

Chapter 829: Old Scores

Yin Yang was rendered speechless by those words. At this moment, he felt like he was going to suffocate to death. He could only glare at Cheng Yi with eyes that looked as though they were going to shoot out fire.

Cheng Yi did not care about small fry like Yin Yang at all. She turned to face the crowd and said, "Sorry for causing such a commotion. The family is in a mess. This matter stemmed from an old matter decades ago. After such a long time has passed, I'm not afraid of embarrassing myself. I'm sure Yin De feels the same way. I think it's time to reveal the truth so everyone can see clearly and judge the matter."

At this time, Yin De finally spoke. His expression, which had been changing constantly since Cheng Yi's arrival, was gloomy now as he said in a voice laden with pain, "Cheng Che is your biological grandson. Are you really going to stop him from acknowledging his ancestors?"

Cheng Yi looked at Yin De meaningfully and said, "As his biological grandmother, I'd like to ask you something. After nearly 30 years, you're making him acknowledge his ancestors. What's your filthy purpose for doing so?"

Yin De said coldly, "You still have the nerve to talk about this? If it weren't for you bringing my pregnant daughter-in-law away back then, how could my grandson be wandering outside all those years? After we found him with great difficulty, you jumped out of nowhere and tried to stop him from returning to his family. What right do you have to question me?"

Yin De rode on his momentum and continued to say, "Where have you been for so many years? Why didn't you show yourself? You abandoned your son and granddaughter, bringing your pregnant daughter-in-law away. I've never done anything wrong so what do I have to feel embarrassed about? The only thing I'm embarrassed about is that my wife cheated on me and ran away with someone else!"

Upon hearing the last sentence, Cheng Yi was surprised. Then, anger replaced the surprise as she said in a sharp voice, "What nonsense are you spouting? You really have the brain of a pig! You let a vixen and her son of unknown origin into the family, but you dare to push the blame on me? Yin De, I know you're desperate to turn things around, but please use your brain before doing so."

Cheng Yi pointed at Yin Yang, who was still glaring at her, as she continued to say, "Didn't you do a paternity test and determined that this bast*rd is your son? He's only 3 years younger than Yin Bin. In other words, when Yin Bin was three years old, you had already cheated on me with that b*tch! After that, you waited until that bast*rd grew up before you acknowledged him as your biological son! So tell me, who cheated on who?"

Cheng Yi spoke concisely and quickly. Her voice was sharp and loud. Even without a microphone, her voice resounded clearly in the huge banquet hall.

Some people could not help but laugh at the two elders quarreling like young people.

The person who felt the most awkward was Yin Bin, who was still kneeling. He was in a quandary at this moment, not knowing whether to stand up or continue kneeling.

Cheng Yi looked at her son before she said to Yin Jia, "Your father isn't young anymore. Help him up. Although I've wronged him, he's not without faults. I'll settle the score with him later."

Yin Jia's expression was complicated as she helped her father to his feet.

Meanwhile, Cheng Che watched coldly from the side. He understood that this woman, who looked younger than his grandma, was his biological grandmother. However, it was quite difficult for him to show his emotions at this moment even if he knew she had come to protect him.

Cheng Che could not interfere in the internal disputes of the Yin family, especially when the matter was between the two elders. Originally, he had planned to expose his grandfather's scheme in front of everyone today. However, with this sudden development, he could not continue his plan. He could only wait and see.

Cheng Yi looked at her son who had just risen to his feet. She was extremely disappointed in her son's performance over the years. After a moment, she glared at Yin De and said fiercely, "You want to settle old scores? Why don't we settle both old and new scores now?!"
