Chapter 247 Does He Even Know Yet?

"Sit. Eat." Allen demanded as Ann glowered at him furiously.

"Shouldn't that be, 'Sit and eat, your Highness'?" Lexi sniggered as Ann shot her a glare that told her in no uncertain terms to shut up.

Allen sighed and ran his hands through his hair, clearly a little stressed.

"Look, if I don't make sure you eat, Adam is going to kill me... not to mention his wolf... and I quite like having my head attached to my shoulders thank you very much," Allen explained, "Does he even know yet?"

"Well, I've hardly had time to tell him yet..." Ann replied weakly as Allen raised a questioning eyebrow at her.

"So, you had time to throw a text to Lexi and not Adam?"

"Listen, there's not a lot he can do from all the way over there is there? Besides, I don't want to distract him if he's in the middle of something. And I would much rather he hear this
