Chapter 721 Unable to Sympathize with Her Ee Since Natalie returned home to the Jarvis family, Heather had people investigate her past. So, she always knew that Natalie didn't have it easy by Cedric's side. However, Heather didn't know to what extent! In the past few days, Heather had seen Rebecca's true colors and hysterical face. With that, she could probably guess how bad it had been for Natalie! Why did Rebecca's husband fake his death when he left to go to Wexford? Because this woman was too troublesome.

Not only her husband, but even Cedric hadn't told Rebecca where he went! py Pg gt She was a failure of a woman.

Only after Heather completely calmed down, she told Natalie that Rebecca was actually here to take Luna away! "She said she wanted to take Luna for a few days?" Natalie asked.

"Yeah, that's why I got angry!" With Rebecca's character, how could anyone believe her words? And what had she said after that? She said she had nothing left but her granddaughter! Did she know what her granddaughter's existence really meant?

Natalie fell silent. After hearing Heather's words, her expression turned unpleasant. ~~ Based on her understanding of Rebecca, she naturally knew that Rebecca's interest in Luna wasn't about love or affection.

It was...! "Nat, I can't sympathize with her on this matter!" Heather's tone almost exuded a chill.

Rebecca said she lost everything, so she wanted Luna to accompany her for a few days! However, Heather didn't sympathize! "Alright, Mom, leave this matter to me." Natalie comforted Heather, but her tone was already icy.

"How will you handle it?" Heather asked. h How? Natalie's eyes grew even darker.

Of course she had a way! After comforting Heather for a while, Natalie exited Lotus Villa. Lawrence was waiting outside. When he saw Natalie coming out, he approached her and respectfully greeted her.

"Miss." "We're going to Maple Peak." Maple Peak! If possible, Natalie really hoped she would never set foot in that place again.

| This was the result of the events in the past.

Whether it was Cedric or Irwin, Natalie wanted to stay as far away from them as possible.

Just then, her phone vibrated! She looked at the number.

It was Irwin.

Natalie rejected the call and got into the car.

However, Irwin's calls continued to come in persistently. Natalie didn't answer once and went straight to Maple Peak.

When she got out of the car, Yves respectfully approached her.

Natalie's already cold eyes became even colder as she stared at Yves.

Yves came up to her side and greeted her. "Natalie." Z He addressed her in such a familiar manner that it stimulated Natalie's sanity even more.

"What are you up to now?" | "Irwin said he'll be back early tomorrow. How about I take you back to Hillside Villa for now?" "I'm not allowed in?" Natalie figured out that Irwin probably knew about the scene Rebecca caused at Lotus Villa.

So, was he protecting Rebecca now? Yves' expression darkened, but he respectfully lowered his head. "After all, she's Mr. Johnson's mother." "Hah..." Natalie sneered.

Natalie's gaze turned icy. "So, are you saying I should back off because of Cedric?" The relationship between Irwin and Cedric was indeed intriguing. When she saw the photo in Stephen's study, she sensed their relationship wasn't simple.

However, in Verde City, they acted like enemies. Natalie still remembered how Cedric repeatedly warned her that Irwin wasn't a good person.

How could she have described their relationship back then? Hysterical? They always treated each other as if they were mortal enemies! At that time, Natalie also sensed that there might have been some grudges between Cedric and Irwin. She just didn't expect that the cause of this grudge was because of a woman! Before their friendship ruptured because of that woman, they seemed to have been close friends! Everything was crystal clear.

However, she alone couldn't see it in herself.

During those seven years, Cedric was so good to her. She hadn't been able to see through his kind gestures. Beneath that deep affection and friendship, it was actually his feelings for someone else.

Now, Irwin was protecting Cedric's mother?! This was probably a problem Natalie would never have thought of in the past, right? Looking at all this now, wasn't it ridiculous?! Especially after hearing Yves say, "After all, she is Mr. Johnson's mother." When she heard this sentence, Natalie felt like she had heard a joke! "Let's deal with everything after Irwin returns, alright?" Yves responded firmly yet respectfully.

Although respectful, his firmness implied he wouldn't let Natalie in.

Natalie was already furious! When she heard Rebecca intended to take Luna away today, her anger had been burning in her heart.

"Lawrence!" BL Lawrence was behind Natalie. Hearing her command, he stepped forward.

"Yes, Miss!" "I want to go in." It was a simple sentence! But they were spoken so coldly and menacingly.

Yves had likely never heard Natalie speak in such a tone before, so when he heard it...

His heart leaped to his throat.

"Got it!" Lawrence responded.

As Lawrence stepped forward from behind Natalie, the scene descended into chaos instantly.

Natalie glanced coldly at the scene before her and then gracefully stepped inside.

Yves tried to shake off Lawrence.

However, those around Natalie, including Lawrence, were not to be underestimated. They were all part of Regal Horizons International's most reliable security team.

"Natalie, let's wait for Irwin to come back!" But Natalie seemed to hear nothing of Yves' words. She walked inside, her entire demeanor cold.

The treatment Rebecca received at Lotus Villa was deeply humiliating.

Seeing Natalie here, she rose abruptly and moved to slap Natalie across the face. ay But she felt her hand being grabbed before she could reach her target! Natalie held her wrist in an icy grip.

Rebecca was already furious. Seeing Natalie's defiance ignited her anger even more.

"How dare you..." Before Rebecca could finish her sentence, Natalie threw her hand to the side and sent the older woman stumbling to the ground.

The butlers and servants present dared not intervene after seeing Natalie's imposing presence. They knew Natalie's significance in Irwin's eyes and didn't dare obstruct her.

Rebecca's chest heaved as she looked incredulously at Natalie, unable to believe Natalie would dare to act like this toward her.

Chapter 722 Completely Provoked In the past, even with Cedric's protection, Rebecca could make Natalie do whatever she wanted whenever Cedric wasn't around.

Even after moving to Scarlet Villa, Natalie had to obey her orders without resistance whenever Rebecca showed up.

But now...! When did it happen? It seemed like ever since Natalie divorced Cedric, she stopped being polite to Rebecca.

But Natalie had only been rude and nothing else.

Now...

"How dare you attack me?!" | It took a while for Rebecca to utter the | complete sentence. She glared fiercely at Natalie, and her eyes looked as if she wanted to devour Natalie.

Attack her? Did that even count as an attack? Natalie picked up the cup of tea Rebecca hadn't finished and fiercely splashed it onto Rebecca's face.

"Ahhh..." Rebecca screamed in fright.

Her face burned with pain! "Now, that's what I call an attack!" Natalie said casually, looking at the disheveled Rebecca on the ground.

Crash!

Natalie threw the teacup onto the ground.

At that moment, the sound made people cringe! Previously, those who worked in Maple Peak saw Natalie as a relatively gentle woman.

But now, who would have thought she would...! Would what, exactly? When Natalie was truly angered, she was unrelenting and unforgiving.

Rebecca looked at Natalie with hatred and anger in her eyes. She had been angry with Natalie before, but never like this.

The rage left her speechless.

Natalie looked at Rebecca, whose chest heaved heavily, and said fiercely, "If you dare step foot in Lotus Villa again or come near Luna and my family, I'll end you!" The last part of Natalie's sentence was full of danger and fierceness.

What kind of existence was Luna in Natalie's world? She was practically Natalie's life! She had carried Luna in her womb for months. Even when she gave birth to the child through all the hardships, she never thought about Luna's relationship with Cedric or the Johnson family.

And now Rebecca wanted to take Luna away?! But Rebecca was not one to give up!

As Natalie turned around, Rebecca climbed up from the ground in a sorry state.

"Who do you think you are to keep me away? She's my granddaughter!"

"Granddaughter?" When Natalie heard this word, she turned back, looking at Rebecca with ice-cold eyes.

"Do you even know the meaning of that word?" Natalie asked as she slowly walked toward Rebecca.

At this moment, Natalie's presence was full of danger! Rebecca, who was used to being dominant in front of Natalie, subconsciously stepped back at the sight of this. But Natalie kept advancing until she was right in front of Rebecca.

"What are you going to do?" Rebecca asked.

The next moment, Natalie viciously grabbed her hair. At that moment, Natalie seemed to have lost her sanity...! Granddaughter?! What kind of existence was that word? Back in the Johnson family, like many foolish women, Natalie thought the relationship with her mother-in-law might change when she had a child.

She drank bowl after bowl of bitter medicine like a madwoman. Finally,

| perhaps even heaven took pity on her, and she conceived, carrying her and Cedric's child! She happily shared the news with | them. At that time, Rebecca's attitude toward her changed. The older woman even brought in a specialist doctor to help maintain the pregnancy.

Natalie was like a fool! Thinking their relationship would change because of it.

She didn't expect that Rebecca and the doctor would cause her child to...! Memories flashed before her eyes.

"Ah! n The angrier Natalie became, the stronger her grip, and Rebecca winced! Clearly, she hadn't expected Natalie to be so intense.

"Let go of me, you lunatic! Let go of me, ahh...!" Smack! The slap landed heavily on Rebecca's face.

The onlookers, who were already too afraid to intervene, looked at Natalie's eyes, which were full of ferocity.

No one dared to approach either of them.

Rebecca fell silent.

Everyone took a sharp intake of breath at the slap.

Rebecca couldn't react for a while.

In the end, Natalie shoved her away.

"This slap is to remind you of your place. You're not worthy. And remember, you're not fit to be a grandmother!" That was right! Rebecca was simply unworthy of being a grandmother, so Natalie shoved her away without a trace of warmth.

| Rebecca's mind buzzed, unable to react for a long time.

Natalie left! "S-she dared...!" Dared what? Previously, Natalie was like a meek kitten that Cedric protected.

What was this now?!

When Natalie came out, the night breeze swept past her. At that moment, it dispelled the chill in her heart, When Lawrence saw Natalie coming out, he brushed past Yves. "Miss." "Let's go!" Seeing that Natalie looked no worse for wear, Yves headed inside without another word.

Natalie's phone kept ringing. Clearly, Irwin was repeatedly calling her.

After she got into the car, she finally answered the man's call.

She felt much better now.

"Hello." "Where are you?" "Maple Peak."

"Nat..." Irwin sounded breathless on the other end.

Irwin naturally knew Natalie's current attitude towards the Johnson family and Rebecca's outburst at Lotus Villa.

She wouldn't consider anyone's feelings at this point.

Irwin was especially well aware of Natalie's emotions when it was matters regarding Luna! He hadn't expected Rebecca to lose her mind to this extent, to the point of attempting to take Luna from Natalie.

Natalie had practically exchanged her life to give birth to that child! If Natalie had thought for a moment that Luna would have any connection to Cedric in the future, she wouldn't have kept the baby.

So why did she keep the child? | Because she believed that since the child grew in her own belly, it was hers and hers alone, with no connection to anyone else! Given these circumstances, how could she allow Luna to be taken from her? And to make things worse, it was Rebecca who was trying to take the child! Irwin knew exactly what Rebecca had done to Natalie in the past, so he understood how dangerous Rebecca's actions were now.

"What?"

1] sent Yves over there. Didn't he tell you..." "Irwin, are you asking me to endure this?" Natalie emphasized the word 'endure' heavily! In the past, she had endured so much for Cedric's sake. She had silently tolerated everything the Johnson family did to her because of him.

Out of respect for Cedric, she tolerated them.

Even if she didn't like it, she endured it.

Chapter 724 You Haven't Divorced Irwin Yet re : The air grew heavy.

After a moment...! Bang! Yves heard a loud thud followed by a muffled voice.

Then, Irwin's voice came through, "Bring her back to Lotus Villa!" Natalie had gone mad! She was truly mad! She had actually followed someone like Austin to a club? What exactly was happening now? Didn't she realize what she was doing?!

He didn't believe Stephen would allow | Natalie to get too close to Austin, especially at this critical juncture...

Irwin rose and left the conference room, leaving everyone exchanging confused looks.

Dylan hurried to catch up.

"Yes, sir!" Yves replied.

Even Yves couldn't help but feel anxious for Irwin at this moment.

It was no wonder Irwin had said those words before Cedric handed his eyes over to Natalie.

Now, anyone by Natalie's side truly couldn't find peace! And Natalie...!

What was her situation now? | Had she thoroughly fallen from grace? | Once, Cedric treated her with utmost care and tenderness. But after enduring such turmoil...

Was she now wild and unrestrained? Mingling with anyone and everyone? Yes! To those on Irwin's side, Natalie seemed to have transformed from the well-educated lady of a prestigious family into a woman who was wild and unpredictable.

Her attitudes toward Caleb, Austin, and others during this period were ambiguous and unclear.

Meanwhile, in Wexford, Dylan >i managed to catch up with Irwin before he got into the car.

RSirliSipsit "Move aside!" "This meeting is very important," Dylan said nervously to Irwin.

This was a critical time for Wexford as well.

Thinking about Natalie, Dylan couldn't help but feel a headache coming on.

Natalie was currently kicking up quite a fuss. @ Even those by Irwin's side now found Natalie difficult to handle.

Dylan's head pounded fiercely at the thought.

Irwin's eyes darkened. As he closed his eyes, the sharpness concealed beneath the surface couldn't hide the dangerous, icy aura emanating from him.

"Let Yves handle it for now," Dylan plucked up the courage to say to Irwin.

After returning from Yonwood City, Natalie seemed indifferent to any news about Cedric from Wexford. | So, from Dylan's perspective, Irwin's return wouldn't change anything.

"She's gone mad!" Irwin exclaimed.

n n She had indeed gone mad, but it was also because of him and Cedric. They had forced her to become this way.

Naturally, Dylan didn't dare to say such words.

"Let's switch to a video conference!" Irwin ultimately got into the car.

Dylan wanted to say more, but seeing Irwin's demeanor, he knew Irwin had | to return to Simeria.

| If they didn't go back now, the already | chaotic situation in Simeria might escalate into something worse because of Natalie.

Two hours later, Natalie emerged from the club, looking somewhat dazed. She had to admit that the rumored fool really knew how to enjoy himself.

"How was it?" "I didn't like it," Natalie replied flatly.

She was only astonished that the rumored fool could enjoy himself like this. As for such places, she genuinely disliked them.

As she finished speaking, the man chuckled.

Natalie fell silent.

She obviously didn't understand what the man found amusing, nor did she want to.

Before she could react, her cold hand was enveloped by the man's large hand and held tightly.

Natalie instinctively tried to pull away.

"Let go of me."

"It's late. I'll take you back," Austin said.

Take her back? led It was rare to hear such words from him.

It felt that once she got into his car, she wouldn't know where she would end up.

"I can go back on my own," Natalie insisted.

Back when she was blind and couldn't see anything, she didn't want to appear dependent on anyone. Now, it was even harder for her to ask for help.

However, Austin's grip tightened, and he pulled Natalie into the car.

"Hey, you..." Natalie began.

"It's late. It's not gentlemanly to let a woman go home alone," Austin interrupted. — "Do you really think the Entes family has gentlemen?" Natalie retorted without mincing her words.

Perhaps because of Bianca, or maybe now with Austin's presence, in Natalie's mind, the men of the Entes family were all brutish.

Especially the fifth lord, Icarus.

Although she hadn't seen him, Natalie had already felt his dominance.

"Since you're unwilling to take my car, I'll accompany you to take a taxi. Will that reassure you?" Austin seemed to read Natalie's mind.

Natalie fell silent.

Take a taxi?! She hadn't expected such a concession.

"You don't need to do this. I can manage on my own!" Now that she could see clearly with her own eyes, she could go anywhere on her own. She didn't need someone by her side! In the end, she got into Austin's car.

As the car drove along, Austin picked up a folder and carefully perused its contents. In the cramped space, there was a brief moment of silence.

Natalie thought Austin wouldn't speak again until they reached Lotus Villa.

However, she was mistaken.

She heard the man's voice beside her, slow and deliberate. "You haven't divorced Irwin yet?" — Natalie was silent. She gave Austin a cold look as her eyes darkened. She said, "Should I divorce him?" "You sure have deep feelings for him, huh?" Austin said in response.

At that moment, the man's tone was complex, and Natalie couldn't discern his emotions.

When Natalie heard his words, a cold smile tugged at her lips, and she felt a sense of irony.

Feelings? For Irwin? She felt as if she had stumbled upon a senseless joke.

"You must be joking," she retorted.

"If not, what is it?" Austin asked.

"I'm content with the current situation!" If Irwin insisted on this marriage, then she would comply! As for how long she would keep it up, it depended on Irwin's attitude.

Natalie also wanted to know how much Irwin could endure and where his limits lay. Once, Cedric and Irwin had ruthlessly exploited her. Now, they expected her to back down? It wasn't that simple.

Austin looked at her, and his eyes sparkled with endless depth at that moment.

"Are you using this method to retaliate against him?" Though Austin asked a question, his tone was confident, as if he had made a statement instead.

Natalie looked at Austin coldly. "Is it cruel?" Cruel? Yes, it was! Everyone observing Natalie now probably thought she had changed significantly and was indeed quite cruel.

But in Austin's eyes...

"Treating him like this is very dangerous for you!"

Chapter 725 Well-Educated and Sensible II | Dangerous? When Natalie heard Austin's words, she merely smiled at him indifferently.

"If you weren't trying to leverage the Jarvis Family..." At this point, Natalie paused.

They had already arrived at Lotus Villa.

Natalie opened the car door and got out but didn't leave immediately. Instead, she stood with her back to Austin, gazing up at the night sky filled with stars.

In that moment, memories she least wanted to recall flashed through her mind—memories of the once beautiful moments with Cedric. Those were memories she preferred to forget, as they brought her nothing but pain.

Taking a deep breath, she pushed down the heaviness in her chest, burying those memories beneath the stars.

When she finally spoke again, her tone was much colder. "Since you know how dangerous I am now, stay away from me." Austin was stunned at her words.

Without waiting for him to respond, Natalie turned and stepped inside. She was a petite figure, but now she seemed filled with a reservoir of resentment.

Austin watched her disappear before his eyes. His eyes, once complex, now harbored a sharp and endless danger.

"Martin." "Yes, Lord Austin?" 5 Austin's tone held depth as he asked, "Are you sure she was well-educated and sensible when she was at the Johnson family?" Looking at Natalie now, there was nothing in her demeanor that hinted at her being 'well-educated and sensible'.

"According to the investigation records, that's correct," Martin replied.

The records...! If the investigation indeed revealed such information, then there must be a fierce beast dwelling within Natalie's heart.

That was what Austin thought.

Her appearance was harmless enough, but now, looking at Natalie, Austin felt a sense of unease.

"I regret it." "What?" Martin, who was driving, was stunned.

Regret? In their world, the concept of regret' had never existed in Austin's vocabulary.

Yet here he was, admitting regret? What did he regret? At the next moment, Austin said, "Tell Harvey to expedite the process. I want to see Natalie divorced from Irwin as soon as possible."

Martin fell silent.

That had nothing to do with his regret! Despite spending so much time by Austin's side, Martin had no idea where this depth in his words was coming from.

When Natalie arrived home, Heather was already in bed with Luna, and Clyde was nowhere to be seen as usual.

However, even in an empty house, Natalie felt a sense of comfort. Just being here made her feel at ease.

When Stephen saw her, his expression was grave.

Natalie approached Stephen and sat beside him. "What's wrong, Dad?" | Stephen looked at her. "Did you go and confront Rebecca?" | Bringing up Rebecca instantly dampened Natalie's good mood.

Without much explanation, she responded dully, "Yes." Stephen sighed, his tone full of resignation. He knew the complexities of Natalie and Rebecca's relationship | and didn't know what to say about the matter at hand.

Things always need to be resolved, especially when they involve the past.

Those who come in later should refrain from interfering.

"Nat." "Yeah?"

"Luna is here, and nobody is taking her away," Stephen said.

At that moment, Natalie's emotions surged. She threw herself into Stephen's arms. Despite her firmness in front of Rebecca, Stephen's words brought her considerable relief.

"Yeah." Having a family felt wonderful.

Natalie dared not imagine what it would be like if she were alone, facing Rebecca's aggressiveness.

How would she cope? She kept asking herself this question, but no matter what, she wouldn't tread the same old path again. That was why Rebecca's attempts to treat her as before were futile.

"As for how to handle other matters, you should feel free to do as you see fit.

Don't worry too much about it," Stephen continued.

That was what family was for! Even such simple words provided Natalie with endless support, offering some comfort and stability in her shattered and tumultuous world.

"Thank you, Dad." "Also, divorce Irwin." Stephen's words left her stunned.

Divorce? She had been contemplating divorcing Irwin, but wasn't the Entes family causing problems lately. She was worried about the Jarvis family being affected.

But Stephen said, "Family is more important than hatred." Hatred? = Stephen had encountered many enemies in his life. If he sought revenge on each one, where would the tranquility of the Jarvis family be? How could Heather find peace in such an environment? "Dad | n "I know you hate him. Since you hate him, then he must be insignificant. So why let hatred occupy your heart?" She hated him, so that made him insignificant? If someone was truly hated, then they really didn't matter anymore.

In that case...

Natalie couldn't deny that both Cedric and Irwin were subjects of her hatred.

She despised them and wished she could tear them apart.

"But Rebecca..." When it came to Rebecca, Natalie's emotions were a tumultuous storm.

For her, family was indeed important, and everything she did now was to protect them.

She, of course, also desired a peaceful life for Luna. | But the Johnson family...! | They had never given her peace. Ever since she got involved years ago, the Johnson family seemed intent on barging into her life.

For Natalie, this feeling is truly unbearable.

""Rebecca is a difficult person to deal with. However..." Stephen paused here.

The look he gave Natalie was so complex and filled with concern.

He originally intended to say something more tactful, but in the end, he held back.

Irwin shouldn't occupy a place in Natalie's heart.

Cedric should also remain in the past.

But Rebecca was truly despicable! Putting what Natalie and Heather felt aside, Stephen also felt that Rebecca's actions were unforgivable, even if he had only heard about them!

Chapter 726 Don't Want His Protection a In the end, Stephen didn't say much about Rebecca.

If she had even a shred of reason, she wouldn't have done what she did today. So, one couldn't treat such a person with the usual courtesy.

There was a saying, "Evil begets evil," and Rebecca embodied this perfectly.

"So, divorce Irwin," Stephen emphasized this point.

Although the current situation between Natalie and Irwin within the | Jarvis family may seem favorable, Stephen saw through it.

Natalie hated it! She hated Cedric, and she hated Irwin.

Why hadn't anyone told Natalie about Cedric sacrificing his eyes for her? It was because they all knew that Natalie wouldn't forgive him! Even if she knew that Cedric sacrificed so much for her, she wouldn't be able to bring herself to forgive him.

Once the situation was laid out, it would only lead to more chaos.

As for the matter with Irwin...

As Natalie's father, Stephen naturally didn't want Natalie to do anything rash because of revenge! In the end, it was never clear. Natalie couldn't see through Irwin clearly, and Stephen... also couldn't.

"I understand." Natalie nodded.

"Get some rest." "Okay." After such a big commotion, Natalie was truly tired.

And Rebecca is still in Simeria. Now that she had started this, ending things wouldn't be so easy! Who knew what kind of scene Rebecca would stir up after this? In such a situation, Natalie must ensure her own safety! Heather left the room when she knew Natalie was back.

After Natalie finished showering, she held Luna in her arms. Looking at the child's side profile, Natalie noted that it was so similar to Cedric's face.

Natalie's heart was filled with a dense ache! Ultimately, she was wrong.

Even if she had borne the child with her own body, the child wasn't only hers. There were too many complicated connections! When Luna was born, Natalie never thought she would let her child face people like Rebecca.

Now, in the end...! That night, Natalie couldn't sleep.

The following morning, even before breakfast was served, Irwin called!

When she saw Irwin's number on the screen, Natalie's head started to ache.

Heather was on her way to the dining room when she saw Natalie going out.

She frowned and asked, "You're going out so early in the morning?" "Yeah." Natalie had seen Irwin's car outside the window just now.

He didn't come in. He was obviously worried about yesterday's incident. He knew it would be difficult to explain if he entered the villa! Hah! It was rare that people like him and Cedric also had times when it was hard to explain themselves.

Heading out, Natalie saw the man leaning against the car door. There were several cigarette butts scattered at his feet, indicating he had been here for a while.

Natalie approached him with a cold expression.

Irwin was silent and pursed his lips tightly as he looked at Natalie. He seemed to want to say something, but at this moment, no words came to mind.

"Spit it out. What do you want?" Natalie broke the silence, clearly wanting to get this over with quickly.

She didn't want to spend another minute with Irwin! However, the man turned around and opened the car door. "Get in."

"Let's talk here," Natalie refused directly, showing no intention of getting in the car. It was obvious she didn't think of leaving with Irwin.

"Natalie!" Irwin's tone grew sterner.

"I know what you're going to say, but I think you already know my answer.

There's no need to waste time! And..." Natalie paused.

Then, she looked at the man and said, "Let's get divorced." Having said that, she turned around, her attitude ice-cold and decisive.

Indeed, this was how she was right now. Whether towards him or Cedric, she was equally icy! As it turned out, Cedric's concerns were right from the beginning. He had never approved of Natalie going to Wexford. It was because he knew that once Natalie found out about Blair's existence, his schemes would be exposed! So, whether it was Cedric or Irwin, it was impossible for them to remain in Natalie's life. No matter what happened between them, even those beautiful memories would be completely overturned in Natalie's mind because of Blair. @ It turned out that Cedric's concerns had always been valid.

He had been living with Natalie for many years, and he knew her quite well. She was a strong-willed woman.

He knew that once she found out about Blair, their relationship would be ruined, regardless of how deep their bond was.

That was how Natalie was! Upon hearing Natalie so decisively propose divorce, Irwin grabbed her wrist.

The two of them stood facing each other without saying a word for a long time.

Finally, Irwin's voice was hoarse as he asked, "Do you hate me that much?" At this moment, Irwin's voice was filled with intense emotions.

Hate...? Yes, she hated him! Everything Natalie had done during this time made Irwin feel like a joke in his own world. Whenever he went out, it felt like everyone was mocking him.

It was as if the world knew that he was being cheated on. ee Natalie had done that! She had gone out with Caleb in broad daylight, and had vague interactions with Austin! These were her retaliations against him because they got married.

Undoubtedly, if they were to divorce now, the speculations made by those people before would be further confirmed... And he would completely become a joke! "Whether I hate you or not, it doesn't matter anymore!" Natalie responded.

Now, she just didn't want to have anything to do with him.

As she spoke, she tried to retract her wrist, but Irwin squeezed tighter.

Eventually, he shoved her into the car." "Stop the car!" Natalie exclaimed. Her tone was cold, devoid of any warmth.

But why would Irwin stop the car? He was going mad, truly mad! Even he felt like he was being driven crazy now.

Previously, they had agreed to wait until the dust settled with the Entes family before getting a divorce.

Undoubtedly, Irwin wanted to make good use of this time, so he had never thought of anything like this happening! But now...! Natalie didn't care about anything anymore. In her quest for revenge, in her desire to make him a complete joke, she didn't care about anything: She just wanted to sever ties with him completely! She wanted to cut off all ties between them.

Click! Clack! The sound of the car door opening echoed, followed by the emergency brake screeching and Irwin's roar, "Are you crazy?!" At that moment, the car came to an abrupt stop! Irwin's heart beat wildly against his ribcage.

Natalie was crazy... she was truly out of her mind! Did she really want to jump out of the car just now? Did she really hate him so much?

Chapter 727 Blair's Beloved Just when Natalie was about to open the car door and step out silently, she felt Irwin grab her wrist painfully! Obviously, Natalie didn't want to say anything to Irwin now. At this point, there was no need for them to continue the conversation.

"Nat," Irwin's tone tightened.

Natalie remained silent.

She didn't bother giving him a response.

Seeing Natalie's cold and indifferent demeanor, Irwin felt a sharp pain in his heart.

He...!

Yes, everything was his fault! If he hadn't sent Isabella to Cedric, none of this would have happened, whether Cedric saw Natalie as Blair's substitute or not.

To put it more plainly, Irwin had destroyed the first half of Natalie and Cedric's lives.

Irwin ruined everything, so Natalie became like this...! His heart ached even more at the thought.

"Do you think there's still a need for us to talk?" "Are you really not worried about the Entes family..." Irwin paused here.

That was right,

The Entes family! did Irwin become so despicable? When did he ; era He resorted to such means just to keep a woman.

It was a shame that he had to rely on external forces to maintain his relationship. The relationship between the Entes and Jarvis families has always been sensitive.

After Natalie and Cedric got divorced, Icarus, the sixth son of the Entes family, was eager to take action against the Jarvis family. To make matters worse, the Entes family's third son had also joined in.

This made things even more complicated.

What kind of existence was the Jarvis family in Simeria?

After Robert's death, the Entes family members were divided, and each sought the support of the Jarvis family.

Because of that, Natalie had become their target! No matter who it was, everyone had their own purposes.

Natalie looked at Irwin and said, "Irwin, do you know how pathetic you're being?" Whether it was regarding Blair or her, Irwin was pathetic.

"You hate Cedric so much because Blair loved Cedric back then, right!?" Irwin fell silent.

It felt like his mind had gone blank.

Even the whole world seemed empty at this moment.

? Lover ade Love was an unfamiliar word to Irwin, but why was it so? Ultimately, it was because of that woman! The past was one thing. No matter what it was like back then, Blair was a tangible presence in his heart.

"At least the Entes family has a definite purpose for going after me, and everyone knows their intentions.

But what about you?" Natalie asked.

Irwin remained silent.

"You're so sinister!" Yes, that was Natalie's final conclusion about Irwin. In her opinion, Irwin was | indeed a sinister person.

darkness in him that could There was a darkness i cual almost destroy everything.

After hearing the statement, [Irwin was silent for a while as he couldn't find any words to say.

The statement was true, and he knew it.

He had been a terrible person for many years, and his sinister behavior had ultimately ruined Cedric and Natalie's lives.

"Even if it means getting involved with the Entes family, you still want to divorce me, right?!" Irwin asked.

"Whether I get involved with them or not doesn't matter! But I think that if my father can ask me to divorce you at this time, then he must be confident that he can lead the Jarvis family to a better path without relying on an outsider like you!" Natalie replied.— The word "outsider" pierced Irwin's heart deeply.

He realized that Stephen was the one who had suggested the divorce! That made sense.

As a father, how could Stephen bear to see Natalie suffer like this? So, he asked Irwin to divorce Natalie just so she could live a normal life.

However, being a member of the Jarvis family, a normal life was out of the question for her.

Irwin knew Natalie longed to be with her daughter and live a peaceful life.

But since this was the Jarvis family, things were far from simple.

Irwin struggled to keep his cnr check and asked Natalie, "Do you know what Cedric said before leaving?" After returning from Yonwood City, Natalie never asked about Cedric.

Even when significant events happened previously in Wexford, she seemed indifferent and never showed any interest.

Irwin, who witnessed their relationship from the initial sweetness to utter devastation, knew how much Natalie despised Cedric and rarely mentioned him in front of her.

It was once Irwin's purpose to create this ending. But now that he saw it, he felt bitter, especially after seeing Natalie's demeanor during this time!

ti , it seemed as if she had At those times, it see Jighiy completely fallen from grace.

Natalie remained silent and didn't respond to his words.

Irwin looked at Natalie and said, "Before leaving Wexford, he was most worried about the grudges between the Jarvis and Entes families and how they might involve you, so..." "So, he asked you to marry me, right?" Natalie interrupted, her tone dripping with sarcasm.

Irwin fell silent, taken aback by Natalie's words.

"You really listened to him, Irwin," Natalie continued, her voice biting.

"How did I never see it? Beneath your hysterics, it turns out you were actually such good friends!" Yes! Gems Good friends.

They were more than just friends.

When Natalie saw how close they had looked in the photo in her father's study, she was shocked.

"Nat." "Irwin, since it was Cedric's idea, it's all the more reason I should sever ties with you," Natalie stated firmly.

Irwin's tone grew heavier as he pleaded, "Nat, please don't be so stubborn." Stubborn? That was right. In Irwin's opinion, Natalie was only throwing a tantrum and being stubborn because the matter was related to Cedric.

rl As long as Cedric was involved, Natalie would reject it without thinking! Since there was no room for compromise between them, how could there be a way out? Cedric had a clear understanding of the situation, and Irwin had also come to the same conclusion now! However, even without Cedric in the picture, Natalie was not willing to make any concessions for Irwin.

Natalie ignored Irwin's words and said, "I'll see you in court at three in the afternoon." With that, she shook off the man's hand and exited the car.

Irwin was speechless.

Natalie was still...! os No matter how clearly he analyzed the problem, Natalie ultimately behaved in the same manner.

She wasn't leaving any room for compromise at all! She didn't leave any for others, and not even for herself, did she? Yes! Not even for herself.

After Natalie left, Irwin sat in the car for a long time, smoking one cigarette after another. He couldn't suppress the dull ache in his chest.

Chapter 728 Nobody Can See Clearly When Natalie returned to Lotus Villa, Stephen had already left, leaving only Heather at home.

Heather had been fine when Natalie left this morning, but now...! "Mom, what happened?" Natalie approached Heather, seeing her full of anger.

Seeing that Natalie had returned, Heather tried hard to conceal all the emotions on her face, but she looked defeated.

Heather took several deep breaths, trying to suppress the heaviness in her heart.

Seeing Heather silent, Natalie pulled her to sit down. "What's wrong?"

But the moment they sat down, Heather hugged Natalie, It was such a heavy atmosphere! Natalie felt Heather's anger even more.

Heather... had always been able to control her temper, but now the air was filled with rage. Just how much did someone provoke her? Heather took a deep breath and said, "Rebecca's lawyer is here." Natalie was stunned.

Rebecca's lawyer? "What for?" The moment the question left Natalie's lips, the answer came to her.

Heather wasn't the only one who couldn't restrain her temper once Natalie formed that conclusion! Rebecca...! Last night, Natalie had wondered what Rebecca would do next.

Over the years, Rebecca had made countless efforts to get Christina out of prison. Though Christina was an adopted child, Rebecca still cherished her! It was just a pity that there was conclusive evidence of what Christina did.

Even if it was Rebecca, it wasn't easy to get her out.

And now, Rebecca couldn't find Cedric, no matter how hard she tried. Rebecca wasn't the only one looking for Cedric.

Even Natalie was now curious about where he had gone.

Thinking of what Rebecca had said, something else came to Natalie's mind.

But before she could speak, Heather spoke first, "She wants Luna!" That was the expected answer.

Why would Rebecca come to the Jarvis family with a lawyer now? She had nothing, Christina was in prison, and Cedric was nowhere to be found.

Even if Rebecca didn't like Natalie, she had to admit that Luna, born to Natalie, was now her only descendant by blood.

When everything seemed hopeless for Christina and Cedric, how could Rebecca stand back and do nothing? So naturally, the next thing for her to do would be to try and take Luna.

"I understand." Initially, Heather expected Natalie to explode after she heard this.

Unexpectedly, Natalie calmly unwrapped Heather's arms around her and stood.

"Nat..." "I'll handle it." "How will you handle it?" Heather seemed anxious when talking about dealing with this matter.

Yesterday, they drove Rebecca out in such a manner, which seemed to be the most extreme measure they could use against her.

Yet, the people who knew about that matter seemed to have left some leeway for Rebecca after all. But this leeway only allowed Rebecca to continue causing trouble. ~~ How was she going to handle it? A cold glint flashed in Natalie's eyes after Heather asked this question.

Even though Cedric couldn't see, he still had Lucas and Kyle read him the relevant reports from Simeria every day.

Lucas and Kyle both knew that Cedric wanted to be kept updated about matters regarding Natalie.

And today, as they read the related reports, Lucas looked at Cedric solemnly, and Cedric naturally sensed this solemn atmosphere. g During this time, Cedric's perception of his surroundings became more acute. He could even sense the emotions of others...! He recalled how Natalie had sensed every subtle change in him so clearly back when she had been blind.

What was he thinking back then? He assumed it was because Natalie couldn't see, so...! Thinking of how clearly she sensed every emotion of his in the darkness, his heart felt even more suffocated.

Finally, Cedric broke the silence. "Go on, tell me what's wrong." When Lucas was so serious, Cedric knew it must be about Natalie, and it a ATTA od Mba wasn't good news.

"Madam will divorce Mr. Frazier this afternoon." iE "And she was apparently very firm about it." Cedric remained silent.

When he heard Lucas' words, his mind went blank. His temples throbbed, and his head ached badly.

"Is there any news about the Entes family's seal?" "No, Your Excellency." No news? And she still dared to divorce Irwin at this time? She knew how much the Entes family's heir needed the support of the Jarvis family now, right? If she divorced Irwin, the Jarvis family would have to face off against the Entes family.

Was she really out of her mind and disregarding everything now? "And..." Lucas's tone became uneasy, and he trailed off.

"And what?" Cedric could actually guess what was happening in Simeria now, but it didn't do anything to ease his heart.

Natalie...! What was she really up to? "And last night, Madam was with Lord Austin. Mr. Frazier was anxious, and this morning, she said she wanted a divorce! Madam proposed it herself, and she was very firm, so..."

This was what Lucas was most worried about. Natalie had met with Austin last night, and in the morning, she mentioned wanting to divorce Irwin.

Was this related to Austin? When Lucas mentioned Austin's name, Cedric's expression turned darker.

"That fool!" He was referring to Austin. He had to admit that the fool had really shocked everyone! "He's not a fool," Lucas said.

Yes! Up to now, even an idiot would realize that Austin never had any problems and was never a fool.

However, no one knew what od preparations Austin had made in the dark all these years. He had acted as a fool to conceal everything, and it had to be said that Austin was the deepest and most incomprehensible existence in the Entes family.

Previously, everyone thought that Zane would eventually take over the Entes family, or maybe even Icarus.

After all, they were both such profound individuals with such deep schemes that no one could see through everything.

However, now that Austin had recovered, the already chaotic Entes family became even more incomprehensible, presenting a great challenge to the Jarvis family at this time. y After all, despite appearances, the existence of these two families in Simeria was closely related! So, the situation now was even more dire than before!

Chapter 729 She Really Doesn't Want Us, Does She? ! With his ability to see every little detail, Cedric was becoming increasingly worried, especially now that Natalie wanted to divorce Irwin! "Did Irwin agree?" Cedric's tone was already tense when he spoke, and now it tightened even more.

"No, but now..." Now what? Now, what was even more worrying was the matter between Natalie and Austin.

Cedric probably also considered the main point of this report—the crucial aspect was now Natalie and Austin.

Cedric said, "Have Irwin find out what's going on between Austin and Nat." Cedric absolutely wouldn't believe it.

Natalie couldn't possibly be involved with someone from the Entes family unless it was like what happened with Malcolm.

She was threatened! That was what Cedric thought.

"Yes, Your Excellency." Lucas nodded.

Cedric reached out to pick up the water beside him. Even though his perception of the surroundings was clear...

Clang!

The cup fell to the ground when he reached out, making a harsh noise.

It sounded like everyone's heart also shattered when the cup fell to the ground.

So, this was how it was to survive in darkness! No matter how keen a person's perception was, it was ultimately useless if their heart was in turmoil.

LE Slrie "Daddy." The tense voices of Lucas and Kayla rang out at the same time.

Meanwhile, Cedric felt powerless as he sat in the darkness.

Kayla reached out and grabbed Cedric's hand.

"Let me check if you're hurt," she said, her tone full of tenderness and concern.

Cedric smiled faintly, but it was filled with bitterness that seemed to have no end.

"Daddy, what do you want? Let me get it for you, okay?" Kayla said softly.

When Cedric heard Kayla's tone, he also spoke softly. "Okay." Lucas looked at the interaction between Cedric and Kayla. He had to admit that during their stay in Yuloria, no one here disliked Kayla. In fact, the people here liked her very much.

If nobody mentioned her relationship to Isabella, nobody would know she was Isabella's daughter.

She was an obedient and sensible child.

She was also kind! Yes.

No one expected that the word 'kind' would be used to describe Isabella's daughter. Once she returned from school, she would do many things for Cedric. She cared for him like an adult, and she was extremely meticulous about her tasks.

"Daddy." "Yeah?" "Mommy really doesn't want us, does she?" There was a hint of disappointment in Kayla's voice.

Although Natalie treated her like that _ ey before, it was evident that Luna still had high expectations for Natalie.

When children attended school, they became part of society and faced many challenges on their own. When such things happen, managing their thoughts could be difficult.

Kayla was no exception. She noticed that most children were picked up by their mothers and only a few by their fathers, and she also yearned for a mother in her heart.

"Kayla." "Yes, Daddy?" "Go do your homework." In the end, Cedric didn't answer Kayla's question. Cedric still didn't change Kayla's surname. Isabella didn't exist in her life, and her existence was too heavy of a burden for Kayla. © "Okay." Seeing Cedric unwilling to speak about it, Kayla was also sensible and didn't continue to ask. She nodded and stood.

"I'll clean up the mess on the floor first." "Let Zoe do it. You go do your homework."
"Okay." Kayla was just too sensible.

Sometimes, overly sensible children could be quite difficult because people wouldn't know how to treat them.

Even when making many decisions, it _ was hard to tell which was the best solution! In Simeria, Natalie arrived at the court at three o'clock in the afternoon, but Irwin didn't come.

The one who came was Yves...! Natalie's anger surged when she saw Yves.

"Natalie." "What's the meaning of this?" Natalie asked directly. She clearly wasn't satisfied with the current situation.

She was waiting for Irwin.

"Go back. Irwin won't be coming!"

Yves said.

Natalie closed her eyes, and countless _ thoughts raced through her mind.

He wasn't coming? So, he decided to be shameless like this?! When she thought of this, Natalie's heart grew colder, and her eyes were filled with endless chill.

"I'll wait for him." Natalie turned her head to the side, showing no intention of leaving.

"Irwin is meeting with Lord Austin." Natalie was stunned at Yves' words.

yves looked at Natalie with an unprecedented seriousness in his eyes.

He took a deep breath and said, "Don't push him too hard." i ? push him too hard: A =i Was that how everyone thought? That she was the one pushing Irwin? Yves' tone was ominous, hinting that something awful might happen in Simeria if things continued as they were.

Indeed! Natalie had already been surprised by the existence of Maple Peak. However, since Irwin had already acquired Wexford, the significance of Maple Peak for him may be lower.

But, if he ended up getting provoked here in Simeria, then Maple Peak would definitely pose a threat to the Entes family, and even to the Jarvis family.

| Yves gazed at Natalie, and without waiting for her response, he spoke coldly, "You won't benefit from doing that!" His words carried an intense force, and each word seemed to be masking an immense danger.

When Natalie heard Yves, she laughed sarcastically and replied, "Have I ever gained anything from him?" Yves remained silent, and Natalie scoffed.

"Hah...!" Now, Yves was telling her that pushing Irwin too hard wouldn't do her any good. But in Natalie's view, had she gained anything from Irwin and Cedric? Even if she had gained anything, it was like fleeting shadows, and everything had disappeared without a trace.

a Or perhaps what they once offered her was something she didn't value.

"Let's go back for now." Yves frowned, not entertaining Natalie's words.

Yves understood that outsiders couldn't see or comprehend the issues between Natalie, Cedric, and Irwin.

Only the three of them knew the intricacies of what had happened over the years.

Since Irwin had gone to meet Austin, Natalie knew that he wouldn't show up, no matter how stubbornly she waited.

In the end, she turned around to leave.

"I'll take you back," Yves said to Natalie.

"I can see now!" Natalie replied. Fe

Chapter 730 Just a Fool With that, Natalie turned and got into her Mercedes-Benz G-Klasse.

Yves watched Natalie leave and then got into his own car. Then, he pulled out his phone to call Irwin.

At this moment, Irwin was in Orchid Bay.

Both men had cold expressions with a hint of hostility.

Seeing Yves's call, Irwin glanced at the elegant man sipping coffee across from him and then answered his phone.

"Did she go back?" "Yes, sir."

"Good." With that, he hung up the phone. = Meanwhile, Austin had already set down his coffee cup. Every movement he made exuded elegance.

"In all these years, no one from the Entes family has ever come here, right?" Irwin asked.

His tone was deep and grave. If anyone from the Entes family had visited Orchid Bay, Irwin believed someone would have noticed something amiss.

| "Why would a group of sensible people pay attention to a fool?" Austin responded, his words dripping with sarcasm.

"A fool, huh?" Irwin muttered.

If Austin was just a fool, he was o certainly not an ordinary one.

"Is she waiting for you at the court?" Austin asked.) His words carried a hint of teasing.

Irwin's already grim expression darkened further upon hearing Austin's response.

"Since you know who she really is, then you should also know that she's the last person in Simeria you should mess with." "I'm not planning to mess with her.

She's the one who wants to leave you." "Lord Austin!" There was a weight in Irwin's voice.

"Considering how both my sixth and fifth brothers are watching the Jarvis family, what do you think will happen after she divorces you?" Was the Jarvis family really that important? Irwin felt suffocated.

"I don't care about your family name right now! All of you should just drop this obsession!" "If you had protected her like this earlier, you wouldn't be in such a dilemma now," Austin calmly replied.

n n Earlier? From when? Actually, what Austin said was right. If Irwin had acted like this earlier, would they have reached this point? Unfortunately, certain events could only be understood after they had happened, and it was impossible to change the past.

"Fine. Tell me, what are your conditions?" Irwin got straight to the point.

"Are you willing to do anything for her?" Austin asked in a more serious tone.

"Just tell me!" "Hah!" Austin chuckled, his laughter tinged with mockery.

Looking into Irwin's eyes, he seemed to see deeper.

"When you care too much about someone, it will lead to confusion and chaos, right?" Irwin fell silent.

Too much concern would lead to confusion? Yes, that was right! After Irwin learned that Natalie had met Austin, his head ached terribly.

Even now, he was willing to pay any price to keep Austin away from Natalie.

When did it all begin? When did every move of Natalie's become so distressing? In Irwin's eyes, Natalie now seemed like a stubborn child who could easily stumble into the abyss. So, those around her had to be extremely cautious, leaving no room for error.

However, Austin remarked, "Your most crucial problem right now is Natalie, not me, right?" Indeed, it was Natalie.

She was causing quite a stir now.

Irwin stood up.

"Irwin, I never thought someone like you would be so obsessed with a woman," Austin said, amusement lacing his tone. | Someone like him? What kind of person was he? Undoubtedly, those who knew Irwin well understood that he was cold-blooded, much like a snake. It was difficult to warm his stone-cold heart.

Yet now, he...

Irwin closed his eyes briefly, then reopened them, sharp and icy. "Stop approaching her. Keep your distance.

"I'll help you find the seal." As Irwin finished speaking, the elegant man on the vine chair chuckled even more, his smile conveying a deeper playfulness.

"you're already at this stage? Is it love, or guilt?" Love, or guilt? Undoubtedly, Irwin himself had long lost sight of such emotions. But in the current situation, he needed to keep Natalie out of the Entes family's grasp...)

Austin was right. The key issue wasn't the Entes family but Natalie herself. As long as Natalie didn't divorce him, nothing the Entes family did would affect her.

But now, in such a critical situation, Stephen actually agreed for Natalie to divorce Irwin?! Natalie went to Maple Peak, while Irwin went to Lotus Villa.

Stephen furrowed his brows when he saw Irwin arrive at Lotus villa.

Eventually, the two sat together in the study.

"Why?" Irwin asked, referring to the divorce.

Even if Natalie herself couldn't see it clearly, what about Stephen? Stephen looked at Irwin in silence, his gaze piercing and profound, as if he wanted to see through him.

After a while, Stephen said, "No matter what you or Cedric do, she will never be able to get over her past." It was such a significant and shocking matter, and it also involved a decade-long relationship. It was outrageous that even outsiders were left speechless at the sight of it all.

So how could Natalie, as someone deeply involved, even begin to cope after experiencing it all? "That should at least wait until the Entes family-" T.

"It doesn't matter!" Stephen interrupted Irwin before he could finish his sentence. S—Once, they were the closest of friends.

But now, because of this situation, they had reached this point.

Irwin remained silent.

It didn't matter? What did that even mean?! Before Irwin could speak, Stephen continued, "She's already caught in this whirlpool, haven't you realized?" Irwin's mind buzzed at Stephen's words. It was as if something in his world seemed to break open instantly.

Ever since the patriarch of the Entes family passed away, even with Natalie's surgery looming, Irwin and Cedric had been doing their best to protect her.

But now, Stephen's words were like a wake-up call.

They had thought Natalie was detached from it all, but in reality, they had been unwilling to admit that Natalie was already deeply involved. Since Natalie returned to the Jarvis family, her fate had been on a different trajectory, diverging further and further from theirs.

Cedric must have also seen that they would only grow further apart in the future.

"you used her from the beginning, so why bother loving her?" Stephen's tone was sarcastic. i

What was the relationship between | Irwin and Cedric? They had both fallen in love with Blair at the same time. — Later, they both fell for Natalie. Their friendship had broken because of Blair, and they had reconciled over Natalie.

It all seemed so ironic and ridiculous.

Then Cedric had left, entrusting Natalie to Irwin.

Irwin had protected her with all his heart and soul, hadn't he?

Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 731

Chapter 731 Involved Irwin exited Lotus Villa in a daze. When Dylan saw him, he approached anxiously.

"Sir." Irwin looked at Dylan and said, "She's involved, you know?" non Dylan stiffened instantly at Irwin's words. In truth, since Natalie returned to Simeria, she had been involved, but neither Cedric nor Irwin wanted to admit it.

Today's conversation with Stephen undeniably made Irwin's mind race even more.

"Yes, sir." Dylan nodded.

Irwin's people undoubtedly had long seen through it, but Irwin and Cedric refused to face this terrifying reality: "Let's go!" Irwin clearly didn't want to continue this topic, heading straight for the car.

Dylan followed and said, "Lucas called." "Lucas?" "Yes, sir." Lucas was one of Cedric's men. Since Cedric left Yonwood City, nobody knew where he went.

Not even Irwin. .

But now, there was a call from Lucas.

Why? Because of the reports about Natalie 1 and Austin? Thinking about those reports made Irwin's head ache even more! "What did he say?" Irwin's tone tightened as he asked.

"He said, under no circumstances should you divorce your wife!" Yes, Irwin wouldn't divorce her.

That was what Irwin had always thought.

Although Stephen said Natalie was deeply involved, Irwin believed that the Entes family couldn't drag Natalie into deeper trouble as long as he and Natalie remained married.

"Where is he?" "He didn't say." "Did you tell him about Madam Johnson's situation?" Rebecca's current attitude was also a headache, especially since she was Cedric's mother, and Natalie's opposing stance now was genuinely troublesome.

"He was probably worried that we would track his location, so he hung up after he said that," Dylan explained.

"You didn't try calling him again?" "He was using a caller ID black." "Hah..." Cedric really knew how to keep a low profile. He knew about everything I g happening in Simeria but never intended to return!) That made sense.

His decision was resolute when he left Natalie's side. How could he possibly come back? In Irwin's opinion, Cedric would never return.

Irwin took several deep breaths to suppress the heaviness in his chest.

Cedric had seen everything clearly. He gave his eyes to Natalie! However, Irwin stayed in Simeria and by Natalie's side. By doing so, he was tormented constantly.

Irwin felt like his head was going to explode as he watched Natalie get entangled with Caleb and the Entes family.

When Irwin returned to Maple Peak, he saw Natalie coming out.

Rebecca followed behind, angrily cursing, "Natalie, you'll die a miserable death! Cedric must have died because of you! It's all because of you!" Rebecca not only shouted at Natalie but also attempted to grab her. She tore Natalie's sleeve swiftly, leaving Irwin feeling his heart rise to his throat.

Before he could react, a crisp slap echoed as Natalie slapped Rébecca across the face.

The already chaotic atmosphere became even more frenzied! Rebecca looked at Natalie, unable to utter a word due to the shock. - "I am no longer associated with Cedric.

So, your current actions are unreasonable. Do you understand?" Natalie's tone was resolute. Before, she might have had some respect for Rebecca because of Cedric, but now? There was nothing! "What kind of woman are you? What can you teach a child? Natalie, even if I risk my life, I will get my granddaughter back!" Rebecca's words were filled with determination.

Just as Natalie was about to lunge at Rebecca again, Irwin stepped forward and pulled her into his arms.

"Nat, calm down," his magnetic voice rang out. &» Natalie, already furious, was further incensed by Irwin's intervention.

She struggled fiercely to break free from his embrace, but their difference in height and strength made it impossible.

"Let me go!" Already enraged and now being held back by Irwin, Natalie's anger flared even more.

Rebecca was becoming increasingly unreasonable. Previously, she only bought things for the child, but now, not only was she trying to take the child away, but she had also involved lawyers.

What was she up to? A custody battle?! Rebecca was only Luna's grandmother.

No matter how much she fought in court, she couldn't possibly win custody of the child, could she? Natalie also realized why Rebecca was so eager to take the child away! Was it because she thought Cedric was dead? Yes, that was what Rebecca believed.

Calvin hadn't been able to find Cedric for so long, so Rebecca presumed he was gone.

Christina was in prison, and Cedric was gone! So, was this why Rebecca had resorted to this? After myriad thoughts raced through her mind, Irwin suggested, "Let's talk outside." Despite her struggles, he pulled Natalie into the car. As they drove off, Rebecca's curses continued to echo behind them.

Rebecca lost her rationality whenever she saw Natalie. No matter what, she wanted to snatch Luna.

The car drove away.

Rebecca was still standing there, angrily cursing, "You wretch, you'll have a terrible death! You'll have a terrible death... ' "I should never have let you get back together with him! You ended up killing him!"

"Madam." Dylan stepped forward.

Rebecca couldn't hear anything now.

All that came out of her mouth were curses directed at Natalie.

Dylan felt a headache coming on.

Seeing Rebecca's current attitude, he could probably understand what kind of life Natalie had lived during her time with the Johnson family all these years.

It had to be said that Natalie's current personality was significantly influenced by the people she had encountered and interacted with throughout her journey and experiences.

In the car, Irwin kept driving for along time before finally stopping by the roadside.

Obviously, he hadn't expected Natalie to come to Maple Peak looking for him.

The afternoon sunlight was glaring.

Sometimes, the weather in Simeria could be really good.

Irwin gripped the steering wheel with both hands, and it took him a long time to calm his inner turmoil.

"I'll tell her to leave Simeria," Irwin said.

Obviously, Rebecca's presence in Simeria was not a good thing now.

Natalie sneered. "Do you think I'll really be at peace if she leaves?" If that was what he thought, then Irwin could be considered a joke.

"Irwin, do you know? Both you and Cedric are the biggest regrets of my life," Natalie said bluntly, not caring whether her words stabbed Irwin's heart like knives.

"Is that so?" Irwin replied.

"Yes, with how Rebecca was acting, I know that finding a man from a knowledgeable and reasonable family is the key to survival!"

Chapter 732 So Hateful Towards the Johnson Family : Encountering someone like Rebecca made one angrier than usual. It wasn't good for women to be angry so often.

Irwin looked at her silently for along time. His eyes shimmered with endless complexity.

"Do you hate the Johnson family so much now?" It wasn't just Cedric. Natalie was showing endless hatred toward the entire Johnson family.

That was how Natalie was now.

"Do you think it would have been better if I had kneeled before Rebecca and begged her not to take Luna?"

Natalie asked.

"Nat!" Irwin's tone grew stern.

"I don't know what's going on between you and Cedric, but do you think what I just did was wrong?" asked Natalie.

The recent scene was quite intense, but Irwin knew deep down why it had escalated to that level.

"Yes, you were wrong!" The air froze instantly.

Natalie and Cedric may have had some bad times in the past, but in Irwin's perspective, they also shared good memories.

However, Natalie's recent actions have left him taken aback.

After a moment of silence, Natalie spoke to Irwin slowly, saying, "Irwin, I want you to know that I would treat your mother the same way if you had one." "You-"" "Why should I tolerate people who have nothing to do with me?" Natalie continued.

That was right.

Rebecca had treated her that way just now, and Natalie fought back precisely because Rebecca had no relationship with her.

Because when there was no connection, there was no tolerance.

Natalie opened the car door and got out, Standing at the doorway, she declared, "Tomorrow, we're getting a divorce!" Divorce.

Irwin already had a headache. When he heard that word, he felt his temples pounding even more.

"Did you also pressure Cedric this way?" Back then, Natalie had been going on about divorce for a long time.

She was doing the same thing now, right? Since she decided to get a divorce, she must have been very assertive in pursuing it, just like she was doing now.

Yes, that was what Irwin saw now.

Natalie smiled coldly and responded, "How did Cedric and I reach that point, and what happened? Don't you know all of it?" Irwin fell silent. i "Did you forget? You orchestrated all of it!" Irwin felt like the world collapsed, and he was unable to regain his composure for a long time.

Indeed, as Natalie said, he had orchestrated everything! He had personally planned everything out. Why Natalie and Cedric ended up where they did, even the nature of their quarrels, he saw it all clearly! At that time, Natalie and Cedric's every move was under his control. He had even predicted the outcomes.

When Irwin came back to his senses,

Natalie had already left! A trace of pain flashed in his eyes. It felt as though the pain spread from his heart to every cell in his body.

"Nat..." He whispered.

At this moment, bitterness filled his eyes.

Was Natalie wrong? Considering Natalie's attitude towards Rebecca just now, what could he possibly say was wrong? He could only say that his actions were what had pushed everything to this point, right? Yes, he had caused all of this.

It was his own hands that pushed Natalie into such depths, transforming her into what she was now.

So, in this regard, he couldn't blame others.

After Natalie left Irwin, she received a call from Bianca. It was nearly six in the evening when she arrived at Verdant Villa, and Neil was waiting for her at the entrance.

"Ms. Jarvis, Lady Bianca is waiting for you inside," Neil informed her respectfully.

"Okay, thank you," Natalie replied and followed Neil inside.

Since the day Natalie left Verdant Villa, she hadn't been back here. As she had told Bianca, the longer she stayed here, the more suspicion it aroused, especially since there was still no news from Zane.

| Given Zane's current situation, Natalie and Bianca had to maintain appearances as usual. Inside, Bianca sat on the sofa, holding the little kitten Zane had brought back for her. The little creature had grown quite a bit. Its orange fur looked fluffy and smooth, and its tiny head was adorable.

Natalie observed Bianca and couldn't help but notice that she was becoming increasingly like a noble lady of a prestigious family. The aura of a strong career woman seemed to have gradually faded away.

Perhaps it began when Malcolm cut Bianca off from everything she had.

"Lady Bianca, Ms. Jarvis is here," Neil respectfully said, and Bianca

| immediately looked up at Natalie.

"You're here. Why are you standing over there like that?" There was a hint of reproach in Bianca's tone upon seeing Natalie.

"You're now the Entes family's seventh lady and possibly the most distinguished lady in Simeria in the future-" Before Natalie could finish her sentence, Bianca interrupted her.

"Nat." "What's wrong?" Natalie was concerned about Bianca's complexion.

It had been a few days since they had seen each other, and Natalie was worried.

Natalie knew that there was still no news about Zane.

It was truly distressing! "He and I..." Bianca paused here and glanced at Neil. Neil nodded ~~ respectfully and then led all the servants downstairs.

Seeing Bianca hesitate to speak, Natalie asked, "What's wrong?" When only Natalie and Bianca were left, Bianca whispered to Natalie, "He and I have a contractual relationship." Natalie fell silent.

She already knew this! But seeing Bianca's attitude towards Zane now, she didn't think that their relationship was just a simple contract.

If it were truly just a contract, how did a woman as guarded as Bianca become emotionally involved?

"Is there still no news?" Natalie didn't want to dwell on matters of the heart, especially since she didn't have strong opinions on relationships herself. So whenever the topic of emotions arose, Natalie instinctively avoided it.

Bianca shook her head. "Since what happened at Gilded Stream Peak, there has been no news at all. I'm truly worried..." The reason for her worry was self-evident.

"Don't be too anxious. Cly probably sensed something, which is why he withdrew. You have to trust Zane!" Natalie said.

Bianca believed in Zane, as far as Natalie could tell. However, with so much probing happening at Verdant Villa and still no news from Zane, Bianca was unsure how to handle the situation.

Chapter 733 I'll Always Be By Your Side ; Bianca was afraid that any slight mishap on her part might affect Zane, especially given Malcolm's recent behavior. Bianca couldn't help but WORTry.

Each time she recalled Malcolm's arrogant and domineering attitude, barging into her life with his brute force, she couldn't help but wish to tear him apart limb by limb.

So, the importance of Zane to Bianca became even more apparent in times like these.

Bianca sighed. "'Nat, I've never felt so lost before!" Her words carried a hint of powerlessness and resignation.

And indeed, Bianca spoke the truth.

Once, she was the best divorce lawyer in Verde City, seemingly in control of everything.

She couldn't afford to make any mistakes each time she did her tasks.

Bianca had principles. She only took cases where the victim was clearly evident...

As for those who were guilty and sought to gain the upper hand in the division of assets, she never accepted such cases.

In her workplace, she was upright and sharp!

And now, amidst the chaos of Simeria, this was undeniably a new test for Bianca.

"There's still no news from Zane's end.

Perhaps what you've been doing here is right." "Are they?" "Yes." Natalie nodded.

After all, the people of the Entes family were not fools.

Everyone was currently searching for the Entes family seal and that half of the document, which was crucial to determining the rightful heir.

At this critical moment, Austin declared his recovery.

This announcement only worsened the already bad situation, leaving Bianca genuinely worried about Zane.

"You're right. The people of the Entes family aren't fools." "That's right." Natalie stroked the little cat in Bianca's arms. The small creature lay lazily in Bianca's embrace, appearing incredibly content as it slept.

Bianca looked at the kitten in her arms.

Bianca had to admit that this little creature has been a source of comfort to her lately. Regardless of who came knocking on her door, she found solace in stroking the cat calmly.

So, outsiders were even more puzzled about the current situation at Verdant Villa.

In reality? Bianca's heart was in turmoil.

When Natalie said this, Bianca's initially uncomfortable heart felt somewhat relieved.

"Dinner is almost ready. Let's eat together," Bianca said.

"Okay n Natalie never held back when she was with Bianca. Looking back to their time in Verde City, they always supported each other through thick and thin.

Those days were nostalgic, but they could never relive them.

At the dinner table, there were some dishes that Natalie loved. It was evident that Bianca had them prepared before Natalie arrived. |

"Bia." "Yeah?" "Has Malcolm been bothering you lately?" "He has. Why wouldn't he?" Malcolm was truly persistent, but his behavior these past few days seemed strange.

"He came by this morning," Bianca said, looking at Natalie.

He still doesn't know?" Natalie asked, referring to Zane's situation.

"Everyone wears a mask. Who sees through it?" Bianca couldn't see anything clearly now, but her sense of caution was heavy, and she knew well.

In Simeria, no one could be trusted.

"Nat." "Yeah?" "In Simeria, you're the only person I can trust." There was a hint of emotion in her words.

Although Bianca had been grateful to many people before, it seemed like Natalie was her only friend.

There was no one else! It was a bitter feeling.

"I'll always be by your side," Natalie said, her words carrying even more emotion.

"Okay."

Though just a simple sentence, it meant a lot to Bianca at this moment! She always appeared strong and tough in her workplace, as though she was a female warrior, But deep down, Bianca was still a woman. She was still vulnerable, especially in such turbulent times, which was something she had never experienced before.

And now, Natalie seemed to support her just as she had supported Natalie before.

Having a friend who was always there during tough times made a life without regrets.

"Any news from that man?" Bianca didn't want to talk about her current situation. Things had come to this point.

What else could she do but deal with it? And Natalie?] Actually, Bianca knew that while Natalie seemed to have the Jarvis family backing her, it wasn't necessarily better than her situation! It was precisely because Natalie had the Jarvis family behind her, and they loved her that her responsibilities were even heavier.

Natalie knew exactly what Bianca meant. She casually answered, "I haven't paid attention to that." She was telling the truth. Ever since Cedric left Wexford, she hadn't asked about him.

Bianca paused in her eating. Seeing Natalie's casual attitude, she realized Natalie probably didn't know about...! "Nat n "Yeah?" "If Cedric were willing to even die for you, would you forgive her?" Bianca truly asked a loaded question.

She knew what had happened between Natalie and Cedric. If those things happened to her, she would never forgive him.

But what about Natalie? After all, Natalie was the one who experienced those emotions firsthand! Cedric was also unforgivable to her...! So, if Cedric were willing to sacrifice even his life for Natalie, would she forgive him? "No! n There was no hesitation or pause in Natalie's answer. She was straightforward and decisive.

Bianca fell silent.

No? Natalie wouldn't forgive him! It was evident that between these two, something intense happened when no one was looking. Bianca had seen the pain Natalie had endured for Cedric firsthand.

If one didn't love someone, one wouldn't endure such suffering.

Now, Natalie's straightforwardness indicated... true despair.

To what extent could one despair in love, to the point where even sacrificing one's life wouldn't be enough to be forgiven? In that case, Bianca probably understood that even if Natalie knew about how Cedric had given her his eyes, she still wouldn't forgive Cedric.

IT heard Rebecca is at Maple Peak." Bianca thought of something and looked at Natalie.

During this time, Bianca had been in Verdant Villa and dealing with everything related to the Entes family.

Chapter 734 She Wants to Take Luna Away Even though Bianca hadn't gone out, significant news from the outside would eventually reach her ears.

Moreover, with Natalie being the heiress of the Jarvis family now, it was even more normal for such news to circulate.

Natalie fell silent.

Bringing up Rebecca didn't improve Natalie's mood. She sighed. "Just three hours ago, we had a big fight!" "What?" Bianca was shocked.

Natalie and Rebecca had a fight? It was quite overwhelming, given their past relationship. Bianca's mind struggled to process it.

"Do you also think I was wrong?" Natalie asked, testing Bianca's reaction.

Bianca replied, "No, I'm just surprised." Perhaps because Bianca and Irwin took different positions and their past experiences differed. So, their perspectives on the same issue varied.

In Bianca's view, Natalie had never resisted Rebecca before. Bianca had been distressed at one point because of this.

Rebecca clearly didn't treat Natalie as a daughter-in-law, even bullying her.

So, when Bianca heard that Natalie had fought with Rebecca, it wasn't just surprising.

It felt like the world had turned upside down.

"Ever since the divorce with Cedric, we haven't been civil. You know that." "Yes." They hadn't been civil, but Bianca never expected their interaction to become an intense physical confrontation.

"What did she do?" Bianca asked.

"She wants to take Luna away," Natalie replied.

The thought of Rebecca trying to take away the child made Natalie furious.

"Then she deserved it!" Bianca exclaimed.

Hearing Natalie's words, Bianca could understand where the problem lay.

Rebecca, who had killed her own grandson, had no right to claim Luna.

"She thinks Cedric is dead." Natalie's tone grew heavier as she mentioned this.

Bianca sighed deeply. She didn't know what to say. Rebecca's actions were pathetic and infuriating. In Bianca's eyes, Rebecca was truly unforgivable.

She had committed so many malicious acts, and now, she dared to try and take Luna.

Rebecca was the only one capable of doing such a thing in this world, right?

Such behavior was beyond comprehension for most people.

Natalie's anger was understandable.

"Encountering their family is the greatest regret of my life!" Natalie declared.

Natalie had mentioned her regrets more than once, showing that marrying Cedric was truly her biggest regret.

Bianca fell silent.

Regrets? Natalie still had the chance to experience regret in her emotional life, but what about Bianca? With Malcolm, it was sheer hysteria.

Theirs was a relationship of hostility, not affection! As for the topic of regret, Bianca had ' never regretted going through Faye's lawsuit... even when Malcolm tortured her.

She didn't know the concept or taste of regret.

Before Bianca could speak, Natalie continued, "What you see now is Rebecca's hysteria, but you don't know what he did for Kayla..." When Kayla was mentioned, a coldness flashed in Natalie's eyes. If there was one reason for her regret, it was undoubtedly Cedric's actions regarding Kayla.

That was a regret unlike any other.

"Let's not dwell on it," Bianca said

Talking about Kayla was painful for Natalie, and Bianca understood how much pain it caused her. Especially after their last conversation about Cedric when he showed no remorse regarding what he had done for Kayla's sake.

In this aspect, Bianca felt it was unfair to Natalie. He had devoted himself entirely to Isabella's child, even risking the complete breakdown of his relationship with Natalie to save Kayla.

If not for that incident... No, even without it, Natalie wouldn't have forgiven Cedric. Their history was riddled with too much.

"Right." Natalie truly didn't want to talk about Cedric anymore. There were too many incidents.

Before, just mentioning him would rile her up, but now? She was unprecedentedly calm.

Natalie never imagined she could be like this before.

Under Natalie's comforting words, Bianca's emotions improved significantly.

After dinner, Bianca spoke up as Natalie was about to leave.

"Nat." "Yeah?" "Be careful around Lord Austin. He's very cunning!" This topic was extremely sensitive for them.

Natalie and Irwin were at odds, and she was constantly trying to break free from his dominance. = Bianca didn't know what would become of Natalie once her relationship with Irwin was completely severed.

As for Austin...

On the surface, he appeared cunning.

But within the Entes family, it wasn't as simple as mere cunningness.

Initially, Bianca wanted to avoid broaching this topic. But considering her relationship with Natalie, Bianca couldn't help but remind her.

Natalie squeezed Bianca's hand and said, "Don't worry. I know what I'm doing." "Alright, as long as you're aware."

Hearing Natalie's reassurance, Bianca felt relieved.

During this period, no matter who observed Natalie's actions, they all felt she was acting quite irrationally. No one knew what she was up to or what irrational actions she might take amidst this chaos.

Before broaching this topic, Bianca also thought so. Now, hearing Natalie's assurance, Bianca felt a sense of relief.

Natalie left.

When Bianca was alone, Neil appeared behind her.

"Neil." "Yes, Lady Bianca?"

"If Lord Austin gains the support of the Jarvis family, then Lord Zane..." Bianca paused here, her tone unusually serious.

Clearly, there was an unprecedented gravity to her words.

"Lord Zane has always been kind- hearted. Throughout Lord Austin's life, Lord Zane has been the only person in the Entes family to show him kindness." "Isee." While it was a positive development and meant there wouldn't be any immediate threats to their side, this was still the Entes family. Regardless of the situation, they couldn't afford to be complacent, especially considering the history of the Entes family.

Bianca knew that such competition was incredibly fierce for them.

Chapter 735 Tell Her I'll Countersue Rebecca sued Natalie.

When Natalie received the relevant summons, she clenched her hands tightly. Her eyes were filled with a dark, brooding intensity.

She was about to call Clyde on her phone, and her purpose was evident.

Undoubtedly, Rebecca had repeatedly crossed the line! The peace Natalie sought was not only for herself but also for Luna. With Rebecca causing such turmoil in Simeria, Luna would inevitably be affected eventually.

However, before she could make the call, Irwin called.

Natalie answered the call, but she remained silent.

Irwin calling at this moment meant he was aware, right? Natalie wanted to see how Irwin would respond.

"Did you receive it?" "Yes." So, what next? Previously, Irwin had claimed he would handle the situation. But now, it had come to Natalie like this. She wanted to know how Irwin intended to proceed.

"I'll handle this." "How will you handle it?" Natalie couldn't help but laugh upon hearing this.

Handle it?! What kind of person was Rebecca? With Irwin's long-standing attention to Cedric's affairs, didn't he understand? Even Cedric struggled with those matters in the past. Why did Irwin think he could handle it now? "Why?" Natalie couldn't help but ask.

Irwin was typically emotionless. If he had emotions, he wouldn't have schemed against someone for ten years.

Natalie wanted to know why Irwin was protecting Rebecca so fiercely and even siding with her now. It was something Natalie had never anticipated. So, she wanted to know what was going on!

"Nat..." Irwin started to speak, but the words seemed stuck in his throat.

Finally, he said, "In any case, you don't need to worry about this. I'll handle jtis "Tell her I will countersue her!" ING "She wants to push me to the brink? Then tell her I'll show her what true despair is!" Natalie practically spat out each word, as if they were being forced from between her teeth.

Irwin naturally sensed the danger in Natalie's tone.

"Nat." The man on the other end wanted to say more, but Natalie didn't want to hear it. She hung up the phone abruptly.

The world fell silent.

Rebecca...! What role did this woman play in Natalie's life? Over the years, Natalie had never imagined she would end up in conflict with Rebecca. Yet, who could have predicted that Rebecca would be so persistent? It had been so many years! She had unexpectedly resurfaced in Natalie's life and was now turning her world upside down for because of Luna...

Natalie knew that if she didn't confront Rebecca directly, it wouldn't matter if she threw her out of Simeria. Once Rebecca set her sights on something, it was hard to stop her.

The only way to handle Rebecca was to make her despair deeply and thoroughly from the bottom of her heart.

Natalie had to admit that making Rebecca let go of something was truly not easy.

After Natalie ended the call with Irwin, Heather called.

Natalie answered, "Mom." "Rebecca is determined to take Luna.

She just sent many things for her, and I threw them out," Heather said directly.

Now, they naturally didn't care about what Rebecca sent for Luna, so they didn't hold back in their response.

ig Hi know."

They had been firm and decisive where needed, but Rebecca was still adamant.

As Heather said, Rebecca was determined to take Luna.

She... was truly insane! Since she believed Cedric was no longer in this world, her methods of taking the child would only become increasingly extreme.

What else did the Johnson family have left? Nothing.

Christina was in prison. Rebecca had completely disrupted Cedric's home, and now she was alone.

So, one could imagine what Rebecca's state of mind was like now.

"Don't worry too much, We're all here!" Heather said assuringly.

"Yeah, I know," Natalie responded.

She knew, of course she did! "Nat." "Yeah?" "Oh, forget it...!" In the end, Heather's words stopped short.

What could she say? Regarding how Natalie should deal with Rebecca, even Stephen hadn't said anything! Clearly, even Cedric giving his eyes to Natalie wasn't enough to erase their resentment toward him and his family.

Natalie suffered too much at the hands of the Johnson family. Should she still forget all those things and be polite to Rebecca? : Undoubtedly, they couldn't do that! If Rebecca hadn't caused trouble and hadn't tried to take Luna using her position as a grandmother, the Jarvis family could have allowed her to see the child.

But Rebecca insisted on taking Luna away...! "Mom." "Yeah?" Natalie thought for a moment and said to Heather, "You should take Luna and stay in Snow City for a while." Natalie naturally wasn't afraid!

It was just that with Rebecca causing such a stir now, nobody knew when it would end. So, at this moment, Natalie wanted Luna to leave Simeria.

She... didn't want anyone or anything to affect Luna negatively. As a mother, it was easy to imagine how important her child was to her.

Heather agreed. "Alright!" Even without Natalie saying anything, Heather would have shared the same thoughts. As Rebecca resorted to increasingly intense methods, it became increasingly humiliating for Natalie. Rebecca seemed to have no respect for the child whatsoever.

With that, how could they tolerate Rebecca's behavior? After hanging up the phone, Natalie calmed down. Pinching her throbbing brow, she dialed Clyde's number, and the man on the other end picked up quickly.

"Hello." "Cly, help me find a good lawyer from a reputable firm." "You already know?" The man on the phone asked in surprise, evidently aware of Rebecca's lawsuit against Natalie.

However, he didn't expect Natalie to find out so quickly.

Natalie nodded. "Yeah." 17] arrange for it. You don't need to worry about this matter."
Natalie fell silent.

Upon hearing her brother Clyde say these words, she felt a strange sensation. This feeling naturally differed from when she heard Irwin say the same things! When Irwin said such things, her anger couldn't help but flare up.

But Clyde gave her a feeling of reliance.

Chapter 736 Children Are Nurtured by Women's Blood Of course, the words these two spoke, and even the meanings they represented, were completely different...! Most of the time, Irwin's words implied he wanted Natalie to compromise with Rebecca. Meanwhile, Clyde's words implied that Natalie should confront it head-on! Irwin told Natalie not to interfere. He didn't want her to have any conflict with Rebecca. He always protected Rebecca, while Clyde... wanted the lawyer to handle it directly and not let Natalie worry about it.

"Okay!"

Natalie's response to Clyde naturally differed from when she spoke to Irwin.

She listened to Clyde's words.

Obviously, whatever Clyde said now was what it was.

Rebecca was causing trouble. Unlike before, Natalie now had a family to help deal with it.

They had also decided to send Luna away from Simeria and to Snow City.

So now, even if Rebecca wanted to see the child, it was impossible.

Rebecca was relentless now.

The next day, she had someone send things that she had bought for Luna.

She made it seem like she was truly concerned about Luna as a grandmother.

| But she was told Luna was no longer at Lotus Villa. Immediately, Rebecca found and went to Natalie's studio.

Emily exclaimed, "Madam, what are you doing?" Rebecca forcefully barged into the office, and Emily behind couldn't stop her. She looked nervously at Natalie.

"Ms. Walker, this lady...!" "You can leave." Natalie interrupted Emily before she could finish her sentence.

Emily looked displeased at Rebecca, obviously not liking someone who barged in like this.

After Emily left, only Rebecca and Natalie remained.

Bang! Rebecca's handbag slammed heavily on Natalie's desk, her eyes filled with resentment.

Once upon a time, Rebecca wanted to accept Natalie for Cedric's sake. She wanted to let them be together, so she stayed away to give them space.

But who would have thought that the news she got again would be so despairing! Now, Rebecca had searched almost the whole world, but she still couldn't find Cedric.

Rebecca had to suspect that after Yonwood City, Cedric had already...! When she thought about that, there was a suffocating feeling in her chest.

Not only that, Rebecca was almost certain Cedric was no longer...! "Where is the child?" Rebecca asked coldly and dangerously.

Natalie looked at Rebecca, her eyes also flashing dangerously. "It seems like you haven't had enough of a lesson before!" "Give me back the child!" Rebecca demanded.

Natalie fell silent.

Hearing those words was like a joke.

What else would it be? Give her back the child? "Hah..." Natalie sneered. "Give her back?" Rebecca fell silent.

"Who are you to the child?" To utter such words, Rebecca really didn't know what shame was! "I'm the child's grandmother. I have the right to take the child away." "You seem to have forgotten one thing: I carried the child in my belly. All the blood flowing in her is mine." "She's Ced...!" "What did Cedric contribute? A drop of water?" "Y-you..." Rebecca's face turned red with anger, evidently not expecting Natalie to say such things shamelessly.

Before, Natalie knew etiquette well.

And now, what was this? It seemed that she dared to say anything now! "Natalie!" Rebecca's chest heaved with anger.

During this period, Natalie had directly removed Luna from Simeria. So, even if Rebecca won the lawsuit, where would she go to find the child? Rebecca couldn't even find her own son! This alone was enough to make Rebecca's heart collapse, and now the child couldn't be found either.

It was evident what kind of pressure and anguish Rebecca was enduring.

"Natalie, do you really not know to what extent Ced went for you?" "That's what he deserves!" \ Natalie's words were cold and ruthless.

At this point, for Natalie to say such things showed... that even if she knew, so what? Natalie had gone through so much. So, no matter what happened between her and Cedric now, there was no turning back.

"I have nothing left, yet you insist on pushing me to such an extent, don't you?" "You're the one who pushed things this far. I didn't force you." Natalie replied calmly.

Rebecca's expression darkened further, and her emotions couldn't help but fluctuate upon hearing Natalie say such words.

Yes! No one forced her...! In the end, it was because Rebecca found a lawyer and angered Natalie to this extent. Now, forget about taking Luna away from Natalie. Even if Rebecca wanted to see the child, it would probably be more challenging than ever! After countless thoughts raced through her mind, Rebecca glared at Natalie and said, "Natalie, you're truly ruthless." Ruthless? Indeed! Rebecca probably had never encountered such a venomous woman before.

And now...! "I'm not as ruthless as you!" Natalie declared.

"I really don't understand. How can you come to me demanding my child? Have you no shame? Did you really forget how my unborn child, your grandson, died?" n n "How could you bring yourself to do it then?" Natalie mocked Rebecca.

It would have been better not to bring up this matter.

No matter how tough or humiliating Rebecca became towards Natalie after the incident, only God knew how .

regretful Rebecca had been.

After all, it was her own grandson! So when the unborn child was truly lost, she was also deeply troubled.

But things had already reached that point. So what if she regretted it? Because the unborn child was gone, Rebecca wanted Natalie to leave Cedric even more.

"I know you hate me!" Rebecca exclaimed.

"But Natalie, you have no right to hate me. You've always known I didn't agree to you being with Cedric, yet you insisted on marrying him!" Indeed.

From the beginning, Rebecca had .

firmly opposed their relationship.

However, they eventually came together, and Rebecca didn't know how it happened.

But she was never supportive of this relationship.

"So, you can do such despicable things because of that?" "I never wanted you in our family.

You're the one who disgraced yourself by forcing your way in!" "So, it's your own fault that you lost everything later on! It has nothing to do with me!" Rebecca said fiercely.

Because Rebecca never supported their relationship, she felt no guilt now that these things were happening.

She was having a miserable time, so she would make sure Natalie went through the same thing! — In Rebecca's eyes, everything in the Johnson family was fine initially, but everything was ruined because of Natalie!

Chapter 737 Irwin's Heart In Rebecca's heart, everything in the Johnson family had always been fine.

Even though Christina was an adopted daughter, she had always been respectful toward Rebecca.

And Cedric was the most outstanding man in the world! So naturally, Rebecca wanted to find a suitable match for him. Ever since her husband passed away, her days had been difficult.

And when she learned about what happened in Wexford, Rebecca's state worsened even more.

She even believed that the Wexford incident was somehow related to Natalie, and now, she blamed everything on Natalie.

Everything happened because of Natalie! And now, Cedric's whereabouts were unknown.

How could Rebecca bear all of this? After a long time, Rebecca took a deep breath and said, "No matter what, I'll get the child back by my side." Now, Rebecca clearly didn't care about what Natalie had to say. She only wanted to take Luna for herself. She really didn't care about anything else anymore.

The air around Natalie was chilly, and now it became even more dangerous.

- vo PT AB eded Ad "Since you insist on doing this, then fine...!" Natalie didn't continue her sentence, but the meaning behind it was clear.

Rebecca was determined to snatch the child! So, the only way to make her let go was to make her lose! Not long after Rebecca left, Irwin arrived.

It seemed there was no end to this....! The most troubling thing for Natalie nowadays was to see Irwin and Rebecca.

Naturally, her expression was not a pleasant one.

"Why are you here?" Natalie asked coldly.

"Has she been here?" Irwin asked.

"Yeah." "What did she say?" "She said she will do whatever it takes to get Luna." Natalie looked coldly at Irwin, observing this man who used to have warmth in his eyes.

But now, those eyes seemed as deep as the ocean to Natalie, making it impossible to see through. She was unable to decipher what he was thinking.

He was hiding too many things!

Underneath this stern face, what kind of heart was hidden? | 2 4 "Natalie, have Luna return to Simeria," Irwin said.

Natalie fell silent. At his words, Natalie raised an eyebrow.

"What do you mean?" Her already cold tone became even icier when Irwin said such words.

Have Luna return? Did she hear it right? "This is too cruel to her!" Irwin took a deep drag, then pressed the cigarette butt into the ashtray. @ Natalie fell silent again.

Cruel?

The cold glint in her eyes deepened as she looked at the complicated man before her. She never expected this once warm man to say such words to her.

After a long time, Natalie found her voice. "You say I'm cruel to Rebecca?" She mocked Irwin as if she heard a joke.

It was indeed the greatest joke she had ever heard! "You're also a mother...!" Irwin started.

"Yes, I am a mother! That's why I think Rebecca's heart is truly incomprehensible!" Irwin fell silent.

"People are different! So don't try to confine me with the identity of a mother. Just because I'm a mother doesn't mean I have to sympathize with her." n n "Irwin, there are many sad people in this world. I don't have much sympathy, especially not for...

her!" Natalie could sympathize with anyone but not Rebecca.

She would never stand in Rebecca's shoes to empathize with the woman.

Perhaps Irwin didn't understand this.

Or maybe this man actually understood, but like Rebecca, didn't want to believe it? But whether he believed it or not, it CAL didn't change the fact.

"Nat, you don't actually know..." Before Irwin could finish his sentence, Natalie interrupted fiercely. "I don't need to know anything!" Looking at Natalie's icy demeanor, Irwin truly didn't know what to say.

Why was she so cold? After a long time, Irwin said, "You actually don't have the right, you know?" There was a hint of exasperation in his tone.

Irwin continued without waiting for Natalie to speak, "She is the child's | grandmother. You don't have the right to keep her from seeing the child." "No, I do have the right!" Natalie said coldly.

And now, her tone became even heavier.

They had already shed all pretenses, so there was no need to consider anything. Natalie was straightforward and firm.

"Nat!" "When the sulfuric acid came down, you were waiting since the start, weren't you?" Natalie looked at Irwin.

Irwin fell silent, and his mind went blank! Clearly, he didn't expect Natalie to shift to this topic.

Seeing Irwin's silence, Natalie's smile deepened, and she said, "So, I don't need to be considerate about anything anymore, right?" Considerate? Actually, there was some consideration in Natalie's heart.

However, now...! Irwin opened his mouth to say something but couldn't find the words.

As for Natalie, she naturally didn't want to say anything more.

Everything had been planned! Whenever Cedric caused injury to her in the past, Irwin was always there to help her out in every crisis. On almost every occasion, he stood by her side.

During the most difficult moments of injury, women often felt particularly grateful to those who lent them a helping hand.

Natalie was the same, so it was easy to imagine the position Irwin held in her heart at that time.

But now? When Natalie recalled the past, she felt so ridiculous. Everything that happened between them was so | laughable.

"Nat. n Irwin looked at Natalie's cold brows and eyes, wanting to say something more.

But at that moment, Natalie didn't want to hear anything else.

In the end, Irwin left.

Natalie's attitude now, whether | towards him or Cedric, was absolutely cold and ruthless.

Anyone around her, even a mere assistant, surpassed Irwin and Cedric's past existence...! Natalie sat alone in the office for a long time.

Images of Irwin defending and helping her flashed through her mind.

Honestly, Irwin held a pivotal position in her heart back then.

But now, looking back on those moments and various things, they were so ridiculous and terrifying.

Natalie picked up the phone and called Clyde.

"Cly n "Yeah?" "Help me send a divorce agreement to Irwin." She didn't want to see Irwin again.

After everything Rebecca did recently, Natalie didn't want to see anyone related to the past anymore.

Chapter 738 I Really Thought About Accepting i When Irwin returned to Maple Peak, Rebecca's eyes were filled with tears of grievance upon seeing him. She was smart enough to know that Irwin was her only reliance now.

Irwin sighed. "Rebecca, why did you do that?" "Irv, I have nothing left, you know that," Rebecca interjected, her tone filled with pain.

Irwin was speechless.

Nothing left? The various incidents between Cedric and Natalie over the years had indeed influenced their parent-child relationship to some extent. Cedric was gone, and he hadn't contacted Rebecca once, indicating his profound disappointment in his own mother: Irwin hadn't expected that Rebecca would ultimately come to Simeria.

Yet, here they were, facing this situation now...! "] really thought about accepting her. I let go of everything and stopped interfering in Ced's affairs," Rebecca choked out.

In Cedric and Natalie's affairs, Rebecca felt she had truly made concessions.

And quite a lot of them, too! But why did it still end up like this in the end? "Rebecca!" I] really wanted them to be well. As a mother, how could I not love my own child Ah She truly loved Cedric and Christina.

But what was the state of the Johnson family now? Her husband was gone, and her son was missing! She was all alone now. Even her adoptive daughter couldn't be with her.

Rebecca was alone in such a place, leading a lonely life. Nobody knew the pain she had endured for a long time.

"I wanted them to live a good life. Why didn't they treasure it? I accepted them...!"

Rebecca became increasingly agitated as she spoke more. However, she failed to realize that it wasn't that others didn't value what she was talking about. It was that she had not valued and fulfilled it when she should have.

In the end, nobody wanted it anymore.

What was the use even if she accepted them and gave them everything? If people didn't want it, why bother giving? 17 was willing to give them everything," Rebecca said tearfully.

She was in so much pain now.

Cedric was nowhere to be found...! Rebecca felt increasingly convinced that Cedric might not be in this world anymore, and now Natalie wouldn't let her see Luna either.

Had she made such a huge mistake? To let things come to this? To be so unforgiving? The more she thought about it, the more despair and pain filled Rebecca's heart.

"That's enough, Rebecca." Irwin wasn't very good at comforting someone to begin with, especially given everything Rebecca had done before. Although the situation looked bleak now, it must be acknowledged that a person's ending directly resulted from how they lived their first half of life.

"How could they treat me like this?

How could they..." Her husband and Cedric...! Rebecca felt as if her heart was bleeding when she thought of all the years of hardship she had endured.

She had always believed that her husband was dead. So, no matter how much suffering she endured, she had to support the Johnson family. But who would have thought that behind it all, there was such an earth-shattering secret? As a wife and mother, she knew nothing about it.

Undoubtedly, both her husband and Cedric had shocked Rebecca immensely. Later on, it wasn't about her accepting Natalie or ignoring Cedric's life. After witnessing the events in Wexford, she knew she couldn't control any of it... just like back then.

She knew if she continued this way, it would only make her relationship with Cedric worse.

So, she accepted Natalie, wanting to preserve the last of her dignity! But who would have thought it would end up like this? "Rebecca, I'll arrange for you to leave Simeria," Irwin said.

Rebecca looked at Irwin sharply upon hearing this.

Leave Simeria? Now? ENON.

"Don't make a fuss, alright?" Irwin persuaded.

"That child was born to Natalie against all odds. She won't give her to you." Previously, it was clearly visible. But because Rebecca caused such a commotion, things ended up like this now, right? So, Irwin was reminding Rebecca that the situation came about because of her own doing.

"I know she..." She what? Obviously, Rebecca had never thought about how Luna came into this world.

She just didn't want to see that child.

But she also wanted the child by her side.

She never thought about anything else! So when Irwin mentioned how Luna came into being, Rebecca only said, "She's lucky!" "Lucky?" Irwin was puzzled.

"Now she has parents and a brother!" Rebecca had to admit, she truly envied Natalie now. When Natalie was in the Johnson family, she was a lonely girl who everyone bullied. Except for Cedric, no one protected her.

Thinking about how Cedric defended her in the past and now seeing Natalie's icy attitude, Rebecca's heart ached.

She felt that Cedric's deep affection had been misplaced.

"I have nothing. I just want that child to be with me. Is that wrong? What right does she have not to let me see the child?" Thinking about how Natalie wouldn't even let her see Luna now, Rebecca's heart ached even more.

Irwin was speechless.

So, that was what Rebecca wanted? Just because she envied Natalie, she felt that Luna should be hers?! Irwin had really not known what Rebecca was thinking before, but now that he knew, he found it despicable.

He rose and declared, "I'll arrange for you to leave!" "Irv? You..." "Rebecca, it seems that until now, you still don't understand where the problem lies between you two!" n n "Let me tell you one thing. If you continue like this, the situation will only get worse for you!" People, after all, were greedy.

Before, the Jarvis family would at least let Rebecca take a glance at Luna and let her have some contact with the child.

But now, because Rebecca kicked up a fuss and wasn't satisfied with just seeing Luna or just buying simple things for the child, things have escalated to this point! When Rebecca heard Irwin speak like this, her already tense heart felt even more suffocated.

"I didn't mean to cause trouble, Irv!" n n "I just wanted that child to be with me.

Is that also wrong?" Wrong? Was it really wrong? "It's wrong!" Irwin replied without hesitation, his words filled with determination.

Just having thoughts like Rebecca did was already wrong!

Chapter 739 I Won't Help You Rebecca was truly wrong.

Even until now, she had never thought she had done anything wrong to Natalie.

Now, Irwin understood why Natalie couldn't forgive Rebecca. Just thinking about the things Rebecca had done in the past...

How could Natalie forgive her? "Irv! Irv..." Seeing Irwin turn to leave, Rebecca panicked. During this time, she realized that Irwin had always been on her side, even helping her. And in Simeria, she absolutely needed Irwin's help.

So, seeing Irwin like this, she naturally panicked.

"I can't leave Simeria!" EN Just as Irwin was going upstairs, Rebecca grabbed Irwin's sleeve. Tears filled her eyes as she looked at Irwin.

"I can't leave this place. Please don't do this." "Rebecca!" "Take pity on me and help me get that child. As long as the child is with me, I promise not to disturb anyone again," Rebecca said frantically.

The Johnson family was formerly so magnificent, but nothing of that former splendor remained.

How could she not be anxious?

The child! That child was all she had left.

"Irv, I know you're a good kid. Help me, please?" Help? How?! Irwin expression turned cold, and there was no warmth in his eyes. He simply said, "I won't help you." How could he? In Irwin's view, letting Rebecca see Luna was already a huge concession, at least in regard to Natalie.

But now, Rebecca was being unreasonable.

How could Irwin agree to her demands?!

"Irv!" Rebecca pleaded.

"I'll arrange for you to leave." Now Irwin realized that Rebecca really couldn't stay in Simeria in her current state. If she continued like this, she would cause trouble! Almost anything people said to her fell on deaf ears. She was determined to snatch Luna from Natalie! "I'm not leaving!" Rebecca declared firmly.

No matter what anyone said, she refused to leave.

While the two argued, the butler, Shawn, entered.

"Sir! " "What is it?"

"Mr. Jarvis Jr. sent some documents to you." Irwin fell silent. : Mr. Jarvis Jr.? That was Natalie's brother! As Rebecca had said, Natalie really was lucky indeed.

Irwin naturally knew who Clyde Yarborough had been in Wexford once.

Now, seeing him protecting Natalie...! Irwin opened the bag and took out the documents inside. At that moment, the words "Divorce Agreement" caught his attention instantly.

Rebecca fell silent.

Seeing Irwin and Natalie's divorce | agreement, anger surged in her heart.

Her attention had been solely on Luna, forgetting that Irwin and Natalie were still married.

They were, indeed, married! Thinking of this, Rebecca's heart was angry and suppressed tightly. She didn't let out any of her emotions. Her chest was heaving, but she managed to suppress the weight within.

"See, she's heartless!" At this point, Rebecca didn't care about Cedric or Natalie's reputation. She already detested Natalie. Now, knowing that Natalie had married Irwin, Rebecca found Natalie not just disgusting but utterly repulsive! Irwin closed his eyes. At that moment, a cold look flashed across his face.

Irwin didn't know how he ended up in the study, but when he closed the door behind him, he felt like he was alone in the world.

At that moment, an endless cold glint gleamed in his eyes.

"Nat n Natalie, oh Natalie! She was so cold now, and even the Jarvis family supported her wholeheartedly. Clyde's delivery of this document reflected the intentions of the entire Jarvis family.

Natalie was leaving, and no one was offering him even the slightest bit of protection.

This was how Natalie was now... cold and ruthless!

Before returning to Yonwood City, Cedric had repeatedly instructed Irwin not to divorce Natalie until the matter with the Entes family was resolved.

Irwin had always known what their marriage was like but was unwilling to accept it.

And now...! Even with this form of protection, Natalie was unwilling to continue this marriage. It showed how much she despised their past deep down.

She was willing to sever all ties, even facing the Entes family. She was determined to cut off all connections.

She was not just cold now.

She was completely heartless!

After a while, Irwin finally came out of the study. Rebecca was waiting outside.

"Irv." She looked at Irwin with a feigned look of kindness and concern.

"I'll have Yves arrange for you to leave," Irwin said flatly, clearly having no energy to deal with Rebecca.

He was also feeling troubled.

However, just as Irwin took a few steps forward, he heard Rebecca behind him saying, "Haven't you ever thought about it?" "What do you mean?" Irwin's mind was already in turmoil, unable to remember anything and unwilling to think about anything anymore.

"Because of the child!" Rebecca exclaimed.

"..." Irwin was speechless.

The child? Luna? Luna was already an extremely sensitive topic between them, especially because it was something Irwin didn't want to confront.

The conflicts between Natalie and Cedric started because of Luna. And now, the conflicts between Rebecca and Natalie were also because of Luna.

Was it never-ending because of Luna? "Natalie loves that child very much.

You've seen it," Rebecca continued.

Did it finally come down to how much

Natalie loved Luna? No, not really! "Because of that child, Natalie won't accept anyone else in her heart," Rebecca stated.

Irwin's mind was previously clouded, and it suddenly became clear upon hearing Rebecca's words.

Because of Luna, Natalie wouldn't accept anyone else.

Yes, that was true.

Natalie had always loved Luna deeply, so maybe she would never accept anyone else in her life for the sake of that child.

Irwin had to admit that Rebecca did have some understanding of Natalie in this regard. In matters of emotions, Natalie, who was already deeply wounded, might indeed not accept anyone else, especially now that she had a child! It wasn't just him.

Wasn't the Entes family also in the same position as him?

Chapter 740 The Truth Irwin instantly grasped it.

Even Cedric hadn't thought it through, but Irwin understood instantly after hearing Rebecca's words! The problem they were most concerned about seemed clear now! If he and Natalie really divorced, who was using whom between the Jarvis and Entes families wasn't so certain anymore! Especially with Stephen behind Natalie, just this fact... made people less worried.

Even the worries between him and Cedric seemed so unnecessary now.

"As long as I take the child away, there's still a chance between you two.

You don't want to divorce Natalie, do you?" Rebecca didn't know what Irwin had realized. For the child, she would do anything and say anything. She could even yield no matter what.

Irwin remained silent.

"I know Natalie will suffer when the child is taken away, but enduring a prolonged period of suffering is worse than enduring a shorter but more intense period of pain," Rebecca continued.

"Do you really have the heart to let her spend her life alone for the child?" Rebecca kept talking.

Why? She always had a way with words! Whenever she did something wrong, she would put on a show, = ; But now...

Irwin interrupted her and said, "I'll have Yves escort you out." No more words.

No matter what Rebecca said now, Irwin was firm in his decision.

Rebecca had to leave! If Rebecca and Natalie continued like this, who knew what would happen? Things in Simeria were already chaotic, and they couldn't afford to add more trouble.

When Rebecca heard Irwin's words, she seemed as if she had misheard, looking at Irwin in disbelief.

"What did you say?" Seriously? At this moment, Rebecca was completely at a loss for words.

Irwin continued, "Don't even think about it. Luna will never live with you.

Even if you don't respect Nat, you should respect the child!" Rebecca's complexion tightened upon hearing Irwin's words, and her heart ached fiercely.

After saying so much, this was Irwin's decision?! "I won't leave!" Rebecca spat.

She wouldn't! "Don't wait until Natalie takes action herself. You should know that she won't show you and your family mercy | now." Irwin's voice was cold and deep, and Rebecca trembled upon hearing those words.

Natalie showed no mercy to her now.

She was no longer kind and caring toward the Johnson family. Back then, No matter what happened to her, she endured it.

But the restraint Natalie once had now turned into coldness.

"I won't go!" Despite those thoughts, Rebecca still hoped, refusing to leave and insisting on taking Luna.

Irwin's eyes darkened.

"Rebecca, for Cedric's sake, this is my final advice. If you're unwilling to leave Simeria, find somewhere else to go!"

"..." Rebecca was speechless, What did that mean? Was he asking her to move out of Maple Peak? Yes, that was exactly what Irwin meant. Since Rebecca was unwilling to leave Simeria, Irwin wouldn't continue to accommodate her.

As Irwin stated, this was his final advice to her.

Since Rebecca arrived in Simeria, Irwin had been protecting her in every possible way.

But now... Obviously, there was no need to say more.

Rebecca's attitude towards Natalie was the most unforgivable thing for Natalie. And that was clearly why Irwin decided to stop letting Rebecca rely on him.

In Simeria, Rebecca actually had nothing. So, why did she dare to confront Natalie? Besides being crazy, it was because she believed someone was behind her to support her. This was how Rebecca expanded the Johnson family in the past.

It must be said she was quite a capable woman.

But now, with Irwin withdrawing his support, it meant no one would support Rebecca in Simeria.

In that case, what did she have left to persist? After Irwin left, Rebecca stood rooted to the spot for a long time, unable to return to her senses.

For Cedric's sake? To be honest, Natalie wasn't the only one who didn't understand Irwin. Even Rebecca, who had seen many grand scenes, didn't understand him.

Rebecca took several deep breaths but couldn't suppress the dull ache in her chest.

When Calvin arrived, Rebecca was still standing in the same spot.

He approached her and respectfully called out to her, "Madam." "Calvin!" "Yes, Madam?" "Do you think Cedric is..." Perhaps it would have been better not to mention Cedric. When Rebecca said his name, her determination to get Luna grew stronger.

Yes! She had to get Luna! That child was likely the only family she had left in the world.

"Madam." Calvin's expression turned serious as he addressed Rebecca.

"What is it?" "n H n Perhaps Master Cedric has...

Has what? Calvin trailed off. And at that moment, Rebecca's eyes shimmered with fragmented pain as she looked at Calvin.

"Has what?" During this time, it was difficult to get news of Cedric regardless of what they did, which led to suspicion. Since Cedric left Wexford, he possibly only saw Natalie for the last time in Yonwood City, then he...

"Even if Master Cedric is still alive, it's possible that he may be blind." "...." Rebecca was speechless.

Her heart was already aching badly.

But after hearing the possibility of Cedric losing his sight, the pain in her heart intensified. She even almost forgot to breathe.

For a long time, Rebecca looked at Calvin and could not react.

"Blind?"

The pain was evident in Rebecca's tone as she spoke.

What was it like to be blind? Rebecca's heart clenched painfully when she recalled how Isabella had been after losing her sight. She never imagined her son would face such an outcome one day, so when Calvin spoke those words, Rebecca's mind became blank.

"Yes, it's highly likely that Ms.

Walker's eyes belong to Master Cedric!" "Find out if that's true!" Rebecca hissed through gritted teeth.

Highly likely? Rebecca didn't want possibilities. She wanted the truth! If she discovered that Natalie's eyes were indeed Cedric's... what then? Even if things weren't entirely clear yet, Rebecca wished she could gouge out Natalie's eyes right now!

Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 741

Chapter 741 Is Irwin Giving Up? If Rebecca discovered that those eyes were really Cedric's, she didn't know if she could ever accept it.

A dense and continuous ache spread through her, which was truly unpleasant. Hatred surged like a tidal wave, and the world turned upside down.

"Everything about the surgery has been wiped clean," Calvin said.

So, it would be difficult for him to get any details about it.

Rebecca fell silent.

Everything had been wiped clean? If the surgery was really what they suspected, there must be a way to get

-y CT Tvnwe information about it.

"Have Isaac come to see me," Rebecca instructed. "Isaac's relationship with Cedric had always been so good. He used to hate Natalie so much before, but now..."

Clearly, Rebecca also sensed Isaac's change in attitude towards Natalie.

So, was this change related to something? And what about the surgery? Was it also related to Isaac? When she thought about that, Rebecca's heart seemed to burst open like a floodgate, and now all the thoughts came pouring in.

"Yes, ma'am!"

"Right now!" Rebecca couldn't wait a moment longer.

When Calvin looked at the time, he was quite shocked. However, he could understand Rebecca's reaction and request.

It was about Cedric, after all. How could she remain calm in this situation? After Calvin left, Rebecca was alone.

She clenched her fists tightly, and her eyes gleamed with intense malice.

"Natalie!" Rebecca hissed as if she couldn't wait to completely crush Natalie.

It was hard to imagine that Cedric was truly living his life in darkness now!

Rebecca had thought about it before, but when Calvin truly presented this possibility to her, no one knew how she felt.

She was terrified! In her eyes, Cedric had always been a proud and noble son. He always stood above everyone.

If he really had lost his eyes, what was the world like for him now? Rebecca felt a suffocating pain in her chest when she tried to imagine it.

"Natalie... Natalie!" Rebecca spat her name like a curse.

After all, wasn't Natalie's existence like a curse to her? Because of Natalie, Rebecca's life was now in turmoil.

Meanwhile, Irwin went to see Natalie at Lotus Villa.

When Clyde saw him, he sighed. "You should leave." Irwin and Stephen used to have a good relationship. But now, it didn't matter who dragged the other into this situation.

All of them were having a bad time.

"Is she inside?" Irwin asked.

"She asked me to send you the divorce papers on her behalf. I'm sure you understand what that means," Clyde said with a hint of resignation.

With how people kept pestering Natalie, she wasn't the only one tired.

Everyone around her felt the same,

Irwin and Cedric were one thing. Those two had already caused such a commotion, but now Rebecca had beer added into the mix.

And there was also Irwin's attitude towards Rebecca. That was probably the most unbearable aspect for Natalie.

Irwin opened his mouth to say something, but Clyde continued, "You've disappointed her too much." One, during their youth, gave her a passionate love.

And the other offered her support in her time of suffering.

From that, it was easy to see how important Cedric was to Natalie.

And what about Irwin? What place did he hold in Natalie's heart? That was also easy to imagine.

But in the end, their existence was as fragile as a bubble that had shattered completely in Natalie's world.

"She won't see you again. Just leave," Clyde said calmly.

Irwin stood rooted to the spot. When Clyde finished speaking, Irwin's heart clenched painfully.

No one knew how Irwin felt then. Just the thought that Natalie refused to see him again made him...! Natalie had arranged for lawyers to deal with Rebecca, and she asked Clyde to send Irwin the divorce papers on her behalf.

Based on her actions, it was clear that Natalie really didn't want to see Irwin ever again! Their interaction in this recent period had been bad. And now...

Irwin couldn't describe what he felt at this moment.

In the end, Irwin left Lotus Villain a daze. He got into the car, and Dylan drove off.

After a few minutes of silence, Dylan looked at Irwin seriously through the rearview mirror.

ROIs "What?" "You need to give her some time," Dylan said.

Dylan knew that what he said was actually empty words of comfort to Irwin. No matter how much time they gave her, Natalie was unlikely to let go of the past.

Before this, Natalie was unwilling to get involved with him. Now, she was unwilling to even see him.

Her actions showed how resolute Natalie was being when it came to Irwin! "Time?" Irwin repeated, his tone filled with bitterness and pain.

"It's understandable for her to struggle to accept the truth, considering how significant your role was during the most difficult time in her life," Dylan clarified.

Dylan's words were quite accurate.

After all, Irwin once played such an important role, and Natalie had trusted him whole heartedly.

In the end, he let her down. - Upon reflecting on his past actions and Natalie's current behavior, he realized that Natalie was being quite lenient with him.

When they arrived at Maple Peak, Irwin reviewed the documents Clyde had sent him.

Bitterness and pain filled his eyes as he read the words. Eventually, he signed his name at the bottom and handed it to Dylan.

"Send it back to her." If Irwin's presence in Natalie's life caused her so much pain, he would let go!

Dylan was shocked when he saw Irwin sign the document. He never expected Irwin to actually sign it...! "Sir In "She has the protection of the Jarvis family. And for Luna's sake, Nat also knows what choices to make and what not to," Irwin said.

Rebecca's words finally awakened Irwin from his dream.

"You're right," Dylan said.

Dylan was a grown man, but even he felt slightly bitter.

To his subordinates, Irwin was a cold and calculative man. He probably never worried about a woman before.

But now, Irwin was willing to let go of everything for Natalie's sake Falling in love was really something the last thing a person should do...! Irwin sought revenge against Cedric in the past. During that time, he hadn't been at peace.

But what about now? Irwin had fallen for Natalie and let go of his revenge, but was he truly at peace? Clearly, he wasn't.

When Dylan turned around, Irwin suddenly called out, "Dylan." BRIYesNsir2I "Fulfill her every request." Irwin's words implied that he would give Natalie everything she wanted at this moment.

Chapter 742 She Has Divorced Irwin However, little did Irwin know that : Natalie probably wouldn't want anything now! All she wanted was for Cedric and Irwin to stay away from her. She didn't want - to be involved with them anymore.

When Stephen returned in the middle of the night, he saw the signed divorce agreement that Irwin had sent over. A complicated glint flashed in his eyes when as he picked it up.

"Give it to her tomorrow morning," Stephen instructed the butler.

"Yes, sir," Agnes replied.

With that, Stephen ascended the stairs toward his room.

It was a relief for everyone now that it was over.

In Yuloria, it continued to rain almost every day.

Cedric lay in bed, listening to the rain hitting the roof. The rain was heavy today, and it was really pouring down.

After arriving in Yuloria, Cedric couldn't help but notice the gloomy weather. Even when the sun was shining, it wasn't warm enough.

Cedric found it difficult to describe, but he felt like he wasn't getting enough sunlight. Additionally, the daylight hours were short in Yuloria.

Lucas came in and asked, "Sir, are you awake?" "Yeah." Cedric groped around to sit up after his afternoon nap. Lucas hurried forward to help him, only to hear Cedric say, "I'm fine!" "Crs "I've actually already adapted to this darkness." ""..." Lucas fell silent.

Adapted to darkness? What was it like to be in complete darkness? Maybe only those who have truly experienced it would know.

When Cedric first arrived at Yuloria, he was desperate after spending a long time in the dark.

Plus, back then, he didn't have Natalie's perception of darkness. All he saw was endless darkness, and he couldn't see anything.

One could only imagine how despairing it was to wait in the dark like that.

People say that getting used to something was actually very frightening. It had been long since then, and Cedric had also gotten used to it.

He was also getting increasingly more sensitive to his surroundings.

After a few more minutes, Lucas couldn't bear it and whispered in Cedric's ear, "Simeria is in chaos." Cedric fell silent, and the air around him instantly turned cold. After hearing Lucas' words, Cedric knew the implications immediately.

His voice was cold as he asked, "She and Irwin got divorced?" d When Cedric thought about it, he couldn't help but tense.

Irwin...! "The Jarvis family was very supportive of it." Lucas knew what Cedric was thinking.

When Cedric entrusted Natalie to Irwin, he instructed him not to allow the Entes family to influence Natalie under any circumstances.

The Entes family was in their transitional period. If Irwin and Natalie divorced at this time, it was easy to imagine what the Entes family would do next.

Cedric pressed his lips tightly together.

When Lucas mentioned the Jarvis family, Cedric's expression darkened: "The Jarvis family really cherishes her!" "Yes, sir." Lucas nodded.

No one could deny that fact.

When Natalie demanded a divorce from Cedric, hadn't she already found the Jarvis family? And because of the support from the Jarvis family, she was more confident.

That was why she persistently insisted on the divorce.

Cedric clenched his fists.

"How has the Entes family reacted to this news?"

"She's been close to Lord Austin for a while now." Previously, the Entes family's fifth and sixth sons had kept an eye on Natalie to get the Jarvis family's support.

Now, even the third son was involved.

In other words, even if Natalie and Irwin hadn't divorced, they were already in a mess. But once they divorced, everything would be different, and even the situation would change.

This was the part Cedric was most worried about.

The Jarvis family truly feared nothing! ""At this point, you shouldn't think about it," Lucas said to Cedric.

Since it had come to this, thinking about it was useless.

n N ~ Keep an eye on things over there," Cedric said.

"Yes, sir!" Lucas nodded, his expression becoming even more solemn.

Every time he heard about what was happening in Simeria, it was nerve-wracking. Simeria had never been a simple place.

Cedric insisted on being kept updated about the happenings over there. But even if he knew what was happening, what would he do? When Cedric gave his eyes to Natalie, he truly thought he would spend the rest of his life in darkness, atoning for everything he had done to Natalie.

He deserved that punishment, just like punishing himself in prison back then.

However, when he heard the situation about Natalie and her family...

He had never felt so powerless! He had withdrawn and compromised to give peace to Natalie, but now he found that even if he left...

There was still no peace for Natalie.

And so, this feeling was truly unbearable for Cedric.

Lucas hesitated before finally saying, "There's one more thing." "What is it?"

"Madam Johnson is in Simeria, and she's already met Ms. Walker twice!" -s Lucas initially didn't plan on telling Cedric about this. During this period, everyone around him couldn't help but feel distressed when they saw Cedric's condition.

In fact, Lucas and Kyle had already found relevant surgical resources for Cedric, but Cedric refused time and time again.

"She met her?" As expected, upon hearing that Natalie had already met Rebecca, Cedric's already tense heart tightened even more. He was well aware of the dynamics between his mother and Natalie.

The thought of those two together was enough to make one shudder.

Lucas nodded. "Yes, they already met." Cedric fell silent, and a chill enveloped him.

No matter a man's position, he was most helpless when his mother and wife didn't get along.

Ever since Natalie entered his life, Rebecca's attitude had always been a headache for Cedric.

Now, he understood that even if he left Natalie's world, he couldn't bring her peace because Rebecca would keep appearing repeatedly.

Even if their relationship was over, was it really the end?

If one thought everything ended because of this, it was too naive.

Looking at it now, it was far from over." Rational thoughts escaped him once more, and his mind was completely engulfed in chaos.

In Maple Peak, Irwin had already had Yves escort Rebecca away. Naturally, Rebecca didn't want to leave Simeria, so she moved out of Maple Peak.

She bought a villa in Simeria and settled in, indicating that she was prepared to fight Natalie in court till the end.

Chapter 743 Haunt You Like a Nightmare ss When Calvin went looking for Isaac in the night, he couldn't locate him. No matter how anxious Rebecca was, it wasn't until the next morning that | Isaac appeared before her.

At this moment, Rebecca looked at Isaac and asked, "Tell me, did Ced give Natalie his eyes?" Rebecca was blunt. She obviously wanted to know the truth and nothing else.

Isaac frowned at her words.

"Did he?" Rebecca pressed.

Did he or not?! "Rebecca..." Isaac began, but Rebecca's clenched fist slammed down on the coffee table before he could finish.

She trembled all over. At that moment, even if Isaac didn't say anything, she had already made up her mind.

Bringing Isaac here was just to confirm it! "He didn't!" Isaac looked at Rebecca's reaction and knew that if she discovered that Cedric had done it, she would turn Simeria upside down.

"you don't need to defend her," Rebecca said coldly.

"I'm stating the facts," Isaac insisted.

"Facts, huh?" What are facts?

Rebecca had spoken of facts so many times in the past, but were they really facts in the end?! ~ No, they weren't.

"If Ced hadn't given his eyes to her, why would he leave Wexford?" Rebecca asked sharply.

At her words, Isaac froze. He had to admit that was the most crucial point.

If Cedric hadn't really given them to Natalie, why would he leave Wexford? There was also the fact that Irwin was still by Natalie's side, and they even got married. If nothing had happened to Cedric, why would he leave? Rebecca still had some understanding of her son's temperament. Once, in Verde City, she had witnessed the \ upheavals between Irwin and Cedric.

So...

So what? Rebecca didn't dare to think about the outcome.

Rebecca finally suppressed the heavy weight in her chest and asked, "I just want to know one thing. Was he alive when he left?" Her tone was solemn, and there was a serious glint in her eyes.

"Rebecca, that's not..." Isaac began.

"Don't hide it from me. I've gathered many clues today before I called you. I just want the final confirmation," Rebecca said firmly.

Isaac swallowed back the words that were on the tip of his tongue. Until now, naturally, he couldn't say anything! "Was he, or was he not?!" Rebecca's tone tightened as she looked at Isaac.

The two stared at each other in a silent confrontation. In the end, Isaac nodded.

"He was alive." Instead of feeling relieved upon receiving this answer, Rebecca collapsed on the sofa, feeling utterly drained.

Why did Cedric leave abruptly? Pain spread through Rebecca's heart, and her chest felt stifled.

"You should leave," Rebecca said, barely hearing her own voice.

"Rebecca, he wanted her to be well. He owed Natalie those eyes. That was him repaying his debt to her, so please think carefully about what you should or shouldn't do next," Isaac said.

He knew it was impossible to hide at this point. Also, knowing Rebecca's temperament, she wouldn't believe him even if he denied it.

With that, Isaac left.

When Rebecca was alone again, she remained silent for a long time.

Her expression changed drastically, her eyes filled with intense bitterness.

She coldly laughed and said, "Debts?" The Johnson family never welcomed Natalie, so Rebecca didn't agree with the notion that they or Cedric owed Natalie anything. ~ Rebecca's mind raced, unable to accept this point at all.

Heather had already taken Luna to Snow City, and the Jarvis family had almost erased all traces of evidence.

Moreover, they had already made the appropriate arrangements in Snow City.

Rebecca wouldn't be able to locate Luna now. Even if she went to Snow City, it would be futile.

She would never find Luna.

Rebecca, they hadn't been so intense about Luna.

But now, everything had changed.

Rebecca had dug her own grave.

Natalie had her lawyers negotiate with Rebecca's lawyers, so she had no intention of meeting Rebecca.

As for Irwin... it was over.

Unlike with Cedric, there was really nothing tying her to Irwin except for that piece of paper.

Everything between them should be forgotten, and Natalie was blunt about this.

Natalie had also heard from Abigail that something significant had happened in Wexford. So, after ending things with Natalie, Irwin rushed back | to Wexford.

The studio had been busy lately.

Natalie spent almost all her days there.

Whenever Rebecca couldn't find Natalie anywhere, she would definitely go to the studio.

Generally, Natalie wouldn't see her.

When Natalie was still part of the Johnson family and had some respect for Rebecca, she felt that Rebecca was more like an unreasonable shrew than a dignified lady.

With how Rebecca behaved during this period, Natalie became more convinced she had been right all along.

"Do you think you can hide from me forever, Natalie? I'll haunt you like a nightmare for the rest of your life!" | After discovering the truth, Rebecca | couldn't meet Natalie for three days.

So, when she finally saw Natalie, she seemed like a madwoman. She glared at Natalie with clenched teeth, wishing to tear her apart.

Natalie gave her a cold look and smirked. "Who's whose nightmare is yet to be seen!" Nightmare? If there was a nightmare, the three years spent with the Johnson family were indeed a nightmare for Natalie.

But now, that nightmare is over.

"Lawrence," Natalie called.

"Yes, Miss?" "I'll leave this to you." With that,

Natalie got up and grabbed her bag.

Lawrence felt a headache coming on.

He always hated dealing with women, especially unreasonable ones like Rebecca.

No one had touched her, yet she was already doing outrageous things...! Seeing Natalie about to leave, Rebecca's anger surged. "Don't you dare leave, Natalie, I'm telling you..." But before she could finish, she was completely silenced.

Rebecca struggled frantically, as if she had gone insane. However, she never expected Natalie to employ such intense methods against her, leaving her with no room to maneuver.

Chapter 744 More Despicable Than Pitiful a When Natalie arrived downstairs, Calvin respectfully approached her.

Natalie couldn't fathom how Rebecca managed to keep people like Calvin by her side for so long. From what Natalie could remember, Calvin had been with Rebecca for quite some time.

"Mrs. Johnson," Calvin respectfully addressed Natalie.

"Calvin, I believe your memory is failing you. Allow me to remind you that my relationship with him ended years ago!" The weight behind Natalie's words grew heavier when she spoke the latter part of her sentence.

Calvin had always been good-natured and intelligent. He was an outstanding individual.

How did Rebecca find such people, much less keep them by her side? "But in Master Cedric's heart, you have always been his wife, and that has never changed," Calvin replied.

Wife? When Natalie heard that, she laughed sarcastically.

Seriously? "You seem to have forgotten that I'm not," Natalie bluntly stated.

Natalie was never Cedric's wife, not in the eyes of the Johnson family. Natalie believed that, in the end, Cedric must have regretted marrying her.

Calvin sighed.

Not wanting to deal with him anymore, Natalie walked away. But just as she took a few steps, Calvin said, "You should show Madam some sympathy.

She's actually a pitiful woman." Natalie was speechless.

A pitiful woman?! Natalie smiled at Calvin's words.

Yes, Rebecca was pitiful.

But more than that, she was despicable.

"To me, she's more despicable than pitiful!" Natalie's words were harsh, revealing her true feelings towards Rebecca.

Calvin was taken aback by Natalie's remark.

Despicable? Before Calvin could say anything else, Natalie had already left.

Natalie sat alone in the car, her eyes shimmering with depth.

"Pitiful? Hah..." Everyone around her now believed she should forgive Rebecca and let go of everything.

Of course, it was possible to let go. But that was if Rebecca stopped appearing before Natalie.

However, Rebecca was like a ghost that constantly haunted her now.

In that case, how was she the pitiful one? By the time Rebecca arrived downstairs, Natalie was already gone.

"Where is she?" Rebecca asked as she looked at Calvin. Clearly, she hadn't wanted Calvin to follow her earlier because she wanted him to intercept Natalie.

Natalie was filled with cunning now, especially since she was reluctant to see Rebecca.

"Madam, let's go back!" Calvin said, his eyes filled with helplessness.

Having been with Rebecca for so many years and witnessing Rebecca's current situation, he couldn't help feeling a bit uneasy.

"To where?" Rebecca questioned.

Calvin fell silent. | "Where can I go back to?" "Madam!" "The Johnson family is gone, all because of this woman's doing. Don't you realize that?" Rebecca cried out.

When Rebecca realized that Cedric was blind, her heart was overwhelmed with pain. Everything could have been fine —the Johnson family could have been fine—but it was all destroyed because of Natalie.

Now, Rebecca didn't even have a home to return to.

Where else could she go? The more she thought about it, the more Rebecca's heart ached.

"Madam..." Calvin said softly.

"I don't even have a home to return to.

Where else can I go?" When Rebecca uttered these words, her despair was palpable.

Indeed, she had nothing now, not even a home.

Where else could she go? Calvin wanted to say something to comfort Rebecca, but all he could manage was, "I will find Master Cedric as soon as possible." Find Cedric? It seemed like all the problems now revolved around Cedric. But even mentioning Cedric was enough to shatter Rebecca's already fragile heart.

"What good would it do if he came back?" His return would only bring more pain.

She never imagined that Cedric and Natalie being together would end like this.

And now... she hated Natalie.

Seeing Natalie cozying up to men left and right...

"That shameless woman!" Rebecca's tone was filled with venom.

Her son lost everything for Natalie, yet she was still involved with other men.

"She's not even worth it!" Rebecca said, pain lacing her voice.

Indeed, Natalie wasn't worth it. None of this was worth it. It wasn't worth it for such a woman! "It doesn't matter if it was worth it or not. It was Master Cedric's choice," Calvin said with a hint of exasperation.

Calvin and everyone else who witnessed this situation clearly knew they couldn't blame Natalie for this.

Cedric had done everything willingly.

"Calvin!" Rebecca's tone grew stern, and she looked at Calvin. "Are you speaking up for her? Look at what she's done to me! My son lost everything for her!"

"..." Calvin was speechless.

"She's just a demon!" Rebecca's voice was full of anguish.

That was how Rebecca saw Natalie.

Cedric lost everything for her.

And now, Rebecca couldn't even see her grandchild. The thought of Luna made Rebecca even more uncomfortable and angry.

In Rebecca's view, it was hard to distinguish right from wrong. It was unclear who was at fault anymore.

"We must find that child as soon as possible." Find Luna? Indeed! They had to find Cedric and Luna.

Rebecca wouldn't allow Natalie to take anything belonging to the Johnson family.

Rebecca's mind was consumed with madness. She had to take back everything that belonged to the Johnson family! The Johnson family couldn't collapse! She wouldn't allow it! In the past, when her husband left, she upheld the Johnson family and became a legend among the wealthy wives.

So, how could she allow the Johnson family to collapse completely in her hands? She wouldn't let it happen, absolutely not! Rebecca was consumed by such thoughts like a madwoman.

Calvin sighed. "Yes, ma'am." Clearly, whatever Rebecca said now was final. No matter how much others said, it wouldn't matter.

"We must bring everything back. We must!" Rebecca kept murmuring.

No matter what it took, she had to find Luna and bring her back. It didn't matter where the Jarvis family hid her.

Rebecca was determined to bring Luna to her side! Meanwhile, Natalie received a call from an unfamiliar number just as she started driving.

Upon answering, Austin's voice came through. "Lunch together at M1 noon! Natalie replied without hesitation, "No_ { need!" Her refusal was decisive and firm.

Chapter 745 Can't Get Her Back It had to be said that things were truly starting now.

As everyone had speculated, things might spiral out of control once she and Irwin end things.

"Natalie, I thought you wouldn't refuse me," Austin said.

"But I did, " Natalie replied flatly.

As she finished speaking, Austin chuckled. His laugh sounded gentle, but it felt strangely eerie to Natalie! She felt irritated at his response. "I'm hanging up." without waiting for Austin to respond, she ended the call abruptly.

Although she had anticipated this situation before divorcing Irwin, Natalie still felt uneasy.

However, even if she had to experience this and more, she wouldn't change her decision. She no longer wanted to be involved with Irwin and Cedric in any way.

Meanwhile, Austin was in Orchid Bay.

Since announcing his recovery, many complicated situations have happened around him.

However, his sharp instincts had driven away many people.

Up until now, even Cole, his subordinate, didn't quite understand why Austin had decided to reveal himself at such a crucial moment. After all, hiding his identity would have given him more control over everything.

What was the benefit in doing this? So far, it only invited a lot of trouble, especially from the Stewart family.

Ever since Austin announced his recovery, the Stewart family's behavior had been embarrassing. They even sent Alto's ex-wife to Austin, claiming it was a test.

A test? Hah! Because Austin had been ill for years, yvette's father, Tobias Stewart, assumed that Austin hadn't managed to gather much support over the years.

So, Tobias wanted to use his daughter to build a relationship with Austin! Cole couldn't help but feel uneasy.

Luckily, Tobias only had one daughter.

If he had more than one daughter, who knew what an indecisive man like him | would do? Everyone around Austin could keenly feel the intense and tumultuous situation around them after he announced his recovery.

"Ms. Walker rejected your invitation," Cole said.

His tone was bitter, especially after he saw the smile on Austin's lips.

Over the years... Austin had feigned illness, and the people around him had felt the true nature of human relationships.

And now...

Austin understood Cole's thoughts and said, "Don't worry too much. Many people have coveted the jarvis family's prestige, but none have fared well.

Stephen is a cunning old fox, and Natis his daughter. I'm sure she's a complicated woman." Cole was speechless and surprised at how Austin had addressed Natalie! He had used such an intimate nickname...! Cole had to admit that Austin's sudden announcement of his recovery caught everyone off guard. Then, Austin had affectionally referred to Natalie when speaking about her. It made Cole wonder if Austin's decision had something to do with Natalie.

No, it couldn't be! Austin had always been in Simeria, while Natalie had been living in Verde

City.

Was it... that incident? "Lord Austin!" "She'll agree. Trust me," Austin replied in a deep voice.

Cole fell silent.

She would agree? At this moment, Austin seemed poised for victory. When he spoke in such a profound tone, it felt like he held all the cards in his hands.

Lord Austin, did you already know Ms. Jarvis before this?" Cole asked.

As soon as Cole finished speaking, various images flashed through Austin's mind. The depths of his eyes, usually profound, now flickered with gentle light.

On the other side, Rebecca had indeed pressed charges against Natalie.

However, things were different for Natalie this time.

No matter what trouble Rebecca stirred up and wanted to publicize, no media company dared to report it.

After all, this was Simeria.

Plus, the matter was also related to the Jarvis family. Even if the media wanted to report it, they had to consult the Jarvis family first.

Crash! Rebecca threw her cup to the ground, shattering the glass into shards that littered all over the floor. As she picked up the fragments, they grazed her fingers, causing her to wince in pain.

Already angry, she grabbed a pillow from the sofa and hurled it across the room.

Calvin stood nearby, witnessing Rebecca's outburst. Those who had been with her for so long seemed to understand her mood at this moment.

"Who does she think she is to treat me like this?!" Rebecca screamed.

A leopard couldn't change its spots.

Rebecca had made many concessions to Natalie before, but knowing so much now, she became extremely mad. When she thought about how Cedric was missing, Rebecca became hysterical.

Cedric was blind! He had given Natalie everything, and Natalie treated him this way! And her attitude towards Rebecca and the Johnson family...! How could Rebecca bear such disrespect?! "Madam, don't be angry," Calvin said.

"How can I not be angry, Calvin? I'm heartbroken and angry!" Rebecca snapped back.

How could she not be angry? Just thinking about how Cedric had fought against her for Natalie made her feel particularly uncomfortable.

Calvin fell silent.

"Just how powerful is the Jarvis family here? It's such big news, but no one dares to publish it!" Rebecca fumed.

When she thought about this again, Rebecca's anger flared even higher.

It was as if no one in Simeria could go against the Jarvis family! At Rebecca's words, Calvin's gaze deepened. He replied easily, "Their wealth and power can rival a nation!" Rebecca was speechless, and she stiffened at Calvin's words.

She used to look down on Natalie so much, it was evident. Who could have imagined that Natalie had such a formidable force behind her? If Rebecca had known at the time...

If she had known, how would things be different? She would have treated Natalie even better than Jocelyn! What a pity! But so what if it was a pity? Things had already reached this point, and Rebecca didn't want to dwell on it anymore. Things had already happened, and it was pointless to regret it. There was no turning back now.

After thinking for a moment, Calvin said, "There's one more thing." "What is it?" "The lawyer has rejected everything we proposed." "What do you mean?" Rebecca's face paled at the news.

Calvin remained silent, confirming Rebecca's worst fears. Her already troubled expression turned even graver upon hearing this news. Anger surged relentlessly in her heart! "Does that mean I can't even get my granddaughter back now?"

Chapter 746 No One Dares to Help Her Rebecca had always doubted whether Cedric was still alive, so she had pinned all her hopes on Luna. As long as Luna could accompany her, she would feel somewhat better.

However, Rebecca never expected that Natalie would refuse her request and even take Luna out of Simeria, preventing Rebecca from even seeing the child! Rebecca was furious. Like a madwoman, she wanted to snatch the child back. But she never thought this would happen! Calvin lowered his head slightly. "That is correct, Madam."

This answer made Rebecca feel weak, and she collapsed on the couch.

"She's too much... How could she?!" Her hands clenched into fists, trembling uncontrollably.

Wasn't this just too much? Not letting her see Luna was one thing, but things now in Simeria...! "Can we find help from overseas?" Rebecca said through gritted teeth.

Obviously, they had to sue Natalie.

Since no one dared to oppose the Jarvis family in Simeria, they would have to seek help from overseas.

But Calvin frowned and shook his head.

Seeing Calvin's shake of the head,

Rebecca's displeasure only grew.

"What do you mean?" Calvin said, "Madam, I'm sure you're aware of the Jarvis family's international standing." Rebecca fell silent.

Indeed, she had always known but refused to acknowledge it.

Why had she agreed to Natalie and Cedric's relationship? Even in Verde City, it was clear that the Jarvis family held significant power.

However, Rebecca never wanted to acknowledge that Natalie had such a powerful family behind her! Sp, I really can't get my granddaughter back?" Rebecca had seen how Natalie behaved towards her, so she had given up.

There was no longer any possibility between Cedric and Natalie. : Rebecca refused to admit it was partly her own fault that their relationship was no longer possible.

People believed that since ancient times, a bad relationship between a mother-in-law and daughter-in-law could cause a couple to divorce.

Rebecca had always been unwilling to admit this, but now...! "Why are you so persistent?" Calvin sighed.

Persistent? I've lost everything!" Rebecca was almost in tears when she said this.

Yes, she had lost everything. She wasn't crazy, so she knew holding onto this matter would be futile.

But she had nothing left! What else was she supposed to do? Calvin fell silent.

"you've also seen it. Even though Cedric gave his eyes to that woman, she wasn't moved at all! She won't return to Cedric's side." n n "Do you think Cedric will be with another woman in his lifetime?!" The more she spoke, the tighter her heart clenched. Parents always thought about these things, and Rebecca was no exception.

So, no matter what happened, Rebecca had to get the child! She had thought that Irwin being with Natalie would mean he would help her with this matter...

Who knew Irwin would react that way? "Natalie is a witch!" Rebecca sighed.

Undoubtedly, Rebecca now saw Natalie as nothing short of a demon or witch.

If not because of Natalie, Rebecca wouldn't be in this situation! Thinking about how good Natalie's life was now while Cedric was suffering, Rebecca felt deeply unsettled.

Rebecca had originally planned to sue

Natalie, but in the end, they withdrew due to a lack of a lawyer.

When Natalie received the news at breakfast, she looked at Clyde calmly eating and asked, "Did you do that?" "What do you mean?" Clyde asked.

"The matter with Rebecca." Natalie got straight to the point.

After all, she had received related summonses before, but they were now withdrawn! If Clyde didn't have a hand in it, it must have been Stephen's doing.

Clyde nodded faintly in response.

"Although I've never been a fan of such methods, this is simply perfect to deal with someone like Rebecca," Natalie said.

What was Rebecca feeling right now? Was she feeling hopeless? After all, she thought she had lost everything and had pinned all her hopes on Luna.

But now, Clyde's actions had cut off all of Rebecca's options.

Natalie was sure the despair Rebecca felt now was even worse than what Natalie felt when she lost the child in her womb years ago.

"Yeah?" "In the future, tell me if there's anything, okay?" Clyde looked at Natalie.

After all, they had too many important things to do now, and dealing with people like Rebecca required a lot of energy.

Rebecca may have the energy to make noise, but they didn't have the time to deal with her.

Natalie nodded in response, and her heart bloomed with warmth.

"Oh, one more thing," Clyde said after a moment.

"What is it?" "Dad is going to Snow City." Natalie's heart skipped a beat at his words. She looked at Clyde with disbelief in her eyes.

Stephen was going to Snow City? She knew Stephen had been busy lately, but not the reason

Now that Clyde mentioned this, it seemed that Stephen had been busy with Regal Horizons International's affairs. Had Stephen handed everything over to Clyde by now? "He..." Natalie tried to say something but couldn't find the words.

Clyde continued, "Our parents have never been apart for long in their lives." That was the easiest and shortest way to explain Stephen and Heather's relationship.

Over the years, even though Natalie and Clyde had been lost, their parents' relationship had always been good.

With how good their relationship was, how could one wait for the other to return?

"It's my fault," Natalie muttered.

Heather could have continued living in Simeria, but because of Natalie's involvement with the Johnson family...

In the end, it felt as if Natalie had brought her past troubles back home.

She had hated Cedric from the start.

And now, upon hearing this, Natalie found those who accused her of being heartless to be utterly ridiculous.

Why would she need a heart? She didn't need to have such feelings, especially towards the people of the Johnson family.

"Nat." "Yeah?"

"Rebecca will probably stay in Simeria for a while." It was unpleasant to talk about Rebecca, but Natalie's eyes shimmered with intense determination when she was mentioned.

Rebecca would stay in Simeria? Natalie also knew that Rebecca would continue causing trouble. But no matter how much she caused a scene, Natalie wouldn't allow her to get Luna.

Now that Stephen was going to Snow City, Rebecca probably wouldn't get a chance to see Luna, even if she screamed her lungs out! Once, Rebecca had been so cruel to Natalie.

So now, Natalie would remain indifferent! It didn't matter that people said 1 Natalie had no heart or that she was ruthless.

No matter what they said, Rebecca would never get to see Luna.

Chapter 747 The Life of a Recluse After Clyde left, Stephen returned.

Natalie didn't go to work today. When Stephen saw her, his expression turned tender. €& "Come with me to the study," Stephen said, ascending the steps, with Natalie hurrying after him.

In the study, Stephen glanced at Natalie, hesitant to speak.

"I already know," Natalie said.

"You do?" Stephen raised his brows.

"Yeah." Natalie nodded.

After she heard the news from Clyde, she couldn't calm her heart for a long time today. So, she didn't go to work in ' the studio.

Stephen looked at Natalie, then sighed and said, "Nat, when your mother thought she lost you, we've been suffering all along." n n "We didn't even know you had a brother!" Natalie felt suffocated at the revelation.

Rebecca wanted to take Luna away, and Natalie wished to tear the older woman apart with her bare hands. She wouldn't lose Luna.

It showed how a mother's love for her child was irreplaceable.

So, Heather must have suffered tremendously upon losing her children.

"Especially because Winona hadn't been obedient these years." Stephen's tone was full of regret when mentioning Winona.

Winona had been their only child for years, and they had treated her like a treasure. They had loved Winona so much, only to discover she was someone else's daughter...! When that happened, it was obvious how much pain Heather endured.

That was why none of them dared to intervene, even though they knew Winona was suffering... because Heather wouldn't allow it! It was cruel for their enemy to take their daughter away and leave his daughter with them to raise.

Heather and Stephen had invested a lot of time and effort into Winona over the years, but Winona never cherished it; leading to the current situation.

Pain... and anguish! Now, seeing Clyde able to handle everything, Stephen and Heather finally felt relieved...

"Since your mother wants to remain in Snow City and not return here, I'll stay with her," Stephen finally said after a long pause.

Natalie's heart tightened.

She knew what Stephen's words meant, especially after everything he had said.

After all that had happened, Natalie naturally understood how her parents felt.

Natalie nodded. "That's fine." After enduring many years of torment, it was finally time to let go. It was also... time to let go of the torment! It was painful! Natalie could only imagine how it felt for her parents to raise Winona for so many years only to find out she wasn't theirs! How agonizing was it to know their real child was missing? And the fact that they hadn't even known about Clyde...

How painful was it for them? Then, they had found Natalie and Clyde. Stephen and Heather saw they were doing well and entrusted their lifelong efforts to their children's care, finally allowing them to find peace.

After all that, Stephen wanted to step back and accompany Heather to live a carefree life.

That was good! "Your brother will protect you." Stephen truly believed in Clyde and knew that even if he left, Clyde would protect Natalie.

Natalie nodded. "Yeah." No matter what Stephen and Heather decided to do, Natalie promised herself she would support them.

"Sometimes, you have to be rational about what to do and what not to do, okay?" Stephen advised.

"Got it." Natalie nodded.

At this moment, she tried her best not to worry her father. After all, this was what Stephen wanted most. His withdrawal from Simeria would indirectly change everything.

Once, the people here had focused on Stephen and Heather. But now, all their attention would be on Clyde.

It was completely different! Natalie had to admit that Clyde had a remarkable grasp of the situation.

After all, Stephen... wouldn't easily trust someone.

Natalie had known long ago that Stephen wanted to retreat from the world with Heather. Even before Clyde came into the picture, Stephen had been trying various ways to make Natalie take on all the burdens of Regal Horizons International.

However, Natalie was less ambitious { then, so Stephen delayed his retirement and stayed in Simeria.

It seemed that fortune favored them, leading them to find Clyde. With Clyde holding the reigns, it finally allowed Stephen and Heather to leave Simeria and retire.

It had been three days since Stephen's sudden departure.

In fact, it wasn't really sudden. He and Clyde had been making preparations all along. Natalie just hadn't known.

During those three days, Natalie knew exactly what Stephen was doing in Snow City. Heather kept sending videos.

Despite not living together, the family remained close and kept each other informed about their lives.

"Mommy, when are you coming to see Luna?" Luna's voice sounded sweet and innocent over the phone as she spoke to Natalie.

Luna's soft voice could melt anyone's heart.

Natalie was willing to sacrifice anything for Luna, even her life.

People often assumed that after being hurt by a man, many women couldn't stand to see the man's child and might even resent them, considering the child a part of their tragedy.

But Natalie didn't see Luna that way.

She believed Luna was the best gift from the heavens to her. No matter what happened, Natalie cherished Luna's presence in her life.

As for Cedric, Rebecca, and the rest of the Johnson family, Natalie felt Luna had no connection to them.

How could she bring herself to transfer any resentment or anger onto her own child? Children were innocent. She never entirely understood why people would say such things. And after experiencing it for herself, she found them even more incomprehensible.

"Once Mommy finishes her work, she'll come to be with you, okay? Be a good girl and wait for me, okay?" Natalie replied.

"Okay. Grandpa is already here with me." "Yes, Mommy knows," Natalie replied gently.

After chatting with Luna a bit more, Natalie reluctantly hung up.

After Stephen left, the changes in Simeria were obvious.

Icarus' men came, and it was easy to guess what they were up to.

At the dinner table, Clyde looked at Natalie, who seemed unhappy.

"What's on your mind?" he asked.

"Lord Icarus' people were here," Natalie said.

Clyde frowned as soon as he heard her reply. He said, "Lord Malcolm visited me today. He personally came to Regal Horizons International." Natalie remained silent.

The Entes family's fifth and sixth sons! The situation was becoming more apparent. Just hearing about it made Natalie feel a chill down her spine.

A Divorce After My Rebirth #Chapter 749 - Read A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 749

Chapter 749 No Need to Bring up Family Matters a | The Entes family's seventh lady? Indeed...! Over the years in Simeria, everything in Verde City seemed to have little connection to Natalie anymore. When she thought about these things, she couldn't quite describe her feelings.

Clyde glanced at her and said, "Don't feel too pressured. Your friendship should only be about emotional connection. There's no need to bring up family matters." Natalie understood Clyde's words.

There was no need to discuss the Jarvis or Entes families during her interaction with Bianca.

She had to admit that it was a question of boundaries. As friends, such boundaries were hard to define.

But Natalie always heeded Clyde's words. She nodded. "Okay." However, Clyde didn't mention anything specific about Zane. In Natalie's view, it probably wasn't anything significant. If there were any developments, Clyde would surely inform her.

But it was also hard to say.

Clyde was a complex man. Sometimes, even as his sister, she couldn't see through him.

As Natalie turned away, Clyde couldn't help but ask, "Why ask about Lord Austin?" 2/12

Austin was a crucial figure to Natalie, and now she was inquiring about him.

What was she thinking? "I have my reasons," Natalie replied calmly. She seemed indifferent but actually quite concerned.

Now that Stephen and Heather had withdrawn from Simeria, Natalie was even more concerned for Clyde. After all, he was her brother.

In her life, where she once had nothing, Cedric was everything to her.

She had always believed Cedric was good to her.

But after returning to the Jarvis family, she realized...what true love from family meant. It wasn't about giving her loads of pocket money or letting her assimilate into their world.

It was about continuously accepting her. That was what family was about! Natalie cared the most about her family, and this feeling surpassed all else.

If anything, Stephen and Heather were living their best lives now. Their son had taken charge of the company, and their daughter was being cautious of the situation. Their granddaughter was by their side, bringing them joy and comfort.

It was the dream of many.

The current situation in Simeria was 4/1:

chaotic. Icarus and Malcolm visited Regal Horizons International any time | they had spare time. eS Clearly, they were looking for a breakthrough from Clyde.

Once Irwin had settled matters in Wexford, he returned to Simeria.

When Natalie saw Irwin in the studio, her expression remained indifferent.

"Why are you here?" she asked flatly.

"I know you don't want to see me," Irwin said in a grave tone.

He lit a cigarette and took several deep drags, trying to suppress the heavy feeling in his heart.

Previously, during the divorce, Natalie

With the divorce finalized now, wasn't it all in the past between them? Yet Natalie's attitude remained icy.

"Since you know that, why bother returning to Simeria when there's nothing for you here?" she asked, avoiding any mention of Wexford.

Irwin paused, feeling suffocated inside.

Natalie's words hit him hard.

Irwin took a deep breath and said, "I know everything." "What are you talking about?" Natalie asked.

"Lord Icarus and Lord Malcolm have been in contact with your brother. You should know what kind of people they are. Once-" SEE "Once what?" Natalie interrupted, her tone mocking and cold.

Irwin felt worse hearing Natalie's indifferent attitude and her words.

"Do you think everyone in the world is like you and Cedric? Willing to do anything for their own interests and goals?" she continued.

"Nat! "n "Irwin, my brother said you and Cedric must have had a hard time protecting me in such a way. But you know what? I believe what you both did can't even be described as protection!" Indeed!

To Natalie, Irwin and Cedric's actions | weren't worthy of being called protection. ee Only someone with a heart would protect another. But these two didn't even have a heart, so how could they talk about protection? "I know you resent us, but now is not the time for this, Nat. Do you understand?" Irwin tried to reason.

Now, the most important thing was the Entes family.

Natalie stubbornly insisted on divorcing Irwin back then, and even the entire Jarvis family supported her.

That was what made it so distressing.

"You've known from the start what 8/12 kind of people Icarus and Malcolm are, | right?" Irwin asked. | Natalie remained silent.)

"The Entes family's seal hasn't been found yet. So, the support from external forces like you is crucial for them. Do I have to remind you of that fact?" Irwin said, trying to emphasize the importance of his words.

"Why does it concern you?" Natalie asked calmly.

"_." Irwin was speechless.

Why was she asking that? Had he always been irrelevant in her heart? She was being...! "Irwin, even if they tear me apart, it has nothing to do with you!" Natalie | declared.

"Natalie!" Irwin's voice grew heavier.

His gaze was sharp. It was also filled with heartache and disappointment.

What was this?! Even facing such a situation, she didn't want to accept his protection!?
Was that why she insisted on divorcing him before? Did she truly want nothing to do with him? Natalie looked at Irwin and slowly said, "It's over, you know?" Yes, it was over! Everything between them was over.

had said similar words to Cedric before when they divorced. Back then, she told Cedric that everything was over.

Now, she said the same to Irwin.

It was over.

"Do you understand what the word means? It means there's no connection between us anymore!" Regardless of what happened in her life now, it had nothing to do with Irwin.

"What the heck are you planning to do?" Irwin looked at Natalie. He could barely hear his own voice when he spoke.

She...! She wasn't crazy, but she made him 11/1 feel heartbroken.

His heart clenched tightly when he saw.

Natalie's current state. He couldn't even imagine how Natalie could end things in such a decisive manner.

"It's none of your business!" Natalie reiterated.

She was still saying the same things.

Irwin's mind went blank.

He probably never imagined that he and Natalie would come to this point one day.

Chapter 750 Birds of a Feather Natalie reminded Irwin time and again that no matter what happened in her life now, it was none of his business.

When Irwin heard that Icarus and Malcolm had been negotiating with Clyde, he couldn't care less about everything else and rushed to Simeria.

In the end, this was the response Irwin got for his effort.

"Natalie" For a long time, Irwin could do nothing but look at Natalie and call out her name. However, the woman was cold and devoid of any warmth.

No one knew how much pain Irwin was in.

He even almost forgot the pain he endured back when he lost Blair...! Even after he put it behind him, he thought there would never be anyone else in the world who could make him as miserable as Blair did.

And now, looking at Natalie's icy and heartless attitude, his heart... ached. It felt like someone had torn his chest open and grabbed his heart.

Just then, Natalie's phone vibrated.

Natalie looked at the number. Then, she glanced in Irwin's direction and answered the phone.

"Hello." "It's me." Austin's voice came through from the other end. Though it wasn't very loud, it was clear enough for Irwin to hear.

When Irwin heard the voice, his already troubled heart clenched painfully.

How could he forget?! Austin was also in Simeria.

The location of the Entes family seal remained unknown. Not only Icarus and Malcolm were eyeing Natalie, but also Austin.

"What's wrong?" When Natalie spoke on the phone, her tone was gentle. The icy cold attitude she displayed before Irwin was nowhere to be seen.

"..." Irwin was speechless.

His mind was in turmoil as he watched | Natalie speak gently on the phone with Austin. Her actions were constantly tearing at his reason and even assaulting his sanity! Natalie... was out of her mind.

She had really gone mad.

Did she know what she was doing? Did she understand the implications of her behavior toward the people of the Entes family? Did she know what the consequences were? Irwin's mind was a mess, and he didn't pay attention to Natalie's conversation with Austin. In the end, he just saw Natalie smile and hang up the phone.

When she turned to look at him, the smile instantly vanished, and a hard glint entered her eyes! The contrast before and after the call made the anger in Irwin's heart burn even more fiercely! "Why are you still here?" Natalie asked coldly.

She wanted him to leave? Why? What was she up to? Irwin tried hard to suppress the anger in his heart, and after a little while, he regained his composure.

Then he looked at the time on his watch and glanced at Natalie.

"It's noon. Let me take you to lunch." "No need." Natalie rejected his invitation without hesitation.

Irwin frowned and looked at Natalie.

Natalie said, "I made an appointment with Lord Austin, and he'll be here to pick me up soon. I'm sure you heard our conversation." "Natalie!" As soon as she finished speaking, the air became heavy. Irwin had previously suppressed his anger with great difficulty, and he couldn't conceal it any longer.

"Why are you angry?" Natalie asked.

"Do you know what you're doing? They're from the Entes family!" "Yes, I'm aware of that." "Since you know, why are you..." Irwin was so angered by Natalie that he couldn't speak.

What kind of existence is the Entes family to the Jarvis family? The Jarvis family had always avoided them at all costs! Yet now, Natalie was actually going to have a meal with someone from the Entes family?! And with Austin, of all people, who always had his eyes on her? The scene Irwin feared had finally happened. When he saw how willingly Natalie had accepted the invitation, his anger surged.

"It's none of your business!" Natalie repeated.

".." Irwin fell silent.

She was repeating herself.

Those were the words he heard most from Natalie today. No matter what he said, Natalie could always give him a cold reply and the same words. She constantly responded to him with this icy attitude.

Just as Natalie picked up her bag and turned around, Irwin couldn't hold it in anymore.

"Natalie, you're heartless.

Natalie stopped in her tracks. In her eyes was an unprecedented coldness.

"So, we're the same!" "".." Irwin was speechless.

They were the same? So, in Natalie's mind, he and Cedric were heartless? Was that why she was so cold towards them? Natalie continued, "Irwin, remember that it's over between us. I hope you stop crossing the line!" Irwin fell silent.

What? In Verde City, they had...

Had what? They had gone through so much together, right? However, those past events seemed to have lost all meaning to Natalie. All those important memories had faded.

As Natalie reached out for the door handle, Irwin said, "If he knew about you and Lord Austin, he would go crazy!" Irwin was referring to Cedric.

At the time of the surgery, Cedric's biggest concern was the Entes family.

Since Natalie was Stephen's daughter, she would be even more coveted than before by others.

Cedric had repeatedly reminded Irwin of this point before the surgery, but now Natalie had still taken this step.

She seemed indifferent, as if she didn't care about anything, but did she really know? Wasn't it heartbreaking for the person who was trying to protect her? How painful would it be for him to watch her act like this? "Hah!" With a cold sneer, Natalie left.

It seemed that she wasn't even bothered to Irwin anymore.

After Natalie left, Irwin stood rooted to the spot for a long time, unable to return to his senses. He was apparently unable to believe that things had really come to this point.

What exactly was Natalie planning to do? Even if she was a fool, she should know that it wasn't appropriate to stand on the same side as the Entes family now.

or..! Was she trying to retaliate against him and Cedric in this manner? But even if it was for revenge, she couldn't get involved with the Entes family.

One wrong move, and the price will be astronomical...! Downstairs, a Phantom gleamed brightly on the road. Natalie could tell at a glance that it was Austin's car.

She hadn't expected him to show up and sighed inwardly. By the time she looked up, Martin had already stepped forward.

"Hello, Ms. Jarvis." "Yeah." "This way, please!" Martin's tone was very respectful.

As Natalie was about to decline, she | heard Irwin urgently calling her from behind, "Natalie." Natalie's initial hesitation was almost instinctively overridden as she walked toward the Phantom.

"Natalie!" Irwin's tone became more stern.

However, Natalie ignored him. She got into Austin's car without hesitation and didn't look back.

Martin frowned and glanced at Irwin before ultimately getting into the car himself. The car started and soon disappeared from Irwin's sight.
