

A NPC 641

Chapter 641: F * Ck You!

“Uh...” The subordinate looked at the angry president and shrunk his neck.

He really wanted to retort. Even if the Yae Shrine was worse than the society, the Sakuragi Island had already started the process. After completing the mission, they could directly join the faction. On the other hand, they had agreed to join the society, but in the end, they were sent to carry bricks. There was not even the shadow of a society official.

Just like that, as the discontent accumulated, a turning point finally appeared for the players of Deep Moon Island.

The president of Ka, Hei Yu, had changed his previous dejected attitude. He began to hold his head high and chest out. He appeared in front of the players at the construction site with a smug expression.

The other person beside him was a high ranking official from the Human Resources Department. He was also the source of Hei Yu's pride at this moment.

This high-ranking official of the human resources department was naturally here under Sakai Yosuke's instructions to distribute the players' accounts.

In view of the fact that the foreigners were willing to work hard, abide by the law, and had excellent performance in all aspects, the club was now open to all of them.

As long as they met certain conditions, which meant that they could accumulate contribution points through physical labor, they could join the society and become a supernumerary member.

Here the high officials also specially emphasized that although it is a non-member, but it is also a community pursuit, let the players not be discouraged, as long as the contribution is enough, it can also be promoted!

The players of the Lunar Abyss Island heaved a sigh of relief. At least Ka hadn't lied to them. They could really join the society!

As for the one who really injected them with stimulants...

Hei Yu had once promised to hold the torch high and take care of the Sacred Flame Guild. He had to make them look decent so that they could show the superiority of the Deep Moon Island players.

Especially now that even Sakuragi Island seemed to be deliberately going against them, the Yaei Shrine camp had appeared out of nowhere.

Hence, the Sacred Flame Guild did not need to be like ordinary players who had to meet the contribution requirements before they could join. The higher-ups of the Sacred Flame Guild, including those who held the torch high, were specially approved to become the first batch of players to officially join the guild from Sakuragi Island.

When the system notification of " Ding, congratulations on successfully joining the faction & " Society Pursuing Society " rang out, he was so excited that he almost cried.

He felt that all his risky efforts had not been in vain!

The decision to move the entire guild to the Moon Abyss Island was indeed the right one!

Look at the powerful bonus brought by the "Society Pursuing" faction!

First was a set of work clothes! Finally, he could get rid of the worn out novice suit on his body... [Poor quality clothing] [Rarity: Grey]

[Attribute: None]

[Equipment Effect: Faction High Sense +10]

[Additional Special Effect: In battle, the enemy will have a 5% increase in critical strike rate.]

(A batch of goods rushed out overnight. There is a certain probability of cracking when undergoing intense exercise.)

Err...

He raised the torch high and carefully rubbed his eyes, confirming countless times that this "extra effect" was to increase the enemy's critical strike rate, not himself...

Alright then!

According to the current main storyline, the society was being attacked by two other foreign forces. It was normal for them to be poor. This was to cooperate with the plot!

Speaking of factions, it was naturally necessary to mention classes!

One of the benefits of joining a faction was that players could obtain a special profession exclusive to the faction!

As the society was big, the players who could choose to change their classes were naturally full of them, making it difficult for them to hold up their torches...What the hell!!

All he could see were the most basic professions, such as Combat Priests. It was not that there were no special professions, such as the special profession of Wizards in the Thousand Islands, [Spiritual Curse Master], and the advanced version of the Warrior profession, [Warrior], etc.

But these...

How could he learn all these things on Sakuragi Island with the Fox-faced Witch's Profession Stone Tablet?!!

Moreover, the Profession Stone Stele was open to the public, free of charge, and without any conditions. Some guilds even attracted monster attacks if they wanted to occupy it. The Sacred Flame Guild had tested this before!

However, the special professions in the " Society Pursuer " camp were not only exactly the same, there were no new professions, and each of them was expensive! Not only did one need high contribution points, but they also had to pay a large sum of money to get these classes that were already common on Sakuragi Island.

Whoosh!

Whoosh! Whoosh!

He held the torch high and took a few deep breaths, comforting himself that it was okay. It was okay. The faction actually had a greater effect, which was the additional bonus!

That's right, as long as they joined the faction, they would be able to enjoy the benefits. It was considered a passive skill. It might not be significant in the short term, but in the long run, it would be the key to the difference between them and Laka!

The bonus given by their [Society Enforcement] was... It was...

[When you buy products produced by the society, you will receive a 5% discount.] Err...

It was alright!

Not a loss!

It was better than nothing!

He held the torch high and the corners of his mouth twitched.

Unfortunately, this state did not last for long.

That was because...

Before he could, when the Sacred Flame Guild followed the agreement and began to show off their " Society Pursuing " faction to the Sakuragi Island players...

The Sakuragi Island players began to post the camp benefits of their " Yae Shrine " on the forum.

All members gain experience points +7%, skill proficiency growth efficiency + 70/0.

A Level 52 NPC from the mysterious Vampire faction could learn the godly pioneering skill [Breath of Blood] if he met the conditions. This was a purple skill, a purple skill!

He raised the torch high.

Which idiot wanted to come to the Moon Abyss Island?? Come out!

What the f * Ck is this!

The AKA guild of the NRM, refund the money!!

All the players from Deep Moon Island thought that this was the worst news, but little did they know...This was actually just the beginning.

A certain little wolf cub on Sakuragi Island was still holding onto the cards of the two faction NPCs tightly in his hands.

After all, it would be too boring to crush the other party in one go.

It was fun to play games with each other.

Finger, I can't let the other party log out of the game directly. I have to have the illusion that I can kill him directly, and then kill him every time I revive!

Lying comfortably in Vivian's arms, the wolf cub could not help but lick its thirsty little paws when the little girl was not paying attention!

Chapter 642: For the Sake of My Son-in-Law, I, Zhao Jie, Will Invest in This Project!(I)

“Sigh..

The assistant with the ID “ Super High School Level Secretary ” sighed as she walked listlessly on the beach.

Her family's Umbrella University had chased her out because they were focused on writing her popular articles and could not be disturbed.

Usually, during such times, she would find her friends to eat melon seeds and chat. However, the reason why her assistant was sighing was that all her friends on Sakuragi Island had run away, leaving her alone.

Thinking of this, the assistant gritted her teeth and stomped her feet.

Who asked them to kidnap her sisters, causing her to be so bored and lonely now?

In the 25th century, female players made up the majority of players in the game, especially in the more famous games. Although it couldn't be said that they were on par with male players, they were no longer as rare as in ancient times.

However, the difference between female and male players in the game had not changed since ancient times. This could be seen from the recent faction turmoil.

Most of the male players wanted to leave Sakuragi Island, but most of the male players only cared about the resources provided by the Main Storyline and the Society Faction. The female players didn't care about these things at all. They just wanted to change to a place with good scenery.

As a result, the difference between the two factions appeared. In contrast, the male players on the side of the Moon Abyss Island were regretful, but the female players did not have this feeling.

On the contrary, they were very satisfied with the Lunar Abyss Island. The birds sang and the flowers bloomed. The years were peaceful. This was the atmosphere that most female players liked. Sakuragi Island...Forget it.

Oh, I almost forgot to make the decision.

There was only one thing that female players could surpass.

It would be even better if there were handsome NPCs.

This was the mentality of most ordinary female players, so the assistant could understand that her sister group had abandoned her.

After all, not all female players were as hardcore as the majority of male players.

Speaking of which..

The little assistant opened the forum. Recently, the number of NPCs on Sakuragi Island had gradually increased with the appearance of the "Yae Shrine" camp.

Other than the fox-faced witch and the evil witch that appeared in the story of the stone tablet, there seemed to be a new NPC today?

Moreover, it was said that one could even learn a purple skill from this NPC, a godly skill for clearing wasteland. Since she had made the bold promise to farm monsters and become stronger so that the fox-faced witch would think highly of her, then...

“Hmm?”

Before the assistant could finish encouraging herself, she frowned and began to realize that something was wrong.

When she looked closely again, she saw a screenshot of the game on a post that had been struck by lightning the moment she opened the forum. Her eyes widened.

“woccc!

Why was her husband posted on the forum?

* Cough *

When it came to illnesses, men and women were treated equally.

But no matter what.

After the fox-faced witch, the evil witch, and their “slaves”, Sakuragi Island welcomed the fourth NPC, Owl. The enthusiasm that he brought to the players was not inferior to the previous few.

Of course, there was a reason for this. Owl was the mentor who provided the players with the godly pioneering skill, Breath of Blood.

However, the young man was the first male NPC on Sakuragi Island. He was a man of few words, cold and mysterious, and most importantly...

Just like in many TV dramas and movies, the setting of the Blood Clan was the same in " Fallen God ". At least in terms of appearance, other than a few children, the Blood Clan definitely had one after another. They were all handsome men and beautiful women.

Especially the more noble and pure the bloodline of the Blood Clan, the more heaven-defying their temperament and looks.

With Liz as a reference, one could imagine how handsome Owl was. He couldn't be said to be handsome, but he was extremely handsome.

Even the wolf cub had to admit that this brother-in-law of the Blood Clan was indeed a hundred million times more handsome than him.

Due to the limitation of thinking caused by gender, Liao Zixuan did not consider the advantage of entering Owl at the beginning. Therefore, when his brother-in-law really entered the actual battle, the effect that he brought to the " Yae Shrine " camp could be said to be a surprise.

Many female players were just like the little assistant. They were originally uninterested, but when they saw the picture on the forum, their brains were filled with blood. Without a word, they rushed to Owl's camp.

However, due to Owl's personality, she did not seem like an evil witch. As long as she did not learn Breath of Blood from him, she would close her eyes and ignore him, showing her cold demeanor.

This led to a wave of leveling in the female player group, and the effect was even more effective than the Fox-faced Witch.

They worked hard day and night to farm monsters and level up just to reach the standard. Then, they would go to Owl and hear that sentence...

“Hmph, stranger, you have to be mentally prepared. Only a very small number of people can learn my breathing technique. Even the me back then took a week to comprehend it.”

Then, he would learn the Breath of Blood in front of Owl and admire Owl’s stubborn and jealous expression.

The scene of the aloof Prince Charming being defeated was like a stimulant to them.

How exaggerated was that?

In order to repeat this process a few more times, some female players chose to forget the skill after learning Breath of Blood. Then, they went to farm monsters to accumulate experience points again and returned to Owl to learn it again..

Chapter 643: For the Sake of My Son-in-Law, I, Zhao Jie, Will Invest in This Project!(I)

The little wolf cub was dumbfounded by this operation.

It also changed his opinion of the female players ‘combat strength.

It seemed that the old ancestor’s words about women being able to hold up half the sky was really not a lie!

In addition, the wolf cub actually admired Owl.

It was fine if it was the first or second time, but the young man was as stubborn as a donkey. Before he taught the players, he would repeat the lines he had mentioned before, and then he would be slapped in the face by the players at lightning speed.

It was to the point that the envious male players started to complain when they saw Owl being surrounded by countless female players. Owl's NPC's intelligent algorithm didn't seem to be very good, and his lines were repeated too stiffly!

However, this also reflected Owl's professionalism.

He would teach as many players as he could.

I want to set up my own flag Flag, I want to complete it with tears.

There were a few times when Vivian could not stand it anymore. She wanted

Owl to rest for a while, but Owl refused. His pride did not allow him to do so!

Another advantage of the Blood Breeds was displayed here. Not to mention 996, 007 was nothing to them.

The wolf cubs were not only respectful, but also greedy for business opportunities.

He had already started to think of a plot in his mind, preparing to write a side story about the "Mysterious Slate". He wanted to specifically talk about how miserable Owl's character was. He wanted to write it so that it would make people cry and sympathize with him!

This way, he could squeeze the wallets of those rich women! Let the female comrades be filled with fighting spirit!

What did that sentence mean?

Madam, you don't want your giegie to suffer on Sakuragi Island, do you?

Yes, this was also for the sake of Sakuragi Island, for the sake of Owl's sister. The little wolf cub believed that Owl would not mind!

At the same time, on the other side.

The female players on Moon Abyss Island found all sorts of photos of Owl on the forum. Even worse, there were people like the assistant who deliberately stood next to Owl and took screenshots.

Not only did she not take a photo, but she also sent the photo to her sisters in the Lunar Abyss Island as revenge.

For a moment, the beautiful scenery that the female players of the Lunar Abyss Island had been enjoying had become dull and boring in the face of men.

Finally.

Perhaps sensing that the outlanders were losing their vitality, Sakai Yousuke could not sit still anymore. He opened up more layers of benefits to them and imported a large number of new goods into the faction store, including all kinds of fashion props and even novel picture books. Only then did he manage to rope in some players.

Unfortunately, the little wolf cub was too lazy to hide anymore when he saw that the society had finally made a move. He appointed Sakai Risa as the head of the human resources department of the camp, and Roko as the acting financial officer of the Yae Shrine.

Xinyan was a little unhappy about this because she felt that the position of the Finance Minister should be hers!

Anyway...

The special faction bonus provided by Luzi was: [Faction facilities upgrade cost-12%]

On the other hand, Sakai Risa's ability to deliver was amazing.

[Thousand Faces -Character will still accumulate experience points at an extremely slow rate when offline]

To put it simply, even if the players did not log into the game, they would still gain experience points on their own, but the speed was very slow.

This might not be very useful for those leveling maniacs who worked hard 24 hours a day, but for many social animals and students, this effect was simply heavenly news!

In addition, the official appointment of Sakai Risa had also added many new products to the faction store, including various formulas for props and medicines.

It was reasonable to say that even if there was a formula, it would be useless because all the materials on Sakuragi Island were contaminated by the curse.

However, all of this was different after Vivian obtained the power of the Sakura Goddess.

Under the zealous efforts of the fanatical players, the power of the curse on the periphery of Sakura Island was reduced by more than half. Correspondingly, the curse weakened, and the sakura grew. They successfully entered the second stage and obtained a new ability-[Sakura's First Dew].

Just as the little wolf cub had guessed, the various abilities of the Celestial Sakura were special attacks against curses. The First Dew of Sakura could provide players with the power to purify curses. Although there was a daily usage limit, this way, they could obtain purified materials.

With the normal materials and some adjustments, the players were self-sufficient and could create items and medicine. They could finally get rid of the predicament of not having any supplies.

Overall, everything was thriving.

The biggest advantage of Sakuragi Island was that they didn't lack money. To be more precise, they had money but nowhere to spend it. The only thing the camp needed to do now was to remove the curse and let Sakura Goddess grow up. Then, they could borrow the new power of Sakura Goddess to remove the curse and form a virtuous cycle.

The wolf cub didn't need to worry about the funds for the time being. He had suggested that the goods in the faction store be the same as those in the neighboring Moon Abyss Island. Not only did they need contribution points, but they also needed a certain amount of currency to buy.

Even if the price was set very low, it would still be quite a fortune with the number of players.

The reason why the Society had opened up more and more products in the faction shops to the gamers was probably because they had tasted the benefits of this and started to take advantage of the gamers.

Unfortunately, this suggestion was firmly opposed by the little girl.

The wolf cubs felt it was a pity that they had to spend money to buy their reputation. After all, they could barely afford the expensive faction store in the society. They only needed contribution points to buy everything in the " Yaei Shrine which was envied by the Moondeep Island players.

or course.

People... The wolf couldn't be content.

Most of the money that the players had on hand was obtained from killing monsters. It belonged to the system. Vivian did not know, but the wolf cubs knew that this part of the money was actually for the players themselves. It was useless to hold it in their hands, and they wanted to convert it into combat power as soon as possible.

Even if the Yaei Shrine was better than the Society, there was one thing that they had to admit was that they were lagging behind.

Weapons and equipment.

The Moon Abyss Island has a mature weapon and armor shop, and the club has a loose mouth. The Moon Abyss Island players have a new set of equipment, and it is not difficult to get it.

Although they wouldn't be able to use it, it didn't stop them from looking good. The Sakuragi Island players were indeed envious of the Moon Abyss Island in this aspect.

Looking at their shiny leather boots, their newly acquired fine iron swords, their sparkling silver armor, and their tattered beginner's equipment, they definitely felt uncomfortable.

Tools and potions could be obtained through reconciliation, and classes could be obtained through Legacy Scrolls. However, weapons and equipment were no longer something that could be obtained out of thin air.

This involved ore detection, mining, smelting, smelting, cooling...There was too much waiting.

At the very least, a complete set of assembly line workshops was needed to produce weapons and equipment steadily, and this was under the premise of quality.

It was not impossible for the players to fight alone, but they still had the mission to fight the cursed aberrations.

If a large number of players were sent to build workshops and blacksmiths at this time, the wolf cub felt that the gains would not make up for the losses.

So, why didn't he just bring a ready-made one over?

It was just like in a difficult period, if one wanted to develop the fastest, the best choice was naturally...
Attracting investments!

The idea was good, but it was definitely a technical job.

Especially when it was like Sakuragi Island.

Even though the current Sakuragi Island was no longer the same as it used to be, under the protection of the growing Sakura Goddess, a cursed vacuum zone could still appear. With the protection of the players, the little wolf cub believed that it would be able to ensure the safety of a certain factory area.

It was a pity that Sakuragi Island was too famous. When any boss heard that they were going to put the industrial chain on Sakuragi Island, they would first suspect that you were crazy. Then, when they realized that you were actually serious, they would kick you out.

Even if there were people from foreign lands, people with endless consumption potential.

What should he do at this time?

A: That one still has to rely on "The Way of the World"!

Just like how Owl had sold out his manhood for the sake of the island.

The little wolf cub was going all out!

He happened to know a boss who specialized in this field.

Yes, it was.

A middle-aged middle-aged man, Zhao Jie, who had not appeared for a long time!

Originally, the wolf cubs treated Zhao Jie as a passerby.

It was only when he saw the Guili player's Northern Cross Voyage that he thought of it.

But now it seemed like...

Chapter 644: For the Sake of My Son-in-law, I, Zhao Jie, Will Invest in This Project!(2)

Deep Moon Island.

Zhao Chamber of Commerce.

The sound of fiddling with an abacus was endless. As the head of the Chamber of Commerce, a certain Uncle Guili was calculating an account.

Back then, because he couldn't pay off the debt of more than 50,000 gold coins, he was forced to leave the country and flee to the Thousand Islands.

Now that more than ten years had passed, even if this debt was calculated well, the interest alone would probably double or triple, reaching a terrifying hundred thousand.

Zhao Jie's heart ached at the thought of this number.

This was more than 100,000 gold coins, not silver coins.

The conversion rate of silver and copper was 1:10, while gold and silver were 1:100!

In other words, if he wanted to return to the country, he would have to at least take out more than 10 million silver coins!

Even though it was an astronomical figure, Zhao Jie did not give up. Instead, he continued to work hard.

He had to admit that even in a place like Gui Li, where business flourished and competition was fierce, Zhao Jie was able to make it out. Although he lost in the end, his business acumen and ability were undeniable.

Therefore, after coming to the Thousand Islands, even though Zhao Jie started from scratch, after more than ten years of hard work, he could be considered to have some achievements. The Zhao Chamber of Commerce that owned several mines was his painstaking effort and fruit.

The profits of the mining factory were not considered huge in the Thousand Islands, but they were stable. According to Zhao Jie's initial estimation, he would be able to save enough money to pay off his debts in another five or six years and reunite with his wife and daughter.

The result was unpredictable.

Zhao Jie had already sensed that something was wrong with the atmosphere in Thousand Islands in recent years. At this time, the right thing for businessmen to do was to quickly run away. However, even though it sounded simple, Zhao Jie was still reluctant to do it.

As expected, under the shady dealings of the Wizard election, his own mining factory was also implicated and innocently seized. The entire Chamber of Commerce was on the verge of bankruptcy overnight.

Thinking back to his predicament, even Uncle Gui Li couldn't help but sigh at the miracle of fate. He sighed at the fact that he insisted on burning incense to the Rock Lord every day for so many years.

It was in such a desperate situation that Zhao Jie accidentally got the news that the Astorokis, which had not been touched for decades, was going to set sail in the near future.

No matter how expensive the ticket was, Zhao Jie still felt that it was quite magical. At that time, he seemed to be possessed. He had to board this ship at all costs, firmly believing that this would be his opportunity and turning point.

Looking back, perhaps this was the blessing of the Rock Lord?

There was no need to say more about what happened after that.

Not only did he get to know Vivian, but it seemed that she was definitely a powerful figure in the Fire Domain. What surprised Zhao Jie the most was the news of his daughter in Guili, and... It seemed that he had picked up a powerful and terrifying son-in-law for nothing?

Why did he say that?

Only Liao Zixuan knew about Time Reversal. In the later stages, it was only their small group. As an ordinary person, Zhao Jie was naturally not among them.

Therefore, from Zhao Jie's perspective, Liao Zixuan had looked for him once. It was also that time that Zhao Jie mistakenly thought of Liao Zixuan as his daughter's partner. That was why he gritted his teeth and risked being arrested for breaking the law to lend the mine to Liao Zixuan.

Zhao Jie didn't know what happened after that.

However, only a few days later, the Three Supreme Courts of Thousand Islands suffered a great earthquake. A bunch of corrupt officials who colluded with foreign forces were arrested. The Supreme Courts of Great Fuxi and Kanding were all replaced. Moreover, the strong joined forces to continue targeting the most difficult Supreme Courts.

All of this made Zhao Jie certain that even if his daughter's mysterious partner wasn't the mastermind, he was definitely a key figure.

At first, Zhao Jie was a little unhappy like all the old fathers, as if a pig had eaten a cabbage. However, after this incident, Zhao Jie's impression of Liao Zixuan changed drastically.

What was this?

This was the internal affairs of a country!

How much power did his daughter's partner have to have to participate in it and even play a more important role?

How was this like a pig eating cabbage?

It was as if his own cabbage had been inserted into a dragon's body!

Now that Zhao Jie thought about it carefully, Liao Zixuan's strange behavior when he was talking about his daughter was no wonder his expression was a little evasive. Every time he reached a critical point, he would stutter and hesitate for a long time.

It seemed that it was not what he had thought. The other party was chasing after his daughter, but his daughter was the one who chased the other party first!

Perhaps they had not even pursued each other yet. Both parties were at a critical period, so she did not know how to face her father.

The more he thought about it, the more Zhao Jie felt that he was right to help Liao Zixuan.

After staying in the Thousand Islands for a long time, he had learned some local culture. In light novels, what was his behavior usually called...

Oh, right!

Assist!

He was helping his daughter!

Zhao Jie slapped his thigh. His voice scared the other finance officers in the chamber of commerce.

However, when they saw their boss smiling foolishly with a red face, they guessed that he had thought of something happy. The finance staff kept silent and lowered their heads to continue working.

The current Zhao Chamber of Commerce had miraculously come back from the dead. Because of the change in officials, the original sealing order was naturally invalid, and their mines could continue to operate.

Zhao Jie's original plan was to ignore everything else and sell his assets to return to Guili to reunite with his wife and children..

Chapter 645: For the Sake of My Son-in-law, I, Zhao Jie, Will Invest in This Project!(2)

It had to be said that this was a businessman, or perhaps it was Gui Liren's persistence. Compared to escaping in dire straits, Zhao Jie naturally hoped to return to his hometown in glory.

Moreover, the Thousand Islands was undergoing a reform, and the prospects were looking good. Zhao Jie was even more reluctant to leave. Under his several operations, the Zhao Chamber of Commerce was thriving.

The only regret was that the factory on White Wing Island was still closed to the public because it involved some confidential information.

Although the law enforcement officer had compensated the Zhao Chamber of Commerce, there was still an entire assembly line, equipment, and workers that were idle.

Now that they were gathered here, what they were doing was to find a new mine source and buy the mining rights. This way, they could get this idle assembly line running again as soon as possible.

However, this was easier said than done. It required a large number of calculations, deductions, and cost analysis. From the many options listed, one would finally choose the ore source with the highest returns.

In the past few days, not only the boss, but even the finance department had worked overtime for this matter. Unfortunately, they still hadn't found a suitable ore source.

Either the profit ratio was too low, or they were not strong enough to take it.

I'm worrying about the time to go to the court...

Suddenly, a shop assistant ran in from outside the Chamber of Commerce.

He leaned close to the boss's ear and whispered something.

"What?!"

Then, a loud shout from Zhao Jie startled the treasurers in the accounting room. However, he was the boss, so they endured it.

But then...

"Hurry up! Please come in, no! Pui! Pui! Is he at the door now?"

The shop assistant, who was a little stunned by Zhao Jie's excitement, nodded in a daze. He saw their boss, who had a big belly that weighed dozens of pounds, sprint towards the door like a loom sprinter.

This scene stunned everyone from the Zhao Chamber of Commerce.

Everyone couldn't help but feel curious and confused.

Who was it...To make the boss so excited and even personally go to the door to welcome him?

Under the plaque with the words "Zhao Chamber of Commerce".

A handsome young man was standing there.

From time to time, passersby on the street would look over, especially female comrades. They were attracted by the faint melancholy aura emitted by the young man and could not help but take a few more glances.

“Sigh...” Liao Zixuan sighed.

Yes, he was indeed very sad now.

Especially when she thought about how she would be meeting Zhao Jie later, she felt even more guilty.

It might have been about half a minute since the messenger left.

A series of hurried footsteps came from the Chamber of Commerce towards his door.

Liao Zixuan couldn't help but look inside.

What greeted his eyes was a round Zhao Jie who was probably more than 200 pounds. He was panting as he ran over. When he met his gaze, he even waved excitedly.

Good fellow!

It could be seen from Zhao Jie's fat figure that he must have been living a good life after the reform of the Thousand Islands initiated by Vivian. At least the Chamber of Commerce's performance was booming. Otherwise, how could he have become so fat in the blink of an eye?

Even though he was fat, Liao Zixuan felt a little more at ease. After all, the more money Zhao Jie had, the higher his chances of success in persuading him.

Finally!

“Phew... Whoosh... Sorry, I haven’t exercised for a long time. Sigh, let’s not talk about this for now. Good boy! You still know how to visit your Uncle Zhao, right? I almost thought that you had forgotten about me!

Zhao Jie panted heavily. After he regained his strength, he patted Liao Zixuan’s shoulder with his big hand.

Although his tone was a little resentful, from the uncle’s face that was about to bloom with laughter, it could be seen that he was surprised and happy by Liao Zixuan’s visit.

” Come, come, come. Hurry up. No matter what, let’s talk inside. I’m telling you, I just got a batch of good tea from Guili recently. If we’re talking about tea, it’s our Guili tea that tastes good. Haha...”

Under Zhao Jie’s hospitality, Liao Zixuan didn’t even have the chance to speak before he was pulled in.

The two of them chatted casually along the way. In the blink of an eye, they arrived at the reception room of the Chamber of Commerce. While Zhao Jie was making tea, Liao Zixuan finally seized the opportunity to cut in.

“That... Uncle Zhao, thank you for your help last time. Also, I’m really sorry. At that time, I lied to you because of the secret operation. Bai is actually just my code name. You can call me by my name from now on. Liao Zixuan will do.

“It’s fine. Your Uncle Zhao has been through all kinds of storms. Actually, I’ve already guessed that Bai isn’t your name. After all, I felt a sense of familiarity when I saw you. I felt that you must be a Guiliren. Haha, the case has been solved this time. Zixuan, Zixuan... Good! It was really a good name, and it sounded like a dragon among people! ”

Zhao Jie laughed and waved his hand, praising Liao Zixuan’s name while making tea for him.

Liao Zixuan didn’t have such a cordial treatment last time.

It made him feel a little uncomfortable.

Especially when Liao Zixuan noticed that Zhao Jie looked at him from time to time with a feeling that he couldn't let the landlord's silly son run away. It made him even more scared.

But there was no other way. Since he was already here, Liao Zixuan could only brace himself and continue.

"Uncle Zhao, I don't want to beat around the bush with you. I'll be straightforward. This time, I came to look for you because I wanted to... Please do me a favor.."

Chapter 646: For the Sake of My Son-in-law, I, Zhao Jie, Will Invest in This Project!(3)

As expected...

Zhao Jieming's expression didn't change, but he still sighed in his heart. However, he quickly adjusted himself and patted his chest.

"Say it, Zixuan. We're a family now. If you have any difficulties, don't worry about it. Just say it. As long as my Uncle Zhao can help, I will definitely not spare any effort to help you!

Liao Zixuan was a little touched when he saw Zhao Jie's way of protecting the younger generation. Naturally, he didn't care too much about it. Zhao Jie took the opportunity to emphasize the idea of "family."

After that, Liao Zixuan told Zhao Jie about his recent operation on Sakuragi Island. He hoped that Zhao Jie could open a factory on Sakuragi Island to smelt equipment.

"Hiss..."

“Sakuragi Island?” After listening carefully to Liao Zixuan’s words, Zhao Jie first sucked in a breath of cold air. It was obvious that he also knew about the fierce reputation of Sakuragi Island.

Liao Zixuan had prepared a long speech from the perspective of safety, cost, profit, and so on. He was prepared to spend a few hours to convince this shrewd businessman.

However...

What he didn’t expect was that after the uncle on the other side pondered for only one or two minutes, he was shocked.

“Alright!”

“Uncle Zhao, don’t be in a hurry to reject it. This deal is definitely... Eh?”

Liao Zixuan was halfway through his sentence when he looked at the middle-aged man who had made the decision. He felt a little awkward.

Please! You should at least ask me a few more questions about such a big matter.

Wouldn’t that make me look stupid?

“Zixuan, I know you must be very surprised, but there is an old saying in Guili that goes, if you suspect someone, don’t use him.

Although it was not appropriate to put it here, the general meaning was still the same.

Since even my daughter trusts you, and you have proven your ability to me in the series of events that happened before, then no matter how imaginative you are, let alone building a factory on Sakuragi Island, even if you say you want to open a trade route between Sakuragi Island and Guili Island, and turn

Sakuragi Island into the largest city on the Thousand Islands beyond Moon Abyss Island, why wouldn't I dare to help you? Don't dare to invest?

I, Zhao Jie, have never made a mistake in judging people!

Moreover...

"Zixuan, you don't know, but our Chamber of Commerce still has an assembly line that has been shut down. I was worried about where to open it. I hesitated for a long time for this.

"Uncle Zhao...

"Alright, Zixuan, don't say anything else. Just based on the fact that you're my future son-in-law, I'll definitely invest in this project no matter what!

Looking at how touched the young man was, Zhao Jie was actually secretly delighted.

Humph.

Little brat!

No matter how capable you are, when it comes to the ways of the world, old ginger is still spicier.

Zhao Jie had indeed invested in this project, but he was also determined to invest in his son-in-law! You want to run after taking my investment? No way!

Zhao Jie didn't care about building a factory on Sakuragi Island.

Why?

It wasn't that he was wealthy and didn't care about the loss. On the contrary, their Zhao Chamber of Commerce only had three assembly lines. If Sakuragi Island was destroyed, it would be equivalent to losing one-third of their business.

But everything had to be compared.

Zhao Jie had always believed that there was nothing in this world that could compare to his daughter's future!

In his opinion, he hoped that the factory on Sakuragi Island would make a big loss. This way, Liao Zixuan would owe him a favor and naturally treat his daughter better.

Exchanging a factory for such an outstanding son-in-law was worth it. It was too worth it. Zhao Jie had never done such a worthwhile business in his life!

No one could pull out this cabbage that was stuck in the head of the swimming dragon!

Regarding Liao Zixuan's identity, Zhao Jie had a guess and was very confident. After all, he was so mysterious and powerful. His status in Gui Li was definitely not low. He must be a person of the five elements, and maybe he was the young master of some high-level.

Zhao Jie had already begun to imagine that in the future, his daughter would be introduced by Liao Zixuan to work in the Five Elements, which was envied by countless people, and become an official in the system.

As for which line of the five elements to go to, was there a need to ask? It must be the legendary "Qilin Pavilion" with the reputation of "the brain of retreat"! This was also a place that countless businessmen dreamed of going to.

Zhao Jie did not expect his daughter to climb to a high position. He only hoped that she could become a small official or secretary. If that happened, it would definitely bring honor to her ancestors!

If he could get his daughter to reveal some information about the Qilin Pavilion Master, he could get a grasp of the direction of the Guili administration in advance and help his father with his business...

Hehe!

Hehehe!

Chapter 647: A Father Knows His Daughter Better Than His Father

The two old foxes each had their own ulterior motives and had achieved their desired goals. They hit it off immediately and skipped the pulling and directly entered the details of how to implement it.

Zhao Jie was responsible for convincing the people in the Chamber of Commerce and the workers below to agree to this investment. This sounded simple, but it was not easy to do in reality.

Imagine if your boss suddenly said that he wanted to take you to a war zone to do business. A normal person's first reaction would be to go crazy, right?

Besides, in the eyes of most of the residents of the Thousand Islands, Sakuragi Island was much more brutal than a battlefield battlefield.

Even if Zhao Jie was the head of the Chamber of Commerce, it was useless no matter how much power he had in this matter. How to make his subordinates loyal and willing to take the risk with him depended purely on one's ability.

However, Liao Zixuan looked at Uncle Guili and saw that he seemed to be quite confident. He knew that he was an old capitalist and had already started to plan how to do it.

Since Uncle Zhao had put in so much effort, Liao Zixuan, as the leader, naturally could not fall behind.

First of all, he had to promise Zhao Jie that he would be able to guarantee the safety of the assembly line's equipment and workers on Sakuragi Island.

In addition, the natives were not like the players who had the protection of the system. Therefore, the curse on Sakuragi Island was only a visual and mental impact to the players.

However, for the natives, the curse would constantly pollute their minds and bodies. To put it in a small way, they would cough and fall sick after staying for too long, and their bodies would experience all kinds of discomfort. To put it in a big way, they would directly mutate and assimilate into monsters!

Liao Zixuan glanced at the current [Revival of the Celestial Cherry] mission. The current progress of weakening the curse of Sakuragi Island was 37%, and he was only 3% away from reaching the 40% of the third stage.

Since the second phase, Liao Zixuan could see the mission rewards for the next phase in advance.

Compared to the first and second stages of "Young Sakura Leaf" and "First Dew of Sakura", the effect of the third stage of "Young Sakura Branch" could be said to have a step-by-step leap.

[Sakura Twig]

[Type: Special Item (Limited to the Sakuragi Island area, can be reused)]

[Rarity: Epic (Purple)]

[Effect: After inserting the branch into the soil at any location, it will form a certain range of divine cherry barrier with the branch as the center, and it will continuously purify the curse of filth in the area. Any cursed aberrations that enter the area will have their attributes weakened to a certain extent.]

[Duration: Permanent]

(The magical branches of the sakura have the ability to transmit power like an antenna. They can project the power of the sakura to a further location. In ancient times, people relied on this to avoid demon beasts and purify evil.)

(Even after the disaster, the Celestial Sakura no longer existed, but this tradition still continues to this day. People in the Thousand Islands often plant a Sakura branch in front of their homes, meaning to ward off evil spirits and avoid disasters, and to stay away from disease.)

With the Sakura Twig, he could truly create a cursed vacuum zone, making the area no different from a normal island.

It was a pity that this item was not like the previous two, which had an unlimited number of items. After breaking one, the divine cherry tree needed time to grow new tender branches. Otherwise, Liao Zixuan would have directly let the players have one each and insert it all over Sakuragi Island to resolve the curse.

As a reward for the mission, Liao Zixuan gave the first tender branch for free. He looked at the area. It was not a problem to build a large factory with this as the center, but it was not a problem to build a workshop and a smelting factory.

The only regret was that within the range of the tender branch, it could only weaken the cursed aberrations. It could not guarantee that all the monsters would be blocked outside.

Therefore, in terms of defense, the main force to protect the factory and ensure the safety of the indigenous workers was undoubtedly the massive number of players on Sakuragi Island.

As for how to mobilize and maximize the enthusiasm and enthusiasm of the players, even though it was also a big project, it had to be mentioned in the game's most classic " expansion pack " segment.

Liao Zixuan wanted to officially announce to the players that Sakuragi Island had entered Version 2.0, the industrial era!

Unfortunately, he couldn't produce an actual expansion pack to warm up the players. He could only settle for the next best thing, and use the " Mysterious Slate " method to give the players a premonition of the follow-up storyline so that the players could prepare in advance.

He had thought that he could retire honorably after coming up with the "mysterious slate" segment, but now it seemed that he had no choice but to continue.

Sigh...

Liao Zixuan felt a headache when he thought about how he had to start making up stories again. He now understood those web novel authors a little. But before that...

"Zixuan, leave the equipment and personnel to me. But in terms of transportation..." Zhao Jie hesitated.

Even if it was just a small and medium-sized assembly line factory, the amount of equipment that needed to be transferred was not small. In addition, it was the route to Sakuragi Island, which required a very strong transport capacity.

The Zhao Chamber of Commerce alone could not do it, but Zhao Jie believed that since Liao Zixuan came to find him, it was impossible that he did not consider this point.

The truth was true.

"Uncle Zhao, don't worry. I've already spoken to the Chief Officer and the Chief Officer. You don't have to worry about the ships. When the time comes, not only will there be enough ships, but there will also be the Chief Officer's special frigates to escort you.

With Liao Zixuan's connections, not to mention the robe of the Great Fu Priest, the Jingfu and her daughter of the Kanding Priest were also rescued by him. It was not difficult to borrow a few transport ships and frigates..

Chapter 648: A Father Knows His Daughter Better Than His Father (2)

However, what was easy in Liao Zixuan's eyes was completely different in the eyes of others.

“What? Oh... Haha, if that’s the case, then, then I’m relieved!”

Zhao Jie’s eyebrows twitched. He pretended to be calm in order to maintain his father-in-law image, but in reality, he was even more determined to grab hold of this rich husband’s heart.

Good fellow!

He could get the two generals to help him so easily, especially in such a tense period. How powerful was his son-in-law?

Or could it be that this project was originally the intention of the Thousand Island government, and his son-in-law was here to matchmake him?

Either way, Zhao Jie, who was originally thinking of losing money to gain a son-in-law, began to think highly of this investment.

Therefore, Zhao Jie gritted his teeth and made a bold decision.

“Zixuan, when do you plan to leave? I’ll also prepare to pack my luggage.” Zhao Jie’s words shocked the Liao Zixuan.

“Pack your luggage?” he asked hurriedly. Uncle Zhao, you’re not going to follow us, are you?”

“Hmph, brat, aren’t you spouting nonsense?”

Seeing Zhao Jie’s determined expression, Liao Zixuan didn’t try to persuade him anymore.

In addition, he also hoped that Zhao Jie, the backbone of the Chamber of Commerce, would follow him to Sakuragi Island. This would definitely stabilize the morale of the army and make it less likely for anything to go wrong.

It was...

It was over!

If Zhao Jie's daughter, Xing 'er, found out that he had tricked her father into having a new lover and even brought her father to a disaster zone like Sakuragi Island, she would probably have a heart attack.

Cough cough, it seemed like he owed this Xing 'er more and more.

Fortunately, the other party had taken the script of a poor girl. Her personality must be the same as a certain young girl. She must be gentle, kind, and understanding. She must be able to understand her difficulties!

But just in case.

Just in case!

Under such circumstances, Liao Zixuan could not help but think of the Northern Cross Voyage quest that he had seen on the forum.

Although he was sure that there was a 99% chance that this mission had nothing to do with Uncle Gui Li, who was standing in front of him.

However, in order to prevent the small probability of one percent. He pretended to cough twice and asked Zhao Jie tentatively,

"Speaking of which, do you know the famous Qilin Pavilion Master, Zhao

"What the hell? Zhao Yuer?" Zhao Jie revealed a confused expression after hearing the young man's words.

He remembered more than ten years ago when he had just left Guili, the Qilin Pavilion Master had not called him this.

However, after Liao Zixuan confirmed it again and again, he even used his game experience from his previous life to hint to Zhao Jie that this Zhao Yu 'er was not an old woman. On the contrary, when she was a very young girl...

What made Liao Zixuan feel comforted and relieved was that Zhao Jie did not show any unnecessary expression at all. He only seemed to be a little sad and sighed,

“Sigh, looks like the new generation is really pushing the old! You young people of the new generation are really amazing. You can have such achievements at such a young age. Us older generation can't compare, can't compare, haha...”

The Li River was a famous river in Guili, and it had nurtured generations of Guili people. Because of this, many of Guili's catchy poems and allusions always had the Li River in them.

Zhao Jie was not done with his words. The following sentence made Liao Zixuan's eyelids jump.

“Hey, after hearing what you said, our new pavilion master, Zhao Yu 'Er, has a similar name to my daughter Xing' Er.

“Haha, great minds think alike. Yu 'Er's father thought the same thing as me. He knows that daughters with such names will definitely be blessed and have great achievements in the future!

Looking at Zhao Jie's happy expression, it was as if he was pleased that the new Pavilion Master had the same surname as him. He felt like a commoner who had the same surname as the emperor in ancient times. Liao Zixuan could not help but ask about the core.

Was there a possibility...

Just a type of possibility, a type of possibility

Just when Liao Zixuan was about to convince himself to panic..

Chapter 649: A Father Knows His Daughter Best (3)

Fortunately...

It had to be said.

There was a saying that went well.

No one knows a daughter better than a father!

Zhao Jie held his stomach and laughed at the panicking Liao Zixuan.

“No, Zixuan...Hahaha, aiyo, no, no, don't be like this. My old body can't laugh too much. It's about to fall apart...’

After a while, Zhao Jie straightened up and patted Liao Zixuan's shoulder.

“Brat, if you want to talk about other things, Uncle Zhao is old and his brain is slow. He can't react in time and might really be deceived by you. However, if it's about Xing 'er...Hmph hmph, brat, I know you have a good relationship with Xing 'er and are very close, but no matter how close you are and how well you understand Xing' er, can you compare to me, your biological father?” At this moment, Zhao Jie suddenly used the pressure of a father-in-law. As if showing off, he began to talk to Liao Zixuan,

“Let me tell you this. When Xing 'Er was five or six years old, she suddenly burst into tears in her room. When I heard it, I quickly ran over to ask. It turned out that Xing' Er had lost her favorite socks. She searched alone in her room for an hour, but she couldn't find them. In the end, guess what...Hahaha, sigh, I can't do it. I want to laugh when I think about it.

“In the end, I pointed at her little feet and asked Xing ‘Er, what are you wearing on your own feet?
Hahahaha, I will never forget this.

“So you said that this silly girl can become the Qilin Pavilion Master?

Hahahaha, then our Guili is doomed, haha...* Cough cough *****

Zhao Jie had originally wanted to compare himself to Liao Zixuan, wanting to prove how deep the bond and memories between him and his daughter were. However, as he spoke, Zhao Jie finally reacted...Not good!

How could he tell others about his daughter’s embarrassing incident?

What if the rich son-in-law opposite her heard this and had a bad impression of her daughter!

Zhao Jie quickly coughed a few times to change the topic and tried to remedy the situation.

“But of course, Xing ‘Er was a little stupid when she was young, but she might have eaten it! She had to eat two big bowls of rice for every meal. That figure was amazing! White and chubby! It was said that when they fought in school, even the strongest male child king had to give in to Xing ‘er! Call her Sister Xing ‘er!”

In the eyes of Zhao Tie, who was also a traditional member of the older generation, it was a blessing for a child to be able to eat. It was a symbol of health. The fairer and fatter the child, the more likable he was. It also represented the wealth of the family behind him.

Liao Zixuan watched as Zhao Jie proudly recounted his daughter’s glorious deeds...

At the same time, he was also sketching out the image of a “silly chubby girl” in his mind based on the two stories of Zhao Jie.

This made Liao Zixuan finally put down the huge stone in his heart.

After all, Zhao Yu 'er had a slim figure and smooth skin. She was known as the 'exquisite jade person. Other than being very fair, she did not seem to have anything in common with Uncle Zhao's daughter.

"Also, Zixuan, I have to talk to you about this. Although I know you're joking, you can't slander my Xing 'er like this."

"I, Zhao Jie, will tell you this today. How can I not know the daughter I raised? How could Xing 'er be such a person? When she was young, the person she was closest to wasn't her mother, but me, her father!"

"I personally washed her bed and pants many times. Every night before she went to bed, she had to have me by her side to coax her to sleep. Otherwise, she would scream and cry non-stop. Even if she did badly in her exams, she would secretly look for me to help her hide it from her mother.

"You're telling me now that Xing 'er won't acknowledge me as her father?" Zhao Jie cupped his fists and snorted.

With the pride of an old father, he said arrogantly in front of Liao Zixuan,

"In this world, no one understands Xing 'er better than I do!

Chapter 650: The Fifth Stone Slate Appeared Out of thin Air (1)

It was a good thing to have such a reliable partner.

Zhao Jie dispelled Liao Zixuan's last bit of concern and began to let loose and show off his skills.

He first told Zhao Jie not to be anxious. After everything was settled on his side, he would inform Zhao Jie. At that time, he would personally bring Zhao Jie to Sakuragi Island. In the meantime, Zhao Jie only needed to focus on mobilizing the Chamber of Commerce and the workers.

After that, Liao Zixuan immediately returned to Sakuragi Island. After returning to his wolf cub form, he entered the Celestial Cherry Space with Vivian.

As soon as she came in, Vivian was surprised. After all, the sapling of the Sakura Goddess a week ago was now taller than a little girl.

The little wolf cub looked at the progress of the quest. The recovery rate was 40.3%. It had increased by more than 1% during his business trip to the Lunar Abyss Island. The little wolf cub had to praise the efficiency of the players.

He briefly explained the situation to Vivian. Of course, many unnecessary details were omitted in the middle. In short, the little girl showed an expression of anticipation and worry.

Of course, she was very happy to be able to build an equipment smelter on Sakuragi Island. The owner of the factory was her acquaintance, Uncle Zhao Jie. But it was also because of this that Vivian was very concerned about the safety of the factory.

After all, the scene of Zhao Jie being blown up and killed by her during the rebellion against the Water God was still fresh in Vivian's mind.

Reaching out, he plucked a shimmering sakura sprout from the branch of the divine cherry blossom. This was the reward for the third stage, the sakura twig.

After Vivian took it out, she had clearly left the Celestial Sakura Dimension, but with the branch in her hand, the little girl felt that the Celestial Sakura was still in front of her.

Now that he had obtained the key item, the next step was to choose the place to insert it.

In the beginning, the safe zone that could be set up by the branches was relatively small. It was only about the size of a university field. Even the smallest mine on Sakuragi Island could not cover it. Therefore, the little wolf cubs could only give up the idea of including the mine.

In this way, it was equivalent to giving up mining and letting Zhao Jie's factory focus on smelting equipment. The advantage was naturally that the safety factor was greatly increased, but the disadvantage was that the efficiency would be lower.

It wasn't that there were fewer people mining. The wolf cubs didn't expect Zhao Jie's workers to dig. This kind of hardship... This kind of great opportunity to complete missions was naturally reserved for the players.

Unfortunately, because the "safe zone" could not envelop the mine, it meant that the cursed pollution on the ore had to be purified by the Players themselves with Cherry Dew. This way, no matter how many mines the Players dug, the amount of Cherry Dew purified every day was limited, which undoubtedly limited the output.

That was the only way to go in the early stages, and the wolf cubs did not have any good ideas. In the end, after discussing everything with Vivian, they chose a mine on the outskirts of Sakuragi Island that happened to have an open space suitable for setting up camp.

Vivian played the role of the fox-faced witch again. Under the instructions of the wolf cubs, she did not deliberately hide her whereabouts like the previous times.

On the contrary, the fox-faced witch appeared openly in front of the players this time. She brought the sakura branch and went to the planned area to set up the sakura safe zone.

This action attracted the attention of the players, causing many of them to stop farming monsters and level up. They chased after the fox-faced witch, curious about the little girl's actions.

Quite a few quick-witted players had already guessed it and were secretly excited and looking forward to it. It must be that a new storyline was about to begin.

When the sakura branch was inserted into the soil by Vivian, it immediately burst into dazzling light. At this time, the Sakura Shrine, which was located at the peak of Sakuragi Island, also flickered and responded.

A semi-transparent barrier of the Cherry Blossom spread out rapidly, covering the entire open area in front of the mine with the branch as the center.

Under such a strange phenomenon, the players looked around and exclaimed.

They looked at their feet. The unknown purple moss that had covered the ground began to recede like a tide. The plants that had grown on them and mutated due to the curse also withered and deformed. In the end, they died.

However, if they looked closely, the Players would see a touch of fresh green under the corpses of the dead mutated plants. It should not have appeared on Sakuragi Island, but it symbolized true life.

After getting used to seeing all kinds of things in the netherworld, this was undoubtedly a great comfort to the players' hearts, making them unable to help but have the desire to protect them.

Apart from the earth and the vegetation, the light purple air around the players, which was originally covered in a layer of filth, also became clear and transparent.

Some players who stood at the boundary of the Celestial Sakura Barrier could feel the difference the most.

The barrier was like a filter. The curse fog outside the barrier had just returned and drifted over. In the end, the moment it touched the barrier, it was like the first snow being hit by the sun. It evaporated in minutes.

"Yay!" Cheers rang out from the players.

After the introduction of the faction system, the mentality of the players also changed. Originally, they might have only used Sakuragi Island as a dungeon setting, but now, more or less, they really had a sense of belonging. Naturally, I feel happy to see that my home and the environment have become better..
