

A NPC 631

Chapter 631: Deep Moon Island?(4)

What the hell?

Hei Yu was puzzled.

Could it be that these high-level players did not plan to leave Cherry Tree Island?

Didn't they see the notice I posted? The real main storyline is on the Lunar Abyss Island.

Have you all gone crazy from leveling up?

Sakuragi Island was full of monsters, but no matter how many monsters there were, following the main plot of the game was the true way. Did these high-level players not even understand this simple principle?

Although Hei Yu despised them in his heart, for the sake of the strength of the Ka guild, he still had to rope them in.

Of course, it was also possible that these proud elite players would not bother replying to such recruitment posts on the forum.

Alright, then he, Hei Yu, would be polite to the wise.

At worst, when the ship docked, he would personally persuade the few powerful players that he had already marked.

That's right, Ka was a large guild with a club behind it. They were quite good at gathering information. Hei Yu had long obtained a list of many top players who had performed well on Sakuragi Island. Hei Yu was determined to get these people. He wanted to recruit them into Ka.

Finally.

In the midst of lightning and thunder, the five swaying ships finally successfully docked and arrived at this cursed Woeful Island that was enveloped by purple clouds.

As soon as he arrived, Hei Yu's mission panel had a new notification. It required him to recruit 1000 players from Sakuragi Island to board the ship within 2 hours.

When this notification appeared, Hei Yu could not help but curse. Originally, they had agreed to have three hours. In the end, because of the impatience of this NPC Muto, he had directly slashed for an hour. This reduced the space for him to operate.

However, they had no choice. In the early stages of the game, they could only swallow their anger and endure the NPCs. Under Muto's urging, Hei Yu stepped onto the land of Sakuragi Island for the first time.

"Wow! Really...The ship is really here!"

"Look at the first one to come down. Isn't that the guild leader of the Ka guild mentioned on the forum?"

"I've heard of Ka. They were the ones who dominated the server in several games.

"As expected of a Super Guild.

As Hei Yu had spread the news on the forum beforehand and had already created a commotion, there was already a large group of players on the coast of Sakuragi Island. Regardless of whether they were here to watch the show or really wanted to board the ship, there were quite a number of them.

Hei Yu first used the speech he had prepared beforehand to stir up the hearts of the people. He talked about how good the Lunar Abyss Island was and how to create an image of the savior of the Ka Guild. Then, he disappeared from the stage and prepared to seize the time to find the person in private.

Sakuragi Island had indeed attracted a lot of players because of the fox-faced witch NPC, but there were still some who were persuaded. Perhaps they really couldn't stand the netherworld environment of Sakuragi Island and began to yearn for Deep Moon Island. Ka successfully made a big deal out of it and wanted to board the ship.

However...

“Non-Ka members, 5 silver coins per person.

A few solo players were stopped at the entrance of the ship by the people of Ka and asked for a fee. 5 Silver Coins might not seem like a lot, but for players at this stage, it was a bit of hard work and hard work.

Some of the solo players immediately questioned him. This was not what their guild leader had said on stage. They had never heard of charging a fee. Moreover, whether it was the ship or the route, they were all NPCs. At most, they could only act as a matchmaker. Why should they charge a fee?

However, the members of Ka did not listen at all. Instead, they sneered and told those who could not afford to pay to scram. There were still many people queuing behind them.

The mission required 1000 players. No matter how big the Ka guild was, they would not be able to take in so many players at once. Therefore, they had already planned to set aside about 100 spots to rope in the top players of Sakuragi Island. As for the remaining players, Ka would not be so kind as to let them board the ship for free. Naturally, they wanted to earn money from it.

Regarding this, even the NPC turned a blind eye to it. It was just that there was a time limit. After all, Hei Yu had already formed a good relationship with Muto. He would also bribe a portion of the fees to the NPC.

This instantly eliminated many players, which naturally attracted the anger and criticism of the players. However, the Ka Guild did not care at all. Firstly, they had a monopoly, and secondly, they could not even take out 5 Silver Coins. Such low-level players were not worth boarding.

In fact, it was even more ridiculous at the end because they realized that the players from Sakuragi Island were richer than they had imagined because they farmed a lot of monsters. They immediately started to raise the price of the so-called ticket, step by step, until...

“There are only 200 slots left. You have to pay 9 silver coins to board the ship. “What is it? It was 7 silver coins just now, you guys...You guys are too much!” If you don’t want to make friends, then hurry up and leave. Don’t block the way.

Looking at the fearless Ka member in front of him, the unspecialized player clenched his fists and finally managed to scrape together 9 silver coins.

And what he got in return was just a sneer before letting them pass.

At this moment, the unspecialized player suddenly felt that all of this was really worth it. These nine silver coins were all earned by the Fox-faced Witch’s mission and the Profession Change Stone Tablet, allowing him to kill monsters. Now, he was giving them to this guy...

This feeling was even more so when he really boarded the ship.

He wasn’t the only one. The players on the ship felt the same way. They didn’t look like they were being transported to Deep Moon Island. Instead, they looked more like goods or labor..

Chapter 632: Deep Moon Island?(4)

From the eyes of the NPC sailors and the so-called social officials on the ship, one could see the disdain and disgust they had for foreigners like them.

This made the solo player recall how the fox-faced witch helped the players step by step when they first arrived at Sakuragi Island. She used all kinds of methods to really warm and improve the players’ environment, and that domineering and exciting rescue cinematic...

Anyone could understand the sincerity of the witch to the players. This was a stark contrast to the NPCs on the ship who had come from the Moon Abyss Island to “save” them.

And, and...

In the story, the Fox-faced Witch treated the players as saviors and the hope of the island. They had already disappointed the Fox-faced Witch once, and they kept shouting that they had to prove themselves...

Could it be...Could it be that their final proof was to run away dejectedly and admit that they were really not the savior, that they were really weak and incompetent?

A similar feeling of conflict surrounded the hearts of every player who had boarded the ship and was ready to leave.

As if they had grasped this moment, the system notification suddenly sounded in the minds of the players on the ship.

[Ding! System announcement. If you leave “Sakuragi Island”, it will automatically be considered that you have completed the mission “Survive!”]

The players quickly clicked on it to take a look. When their eyes moved to the mission reward column, almost everyone fell silent.

They were basically abandoning Sakuragi Island and the Fox-faced Witch, but they could still get the reward. Besides EXP and money, what was most like a needle stabbing into the players’ hearts was...

[Reward: Fox-faced Witch’s favorability +1]

Yes, it was.

Sometimes, words were not needed. Even a short mission reward could convey too much information.

This bit of favorability was more like a symbol than a reward.

It represented the attitude of the Fox-Faced Witch towards their "escape" behavior. It was not to keep them, not to be angry, nor to be cold. Instead, it was... He was gratified.

Because the gamers had completed the mission of "surviving."

Even if this island would continue to be shrouded in curses and disasters after losing them, even if the fox-faced witch would continue to suffer all the pain alone on the deserted island.

But...

As long as you live happily.

Silence.

Silence.

At the bottom of the ship, the large number of Sakuragi Island players who were squeezed together like laborers were strangely quiet at this moment. And often, this kind of tranquility was a sign that a storm was coming.

Could he endure it?

Endure...

After all, he had already paid..

Not to mention, the real main storyline, the Deep Moon Island...

The environment of Sakuragi Island was too bad...

Also, what other reason was there to come?

There was a saying that went like this: when you toss a coin, you don't want to see which side you want to win. Instead, you know which side you want to win the moment you toss the coin.

so...

Endure my ass!

What excuse was there to find!

If he had to be as cautious as he was in reality when playing a game, that would be too lowly!

"Get off the boat!"

"I want to get off the boat!"

"Sob... Sister Witch, I was wrong...I was blinded for a moment. I'm a scumbag!"

"I'm a scumbag!"

"F * ck, I still want to board the ship. As long as the curse on Sakuragi Island is not removed, I swear I won't leave!"

When the first player to jump off the ship appeared, it was like a chain reaction. Although not all of them jumped off the ship, at least one-fifth of them jumped off the ship.

Both Ka and the NPCs from Lunar Abyss Island were dumbfounded.

They could not understand the behavior of these players at all.

Not far away, on a high slope overlooking the coast.

The little wolf cub nodded at the players.

It could be said that this was entirely due to the personal charm of the fox-faced witch. It could also be said that the notification just now was Liao Zixuan giving the players who made the wrong choice a chance to choose again.

There were more of them than he had imagined.

This was what the wolf cubs wanted to see. Their little girl had given her heart, so she had also received the hearts of the corresponding players.

What he could not tolerate was naturally...

Calculating the time, the wolf cub silently turned around and left the high cliff.

At the same time, on the other side.

As the guild leader of the Ka guild, Hei Yu did not know about the strange situation that had happened at the coast. He did not care much about it. After all, the fate of those ordinary players was not his main concern. However, he was still not feeling well, to the point of self-doubt.

That was because...

The plan he was in charge of to rope in the top elite players of Sakuragi Island could not be said to be progressing smoothly.. It could only be said that...It was difficult to move an inch!

Chapter 633: Deep Moon Island?(5)

“Hmph, a bunch of fools. They’re really possessed. They still have feelings for paper people.

He raised the torch high and looked at the Sakuragi Island players who jumped off the ship in the distance. He mocked them in disdain. The Sacred Fire Guild members around him echoed his words.

The Sacred Flame Guild was one of the few big guilds that had wanted to forcefully occupy the “Profession Stone Stele” back then. After being destroyed by the wolf cubs and the Shadow Beast King group, they suffered a great loss. Their reputation plummeted.

Their overall strength had fallen by quite a bit. The guilds that could have been ranked in the first tier had now become mid-tier.

As the president, he had been depressed all these days. He was depressed all day long. Anyone else would be the same. They were extremely unwilling.

However, Torch Bro was no longer worried. He was extremely excited because he had been waiting for a long time. The turning point for the Sacred Flame Guild to turn over a new leaf had finally arrived!

“President, I just heard from the the people people from Ka that there are less than 200 spots left. “A member beside him could not help but ask. Torch Bro pretended to be mysterious and shook his head.

“No rush, no rush.”

“Although our Sacred Flame has been tricked by the game’s settings, resulting in our current strength temporarily weakening, we can’t lose our status as a large guild. Only ordinary players who don’t have much ability have to pay to board the ship. For people like us, of course, we have to wait for them to come and invite us!

This was...

Looking at the confident look on his president's face, the trusted aide beside him hesitated.

Perhaps he could see the anxiety of his subordinates. After all, this was a rare opportunity. Now that they had lost on Sakuragi Island, they had to seize this first chance to escape. Torch Brother comforted,

"Don't worry, it's true that they're a super guild, and our Sacred Flame is at its lowest point. However, as the saying goes, 'pick the best from the worst.' He's an outsider and doesn't know the current situation of Sakuragi Island. "

"Their president must have thought that someone was begging him to leave Sakuragi Island, but in reality...Humph, from the batch of players who jumped off the ship just now, it could be seen that a large portion of them did not even want to leave Sakuragi Island! I reckon that the more powerful the player, the more obsessed he would be. So I guess that the president of Ka would probably run into a wall everywhere. Since he couldn't win over the top players, Ka couldn't return empty-handed, right? Isn't it our turn now?"

After Brother Torch's analysis, many members of the Sacred Flame Guild revealed expressions of sudden realization. On one hand, they praised their guild leader's awesomeness, while on the other hand, they began to secretly look forward to Ka's invitation.

Was this really the case?

Somewhere on Sakuragi Island.

The big mutt and the others were forced to stop farming monsters. Standing in front of them was a man with the ID "Black Feather".

After all, he was the famous president of the Guild of KAs, so the dog had to show him some respect.

"Brother Yu, thank you so much for inviting us over. But to be honest, we really don't have any plans to leave Sakuragi Island."

The big mutt repeated himself patiently. He had said the same thing three or four times, but the president of Ka refused to listen. It was more like...Unacceptable?

“Brother Dog, listen to me. I know you’re one of the ones who benefited from the mission on Sakuragi Island, and you’ve even received an Epic quest. But anyone with eyes can tell that this place is just a side quest at best. The Lunar Abyss Island is the true core of the Thousand Islands, the main city. This was a great opportunity for him to join the club!

“You might not understand the position of the Society Executive in the Thousand Islands. It is one of the Three Executive Courts, the apex of power. Dozens of islands in the Thousand Islands are under the jurisdiction of the Society Executive, including your current Sakuragi Island.

“Speaking of Sakuragi Island, look here. What’s here? It was a barren land, and there wasn’t even an NPC. I’ve seen the cinematic of the fox-faced witch’s battle. She was indeed handsome, but then what? No matter how strong an NPC was, it was useless without its own faction. To judge an NPC’s potential value, one couldn’t just look at her strength and image. One had to look at her resources, right? Would a solo player provide us with more resources, or would an official organization provide us with more resources?”

“With Brother San Xian’s understanding of the game, you should know how great the benefits of joining a faction, especially a powerful official faction, are, right? Isn’t this countless times better than killing monsters on Sakuragi Island? Moreover, at our level, the plot is just for fun. The only thing that matters is that we can really improve our strength!

Hei Yu was a little straightforward in the end. Standing at the top of every industry, one would definitely lose their original intention because of their interests. This Ka president no longer played games for the sake of playing. However, what he did not know was that his words had completely angered the big mutt, especially the words ‘Tu Yile’.

Brother Yu, you may skip the game plot every time, thinking that it’s useless and only focusing on the strength, but you can’t look down on those players who seriously integrate themselves into the plot and devote themselves to the emotions. In the past, I was full of respect for your Ka guild, but now it seems... ”

The big mutt did not continue speaking. He was about to bring the group of underlings behind him, who were also dissatisfied with Hei Yu's words, and leave..

Chapter 634: Deep Moon Island?(5)

"You!" When the people from the Ka Guild heard this, their faces darkened.

Unfortunately, after comparing the levels and occupations of both parties, Hei Yu could only choose to swallow his anger and let the big mutt and the others leave.

In terms of combat strength, the players from the Moon Abyss Island could not compare to the players from the Cherry Tree Island.

"Bah! Give him a good face. Who does he think he is?" After the big mutt and the others had walked far away, Hei Yu's subordinates immediately went forward and scolded their guild leader.

Other than venting his anger, Hei Yu's frown became tighter and tighter. This was because it would be fine if the big mutt was like this. However, the problem was that he had searched for a few in a row, but the replies he received were all similar.

This made Hei Yu feel strange. Just how charming was this fox-faced witch to be able to tie the hearts of the players to the island?

Forget it.

Hei Yu looked at the time and decided to give up on the high-level players for the time being. If he could pull in some big V players who were not high level but were well-known, it would be valuable.

Coincidentally, there was such a person on Sakuragi Island.

After Hei Yu entered the words " Bring an umbrella on a sunny day without a knife " in the search engine, he sent a friend request to him.

If it was an ordinary person who wanted to add this well-known column blogger on the forum, it might be very difficult. However, Hei Yu was the president of Ka. After a while, he received a notification that he had accepted the friend request.

He had already meticulously edited the content of the chat and sent it over. Hei Yu was very confident that he could win over this big V in the game.

After all, this San Da was famous for supporting the Flame Domain and then stepping on the Thousand Islands.

Not only did he post a post like " Why I don't recommend everyone to choose the Thousand Island Opening &" before the server opened, but he also made a big move after the server opened. He chose to be born in the Thousand Island and then described how tragic Sakuragi Island was in the form of a war reporter.

After this round of exchange, even Hei Yu could not help but admire him. Although he had given up on developing his character in the game, the popularity he had gained in exchange was incomparable. He had gained countless fans on the forums in reality.

Hei Yu could still vaguely remember how many players from the Thousand Islands had resonated with Umbrella University's "We're Like Abandoned Orphans". Even he had almost given up hope because of it.

Now that she finally had a chance to leave, she would definitely be eager to run away. He could do her a favor and see if he could get Umbrella University to take the opportunity to write another trending article. Hei Yu had even thought of a name for her. Don't even wait for a dog! "

Don't underestimate the influence of a big V blogger. What Hei Yu remembered the most was that there was a very famous game that was taken off the shelves.

The cause was the rhythm of a big V, resulting in a masterpiece being banned. Although the big V was also destroyed by others, the power of the big V could still be seen from then on.

Hei Yu believed that as long as he could work with Big San and publish a few more articles that trampled on Sakuragi Island and praised the Moon Abyss Island, the players on Sakuragi Island would definitely change their minds.

Just as he was waiting for Big Umbrella to reply...

On the other side.

"Wow! The umbrella was big, it was...Yes, yes, it's the president of Ka! The super famous president of Ka Club! He, he actually took the initiative to add you as a friend. W-we're not going to be popular, are we?"

The quiet atmosphere at a corner of the reef was broken by the assistant's excited voice.

However, as the main character, Sunny Day brought an umbrella but not a knife. He did not even blink his eyebrows, as if he was focused on typing on the virtual keyboard.

The assistant couldn't help but ask, "Big San, can you take a look at what the HA president sent you?"

He probably just wants us to take a boat with him. "Big Umbrella pursed his lips after his assistant's words and did not even raise his head.

"That's true. Speaking of which, Ka is really amazing. They found the real main storyline so quickly and even used the NPC forces to send a ship to Sakuragi Island to save us.”

The female assistant’s words finally made the girl look up from her typing.

“F * Ck... Why are you looking at me like that, Big Umbrella...”

“Do you want to leave?”

“This...” The female assistant pursed her lips and hesitated for a moment.

She did hate the netherworld environment of Sakuragi Island. On the surface, Deep Moon Island was many times better than Sakuragi Island, but...But...

Soon, the female assistant’s expression changed from hesitation to puffing up her cheeks. At the same time, she symbolically clenched her fists and gestured in the air.

“Of course I want to leave, but I can’t leave like this! I’ve never suffered so much from an NPC in my life! I must become stronger and expel the curse from this island, leaving no one alive! Then, I’ll enjoy the worship of the fox-faced witch! I’ll let her know the consequences of looking down on me back then!

Puchi!

The girl couldn’t help but laugh when she saw her assistant like this.

What kind of female channel was this?

“Alright, if the president of Ka continues to send harassing messages, just block him. I’m busy with my new column and have no time to deal with him.

After saying that, Big Umbrella continued to bury her head in her manuscript.

The assistant beside her was curious, so she moved closer to look at the title of Big Umbrella's next hot article.

Didn't Big Umbrella publish this article once?

The female assistant was puzzled at first, but then she realized that she did not see it clearly because the title of the next hot article was...

Chapter 635: Deep Moon Island?(5)

We are like abandoned orphans

At first glance, it was not exactly the same as the previous one, but what was different this time was that there was a line of words behind it...

Until Her Appearance

"Hurry up, hurry up. Set sail. Next time, even if it's Lord Yosuke's order, I'll never come to this damn place again!

Muto cursed. The sky was covered in purple clouds. As if to coordinate with him, a huge rumbling thunder fell, causing the adjutant to tremble.

Next to the adjutant, he returned to the ship and called the president of the. Hei, Hei Yu could no longer see the ambitious look on his face.

Although there was a small episode of jumping off the ship and getting a refund, it was not difficult to gather 1000 players who wanted to leave Sakuragi Island.

After achieving their goal, the five small boats immediately set sail again. In the storm, they carried the players on board and left Sakuragi Island.

Brother Yu, I don't think there's a need to be so sad. The reason why those people on Sakuragi Island are unwilling to follow Brother Yu now is mostly because they don't have foresight and are blinded by the benefits in front of them. It's because they issued an Epic-level mission that they all treat the fox-faced witch like a treasure. But Brother Yu, don't worry..."

Most of the normal players were only allowed to stay on the bottom floor of the ship. Only a few players with status could come to the deck.

The Guild Master of the Sacred Flame Guild raised his torch high and appeared beside Hei Yu as he wished. He became a player who was qualified to move freely on the ship.

After the top players in front of them all rejected, no matter how much Ka looked down on the Sacred Fire Guild, they could only choose to cooperate temporarily.

On the surface, he was raising the torch high to appease Hei Yu. However, in reality, he also had his own plans.

"People and things are always afraid of comparison. Now, with just your mouth, Brother Yu, and you talking about how good the Moon Abyss Island is, those Sakuragi Island players won't be able to understand."

"When we, the players who have escaped from Sakuragi Island, see the situation and join the Society Faction on the Moon Abyss Island, our strength will improve by leaps and bounds. With excellent equipment, sufficient supplies, and a large amount of faction resources to back us up, we'll have to post on the forum and show off to the players on Sakuragi Island. Only then will they truly understand the difference between the Moon Abyss Island and Sakuragi Island. There was also the difference in resources between the fox-faced witch's individual NPCs and a large society.

“Once this match is revealed, even if they stubbornly say that Sakuragi Island is good and that it’s for the sake of the fox-faced witch, they might actually regret it in their hearts!

“When the time comes for the second batch of transport ships, I’m afraid the spots will be snatched up!”

After hearing the Sacred Fire Guild’s Guild Leader’s words, Hei Yu nodded his head.

Well...

It did make sense.

Hei Yu could not help but think highly of this little president beside him. It seemed that the other party was quite capable.

At the same time, Hei Yu naturally understood what the other party meant.

To put it bluntly, Deep Moon Island and Sakuragi Island were the ones fighting over resources, while Sacred Flame was basically a traitor...Oh no, the Imperial Association Army!

Those who wanted to absorb more people from Cherry Island would naturally have to let the first batch of people who were willing to rely on them live a comfortable and dignified life. Only then would the people on the other side look at them and be unable to help but want to change maps.

After pondering for a moment, Hei Yu patted the shoulder of the person who was holding the torch high.

“Alright, Brother Torch, don’t worry. When we get there, I’ll go talk to the head of the society and try to get more resources for your Sacred Flame Guild.”

“However, when the time comes, you have to help me more...Help us promote more.”

“Haha, Brother Yu is straightforward, that’s for sure. After all, our Sacred Flame will be counting on the care of this heavenly tree! ”

“No, no, it’s a win-win situation.”

The two of them had their own thoughts and hit it off. They had already begun to imagine the future.

Little did he know.

Perhaps it was three minutes after the five ships of their society left with 1,000 Sakuragi Island players?
Or five minutes?

All the gamers who remained on Sakuragi Island, regardless of whether it was due to lack of money or other reasons, or because they had not boarded the ship to leave the island, heard two system notifications in their minds.

The first was...

[Ding, due to your performance, the Fox Witch’s favorability towards you has increased by 20 points!]

The second was...

[Ding! As your favorability has met the requirements, the exclusive faction of the Fox-faced Witch, the Yaei Shrine, is now open to you!]

Chapter 636: When Playing Games, You Must Play with a Smile

A bead of blood appeared in Vivian's palm. The little girl crushed it gently and took a few steps back, looking around and waiting.

This was the communication token that Owl had given Vivian after agreeing to help her. She could summon him at any time.

He didn't let the little girl wait too long.

A blood mist soon condensed in front of Vivian, and then a familiar cold youth walked out of the blood mist.

Owl looked at the little girl opposite him and frowned.

How long had it been? He didn't expect Vivian to need his help so soon.

'What is it?' It was Owl's usual style to be concise and not say anything unnecessary.

He crossed his arms over his chest, his expression cold. Although he looked like he had returned to his original appearance of keeping strangers away, there was no perfunctory or impatient expression on his face.

In fact, from the speed at which Owl rushed over, it could be seen that he valued Vivian, or rather, his promise, very much.

Since he had promised someone else, he would definitely fulfill it seriously.

Vivian briefly explained the situation and problems to Owl. She said that with the current power of the outlanders, although the curse on the outer edge of Sakuragi Island could be easily removed, it was still a little difficult to get rid of the deeper the curse.

Therefore, the little girl hoped that Owl could take the time to teach the foreigners or if he had any good cultivation techniques that could help everyone quickly increase their combat strength, so that they could completely purify Sakuragi Island as soon as possible.

Owl closed his eyes and pondered for a while after listening to the story. However, the wolf cub beside him already knew. After all, the system had already given him a hint.

What happened next was as expected.

The cold-blooded Blood Tribe youth said that although he had this secret technique that could stimulate a person's potential to the greatest extent in a short period of time, it was a forbidden technique that the Blood Tribe could not teach others. Secondly, it could only be used by a member of the Blood Tribe.

Just as Vivian's expression darkened, Owl suddenly changed his tone.

"However, combat strength is also considered a type of strength. If it's just to increase combat strength...I can teach a breathing technique that I've comprehended to those foreigners.

"Although this can't be said to increase their strength, if they can skillfully use this breathing technique in battle, they can greatly reduce their consumption.

Then, Owl introduced the detailed effects of the "Blood Breath" to Vivian. The more the little girl listened, the more her eyes lit up. Moreover, because Owl had created his own breathing method, she was not worried about spreading it without permission.

Looking at Vivian's excitement, Owl could not help but want to pour a bucket of cold water on her.

"However, you should not be happy too early. Although this breathing technique is strong, it also has a very high requirement for the comprehension ability of the learner. Back then, even I had to spend a week before I was able to barely grasp the basics. Those foreigners of yours..."

As the Blood Tribe youth spoke, he couldn't help but reveal a proud look on his face. It seemed that he was secretly proud of the fact that he had comprehended it in just a week.

Vivian smiled mysteriously at Owl's concerns.

"It's fine, it's fine. It's just that... Next, I might have to trouble you, Owl, because you also know that the number of foreigners..." The little girl scratched her head in embarrassment.

However, when the young man heard this, he was unhappy and frowned.

Did she not understand my hint just now?

According to Owl's estimation, it would already be good if one out of a hundred foreigners could learn it. He could only teach a dozen foreigners in a day. What was there to be tired about? Or did she think that he was bragging about the difficulty of the breathing technique?

However, Owl had been holding it in for a long time, and out of consideration for Vivian, he did not "strike" Vivian.

He even took the opportunity to show off and waved at the little girl proudly, telling Vivian not to worry about whether he was tired or not.

He would leave his words here today.

When the time came, he would sit in the camp and let Vivian send any foreigner to learn.

He would teach as many foreigners as he could!

"Yes, yes!" In response, Vivian nodded her head cutely. Looking at the situation, she was almost giving Owl a model pennant.

The wolf cub beside him also cast a sympathetic look at his poor brother-in-law.

The young man had a bad feeling when he saw the strange behavior of the man and the beast, but he didn't think too much about it.

After asking if there was nothing else, Owl immediately took action. Owl himself was a man of few words. After a while, he was ready to wait for the foreigner to come to the place that Vivian had mentioned.

At the same time, on the other side...

On the shore of Sakuragi Island, where the five ships of the Society were anchored.

Of course, the ship had already left, but the gamers who had gathered here had yet to leave.

A few seconds ago.

There were also many players who wanted to leave the island, but because they couldn't get on the ship, they were beating their chests and stamping their feet.

However, in just a few seconds.

The expressions of these players began to change.

"F * ck! What the hell, I suddenly got a faction quest to join the Yaei Shrine?"

"Eh, you have one too? Me too!"

"There's still me, there's still me!"

The little wolf cub's precise release of the faction system, as expected, caused a widespread discussion among the Sakuragi Island players..

Chapter 637: You Must Play With a Smile (2)

Without even going to the forums, the gamers gathered by the coast naturally forgot about leaving Sakuragi Island and quickly shifted their attention.

“Are you serious? I wanted to go to Deep Moon Island because I wanted to join the Society Faction Faction.

“Yaegi Shrine...Hiss! Do you think this shrine is related to our fox-faced shrine maiden? Isn't it normal for a shrine to match a shrine maiden?”

“I knew it! Back then, the story of the mysterious stone tablet had been laid so many times. The fox-faced witch's background was definitely not small. Isn't the faction here?”

“Yes, yes, yes! Moreover, according to the story of the stone tablet, this faction might have existed for hundreds of years, even before the appearance of the Water God...Oh my god! This wasn't any more powerful than some society!?”

‘c++! This is a blessing in disguise!’

At first, most of the ordinary players were still talking about the new camp of the Yaei Shrine.

However, some of the more observant and powerful players quickly noticed another layer of clues.

“Big umbrella, big umbrella! I... I-I-I don't know why, but I triggered an amazing hidden mission!

“Alright, stop calling. If you're referring to the faction mission at the Yae

Shrine, then I have one too. I guess all the players who chose to stay on Sakuragi Island should have one too.”

“Eh? Yes, is that so... Sob, sob.”

The assistant was a little disappointed at first, but she was soon unconvinced and asked her blogger.

“Big San, why are you so sure?”

“Hmph, is there a need to ask? Don’t you think the timing of this mission is a little too coincidental? “The girl rolled her eyes at her assistant helplessly.

With Big Umbrella’s reminder, the assistant suddenly realized something.

“Oh, right. It feels like Ka’s ship had just left Sakuragi Island, and right after that, this faction quest came. No, there seem to be two system notifications.

Many players ignored the first prompt because of the appearance of the faction system.

However, the first “ Fox-faced Witch’s Favorability ” was the most thought-provoking.

On a sunny day, I should bring an umbrella without a knife.

Very soon, a thoughtful expression appeared on the face of this big V blogger.

She had always thought that the character of the fox-faced witch was the standard of the righteous faction. Even though she had a bitter background, she was still a kind and beautiful saint.

However, after this incident, Umbrella Big realized that this NPC was not as simple as he seemed.

At the very least, she was definitely not related to the Virgin Mary.

Previously, she had been curious as to why the fox-faced witch had never shown up when the Society's ship came to Sakuragi Island to fetch people.

But now it seemed like...

As soon as the ship left, the players immediately received a system notification. What did this mean? It explained the entire process. Even though the fox-faced witch did not appear, she knew the players' movements and everything that happened on Sakuragi Island like the back of her hand. She was secretly paying attention to them.

The most detailed point was that Umbrella University had also paid attention to the forums and knew that if they chose to board the ship and leave Sakuragi Island, they would automatically complete and end the epic quest of "Survive" and then gain a favorable impression of the fox-faced witch.

At first glance, it seemed like the fox-faced witch was encouraging the players to leave.

However, if you really thought about it carefully, "Survive" was only the first part of the epic quest. If it was automatically completed and ended, it meant that the player would not be able to continue with the subsequent chain quest.

What was this? It's like a mountain of gold, a mountain of gold, a mountain of gold, a mountain of gold, a mountain of gold, a mountain of gold.

This was probably one of the main reasons why most of the players, as well as herself, refused to leave Sakuragi Island.

And now, he looked at it again.

Even the 1 point of favorability gained by choosing to leave Sakuragi Island compared to the 20 points of favorability gained by choosing to stay on Sakuragi Island was a stark contrast.

According to the famous theory of relativity.

It could be seen that writing increased one's favorability, but in reality, the fox-faced witch's favorability decreased by 19 points!

What made Umbrella University even more impressed was that it would be fine if favorable impression points were useless, but from the faction system, the first condition to join the "Yae Shrine" faction was favorable impression points from the fox-faced shrine maiden.

Therefore, from the moment those players chose to abandon Sakuragi Island, they were completely abandoned by the fox-faced witch. It would be fine if they didn't come back, but even if they did, it would be difficult for them to join the "Yae Shrine" camp again. At least, it would be several times more difficult than other unwavering Sakuragi Island players.

In addition.

Clear Umbrella Blade even began to wonder if there was a possibility that the mastermind of this plot was not the Moon Abyss Island, but...Sakuragi Island!

The game was deliberately designed to test the players of Sakuragi Island.

With this set of combined punches, the only thing left for the players to do was to complete a simple faction mission and officially join the "Yae Shrine" to see which faction was stronger and which was weaker.

Although she didn't dare to guarantee it.

However, the girl felt that there was at least a 99% chance that the Yae Shrine on her side would completely defeat the Shabushiki faction.

Even though the society was one of the most powerful organizations in the Thousand Islands..

Chapter 638: You Must Play With a Smile (3)

The source of this confidence was naturally the fox-faced witch.

The fox-faced witch could have chosen to release this faction quest before the society's ship arrived, or even before the players boarded the ship and left. She felt that at least half of the players would choose to stay and watch.

However, the fox-faced witch did not do so.

On the contrary, it gave the Clear Umbrella Blade a feeling that it was more like... A scheming and ruthless woman!

He deliberately let a group of traitors go and then slapped them in the face, making the players who left Sakuragi Island regret it so much that they wished they were dead!

Alright...What a fox-faced witch!

This kind of tactics, this kind of little demon-like desire for revenge, was completely different from the image of the saviour witch that she had created in front of the players!

Interesting!

Sunny Day With An Umbrella Without A Sword was starting to become more and more interested in the Fox-faced Witch.

It felt like she was uncovering the veil of a mysterious character bit by bit. She could discover new things every time. Ever since she became an Internet celebrity, she had not experienced this kind of excitement for a long time.

It had to be said that Sakura Island, the fox-faced witch, had once again brought her back to the feeling of "playing games" 'What kind of good show would happen later?

Clear Umbrella Blade became more and more expectant.

At the same time, she created a new document next to the unfinished "We Were Like Abandoned Orphans, Until We Meet Her."

As an Internet celebrity, not only did he have to keep up with current events, but he also had to learn how to predict current events and write a good copy in advance so that he could be one step ahead of others!

So... What should the title be?

After thinking about it for a while, the corners of the girl's mouth curled up.

Her nimble fingers swiftly typed these words.

"Deep Moon Island? Dogs don't go!

The conditions set by the wolf cubs to join the camp were not difficult. They just needed to eliminate a certain number of cursed aberrations.

In essence, in order to stall for time, he had to at least let the ship of the society make a long trip and not turn back halfway, right?

When the Sakuragi Island players who had been fooled by the Ka Guild arrived at the Moon Abyss Island and officially joined the Society, the Yae Shrine would be fully revealed.

This wave, this wave is called blocking your path of retreat!

As a result, while the players from Cherry Tree Island were busy completing the prerequisite missions to join the faction, the five ships of the Society finally returned to Deep Moon Island.

This bright sunshine!

This cloudless blue sky!

This bustling street was filled with people!

Look!

Let's see what a main city is!

What was an island in the Yang Realm?

In comparison...

Sakuragi Island?

Many of the Sakuragi Island players who had come down from the ship felt as if they had gone from hell to heaven.

Indeed.

Compared to the environment of the two islands, Deep Moon Island was many times better.

The hands of the Sacred Flame Guild's Guild Leader were trembling from excitement. He had finally escaped from that damned place!

What awaited him next was the exciting main storyline!

Along the way, he and the guild leader, Hei Yu, had carefully analyzed the storyline clues they had obtained from S kai Yousuke.

He was already fantasizing about holding the torch high.

Should they join a top-secret team to carry out intelligence missions?

Or should they start a war of minds with foreign spies?

Or was it to ask them to protect the key figures in the Divine Wizard Selection? The classic plot of the school belle's personal expert?

Just as the Sakura Island players were standing at the harbor, imagining the future, waiting for the club to welcome them..

Finally...

"Are you the group of foreign refugees from Sakuragi Island that Lord Yosuke mentioned?" A bespectacled official finally appeared in front of the players with an impatient expression.

Although this NPC's expression was very arrogant, he held the torch high for the sake of the future mission and for the sake of the faction's favorability. He endured it!

“Alright, there’s no need to say anything else. Just look at your tattered clothes. You came at the right time. There’s an urgent mission given by Lord Yosuke that needs you to do. ”

It’s coming, it’s coming!

Was it such an explosive opening right from the start? As expected of the Moon Abyss Island! As expected of the main storyline! As expected of...

[Ding! Kazuhiro has issued an E-rank emergency mission to you: ” Move bricks

Do you accept it?)

[Moving bricks]

[Introduction: Due to the targeting of the Inspectorate and the Grand Fugui, the Society is extremely short of manpower. Now, a concert for a Divine Wizard candidate is about to be held, but the stage has been blown down by a strong wind. Now, the Society is unable to spare any workers, nor can it hire additional workers to rebuild it. Fortunately... You’re here!]

[Mission objective: Move 100 bricks before dark]

[Mission Reward: +5 favorability of the Society’s faction, +50 EXP (+1 EXP for every extra brick moved, maximum 300)]

[Mission Punishment: Society Pursuer Faction Favorability-100]

Chapter 639: F * Ck You!

The expectant expression of holding the torch high froze on his face.

He was not the only one. Many of the Sakuragi Island players behind him had also received the mission pop-up window.

There were only three words in everyone's mind.

WTF?

What the hell?

Moving bricks?

What happened to the exciting main storyline?

Where was the bright future?

We came all the way here and paid such an expensive ticket fee to Ka, but the first thing we did when we came to Deep Moon Island was...Moving bricks? Then, he looked at the mission reward.

A fixed reward of 50 experience points, and then an additional 1 point for every additional piece moved, this... Was he trying to f * cking get rid of a beggar? Even if the game was full, it would only gain 3,500 experience points, and this was under the premise of carrying 4,000 bricks.

And one had to know that back then...Just a few hours ago, when they were still on Sakuragi Island, the Fox-faced Witch's "Survive" mission had earned them 500 experience points every day as long as they could catch their breath.

Comparing the two of them, the Sakuragi Island players suddenly had the illusion that they had been fooled.

Yes, an illusion.

Holding the torch high, he thought that there must be something wrong.

He immediately looked at the president of Ka, Hei Yu, with a puzzled look. It was as if he was saying that this seemed to be different from the cake that he had painted for everyone on Sakuragi Island.

When Hei Yu saw this, he pretended to cough. In reality, he was also cursing in his heart.

However, there was no other way. He still had to maintain his appearance.

Therefore, Hei Yu tried to negotiate with this low-level official of the society.

“Uh... Kazuhi-san, do you want to confirm with Lord Yosuke? Or let me report the situation to Lord Yosuke first. I don't think Lord Yosuke spent so much effort to bring us from Sakuragi Island just for us to do this...Moving bricks.”

Hei Yu felt that his tone was already very polite. However, in the eyes of the official opposite him, it seemed to be provocative, causing He Xiu to widen his eyes.

“Huh? What do you mean? Are you doubting me? I'm telling you, if you're willing to do it, then do it. If you're not willing to do it, I'll report it to Lord

Yosuke. I'll tell you foreigners to get lost and go back to where you came

After the official finished speaking, he did not give Hei Yu a chance to retort. He cursed and left with his men, leaving behind a group of angry and confused players at the dock.

Endure!

Endure!

Hei Yu couldn't bear it, because this mission was related to the favorability of the Society's faction. Moreover, it was extremely deceptive. Completing it would only give 5 favorability points, but if he rejected it, it would directly increase by 20 times! Deduct 100 Favorability Points!

In addition to the notification at the end of the mission, once it dropped to "Cold", it would be expelled.

It was almost obvious that they were forcing the players to do it.

Helpless.

In order to appease the emotions of the Sakuragi Island players, Hei Yu did not intend to say anything to maintain the image of Ka. However, he could only reveal it to the players now. In fact, Ka had been doing this kind of work on Moon Abyss Island for the past half a month.

After, Deep Moon Island was different from Sakuragi Island. On the surface, it was peaceful and peaceful, not to mention that there were also monsters. The daily chores for the players weren't the only things left.

However!

Here came the main point.

Just as the wolf cubs knew, the players' imagination was extremely strong. Even if there was no cake, they would draw a cake for themselves.

Hei Yu told the players from Sakuragi Island not to be anxious. What was all this? It was just a foreshadowing!

It was just like before entering the main storyline, he had to do some daily activities regardless of whether they were meaningful or not.

He believed that it wouldn't be long before the real main storyline would be opened to them after they had accumulated trust in the society through these daily activities!

The players had no choice but to believe Hei Yu's words. Even if they did not believe it, they had to force themselves to believe it.

What else could he do?

He couldn't turn back now that he had chosen the path to the Moon Abyss Island, could he?

so...

Thousands of gamers obediently came to the designated construction site from the dock and started moving bricks.

It was worth mentioning that some players had tried to sneak away from the party in order to make a name for themselves on the island.

Unfortunately, they were immediately wanted by the society. Later, they were arrested and sent to Prison Mountain.

This could be considered as killing the chicken to warn the monkeys.

In order not to spend the precious time in prison, the gamers could only listen obediently and no longer plan to escape.

The society follows.

In the tea room of the patriarch's room.

Previously, at the pier, Hei Yu and the rest of the Sakuragi Island players who had just disembarked from the ship had given out missions to the subordinate official He Xiu. However, at this moment, he had appeared here.

"How are those foreigners?" In the main seat of the tea room opposite

Kazuhide, Sakai Yosuke asked leisurely while brewing a pot of hot tea.

Reporting to Lord Yosuke, although your foreign chief was somewhat resistant and unwilling at first, he finally compromised under my fierce words and obediently organized the large group of foreigners he brought from Sakuragi Island to the construction site."

Kazufuru no longer had the arrogant look he had in front of the players. He became respectful and honest. He only added a little embellishment to his report.

He then continued to flatter and say,"

Chapter 640: F * ck!(2)

"Now Yosuke can be completely at ease. We don't have to worry about those foreigners from Sakuragi Island getting out of control.

It turned out that Sakai Yosuke had deliberately arranged the scene with Sho at the dock.

This was because Yosuke was worried that there were differences between foreigners. The people of Deep Moon Island were obedient, but who could guarantee that the foreigners of Sakuragi Island were the same?

Therefore, he did not show himself immediately. Instead, he sent his subordinates to issue such low-level manual labor to the players. What Hei Yu and the others did not know was that once they collectively refused and did not cooperate, Yosuke had already planted samurai near the dock. They would take down this group of players on the spot.

It was all thanks to the game system and the detailed quest hints that they were able to avoid this dead end,

From this, one could see how ruthless Sakai Yosuke was.

What he needed was a foreigner who listened to him, not a foreigner who could not be controlled.

In addition, regardless of whether it was his identity as a low-ranking official or his confidence in the past, he dared to act so arrogantly in front of the players. In fact, it was Sakai Yosuke who supported and controlled him from behind.

Sakai Yosuke was worried that as the number of outlanders on Lunar Abyss Island increased, Hei Yu, who he had appointed as the outlander leader, would also become restless and have more and more thoughts.

Now, through this, firstly, it would lower Hei Yu's image in the foreign people's community. Secondly, it could also give Hei Yu a good warning to not think too highly of himself. In fact, even a low-level official of the society could order him around at will.

It had to be said.

Not all NPCs were like a silly girl.

Especially the higher the position, the easier it was to toy with the players who were mostly ordinary people in the real world.

Unfortunately, this was the difference between the game and reality. In reality, it was difficult to resist, but in the game...On the fourth day, it was not a joke. Since he was playing with fire, he had to be prepared to burn himself.

But of course, for the players who were still in the server opening stage, Sakai

Yosuke did not have to worry about the fire of self-immolation burning him.

Moreover, he also understood the principle of throwing a sweet date after hitting a stick.

Outsiders people seemed to value their identities very much. Hei Yu had mentioned to him several times that he hoped to let them join the society, even if it was just a request from a supernumerary member.

Yosuke Sakai understood this very well. After all, refugees wanted to integrate into the local area and get rid of their refugee status.

Then he would give the foreigner a name.

At the construction site.

How long has it been since then? I still remember the moment I got off the boat, admiring the bright sunshine and the blue sky of Moondeep Island.

However, after moving bricks mechanically for two hours, he suddenly felt that holding the torch high was boring and boring when he looked at the almost unchanging sun and blue sky above him.

As a comparison, he couldn't help but recall the sky above Sakuragi Island. The lightning and thunder that he thought were extremely terrifying in the netherworld, and the purple cloud vortex that was enveloped by the curse, seemed to have become nostalgic.

The cursed dogs and mutated monsters that he had scolded and wished he could never meet again were now holding up the torch and wishing that two of them could appear by his side.

Humans were always like this. They only knew how to cherish what they had lost.

It turned out that what was even more terrifying than the netherworld was... Boring!

Even if the players carried bricks for an entire day, they would not feel tired physically. However, the mental fatigue would increase exponentially. The most taboo thing about games was not that the game was too complicated, or that the plot was bad. Even if the players were not treated as humans, as long as it was interesting, they could tolerate it. What the players could not accept the most was actually...Boring!

Boredom was the game's biggest enemy.

And that was exactly how they felt about the island.

What were these players doing before this? He was nervously fighting the curse aberrations, and he was living in a harsh environment with his nerves tensed up every moment.

What were they doing now?

Move bricks! Cleaning! Work as coolies!

It simply formed a huge contrast.

In less than half a day, many players from Sakuragi Island had already begun to regret their decision. This situation was even worse when they were preparing to open the forums to kill time while they were moving bricks. When they saw the latest information on Sakuragi Island, the situation worsened and their defenses were completely broken.

As far as they could see, the forum was filled with discussions about the words new faction " and " Yaei Shrine." They were all dumbfounded. Because they hadn't had these when they first boarded the ship!

How did he come out in the blink of an eye?

This was a sneak attack, a naked sneak attack!

If they had known that Deep Moon Island was like this, if they had known that Cherry Tree Island had its own faction, why would they have rushed out? Spending money to buy suffering?

"Yes... President, the third branch manager we left on Cherry Tree Island just sent a message saying that a large number of people have suddenly started to leave the branch. The reason is that they don't want to follow the president to

Deep Moon Island...'

After listening to his subordinate's stuttering report, he raised his torch high and smashed his subordinate's brick.

"Bastard! A group of short-sighted idiots.. Isn't it just the Yaei Shrine camp? Do they really think they can compete with our Society Enforcement camp?"