Chapter 141 We Could Shower Together

[Mature Content]

"That's exactly what I'm saying, princess." Adam grinned.

"You're going to have to stop calling me that soon you know?" Ann laughed as she struggled to contain the feeling of heat that was spreading through her as Adam's hands gently caressed her back.

"What? Princess?!" He asked in mock outrage, "I'll never stop calling you that. You might be my Queen in public but behind closed doors in the privacy of our bedroom... you will always be my princess." He growled huskily. The heat that smoldered in his eyes as he stared down at her intently, made Ann swallow nervously. There was just something about the way his eyes darkened when he looked at her this way that never failed to send her crazy with desire.

"You could at least let me shower before you start with your perverted primal urges you know," Ann grumbled playfully.

"I could," He mused though

Ann whimpered against the touch of his hands that roamed freely across her body, sending shivers of pleasure throughout her body.

She gasped as she felt him pressing his ck between her butt cheeks, directing it downwards so that it slipped between her folds.

Very slowly, Adam thrust his hips against her, teasing her mercilessly as he allowed the swollen head of his ck to glide over her entrance and along her w*etness until it nudged insistently against her cs.

Ann couldn't stop the deep, throaty m*oa*n that fell from between her lips as her already overly sensitive nub was repeatedly a*s*saulted by his manhood.

The feeling of his lips against the back of her neck, his hands giving their undivided attention to both of her b*reas*ts as his fingers worked their magic on her n*s sent her into sensory overload as the arousal

Chapter 143 Perfect Mate

By the time Ann woke the following morning, the sun was already up and the spot in the bed next to her, for a change, was also empty.

She groped around blearily with her hand and to her surprise, the sheets felt cold already. Adam had obviously been gone for quite a while. Ann pouted sulkily as she stretched and threw the covers back, making her way to the bathroom to get herself ready to face the day.

Even though she was now technically a queen in waiting, she still had responsibilities to see to and there were a few issues in regard to her business ventures that she wanted to sort out.

Naturally, she would now become the CEO of her father's previous company, as part of her takeover of the throne also came with the added responsibility of taking over the head of the business that funded their positions.

She wasn't too worried about taking over the position, despite her lack

Chapter 144 They Would Get There

"I wanted to talk with you about the office block you bought for me actually." Ann said as soon as she had swallowed her mouthful of bacon.

Adam took a sip from his mug of coffee as he sat back on the chair and nodded slowly.

"Okay... have you decided what you're going to do with it?" he asked curiously.

"Well actually... I'm in two minds. As much as I would have loved to run a new real estate business out of there, it's a little redundant now that we have control of my father's company isn't it? It seems silly to be in direct competition with each other and they already have an established client list and a good reputation. So I was thinking of other options actually."

Adam nodded along as she explained and he could see the wisdom in her thought process.

"So actually, at least to start with, I was wondering what your plans for Lexi were?"

Adam almost spat his

Chapter 145 We were Just Talking about You

As they finished breakfast and sat quietly on the terrace, simply enjoying each other's company, a very harassed-looking Allen appeared through the doors.

He looked around furtively as if expecting an ambush before his shoulders sagged in relief. He strode over to where Ann and Adam were regarding him with bemused expressions and sat heavily on a chair.

Ann and Adam exchanged a look as they took in his unusually stressed appearance.

'I bet it's Lexi...' Maeve sniggered and Ann had to stop herself from laughing at the thought.

"Is everything okay?" Adam asked curiously.

Allen sighed heavily and turned to stare across the expansive grounds at the back of the balcony.

"Yeah. I'm fine, just... nevermind." Allen answered with a hint of defeat in his eyes that actually made Ann feel a little sorry for him.

"Are you sure, Allen? You don't look like

Chapter 146 An Insane Request

They hadn't stayed too long out on the terrace. They had discussed briefly the plans for going forward with Lexi's planned lectures and touched upon the subjects that they thought would be of most use first of all.

Allen had excused himself pretty quickly once the subject began to get a little too in-depth for his liking and Lexi seemed unable to resist teasing him at every opportunity.

With a solid plan now in place, Lexi also excused herself, explaining that she needed to speak with her father and see if he had any ideas to contribute that would increase the value of the courses they planned to offer.

Adam felt that it would be a good idea if they could gain clearance from the Royal Council, that perhaps some of the different species and races of Daemons could also attend. Lexi wasn't so sure about the viability of that idea as it would require some of the higher-ranking Dae

Ann exhaled slowly as she began explaining. When she was done, she was met with stunned silence at the end of the phone.

“Well, I certainly wasn’t expecting that, but of course I can squeeze you in. I don’t have anything urgent that my girls and I can’t push aside for a little while, and actually, part of the work may already be done for this.” Mimi announced cryptically.

“Huh? What do you mean?” Ann asked, the confusion clear in her voice.

Mimi chuckled lightly.

“You’ll see my dear. Try not to worry yourself. I’ll be free in about an hour’s time, so, is there somewhere that we can meet? Would you prefer it to be at the palace or somewhere else?”

Ann stole a glance at Adam quickly, whose eyes were still riveted on her every move

“Actually, it might be better to come here. My mate still needs his suit sorting, so the more information he has about the color schemes

Chapter 148 Royal Enclave

With all of the last-minute arrangements that had to be made, as well as clearing Adam’s schedule and booking in a last-minute stylist for her hair, the time seemed to pass far too quickly.

She certainly didn’t feel like she had gotten enough sleep the night before when she woke the next morning.

After they had gotten ready for the impending ceremony, she made her way out to the car, clutching the jewelry that she had inherited from her mother tightly in her hands. It only seemed fitting that as she was wearing the dress that her mother designed for her, then she should also wear the heirlooms that had been left for her too.

In a way, she hoped that even in the arms of the moon goddess, her mother would be able to look down on her today and smile warmly, seeing what she had become.

“Are you nervous at all?” Adam asked as she slid into the car and he got in, sitting next to h

“Very well. I will see that she is escorted to your room once she arrives. Now, is there anything else I can help you with?”

“No, I think that’s everything. What time do I need to be ready?”

The Elder waved her hand dismissively.

“There’s no set time, your Highness. As long as it is completed today, that’s all that matters. If you use this button here,” She continued, indicating a delicately engraved panel with a single button set inside it, “It will alert the Omega’s that you require something. They have already been briefed on your arrival so will cater to your requests as needed. Once you’re ready, let them know and we will come and escort you to the chamber.”

“Fantastic. Thank you very much.” Ann said, a little awkwardly.

She wasn’t sure how to dismiss her politely so that she could be left alone to prepare, but it seemed as though the Elder had read her mind. She bobbed he “Then in the name of the Moon Goddess, I crown you as Alpha Queen, Ann Nocturne, ruler of the Kingdom of Veritas.” He announced loudly as he turned to the hall and stepped aside, allowing Ann to step forward and make her way up the few steps that lay between her and the throne.

Ann’s heart raced rapidly as she slowly, but deliberately placed one foot in front of the other and Maeve danced excitedly in her head.

She had never expected to be taking this position so soon, and especially not while her father was alive. Ann turned to cast her eyes across the room full of nobles in front of her who had stood as she ascended the stairs. No sooner had her eyes landed on them did they drop to their knees in respect, and as she took her rightful place on the Throne of Selene, as one, they bared their necks in submission to her.

Maeve howled her delight inside of her as she allowed a small portion
