

A NPC 628

Chapter 628: Deep Moon Island?(3)

Initially, the players might not have been afraid of death, but after receiving the Fox-faced Witch's "Survive" mission, there were many analysis posts on the forum that mentioned the mission reward, especially the hidden reward, which would be linked to the number of deaths of the players. Therefore, the players now valued their lives more.

But of course...

Their hesitation lasted for less than five seconds before they broke down and ran towards Sakai Risa with shining eyes.

There was no other reason.

It was very pure.

Even if she was really an evil villain, she was really...It was too big.

It didn't matter even if he was killed once. It was worth it!

If it was an old evil witch with an eagle nose and a sharp mouth, the players would have to attack her hard. If it was an evil witch with fair skin and beautiful curves, the players... Sister Witch, do you still need slaves?"

"If you don't have a pet, you can do it!"

"The few of you in front should have some dignity. Don't lose the backbone of us players! Can you learn from me? For the sake of the fox-faced witch, from now on, I have to keep an eye on the witch 24 hours a day and never let her do anything bad again!

“Yes, that’s right! We’re not betraying the fox-faced witch. We’re in the enemy’s camp, but our hearts are in the Han!

Originally, Bella had planned to suppress her devilish character and play the role of Sakai Risa well, creating an image of the former head of the society.

However, she found that no matter how much she told the players, they did not believe her at all. They all said that it was a witch’s trick.

Hence, towards the end, Bella stopped pretending and let herself go. However, strangely, Bella realized that no matter how vicious her mouth was, how arrogant she was, or even how she could not hold it in sometimes and sent a few foreigners who did not like her flying, she did not get hated by the foreigners, let alone get punished as she had imagined.

On the contrary, some of the strangers seemed to be enjoying this feeling. They all hoped that she, the evil big sister, could exert more strength.

This made the Witch Bella extremely happy.

Which witch would not like to have a group of masochistic women that could be used repeatedly?

Lu Zi, who was beside her, was very distressed.

He kept looking at her with sympathetic eyes, and from time to time, he would run over and stare at her neck, muttering something, how could he not see her? In the story of the slate, he wrote a collar, handcuffs, and a regretful expression. Even the most good-tempered girl couldn’t help but clench her fists, her eyebrows jumping wildly.

Before meeting the foreigners, it was Roko who comforted Sakai Risa. She told Sakai to believe in her charm, and the foreigners would definitely like her. From their treatment of the fox-faced witch played by Vivian, she could tell that these foreigners were not bad in nature and were a very good group of people.

In the end, after they really came into contact with each other...

“Luzi, I admit that I was overthinking before. These foreigners are really...

Everyone is very nice and their words are nice. I like them very much!

“Aiya, don’t always frown...Speaking of which, Luzi, you see, there are many foreigners who have some opinions about your dress. What if they become suspicious of our identity because of this?”

“So look, do you want to... Ahem, ahem, if you cooperate with the plot that was written by the other party, then on your neck...”

“Sigh! Sigh! I’m just saying. Don’t show such a terrifying expression...”

Sakai Risa and Roko should have settled the matter. Even if Roko had become the one who rejected her, she had no choice but to accompany Sakai Risa no matter how unwilling she was as a subordinate administrative officer.

With that, the three NPCs on Sakuragi Island were all included in Vivian’s back garden, and the little wolf cub was very satisfied.

Originally, Liao Zixuan had planned to quickly accept the positions of these two factions. However, when he inadvertently browsed the player forums, his attention was first attracted.

First, there were a few posts that he had kept as favorites, and they all had major updates.

The favorite posts here referred to the various records posted by foreign players with potential marked by the little wolf cub. The little wolf cub treated these posts as a source of information.

The " White Ghost " from Winter finally managed to escape the laboratory and even kidnapped a female executive NPC to form what was suspected to be the first faction created by the players themselves. It was called White Star.

This caused quite a stir on the forums, and it was also because of this that the Faction System was brought forward a lot and was valued by the players. Many general knowledge and strategy posts about the Faction System were springing up like mushrooms after the rain.

Apart from Lin Dong, the little wolf cub's collection of " Fish Pigeon " in Guili had also been updated.

It was mentioned that at first, Pigeon Fish thought that they were going to Sakuragi Island and that they would meet the current Witch with the Firefox Face, who had just finished the battle cinematic. However, after some investigation, he was a little disappointed.

It turned out that the destination of their fleet was Moon Abyss Island. According to the big sister on the ship, their purpose of this trip was to find the father of a friend.

Yu Gege even posted all sorts of analysis about him, guessing who Big Sister's friend was, who her father was, and why he was in the Thousand Islands. Anyway, the little wolf cub couldn't figure out anything after looking for a long time. There was still too little information.

However, when it came to fathers and daughters...

The little wolf cub immediately thought of Uncle Gui Li whom he had met on the Astorokis..

Chapter 629: Deep Moon Island?(3)

What a coincidence. One was a father who wanted to go to Guili to find his daughter, and the other was a daughter who wanted to go to Thousand Island to find her father.

Tsk tsk...

Why don't you two make do?

The wolf cub was absolutely certain that Uncle Gui Li had nothing to do with the quest that the player had received.

The current players did not know, but the wolf cubs knew.

In his previous life, the version had just progressed to the third country, GuGuili. Even though the update was not complete, he still knew that the supporter behind the Northern Cross Fleet was one of the five elements of Guili, the leader of Qilin Pavilion, Zhao Yu 'er.

Zhao Yu 'er was a rich woman whose schemes were deeper than the ocean. If you believed everything she said, then you would be sold and still help the rich woman count her money.

Therefore, the little wolf cub did not believe in the nonsense of coming to the Thousand Islands just to find his father. He must have seen that the Thousand Islands was in chaos because of Vivian, and this rich woman who was a business maniac must have seen some business opportunities and was ready to make a move.

Even if they had the same surname, there were many people with the surname Zhao in Guili. Moreover, Zhao Jie had personally said that his daughter's name was Xing 'er, not Yu' er. In Guili, it was very common for a woman to add a "er" after her name.

Abandoning his wife and daughter, leaving his home and leaving his home in debt. Then, more than ten years later, he found out that his daughter, who was only a few years old, had not only paid off all her debts, but had also become the highest authority in Guili. Damn, who was this Zhao Jie? Was he the main character? Even a novel wouldn't dare to write like this. It was simply ridiculous.

Rather than fantasizing about these unrealistic things, the thing that made the little wolf cub frown the most was the Thousand Islands they were currently in.

That was because...

[Are you still being tortured by the netherworld environment of Sakuragi Island? And every day, when he went online, he would see all kinds of strange mutated monsters? Join Ka, Ka Ka Ka Ka, we will end your suffering! Escape from Sakuragi Island and enter the real main storyline of the Thousand Islands!)

Looking at this post that was now number one on Qian Daozi's hot list, the little wolf cub's heart was filled with countless question marks.

Ka was the overlord of the Flame Domain in his previous life. Why was it in Thousand Islands?

Do they have the ability to bring people away from Sakuragi Island?

And... What? The real main storyline of the Thousand Islands?

The little wolf cub immediately clicked on it and carefully browsed through the details of the post.

At first, he was a little nervous because of the reputation of the Ka in his previous life. However, as he read the posts, the wolf cub became more relaxed. In the end, he even wanted to laugh out loud.

Good fellow!

What a good fellow!

Liao Zixuan didn't know where to start.

Originally, Sakai Yosuke, the villain who caused the explosion on the Astorokis, had almost been forgotten by him.

But now, he had to admit that his ability to twist the truth and distort the truth was really amazing! What was even more amazing was that he actually knew how to make use of the players. He kept a guild like Ka in the dark and used them as his weapon.

Admirable!

It was a good idea, but unfortunately...

The little wolf cub snorted coldly, causing a small sparrow that was about to approach to shudder. Xin Yan immediately showed a sympathetic expression because she knew that whenever Black Brother showed such an expression, it meant that someone was going to be unlucky.

After Vivian inherited the Yaejo Shrine, Sakuragi Island was definitely the core of the wolf cubs' eyes. No one was allowed to have any ideas about this island.

Whether it was Sakai or the former overlord of the server in his, Ka Guild.

After thinking for a while, Liao Zixuan already had a plan in his heart.

He had originally planned to announce the faction system to the players of Cherry Tree Island, but it seemed that he would have to wait a little longer.

That's right, before the ship of the Ka Guild arrived, he had to release it to stabilize the players of Sakuragi Island.

Liao Zixuan obviously wanted to play a higher game.

Because he knew that the players relied on their sense of superiority to keep them here, and that sense of superiority was not something that could be said out loud, but...It was a competition.

The other thing was...

Compared to the dry and dry strategy posts, it was obviously the kind that was filled with emotions and tears of regret.. It was more infectious and influential, wasn't it?

Chapter 630: Deep Moon Island?(4)

The five ships sailed with great difficulty from Moon Abyss Island in the stormy sea. The closer they got to Sakuragi Island, the harsher the environment became. They were like leaves that swayed unsteadily, at the risk of being swallowed up at any moment.

It was all thanks to Arisa's insistence on copying the Heart of the Sea made by the Astorokis that they did not sink into the sea. However, a replica was still a replica, and it could only keep the ship from being overturned by the waves.

However, the violent shaking that made people dizzy and the shaking of the ship that made people vomit and diarrhea were inevitable.

The players of the Ka Guild on the ship were fine. The system automatically helped them avoid these discomfort. The players only watched it as a cutscene and found it quite exciting. However, the NPCs did not feel so good.

"This damned place, if it wasn't for Lord Yosuke's orders... Ugh... Cough cough!"

Muto, a trusted subordinate of Sakai Yosuke, was cursing in his heart. However, he was halfway through cursing when another huge wave shook him and he immediately bent down and retched.

Of course, it was impossible for Sakai Yosuke to be so assured that he would hand over the entire operation to the players. Even though Hei Yu was appointed as a foreign commander, he did not have any real power.

In the eyes of most NPCs, the players were like refugees, and Hei Yu was like the leader of the refugees. Therefore, even though Sakai Yosuke had warned him that they were all colleagues, Muto still looked down on Hei Yu and the foreigners.

This unfriendly attitude was amplified several times in the harsh environment of the Sakuragi Island. This caused him to be filled with impatience towards Hei Yu.

If it weren't for these foreigners, he wouldn't have to suffer like this!

The more he thought about it, the angrier he became. Looking at the stranger who seemed to be fine, he could not help but urge,

"When you arrive, be quick and load your country bumpkins into the boat... We'll return immediately after we're done. I've had enough of this place.

On the other side, looking at the smug expression on the face of this NPC called "Muto", even though Hei Yu was also very angry, he still suppressed it. He pretended to be respectful and said,

"Yes, don't worry, Lord Muto. It won't take much time."

Muto waved his hand and returned to the cabin. As he walked, he muttered,"

I really don't understand why Lord Yosuke cares about these foreigners. Isn't it better to let them fend for themselves on Sakuragi Island? They don't deserve to come to Deep Moon Island..

"Damn it, Brother Yu!" When the few Ka members beside Hei Yu heard this, they immediately became angry, but they were quickly stopped.

Now that they had joined the community's esper camp and were in the early stages of the server, they should just tolerate this kind of NPC as much as they could. If they really fought, it was hard to say whether they could win or not. If their relationship with the community's esper was ruined, then their good situation would be gone.

No matter what, after the players developed...

Humph.

Hei Yu secretly remembered the name of this NPC adjutant.

Back to the main topic.

Compared to this annoying NPC, there was actually another matter that troubled the Guild Leader Hei Yu the most.

Wu Teng was only responsible for supervising them. Hei Yu was still the one who chose the foreigners to board the ship. This was the benefit of being the one who triggered the mission.

Change the sentence, better understand the words, who can board this five society pursuing the ship, escape from Sakuragi Island, all decided by him black feather one person!

Hei Yu, who had a very sharp sense of smell, instantly realized that this was an excellent opportunity for his Ka guild to absorb new blood.

Therefore, before he set off, he made a prompt decision and ordered the members of the guild to spread the news on the forum. The post was a notice, but it was actually a recruitment post.

We, the Ka Guild, have now taken control of the NPCs' shipping routes between Sakuragi Island and Moon Abyss Island. Even though we want to save every player who suffers on Sakuragi Island, we have limited slots, so we can only prioritize the members of the Ka Guild to board the ship.

The unspoken meaning was...

Want to board the ship? Then he had to join them!

In Hei Yu's imagination, even if the first-tier high-level players on Sakuragi Island were unwilling, they would be forced to join Ka in order to leave Sakuragi Island.

In this way, it was as if they had recruited a large number of truly skilled players who had gone through the harsh environment of Sakuragi Island without any effort.

It was easy to imagine how much stronger Ka would become.

It was a beautiful idea.

However, reality had given Hei Yu a head-on blow.

After the recruitment post on the forum was posted, it did indeed set off a huge craze. It received a lot of responses and immediately signed up. There were many players who hoped to join Ka.

However, when the statistics staff in the guild compiled the levels of all the registered players into a visual table, Hei Yu was dumbfounded.

That was because...

Why are they all stinky fish and rotten prawns?

Hei Yu had investigated before. Currently, the players on Sakuragi Island belonged to the first tier of high-level players. Their levels were so terrifying that they could break through level 15. This was definitely one of the best in the publicly acknowledged novice village, Flame Domain.

He had to admit that the environment of Sakuragi Island was harsh. However, the more harsh the environment, the more experts would appear. This was also the human resource that Hei Yu coveted.

However...

In the recruitment post statistics of Ka Guild, not to mention the top players in the first echelon above level 15, even the players above level 10 could be counted on one hand!
