

A Killer 35

Chapter 35: Down Group

When Li Tian awoke from the chaos, strange things happened.

My chest was tingling when I lay down, but now it doesn't hurt at all. I quickly lifted my clothes to check the injury on my chest. There was swelling in my chest just now. Although it is still a little red and swollen, it is not at all when I feel it. It hurts.

Li Tian sat up from the sofa with a grunt and pressed his chest vigorously with his hands.

"Your mother, really good?" Li Tian was surprised and happy.

He didn't expect to be severely injured when he was killed. There was a knife-like pain in his chest, and he was all right after he slept. Good deed, is he recovering too quickly?

Feeling his injury, he really healed, don't mention how excited he is.

What is going on? Li Tian couldn't help thinking.

Suddenly, Li Tian quickly picked up the book (broken book) thrown in the corner of the sofa by himself.

"Is it all because of it?"

"Could it be that I really picked up a baby?" Li Tianqing couldn't help but said.

Li Tian felt puzzled when he touched the old book that looked like an antique, and there were some strange characters in it that Li Tian couldn't understand at all, but some strange tadpole-shaped things.

"No matter what, this broken book is more and more helpful to him." Li Tian thought in his heart and hurriedly stuffed this book into his bag.

A person took out a cigarette from his pocket, held it in his mouth and allowed it to smoke, and he felt much better.

Originally thinking that he was badly injured, after sleeping, he went downstairs to find a small pharmacy to buy some anti-inflammatory drugs to stop him, but he did not expect that the injury would suddenly heal.

Sitting there, his eyes inadvertently moved to the room where Feifei was still asleep last night, Li Tian's anger suddenly rose, and there was also a huge sense of loss.

"So they belonged to a group? So I was fooled like a clown... Damn it." Li Tian cursed.

"No wonder that dead girl keeps saying that she is rich, it seems that she is really rich, Miss? My daughter, but she is a pauper with nothing, how ridiculous..."

Li Tian, who banged on the table next to him, knocked the table over, and with a click, the table fell to the ground.

"Fuck you uncle, do you think I'm a bully!" Li Tian scolded angrily.

But after thinking about it, Li Tian didn't get angry with Feifei anymore. He said it was not worth it. Why should he be angry with others? They are Miss Qianjin, rich people, what about yourself? It's nothing at all, so why should I be angry with others?

Li Tian, who smiled bitterly, stopped thinking about the annoying things.

He walked into the bathroom and washed his face with clean water. He wanted to welcome a new life.

I came to this steel jungle city of Kyoto alone, and now I want to start a new day.

So after washing his face, he was ready to find a job.

No way, there is only 200-300 yuan left in Li Tiandou. If he doesn't look for a job, he will wait to starve to death.

After leaving the house, he bought a recruitment newspaper, and he began to look for jobs on the newspaper one by one using the public phone.

There are all kinds of job postings in the newspapers, including KTV waiters, 3,000 meals and housing for a month, porters, and security guards... It can be described as a mess.

Li Tian made a few calls, and the other party first asked him if he had any work experience. He lived in Liaocheng since he was a child. Apart from working in a restaurant, he did hard work. He had worked as a KTV waiter there, so the other party was euphemistic. 'S refused.

So in the end, Li Tian hoped to call a security recruitment place with food and accommodation.

The other party picked up the phone and asked about the situation casually, and told Li Tian that he would accept the application at the gate of the Tang company in the afternoon. If he was qualified, he would be able to go directly to the job, including food and housing for 1,800 yuan a month.

Not bad, Li Tian thinks.

So after writing down the address, Li Tian decided to apply for a small security guard.

The application time is more than 3 pm.

Li Tian ate a bowl of ramen for 5 yuan in a small restaurant downstairs, then returned to his residence and lay in the room.

The scent of Nafifi last night was still in the room.

Li Tian restrained himself from thinking about her, and then continued to pull out the "Book of Heavenly Pills" by himself and began to read it.

This time he read more carefully, reading chapter by chapter.

As he watched, he found that there was something else in his body that seemed to be swimming, and this time was different from last time. First, the veins of the head began to swim one by one, and then began to the chest and abdomen. Then extend to the limbs.

The whole body, even the feet, seemed to feel the rush of the airflow.

This made Li Tian happy, because as the little tadpoles swim in his body, he can feel his whole body full of power.

Before, Li Tian just flipped through the book casually, so he could only feel a breath of energy in his abdomen, but now? After he watched one by one, he could suddenly feel that his whole body had strength in an instant. Although the strength was very small, it was already an incredible thing for Li Tian.

Now Li Tian started to watch from the first picture attentively, and the more he looked at it, the more he became fascinated, and he completely entered the tadpole text.

Not knowing how long he watched it, Li Tian suddenly glanced at the old-fashioned clock hanging on the wall.

2:41.

A grunting Li Tian tumbling from the sofa suddenly became depressed: "Nima, shall I go for an interview at three o'clock? Can this catch up?"

He cleaned up casually, rushed out the door, and quickly went downstairs.

When he got downstairs, Li Tian casually stopped a taxi and got in. He didn't think it would be expensive to make a taxi.

After getting in the car, the driver asked, "Where are you going?"

"Go to the Tang Group." Li Tian still clearly remembered the address that the recruiting security guard gave him.

After the driver heard that he was going to the Tang Group, he started the car and drove towards the street with a grunt.

"Master, is it far to the Tang Group?" Li Tian couldn't help asking in the car.

After all, for the first interview, if you are really late, I'm afraid it will not be good.

The driver smiled and said: "It's not far, don't worry, it will only take ten minutes."

Hearing what the driver said, Li Tian finally felt relieved.