

A Killer 36

Chapter 36: Security life

The Tang Group, no one in Kyoto City may not know the Tang Group.

The Tang Group started as a real estate company. It has been listed on the Nasdaq in the United States. Now its subsidiaries focus on real estate and also serve in the catering industry. Two major hotel chains in Kyoto have shares in the Tang Group.

Of course, the boss behind the Tang Group is Tang Feifei's father.

That is, the girl Li Tian just met when he came to Kyoto City to "play" himself.

But Li Tian doesn't know all this yet. Now he is about to rush to the Tang Group for an interview to be a little security guard.

With a little excitement in mind, Li Tian sat in the car and looked at the busy traffic outside the car.

After the driver turned a corner, he arrived at the commercial center.

From a distance, I saw a huge building with dozens of floors standing upright there. The outside was all dazzling blue glass, and the entire floor was erected like a bullet.

In the front of the building, there are four big characters carved out of a dragon, flying and phoenix: Tang Group.

In front of the Tang Group Building is a huge circular square. There are also many employees of the Tang Group on the square. There is also a parking lot. There are rows of cars of different colors and different brands parked there.

On the periphery of the square is a security room, and there are two security guards standing there.

The car stopped slowly in the Tang Group.

"Here," the driver said.

After Li Tian handed the driver the money, he got out of the car, seeing the Tang Group in front of him with an indescribable nervousness.

After all, he was still under pressure when he first came to apply.

Looking at the towering building in front of him and the security guard at the entrance of the Tang Group, Li Tian let out a few breaths and walked towards the security guard in front.

"Hello, I want to ask, where do I apply for?" After Li Tian walked over, he smiled and asked the security guards who were tall and dressed in blue uniforms.

The security guard glanced at Li Tian: "Are you here to apply for the security guard?"

"Yeah." Li Tian said quickly.

"Oh, in the front place, our captain is there."

He said, pointing to a security room near the parking lot.

Li Tian thanked the security guard, and then ran to the parking lot over there quickly.

After reaching the door of the security room, Li Tian stretched out his hand and gently knocked on the closed door.

A middle-aged man's voice came from inside.

"Come in."

Li Tian pushed open the door, and then he saw a middle-aged man in his 40s, also wearing a sky blue suit, sitting on a small stool, smoking a cigarette and reading the newspaper there.

"You are..." the middle-aged man looked at Li Tian and asked.

Li Tian: "I'm here to apply for a security guard."

"Oh, it was you." The man in his 40s suddenly understood.

Li Tian said embarrassedly: "I'm sorry, there was a traffic jam on the road just now, so I was a little late."

The old security guard didn't say anything: "Did you bring your ID card?"

"Take it."

Li Tian handed in his ID card. After taking a look, the old security guard gave it back to Li Tian, looked at him with a smile and said, "Have you worked as a security guard before?"

Li Tian smiled awkwardly: "To be honest, I really haven't done it."

The old security guard didn't say anything.

"You just came to Kyoto?"

"Yeah." Li Tian nodded.

Old security guard: "In fact, the job of the security guard is quite easy. It is standing guard. Here, it is 1800. Overtime pay is not included. If you think it is possible, you will come to work tomorrow."

Li Tian did not expect that the old security guard would let himself go to work so easily, and he said with enthusiasm: "Okay. Thank you so much."

The old security guard smiled slightly: "I have been working here for 5-6 years, and now I am a security captain. If you go to work tomorrow, you will first look at the parking lot. How about working? It's very simple. Just come to the parking lot. Owners of the car instruct to stop. Some car owners may not pay attention when reversing when they just drove, so you have to help look at the back and watch the car get scratched by those boring people..."

The old security guard told Li Tian all the details, and Li Tian nodded as he remembered.

"My name is Yu Dahai. How about you?" The old security guard who claimed to be Yu Dahai looked at Li Tian and asked.

"My name is Li Tian."

"I'm older than you, so I'll call you Xiao Li from now on." Yu Dahai said with a mouthful of yellow teeth due to excessive smoking.

Li Tian also smiled and called Yu Dahai Brother Yu.

So Li Tian worked as a small security guard at the Tang company.

The security guards here are all in charge of food and housing, and Li Tian himself is still renting a house outside. After thinking about the uneconomical, Li Tian went back to his house and discussed with the owner of the house for two hours. After breaking through, the homeowner decided to refund Li Tian 500 yuan, and the other 500 yuan was deducted, which made Li Tian regret it.

It's just too dark for 500 yuan to live for two days.

It's all the **** blame for that dead girl! If it weren't for the fact that I felt sorry for that girl, I didn't bother to rent this house. Looking back now, Li Tian hated Feifei's teeth.

After leaving the house, Li Tian moved to the company's dormitory. The so-called dormitory is the basement where 4 people live together.

The basement is just below the Tang company.

The space in the basement is quite large. There are two upper and lower sleeper beds in it, and a total of four people live.

But one of the beds is now empty. It is said that the security guard has just left, and there are now 3 people left here.

One is Li Tian, the other is their security captain Yu Dahai, and the other is a very talkative young man, also in his 20s, with a face of youthful beauty. Li Tian doesn't know what his name is, but Yu Dahai Call him Xiao Zhao.

In this way, Li Tian started his life as a security guard.

When he went to work on the first day, Li Tian couldn't help being a little nervous. When he was standing there, when others stopped, he took the initiative to run over to give directions to people. When some people were in a good mood, he said thank you to the security guards, but When they are in a bad mood, they don't even pay attention to them, and sometimes they stop the car crookedly on purpose.

However, Li Tian, who was used to it for two days, felt very comfortable.

After all, there is food and housing here, and there is still a salary of 1,800 a month, which is enough for a poor man Li Tian who came out of the mountains.
