

A Divorce After My Rebirth

A Divorce After My Rebirth #Chapter 925 – 930

Read A Divorce After My Rebirth Chapter 925

Chapter 925 Shameless Cedric | Nancy never imagined that even someone as proud as Bianca had once lived in the hell she was enduring now. Over the years, Nancy deeply understood the pain and resentment of being treated like this by someone.

Who would have thought that someone as proud as Bianca was once trapped in the same situation as Nancy?! "Back then, you must have resisted, right?" Nancy asked sadly after seeing Bianca's silence.

Bianca nodded. "Yeah!" Of course, she fiercely resisted Malcolm. But as Nancy said, each time Bianca resisted, it only led to even harsher retaliation. Malcolm seemed to have many ways to make her compromise.

Each time, it caused her more pain! But in that kind of suffering, no matter what ruthless means that man used, Bianca never compromised.

"Were you two married?" "I never married him!" That was right. Bianca never married him. She even married his brother to get away from him and to get back at him.

How ironic and ridiculous! Don't marry him in the future either, okay?" Nancy said, looking at the burn mark on Bianca's hand.

Even though Nancy never knew what it looked like when a man loved a woman, Malcolm wouldn't hurt Bianca like this if it was love.

Bianca nodded. "Of course. Let me see your wounds." Nancy's entire body was frostbitten. The river had frozen over, and she had jumped into that hole. It was clear she would have severe frostbite.

Gently and cautiously, Bianca lifted Nancy's clothes. When she saw the horrifying frostbite, Bianca's heart broke.

"Nancy." .

"It doesn't hurt!" More accurately, the pain from the frostbite didn't compare to the pain John inflicted on her.

"Don't do such foolish things in the future. I promise I'll help you get rid of him!" "Ms. Sanders, have you gotten rid of that man?" Bianca fell silent.

Clearly, Nancy understood now that divorcing John wasn't enough to end it. That man would continue to harass her. Even if she weren't his wife, so what? It was just like Bianca now with Malcolm. They didn't have any relationship, yet he still chased her here.

Bianca looked at Nancy and firmly said, "I'll take you away from this place!" Yes, the only way to get rid of that man was to take Nancy and leave this village together. Bianca would take Nancy far away to a place where John couldn't find her.

"Ms. Sanders..." "I'll work, and you can cook at home. If you don't like being idle, you can even open your own little shop. I'll come directly to the shop after work to eat, okay?" Nancy, who already had traces of tears, couldn't help but cry again when she heard Bianca's words. Undoubtedly, leaving John far behind was what she wanted most.

Opening her own little shop had always been her dream! But she and Bianca had only met because of this lawsuit.

"Why are you helping me?" "Because you cook delicious food." Nancy was originally touched and sad, and she couldn't help but laugh a/7 when she heard Bianca's words.

Bianca had to admit that Nancy's cooking was really delicious.

Although Bianca was a foodie, she couldn't cook anything besides hot pot.

And now, saying this undoubtedly let Nancy know that she wasn't useless.

"Ms. Sanders." Nancy grabbed Bianca's hand excitedly. The eyes that were once completely hopeless were ignited with hope again because of Bianca's words.

Bianca continued, "So from now on, you must take care of yourself, okay? Your life is mine." "Okay, I'll take good care of myself. I'll wait for you." Nancy would wait for Bianca to take her away from the village. She would wait for Bianca to take her to a place where nobody knew them and then open her own little shop.

Bianca had dealt with many cases, but this was the first time she had such involvement with the person involved.

It took a while to soothe Nancy. Watching Nancy fall asleep beside her, feeling safe, Bianca's determination to take her away grew stronger! After a while, Bianca noticed that the water bottle was empty. She picked up the bottle to refill it with water. But when she came out of the ward, she saw doctors rushing a surgical bed to the emergency
477

I room.

Cedric was running after them.

Bianca was silent. Seeing Cedric at that moment, her heart skipped a beat.

So, she hadn't been mistaken in what she saw the other day.

Without much thought, she followed along.

The emergency room door slammed shut, keeping Cedric outside, with Bianca standing not far away.

Watching the man's trembling figure, Kyle followed behind him and said, "Don't worry, Sir. With Dr. Hughes here, everything will be fine." However, those words sounded like empty assurances to Cedric. The trembling and desolation in his silhouette were so obvious.

"When is the surgery scheduled?" Cedric asked coldly.

"In half a month. We need to be especially careful during this time," Kyle replied.

Surgery? Hearing the word, Bianca couldn't help but lament Kayla's poor health.

Hadn't the child already gone through surgery before? What was wrong with her this time?

Although Bianca was curious, she didn't want to approach Cedric. As she was about to leave, Kyle suddenly suggested, "Should we call Ms.

~ Walker?" Bianca's footsteps stopped abruptly! Call Natalie? What were they...?! Now, Bianca couldn't remain calm. Her heartbeat was fluctuating incessantly.

Natalie already had a new life. Did he still want to disturb Natalie?! When Kyle suggested calling Natalie, Cedric's already desolate figure seemed even more sad.

Kyle continued, "If Ms. Walker can accompany her until the end of the surgery, it will improve her chances of success." "Kyle! n ""Miss Kayla has been calling for her all this time. She misses her." After all, in Kayla's heart, Natalie was her mother. She often secretly kept an eye on news about Natalie. Natalie's identity in Simeria was special now, and the media monitored and reported her every move.

She was a good mother. Reports of her outings with Luna have highlighted her caring motherly image. Whenever Kayla saw such reports, she locked herself in her room and refused to eat or drink!

Kayla had a unique identity, and the people around Cedric couldn't help but feel sympathetic towards her, especially after she spent so much time with Cedric. At first, Cedric had planned to reveal the truth to Kayla, but he never expected the child to fall ill again with a life-threatening condition.

Now, when Kyle mentioned Kayla missing Natalie, Cedric couldn't help but frown in frustration.

"She won't come!" That was the crux of it.

He had tried to involve Natalie in such matters before, but because of her hatred towards him, Natalie never bothered with them.

Chapter 926 No Need to Struggle, She Won't Come "Should we still try to persuade her?" Kyle asked.

Clearly, Kayla had been through a lot lately. The people around Cedric couldn't help but feel sorry for her. Even if they had to tell Kayla about Natalie not being her mother, it had to wait until Kayla was feeling better.

So, during this critical time, Cedric actually hoped Natalie could be there for Kayla.

But just as Cedric was racking his brain on how to get Natalie to come over, Bianca's voice, full of disdain, came from behind, "No need to struggle about this matter. She won't come!" Cedric and Kyle fell silent. They turned around to see Bianca holding a thermos and glaring sharply at Cedric.

"You two are done, got it?" "Ms. Sanders, please don't misunderstand. We-" Before Kyle could intervene, Bianca cut him off and went on a tirade.

"Do you really not understand what kind of person Isabella was in her life? Or do I need to remind you that even when faced with all those truths, she still kept her distance from you? Do you really not have a clue as to why?" Bianca felt her judgments were sometimes harsh. When Natalie and I Cedric were together, she thought he was decent enough. But after ~ they got married, his brain seemed to stop working! Cedric's eyes turned cold.

Clearly, even after all this time, he subconsciously refused to believe there was any gap between him and Natalie.

Bianca stepped forward, glaring at him. "Moreover, what's her status now? You want her to come and be with Kayla? How would you handle the media?!" All the reports about Natalie were now positive! If Cedric pulled her into this mess, it was obvious that a simple half-month of companionship for Kayla might ruin Natalie's reputation.

Even now, Cedric was still such a selfish man.

Bianca shuddered. Fortunately, Natalie had distanced herself from this man. If they were still together, he'd probably think boiling her bones for soup wasn't enough to satisfy him! Cedric declared, "I'll handle everything properly. No one will know she was here!" Slap! Bianca slapped Cedric across the face. Clearly, she was truly angry. She didn't expect Cedric to actually consider bringing Natalie here.

"Cedric, let me remind you that you and Natalie are done. You have no right to ask anything of her anymore." Who did he think he was? It had been so long since it ended! Why was there still this kind of entanglement? Bianca really couldn't understand who gave Cedric the audacity! Or perhaps, this man never had any audacity to begin with, so he didn't really care, right? "Bianca!" "You two are done, got it?" The man's tone was dangerous, and Bianca's tone became equally dangerous at this moment.

Yes, Cedric and Natalie were done. Natalie had a whole new life now.

So, he shouldn't be bothering her anymore, right? The word 'done' stirred emotions in the man's eyes, and Bianca's gaze tightened as well.

"She won't come, so don't waste your efforts." Was that cruel? Cedric hadn't looked at any reports about Natalie during this time because he didn't want to know anything about her. It was as if as long as he didn't know those things, he could numbly believe that she... was still at Lotus Villa! But now, Bianca's words were undeniably cruel to him.

Bianca was furious.

She left without another word. It was infuriating after all this time.

When she arrived at the hospital room, Nancy still hadn't woken up.

Bianca went to the bathroom and called Natalie.

"Bia?" "I just saw Cedric." n n There was a heaviness in the air!) Clearly, this man had played a significant role in Natalie's world before, so even now, hearing his name again caused Natalie to lose some control over her emotions.

After all, those hurts ran deep.

She could pretend to ignore it all before others... but in front of Bianca? It was different.

"Bia, I've told you not to tell me about these things." Natalie's tone was indifferent.

And it was this indifference that fully showed that Cedric was nothing to Natalie anymore.

He was nothing! Every time she heard his name now, she couldn't help but feel angry subconsciously. It was because she couldn't understand why someone who was so good during courtship could be so hurtful after marriage.

Looking back on it now, Natalie found it all so despicable.

But he said he wants you to come and accompany Kayla for half a month. If it was anything else, do you think I'd willingly bring it up to you?" After saying this before, maybe Bianca wouldn't mention him much.

But this time was different! "What?" "Isabella's daughter is really sick, remember? They say she needs surgery, and she's been calling your name all this time, wanting you to be there until her surgery is over." The more Bianca spoke, the angrier she became. She never expected Cedric to come up with something like this.

Natalie wasn't Kayla's mother, so why didn't he tell Kayla earlier? Now that she was sick, he couldn't tell her.

""Kayla's existence in Cedric's life is like Isabella previously. He wants you to compromise whenever they're involved!" This time, Bianca was genuinely angry. She had never seen such shamelessness before! When Isabella was around, Cedric's first thought was always to make Natalie compromise if something happened, sometimes even without a second thought.

Now, looking at it this way, just asking Natalie to be with Kayla wasn't much at all.

"Nat, you've never been important to him. Despite knowing your current status doesn't suit being here, he actually..." Before Natalie could speak, Bianca kept complaining. The more she complained, the angrier she became.

What on earth was this? How could such a person exist? Now Bianca was so angry, she didn't even know what to call Cedric.

Natalie said, "Alright, don't be angry!" Listening to Bianca's angry words, Natalie tried to soothe her instead.

Bianca exclaimed, "How can I not be angry? It's been so long since things between you two ended, yet he's clinging on like a parasite!" It just never ended.

Bianca genuinely wished Natalie a good life, just as Natalie wished the best for Bianca. So, she would tell Bianca everything she knew about what was going on in Simeria.

And Bianca would do the same.

But this time, what Bianca knew hit her too hard. It was so hard that it made her angry for a while.

"Don't worry, I know what to do," Natalie said.

"Don't agree to whatever he wants!" "Do you think I would do that?" Would Natalie agree to Cedric? From the moment it ended, nothing Cedric did on his end ever benefited Natalie.

So, how could she possibly agree to any of his demands now?

Chapter 927 I Won't Do Anything to Her Bianca was truly infuriated. Dealing with Malcolm and Zane's entanglements had already pushed her to the brink, and now Cedric appeared.

Her emotions were spiraling out of control.

After talking with Natalie for a while, Bianca finally hung up the phone. Before hanging up, she fervently advised Natalie not to agree to Cedric's demands.

She repeatedly told Natalie not to come here or stay by Kayla's side.

After all, to Cedric, it seemed like just a half-month of companionship! But this half-month could be fatal for Natalie.

What was Simeria like now? How many people were watching her every move? Cedric seemed oblivious to this influence, but Bianca was acutely aware.

Or perhaps... Cedric was hoping Natalie's reputation would be ruined in Simeria, giving him a chance to climb back up. And once he had that chance, he'd try to get Natalie back and maybe even get her to take care of Kayla together with him! The more she thought about it, the angrier Bianca became!

After giving Nancy lunch, Bianca planned to head back to the village to see Zane. As she stepped out of the hospital room, she saw Cedric outside.

Bianca gritted her teeth. "Why are you still here?" This man just wouldn't go away! Cedric said, "If she doesn't make it through this time, she'll die." Who? Kayla? Bianca scoffed. "And how does that concern me?" Cedric glanced at the closed door of the hospital room behind Bianca, his gaze deep and heavy.

Bianca tensed up. "What are you looking at?" Was he trying to threaten her with Nancy? Or Natalie? Bianca couldn't deny that Cedric was fully capable of such things. Her hands clenched into fists instantly, and her gaze became even more dangerous.

Cedric said, "That woman's got nothing to do with you, right?" Just now, Kyle had found out why Bianca was here and what she was up to. Clearly, he hadn't expected someone as proud as Bianca to work pro bono for someone else.

Bianca narrowed her eyes. "That's none of your business." Malcolm was already fixated on Nancy, and Bianca couldn't let more people get involved. This matter had to be resolved quickly. So, as she looked at Cedric now, her gaze held a hint of wariness.

But Cedric, at this moment, clearly sensed Bianca's thoughts. A bitter smile crept onto his lips. "Are you wary of me?" © "So, you also have times when you're afraid, huh?" In Cedric's mind, Bianca was simply fearless. It seemed like she had no fear in her life.

As he spoke, Bianca's gaze became even more dangerous.

Cedric sighed. "Rest assured, I won't do anything to her." He was referring to Nancy.

But such words sounded feeble to Bianca. In her eyes, Cedric was more despicable than Malcolm. The fact that he could say such things now only meant he hadn't reached his limit yet.

Once pushed to the brink, his actions might become even more disgusting! Cedric looked at Bianca, who remained silent. He lit a cigarette and took a few harsh drags. Bianca didn't like the smell of it.

Bianca pointed out, "This is a hospital!" Cedric was silent. He paused at her words but ultimately respected Bianca, tossing the cigarette butt into the trash can.

But Bianca's expression didn't soften even a bit.

Cedric softened his tone slightly. "You're willing to help a stranger like this. This time, could you...?" "I won't help you!" She was only helping a poor woman. In her opinion, Cedric didn't deserve any pity, especially considering Kayla, Isabella's daughter! Even if Kayla was innocent and pitiful, Bianca had her reservations.

Isabella had always been like a thorn in Natalie's life, and it was all because of Cedric that it had never been removed.

"Bianca!" "Cedric, don't you understand? All the tragedies she faced over the years were because of you. Can't you just leave her alone?" They had agreed to let go before. So why was he trying to meddle in Natalie's affairs again? Bianca didn't understand. She didn't understand why Cedric was like this.

Cedric fell silent, and pain flickered in his eyes.

Leave Natalie alone? It seemed like everyone around Natalie believed that as long as he stayed far away from her, it was somehow for her own good.

"Now, she's doing well! You want to ruin everything yourself and then have her come back to you to live with Kayla?" Ji "You think you've got it all figured out! But let me tell you, even if you destroy everything for Natalie, she won't come back to you." With that, Bianca turned and entered the hospital room, clearly not wanting to continue the conversation with Cedric.

Bianca had originally intended to go back and talk to Zane. But now, it seemed she needed to be wary of Cedric as well.

After all, when this man had gone mad before, he had used her to threaten Natalie. Now, to achieve his goals, he could very well involve Nancy as well.

In fact... Nancy had already been dragged into Bianca's problems.

When Bianca entered the room, Nancy was awake.

Seeing Bianca, she said, "Ms. Sanders, I want to leave the hospital." "Even though it's just frostbite, it's still quite serious. It's better to stay here for a few more days," Bianca replied.

Nancy looked troubled.

"Don't worry, okay?" Bianca knew it was about the hospital fees. She couldn't help but feel sorry. Before she showed up, had this girl ever received medical treatment for her pain? Nancy said, "I'm sorry for troubling you last time." "Nancy." "Hospital stays cost a lot of money." "It's just frostbite. I want you to recover quickly." Nancy looked at Bianca with gratitude. The depth of her gratitude couldn't be put into words. She didn't want to spend Bianca's money.

"Don't worry about it. Just stay here, okay? A girl's body shouldn't have scars. You'll have a bright future ahead of you. You need to embrace it anew." "Okay." A bright future, and embracing it anew! These words filled Nancy's eyes with even more hope. Seeing the hope in her eyes, Bianca breathed a sigh of relief.

People only resorted to extreme measures when they were at their most desperate and when they couldn't see any hope at all. So from now on, Bianca didn't want Nancy to resort to extremes.

Chapter 928 Natalie and Luna After comforting Nancy, Bianca still felt uneasy leaving the hospital She stayed until Seth came to bring her some food. Bianca looked at the familiar dishes, obviously made by Zane, but the long journey had altered their appearance.

Bianca ate calmly, while Seth seemed hesitant to speak.

Bianca asked suddenly, "Do you know Cedric?" Her question caught Seth off guard for a moment before he nodded. "I do." "Can you stay close to Nancy and watch over her?" "What do you mean?" "I want you to be extra careful around Cedric and his people." "Got it!" Seth understood. Cedric was not a good presence for Bianca.

It made sense, given that Bianca was Natalie's best friend and Cedric was Natalie's ex-husband.

It wouldn't bode well no matter where they met.

Once Bianca entrusted Nancy to Seth, she finally felt comfortable enough to return to the village to meet Zane. But as she stepped out of the hospital room, she came bumped into Cedric and Kyle.

It seemed that when one wanted to avoid something, fate ensured they met it head-on.

Bianca's tension rose.

Kyle said to Cedric, "We should get Ms. Walker here as soon as possible. Miss Kayla has fallen into a coma but is still calling out for her." Cedric furrowed his brows.

Bianca, who had just calmed herself, now felt her anger surging again.

When would this end? It seemed that Natalie was really stuck with this man! "I know," Cedric said, without specifying whether it was agreement or acknowledgment.

However, those who knew Cedric knew that if he didn't outright refuse, it meant he intended to try to win Natalie back.

Kyle turned toward the direction of the hospital room, but his gaze caught Bianca's, and he froze.

still, he respectfully greeted her, "Ms. Sanders." Hearing the greeting, Cedric also looked in Bianca's direction. Bianca simply walked away.

She had told Cedric what she needed to say about Natalie. She didn't need to deal with this man anymore!

But as she got into her car, Bianca couldn't help but call Natalie. The call was quickly answered.

"Bja." "Natalie, I've always been right about Cedric!" Natalie was currently with Luna. Hearing Bianca bring up Cedric again, she subconsciously glanced at Luna, her eyes flashing with resentment.

"You called just to tell me this?" Clearly, Natalie had lost all patience for Cedric as a topic. Ever since she and Cedric had parted ways for good, she wished she never had to hear his name again.

But Bianca persisted. "I'm just so angry! Just now, I heard he's decided to meddle in your affairs again because of Kayla!" Wasn't that clear enough? He caused enough damage to Natalie already, so why did he keep clinging on? Natalie lovingly handed Luna a puzzle piece, and the little girl smiled back at her, instantly dispelling the gloom in Natalie's eyes.

A child's laughter always had a healing effect. Even in one's darkest moments, it could bring a sense of comfort and make one involuntarily relax from the depths of one's heart.

"Bia, you don't have to bother with him." In just a moment, under the influence of the child, Natalie had already calmed down.

Hearing Natalie's words, Bianca felt a little relieved. But she still said, "I'm not bothered by him, but I'm still angry!" Only those who witnessed the whole process knew exactly what made someone so angry. Bianca had never liked Cedric from the start.

Despite his position at the pinnacle, Bianca felt that he wasn't suitable for Natalie! And she was right back then.

Despite Cedric looking at Natalie with love in his eyes, Bianca still felt something was off. The truth was, marrying someone who was completely devoted to a person didn't necessarily guarantee happiness.

"Alright, you don't have to worry about me. Focus on sorting things out there and leave that troublesome place as soon as possible!" A troublesome place? No, in Bianca's eyes, Weiss Town was always innocent.

The troubles were brought by the Entes family.

Seeing Natalie's indifferent attitude, Bianca felt relieved. She was genuinely afraid that Cedric might use some trick to deceive Natalie into coming to Weiss Town, and then...!

Bianca couldn't even imagine what that scene would be like.

Natalie's current status required her to be cautious in every move she made. Cedric really underestimated the complexity of the situation! Just as Bianca hung up the phone, Natalie's phone rang. It was an unknown number, but at this critical moment, there was no need to guess who it was.

"Mommy, I want the diamond-shaped one," Luna said in her childish voice to Natalie.

Natalie's eyes filled with even more indulgence.

Quickly finding a diamond-shaped piece for the little princess, Luna became even happier when she got it, admiring the house she had built.

"You're so clever." Even though every parent thought their child was great, Natalie couldn't help but feel proud of Luna's ability at such a young age.

"Mommy, is the house I built pretty?" "It's beautiful, Sweetie." "Mommy, your phone is ringing." "Never mind that." Natalie's tone remained gentle, but underneath, there was a hint of danger for the person on the other end of the call.

But Luna said, "What if the person calling you has an emergency?"

"I doubt it." "But you didn't answer it, Mommy. So, how can you know?" Natalie hesitated to respond to the little girl's question. Ultimately, Luna was still a child! In the end, she said, "Do you want Mommy to answer it, Sweetie?" "Yes, Mommy. Answer it." Cedric would never know that the frustration Natalie would soon unleash on him was because of Luna. If Luna didn't want the call answered, he would only face silent treatment. But if Luna wanted the call answered, he would have to endure Natalie's cutting words without reservation.

"You play by yourself first. Mommy will answer the phone." "Okay, Mommy." Luna's obedience always softened Natalie's heart.

Natalie really loved her daughter. Luna was her precious treasure. How could she tolerate Cedric hurting this child again and again? It was undoubtedly crossing Natalie's bottom line.

Chapter 929 Still Have the Gall to Speak Natalie entered the adjacent room, ensuring Luna wouldn't be affected by her volatile temper before answering the phone. "Hello." Her tone was steady for now! On the other end of the line, the person's breath seemed to waver upon hearing her voice.

A few seconds later, Cedric spoke with a suppressed tone, "'Has Bianca told you about her yet?" Hearing Natalie's voice again, Cedric felt like centuries had passed since they last spoke! No one knew how he had been surviving during this time, or how much regret he harbored. He feared hearing any news about Natalie, even if it was good. That was because the happiness she had wasn't something he had given her.

It hurt! Because he didn't know when that happiness would end or how long it would last. He consistently feared Natalie would be hurt. Because that happiness wasn't something he had given her, he constantly doubted when Austin would hurt Natalie.

"Tell me what?" Her tone now carried a hint of sarcasm. Even though they weren't face-to-face, Cedric could imagine the mockery in Natalie's eyes right now. - k "Nat." "Please watch how you address me." Such an intimate address made Natalie feel sick.

"Nat, she's really going to die this time. It's brain surgery." "Cedric, do you not understand what our relationship is? Or do you not understand the history between me and Isabella?" Death? Did Kayla's life or death really matter much to Natalie? "Natalie!" Hearing her indifferent attitude towards life and death, Cedric's tone couldn't help but get heavier.

"It seems Bia was right. I've given you too many chances before!" They've always been at odds with each other, but Natalie rarely used these serious and impolite words.

But this time, she actually said such words.

Undoubtedly, Cedric was thoroughly provoked.

Before the man on the other end of the phone with a pale face could speak, Natalie sharply retorted, "Do you know what it means when something has ended?"

What did it mean to end? " hb If it was over, then it meant one didn't have the right to ask the other ~ person for anything or even contact them again.

Cedric understood all of this.

"Nat, Kayla, she really..." "Don't even mention her. Even if the heavens took you all away, I'd only feel relieved. How could I let anyone's life or death affect me? What were you thinking?" Natalie's tone was dripping with sarcasm, clearly attempting to push Cedric to stop contacting her.

Listening to Natalie's sharp and icy words, Cedric couldn't help but feel that Natalie had changed completely! No, how could she become like this? "You've been sponsoring those kids all this time, don't tell me...!" "Are those kids the same as Kayla?" They weren't the same.

No matter when, Cedric always cherished Kayla even more than his own daughter.

Compared to the kids Natalie sponsored, Kayla was a completely different existence!

hice "Cedric, just live and die with her, okay?" With that, Natalie hung up before Cedric could say anything else.

The words Natalie said left Cedric feeling numb. At this moment, he seemed to understand something.

Because of Kayla, he crossed Natalie's bottom line.

Bianca forgot something at the hospital. When she came back to get it, she saw Cedric making a call to Natalie. Initially, she wanted to go up and beat Cedric up. But she overheard Natalie's sarcastic remarks on the phone, so she felt reassured.

This guy deserved it. He really thought he was all that.

"Wow, 'live and die together' is quite the line!" Bianca couldn't help but feel a little triumphant.

Cedric turned to look at her with a sharp gaze, danger flickering in his eyes. The danger burning inside him seemed like it could consume everyone around him.

However, Bianca fearlessly stepped forward. "Nat wasn't so vicious at first." It had to be said even Bianca, as she listened to herself, couldn't help but feel that Natalie was being a bit vicious. However, she agreed with Natalie's viciousness.

If Natalie wasn't vicious, how could she drive away scum like Cedric? "At first, she probably didn't dislike Kayla so much. It was all because of you!" Didn't Cedric personally cause it? Cedric remained silent, his entire being exuding a cold aura as he stared at Bianca.

"What was wrong with you? Did you have to go after Luna?" Luna was Natalie's everything. How could Natalie possibly have a good attitude towards Kayla after what happened? Cedric's already unpleasant expression turned even worse upon hearing Bianca's words, sending chills down her spine.

Meanwhile, Natalie had returned with a calm demeanor, seemingly unaffected by Cedric's phone call. Luna, being clever, had assembled a garden to complement the house puzzle she had built, making it look even better.

"Mommy." "Yes, Sweetie?" "Look. n Natalie leaned in to take a look. She couldn't help but admire Luna's intelligence. "Looks good. Mommy can't do this." .

Natalie was clumsy.

But no matter how much of a genius one was, they still needed guidance. Luna learned how to play with puzzles from Austin.

The image of the two playing together was still vivid in Natalie's mind.

She marveled at how Luna saw Austin as a father and how she herself was so loved.

Such a life was rare for Luna, and for Natalie, it was a form of stability.

How could she ruin it with her own hands? Cedric was the cancer in her world! During the years she spent with him, she lived in constant suppression. When his people hurt her, and he turned a blind eye! .

Even symbolic gestures of protection could make her as happy as a child.

But looking back now, she realized how foolish she was.

When Austin returned and embraced her from behind, he asked, "Been playing all day?" "Yeah, with Luna." It was sad to think that even the sense of stability she found in accompanying Luna was ultimately provided by the man standing before her. i

Chapter 930 Is it Really Over? During Cedric's time in Simeria, things between them were constantly tumultuous because of Kayla. Kayla's health was poor, and she spent all her time in the hospital. Cedric had also attempted to use Luna to save Kayla.

With that happening, how could Natalie's days be peaceful? Thinking back to that chaotic period, Natalie's heart grew colder and harder.

Meanwhile, Cedric stood in the cold wind, unable to come to his senses for a long time. Bianca came out with something in her hand, and as she passed by Cedric, she couldn't resist mocking him.

"Why don't you live and die with her? Haha!" Bianca, for once, laughed heartily as she got into her car, although her situation wasn't much better now.

Cedric watched Bianca get into the car, his eyes flashing with a mix of frustration and helplessness.

Kyle appeared behind Cedric, looking in the direction Bianca left. "Ms.

Sanders still doesn't want to help?" Obviously, Kyle didn't know what Cedric and Bianca had just

I discussed. But currently, if Bianca could help, Natalie would definitely come to Simeria.

Cedric knew this, but thinking about Bianca's arrogant departure just now, his eyes couldn't help but darken.

He only said, "She won't help." That was right! Bianca wouldn't help.

With that said, Kyle's aura couldn't help but become heavier, all due to concern for Kayla.

Kayla's condition was very bad right now, and if things continued like this, her will to live...

Thinking of this, Kyle became even more worried.

"The doctor also said that Miss Kayla's will to live is very low right now, so Ms. Walker should come over sooner. He also mentioned that her condition is deteriorating quickly. I suspect it may have something to do with those reports!" Reports? What reports? Undoubtedly, those reports also stimulated Kayla.

Kayla always hoped to receive Natalie's love, but even during her time in Simeria... Natalie never gave Kayla a gentle look, and she almost exhausted all her love for Luna.

All these past events made Cedric more and more resentful and even a colder at this moment. i Back in the village, Zane was in the study having a video conference.

When he heard the doorbell, he immediately went to answer it.

By now, the sky outside had completely darkened, and Bianca stood there in the cold, wearing only light clothes.

As Zane opened the door, the chill rushed in.

Frowning, he instinctively grabbed Bianca's wrist. "Come in first." She had been out and about all these days, so the fireplace in her house wasn't lit at all, and it was very cold inside.

As Bianca stepped inside Zane's house, the warm feeling made the chill on her body temporarily fade away. Zane took a blanket and wrapped it around her as she sat on the sofa. The blanket still had Zane's unique fresh scent on it.

Turning, Zane added some firewood to the fireplace.

"Do you know why I chose the village here?" Bianca asked quietly.

Zane momentarily stopped what he was doing. He didn't respond immediately. After adding the firewood, he poured her a cup of hot water and handed it to her.

"Have some water first."

Bianca took it, holding it in her hands to warm them up. The warm feeling dispelled the cold in her palms. Taking a sip, Bianca continued, "Because I like the winter here, and I like the fireplace." She liked the feeling of adding wood to it.

"If you like it, settle down here," Zane suggested.

"But your arrival and his disrupted the village's original peace." Bianca's tone grew heavier.

It had to be said that even when she was in Verde City, she encountered all sorts of people, but her life was definitely simpler then.

But now it was different! The presence of Malcolm and Zane itself was troublesome, and there were many troubles around them. Bianca liked simplicity, but it was the appearance of these two that made her life more complicated.

She didn't like this feeling, but she couldn't shake it off.

She loathed this feeling.

When Zane heard Bianca's words, he stiffened slightly.

"Bianca!" He reached for Bianca's hand, wanting to say something. But her hand was so cold, and he wanted to warm it up. However, the coldness in Bianca's palm seemed to come from her heart. Through her palm, he could almost feel her heart, and it was cold. - Bianca quietly withdrew her hand from the man's, looking into his eyes with guilt.

"Can we end it?" Was it okay to end it? Zane quietly looked at Bianca. Her words were so sincere and piercing to the heart.

And Zane simply stared at her.

"I don't owe you anything, and you don't owe me anything. I originally wanted to use you to deal with Malcolm, the man who ruined everything for me," Bianca confessed.

That was right.) Back then, Bianca had wanted to use Zane to deal with Malcolm, the man who destroyed everything for her.

Zane's face darkened at her words.

But Bianca, as if she hadn't seen it, continued, "The difference is, when I used you, I was transparent about it. But you... you were despicable!" If Zane had told her from the beginning that his kindness was just an act, she wouldn't have fallen into it.

At the beginning, their mutual use was open and transparent, I something they both knew.

I But at the end, his kindness almost turned into a dangerous feeling that made it hard for people to resist falling into.

"So, in your mind, all that kindness I showed you was just to gain your trust so I could use you more smoothly? Or do you think my kindness to you was just to make you let your guard down so that Malcolm wouldn't suspect anything?" Zane's questions were sharp, and each word pierced Bianca's heart like a thorn.

And it was these sharp words that left Bianca speechless! "After you returned to Simeria, you've always known I've been by his side, right?" Bianca's counter-question was just as sharp.

That was right! Zane knew all along.

"So, do you think you have feelings for me?" They spent quite a long time together in Verde City. But even after spending so much time together, Zane had no feelings for Bianca whatsoever.

Zane fell silent. Looking at Bianca, there was a different kind of emotion in his eyes.

"If you really had those feelings for me that you're talking about, wouldn't you have had them back in Verde City?" During their time in Verde City, they had quite a bit of contact because of Natalie.

"If you had them in Verde City, then you would know what my life was like by his side. You would save me, wouldn't you?" So, wouldn't Zane have come to Bianca without waiting for her to come to him? "You seem to have analyzed it quite well!"