

A Killer 28

Chapter 28: Book of Heaven

Kyoto City is located in the most prosperous commercial center where there is a high-end villa area.

The villa here is said to be able to reach five to sixty thousand square meters per square meter. What is the concept? Rich people!

A villa with a slightly Western architectural style but containing European-style architecture is vigorously there. The entire mansion is surrounded by a circle of iron fences. At the door, there are two security guards in suits and pens. They are strong and straight. Standing there.

Looking at the red Toto tiles imported from Europe, they are perfectly inlaid on the building that can be described as terrifying and hideous. Except for this, it is all transparent glass.

Two big lions squatted at the imposing door, glaring open. The whole door was made of Sophia SOGAL glass.

It is said that SOGAL glass is better than bulletproof glass? I just don't know if it is true or not. In short two words: luxury,

You can see the hall after passing the private garden inside the courtyard.

The huge crystal chandelier was hung in the center very imposingly. At this moment, two men in black suits were standing in the hall, their heads down, standing there like children who did something wrong.

Where is the man in front of them? Over 40 years old.

The face with Chinese characters, thick eyebrows, and dark and bright eyes give people a feeling of self-prestige, especially the fortitude and domineering that he carries, which may be felt by people who have worked hard in the market for many years.

Wearing a Yksuit brand-name suit, gray, and the tie inside is Byron Jinhui color, it looks beautiful and dazzling, sitting quietly behind him, standing behind a man with eyes, looking gentle, with A pair of pure hands and a pale face.

In the blink of an eye, people who didn't know thought he was a scholar, but who knew his true identity?

Below the thin eyebrows are a pair of cold eyes hidden under glass lenses, like a beast in the jungle, a wolf.

Immovable and invisible, if the wind is moving, maybe this is the person.

"You two idiots, can you lose the eldest lady and have the face to come back to see me?" The man in his 40s sitting in the middle suddenly jumped into a rage and said angrily.

The majesty revealed in the voice made the two men in suits with their heads bowed frightened from the bottom of their hearts.

"Mr. Tang... We, we know we were wrong, please give us another chance." Two men in suits whispered there.

Looking at them carefully, isn't it the two men in suits chasing Feifei and Shen Lang on the street?

Yes, it is these two men in suits.

One of the arms was still stretched with a white bandage, and he was fractured by the vigor of Li Tian's abdomen, with his head bowed there.

"The two big men can't catch that girl? What do you do for food?" The man called Mr. Tang cursed there.

Who is he? Could it be Tang Zheng, the chairman of the Tang company.

Could it be Tang Feifei's Laozi?

"Ms. Tang, it seems that they are not all to blame for this matter today." The man with glasses who had been standing quietly behind Tang Zheng said slowly.

The voice is a bit thin, like a woman's voice, but it is very nice.

Tang Zheng snorted: "Then who do you blame?"

The man with gold glasses standing behind Tang Zheng slightly held the gold glasses on his eye sockets with his hand, and said slowly: "I heard that they could have brought the eldest back today. It's a pity that I met a stranger during the pick up process."

"What stranger?" Tang Zheng asked.

The man with glasses turned his head and said to the two men who lowered their heads, "You two will tell you today."

"Yes."

Then the two men in suits with their heads down slowly said, "Mr. Tang, we could have picked up the eldest lady today, but when we were picking it up, suddenly an unknown guy popped out, and he was very powerful. ."

The guy with a broken arm whispered there.

"Yes, Mr. Tang, at the time the eldest lady said that the man was his bodyguard, and that whoever of us dared to let her go back, let her bodyguard kill us."

"So we moved our hands, but unfortunately, we didn't expect that the guy called the bodyguard by the eldest lady was very weird. I hit him with my fist and didn't know what was going on. An invisible strange force bounced off that person. When I came back, I broke my arm, so..."

Tang Zheng's face suddenly became extremely ugly when he heard the words of his subordinates.

"bodyguard?"

"This girl, hey." Tang Zheng sighed helplessly.

"Mr. Tang, we can see that the person is actually not Missy's bodyguard, but a complete stranger, and he should never know Missy." The subordinate said.

Tang Zheng was slightly taken aback.

"So, Feifei let a completely stranger beat the two of you, right?" Tang Zheng suddenly laughed.

The two men lowered their heads and nodded silently.

"It's really Tang Zheng's daughter."

"Hey, but you two are really stupid. Forget it, I don't blame you." Tang Zheng said with a smile.

"Thank you Mr. Tang." The two men in suits said there quickly.

Tang Zheng: "But where is this girl now? Hey, the female congress is not staying. It seems that this is not bad at all. This girl shouldn't suffer a loss outside." Tang Zheng said worriedly.

The man with glasses standing behind squinted his eyes and slowly said, "Mr. Tang, don't worry. Although the eldest lady sometimes likes to be petty, but with her wit, no one can live with her."

"That's right, if my Tang Zheng's daughter suffers a loss outside, would it be worth it?"

"However, Xiao Zhou, you should get Feifei back to me as soon as possible. Although this girl usually plays in front of me one day, I really want to not see her one day."

The man with glasses called Xiao Zhou smiled slightly: "President Tang, don't worry, I will arrange for someone to find the lady. Tomorrow, tomorrow I will bring the lady back."

His voice has an unquestionable power, as if what he said has never been unfulfilled.

Who is this guy with glasses?

If the city of Kyoto mentions Xiao Zhou, no one knows, but when it comes to the title of Desperate Saburo, few people don't know.

And the gentleman with glasses in front of him is the president of Tang's enterprise, the first fierce man next to Tang Zheng: Xiao Zhou.

Li Tian and Feifei are simply incompatible.

There is no way that one is a poor person who has no father and no mother since she was a child and has to plan for herself, while the other is a daughter who has been worrying about food and clothing since she was a child, and money is completely immune to her. These two people are here. It's weird if you don't fight under one roof.

Quarrels belong to quarrels, and you have to eat when you are hungry.

Originally, Feifei did not eat food from street stalls and small restaurants, but she was really hungry after drinking a bowl of bird's nest porridge this morning, and the most terrible thing was that Feifei had no "money".

She was dying now, and she had no choice but to follow someone to the small restaurant downstairs to eat a bowl of ramen.

Ramen for 5 yuan.

Feifei never thought that she would eat this kind of rice, but when she ate it, she knew that the 5 yuan noodles really tasted much better than lobster and abalone at this time.

The two ate two bowls in total and paid ten yuan to the owner of the restaurant.

Feifei was still a little hungry. After all, she hadn't eaten anything for a day. The small bowl was not enough to fill her stomach, and was rejected by a man.

Reason for refusal: Girl, your appetite is too big, right? Save it, brother ran out of money.

So a certain woman screwed Li Tian fiercely, and followed him upstairs reluctantly.

The night in Kyoto always comes very fast, so that after Feifei and Li Tian finished their meal, night came.

Feifei first got into the only small room and smiled: "This room belongs to me. You are not allowed to come in at night."

Li Tianbai glanced at the girl: "I am a serious person and have a wife."

"Bah... who knows."

Li Tian ignored her, and slowly cleaned up the sofa alone. After putting the two sofas together, he lay down alone. Where is Feifei? He was directly afraid that Li Tian was a pervert and slammed the door shut, and he locked it from the inside.

Li Tian didn't mind either, because he was really not in the mood to think about that girl, but lying on the sofa thinking about his things.

"What the * is going on today, that man's arm was really broken by his own shock?" Li Tian thought to himself.

"Is it really because I accidentally gave the effect of the energy gathered in the dantian?"

When he thought of this, he accumulated energy again, but suddenly he lost that energy in his abdomen, as if today's energy was released, it seemed to be gone, which made Li Tian depressed, could it be said, that energy? Jin only once? Could it be said that that energy only exists in oneself for a while?

He knew from his place that he had just watched The Book of Heaven, and the acupuncture points that the tadpoles hit on him were just a switch for him to open his body's potential, so he broke the opponent's arm, but That vigor, but because Li Tian didn't really understand the power of the "Book of Heavenly Book", he wouldn't use it yet.

At this moment, he quickly took out the "broken book" from his torn backpack again, opened it, and began to look at it carefully.