Starting with A Divorce Chapter 61-Manuel Will Pay Today

Just as Ainsley was analyzing the psychology of the students, the door to the consultation room was suddenly pushed open.

“Ainsley! Why did you do this?”

Kaitlin rushed in angrily. She put the phone screen in front of Ainsley.

“I’m working!” Ainsley coldly glanced at her.

The student who was doing the consultation was given a fright and immediately stood up. “Ainsley, I will come to find you next time.”

Only the two were in the consultation room. Kaitlin gritted her teeth and said, “I already apologized at the banquet yesterday. Why did you post this on the forum? Ainsley, you really are a ***!”

“I don’t understand what you are saying.” Ainsley ignored Kaitlin and began to busy herself with her matters.

Kaitlin’s face turned red, and her voice became impatient. “Don’t pretend that you don’t understand. The other people did not know about what happened at the banquet yesterday. Who else could post it on the forum?”

Ainsley glanced at her phone screen. Only then did she understand what Kaitlin was saying. “I don’t know about this matter. It has nothing to do with me. Before coming in and shouting and questioning, you’d better find evidence to prove that I was the one who did Now, please leave! This is the Psychological Counseling Room. I am not in charge of consulting the students who make a scene.”

“You did it, but you don’t dare admit it. Aren’t you doing this to take revenge on my brother? Let me tell you. He will never like a woman like you!” Kaitlin shrugged her shoulders.

Ainsley stood up and stared at her coldly. "Kaitlin, your brother has nothing to do with me. Don't forget that the video is still in my hands. Get out immediately!"

"Delete the post right now. Otherwise, I won't leave!" Kaitlin's eyes were bloodshot, and she sat down.

"I did it! If you wanna do something, come at me." A clear voice sounded out, and Serina ran in with a stack of documents in her hand.

"Serina?" Ainsley looked at her in confusion.

Serina had already walked over to Kaitlin. "It wasn't Ainsley who did it. I posted it online. You did something wrong and left just to pretend that nothing had happened. How could there be such a good thing in this world? I want everyone to know what you did!"

"You! Serina!" Kaitlin was so angry that her hands trembled.

But the one Kaitlin did not dare offend the most was Serina!

Why did everyone want to protect Ainsley? Serina wanted to protect her! So did Manuel!

"If you don't leave now, I'll call for security! You're causing a ruckus in the counseling room. If you don't leave now, I'll chase you out of the University of Washington!" Serina said angrily.

Kaitlin glared at Ainsley and immediately left.

Once Kaitlin left, Serina immediately looked at Ainsley worriedly. "Ainsley, did she bully you?"

"Did you post it on the forum?" Ainsley raised a hand to pinch Serina's face.

She did not exert any strength, but Serina's face was still slightly red."

Serina touched her cheek and stomped her feet angrily. "In the past, she talked nonsense on the forum every day. This time, I have to let her have a taste of being slandered!"

"Well done," Ainsley smiled.

"Ainsley, has the proposal been passed?"

The proposal should have been handed over early in the morning. The university attached great importance to this competition event, and the approval should not take more than a few hours.

"Yes, it has. But the Organization Department has to help me with the sponsorship this time."

The previous sponsorship was supported by the Baldry family. This year, because of her, the Baldry family would not sponsor this event.

"Ainsley, did I make a great contribution?" Serina smiled.

"Yes, thanks to you."

"Then I want you to have dinner with me tonight." Serina held her arm and shook it.

Ainsley thought that the proposal had been passed and agreed on it. "Okay, I will treat you to a meal."

"OK!"

Serina came out of the counseling room and immediately made a phone call, "Manuel, come pick me up after school. I want you to eat with me."

"What? Meeting? No! Manuel, you must come to pick me up. Otherwise, you will definitely regret it. Don't forget."

Hearing the helpless reply on the phone, Serina smiled.

At the entrance of the University of Washington, a black Cayenne stopped at the door. Some students from school looked at it curiously.

Serina pulled Ainsley and looked around. "There!" Serina ran over excitedly.

When she saw the car, Ainsley was stunned. Serina also asked Manuel to go with them.

Manuel had already seen Ainsley. Before he could greet her, he saw Serina rushing over. She whispered into his ear, "Manuel, I've brought her out. You have to perform well!"

Serina revealed a bright smile and waved at Ainsley. "Ainsley, come over quickly."

Ainsley walked over. "Mr. Gage, I didn't expect Serina to call you."

"What? Are you unhappy to see me?"

"No," Ainsley smiled.

Manuel raised his eyebrows, "Then you're happy?"

Serina immediately opened the car door. "Ainsley, I want to lie in the back seat today. You can sit in the front."

Ainsley nimbly got in the car and avoided Manuel's question.

At the school gate, Kaitlin and Jenny just happened to be going out.

"Kaitlin, is it Ainsley and Serina over there? There's also a man..."

Kaitlin frowned and looked over. She saw the three of them get into the car and stomped her feet in anger.

They were stuck together at the banquet yesterday, and Manuel actually came over to pick her up!

"Ms. Easton really knows how to up with men. Let's not call it a psychological counseling class. She can teach students how to seduce men!”

Jenny pursed her lips, not daring to speak.

In the Cayenne, Serina leaned over and specifically said to Ainsley, “Ainsley, I called my brother here today to trick him. He has to treat us! Let’s go to Pearl Hotel!”

“Aisy, you’ve heard it. She still remembers the last time you treated me. You have to let me pay this time.”

“OK.” Ainsley did not know whether to laugh or cry.

When Roman saw the three people coming over, his eyes almost popped out. Last time, Ainsley paid more than 30 thousand dollars.

They came again.

Manuel glanced at Manuel a few times and thought, how can he be so mean!

Manuel took the menu over and flipped through the menu in a bad mood.

Suddenly, Serina said, “Manuel will pay today.”

Roman’s eyes suddenly lit up, and he turned the menu to the last page. “Ms. Easton, I strongly recommend this Australian Lobster. I am the best at making this! You guys are really lucky. This batch of lobster arrived this morning. It’s limited, and can only make four pieces!”

Roman frantically winked at Manuel. This time, Roman wanted to take revenge for Ainsley!

“I think this soup is also good! And this steak!”

Ainsley heard his recommendation and said, “Why don’t we just order the ones we ate last time?”

Roman glared at Manuel fiercely.

Manuel had no choice but to say, “Aisy, no need to be so polite.”

Starting with A Divorce Chapter 62-Sponsor

Manuel said to Roman, “Why don’t you serve all the food you think is delicious?”

Roman finally accepted the menu with satisfaction. He first served the Australian Lobster that he had just mentioned, and Serina stared at it.

At the Baldry’s home.

After Kaitlin returned home, she threw a tantrum, “Mom, it’s so embarrassing! Today, the school forum is filled with discussions about things I did at the banquet yesterday. Those students are all looking at me with strange expressions!”

Lindsay immediately stood up and frowned tightly. “It must be Ainsley! She just doesn’t want our Baldry family to be good!”

“It must be her! After I saw this, I went to question her. She still refused to admit it, and Serina admitted that she did it for her. She must ask Serina to deliberately deal with me. She just doesn’t want me to have a good future! What should I do? I don’t want to go to school now!” As Kaitlin spoke, she began to cry.

Lindsay felt sorry for her daughter and immediately contacted the school leaders to ask them to delete the relevant information on the forum. However, they quickly found that after deleting a post, another post was quickly pushed to the top.

Kalayah heard the sounds downstairs and heard Kaitlin’s crying. From the intermittent conversation, she also knew what had happened.

Kalayah sneered. Kaitlin was an idiot. If she caused trouble, she would come back and cry. However, the matter between her and Cason still had to rely on Kaitlin and Lindsay.

Thinking of this, Kalayah immediately went downstairs. “What happened to Kaitlin?”

The moment Kaitlin saw her, she recalled what had happened yesterday. An uncontrollable anger flashed through her eyes. “It was all because of you! Last night, it was you who came up with a bad idea, yet you wanted me to take the blame. If I hadn’t listened to your idea yesterday, I wouldn’t be laughed at by my classmates today.”

Kaliyah was angry, but she did not express it. She gently said, "Kaitlin, it was my fault yesterday, anxious." but I also wanted to help you. Now that something has happened, I am also very Cason pushed open the door and said with a cold expression, "You're running away from what you did wrong. You even pushed the blame onto Kaliyah. I think you should reflect on yourself."

"Cason, you can't say this to your sister. It was all Ainsley's fault! The Gage family has been protecting her indiscriminately. The Gage family must be cheated by her!" Lindsay cursed.

Cason suddenly remembered the appearance of Manuel and Ainsley at the banquet yesterday. He felt like a thorn stuck in his throat. He couldn't swallow or take it out. No matter how he thought about it, it was awkward.

"Cason, you are not allowed to sponsor Ainsley's Psychology Quiz Show, nor are you allowed to ask others to sponsor her!" Kaitlin pouted and tugged at Cason's sleeve.

Cason hesitated. "It has always been the Baldry family sponsoring it. If this time..."

"Cason! Why didn't you help me? I just wanted Ainsley to have no other choice but to beg me.

Moreover, you gave her so much money. She can sponsor herself!" Kaitlin felt angry when she thought of 12 million dollars.

Kaliyah could see Cason's hesitation, so she said, "Cason, just promise Kaitlin. Ms. Easton has been so close to Mr. Gage recently. Maybe Mr. Gage will help her."

Cason's face suddenly turned cold. "Does she really have a relationship with the Gage family?"

Lindsay took the opportunity to say, "This woman is not simple. She made a mistake first and asked for a divorce. But you gave her so many houses. I don't know how happy she is."

"You don't have to mention this matter anymore. I am investigating. As for the sponsorship, I don't believe that Manuel will help her all the time." Cason's eyes were filled with coldness. He suddenly remembered what he saw that day at Pearl Hotel, and his expression became gloomy.

At Pearl Hotel.

A pleasant ringtone interrupted Ainsley's conversation. She picked up the phone, and the people of the Organization Department were very anxious to talk about the sponsorship.

Ainsley also did not expect that the Baldry family would directly warn most of the families in Seattle. that they could not sponsor them.

The school board of the University of Washington also turned a deaf ear to this matter. After all, no one would offend the Baldry family for a teacher.

Even if they were not afraid of offending the Baldry family, there was no need to meddle in this kind of business.

"Alright, I will think of a way to deal with this."

Ainsley hung up the phone and frowned.

Manuel put a piece of beef on her plate and asked with concern, "What's wrong? Whose phone call?"

Ainsley shook her head. "It's okay."

She already owed Manuel too much and did not want to owe him more.

"I know why Ainsley is worried!" Serina finished eating the chicken and took out her phone to flip through it.

"It's okay. I can solve this problem." Ainsley glanced at her phone and immediately blocked the screen.

Ainsley thought, at worst, I can sponsor it myself.

Manuel's expression became a bit gloomy. "Could it be that Aisy is hiding something from me?"

Serina immediately said, "Manuel, the competition that Ainsley is in charge of has been tampered with. It's fine if the Baldry family doesn't want to sponsor it, but they actually told others not to sponsor it. They're too hateful. It must be Kaitlin's trick!"

Suddenly, Serina glanced at Manuel, and her brow instantly relaxed. "Ainsley, why are you going everywhere to solicit sponsorship? Isn't there a boss here?"

The corners of Manuel's mouth curled into a smile, and his gaze gradually heated up as he waited for Ainsley to speak.

Ainsley's expression was calm as she looked at Manuel thoughtfully. In the end, she still said, "Then is Mr. Gage willing to sponsor this competition? I believe that this competition will definitely bring the reputation of the Gage Group to a new level."

She did not have the confidence to say this. The Gage Group did not need any publicity, and it was already the symbol of Seattle.

However, since she said that, there were considerations. If the sponsor was the school board, it would be more convincing, not to mention the powerful Gage family.

"Okay, The Gage Group needs publicity now. Aisy, thank you for giving me this opportunity."

"But Mr. Gage, generally, the finals will be held by sponsors. I wonder if Mr. Gage has time to present the prizes?"

Serina immediately said, "Of course, he can! Manuel, I also want to participate in this competition! I will definitely strive to get first place. That day, you should award me."

“Then Aisy, please take care of Serina.” Manuel picked up a piece of meat and put it into Ainsley’s plate.

“Serina is great,” Ainsley praised.

After all the dishes were served, Roman waved his hand. “I won’t give you a discount.”

Manuel had long since gotten used to it and ignored him. Serina ate happily.

After quickly finishing the food, Manuel went to pay the bill.

On the way back, Serina lay in the back seat and took a nap, while Ainsley sat in the passenger seat.

Manuel glanced sideways at her wrist. The bracelet was the one he had given to Ainsley, and his eyes flashed with tenderness.

Starting with A Divorce Chapter 63-Invite Mollie

Ainsley didn’t wear the bracelet at the banquet yesterday, and Manuel thought that she did not like it.

“Roman and Serina finally found an opportunity to avenge you,” Manuel said helplessly.

During the meal, Serina asked for a lot of desserts, and Roman tried his best to make delicious food. In the end, the dishes on the table almost piled up, and Roman finally gave up.

“Thank you for the sponsorship. I’ll treat you next time, and you can take revenge,” Ainsley said playfully.

Seeing Ainsley’s smile, Manuel was momentarily dazed.

Quickly, he came back to his senses. “Okay.”

When they arrived at the apartment building, Ainsley helped Serina up the stairs.

The Baldry family removed the post about Kaitlin on the forum in an instant. Although no one dared to mention it again, every time Kaitlin returned to the classroom, she would still sense other students' disdainful gaze at her.

There was less than a week before the Psychology Quiz Show. Right now, Kaitlin was eager to disqualify Ainsley. Although she was unable to sway the school leaders, she could aim at Ainsley.

In the Psychological Counseling Room.

The students from the Organization Department brought with them the sponsorship contract, which had been signed by Manuel.

"Thanks to Serina, we get the support of the Gage family. The Gage family is much stronger than the Baldry family."

"That's right! Kaitlin thought that she could mess up the competition with her strength."

Ainsley had just finished counseling a student. She got herself a cup of water and saw the students from the Organization Department. "Everyone is here?"

She called them over to prepare for the competition.

"Ms. Easton, the contract is ready." A student placed the contract on Ainsley's table.

Another student showed Ainsley a list. "These are the candidates for the judges that we have decided on previously. Ms. Easton, see if a change is needed."

Ainsley took the list. Most of the candidates were psychological professors in school, and Raymond was included. The arrangement was reasonable.

Ainsley also saw her name. "I think we need to invite another person.

“Who? The judges over the years are all here.”

“Psychologist, Mollie Randall.”

The students were all shocked. One student asked uncertainly, “Ms. Easton, are you talking about Professor Randall? She has participated in an interview on TV and just came back from abroad.”

“It’s her.” Ainsley nodded.

She handed the list to the students. “How about this? You guys invite the people on the list. Leave Mollie to me.”

“Okay, Ms. Easton. If we manage to invite Professor Randall to be a judge, I think the competition will be the most amazing one over the years.”

After the students left, Ainsley checked the contract generally. Right now, only the judges remained uncertain.

It was difficult to invite Mollie. She had become famous at an early age, and her achievements in psychology were on par with Cody’s. If Ainsley could invite Mollie, those students would also be motivated.

In the garden, a student whispered something into Kaitlin’s ear.

“What? She actually wants to invite Mollie!” Kaitlin widened her eyes and patted the stone table.

Hearing that Ainsley had found a sponsor, Kaitlin knew that it was Manuel without guessing.

If Ainsley really invited Mollie, her status and reputation at the University of Washington would be improved a lot. Kaitlin couldn’t bear to see it.

“I heard that Mollie is difficult to invite. She should not be interested in the school competition. Previously, New York had invited her to be a judge of the National Psychological Competition, yet she rejected it directly. The invitation of the University of Washington is much more worthless to mention.”

Kaitlin nodded. “Alright, I understand.”

Jenny and Kaitlin walked to the school gate together. Kaitlin found the Maserati of the Baldry family and that Cason was leaning against the car door and waiting for her.

“Cason, are you here to pick me up?” Kaitlin was pleasantly surprised as she walked in front of Cason with Jenny. She was nervous and afraid that Cason would be here for Ainsley again. Last time, she had disgraced herself, so she had to let Cason take her away this time.

“Yes. Is she your classmate?” Cason nodded and greeted Jenny.

For a moment, Kaitlin’s vanity was greatly satisfied. She said proudly to Jenny, “Do you see it? I told you that my brother came to pick me up this time. Later, I’ll ask him to send you back.”

“Cason, this is my classmate. Let’s send her back on the way.” Kaitlin looked at Cason expectantly, afraid of being rejected.

Cason frowned slightly, but he still nodded.

As soon as she got in the car, Jenny looked around and touched the seat because she had never taken such a luxury car.

Kaitlin complained, “Cason, I did not expect Ainsley to ask Mr. Gage for help. Right now, the students of the entire school are speculating about their relationship, and they have all kinds of guesses. I don’t know how a person of misconduct like her became a psychological teacher.”

“What did you say?” Cason suddenly stepped on the brakes, and his expression instantly became cold.

Kaitlin rolled her eyes and said in a bad mood, “Cason, you scared me. I said that the Gage family has decided to sponsor the competition. I heard that the students from the Organization Department contacted many people yesterday, and none of them agreed. However, when I arrived at school this morning, I found that the Gage family has signed the contract.”

Cason didn't say a word, and his eyes were filled with an imposing aura. He wondered, why did Mr. Gage always interfere?

When they returned to the Baldry's place, Kaitlin told Lindsay angrily about the same thing. Kaliyah was also surprised.

"Cason, do you still not believe it even now? You actually gave her so much money. You have just helped others a lot!" Lindsay said angrily.

Cason had a poker face and did not speak. He went out directly and ignored Kaliyah's question.

"Mom, I don't care what methods you use. Chase her out of the University of Washington immediately! I don't want to see her anymore! The school values her so much and even allows her to be in charge of the competition. Mr. Gage treats her so well. In his heart, am I worse than her?"

Kaitlin cried.

Kaliyah knew what Kaitlin was thinking. Obviously, Kaitlin had feelings for Manuel.

A handsome face suddenly appeared in Kaliyah's mind. Indeed, even she found it hard to refuse Manuel. Moreover, the Baldry family was less powerful than the Gage family.

Surprisingly, such a perfect man took a fancy to the divorced Ainsley!

Lindsay echoed, "Nonsense! You are so beautiful and smart, while Ainsley is just a bitch. Manuel will find out her true self sooner or later."

Kaliyah ridiculed in her heart, Kaitlin's mind is filled with evil thoughts, and she is not as beautiful as Ainsley. Does she want to be with Manuel? Stop daydreaming!

"Kaitlin, I have an idea," Kaliyah said after thinking for a while.

Kaitlin wiped away her tears and said, "Kaliyah, what is it?"

Starting with A Divorce Chapter 64-Invitation

Kaliyah approached Kaitlin and whispered a few words into her ear, "Just treat her the way she has devised against others."

“Hold my birthday banquet in advance? Will she come?” Kaitlin repeated blankly.

Lindsay said with dissatisfaction, “I don’t want to see that . Are you still going to invite her to Kaitlin’s birthday banquet? Don’t even think about it!”

Kaitlin did not mind. As Kaliyah said, if Ainsley came, Manuel would be likely to come. If he didn’t, no one would protect her.

If so, wouldn’t it be easy for Kaitlin to do anything?

Moreover, her birthday happened to be a few days later, so she only had to hold the birthday banquet one or two days ahead of the competition.

“Mom, I have decided that I will be having a birthday banquet in advance. Kaliyah, you have to help me come up with an idea. She might not come.” Kaitlin’s heart was filled with worry when she thought about it.

“Kaitlin, think about it. Right now, what does she need the most? Perhaps you can start with it,” Kaliyah said gently.

Kaitlin was lost in deep thought, what does she need the most?

I got it! I know what to do! The corners of Kaitlin’s lips curled up, and all of her previous irritation had disappeared.

The next day, Ainsley woke up early and came to school with Serina.

The students from the Organization Department had managed to invite most of the judges, and Ainsley was going to invite Mollie as soon as possible.

The competition would be held five days later. It meant that Ainsley had to confirm whether Mollie was coming or not in two days. The students from the Planning Department had to ensure the process of the competition and the order of the judges.

Ainsley inquired about Mollie’s recent schedule and even called Mollie’s assistant, but the answer she got was that Mollie had no time recently. Her proposal to talk to Mollie was also rejected.

“Don’t worry. If I can’t invite her, I will inform you immediately.”

“That’s good.” The students from the Organization Department relaxed.

Just as Ainsley was making ppt, she heard a knock on the door. It was Kaitlin.

Ainsley’s brows were furrowed tightly, and her tone became cold. “What are you doing here?”

“Ainsley, you are a teacher now. Is this how you treat your students?” Kaitlin sneered.

Ainsley glanced at her coldly, “The Psychological Counseling Room is set up for students with psychological problems. I don’t think you have any problems. After all, the last time you came here, you even scared away a student.”

“You!” Kaitlin forced herself to calm down. She had come here with a big plan.

Kaitlin took out an invitation from her bag. It was made of pink paper with golden words.

Ainsley did not even look at it and refused it. “Are you going to invite me? Do you think I will go?”

“Don’t be so heartless. It was indeed my fault for what happened at the banquet held by the Gage family last time. I have apologized. This is my birthday banquet, and I’m here to invite you in person,” Kaitlin said seriously.

Ainsley thought about it and sneered, “Kaitlin, your birthday isn’t tomorrow, right? I have helped you hold several birthday banquets.”

“That’s right. It’s just that I want to hold it in advance. Don’t you want to go back to the Baldry’s place and see my brother?” Kaitlin looked at Ainsley with disdain.

Kaitlin always felt that Ainsley had told a lie that she didn’t like Cason. She was just afraid of a loss.

of face.

After all, her humbleness during the three-year marriage was not fake. As long as Kaitlin mentioned Cason, Ainsley would agree with any requests.

Ainsley did not reply for a long time. Just as Kaitlin was about to continue, Ainsley finally spoke.

“Kaitlin, I think I have made it clear to you. I don’t like Cason anymore. I have divorced him and don’t want to have anything to do with him. Please remember, if you mention him again, I will make you regret it.”

Ainsley’s eyes were deep, and she stared straight at Kaitlin with coldness. Kaitlin felt her hair stand on end.

Kaitlin suppressed the anger in her heart. She recalled what Kaliyah had said and clenched her fists.

to calm herself down.

“Okay, I won’t mention him again. But you have to reconsider it for the sake of Mollie. Don’t worry, I am inviting you sincerely. I just want you to see how good my new sister-in-law is to me and make you totally give up on my brother. If you go, I will believe that you do not like him anymore.”

Ainsley was startled. She wondered, Mollie is going to attend Kaitlin’s birthday banquet?

Why did Kaitlin invite Mollie? Does she know that I plan to invite Mollie to be the judge of the competition?

“You know Mollie?” Ainsley said with uncertainty.

Kaitlin curled her lip. “Everyone in the University of Washington knows that you would like to invite Mollie to be the judge of the competition. It is no longer a secret. Moreover, Mollie just decided to attend my birthday banquet yesterday. After that, she seems to have no free time. Are you sure you won’t come?”

“You invited Mollie to ensure that I will go to your birthday banquet?” Ainsley said in confusion.

What exactly did Kaitlin want to do?

“In any case, I have told you everything. It is up to you. Are you going to give up on Mollie?” Kaitlin smiled proudly.

Ainsley did not say anything else. The invitation was right in front of her, and it was indeed difficult for her to make a choice.

“Ainsley, I hope that you will come to the banquet. Don’t disappoint me,” Kaitlin said. Then, she left the Psychological Counseling Room directly.

At the same time, a post attracted a lot of attention on the forum. “Professor Randall will be attending the competition as a judge. Is that true?”

The entire Department of Psychology was in an uproar.

For students majoring in psychology, Mollie was as important as their textbooks.

Even the school leaders were shocked. Cody immediately called Ainsley.

“Professor Wade, what’s the matter?”

“Is the post on the forum real? You are going to invite Mollie to be a judge? Why is there no such thing in the plan?” Cody went straight to the point.

Ainsley checked the forum and found that her idea had aroused much attention.

“Professor Wade, I want to give it a try. I am not sure whether I can make it.”

“Now, the school leaders all know about it and intend to publicize it. The University of Washington hasn’t been so lively for a long time, and they want to seize the opportunity. If you are not sure, don’t bother about the post on the forum for the time being. I will help you explain to the leaders.”

Ainsley was touched. “Thank you, Professor Wade.”

She only told the students in the Planning Department about her invitation to Mollie. However, just a day later, the news was spread on the Internet. Ainsley wanted to figure out who had done it behind her back.

The purpose of the person was to force Ainsley to invite Mollie and attend Kaitlin's birthday banquet.

Starting with A Divorce Chapter 65-You Are Here

After school, Serina came to Ainsley, only to find that Ainsley had been distracted.

"Ainsley, what's wrong?" In front of Serina, Ainsley had always been composed no matter what happened.

"Nothing serious," Ainsley smiled.

"Are you lying? Is it because of the discussion on the forum? I don't know who has posted the news on it. Ainsley, did the school leaders give you pressure?" Serina asked with concern.

She also heard quite a few things at the office.

"Nothing can be hidden from you. The school leaders did not give me pressure. Kaitlin invited me to her birthday banquet, and Mollie will also be there."

Serina frowned. "She invited you to her birthday banquet? It's obviously her trick. Ainsley, don't go. If you want to see Mollie, I will ask my brother to help you."

Serina was proud. She thought that Manuel was omnipotent.

"No need. I have decided to go. I want to see Mollie not only for the competition." Ainsley refused Serina, not wanting to trouble Manuel every time she needed help.

Serina widened her eyes. "Not only for the competition? But also for what?"

"Secret," Ainsley said thoughtfully.

Serina didn't ask more.

As soon as she left the consulting room, she called Manuel and asked emotionally, "Manuel, have we received an invitation from the Baldry family?"

“What invitation?” Manuel was a bit hesitant.

“It’s an invitation to Kaitlin’s birthday banquet. Have you received it?”

Serina’s tone was full of anticipation. However, Manuel did not receive any invitations.

Just as he was about to speak, his assistant knocked on the door and handed him an invitation. He opened it and saw that it was from the Baldry family.

“Yes. It was just sent to me.”

Manuel would like to ask how Serina knew it, yet Serina replied ahead of him.

“Manuel, keep that invitation. I want to attend it!”

“Why did you suddenly want to attend Kaitlin’s birthday banquet? Didn’t you dislike her?”

“That’s right! I don’t like her! She sent Ainsley an invitation today, and it is abnormal! Kaitlin did not have any good intentions, so I want to go there and protect Ainsley.” Serina’s tone was angry.

“Ainsley agreed to go?” Manuel asked softly.

“Yes, so I want to go, too!”

It was almost time to get off. Ainsley was packing up her things when she received a call from Raymond.

She guessed that it was about Mollie, and it was as she expected.

“Ms. Easton, the school board has learned about the news in the forum and intends to make full use of it. Are there any problems? Professor Wade has told me that you haven’t made sure whether Mollie will come, but I think that it is great if you can make it.”

Ainsley thought for a moment and said, “Mr. Ford, I will try my best.”

“Alright, don’t feel too pressured.”

After hanging up the phone, Ainsley held the invitation and was lost in deep thought. Kaitlin's low-level tricks were obvious.

Ainsley checked Mollie's schedule once again and found that she would be going to Los Angeles in a week. Mollie was quite busy, which meant that tomorrow's banquet was Ainsley's last chance.

The villa of the Baldry family was magnificent. Ainsley wore a dress and arrived at the entrance. Cason, who was receiving guests, was stunned when he saw her.

Kalayah took the gifts from Ainsley's hand. "Ms. Easton, welcome. Kaitlin is preparing upstairs.

Come in and have a seat."

Ainsley entered the house and found that many people had come. Kalayah was well prepared, and the banquet was not inferior to those Ainsley had organized before.

The guests were all related to the Baldry family. Some of them knew Ainsley, and she attracted much attention as soon as she entered.

She did not pay attention to their gazes or discussions. After looking around, she didn't find Mollie. There were still more than ten minutes before the banquet, and it seemed that Mollie had not arrived yet. The guests began to talk to each other.

Ainsley stood alone by the side. Lindsay noticed her and immediately walked over.

"I thought you wouldn't come. Be reasonable today, or don't blame me for being impolite!" Lindsay said sarcastically.

Ainsley knew no one here. After Lindsay left, Kalayah walked toward Ainsley. "Ms. Easton, is the banquet okay?"

Kalayah had arranged it painstakingly. The pastries were made by the best chef she invited, and the wine and flowers in the hall were also selected carefully.

“Don’t tell me you just want to say this.” Ainsley ignored Kaliyah’s hypocrisy. Kaliyah was delicate and considerate on the surface, but no one knew what tricks she was playing secretly.

Kaliyah smiled, “Ms. Easton, I just feel that you have worked hard in the past. It took a lot of effort to hold a banquet. Now, you don’t have to do it anymore.”

“It was your idea to invite me to the banquet with Mollie’s arrival, right?” A strange smile appeared on Ainsley’s face.

Kaliyah looked at Ainsley innocently. “Ms. Easton, it was Kaitlin’s idea, and I didn’t know about it.

Actually, I have always wanted to invite you, but I was not sure if you would come. I didn’t expect Kaitlin to make it.”

“Ms. Packer, go entertain the others. I want to be alone for a while.”

Kaliyah’s expression turned cold and she left quickly.

Ainsley looked around the hall. A large curtain was hung in the middle, and it should be used to play photos or videos about Kaitlin.

Other than the guests invited by the Baldry family, there were also many reporters taking photos.

Everyone wore gorgeous dresses, afraid that they would be out of the limelight.

All the guests were almost there, except Mollie.

Just as Ainsley lowered her head to think, there were noises from outside, and then a girl wearing a pink dress entered. She was dressed gorgeously and had a playful smile.

It was Serina!

And the man behind her was Manuel!

Ainsley watched in shock as they entered. Serina noticed Ainsley the moment she stepped into the hall.

“Ainsley, I’m here too.” Serina walked to Ainsley.

Manuel was blocked by the reporters, and it wasn’t easy for him to get away.

“Why are you here?” Ainsley raised her hand to support Serina, and her expression eased a little.

“I brought Manuel here. The Baldry family has sent us an invitation. Since you’re here, we should certainly come,” Serina said proudly.

“Aisy, long time no see.” Manuel also walked to Ainsley.

“I saw you the day before yesterday.” Ainsley raised an eyebrow. At that time, they had dinner together.

Starting with A Divorce Chapter 66-Manuel Is Also Here

Serina added, “A day apart is like three years!”

Manuel chuckled. “Serina is right.”

Ainsley couldn’t help but laugh when she heard this, and her smile was as bright as fireworks.

Many people at the banquet looked at Manuel excitedly. Although the guests invited by the Baldry family were somewhat influential, there were few big shots like Manuel.

They could not even come into contact with Manuel, so they were eager to attend the banquets to meet people like Manuel.

Cason just sent invitations to all the big shots out of habit, and he had never expected that Manuel would really come.

Seeing Manuel and Ainsley chatting happily, Cason was jealous, and his eyes turned slightly red and cold.

Kaliyah noticed his gaze and said with a bit of grievance, “Ms. Easton is indeed more familiar with Mr. Gage. Just now, when I greeted her, she seemed to have misunderstood me a lot. Cason, does she still hate me?”

'Kaliyah, it's all my fault. Maybe she cheated on me during the marriage. You are so kind. Just ignore her.'" Cason patted Kaliyah on the shoulder to comfort her.

The guests came to talk to Manuel, but Manuel didn't want to respond to them. In the end, he sat in the corner, and the others didn't dare to disturb him anymore.

Two minutes before the banquet, Ainsley finally waited for the person she wanted to see.

Mollie entered the hall in a purple dress. She was in her forties, but she still looked young and charming.

Just as Ainsley wanted to greet Mollie, Kaliyah took Mollie away.

"Ainsley, is she the person you are looking for?" Serina looked at Mollie a few times. She had never seen Mollie before.

"Yes." Ainsley nodded.

Manuel glanced at Mollie and felt that she was a little familiar.

"You want to invite her to be a judge for the competition?"

"That's right. I believe that her evaluation will help the Department of Psychology of the University of Washington improve to another level." Ainsley glanced sideways and was determined.

In the room, Kaitlin was dressed up. Although she had worn a pearl *, she still felt that it was not grand enough. In the end, she added two diamond earrings.

Lindsay urged her anxiously, "Kaitlin, why are you still not going down? What time is it? Mr. Gage has come!"

"What? Manuel has come?" Kaitlin stood up excitedly, smiling brightly.

“That’s right! But he is talking to that !” Lindsay gritted her teeth.

Kaitlin picked up the bracelet and put it on. She sprayed a bit of perfume and checked her makeup in front of the mirror. “Mom, do I look good?”

“Yes. You are the most beautiful woman in the banquet today.”

Kaitlin went downstairs in satisfaction. She had put on the most expensive dress, which perfectly outlined her good figure. Its design did not seem rigid, and it was hollow on her back, making Kaitlin look both gorgeous and cute.

She went downstairs and became the focus of attention. She immediately saw Manuel sitting in the corner. She was happy, but aside from Serina, there was also Ainsley.

Her hands were clasped, and she became restrained instantly.

Lindsay followed Kaitlin and brought her to greet everyone.

After a while, Kaitlin walked to Manuel with a glass of wine in her hand. She smiled gently, “Mr. Gage, thank you for attending my birthday banquet.”

She got closer to Manuel to toast him, but Manuel dodged. “I am sorry, Ms. Baldry. I have come with Aisy.”

Kaitlin’s face immediately turned pale. She grabbed her dress with the other hand, not knowing what to do.

She wished she had not come to talk to Manuel. She thought angrily, Aisy? What an intimate address! Manuel disgraced me in front of so many people!

Kaitlin forced herself to calm down and took the glass back. “Mr. Gage, have a seat.”

After that, she left with dissatisfaction.

Ainsley could not help but laugh. She never thought that Manuel was also good at irritating others.

“What Mr. Gage said seems to have disappointed Kaitlin a lot.”

Manuel shrugged indifferently. “I was just telling her the truth.”

Serina complained, “I haven’t said that Manuel and I came here because of Ainsley yet!”

While the host was making a speech, Ainsley was eating pastries in boredom. Just as she was thinking about how to talk to Mollie, Serina returned with a plate of pastries.

“Ainsley, when I went to get the pastries, I found that Kaitlin was doing something gingerly. She was holding a flash . Once I called her, she would tremble in fear. It was really funny.” Serina laughed happily.

A flash ***?

Ainsley looked at the huge screen and suddenly realized what Kaitlin wanted to do.

The corners of her lips curled into a smile. “Serina, do me a favor.”

“Sure.” Serina leaned over.

While they were talking, Cason went to Manuel. “I didn’t expect you to come.”

A faint coldness was on Manuel’s face. He said on purpose, “I came because of Aisy. I was afraid she would be bullied.”

Cason tightened his grip on the glass. “Mr. Gage, you must be joking. Who can bully Ainsley? I have to remind you that Ainsley is not a good person.

Manuel’s tone was cold. “Mr. Baldry, please mind your words. I don’t want anyone to say anything bad about Aisy. It was Aisy who had trusted the wrong person.”

Cason was annoyed by Manuel’s address to Ainsley. “Mr. Gage, I remind you out of good intentions.”

“No need. Mind your own business.” Manuel glanced at Cason coldly and walked back to Ainsley.

The host had finished introducing Kaitlin, and Kaitlin came up to the stage with a proper smile.

She couldn't wait to see Ainsley's miserable state. “Thank you all for coming to my birthday banquet. Before that, please watch a video.”

She was impatient to humiliate Ainsley in front of so many people.

The big screen suddenly lit up. While waiting for the photos, Kaitlin looked at Ainsley proudly.

Ainsley was talking to Manuel with a smile. Kaitlin rolled her eyes and thought, you will be unable to smile soon.

When Manuel sees these photos, he will know how shameless you are! He will know that I am the only one who is worthy of him!

I am a well-educated daughter from a wealthy family. Who is Ainsley? She is just a woman fond of power and wealth!

Everyone will see her true self immediately. So many reporters are invited for this moment!

Soon, not only the guests at the banquet, but all the people in the entire Seattle, including the students from the University of Washington, will also see what kind of woman Ainsley is!

Starting with A Divorce Chapter 67-Kaitlin's Video

The screen lit up. In the video, the light was dim, and a man was pulling a woman.

What was it?

Everyone was shocked. Flashlights kept flashing. The reporters were frantically taking videos, waiting to see the scandal of a wealthy family.

Kaitlin did not look back. Looking at the reactions of the audience, she knew that the video had already been released. She excitedly pointed at Ainsley and said, "The woman in this video is Ainsley, the psychology teacher at University of Washington, and also my ex-sister-in-law. I just want to tell on Ainsley. She is a b*tch cheating on her ex-husband and seducing men everywhere!"

Kaitlin was full of excitement, and the picture of Manuel pushing Ainsley away angrily appeared in her mind.

Kaitlin looked at Ainsley to see if she would be afraid.

But Kaitlin soon found that Manuel looked indifferent. He looked at the screen expressionlessly. Ainsley had a faint smile on her face, and the corners of her mouth rose.

Serina, on the other hand, stared at her excitedly, just like her current expression.

What was going on? Didn't Manuel see the woman in the video?

At this moment, Kaitlin heard a stifled shout, "Let go of me! I am a member of the Baldry family!"

This familiar voice pulled Kaitlin back in an instant. She suddenly turned around and looked!

In the video, Kaitlin and a middle-aged man were pulling each other. She knew that this was what happened at the Gage family banquet a few days ago!

With a pale face, Kaitlin immediately blocked the screen with her body. "Don't look! Don't look!"

"Shut it down! Shut it down!"

Kaitlin screamed crazily and the screen quickly went out.

However, what was on the scene just now had been recorded by the reporters, and everyone present had seen it clearly.

“Mom! It should have been a video of Ainsley! What exactly is going on?” Kaitlin roared crazily.

Kaitlin looked at Ainsley through countless eyes. Ainsley’s eyes revealed disdain and ridicule.

Kaitlin understood!

It was Ainsley! It was Ainsley who had changed the video!

“Ainsley! You actually framed me!” Kaitlin pointed at Ainsley, her eyes bloodshot.

Kaliyah was so scared that she did not dare to say anything. Cason froze due to the shock.

“Kaitlin, what happened?” Only Lindsay immediately protected her daughter.

Kaitlin cried and said, “It should have been a video of Ainsley. How did it become mine? Mom! Ainsley did it. She framed me!”

Some people gave way, and Ainsley was at the other end of the crowd.

Lindsay pointed at Ainsley and angrily asked, “What exactly did you do? You s*ut!”

Ainsley said, “It’s right in front of us. Kaitlin wanted to frame me, but in the end, she played the wrong video, right? However, you have to educate your daughter well. Who exactly is it that is trying to seduce men everywhere?”

Lindsay looked at Ainsley in front of her and trembled in anger. The guests present were all famous figures, and her reputation had been ruined.

“Get lost! What nonsense! Kaitlin is such a good girl, yet you are actually framing her like this!”

Ainsley almost laughed. A good girl? Was Kaitlin a good girl?

The sounds of gossip entered Kaitlin’s ears. It was all ruined. It was all ruined! Kaitlin could have celebrated her birthday with others’ blessing and admiration. Her thorough plan would happen to reveal Ainsley’s true face in front of Manuel. But now! How did the woman in the video on the big screen become her?

Kaitlin's eyes were red. She was both embarrassed and angry. She did not know how those people were talking about her.

It was all Ainsley's fault! It should have been a video of Ainsley, but how did it become hers?

Kaitlin leaned against Lindsay's side, her tears falling. "Mother! Shut her up. There are so many guests..."

Needless to say, let alone Kaitlin's grievance, just for the sake of their reputation, the Baldry family would immediately chase Ainsley out!

Lindsay had already rushed to Ainsley. Her eyes were ferocious, completely forgetting the elegance she had just put on. She cursed at Ainsley, "You s*ut, you did shameless things and you even slandered my daughter!"

The Baldry family had finally managed to invite Manuel here. Lindsay had prepared for this day for a long time, and now, all the glory and splendor had been pulled down by the d*mned Ainsley!

In that instant, Kaitlin's heart was filled with despair. She waved her fists at Ainsley wildly. She wanted to tear Ainsley apart. No! It would be best if she could ruin Ainsley's beauty as well!

Kaitlin's behavior was astonishing. She did not seem like a noble young lady at all. All of the madams and ladies below the stage revealed looks of disdain. They thought it was lowering themselves to get along with Kaitlin.

Kaliyah still had a bit of reason and quickly intended to stop her. "Kaitlin, no! Come back!"

Unfortunately, Kaliyah was a step too late. Kaitlin crazily pounced on Ainsley.

"Get lost!" Manuel said coldly and pulled Ainsley over.

Kaitlin had rushed over and fell to the ground humiliatingly.

After such a farce, Kaitlin's exquisite hairstyle was completely ruined, and even the pearl necklace on her neck was scattered all over the ground.

In an instant, everyone was dumbfounded, and their eyes were filled with disdain.

Kaitlin reacted and looked at the scattered pearls on the ground. She then looked at the gazes of everyone that was looking at her. Tears gushed out from her eyes and she started crying.

What a sorry state!

Ainsley looked down at Kaitlin as if she was looking at a pitiful dog.

Ainsley thought, Kaitlin is simply embarrassing herself. She knows nothing but makes a scene.

What a good daughter that Lindsay raised!

Lindsay quickly went to help Kaitlin up and angrily glared at Ainsley. "You slut! How dare you treat my daughter like this? This is the Baldry family! You can't act wildly here!"

The banquet had been ruined by Ainsley like this. Cason felt depressed. He did not understand why Kaitlin had to invite Ainsley. The current situation, that Kaitlin being intimate with a man on the big screen, embarrassed him!

"Ainsley, did you really put the video?" Cason said coldly.

Ainsley's voice was cold. "Yes, it's me."

Cason looked at her bitterly. "Is it really you? Why did you do that?"

"Why don't you ask your sister what she has planned to do?" Ainsley's words were clean and decisive!

Kalayah stepped out to comfort Cason, "Alright, Cason."

She then said to Ainsley, “Ms. Easton, no matter what, today is Kaitlin’s birthday banquet. Since she invited you, she also wanted you to be happy for her. Why did you do this? After all, there are so many guests here. You were also a member of the Baldry family. Although you were divorced, she had been your sister-in-law for three years!”

As Kaliyah spoke, she took out a handkerchief and wiped the corners of her eyes, as if she had suffered a lot of grievances.

Ainsley sneered, “Cason, three years ago, I married into the Baldry family. Has Kaitlin ever shown any respect to me? You know the best. In the past three years, I have treated Kaitlin well, but she repeatedly tried to find trouble with me. Last time, she even found someone to humiliate me at the Gage family banquet. This time, she actually wanted to put a video of me on the big screen to slander me. I was just making a preemptive move.”

Lindsay only felt the fire in her heart ignite. “You’re lying! Kaitlin is a kind girl. Today is her birthday, but you are so vicious to her!”

Starting with A Divorce Chapter 68-Ainsley Does Care About Serina

The reporters present recorded everything, and the flashes never stopped.

When Lindsay glared at Ainsley, the cameras were directly aimed at her. The reporters were waiting for her to say some breaking news.

A figure blocked in front of Ainsley. It was Manuel. He only glanced at it, and all the reporters that had come up took a step back. They didn’t even dare to raise the recording pen.

Manuel’s expression became even more gloomy. His eyes were cold, and he forcefully suppressed his anger. “You must be wrong. The man in this video was hired by Kaitlin to insult Ms. Easton. Everyone can hear the conversation in the video. Do you really think that everyone is a fool?”

Cason’s expression changed. That was right. Although the video had only been played for a few seconds before it was forcibly closed, there were still a few words that could be heard. The man complained that Kaitlin had told him to harass Ainsley.

Lindsay had obviously lost her reason. “You always protect Ainsley, so you naturally speak up for her! But my poor Kaitlin fell into your trap easily!”

“Mom!” Cason frantically interrupted Lindsay. After all, they couldn’t afford to offend the Gage family.

Ainsley sneered, “Mr. Gage just told you the truth. Kaitlin, I have told you that I would not interfere with your Baldry family’s matters, but you repeatedly provoked me. This time, it was just a counterattack.”

“No!” Kaitlin’s voice became *due to her fierce roar, like an old woman.

“You ! It was all your fault! You deliberately wanted to destroy my birthday banquet!”

Kaitlin threw herself into Cason’s arms and said, “Cason! Look at how evil she is! You have to avenge me!”

Now that things had come to an end, Kaitlin had lost face, but she could not let Ainsley leave this place unharmed.

“Ainsley, no matter what, you used to be Kaitlin’s sister-in-law. If she did something wrong, you can tell me in private. Why did you make such a scene?”

Ainsley looked at Cason’s hypocritical face and felt disgusted. She had married Cason for three years, but she had never found him so disgusting. It had only been a while since she divorced him, but she had completely recognized his true colors.

“Cason, why didn’t you say those words when your mother and sister came to my workplace to frame me and force the school to expel me? Didn’t you see it with your own eyes at the Gage family banquet last time? Of course, you can say these words in a dignified manner now, because your family suffers from the loss now.

“If you could have told them earlier that you had always liked Kaliyah and not pretended to divorce me peacefully, they would not have gone out to tell others that I had an extramarital affair. Now you pretend to be a good man. Aren't you disgusting?"

"What did you say?" Cason's face was pale.

He had never denied the fact that he had always liked Kaliyah, but he had no idea that Lindsay and Kaitlin had defamed Ainsley without letting him know.

However, Cason looked at Manuel with a complicated expression. "My mother and Kaitlin are indeed wrong, but I am still suspicious of your affair."

Since Ainsley did not show any mercy, there was no need for him to think about her.

Manuel was just about to speak when Ainsley pulled on his sleeve and looked at Cason in a daze. "Do you have any evidence for your words, Mr. Baldry? Spreading a rumor in front of so many people is illegal. I have the right to sue you for slander and violating my reputation."

Cason looked embarrassed. After a while, he calmed down. "I don't have any evidence."

"Then please stop talking nonsense, Mr. Baldry. You should take care of your younger sister first. You don't want tomorrow's trending topic to be a video of your younger sister and a man messing together, right?" Ainsley said mockingly, glancing at Kaitlin.

Kaitlin also recovered her senses from her anger. "This video shows that someone harassed me and failed. I am the victim!"

Kaitlin immediately changed the nature of this matter. Right now, she was the victim. Perhaps she could even win people's sympathy.

Ainsley knew what Kaitlin meant when she heard this, but she did not expose it in front of so many reporters.

Since there was nothing else for Ainsley to do here, she did not want to hear what Kaitlin and the Baldry family wanted to say.

Ainsley looked around and finally found the target she had wanted to find, Mollie.

Mollie wore an elegant dress and held a glass of champagne. She smiled faintly as she looked at everything that was happening on stage, as if all the noise had nothing to do with her.

Ainsley walked over with a smile. Manuel followed, and Serina waved at him. "Manuel, go stay with Ainsley. I still want to watch the show!"

Ainsley walked over, stretched out her hand, and went straight to the point. "Hello, Ms. Randall."

Mollie was obviously confused, but she still put her hand in Ainsley's palm. "Hello, you are?"

"I am a teacher at University of Washington's Psychological Counseling Room. I have been wanting to contact you since I heard that you returned to America, but I have never been able to contact you. Sorry to bother you now. I hope you don't mind."

"It's okay. Who is this?" Mollie looked at Manuel strangely.

Manuel's eyes were unusually cold. Although he followed Ainsley, he still released a cold aura, and his eyebrows contained a sharp coldness.

He greeted her slightly, "I am Manuel."

Manuel was very familiar with Mollie. He had seen her before. "We may know each other."

Ainsley raised her eyebrows and looked at Manuel strangely. Was Manuel trying to strike up a conversation? What an old-fashioned way!

Unexpectedly, Mollie smiled and instantly put down her guard. "Mr. Gage, you don't remember? You asked me about your sister's psychological problems before."

“I remember now.” Manuel’s expression still did not change much.

Ainsley widened her eyes and was a little disappointed. “So you have known Serina’s condition...”

Manuel’s cold eyes showed a touch of warmth. He wondered why Ainsley was a little disappointed.

He remembered that Serina said that Ainsley not only wanted to see Mollie for the Quiz Show but there was another thing that she did not tell him..

Manuel could now be sure that Ainsley wanted to see Mollie because of Serina.

“What’s wrong? How is Serina’s condition now?” Mollie asked with concern.

Manuel said softly, “She hasn’t had a relapse in a long time.”

“That sounds good.”

Ainsley shook her head softly. “No, it’s not. She isn’t cured, and it means that she doesn’t break free from the illness. That she hasn’t had a relapse means that there is no stimulation. But if one day she is stimulated, we can’t do anything to help her. We don’t even know the source of the stimulation.”

Manuel’s eyes were full of tenderness. Ainsley did care about Serina.

“You are right. Mr. Gage also wanted to cure Serina when he came to see me, but I don’t have enough time to help Serina,” Mollie said with a little disappointment.

Ainsley thought for a moment and said, “Ms. Randall, there will be a Psychology Quiz Show at University of Washington in four days. I want to invite you to be the judge. I wonder if it is convenient for you?”

Starting with A Divorce Chapter 69-Ditcher

Mollie smiled and tucked her hair behind her ears. “To be honest, I haven’t been a judge for a long time. And I won’t stay in the country for long.”

“Some of your theories have always been the beacon for students in our university’s Department of Psychology. I know that you have been invited to international competitions before, and you declined them all. However, I still want you to take a look at these,” Ainsley said earnestly.

She took out a stack of documents from her bag and handed them to Mollie. “These papers are written by some students based on your theories. Some of them have proposed new ideas, and I sincerely hope you can have a look.”

Mollie took the documents in surprise and flipped through them. “Thank you. I will read them carefully.”

Ainsley breathed a sigh of relief. She couldn’t be a hundred percent sure to persuade Mollie to agree to her request, but at least she could help those students to hand over the papers they wrote to Mollie.

Just as Ainsley was about to leave, Mollie suddenly called out to her, “Ms. Easton, I wonder what you think about what happened tonight.”

“You mean over there?” Ainsley pointed at the stage in confusion.

“Where else? Ms. Easton, what I want to say is that you did a great job. I might have been more ruthless.” Mollie pointed to the console.

Ainsley instantly realized that Mollie knew all the things Kaitlin and she did. “I was merely protecting myself.

Mollie drank up her champagne, placed the empty glass on the table, and then got up Ainsley and Manuel looked at each other and chuckled. She asked, “You knew as well?”

She was referring to the USB flash drive.

He said disapprovingly, “Aisy, I have been paying attention to you all the time. You did well.”

“Mr. Gage, are you laughing at me? Both Ms. Randall and you saw me. I was so clumsy.” Ainsley curled her lips. She thought no one would find out.

Under the limelight, Manuel’s eyes flickered. Yet he sounded upset and hurt as he said, “Aisy, why didn’t you ask me for help? If so, I’m sure no one would find out.”

Ainsley’s heart skipped a beat. She thought, Manuel’s eyes are flickering as he stands beside me, and there are tears in his eyes. He lowers his eyes, and his lashes are trembling. He looks like a pitiful, abandoned dog.

Wait! Shouldn’t he be a cruel wolf? Am I insane? Why would I think of him as a pitiful, abandoned dog? He is the legendary Mr. Gage in Seattle!

“Mr. Gage, I wouldn’t trouble you with such a trivial matter.” She shrugged, while Manuel looked more and more enchanting.

“Aisy, anything about you is important to me.” His dark eyes flashed with a charming luster.

Ainsley blushed and immediately turned her head. “Mr. Gage, you should behave yourself. Watch out for your reputation.” Then she ran away in the next second, not daring to look at Manuel anymore.

On the way back, due to Serina’s strong will, Ainsley finally gave in and agreed to let Manuel send her back as well.

Serina kept talking in the car, and she was so excited that she even forgot to continue acting and let Ainsley sit in the front row. “Ainsley, you have no idea. It was so funny. Kaitlin didn’t know what to say at all. Those reporters have already taken photos and videos. Did she think others were idiots?”

“Even though those reporters have photos and videos, tomorrow’s news will not be Kaitlin’s scandal at all. It’ll just be she being harassed and the attempt to harass her fails,” Ainsley said indifferently.

“Why? They have those photos and videos!” Serina said angrily.

Ainsley explained softly, "It won't make a difference, because they can't afford to mess with the Baldry family. If they do what the Baldry family asks them to do, they will get paid a lot. Doing otherwise might get fired. What do you think they will do?"

Ainsley was well aware of this back then when the reporters asked the questions. Therefore, she stopped paying attention after Kaitlin changed the topic. Ainsley knew that everyone would only learn what Kaitlin wanted them to know tomorrow.

"What?" Serina wrapped her arms around Ainsley's arm gloomily. "I wouldn't have stayed there if I'd known. Ainsley, I should have gone with you to invite Ms. Randall. By the way, did Ms. Randall agree?"

"She kind of turned me down. After all, her time was very precious. Anyway, I showed her the papers that the students wrote related to her theories." Ainsley figured that it was something.

fortunate after all.

"You're not upset, right, Ainsley? What about the school leaders?" Serina looked at Ainsley worriedly.

"It's fine. I've tried. I asked her. That's enough." Ainsley patted her head.

For Ainsley, being rejected was never a bad thing. Besides, she could still manage to hold the contest well without Mollie.

"It's fine! Ainsley, you have me!"

When Ainsley went back to the apartment building, she saw Lainey, Lainey recognized Manuel's car at a glance. With all sorts of bags in her hands, she blocked Ainsley, who was getting out of the car. "Good for you, Ainsley! Ditcher!"

Lainey said in a loud voice, not caring about the fact that she might embarrass Ainsley at all. Most importantly, Manuel followed Ainsley out of the car, so he heard each word Lainey said loud and clear. He even calmly greeted Lainey.

“Hello.”

“Hello, Mr. Gage!” Lainey smiled. Then she immediately turned to threaten Ainsley, “Come clean with me now! Where have you two been fooling around? I called you so many times, and you never picked up!”

Ainsley was stunned. Lainey called her?

Ainsley fumbled over the dress she was wearing. She didn’t have the phone on her, and it wasn’t in the car either.

“I think I left my phone at the office.” She knew that she didn’t take it with her when she went to the banquet.

“Then fetch it tomorrow when you go to the office. Don’t try to change the topic! Tell me! Where did you go?”

Serina jumped out of the car. “And me! We went to Kaitlin’s birthday party.”

Bang!

Lainey’s hands loosened, and all of the bags fell to the ground. “What?”

She looked at Ainsley in shock and reached out to stroke Ainsley’s forehead.

“You are not having a fever. You went to that woman’s birthday party? For real? She has been giving you a hard time, and yet you went to celebrate her birthday? She must have been bullying you again, right? No, wait. Why did she send you an invitation?”

She asked so many questions in a row, and Ainsley did not know which one to answer for a moment.

“It’s complicated. I’ll need more time to explain it to you. Why don’t you go inside? Don’t you have the password?”

Lainey still grabbed Ainsley, refusing to let go. "Don't tell me you still have feelings for that jerk!"

Then she immediately glanced at Manuel. "Well, I know for sure that it's impossible. He is a total jerk!"

"Lainey, I know everything! You know what? You missed the great show. Kaitlin was so doomed today. Everyone saw that indecent video of hers!" Serina pulled Lainey away so that Ainsley and Manuel could be left alone.

"Tell me everything!" Lainey pulled Serina upstairs.

Ainsley looked at the bags all over the ground, which were about a dozen. She wondered how Lainey managed to take all of them over here.

Starting with A Divorce Chapter 70-I Lose My Phone

Ainsley picked up a lot of bags without complaining, but her hands were full, and she couldn't pick up the rest of the bags that were still on the ground. "Help me out here."

She felt her hands become lighter suddenly, and all the bags were taken away. Manuel grabbed them and followed her upstairs.

"Mr. Gage, let me take some as well." She wanted to take some of the bags back.

Serina and Lainey had already taken the elevator and left. Ainsley and Manuel waited for the next elevator at the door.

"Let me." Manuel dodged.

"Mr. Gage, there are too many bags. Let me grab some." She reached out again.

These bags were not heavy, but there were simply too many of them, making it difficult to take them

The elevator arrived. "Go inside," Manuel said.

Ainsley immediately entered the elevator. When Manuel was about to walk in as well, he was stuck at the elevator doors, for the bags were a bit large. She hurriedly tugged at the bags.

The elevator doors were about to close. Manuel frowned slightly, reached out, and held her in his arms. Then they entered the elevator together.

Ainsley was pushed against the wall of the elevator. Being surrounded by the bags, Manuel, and his breath, she blushed instantly.

“Move over there,” Ainsley said helplessly.

“Where?” Manuel squeezed.

“You are doing this on purpose.” Ainsley tried to push him and walk closer to the elevator doors. with a red face, but he occupied most of the space with the bags in his hands, and there was no room for her to walk past him at all.

On the contrary, she was getting closer and closer to him. She was practically pressed against the elevator wall.

When the elevator doors opened, Lainey and Serina screamed at the same time, “We didn’t see anything!”

Ainsley realized that it looked like she and Manuel were kissing. She immediately blushed and pushed Manuel away. “It’s not what you think!” She walked out of the elevator at once to open the door.

Ainsley only knew what Lainey had brought over after Manuel put the bags down. It was all clothes and jewelry.

“I bought these when I went shopping today. I bought you a lot of clothes as well! They match mine! We can wear them together when we are out! Believe me. I have great taste. And I got a lot of hair pins for you as well. You’re so old-fashioned. You should wear something that suits your age.”

As Lainey spoke, she opened the bags and took out some jewelry and head accessories. "Look! And Serina, take a look, too. If there's something you like, feel free to take it. Consider it my gift."

"Thank you, Lainey." Serina was immediately attracted.

After a long while, Serina picked out three hair accessories, and Lainey let her have them all.

When Manuel left, Lainey gave him a glass, saying that Ainsley had an identical one as well.

After Serina pulled Manuel out of the door, she was thrilled. "Manuel, you and Ainsley have the same glasses! Only couples do things like this!"

Manuel smiled. After sending Serina upstairs, he drove and left.

In Ainsley's room, Lainey looked at Ainsley with a serious expression. "Serina told me everything. Is Kaitlin crazy? Why is she always trying to plot against others?"

"And I blame you, too. You went there, just because she said Mollie would be there? She would have gotten her way if Serina hadn't seen her earlier with the USB flash drive. Is your school contest that important?" Lainey looked anxious and mad.

Ainsley said, "Calm down. It wasn't just because of the contest. I did it for Serina, too. I promised. Manuel to treat Serina. Mollie is a very famous and respected senior. She can help me."

"Then have you found a way to help Serina?"

"No. It's a pity. Manuel went to her a long time ago already." Ainsley was a little disappointed.

"I'm sure there'll be a way." Lainey did not say anything else.

She did not want to see Ainsley upset, so she changed the topic and said, "Come on! Try them on."

"Alright." Ainsley immediately walked over.

Lainey threw the clothes she had picked up at Ainsley. “That jerk! Don’t see him ever again. He is so shameless! I can’t believe he actually said that you were having an affair!”

“I finally know his true colors.” Ainsley’s eyes turned cold.

Just as Ainsley figured, Kaitlin being harassed was mentioned in the news the next day, but that was all. What happened at her birthday banquet wasn’t brought up.

After Ainsley arrived at school, she did not find her phone.

Just as she wanted to go look for it, Cody came. “Ainsley, I’m so surprised! You managed to invite Mollie? You have met her already?”

“What? Professor Wade, I did meet her yesterday, but she hasn’t given me a definite answer yet.” Ainsley was confused.

Cody frowned deeply. “No way. I called you this morning. You told me yourself!”

Ainsley was shocked and thought, how is that possible? I lost my phone!

“Professor Wade, I’m afraid something may have happened. My phone went missing last night. I don’t know who picked up the phone and lied to you.” Her eyes were full of seriousness.

Seeing the look on her face, Cody knew that she wasn’t joking. “Are you serious? Think carefully. Where did you lose your phone? Who answered the phone?”

He then said worriedly, “This is not looking good. The school leaders already know that you have managed to invite Mollie, and they will soon make an announcement to the whole school and invite the media to create a buzz. What if Raymond called you as well? If the one lied to me, then I’m afraid Raymond would be tricked, too.”

Ainsley was also worried about the same thing. She thought, only those from the Baldry family have a grudge against me. Who took my phone?

My phone has a password. But the person still manages to pick up the phone. Is that a good thing or not?

“Professor Wade, I am going to find my phone now.” Ainsley knew how serious the matter was.

She thought, even if I can’t find my phone, I have to get a new SIM card. At least I have to make sure that nothing will go wrong again.

Yet the call has caused me a lot of trouble already unless Mollie agrees to attend the competition.

She made it clear to me yesterday that she would not be there.

Cody looked serious and worried. “Go ahead. I’ll go to Raymond’s office.”

“Thank you.”

As soon as Cody left, the people from the Organization Department came. The one in the lead excitedly said to Ainsley, “What a great surprise! Ms. Easton, you actually invited Ms. Randall and got her here!

“Ms. Easton, I knew it! You are such a badass! After Ms. Randall gets here, I’ll ask her for her autograph for sure!

“Ms. Easton, you still don’t know it yet, right? Now the school forum is full of praise for you. Our faculty’s section is filled with news about you!”

Ainsley took the student’s phone to take a look. Sure enough, the news of her inviting Mollie to be a judge had become a trending topic, and everyone was discussing it.

“Actually, I...” Ainsley couldn’t tell the truth when facing those excited students.

“Ms. Easton, we’ll get out of your hair now. We are going to set up the venue. After all, Ms. Randall will be here. We won’t let her think less of our university.”

“That’s right! I agree. I’m glad that Mr. Gage is the sponsor. Otherwise, I would have been so worried about saving the sponsorship fee.”

The other student grinned. "Let's go. I can't wait any longer!"

The students of the Organization Department then left excitedly, while Ainsley was struggling, not being able to tell them the truth whatsoever.
