

A Ghost 1011

Chapter 1011 The Descent Of The God Of Sunlight And Radiance

[The [Chief God of Holy Light, Justice, and Law] has decided that the sin of slaying her daughter will be paid by a thousand times her pain and agony.]

[He has summoned [God of Sunlight and Radiance] to avenge his daughter!]

[Accompanying him there is a small army of [Divine Holy Light Spirits (SS+ Rank)]!]

[The Laws and Fate of the [Yggdrasil World Tree] exerts their power over the descending [God of Sunlight and Radiance]!]

[His Stats have decreased by 60%, his Skills Power and Divine Authority have been weakened by -70%!]

[However, the powerful [Divine Veil of Holy Light and Law] encompasses the [God of Sunlight and Radiance], conjured by the very [Chief God of Holy Light, Justice, and Law]!]

[The penalties inflicted upon the [God of Sunlight and Radiance] have been halved by the Authority of the Chief God of Yggdrasil!]

The world tree itself was helping me! And that damned Odin can cancel half the penalties? So he's that ridiculously strong, huh? Makes sense Yggdrasil is helping me, if she already noticed I'm going against the invaders that killed most of her children, the original gods, and stole their thrones forcefully.

But to think that damned Baldr would come down, the same bastard that the Pharaoh told us completely destroyed his civilization and killed everyone except a few that hid underground. I guess it is a really bad match against me if we compare the elemental weaknesses and strengths.

"You monster! Show yourself." The voice of Baldr reverberated. I noticed invisible chains wrapped around him, which were weakened quite a lot. "I've come down here, just to slay you for what you've done! How dare you slay the daughter of my father?! You deserve not one, but a thousand deaths!"

His divine and "majestic" presence descended from the skies, unleashing a powerful aura and divine authority of pure dominance. He resembled a second sun above the skies, overwhelming and overbearing.

"That's Baldr?!" Akhenaton roared. "That damned bastard! Dammit, why am I still so weak?! If only... No, even with the Starship, it will be useless to even confront that barbarian!"

"Baldr..." Jonathan sighed; he was nearby. The moment the god arrived; he looked up into the skies. "He is the one that granted me his blessing. The reason I am a Hero, perhaps."

"..." Baldr immediately noticed Jonathan. "So it was really you. I was really hoping that it was all a lie or something. But you have truly decided to become an ally of that undead monster, Jonathan? After everything I've given to you, after all the divinity I let you hold, you betray me- no, you betrayed the entire of the Aesir Family."

"I never asked to become your Hero to begin with." Jonathan said. "And Maria... I promised her I would not abandon her anymore. If you want your power back, you'll have to kill me first, Baldr." Jonathan pointed his Divine Sword to the God he once prayed to the most.

"It is as you heard him." I nodded, the Shadow Realm quickly gathered around me, as I fully absorbed it. I reinforced my exterior and forged a cocoon of sorts using my own body. I decided to quickly evolve. I don't think I can handle him otherwise. "Are you sure you want to fight us though? I easily killed your sister, do you truly believe you'll have a different outcome, Baldr? Odin might really have a few screws loose, foolish enough to send his son to death the same way he did with his daughter. He's only making us stronger."

"Shut up! I am well aware of your weakness against Holy Light, ghost woman." Laughed Baldr, without even wanting to address me by my name. "And even then, I am not alone! Father has been thoughtful enough to give me my own army of powerful Divine Holy Light Spirits! All of whom you're also weak against. Are you sure you think you can win now?"

"I don't know, let's try?" I asked, laughing. my body expanded as an endless swarm of flying insects and snakes emerged out of it, rushing to clash against Baldr. All the Undead I had accumulated were also summoned at once. Most of them detonating once they touched our foe, explosions covering the skies.

"Your endless army of undead has little power against the might of sunlight, foolish woman!" Laughed Baldr. A beam of pure divine sunlight as unleashed from his body, easily turning into ashes the masses of skeletons and other undead I summoned in mere seconds. "This is easier than cutting butter with a hot knife, hahahaha! I should have been sent to kill you from the very beginning! Advance, my spirits!"

As he roared, the spirits rushed forwards, summoning weapons made out of their own divine bodies. They swung their weapons, slaying countless undead and my own Phantom Swarms with ease. But they were too focused on slaying the small fray, giving us some precious time.

"Everyone! Those that can't fight right now, stay behind me. Those that can fight, please distract Baldr as much as you can! Emeraldine, dedicate yourself to heal the living if possible. The undead will be healed by my Phantoms." I commanded everyone.

Celes, Nia, and the twins quickly ran behind me, they were very tired and couldn't fight right now. My shadows quickly encompassed them, protecting them. Meanwhile, Tear, Catarina, Fabian and his friends, unleashed barrages of long-ranged attacks, pushing the Divine Spirits even so slightly back.

At the same time, Lucifer and Partner covered the left and right sides, bombarding the Divine Spirits with their strongest attacks, hoping to push them back as much as possible to buy enough time. Emeraldine fire her arrows, while healing the wounds of Jonathan, who clashed against the Divine Spirits head-on, abusing his high resistance and even absorption of the light element.

"I will become your shield, Maria! Evolve while you can!" Jonathan roared, taking on countless of rays of divine light and absorbing them, his entire body glowing with bright golden light. "RAAAH!"

With a furious slash of his sword, he managed to kill one Divine Spirit, only for more to swarm him, barely allowing him to move.

"Your pathetic attempts will bring you nowhere, Jonathan!" Laughed Baldr. "Now, I shall slay your precious maiden, and be done with this!"

I guess it's now or never.

[You have initiated your Evolution!]

FLASH!

Chapter 1012 Evolving In The Middle Of A Battle!

Baldr pointed his Golden Axe against me, a powerful-looking Divine Relic made using premium Spiritual Divine Treasures. It was overflowing with a Divine Aura, further boosting his own attack power. His armor was of no less quality as well, amazingly forged using Orichalcum, a terrifyingly tough, divine metal. Unlike his little and dumber sister, who only had a lame trident, Baldr came fully equipped with several premium stat-boosting equipment.

"Did you think I would let you evolve or do something else, you filthy woman?!" He laughed, rushing towards me at lightning speed. "Well, you're terribly wrong! DIE!"

SLAAASH!

His titanic golden axe easily slashed through my entire body, and my barriers broke one after another. I was easily split into two halves, as both halves then exploded by the power of his divine light. I gave out a loud scream, the agony of his sunlight burning through my body was immense, even with all the resistance I've accumulated.

BOOOM!

"How weak! Hahahaha! Did that kill her already?! So she's only good at sneaking around and attacking in the back of others. Make sense why that dumb Oceania died." He smiled. "Now where are the Soul Fragments?"

He immediately believed I died. I can't believe this has worked twice! Are the Gods so overconfident on their own strength that they think they can kill me with a single hit? I can't believe their cockiness.

TRUM!

However, before he could even search for clues of my "soul fragments", a gigantic sphere of pure Void Essence appeared above the skies, like a crimson eye, glaring down at the God of Sunlight. It was my Void Star, appearing once more to give me a hand, what a good pet it was.

"What's that thing?! A Divine Treasure- No, some sort of-"

Before Baldr could continue his words, a beam of pure concentrated Void Essence reached him, blowing him away from the scene and clashing him down into the deserts far away. The Void Star swiftly teleported above him, constantly firing more and more Void Beams.

"Ugh! What is this thing?! A Voidling, here?!" Baldr muttered. "Voidling or not, you're no match against me!"

TRUM!

And that wasn't all, as Baldr attempted to stand up and fight back, the Void Star then activated [Void Pressure] on him, pushing him down once more, this powerful ability dealt direct Soul Damage that ignores 50% of his defenses.

The damned god of sunlight was bound to feel slightly overwhelmed, as the beams never ceased. The Void Star draw Mana from our connection, but I had plenty of that, near endless amounts as I can drain it from the environment too, so it was easily blasting away at the God.

"RAAAAH!"

Baldr roared, unleashing more of his power, beams of light clashed and then overwhelmed the Void Beams, swiftly, he rushed towards the Void Star, his powerful axe slicing through its Void Essence rapidly. The Void Star quickly conjured its defensive abilities. [Void Barriers] were conjured, which easily negated 80% of the damage he took, but even then, Baldr's blows were so intense they shattered the barriers themselves after a few hits.

However, the Void Star didn't stop there, quickly conjuring something else. The moment Baldr shattered through its barriers, it distorted space itself the moment his axe pierced its void existence, and then, the attack he unleashed was sent back towards him.

"Wha...?!"

BOOOM!

Baldr was blown away again, his eyes full of disbelief as he glared at the Void Star hatefully! His axe suddenly glowed, dividing into two. His helmet slowly started falling into pieces. Amazing, the Void Star, an extension of my own soul and powers, born from my Soul Scape, ended being much more capable than I ever imagined. If only it wasn't as lazy...

Meanwhile, my actual body was underground, hiding beneath the pyramids. Those that couldn't fight were already hiding in the shadows above, so I didn't have to worry too much about them. I spread several identical clones so the Divine Spirits and Baldr would attack them instead.

The moment my Evolution started; my body began to undergo many changes. My entire soul started to melt away into a miasmic liquid, and then reform back, over and over again, repeating this process as if it was taking away any impurities within my already impure existence.

At the same time, my consciousness faded away and then came back, my senses were being distorted, my phantasmal body was mixing with my soul, and I felt all the materials quickly activate at the same time, coming together and fully fusing with me.

Finally, my body continued expanding, as I felt myself lost within an endless sea of Void and Stars. This evolution process was nothing like before. I just had to choose a name and be done with it before, but this was much more different. It was a special evolution, one tailor made for me.

Last time, Ymir granted me a fragment of his soul to become Selene, the Titaness of Moonlight. But now, it was different, I had to gather the materials myself, and transform myself into something higher. It was slightly similar to Cultivation to an extent.

"How long will this last?" I asked the void.

Although I imagined there would be no response, there was one. I was really desperate to get this done as soon as possible, and well, I did get an answer, something within the void. Something that appeared as the void and chaos swirled together.

An endless being that encompassed nothingness itself. It slightly reminded me of the Void Star itself! It stared for what felt like eons. But then it produced something, a noise that resembled a voice, but not quite a voice. Yet I could understand it.

"You are destined to become like us."

"What?"

"Your process of transformation has finally begun. Tear apart the world's laws, and destroy the Tower, free the worlds."

"You're...?"

"I am Ginnungagap, the Void, the Observer, the Silent Chaos."

As it spoke, tentacles made of chaos and void reached the depths of my soul.

"Accept the Chaos and Void inside of your Origin. Shatter it, and then meld it within your very existence."

"Shatter my origin...?!"

A glowing sphere appeared in front of me, of black color. It was my Origin. I extended my hands towards it.

So this is necessary to evolve.

Crack... crack...!

To shatter the very foundations of my existence.

CRASH!

So be it!

Chapter 1013 Baldr's Overwhelming Power

The Divine Holy Light Spirits relentlessly continued fighting. Only one had died in this whole time. And more kept attacking Maria's Phantom Clones. Her [Eternal Moon Mirror] and [Mystical Moon Phase Circle] Skills constantly activated, as she was firing back their Divine Spirit beams at them just like she did against the Divine Spirit Avatar of Thor! Although these Divine Spirits weren't Avatars of Gods, they were much stronger than the Divine Spirit Avatar of Thor.

BOOM!

BOOM!

BOOM!

Countless explosions of corrupted light from the mirrors made of moonlight essence were fired. Maria's Divinity and Skills doing their best to defend everyone. However, the Divine Holy Light Spirits were specifically made by Odin to be able to easily resist her Moonlight Divinity. They were capable of tanking the hits, even when fired back at them with ease. It took many countered beams to even hurt one properly.

Lucifer, Partner, and Jonathan were in the frontlines, constantly unleashing attacks and pushing the monstrous Divine Soldiers back, their faceless faces and emotionless voices only making the scene more desperate and creepier. They were relentless machines made out of divine power. However, they weren't alone. Nyx and her "adoptive sister" Arachne joined the fray.

After having awakened her Divine Concept, Nyx had become awfully strong, and now that she was trying to fulfill her evolution conditions, she was constantly fighting the Divine Spirits, aiming to eat one for her requirements! Meanwhile, Arachne had just woken up, quickly joining the battle to protect everyone.

The two girls danced in the battlefield, crushing and pushing the Divine Holy Spirits back constantly. With the adults helping them tank the hits, they were slowly beginning to turn the tables to their favor. Arachne's overwhelmingly high stats and powerful skills also helped. Her hits leaving huge holes in the spirits that took a while to regenerate.

"This one's about to die! Now!"

Lucifer commanded everyone, as they ganged on the weakened Divine Holy Spirit. Their attacks piercing its body as its barriers shattered. Nyx opened her jaws and devoured it once it died, absorbing it. Her powers slowly beginning to rise.

"I-I think I can evolve now, but it is too dangerous for that though!" Nyx cried, as she quickly evaded an incoming beam of divine sunlight coming from a group of spirits above the skies.

"Save that for later, Nyx!" Lucifer said. "Stay by papa's side, I will protect you with my large body. Keep commanding your summons, use your Divine Concept with your long-ranged magic! Don't risk lethal hits."

"O-Okay!" Nyx nodded; she had gotten a lot of experience from experiencing many life-or-death situations. And she learned that obeying her father and mother in such battles was essential for her survival.

"You're not getting away!"

Meanwhile, Arachne conjured her Divine Spider Webs, trapping two more Divine Holy Spirits, who attempted to break through using weapons made of holy light. Her entire body underwent a transformation, as she finally unleashed her true form, a gigantic, monstrous spider with the upper half of a woman covered on black exoskeleton and with many crimson eyes over her body.

"SHYAAARRR!"

Her stomach opened, revealing a second gigantic jaw that extended all the way down her spider abdomen, sharp fangs piercing the Divine Holy Light Spirits, injecting them with Primordial Venom, slowly melting their insides.

The two Divine Holy Light Spirits struggled in agony, firing beams of light against her which were easily reflected by her hard exoskeleton. Arachne was constantly growing stronger the more she slept due to her Primordial Sin, meaning that every time she woke up, her power and stats were even higher.

Although she knew she could fall asleep easily any time, so that's why she was being so aggressive! She didn't want to be useless, so she tried attacking as much as possible before the drowsiness came back, and it was already coming back, unfortunately.

"Ugghh... N-No, I don't want to sleep... yet! It hasn't even been ten minutes!" She kept fighting, pummeling the spirits one after another and helping everyone survive and kill them. "Ugh..."

Half of the Divine Holy Light Spirits were slain before her entire body regressed to her small girl form, and then quickly fell asleep. She was caught by Maria's Phantom Clones, dragged back into the Shadow Realm to rest.

"She fell asleep so quickly, poor Arachne..." Nyx sighed.

"Dammit!" Lucifer roared. "Well, we still managed to kill half of them! We have to somehow survive this before- Ah!"

However, everyone panicked once they noticed the bastard behind everything arrived. The entire body of the Void Star was slowly melting into the desert, dissipating into particles of void, and Baldr, covered with a few wounds and a broken golden armor, rushed to slay them.

"I've had enough of you! I'll kill you all!"

His gigantic golden axe descended towards everyone, growing up to a hundred meters of height. Lucifer, Partner, and Jonathan rushed to greet him with their Auras. But Baldr, as a god, unleashed his powerful Divine Domain. Their entire bodies engulfed in an endlessly burning world of blinding sunlight.

"Uugggh! AARRGH!" Partner was the one most affected, her body beginning to burn to a crisp!

"PARTNER!" Lucifer, as he was set ablaze by being inside such a deadly Domain, flew to rescue Partner, grabbing her with his claws to protect her from the sunlight. "BASTARD!"

"You will all perish painfully. You damned undead. I will burn you to ashes!" Baldr couldn't stop his laughter. "I wonder what face your ghost woman will make once she learns all her beloved family was brutally murdered? Hm? Just like before? Just like when she was alive and had all her family killed! And her mother raped! And her father tortured! HAHAAAAHA! Pathetic mortals, you're nothing but playthings to us gods! Learn your place, TRASH!"

Baldr attacked Lucifer, slicing his wings and then firing countless beams of light, leaving him covered with holes. Lucifer vomited blood, his eyes opening wide as the axe was about to finish him. He tried to fight back, a breath attack greeted Baldr, only to be sliced by his axe.

"PATHETIC! And you call yourself a Divine Dragon? You cannot even compare to them! And my father slayed most of them, HAHAAAA!"

"BALDR!"

Jonathan clashed against him in the last minute, the Hero of Sunlight against the God of Sunlight!

CLAAASH!

Chapter 1014 The Hero Of Sunlight Versus The God Of Sunlight

My Origin Core shattered, it hurt, like nothing I've ever felt before. It felt like my very being was being deleted out of existence, everything about me was ending and disappearing. But I knew it wasn't going to kill me. I didn't foolishly follow the voice of a strange being that spoke to me without knowing it would work. After all, my Origin Core was already weird and strange, having melted and fused with the Fragments of the Evil God and more, it became something sinister and shapeless, not the beautiful white orb that it usually was for everyone.

And once it fully shattered, its fragments merged with all the materials I accumulated, and then everything melded together back to my Soul, my body. I had no flesh, no internal organs, I was nothing but a single soul, and to evolve, my soul itself was the one that needed to evolve and become larger and more powerful. Therefore, unlike the evolutions of other beings, every time I evolved, my soul would evolve too, reaching higher heights that nobody else could at the same stage.

And to further evolve I had to shatter the foundations and the core of my existence and reshape it. Transform it, remake it from the ground up, with everything I've collected. The Darkness, the Void, Death, Phantoms, Poison, Swarms, Lightning, Moonlight, Chaos. All these elements swirled and blossomed endlessly within me, like the beating of a heart. My entire soul gained a new shape.

And my Divine Ember, which died off, was rekindled, larger, more powerful, blazing with divinity. All the divinity I had, and the one I had eaten from my foes. Everything fused together, it felt like the birth of a new universe within my very soul, the immense, incomprehensibly large soul I now possessed, compacted itself more and more.

Until my new form, baptized by the Cosmos and the Void, was born.

My eyes opened, and I could now see everything.

CLASH!

Jonathan's Divine Sword clashed against Baldr's overwhelmingly powerful Divine Golden Axe. The God's endless aura of divinity kept burning through the hero, his entire body beginning to burn despite his high resistance to light and his immunity to heat. It was a heat so powerful it ignored immunities and resistances; this was the true power of a Divinity forged within a fully created Divine Ember- no, a Divine Flame!

"Baldr, is there really no other way?! Why are you like this? Why are you all gods such heartless monsters?!" Jonathan cried. "I prayed to you for years, I was raised to see you and your family as our guardians and protectors...! Yet when I finally meet the God I respected so much, I only learn he's a psychotic?!"

"Bold words for someone that is slowly being cooked alive." Laughed Baldr. "We Gods have no qualms in showing what we are and what we want. You mortals should simply stand down and kneel. You're nothing, absolutely NOTHING!"

"You are not even a God either!" Jonathan roared, all his power erupted from his soul at the same time, his slashing attacks resembled an explosion of miniature stars. "I learned that you, your father, all the Aesir, you're fake! You're people from other worlds, Rankers that arrived in Yggdrasil through the Tower...! Ugh...! You're only pretending to be Gods, the only true Gods were the ones that existed in this world before, the ones you monster mercilessly killed!"

SLAAASH!

As Jonathan roared and spoke his heart out, he swung his sword again, Baldr attempted to block the attack easily with his Golden Axe, but was suddenly pushed back several meters, his Domain slightly trembling. Jonathan was using his same power against him after all.

"Tch, fucking kid. If they could bleed and die, then they weren't deserving of being Gods!" Baldr roared, rushing towards Jonathan. His axe hacked through the air, clashing against Jonathan's Divine Sword. Cracks spread through the hero's weapon, something he never thought possible as his Sword was made of Orichalcum and Mithril! His armor was already in tatters. "Don't you get it? As long as we say we are the Gods, then we ARE the Gods! We make the Rules, we govern here. In the worlds of the Tower, and even beyond, there's only one rule. Might makes right!"

Baldr kicked Jonathan in the stomach, making the young hero vomit a mouthful of blood and feel all his internal organs twist and burst. He was thrown away into the walls of the domain, feeling his spine almost snap.

CRASH!

The God of Sunlight and Radiance appeared in front of Jonathan, his hands stretching into the hero's neck and beginning to tightly press them. He was going to give him a humiliating death by asphyxiating him.

"You deserve no mercy, traitor. I will give you a painful and humiliating death." The God smiled. "Repent as you slowly lose your breath!"

"Uuugggh...! Aarrggh...! Baldr...! You! Baldr!" Jonathan kept repeating his name, as if calling him even as he was being asphyxiated and burned by Baldr's incandescent hands made of burning sunlight.

"What?! Any last words as you die?!" Laughed the God of Sunlight and Radiance. "I am all ears, fool."

"Heh... Hahah..." However, Jonathan laughed as he kept coughing blood. "You lose..."

"What?"

Crack, crack...!

CRASH!

Before Baldr could even understand what Jonathan meant, his Domain gained countless cracks and shattered. The flames were suddenly sucked as a gigantic black hole absorbed it all. The God watched in awe as a monstrosity beyond his wildest dreams infiltrated his Divine Domain and completely devoured it. His eyes widened as he realized... that monstrosity was nobody else than Maria!

"BALDR!" With a monstrous roar, Maria's amorphous new evolution roared, her gigantic and long arms broke through the entire domain, her sharp claws tearing it all, as a gigantic black hole absorbed everything within her chest. "I'm here! Didn't you want to kill me so badly?! COME!"

"T-That's her?!" Baldr panicked, letting go of Johathan almost by reflex as Maria's tentacle-tail surged from her amorphous body, resembling a mass of materialized Void and Darkness, piercing Baldr's chest and dragging him towards her endlessly spiraling maws.

"AAAGGGHHH!"

Chapter 1015 Maria's New Evolution! Overwhelming Baldr!

Maria's body completely changed. All her Body Skills came together at once, and her new true form was born. A tall, lanky appearance, as tall as the titans, but with an intimidating monstrous appearance. Long legs and arms, with sharp spikes growing out of them. Incredibly long fingers with sharp, venomous claws. Six of such arms, three long, tentacle-like tails, each one ending in a sharp insectoid stinger.

Her face had no facial expressions, mouth, or nose, but a single, huge crimson eye in the middle of it. Her chest had an endlessly spiraling black void, and above her shoulders, there was a pair of enormous, bat-like wings, while her hair transformed into hundreds of long, stretchable and incredibly durable black tentacles.

The moment she evolved, she ignored every system notification she got, using her new form and powers almost naturally and instinctively, she slashed apart all the surviving Divine Holy Light Spirits killed them on the spot, before eating half of them and leaving the rest for her family.

The second after that, she appeared inside of Baldr's Domain and easily broke through it, trespassing a spatial domain as if she was built for that. Her very existence had now become an entity of the Void, capable of defying spatial boundaries.

Her sharp, indestructible claws tore through everything, devouring and destroying Baldr's Divine Realm in a split second, before her tentacles were to pierce his chest and drag it out of his pathetic excuse of a Divine Domain.

As Baldr screamed out of horror and agony as his chest and heart were pierced, and even his soul was being eaten at the same time, Emeraldine and everyone else leaped forwards, rescuing the still alive Lucifer, Partner, and Jonathan and quickly healing them.

"You'll be fine now, don't worry." Emeraldine's healing divine spiritual light encompassed their burnt bodies, quickly healing them rapidly.

"Maria..." Jonathan looked in the distance, the monstrous eldritch goddess that had awakened was his beloved. Although he admired her strength and loved her, he couldn't help but slightly feel sad. "Look how the world has shaped you... My dear Maria..."

"What the fuck are you?! GET AWAY FROM ME!"

CRASH!

However, the moment he tried to hack through her "flesh", the axe gained countless cracks and shattered into pieces.

"W-Wha...?!"

His eyes were even more filled in disbelief when he realized that no matter what he tried, he was completely trapped within Maria's grasp. Her long fingers quickly grasping him, tearing his arms apart and then his legs.

"GYAAAGGGH! STOP! STOOOP!"

As Baldr agonized, Maria only laughed. Her jaws, which were actually in her chest, opened up as they started syphoning away all of his Divinity, making her become stronger. Baldr desperately tried to summon the Domain again and trap Maria within a Domain of pure flames and sunlight, and he succeed, partially.

FLASH!

However, Maria felt no struggle. Her dark body was unaffected. It seemed as if flames couldn't even burn her anymore. And she was so deep black that the light wasn't reflected, it was somehow absorbed by her dark body, nullifying it even as it carried divinity.

"W-What have you become? Are you truly her?! ARE YOU TRULY HER AND NOT SOMETHING ELSE?!"

Baldr started going insane, beams after beams of sunlight were fired against Maria. But her charcoal black skin reflected all the light back to him, as beams of all-consuming miasmic chaotic void, which started melting Baldr's entire body.

"Do you realize how fucked you are?" Maria asked to his mind.

"N-Nooooo! NOOO!" Baldr kept screaming, in disbelief. "I wasn't supposed to- URGH...! I was supposed to win! You're weak to light! You are an Undead, you're supposed to-"

"I am no longer an Undead." Maria's monstrous voice made Baldr's very existence shake.

"What?!" Baldr muttered, vomiting blood as his very existence was being devoured by the void.

"I have become the Void." Maria answered. "Chaos, Death, and Darkness."

"T-That's..." Baldr muttered. "No, that's impossible, you can't simply...!"

"I was born to set things right." Maria continued speaking, ignoring him. "I was born to make you realize the wrongs of your actions. You and every Aesir that is in fault of these things. You're all going to die painfully. Your days at the pinnacle will end, soon."

"N-No, you're lying... You simply can't... We are the glorious Aesir- I...!"

CRUNCH!

Baldr realized he couldn't speak anymore, as Maria's enormous maws devoured his head, and then the rest of his body was triturated and swallowed, completely assimilated. Maria's hands opened, bright golden light and sunlight surging from them, which then slowly turned black and gray in color.

"Baldr, your power is mine now." Maria spoke with an almost emotionless and all-powerful authority, she looked into the skies as the Domain slowly dissipated, the peace was finally back. Yet Maria... felt too different now. "Odin, I'm going to kill you very soon, please, sit down and relax until then."

The Heavens trembled. Odin and the other Aesir Gods felt the same dread that Baldr felt when he died. Maria not only did eat him, but she also tapped into the connection he possessed with the other gods through their Divine Souls. Using that, she transferred the same agony and pain Baldr felt when he died to all of them, even Odin was unable to completely negate that strange effect.

Some of the weaker and younger Gods started vomiting right there, feeling nausea after experiencing Baldr's agonizing death. Odin's face, however, grew paler. His rage was still there, boiling inside. But he had grown paler. There was a strong hint of tremendous fear within him, which although he didn't want to accept, was lingering within him.

"What have we created?" He muttered to himself. "This is... We made this happen, this is..."

Was he showing regret? Or perhaps, was this thought simply fueled by his own mistakes? Odin couldn't help but think of many things as he finally realized he fucked up.

Oceania and Baldr were dead.

Chapter 1016 The Mad God King's Frustration

Even the King of Gods and the mighty Odin, a monstrous warlord that had taken down millions of lives to achieve the position he reached now, felt an utter feeling of disappointment and regret, not because of his children's deaths, but on himself and his own failures.

"What have we created?" He muttered to himself. "This is... We made this happen, this is..."

Was he showing regret? Or perhaps, was this thought simply fueled by his own mistakes? Odin couldn't help but think of many things as he finally realized he fucked up. Oceania and Baldr were dead.

If they had let Maria alone, if they hadn't plotted to kill her and take the Evil God Fragment her family was protecting. If the ones working for the Church hadn't done all of the things he ordered them to do.

Would things have been different? Now, because of such events, a monster like nothing else was born inside of Yggdrasil, a monster full of the intent of avenging her family and ending the governance of the Aesir Gods, once and for all.

"Odin! Not only did you let my Oceania die, but you even sacrificed our Baldr to that monster!" Frigg, the Goddess of Motherhood and Protection cried tears of sorrow for her children. "You fucking monster! Why did you let this happen?! Why did you send them to their deaths?!"

"SHUT UP, WOMAN!" Odin roared, slapping his wife's face. The beautiful brown-haired goddess fell to the floor, crying over her children's deaths. Although Odin felt nothing, their mother did.

"You only bring me failures; you only bring me death! You and your obsession with conquest, with wars, with bloodshed, with controlling everything!" Frigga cried. "We acquired a world, we govern as gods, yet you always kept wanting more and more! What else could you have ever wanted?! Your greed! It is your greed what brought their deaths! Not only you cut down Tyr to pieces because he thought differently than you, turning him into that monster... But you even killed your two other children just because you wanted to take down that irregular, which ended turning into a big FUCKING problem now!"

Frigga stood up, her Aura of Protection encompassing her entire body, Odin could no longer hurt her like he did. Her tears continued to fall as she glared him with utter hate... She didn't even blame Maria for this, it was all Odin's fault.

"Listen to me! You dare talk back to me like this, Frigga?!" Odin roared. "You're my wife, you do what I say, and you should NEVER dare talk back to me like that! Open your protection, Frigga! I'm going to beat the shit out of you, you damn slut!" Odin was trying to channel all his rage into the only woman that ever loved him.

"You have really changed..." Frigga muttered. "You're not the man I once loved anymore. You're just a husk, a monster that uses his appearance... Goodbye, Odin." Frigga flew into the skies, as Odin roared, ordering her to come back, yet she never did.

"FRIGGA! COME BACK THIS INSTANT! FRIGGAAAAAA!"

(Maria's POV)

The battle was finally, finally over. I didn't detect any more reinforcements coming, and I kept watch for over an hour. It looks like the Gods finally gave up for now. I sighed in relief, slowly turning back to my humanoid ghost lady form. My evolution brought me more changes than I ever thought, one of them is that I was no longer... an Undead? I was something else.

However, I had little time to check that now. I prioritized the safety of my family and friends. I flew down, checking on everyone. Emeraldine healed them really well. I felt so relieved. I took too long evolving, and that damned Baldr trapped them inside a Domain. I can't believe how monstrously strong he was compared to Oceania.

Everyone almost died... And I believe it was because of my fault. I told them to hold on instead of trying to fight at their side. Instead of trying to find another solution together, I told them to just wait for me to solve everything. I did solve everything at the end but... It feels slightly bad, and I really wanted to apologize to them.

"I'm so sorry, I'm really sorry..." I hugged Lucifer, Partner, Jonathan, Emeraldine, and Nyx one after another. "I shouldn't have decided to just evolve... and let you all protect me and stuff, it was very selfish and-"

"What are you talking about?" Partner asked. "At the end you did it, master! Don't worry too much about it."

"I felt glad you trusted us to such an extent..." Lucifer smiled, he looked really exhausted. "We were able to buy you time, and that's what matters."

"Maria, I'm the one that should apologize." Jonathan sighed, patting my shoulders. "I'm sorry... I should have stopped Baldr somehow, I shouldn't have let him drag things out so much."

"I-It's fine, I... Well, I still feel bad. I won't do this kind of thing ever again though, I promise. We should have actually run away, I got too cocky maybe." I sighed. "There's a lot to think, I guess."

"There, there." Emeraldine patted my head, giving me a kiss in my lips. "Let's first free the people from your shadow realm, then let's tell them what happened. I think there's someone that Emilia was taking prisoner who used to be the former, benevolent ruler of this place, so let's go talk with him first too. After everything is done, we'll have a big feast, eat lots, and then sleep lots. And all those worries will slowly fade away. You're just too tired and stressed."

"Ugh, fine..." I nodded, Emeraldine was too good at convincing. "Nyx, are you alright baby?"

"I'm fine mama, don't worry!" Nyx said. "I'm ready to evolve too! And max level! But what Rank did you get after evolving?"

"Yeah, to overwhelm Baldr so easily..." Lucifer said. "Are you SS+ Rank?"

"No..." I said, feeling slightly afraid of confessing it. "I... Well, I became L Rank."

"L? What Rank is that?" Partner wondered.

"...Above SS and SSS Ranks." I sighed. "That evolution helped me skip two whole Ranks."

"WHAT?!"

Chapter 1017 Immense Growth!

Once the battles finally ended and peace returned to Sapphire Temple, the people were returned to their homes after we repaired them. It was easy to repair houses and such by imbuing the materials with souls and then shaping the materials as if they were golems. Like that not only all the houses became mighty golems that'll protect the city and regenerate if damaged, but the city was reformed and remade anew.

There were no Paladins left alive, and the church of water was completely destroyed, the building was made into smithereens and then I replaced the area with an open field where people can go to freely collect water from the Oasis anytime. Naturally, we also demolished the walls surrounding the Oasis.

The people were not afraid of us at all, in fact, they treated us as heroes and saviors, praising us and greeting us wherever we went to. We also freed the family of nobles of this city, who were all jailed by Emilia, alongside their former governor, a shy yet good natured man named Charles.

"Thank you so much for saving us, you don't know how big of a debt we owe you!" He started crying while hugging his family, who had been held hostage by the church for a while. "Thank you, thank you, thank you so much..."

"I-It's fine, no need to cry so much." I sighed, helping him stand back up. "I hope this city can receive a proper treatment from now on. I will leave behind some Undead and Phantasmal Clones even as we leave, so this can be protected. This city and the previous one all belong below my protection. I will instantly teleport here if anybody dares to attack it."

"I-Is that so?" Wondered Charles. "T-Then by all means, Lady Maria, please take this city as your territory, we can give you an honorable nobility title and-"

"No need, I said I was going to protect it, it's all up to you how you handle and help the people recover from the years that Emilia's tyranny weighed down on the people's hearts." I explained. "Many innocent and hardworking people died because of her and the pricing the water was given, it is your job to get everything back together now, Charles."

"Y-Yes, I will do my best." He nodded. "But for now, shall we celebrate? Too many good things have happened one after another! We must make a small feast, at least! Naturally, you and your people are all invited, Lady Maria!"

"A feast?!" Nyx wagged her tail interested. "I'm hungry mama, let's accept the feast!"

"Okay, fine." I giggled, giving my daughter a head pat. "Very well, Charles. Let's eat something together then."

Celebrations quickly started, happy Arabic music created a rather relaxed atmosphere around the entire castle, as servants brought all kinds of dishes endemic of this place. People of the desert ate what was in here, and most of the food was also composed of giant insect monsters that roamed everywhere. There was also red meat and some bird meat, but it was much rarer.

As everyone was able to catch a break, celebrate, and eat, I also did so, checking the myriad of System Window messages I've been purposely avoiding because they were simply way too many... But oh boy, here we go, let's do this.

Ding!

[You have slain a large quantity of foes! You have earned a tremendous quantity of EXP.]

[Level Up!]

[Level Up!]

[Level Up!]

[Level Up!]

[Level Up!]

[Level Up!]

[Level Up!]

[Your Level has increased from Level 0 to Level 106/300!]

[All your Stats have increased! You gained a large quantity of System Points.]

[Your Divine Flame and your Physique overflow with the surplus amount of Mana and Divine Power!]

[Your [Divinity]: [Divine Flame: Void & Death (Tier 1: Rank 5)] has Ranked Up to Tier 1: Rank 7!]

[Your [Physique]: [Void-Forged Mistress Of Death Physique (Tier 1: Rank 5)] has Ranked Up to Tier 1: Rank 7!]

[All your Stats have increased even more.]

[You have devoured the Souls and Power of two Powerful Gods: [Goddess Of Oceans and Water: Oceania (L Rank)] and [God of Sunlight and Radiance: Baldr (L+ Rank)]!]

[You acquired the Title Skill: [Devourer Of Gods: Lv1]!]

[You acquired the Divine Skill: [Divine Ocean Goddess Body: Lv1]!]

[You acquired the Divine Magic Skill: [Chaotic Void Ocean Waves: Lv1]!]

[You acquired the Divine Skill: [Divine Sunlight God Body: Lv1]!]

[You acquired the Divine Magic Skill: [Umbral Death Blight: Lv1]!]

[Your Divine Power has increased by an additional +200.000]

[Your Aether has increased by an additional +20.000]

It was way too much power, I could barely hold it all within me. So many new Skills, so many new Treasures, my Soul Scape had become a Divine Realm, I got a Physique too, and that Void God thing even gave me a Divine Protection from all things!

What in the world had just happened to me?! I knew I was going to become strong, but never imagined I would jump two whole Ranks and become L Rank too! And Oceania was L Rank too somehow? And we still beat her before I even evolved. I guess that shows how terrible she was at fighting.

Baldr was much more experienced in battles and war though, because he was an older sibling. I can tell from all his memories I got after I ate him. Their power won't be wasted, that's for sure.

Ding!

[An incredible feat! You've dethroned two Players that have taken the [Divine Thrones] of the [World of Yggdrasil]!]

[The [Divine Throne of Seas] and the [Divine Throne of Sunlight] have become yours. You may choose to reject the Thrones and give them to somebody else qualified for them or keep them and become the Goddess of both Divine Thrones.]

[Divine Thrones are special positions within the Worlds of the Tower, who represent the original gods that once inhabited it! You will gain their former authorities and immense divine power to manipulate and control the landscape, the heavens, and the mortals.]

[However, once you take a throne, you will also receive penalties if you dare descend with your Divine Powers as a Divine Throne into the Mortal World below, be careful.]

So this is what Odin did to become a God of this world, despite being just a Player. He slayed the original Gods and then stole their Thrones, giving them to his children. What a bastard.

I don't really want them anyways, they seem too restrictive, although the effects could be good in theory, I-

[The Effects of the [Ginnungagap Divine Protection] has been activated!]

[The Power of [Boundless] is in effect. You are unaffected by any restraint or penalty in the tower or any world within it.]

[You can now take the [Divine Throne of Seas] and the [Divine Throne of Sunlight] without receiving penalties or restrictions.]

Wait, what?! Is this what it meant by becoming Boundless? Incredible. This is something not even Hel can give to me, nor even Ymir!

Then if there's no penalty, if I could control the Seas and the Sun, wouldn't that make me an actual threat to Odin, even more than before?

Hmm, still, I need to think about it. I'll leave it hanging for now.

[You have decided to wait before taking or rejecting the [Divine Throne of Seas] and the [Divine Throne of Sunlight]]

[There is a period of time of 30 Days for you to decide if you either want to take them or reject them.]

[After the 30 Days passes, both Thrones will automatically be rejected and be assimilated by the World they originated from.]

Gotcha, I guess I'll have plenty of time to think about it. Though, without penalties, there's little to think about it. Either way, I want to relax before doing it anyways.

Why? I am already guessing I'm going to get another flood of system notifications, and I am way too tired of them for the moment.

"Mama, eat this! It's really good! It's like a fat shrimp thing!" Nyx offered me a huge one-meter-sized antlion, who has been roasted and then opened, revealing tender white meat inside, which was seasoned with butter and other colorful seasonings.

"Ooh, alright, let me try." I laughed. "Hm?! It's like crab! So yummy."

A lot of things have happened but for now, I just want to take a small break and enjoy the time with my daughter.

Chapter 1019 The Aftermath

I spent last night eating and drinking a lot of alcohol. I could easily just resist alcohol without problems, and it never really affected me, but with this new body, it seemed possibly to purposely turn off my resistances. Meaning I got really drunk! And it felt really nice to be able to finally get drunk for once.

I got a little too excited last night though, after that huge feast I carried my cute husbands and wives to my room, and we had a lot of sex. I remember most of quite clearly. I don't think I've ever been as assertive as last night. It was as if something possessed me, perhaps the demon of alcohol or something!

Maybe evolving and giving me a newer, more lively body gave me a stronger sexual desire, perhaps. But I do remember giving all four of them a really good time. I especially remember sucking my Lucifer and Jonathan's cocks one after another, with my very long tongue. Having both of my men moaning side by side was really cute.

And then eating Emeraldine and Partner's pussies one after another was also nice. And then we got into more active action and- Ahem!

I guess I shouldn't be thinking about this just in the morning. The sunlight was nice, and there was a calm breeze. Although I wanted to relax, I hadn't yet completed the very reason I came to the desert.

Looking for my little brother and my aunt! We've searched through both of these cities and nothing. Now we'll be forced to go to the third and last city of the desert, the one near the sea, and the largest of the three.

At this point, so many things have happened that I just hope to find a resolution. I am constantly hoping and praying to the void or something for my little brother to be alright.

But seeing how fucked up this world is, the hopes I have for such a thing feel... Well, hopeless.

It seems everyone's asleep though. Celes and his mother, alongside Eustace were not here anymore. They moved to the city's palace; Charles invited them to live there last night.

Both Nia and Celes were given honorary noble titles, and Charles promised me Celes would be raised well and taught all about magic to become even stronger. The boy and his mother didn't want to come with us from the beginning, desiring to stay in their hometown and protect it.

I knew about that, so it wasn't surprising for me, though everyone else got slightly sad. Especially my daughter, she really got along with Celes, and wanted him to come with her to her adventures. I suppose we can visit here whenever we can though, that shouldn't be too hard.

And it's not like we've left yet, we'll stay another day today and then depart tomorrow morning. It is today where we'll say our goodbyes for real and assemble everything so this town can be left well.

But for now, I should probably Rank Up my Class and Subclass! I haven't done that yet.

I closed my eyes and cuddled back in the bed, as I imbued my mind and energies inside of my own Soul, where I saw my Divine Realm expanding rapidly, constantly overflowing with many energies.

A gigantic black and gray sea encompassed the land, surrounding it and raging rapidly. Monstrous creatures were roaming within the seas and the land now. There was a lot of life here now, more than I imagined.

"You're here." Michael greeted me, looking much healthier. He looked rather gorgeous to be honest, a tall, slightly muscular yet lean angel. With long white hair and sharp silver eyes, and four feathered wings, wearing white robes wrapped around his body. "I've been roaming here for a while, quite a picturesque place."

"You're very talkative now! I like that." I giggled. "Alright Michael, you know why I came here."

"Yes, Class Rank Up, isn't it? One of the few things that aren't done fully automatically. You've changed a lot yourself; you probably don't see yourself that different, isn't it?" He asked, turning into a flash of light and then appearing behind me. "Unbound by the Tower, what an amusing existence. Perhaps you might truly be able to reach the last Floor."

"I will." I said. "But that's for later though."

"I know, you want your little brother back. I am also praying for his wellbeing. Despite how you might think of me, I am actually quite a compassionate and merciful soul." He smiled, spreading his arms.

"After your evolution, the System, me, evolved as well. I've become a Divine System! Isn't it incredible? Also, you finally unsealed that old Goddess Skill!"

"Oh yeah..." I said, as I looked at the system windows showing my available Classes and Subclasses. Naturally all of them had System Point Costs. But I had a lot of those right now.

"Oh, these all sound crazy... Can't I do some cheat thing like combining them and stuff?" I asked Michael.

"No, you can't." He said. "Not for now I believe... I could probably meddle with it and make a function for combination? But it would be meaningless, you should simply pick the most expensive one, they're always the strongest."

"Wait, well, okay? Way to spoil it! I sometimes want to choose something else; you know?" I wondered. "I always thought the most expensive didn't mean the best... I guess I was wrong."

"You were definitely wrong, yes." He laughed out loud. He was much more energetic than ever before. "But well, the cheaper ones might carry unique abilities unique to them as well. It is all a gamble, choose and don't hesitate, Maria! You got a little brother to find, gods to kill, and a tower to climb."

"Alright~ Got it." I nodded. "I've already made my decision."

As I looked at the Classes and Subclasses, I tried to think what they could be about. Cosmic Void Titan seemed to be a further improvement on my Titan Classes. I assume more physical power above all things? And then God Eating Calamity, probably will help at eating and absorbing divinities.

Lastly, Immortal Void Venerable! What sort of title is that? It feels like something from a Martial Arts or Cultivation World. Is it because of my Martial Arts Abilities, and my Physique? Sounds honestly quite appealing. I should probably visit that Murim world one day.

As for Subclasses, Void-Sculpting Outer One could be an expansion of Shadow Sculptor, but with Void Essence this time? Could be really useful to further improve my equipment and make even stronger pieces too.

Then there's Death Void Star... Err, no idea what that does. And lastly, Cosmic Void Architect. Maybe the ability to shape void? Like the first one? No, it has to be something else too. Maybe space manipulation!

"I guess I've already made my decision..."

Ding!

[You exchanged 80.000.000 System Points.]

[Your Class has Ranked Up to [Immortal Void Venerable: ★★★★★ (Legendary Grade)]]!

[All requirements have been met; you have unlocked the [KI] Stat!]

[KI, HP, Attack, Defense, and Agility have increased by +1.000.000]

[All Physical and Body Skills have gained 2 Bonus Levels!]

[A large quantity of Void-Attribute Ki Essence is flowing through your Physique!]

[Your [Physique]: [Void-Forged Mistress Of Death Physique (Tier 1: Rank 7)] has Ranked Up to Tier 1: Rank 8!]

The moment I chose my new Class, I felt a near endless surge of new power coursing through my body. And that didn't just stop there, as I unlocked the precious Ki Stat! One stat I could never unlock as a damned Ghost, but now that I wasn't an Undead but an Outer Being, I was able to get it!

It was a golden and brown colored essence, that encompassed my body, reinforcing my muscles, bones, cartilage, everything. It made my body feel both bulkier, stronger, and heavier at the same time.

It was amazing, and I wasn't stopping there...

Ding!

[You exchanged 80.000.000 System Points.]

My Stats tripled compared to my S Ranked Status, the power of L+ Rank entities is in a completely different level. I can tell why the Gods could do as they pleased in this world, the stat differences between Ranks only become more ridiculous with each Rank Up. Yet, thanks to all my buffs, skills, titles, and equipment stats bonuses, I was able to beat an L Rank dumb goddess with my S Rank Status.

It is insane the more I think about how I beat her, but I guess it was also thanks to her being bound to Emilia, and also thanks to the penalties the world gave to a Divine Throne that tries to descend into the "Mortal Realm", something that, by the way, I am not even affected with.

My Ki Stat however is rather low compared to the rest, I had to start from zero with this one and just recently got bonuses to it through level ups. I'll have to "cultivate" this stat a bit more.
