful for her—they were things she didn’t want to face in her entire life.

After Natalie fell asleep, Cedric carefully tucked her in. She seemed especially afraid of the cold, so he paid extra attention at night.

Edward had also emphasized that she shouldn't catch a cold, explaining the importance of her body's smooth recovery.

If her health deteriorated, the time needed for recuperation would only increase.

At the moment, the most unbearable thing for Natalie was each time she had to take the medicine.

It felt akin to going to the execution ground.

It was as if she was giving up her life.

It was torturing!

T Cedric was helpless.

"Be good, open your mouth." +15 BONUS Before even taking the medicine, cold sweat had already formed on Natalie's forehead.

This indicated how bitter the medicine truly was.

"Nat?" Seeing Natalie not responding, Cedric's tone became gentler.

"Cedric, I really hate you!" Natalie hissed through gritted teeth.

Her tone was more intense than any previous time.

Initially, the man might have felt hurt by such words, but now his eyes held an infinite gentleness and patience.

Habits were truly a frightening thing. Even enduring hatred for a while could turn into something familiar with time.

"I know." Now, Cedric had grown accustomed to Natalie's hatred.

Even if she hated him, she could do it by his side.

This was his current attitude towards Natalie!

In the end, Natalie opened her mouth and took a sip. With just one mouthful, she almost vomited.

This medicine... "Sugar... sugar!" Just after taking a sip, Natalie couldn't help but ask for sugar. It was never this difficult when she took medicine by Heather's side in the past.

Lydia and Xyla were heartbroken. They had secretly tasted this medicine before. It was truly bitter.

In this aspect, Natalie couldn't be blamed for being delicate.

This medicine was simply... "Miss, open your mouth." Originally, they were supposed to give her sugar after finishing the medicine. However, Lydia felt too much sympathy for Natalie and couldn't bear to watch any longer.

+15 BONUS The bitter taste eased with sugar in her mouth, allowing Natalie to calm herself and keep her mouth open.

Finally, after managing to swallow a bowl of medicine, Natalie declared, "I'm skipping breakfast!" That was the only thought on her mind right now. She just wanted to eat lots and lots of sugar.

Normally, she wasn't a big fan of sweets and consumed very little sugary food.

But this time, there was just no other way. Besides sweet things, nothing else could alleviate the taste!

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 591

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 591-Because That's What You Wanted In the morning, Natalie was fumbling around in the small courtyard. She was trying to find her way, but then someone grabbed her wrist.

The man gently held her and pulled her into his arms. "You don't need to do all this. novelbin In their previous life, she was accustomed to struggling in the darkness.

However, in Cedric's eyes, she didn't need to make such efforts in this life.

will my eyes really get better?" Up to this point, Natalie couldn't help but doubt whether she could truly get better.

After all, what was it?

The medicine was so bitter!

It seemed impossible to think she could recover by just taking that kind of medicine!

Cedric replied, "Yes!" H On this point, Cedric was confident. Regardless of the cost, he was determined to make Natalie better!

Natalie was silent.

Really?

In her previous life, she spent her time in darkness until she reached the end!

During that time in darkness, what she felt the most was pain.

Undoubtedly, she was afraid.

Despite trying to adapt to the darkness.... she was still afraid.

And now, why did she have to adapt so hard?

In her previous life, she had learned something big...!

Her sense of direction wasn't very good.

If her sense of direction had been good, she might have been able to escape.

But why didn't she ultimately escape?

It was because she lost her way at the most crucial moment!

"Cedric, did you know?" +15 BONUS "What?" "In our previous life, I did my sense of direction!" "Nat..." everything well in the darkness. But in the end, I completely lost "When I smelled the thick smoke then, I wanted to escape!" Yes, she didn't give up until the very I moment.

So why did she ultimately give up?

"Do you know why I gave up at the end?" For the first time, Natalie spoke bitterly about the past.

Since she arrived here, she had never faced what she had avoided.

So, why confront it now?

"Why?" Actually, this was the aspect that puzzled Cedric the most across both lifetimes.

She was familiar with Scarlet Villa's layout. Back then, it was relatively easy for her to leave the place if she wanted to.

So why?

This was also the question Cedric had always wanted to ask!

However, the various things from their past life were so painful that even bringing them up hurt.

Every time it was brought up, hysteria awaited. After a while, Cedric rarely mentioned it. He just wanted Natalie to be better.

As long as she was emotionally well, he didn't need to know anything. Now that Natalie brought it up voluntarily, Cedric was even more curious...!

Natalie replied, "Isabella told me that I was pregnant! At that time, even though I had lost the will to live, I still wanted the child to survive." Although she couldn't sense the child's existence then, she knew she was a mother.

It was a mother's instinct, At the most critical and dangerous moment, she wanted to protect her child.

Natalie was a mother!

+15 BONUS She wanted to protect her child, but why did she give up at the most crucial moment?!

Natalie took a deep breath and said, "The servants outside the sea of fire were talking. They said not to call the fire department... because that's what you wanted!" She knew that Isabella... had started the fire.

However, the servants said it was Cedric's idea.

When she heard that, any hope she felt was immediately extinguished

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 592-The Despair +15 BONUS When Cedric heard Natalie's words, a storm brewed in his eyes, and the strength of his arms around Natalie intensified.

If that had happened... what kind of despair had she experienced at that moment?

Cedric couldn't help but tremble.

Nat... his Nat...!

"Nat, things aren't like that! I didn't want that!" Cedric said in a somewhat hoarse voice.

How could he?

Even if he had to endure such pain himself, he would never let Natalie go through it.

The situation back then was definitely not like that!

“Nat, believe me.” Cedric was anxious.

More than that, he felt heartbroken for Natalie.

Damn him!

At that time, how desperate must Natalie have been!

They had ten years between them...!

What kind of pain and despair did she feel when such information was given to her?
What did she feel as she left the world...?

Cedric couldn't bear to think about it at this moment.

He knew that if he had been in Natalie's place, he would feel the same pain and despair.

“But you know what else Isabella said? She said she was pregnant!!

Yes!

Under different circumstances, Natalie wouldn't have believed it either.

But Isabella told her that she was also carrying Cedric's child.

And that was when Natalie felt true despair.

She was just drowning in anguish...! novelbin The information was overwhelming, and it came one after another.

+15 BONUS How did she endure it? How did she bear it?

As Cedric held her, he shook uncontrollably, indicating the kind of pain he was currently enduring.

Natalie continued, “As I felt my consciousness slip away at the final moment... I hated you!” So, how could Natalie forgive him?

Regardless of what happened between them, Natalie probably wouldn't.

And Cedric understood.

This was the reason she couldn't accept everything!

“I understand. Don't say it anymore!” He didn't want to hear it.

No one knew that every word Natalie uttered at this moment was torment for Cedric.

Every word was like a knife to his heart. It repeatedly stabbed at him, and it caused a suffocating sensation in his chest!

It was too cruel!

Just listening to those things was so cruel.

If just listening was this bad, how did Natalie feel back then? She had been in the midst of it and enduring the pain!

“Nat...” Cedric choked up.

At this moment, Natalie felt a cool sensation on her neck, but such coolness couldn't ease her inner turmoil.

She took a deep breath and said, “Now that you know, do you think I can accept Isabella's sacrifices for me?” Could she?

No!

Regardless of what sacrifices Isabella made for her afterward, Natalie could never forgive her.

“In that case, do you still think I can accept Kayla?” No. It didn't matter how pitiable that child might be.

No matter how kind-hearted Natalie was, she absolutely couldn't accept... Isabella's daughter!

It was too much.

+15 BONUS She had suffered too much pain from Isabella and Cedric.

She couldn't even forgive, let alone accept anything related to them.

“I was wrong. It was my fault!” Cedric exclaimed hoarsely.

He was truly despicable!

He actually...!

He didn't know how much pain Natalie had been in as she lost consciousness in the sea of fire in their previous life.

What right did he have to ask her for forgiveness?

What right did he have to expect her to accept everything related to Isabella?

He had no right! He wasn't human for asking that of her.

Yet he still dared to ask...!

"I'm sorry. I was wrong," Cedric said with a heavy feeling in his chest.

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 593- Delusional At that time, how could he have forced Natalie?

Looking back on it now....

Yes, he had forced Natalie.

He did it because Isabella ultimately sacrificed herself for Natalie in their previous life.

So, he arrogantly assumed that Natalie had to accept Kayla and take good care of her in this lifetime.

But now, he reflected on it...!

After he heard what Natalie said, Cedric knew that Natalie had never owed anyone anything...!

It was no wonder Natalie always said that Isabella deserved everything she had endured!

It was her retribution.

After all, Natalie had died in such despair back then.

"I was wrong. I'm sorry!" Cedric repeated.

"And you not only wanted me to accept Kayla but also wanted me to admit that I owe Isabella?"

Actually, Natalie could overlook those things..

However, Cedric felt his throat tightened!

He had no right to demand anything from Natalie.

He had no right at all!

Natalie continued, "You even want to use Luna to save Kayla!" Her words were filled with unprecedented coldness and danger.

Yes.

She could tolerate everything else, but this was the most unbearable and unacceptable.

It was truly the most unforgivable thing he had done.

"I was wrong." Cedric admitted his mistake!

However, his heart was also undergoing a painful upheaval. The despair he felt now... was almost the same as the despair Natalie had once endured.

+15 BONUS novelbin Now, it all fell upon him in its entirety.

He was hurting.

It was as if he was slowly feeling the pain Natalie had endured back then.

"You were wrong? Haha...!" Hearing Cedric's admission of guilt, Natalie laughed sarcastically.

"What wrong have you done?!" Cedric was always so self-righteous, with such a strong sense of autonomy. Anything he decided, no matter who it was, had to follow his train of thought!

He never knew what others had to endure.

And why had everything become like this?

Cedric never knew the reason.

So, how could he know that he was wrong?

"N" Cedric trembled and held Natalie tightly Natalie took a deep breath and said mockingly, "You weren't wrong. You've never been wrong.

"It's me who was wrong. I was completely out of line!" "It was me! I deluded myself about you!" Yes, it was nothing but a delusion.

From the very beginning, this man had hidden motives when he approached her.

However, she didn't see anything clearly back then. She blindly believed in Cedric.

Since that was the case, wasn't she in the wrong?

“Nat, don’t say such things.” It hurt so much.

Cedric felt like his world was spinning, and everything was completely overturned.

She owed no one, and she didn’t need to accept anything!

In the remaining years of her life, she just needed to focus on how to be well on her own.

+15 BONUS She didn’t need to accommodate anyone.

But he...!

“I was the one who was delusional!

“When you approached me, it was always with other motives! I will never be that person, and I’ll never receive your favor.” The final part of her sentence carried a heavy weight, and they were undeniably true.

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 594-Just a Substitute After all was said and done....

Because she wasn’t Blair, she ultimately didn’t receive Cedric’s love and favor.

Without Blair, to whom did all that favor go?

Isabella, then Kayla... Everyone but Natalie.

Even during these twenty-plus days, Natalie had the same thoughts. If Blair were here, Cedric’s favor would probably be entirely on Blair.

No matter how Isabella schemed, in the end....

Yes.

In the end, this favor was never given to Natalie because she was just a substitute.

So, every time something happened, naturally...!.

“Nat, things are not as you think!” “Cedric, that’s enough,” Natalie said, interrupting Cedric.

Enough.

Let all of this end.

Really, it was enough!

“Nat.” Cedric’s throat had tightened at Natalie’s words, and the stifling feeling in his chest became more painful.

Enough?

Why did she have to say such things?

In fact, she...!

“Nat.” “I can handle the doctor on my own. You should return to Wexford.” Things between them had already reached this point. There was no possibility of them reconciling.

So, what was the point of continuing this...?

“Things between us have been impossible a long time ago” “In fact, you already knew from the start that it was impossible between us, right?” Natalie was just a substitute, so how else could this have ended?

She had never been so calm.

And this calmness made Cedric’s heart ache because he understood what this truly meant.

It was more unsettling than her shouting in anger. Without even the anger, it meant that Natalie must have seen things more clearly and understood her own heart more clearly.

With such be so calm, she knew exactly what she wanted for her future, which was why she could. And with that, it meant that there was no place for Cedric in her future.

That was why she could be so calm, “Nat.” “I know the situation over at Wexford isn’t looking good right now. If my eyes recover, we’ll consider our grievances settled.” “You...” “From now on, we’ll never cross paths again!” Natalie really didn’t want this to continue.

Every second she spent with Cedric made her feel suffocated.

All these things made her realize clearly why she and Cedric had started in the first place.

It wasn’t because of who she was.

It was because of a woman named Blair.

“I don’t want to owe you in the end!!”

After all, the situation at Wexford isn't good right now. If Cedric continued to stay with her here... He would undoubtedly count this as another debt she owed him when trouble arose.

She had witnessed his madness and didn't want to go through it again.

"Nat, you don't owe me for this. You..." "Let's go." Natalie didn't want to hear anymore, and she had no patience to continue.

That was how her attitude toward Cedric was now.

She had no patience at all to deal with him.

Cedric also sensed the indifference in her tone. This kind of indifference made him acutely aware of the depth of the gap between them.

They could never go back to the past they once shared.

Never!

"Is it really impossible for us, no matter what I do now?" "I'm just a substitute," Natalie said calmly.

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 595-You Never Were The calmness in Natalie's tone caused Cedric's world to collapse in an instant.

His mind went blank as if his entire world had shattered.

This feeling was unbearable, and Cedric was now bearing everything that Natalie had once endured.

This woman had started out from hysteria to her current calmness when dealing with him. It happened because she must have accumulated enough disappointment and pain to reach such a state.

"You're not, Nat. You never were..." She wasn't and never had been.

Cedric knew very well who Natalie truly was. From the beginning, he recognized that she wasn't a substitute for anyone.

Natalie smiled.

Everything before her eyes was black.

She couldn't see anything. How could she see through people's hearts?

She... couldn't see.

Perhaps, when she wanted to see clearly in the past, she never really saw anything.

So now, she just didn't want to see at all.

Cedric tightened his arms around her. "Nat, you never were! I won't allow you to say such things about yourself!

She was proud.

She had always been proud in matters of the heart, and Cedric was well aware of that. So when.

Natalie said these words, he panicked.

He didn't want to hear her say such things.

Natalie fell silent.

She had said what needed to be said. Whether this man could take it in was up to him.

Even after Natalie had said so much, Cedric showed no intention of leaving.

Wexford was in chaos, and many people were looking for him. Despite the situation, he still had no intention of leaving her side.

Then, another piece of news arrived.

Kayla had relapsed.

During lunch, Natalie could hear the person on the other end speaking when Cedric took the call.

When Cedric heard about Kayla's relapse, he instinctively looked at Natalie.

She had just taken her medicine. Beads of sweat on her forehead were evident. Whether she was accustomed to the taste or not, she was still trying her best to tolerate the medicine.

Then, Cedric replied, "I understand." Without waiting for the person to say anything else, he hung up.

The atmosphere in the dining room turned cold.

Lydia and Xyla exchanged glances, both looking at Natalie and Cedric with concern. Having spent so much time around Natalie, they naturally knew what kind of presence Kayla held between Cedric and Natalie and what it meant.

It was a was a critical time for Natalie's recovery.

But with the news about Kayla....

What a headache! novelbin As for Cedric...!

Forget about their past.

Right now, while Natalie was in the most difficult period of her life....

What would Cedric choose?

Would he choose to leave Natalie's side?

If he did that...!

Lydia and Xyla knew what would happen.

It was simple.

If Cedric chose to leave this time... the already challenging path between them would become.

even more difficult.

Previously, Lydia and Xyla had significant reservations about Cedric.

However, they had recently seen Cedric's dedication to Natalie. Lydia and Xyla couldn't help but admit that things could have been very good if there were no obstacles between them.

Unfortunately, what needed to happen had already occurred, and some things were inherently uncontrollable.

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 596-Are You Leaving?

"Nat." Finally, Cedric broke the silence.

His voice was tense as he looked at Natalie.

Natalie carefully set down the small bowl she was holding on the dining table. Despite Cedric's numerous assurances that her eyes would surely get better, Natalie still persevered in adapting to this darkness.

In her previous life, she had given up hope for life in the end, but things were different this time.

She had too many important people in this life—parents, a brother, and even a child. No matter what, she was determined to live.

Whether it was Edward's medical skills or the surgery, success was not guaranteed.

She didn't put her hope entirely in anyone.

So, no matter what was waiting in the future for her, she would strive to adapt to the darkness.

As for the man by her side....

He had never been the pillar to hold up her world.

He was never someone she could entirely rely on.

Not in her previous life, and certainly not in this one.

Natalie was well aware of this fact.

"Are you leaving?" Her tone was very calm.

"Nat." "Go ahead," Natalie said in the same calm tone.

Cedric was silent, and the suffocating feeling in his chest returned.

Once, in their previous life, Natalie's discomfort was obvious every time Cedric left for Isabella.

But now?

That discomfort had completely disappeared.

It was impossible for Cedric to feel nothing when Natalie acted this way!

During this time they were in Yuloria, Cedric's heart always tightened when he was with +15 BONUS "Nat." Cedric took a deep breath, calling her name.

Natalie smiled serenely and said, "I know, it's about life and death. There's nothing you can do about it." Natalie was too calm.

She was too calm about these things.

Cedric wished that she would kick up a fuss at this moment. He wished she would unleash her anger and demand why he didn't keep his promise to accompany her on the path to recovery. He hoped she would be furious with him, but she wasn't.

Natalie remained calm.

Why was she so calm?

It was because he had always been an unreliable presence in her eyes. That was why she could remain so serene now.

"You can't help it," Natalie said with a smile.

That was just how Cedric was in her eyes.

It didn't matter what promises and assurances he had given her just moments ago.

When it came to the crucial moment, and the person he favored was in trouble, he would think about leaving Natalie without hesitation.

That was exactly what was happening now.

Even if he was reluctant to leave Natalie and couldn't bear to part with her, he was inwardly struggling.

And in the end... This struggle would end with his desire to leave Natalie.

That was how Cedric was.

After a long while, the answer became clear.

Finally, Cedric said, "I'll go check, and I'll be back soon." Natalie didn't respond, clearly indifferent to his decision. This nonchalant attitude only tightened Cedric's heart even more.

He wanted... and even hoped that Natalie would urge him to stay.

Unfortunately, she didn't.

She just sat quietly in her place.

And now... finally, it had come to this She had done it!

In the face of anything that happened, she remained so calm.

And the only one left to suffer was Cedric

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 597-What Favoritism?

In the end, Cedric left.

Despite his apparent anguish in front of Natalie upon hearing about Kayla's relapse, he still left.

The dining room fell into a long, profound silence.

Lydia and Xyla turned to Natalie with heartbroken looks on their faces.

"Miss," Lydia stepped forward, wanting to give Natalie a comforting hug.

Natalie replied, "Now, have you learned what favoritism truly means?" Favoritism!

Indeed... If one wasn't the only one in someone's heart, they often had a form of favoritism. No matter how important they were in someone's heart, they would ultimately face hardship if that favoritism wasn't directed toward them.

The old Natalie didn't understand these dynamics, but now, she understood.

Did she have a place in Cedric's heart?

Yes, undoubtedly.

Even as a substitute, she occupied a position.

However, she was still just a substitute, and substitutes could never gain a man's favoritism.

"Miss, can we just ignore him from now on?" Lydia said as her heart ached for Natalie.

Now, they finally understood why Natalie repeatedly refused to get close to Cedric. They even understood why Heather was so biased against Cedric now.

Those biases weren't baseless.

"Lydia." "Yes, Miss." "Regardless of the circumstances, we must learn to protect ourselves because many things in this world are not as they seem." In the past, hadn't Natalie been arrogant in her relationship with Cedric?

She had!

It was her arrogance that ultimately led to her suffering in that relationship.

“Yes, Miss.” ” “We’ll remember.” In the face of Natalie and Cedric’s situation, who dared to have any romantic notions?

Emotions seemed too burdensome. Just a single misstep and one could be irreversibly devastated.

His departure did not go unnoticed by those who paid attention, especially Irwin.

After the news spread, he closely watched Cedric’s movements. So when he learned that Cedric had left Yuloria, he immediately rushed over.

Cedric landed in Wexford, while Irwin landed in Yuloria.

At the breakfast table the next day, the atmosphere was heavy.

Natalie frowned as she sat with the strong, bitter medicine before her. When Cedric was around, taking the medicine was a difficult task for her.

However, in Cedric’s absence, she finished the entire bowl almost effortlessly.

“Miss,” Lydia watched Natalie trembling all over and felt heartbroken.

In truth, when Natalie learned that the old man was Edward Larkin, she also held hope for his medical skills.

It was because Heather had once sought out Edward for her. Unfortunately, he had already retired at that time, and his whereabouts were unknown, making it impossible to find him.

That was why they had no choice but to focus on the option of surgery..

Unexpectedly, Cedric managed to locate the man.

“Sugar.” Natalie opened her mouth.

A piece of candy was placed in her mouth. However, the scent carrying the taste of rain reached her nose. There was also a cold presence in the air.

She was familiar with this presence.

She instantly furrowed her brows.

+15 BONUS Natalie called out, "Lydia." "She's gone." the man replied in a meaningful tone.

Sure enough, it was Irwin. Natalie asked, "Why are you here?" Her tone wasn't friendly.

Clearly, whether it was Cedric or Irwin, the matter with Blair remained a sore point for her.

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 598-You're Not the Most Important One Cedric was unforgivable, and the same applied to Irwin in her eyes.

Irwin didn't directly answer her question. He waved his hand before her eyes and asked, "You really can't see anything?" Natalie replied, "It's none of your business!" She didn't want to entertain the man's questions.

Irwin pulled out a chair and sat beside her. Lydia and Xyla had carefully prepared the soup on table. It was nutritious and met Natalie's dietary needs.

It had to be said that the Jarvis family took good care of her wherever she went.

"I'm sorry," Irwin said, referring to the incident at Mount Elven.

At that time, he only wanted to keep her from knowing about Blair. He hadn't realized the extent of the harm that Mount Elven's snow and sun would cause her.

Natalie responded, "It was inevitable." She took Irwin's apology with a calm attitude.

After experiencing so much, she became less inclined to on such matters. In the past.

she might have been hysterical about the things happening in her life, but now she accepted it with a calm heart.

Natalie's eyes had been pronounced incurable by the doctor, except through surgery. Even with Edward, there was only a possibility of recovery without surgery.

It wasn't a guarantee.

"Was it you?" Natalie asked.

Irwin remained silent, understanding that she was referring to Kayla's situation.

Cedric had just left, and Irwin appeared in Yuloria shortly after.

If someone told her that there was no direct connection between Irwin and Kayla's condition, Natalie might find it hard to believe.

Irwin had a solemn look on his face. "You've guessed it." "You're still so calculating," Natalie remarked.

Once again, Cedric fell victim to Irwin's schemes. However, it wasn't like Natalie was in a better position.

At his moment, she didn't have the right to call Cedric an idiot. She had been manipulated by this man for ten years, revealing the depth of Irwin's cunning.

It seemed that anyone he wanted to manipulate wouldn't be able to escape.

Irwin said, "I'm not at ease when you're with him!" It was the truth, especially in this situation, which was different from any other time.

He used Kayla to force Cedric out, aiming to find Natalie's whereabouts. She didn't mince her words and bluntly said, "What a hypocrite!" Irwin chuckled.

"Is this how you see me now, Nat?" Natalie replied, "Whatever image it is, you brought it upon yourself!" Since he had manipulated others, why bother caring about the image he portrayed in their hearts?

Natalie genuinely despised this aspect of Irwin, and he didn't bother arguing with her.

Irwin advised, "Mr. Larkin's medicine should be very effective for you. Make sure to take it." Irwin also knew Edward?

He was the same as Stephen and the others!

When Irwin learned about Natalie's damaged eyes, he wanted to find Edward. Unfortunately, Edward had a peculiar temperament and disappeared after retiring.

Unexpectedly, he was hiding in a place like Yuloria for retirement.

"Nat, what do you feel about him now?" Irwin asked directly, and Natalie was momentarily stunned.

It was evident she didn't understand what he meant.

Irwin continued, "You've seen that you're not the most important person in his heart. That's not because of my manipulation!" It wasn't because of his manipulation?

That was right.

It was because she was just a substitute!

EXPLOSIVE UP...

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 599-hapter 599 Outmaneuvered Natalie sneered and said, "That's how his heart is, but aren't you the same as well?" Cedric had approached Natalie because of Blair, but what about Irwin?

He had approached Natalie because of both Cedric and Blair!

Irwin's eyes dimmed when he heard Natalie's words.

Before Irwin could speak, Natalie continued, "No matter how hysterically you confront each other, there is a common point." "Nat!" "The infection in both your heart and his is equally significant!" Irwin hated Cedric because of Blair, and he had pulled Natalie into his schemes because of that.

Irwin looked at Natalie and simply continued staring at her...!

His chest felt a bit suffocated. His warm palm covered Natalie's cold hand, but Natalie instinctively withdrew her hand.

"Nat." "Why bother?" Natalie sneered.

This simple phrase tightened Irwin's heart.

He wanted to say something, but at that moment, there was nothing he could say.

The issue he and Cedric both worried about before, about how Natalie would react when she found out the truth, was unfolding exactly as feared.

She... couldn't forgive any of them.

Meanwhile, Cedric arrived in Wexford and discovered the child was perfectly fine.

Lucas said, "Miss Kayla just had a cold and went to the hospital. You don't need to worry! It's already past the critical period where her body could have rejected the donor, so there won't be any problems." Cedric's expression became darker and colder.

He asked, "Where is Irwin now?" Irwin!

Right!

EXPLOSIVE UP Perintah Kaisar Nagae diperbaru dengan 29 bab sekaligus When Cedric discovered Kayla was unharmed, his immediate thought went to Irwin!

Irwin...!

“Mr. Frazier hasn’t been in Wexford these past two days. novelbin He wasn’t in Wexford?”

“Where did he go?” “I’m not sure about that, but he didn’t go to Simeria either.” Not in Wexford, and not in Simeria either?

It was clear that Irwin had gone somewhere Cedric’s already dangerously dark eyes became even more menacing He picked up his phone and dialed a number.

The call was quickly answered, and Cedric asked with a sinister tone, “Irwin, where Whatever was said on the other end of the line made Cedric’s fare even darker His expression was full of danger and hostility.

Bang!

Cedric threw the phone forcefully to the ground.

He actually...!

Seeing Cedric’s reaction, Lucas probably understood that it was Irwin who leaked the news about Kayla’s relapse.

And because Cedric returned, Irwin could easily track his whereabouts.

So when Cedric came back, Irwin went to Yuloria.

Cedric rose swiftly, and the air around him was significantly colder.

“Your Excellency...” Lucas approached, looking at Cedric with concern.

“Watch over things here!” Cedric instructed.

His words implied that he was going back to Yuloria. It was easy to guess what Irwin intended by orchestrating Cedric’s departure.

He had been plotting for more than a decade!

Until now, was it not enough? Did he still want to continue scheming? How long would he Lucas looked solemn. He hesitated momentarily and said, “But the situation here right now...” Even though Cedric had only just returned to Wexford, he naturally understood the current situation.

A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 600-She’s Sick There had been frequent news about Robert Entes in Simeria, but nothing solid had been confirmed.

If something were to happen suddenly, that document... was the most important thing!

Cedric stood rooted to the spot. At that moment, he trembled as if he were trying hard to restrain something.

Then he said firmly. "Keep an eye on things!" Lucas remained silent.

At these words, his heart sank He could see it!

This time, regardless of what was happening around him, Cedric was determined to stand by Natalie's side.

This was his Once, Cedric had been absent throughout the important moments in Natalie's life.

Now, no matter what happened, he would prioritize Natalie!

Meanwhile, the weather was constantly changing in Yuloria.

"Cough, cough...!"

Natalie coughed incessantly. Her nose was blocked, and she looked quite feeble.

Lydia and Xyla were extremely worried.

"The air here is good, but the climate is too harsh," Lydia said with concern.

Natalie couldn't afford to catch a cold during her recovery period, but now she was sick!

What should they do?

Moreover, she was already taking a lot of medicine, and Natalie herself felt dizzy from all the medication.

Irwin watched Natalie's tormented look and immediately scooped her up. "Let's go to the hospital." "Mr. Frazier!" Seeing Irwin carrying Natalie out directly, Lydia hurriedly stepped forward to intercept.

he rain outside was heavy now.

"I'm not going to the hospital!" Natalie said in a muffled tone.

Judging from how she sounded, she also had a sore throat.

When she first arrived here, she held on for such a long time.

But now? Could she still hold on? Even someone with a robust body would struggle in this unpredictable weather. In that case, how could Natalie be expected not to?

Her body was never strong to begin with. Back in Simeria, Heather took various care for her body.

Now, without Heather, Natalie couldn't bear it much longer.

Tures to "The rain outside is too heavy now. Please wait." Lydia quickly went inside to find suitable clothes for Natalie.

She carefully wrapped Natalie up and even held two umbrellas, escorting them to the car.

Regardless of how much Natalie complained about not wanting to go to the hospital, Irwin ignored her.

In the car, Natalie sat in the darkness. When the car started, her heightened sensitivity to the darkness made her more aware of everything around her.

"I'm here. There's no need to be afraid," Irwin said gently as he took her hand.

Obviously, he noticed that Natalie was actually scared. After all, she couldn't see anything now, and going to an unfamiliar environment was not pleasant for her.

Natalie pulled her hand away from his.

Her cold reaction made Irwin feel even more bitter. Even in such a desperate situation, she seemed unwilling to rely on him at all.

During their journey to the hospital, Irwin held Natalie the whole way without letting go.

On the surface, she appeared strong. But in Irwin's eyes, he could only imagine the pressure she was under in the darkness.

"You have a fever. Why did you wait until now to come here?" the doctor measured Natalie's temperature and remarked.

Natalie remained silent.

A fever?

She was somewhat afraid of the chilly weather, so she must have caught a cold, right?

When Cedric was around previously, he insisted on sleeping with her in the same bed to keep her warm at night. He didn't care how much she resisted and did it anyway. Now that he was gone, she... fell ill!
