Chapter 13 POST COMMENT Chapter 13 Mae said in surprise as she took in the sight before her. The stroller with the baby in it and Lori. Max Fuller. It's so nice to see you." the sand as politely as she could muster "What a baby is that?" The woman joked right away, her eyes set on Emilia and a frown on her face. She simply said and Mes Tulle dinkled (0) It was fine. It was pretty ironic, Lori thought as she didn't reply, De truss now, whos baby is that?

"Since you're here Mrs Fuller, I was wondering if it's possible me talk in private." Lori started and Mas Faller shook her head as she raised her hand. She seemed to still be peurruing for a statement. "Their way someone would or yini a nanny! Not after what you dal! She said and Loti siglind. She goned her statement. Mes Fuller, if you'll give me a few minutes of your time in explain. "Explain what?! The woman stopped. Their nothing that comes out from your mouth that I'm willing to hear, " "Nothing at all. "I just want to know ulsere he's buried!

Is that too much to ask?" Mrs feller walked up to her and locked her right into the eye. "Yes. After all you've done, it is too much to ask, She said as she walked away. Lori stood at the entrance for a few moments before gathering herself and walking in. Her whole mood was already niined and she didn't even know why she had asked, the Fullers would never forgive her, even though she didn't know why, she had asked them for forgiveness, it wasn't She walked straight to the baby aisle and picked out the bound of diapers that Exilia used.

She picked just enough to last for a few days and walked right to the cashier, in a flash she was out of the checkout line and was back in the car fixing Emilia into the cur seat. She went hark into the car and noticed she had left her phor. Her eyes widened at the number of missed calls she had from Gabriel. Chapter 13 Twenty y missed rally?! She was out for at least five minutes, when did he have a chance to call twenty times! She was about to call him when he called again, Lori hastily picked the call. prit Why weren't you with your phone?

Do you know how terrified I was?" "Where have you been Lori Gabriel barked into the phone, startling Emilia and Lori Im sorry... I left my phone in the car... "It's a phone Lori! You should take it with you next time!" Lori whimpered. Gabriel seemed to calm down once he heard the tone of her voice. "Did you get the diapers?" He asked and the nodded. Gabriel nodded. "Good. I'll be home soon.

Drive safe?" He added as he ended the call Lori sighed She turned to the backseat and saw Emilia finally awake, she was starting to get fussy, Perhaps she needed a diaper change, or food Lori thought as she reached out for her from the backseat, safely getting the baby out of her car seat She had never breastfed in public before, but she didn't pack a bottle, it was meant to be a quick run, in and out. She grabbed a blanket and put it over her shoulder, instantly covering the baby's head and her exposed chest. Emilia gurgled as she latched on quickly and Lan checked her diaper.

The baby wasn't really hungry and she started playing with the boob a few minutes later so Loni dressed herself and put her on her shoulder to burp her. "Okay now! Time to go home!" She told the baby after she finally burped and put her back in her car seat with her pacifier in her hand. Gabriel got home as early as he could. Lori was already home with the baby. He could hear her talking to Emilia as he walked past the nursery into his room to change. It sounded like she was giving the baby a bath.

In his room, he stripped off of his clothes and got into more comfortable clothes He had a long day, a very long day. He remembered what happened at the underground vividly. The defectors had pleaded to be reinitiated into the pack and swear allegiance to him as their alpha but Gabriel flat out refused. He was about to hit them away when Draco convinced him to let them stay, stay and work their way back to be reinitiated into the pack. It was a good idea and it solved the problem of any more defectors they would have coming over and complaining about trouble in the hands of Sabine.

Hopefully his little problem with Sabine would also be dealt with quickly. The council had got back to him and he was to see them the next day. He wanted to at least try and settle things the right way. Sabine has been on his ass for at least two years, ever since he rejected her she found ways to bring him trouble, ways to provoke and ways it seem like he had offended her or something. It was exhausting and he was somehow glad that it might be over. After changing he went back downstairs. The house was so quiet. (thankfully I didn't" Ti a pod thing you did. Its one of my favorites.

How long had she craved a listening ear from someone genuine. Someone she could talk to.

She never really had someone like that. It felt warm, to know that someone was there, someone would be there, listening "Thank you Gabriel." She whispered. Chapter 14 Chapter 14 I was quiet, they ate in silence for the most part, except for Emilia fussing once in a while, Lori had brought over the baby carrier so she could be put they ate their meal comfortably. After to shower afterwards, Gabriel and Emilia stayed in the living room, with Gabriel setting up the mamazon for Emilia before opening up Lori was grateful for a few moments to herself, even if it was going to be minutes. And to her room and practically peeled off her clothes.

She checked her phone and saw no new notifications, not that she was expecting anything much, part of her had wished that the Fullers called her Maybe she should let it go, she thought as she sighed. Maybe she didn't need closure, maybe she didn't need to see her son's grave, it was the words that kept coming to her all day after seeing Mrs Fuller. The total anger and disgust on the woman's face. They would always blame her and for some reason, they thought that hiding him away was a punishment for her, a consequence for her actions.

She scrubbed all her tiredness and frustrations away, she really hoped Emilia slept through the night because she was looking forward to having a full uninterrupted sleep. But somehow, she knew it was not going to be possible, she thought as she got out of the shower, her hair was wet and her back in her room after drying off, she picked up yet another night shirt and decided on not wearing a bra, she would be breastfeeding the baby soon, she 't need a bra..

With the nightshirt and nothing else underneath she stood in front of her vanity and combed her hair, wishing she had a hairdryer to get it drier fast so she wouldn't have to sleep with wet hair. Soon she heard the hungry cries of Emilia and approaching footsteps and braced herself for the knock on the door. And there was a knock. Lori walked towards it and opened the door, Emilia was wailing. Lori quickly took her from Gabriel's hands, ignoring the look on his face. "She's hungry." She said and Gabriel nodded.

"I was going to ask you to hold her while I make her a bottle." She said and Lori shrugged. No need. I'll just breastfeed her." Gabriel cheeks tinged pink. you privacy. I'll be back." He added as he quickly closed the door behind him Lori chuckled at how embarrassed he looked, He had no plans of letting Lori take care of Emilia for the night, but when she started to get fussy and he searched for a bottle to no avail, he took her upstairs so he could ask for where the bottles were kept.

Late of'y He was a little rusty, when she was days old he used to take care of her night feeds and now he couldn't even remember where the bottles were kept When opened the door and he saw her, the first thing he could see was her her nipples and the outline of her breast visible from the night shirt. That was the first thing he could see and as foolish as it was, he was struggling to take his eyes off her. Lori had simply smiled and took the baby off his arms, looking up at him with her large hazel eyes as the casually mentioned breastfeeding.

It took him Chapter 14 back, back to that morning when he walked in on them. He imagined that one breast that was out with the rosy nipple it was too much, all too much for him, her being his mate only made things worse, conversations awkward and hiding the whole thing was even harder He left the room before he further embarrassed himself. was probably thinking that he was being weird for no reason. And she was probably tired, he would wait till she was done so he could take the baby from her and container for the night.

Emilia was hungry, ravenous even, but after a while, she started dozing off on her boob and Lori was relieved. Very relieved, because she was so tired. She burped her and then carried her in her arms and left the room, she would try and tuck her in as fast as possible and go get some sleep, perhaps she would be able to get in a few hours before she woke up fussy. In the nursery, the door opened quietly and Gabriel walked in while she was wrapping her in a blanket. "GoGo get some rest. Ill watch her for this night." He whispered quietly as he pointed to the door.

Lon looked at him incredulously, Really...but.." briel shook his head. "I already figured out where the bottles are and theres formula so I'd feed her if she wakes up again, you can get some rest. He said and Lori nodded. "Thank you Gabriel." She said in relief as she backed away from the crib "It's no problem. She's my daughter." He said as he ushered her out of the room Lori happily skipped to her room and landed on the bed with a groan Oh! Sweet sweet relief!

She thought as she snuggled into the covers She sighed once again and closed her eyes, quickly falling asleep The baby monitor woke her up. Weird. Because she didn't remember it being in her room before she went to bed, but perhaps someone had dropped it in there. The baby monitor detected activity and voices. Lori shot up awake and realized that it was morning, the gentle rays of the sun was penetrating her God, how long did she sleep? She asked herself as she picked up her phone and checked the time. It was a few minutes after eight. Emilia was usually awake around six.

She shot out of bed and bolted out of the door, straight into the baby room where she found Grace playing with the baby on the rocking chair. Grace looked up at her with a grin on her face. "Hey: Good morning!" "Grace! You're back." She said and Grace nodded. "Yeah Did you miss me?" 2/5 Chapter 14 She asked and Lori shrugged. Well, to be honest I She confessed as she sat on the sofa and Grace nodded. "I got here very early this morning, as early as I could. I saw Mr Gabriel and he was about to leave, I was already awake by then" He watched her all night! Can you believe it?

I was so tired! I didn't even wake up That's great! You need the rest! I heard you ran out of diapers? I'm so sorry. I go out and get Lori nodded. "It doesn't have to be now. I actually got quite enough for a few days" "But enough about me or the baby, how was your day off?" She asked and Grace shrugged It was quiet. I went to the park for most of the day. Lori crinkled her nose.

"That doesn't sound very Grace scoffed "When you're my age you'd be grateful for a little sunlight and a chance to feed ducks at the park." "Is there something going on with you?" Draco asked his Alpha as they walked the long halls of the Council. The United Council for Werewolf affairs to be precise, also more known by its Latin name Invito. They were quite famous for settling conflicts between packs and very good at it too, that and the fact that they kept the balance.

They dealt with werewolves who threatened the safety of all other werewolves and they meted out appropriate punishments to omega wolves and bitten wolves that had no pack. As famous as the Invito was, many packs, especially the old ones were very skeptical of them, they didn't like autonomy. Gabriel's own father didn't like the Invito but had acknowledged their importance. They were important to maintain the balance, that was good, that counted for something. "What do you mean?" presence of the Invito and loved their own Gabriel asked as he adjusted his suit.

He didn't get much sleep, at all, he wondered how Lori did it. He forgot how fussy Emilia could be in the night. Luckily, Lori had slept through it all, he had only snuck into her room to drop off the baby monitor and he found her completely knocked out even that early in the morning. Her hair was all over her face and she was snuggly under the covers, he could barely see her face: "Elliot tells me you got Emilia a nanny. Why didn't you tell me that?" Gabriel shrugged. He clenched his jaw. This was why he didn't like Elliot in his house, or anywhere near him, he had a loose mouth.

He was getting around to that, he was getting around telling Draco about all that. And that's not even all, Elliot tells me she's human. What's up with that? Why get a human staff?!" He asked and Gabriel glanced at "Now's not the time Draco, we have more pressing matters to attend to. He said calmly and Draco narrowed his eyes at him 15 Tine. We'll talk about it after the planning on having the at the end of the long hall, they stood in front of the long carved door where there were two guards right in front of it..... Gabriel asked and one of the stoic guard shook his head.

"Alpha Sabine has to be present before the proceedings can be can be initiated." Gabriel groaned, he checked his watch and drowned. He was early, she want. Of course, how could he expect someone like her to keep to time He murmured as he looked around, The other guard said and Gabriel shook his head. Their the cums Draco whispered as he turned to look at Sabine approaching them, the sound of her heels could be heard all through the hall.

There was a silly smirk on her fare and she was flanked by her second in command Vara Vara was even worse than Sabine, in cruelty and in looks, the woman was pure evil, one could tell with the long thick scar that marred the left side of her A star many said she had gotten as a n as a teenager during her first shift, how she had gotten into it, nobody knew the details, only that it happened on the night Gabriel. You came this time. Sabine purred. A delectable woman, Sabine Brindardt could be described as many men's dream. She was the perfect human specimen.

Tall, stim but athletic build, long survy Mond hair and a small heart shaped fore, unfortunately Gabriel was very immune to her looks, especially when she had such a nasty attitude. Sahine. Can we get this over with? I have things to do." He said as he looked at his watch.. Sabine raised her eyebrow. Oh yea I heard. Congratulations by the way. Gabriel raised his eyebrows. "Excuse me? He asked and Sabine smiled sneakily. "Oh! You thought I wouldn't find out? I heard about your little illegitimate daughter." "Congratulations un being a father."

Chapter 15 Chapter 15 "Surks about the mother though." Gabriel turned to look at her a she glared at her "Don 1 ever talk about my daughter again. Ever." Sabine made an nooh sound and started laughing. I bet your head is spinning wondering how I know about her, seeing as you kept the whole thing secret and under the wraps." Unfortunately for you, I happen to know Susannah Garcia and I know her history a lot more better than ymi!" What? What did she mean?! Gabriel asked as he masked his emotions perfectly, she was trying to rile him up, get a reaction mot of him, he wouldst allow it.

Stay calm. He told his wolf as he smiled at her. "Do you really have nothing to do but sit around and stalk my I He asked. "I mean, I'm an alpha, I know how busy and overwhelming it can all be but you sound like you have a lot of free time on your hands to just sit and stalk Have you ever considered getting a job? You know that divorce check you got from Andrew won't last forever." That seemed to do the trick, Sabine's smirk fell off her face and it was replaced with growled at him.

Pure anger and then rage, she growled right back and she backed down quickly Rightfully at that moment, the guard spoke "The council will see you now." He said as he pushed the door open, "Grace? Grace?!" Lori called out as she walked into the foyer, she was looking for Grace. "Grace?" She called out again and Jenny peeped from the dining room where she was cleaning "What's up?" She asked and Lori shrugged. The baby has a fever. Her temperature is going up and I think it's serious." "Are you sure?" Jenny asked as Lori nodded her head, her eyes darting around looking for Grace.

Chapter 13 Jenny looking for Grace. I've tried calling Gabriel and not picking my call" Try harder find Co. I think he's in the garden." Lori nodded a bit harder, dialing the number "Hello!" "Hello?! Gabriel Leaked urgently. "No. This is Draco - Draco? Who was that? Lori thought as she furrowed her brow she couldn't remember a call containing someone named I want to speak to Gabriel He's not available right now. He's occupied Sorry but who are you?" 35 seconds names Lori. I'm Emilia's nanny She answered and the man said oohhh "Oh, I didn't know Emilia had a nanny Lori sighed I just started.

Do you know when Gabriel would be done! I need his permission to take the baby to the ER, I don't think he'll be done anytime soon. What happened to the baby? "Why not just take the baby to the ER yourself?" Lori asked. One of Gabriel's number one rules was for her not to take the baby anywhere without his permission, as desperate as she was to follow his rules "Please let him know I called." Lori finally said as she ended the call. Take the baby to the ER?

If she did get Gabriel's permission she at least needed Grace Grace appeared in the nursery a few minutes after, rushing towards the baby Emilia was sleeping. Lori had pulled on the blanket on and she was in her purple onesie She put her hand on her forehead and sighed. "You're right. She is burning up Grace said as she looked like she was deep in thought for a moment. "Lori pack a bag. I'll go tell Tony to bring the car around, we're going to the ER." Grace said as Lori jumped into action.

She quickly packed a bag, throwing in diapers, wipes, bottles, a change of clothes if needed and anything random she felt the baby would need. The pediatrician tested Emilia and they did a series of tests before she came back to see Grace and Lori Chapter 11 She was at first very hesitant to speak to Lori and Lori had to get Grace to convince her that she was her nanny before the doctor would even speak to "She has a car infection. We'll run more tests, but we'd most likely keep her here for observations De Calli said as she scribbled something away in the notepad with her.

The doctor seemed to be distracted, concerned about something she didn't push her for more answers. Lori nodded. She also felt relieved by the doctor's report. She had been worried sick thinking that it was going to be something serious, since she was the one in charge of the baby when it happened she thought it to be her fault. "Where's Mr. Caine? I need to speak to him," She asked and Lori shrugged. "He's in a meeting, he'll be on his way as soon as he's done." The doctor sighed and left.

Lori walked towards the private nursery where Emilia was placed and a nurse was attending to her, she looked so small, Lori hoped everything would be alright. Two hours later, Draco stormed into the pediatric ward with Draco hot on his heel, he met Lori and Grace in the nursery, with Lori feeding a fussy Eli felt so relieved seeing that they were both okay, he had been worried sick ever since he left the council hall and Draco gave him the news.

He tried to call her after that but it was switched off, it wasn't until he tried Grace that she told him they were already at the hospital. Grace called out as he walked into the nursery. Lori looked up at him and sighed in relief. She was so happy to see him. "Thank God you're here!" she called. She said Eli nodded, kneeling in front of her to check the baby. He touched her forehead briefly and her temperature seemed to have come down, it's (still unusually high for a baby) Heidi, Ethan and Lori put the baby to his hands. He held her close, rocking her gently.

He sniffed her gently, he couldn't smell anything off, "is the decline better now?" is her seven better?! He asked Lori. "The doctor gave her something for the fever. She said it's just ear infection but they're running more tests, she wants to see you." Lori nodded as he held his daughter close and smiled. "I love you!" he said. "I love you too!" Chapter 15 Gabriel shrugged. "According to my parents I didn't start having growth spurts till I was six months old and the spurts slowed down when I became a toddler." Dr Calloway nodded. "Exactly! That's how it is."

It would help if we knew more about Suzie's pack." Gabriel sighed. Nothing, he had nothing. He could remember the pack where she came from, but it was in a whole different country and a relatively small pack, he didn't even remember who their alpha was. "Alpha, Emilia is way too young for these growth spurts, if we do not find a way to slow them down it will affect her negatively."

The fever is a sign that her body cannot handle the growth spurt and it might cause her to grow abnormally" "We need to know more about her mother, her mother's background and the kind of werewolf pack she came from." Gabriel nodded, remembering Alpha Sabine's words, how she foolishly threw it in his face that she knew more about Suzie's background than he did. Perhaps she knew something that he didn't know, either way, she was the only one he knew and could extract information about Suzie's family from..... The only problem was that it was Sabine.

She wouldn't give him help without wanting something else in return. "I will find that out out right away." Gabriel answered and Dr Calloway nodded. "Ill give you something for the fever. It will help bring it down in the meantime but you have to work fast." "I'll make a few calls, get on that right av away. the way, I noticed that her nanny is human Dr Calloway asked as she gave him a look Gabriel knew that look. It was a judging look. He rarely hired human staff, why now? Gabriel straightened as adjusted his suit sleeve.

"I lied to her that it was an infection of the ear." Thank you for your discretion" Dr Calloway nodded. Gabriel turned to leave, Dr Calloway was apparently not done. "I don't know your motives for hiring her Alpha but I will tell you that in the long run shes going to find out eventually that Emilia is not a normal child," "And by then you would have to deal with the consequences of having a human nanny. Gabriel turned to Dr Calloway and looked her dead in the eye. "I assure you Dr Calloway, there will be no consequences of the sort.
