

A. Nocturne's 101

Chapter 101 The Strange Beast

Adam nudged her legs apart as he positioned himself directly at her entrance, slipping his fingers inside of her already soaking p*uss*y.

He snorted to himself as pushed all four fingers inside and she m*oa*ned loudly.

“You little tease, you wanted this, didn't you, princess?” he growled into her ear as he curled his fingers inside of her, ma*s*saging her g-spot with torturous efficiency.

Ann couldn't formulate a reply in coherent sentences and simply smirked up at him as he tutted loudly in her ear, realizing that he had been played.

“Oh princess... that wasn't very nice now, was it?” He murmured as he picked the pace of his finger-f*uc*king up, and delighted in the way that she squirmed against his hands.

“Adam... f*uc*k...please... slow down...” She finally f*orc*ed out breathlessly, it was so good that it was simply too much to bear and she was gripping her phone so hard

Chapter 102 You Tempted the Beast

Adam was as confused about things as Ann was.

As much as he tried to communicate with his wolf during and after the incident, his wolf struggled to answer him... or maybe he didn't want to answer him.

Whatever it was, Adam knew that he had gone too far. It had never reached a point between them where Ann actually wanted to escape from him, usually, it was a lust-filled back and forth between them both that consisted of her wanting to be dominated and Adam showing her just how well he could please her.

He had meant for it to be a little rough, perhaps a little brutal too because she loved it when it was rough, but he was genuinely worried that the sudden emergence of his wolf and the brutality in which he took her was too much, even for Ann.

He was terrified that she would leave him...

That she would never look at him again with those beautiful eyes filled with lust

Chapter 103 The Damage to Adam's Wolf

'I would call this running away like a frightened rabbit, instead of talking about it.' Maeve hissed furiously. 'You should be owning up to the part you played in that and trying to understand why he reacted that way! Boundaries do not set themselves, Ann!'

'Enough Maeve, I don't need to discuss this with you.' Ann spat back dismissively.

'No? Well, tough luck because you are going to hear what I have to say whether you like it or not. This is NOT one-sided, we are two parts here Ann, as Adam and his wolf are.' Maeve roared furiously.

'But...' Ann tried to object before being unceremoniously cut off again

'No buts and no excuses! You have no idea Ann, you don't understand AT ALL! Adam's wolf hasn't seen the light of day EVER Ann. He has been confined and locked away, smothered and suffocated by darkness until YOU woke him. YOU taunted him, YOU stirred his interest

Chapter 104 The Real Danger

“Yeah...I’m fine, Lexi. Some f*uc*king idiot in the road, that’s all. I’m downtown anyway... it’s probably just one of the addicts...” Ann answered shakily.

“Ann, don’t hang up, don’t open the door...” Lexi warned, her tone slightly panicked.

“Lexi, it’s fine, honestly, he looks completely out of it. I could probably move him myself and just get him out of the road. I can’t just leave him there.” Ann reasoned as she sighed loudly.

Was she ever going to get a quiet day? Just a couple of hours, that was all she wanted.

“Ann, are you f*uc*king insane? Do you not watch horror movies at all?! Don’t be a future victim for god’s sake. Just... wait there, drive off or whatever, but DO NOT get out of the f*uc*king car, do you understand me?” Lexi’s voice yelled angrily out of the speaker.

Ann chuckled lightly.

“I’m not a child, Lexi, I can take care of myself, besides, you know t

Chapter 105 Where is Ann

Lexi had arrived a good hour or so after she had received Ann’s text a*s*suring her that she was fine. She reached into her bag and checked her phone for any more messages from her, but the message center was empty.

She chewed her lip and frowned as she stared at the blank screen, her stomach tying itself in knots for no good reason.

'I swear to my father, Ann, if you've gotten yourself into some sort of trouble just because you're too damn naive for your own good...' She muttered angrily under her breath as she swung the door to her car open and marched into the coffee shop.

After flirting a little with the new barista and collecting her coffee, she moved over to their usual table and sat staring out of the window expectantly, waiting impatiently for Ann's arrival.

Five minutes passed, and then ten...

Lexi checked her watch anxiously and dialed Ann's number again. She scow

Chapter 106 Your Luna Has Disappeared

Adam had attended the meeting with the new Alpha significantly later than he had agreed to but thankfully, they were gracious enough about it.

Having a fearsome reputation that preceded you was sometimes a blessing in disguise, although he had often wondered at the change in him since he had met Ann, although perhaps it was because she brought out a softer side to him that he had never really had cause to display before.

They had hashed out the finer details of a defensive agreement that would benefit the smaller pack more than it would Adam, however, it also extended his alliances a little further.

Having the right support from a prominent pack was often the difference between success and failure when it came to expanding into new territory. Adam wasn't interested in the short term losses he might suffer in protecting the vulnerable packs as they established their lan

Chapter 107 Alpha's Remorse

“Tell me again, Everything,” Adam growled impatiently as Allen finalized the orders that Adam had already sent out and arranged additional resources.

He was incredibly efficient as he simultaneously linked members of their own pack and made phonecalls across the city to call in favors from their allies in an effort to gather more information.

Ann’s disappearance was a huge deal and Adam somewhat blamed himself for her disappearance. If he had been able to reign his wolf in a little more, then perhaps she wouldn’t have left today in such a hurry. Perhaps it could all have been avoided.

Lexi rolled her eyes impatiently as she paced and threw him a withering look that should by rights have turned him to a pillar of salt.

“Listen, fluffy, I Appreciate you trying to rationalize and look for clues in my brief interaction with her whilst she was taken, but the minuscule details t

Chapter 108 Disappointed in the Alpha

Adam considered Lexi’s words carefully. She was right, of course, and she had already done a thorough job of searching the places that Ann should have been, had she genuinely taken whoever had appeared in front of her car to the hospital.

With no trace of Ann on any of the security footage from the hospitals they had visited, or in the parking lots, Adam had pulled in a favor from a contact within the traffic administration system.

Allen was on his way over to review the security footage as he sat here with Lexi discussing their next move. He wanted to be out looking for her but if she managed to escape and return home, he didn’t want anyone else to be the first face that she saw.

His wolf growled possessively at the mere thought and the sound rumbled from his chest unwillingly.

Lexi flicked a sly glance toward him and a small smirk played at the corners of her m

Chapter 109 Childish Jealousy

“As your Beta, you have always trusted me with everything that went on in your life, Adam. I have served you well and faithfully, and our pack has prospered. For once, I’m disappointed in your choices and I cannot stress to you enough just how important it is for me to know what I’m dealing with here so that I can continue to support you properly.” Allen said, trying to keep the hurt from his voice as he spoke.

Adam didn’t reply immediately, simply staring at his trusted beta’s expression of hurt as he debated how to reply.

How was he supposed to tell him that he had deliberately kept him in the dark because he didn’t know if he could trust him to not let his personal feelings get in the way of what Adam decided was right?

But it appeared that Lexi was going to save him the trouble of having to injure his Beta’s pride as she smirked at him with a twinkle in her eye.

“Rel

Chapter 110 Ada’s Predicament

As soon as Ada hung up the phone she let out a heavy sigh of relief and bit the inside of her cheek nervously as she began to make her way back down to the dungeons.

She couldn’t be sure, but she was hopeful that Adam had bought into her reasoning for calling. At the very least he hadn’t immediately bitten her head off and promised her death, so in Ada’s mind, that suggested that he at least didn’t completely disbelieve her.

The sound of her footsteps echoing down the stairwell sent an uneasy shiver down Ada’s spine. Her mother had taken to spending all day down here since they had been confined to the palace.

The Elite guards of the Royal Elder Council never left her father's side and he hadn't left his room in days. She had been going backwards and forwards to try to speak to him, but she was pushed roughly away by the heartless bastards that guarded his doorway.

Narci