

The Alpha's Rejected Bride Chapter 63

Pure Bliss is what I have been living in, three months after our honeymoon at the island, Rayan took me for a mini vacation except it's not all you could have imagined. We are in the southern part of the country, hunting down demons. They have terrorized the supernatural enough. So we plan to drag them back to hell where they came from.

I've lost count of how many we have killed so far. The new pack made a report recently saying that demons have been spotted near here so we said we took it upon ourselves to kill them. The news that the king and queen kill demons sprayed like wildfire that so many people joined in the quest, it's safe to say that soon, our realm will be demon free.

We are in a hotel, Rayan is already dressed in his costume and I'm struggling to get in mine. It's an all-black similar costume. We bought today while we were sightseeing.

Finally putting on my tight leather pants, my vision blurs for a few seconds. Rayan laughs his guts out, I breathe.

He comes to me like a predator, he begins to kiss my neck softly but I push him as well and he falls to the bed, I hover over him and bend down to kiss him. He is groaning and growling softly. I smirk knowing this won't go further and I just want to tease him for laughing at me

I feel his member protruding in his pants and I touch it.

I quickly roll off him and smile

" Let's go, baby, we have demons to eliminate,"

I purr almost sounding hurt for him. Rayan has a horrific look on his face before it changes to confusing

" You can't leave me like this?!" He exclaims childishly. I giggle and wear my ankle boots, I stand in front of the mirror, looking at my all-dark outfit. Damn, I look hot. I say to myself.

" Babe, they won't kill themselves,"

My loving husband comes close to me and grabs my waist. He grabs my chin and kisses my lips softly

" You're becoming sass. I like it, badass," he says and rewards me with a kiss again... We stop by the adjoining suite to give our son kisses. He is playing with Meredith and Kai.

Kai gets to his feet " should we go?" He asks, I nod as I carry my Ahyan.

"Hi, love," I kiss his cheeks. He's screaming and dancing in my arms to the song playing on the tv.

Soon, the demon comes out in a pretty provocative outfit and Kai nods at his chosen mate's outfit before taking her to the corner.

"We talked about this," he hisses. Tia rolls her eyes as she retorts something. She has been helping us bring the demons down and we are successful. Her relationship with Kai has escalated, they got engaged weeks ago and will get married as soon as we go back home.

"I'm not changing, I like kicking a*s feeling sexy!" I hear Tia shout. Rayan groans and kisses Ahyan on the head.

"See you tomorrow, buddy," he tells him

"Bye Daddy!" He says in a small voice but his focus is on the screen. I frown and make a mental note that should reduce his screen time. I take a mental note.

Finally agreeing to one thing, the couple meets us in the car. Kai is driving and sulking while Tia is happy and singing to the radio. Rayan and I are in the backseat as he briefs me on what is going on. The packs are doing very well under him

And the few demons or vampires are becoming less of a problem. Vampires have not always been a problem, they live in clans and away from the huge population but a few unruly ones used to cause trouble for humans by using them as blood bags which will result in death but with the new spell Yadiel and the priestess did, vampires can't kill humans without themselves coming to harm.

Speaking of Yadiel, Alora told me that they went on a date and it was magical! She is very happy.

We drive far from the town to a rural community where demons have been terrorizing innocent wolves, the village is small and without so many warriors since these are rogues that are peacefully living among humans. When we get there, indeed. A group of demons is surrounding a few warriors.

"I'm sure they want to drain their strength,"

Tia whispers as she gets out of the car. They turn to us and we all get out of the car, the rogues that were there look relieved to see us as the demons were outnumbering them.

The demons look tense now and without any words jump on us, flying over the rogues. I brace myself and grab one by the neck, my claws extend and I smile as I slit his neck open. I kick and punch the other one who just came at me. The fight is fast and easy because it's obvious we are stronger than them by far...

A demon jumps on my back but I quickly remove my horns through my back and pierce his body, she screams as she falls to the ground.

I glance at Rayan, he is killing them mercilessly by detaching their heads from their body. They keep coming and we are killing them. Adrenaline is rushing through me and I'm enjoying this.

Once they are all dead, my mate and I reunite for a kiss. I'm smiling against his lips.

"That's was fun,"

"You were amazing and watching you fight and all covered in the blood of our enemies makes me want you more," he winks. A growl escapes my lips and bites his lower lip seductively.

"Me too," I purr. Touching his biceps.

"Eewww," Kai and Tia say in unison. Their face has contorted into awkward ones.

We talk to the rogues who are very grateful that we came to help, they have been fending off rogues for quite some time now.

After discussing further with them about security, we go back to town. It's only 7 pm so Rayan and Kai are meeting the alpha in a nearby pack to discuss some matters. I take a long shower and remove all the demon's scents on me.

I didn't wait up for Rayan to come home as I wasn't feeling well. The next morning, I wake up and stretch my limbs, on the bedside table is a breakfast tray with a lot of delicious food. French toast, boiled eggs, coffee, and fruits. A note from Rayan

"Enjoy, I made it myself. I love you see you later,"

I smile and start to eat. My stomach is unsettling but I ignore it.

I change into a dress before going downstairs to my son, I find him eating pancakes in the kitchen and sitting in the middle of the counter.

"Good morning!" I greet and kiss his hair. He smiles and continues to eat. He is picking out blueberries.

"Should I make you a cup of coffee, my lady?" Meredith asks with a smile.

"No, thank you. Where is Tia?" I ask.

"Still resting," she takes a barstool next to me as she observes me. I squint my eyes and open my mouth to ask but Ahyan throws a blueberry at me

" Catch, mummy!" I catch and shake my head.

" Don't play with food," I say. He continues to throw them up and giggles as they land.

" Ahyan, please stop... Bad manners,"

" But catch, mummy!" I cross my eyes against my chest and wear my serious Mom face. He stops and frowns cutely.

" Is mummy a bit upset?"

He has a look of innocence on his face.

" I'll pick it up," he gives me his puppy dog eyes as he quickly picks up the blueberries.

" Done!" He says excitedly. I smile

" Good boy," I praise. He only picked about five but oh well. I carry him and we watch his favorite tv shows.

I spend the whole day with my son, he is just a joy to be with. I notice Meredith keeps eyeing me as she brings us snacks.

" What?" I ask, feeling curious. She shrugs and dismisses the issue but I protest. She sighs audibly.

" You have weird tastes these days,"

I did notice that. I snuggle my son in my arms. He is quiet, very focused on the new cartoon.

" Ahyan,"

" Hmm,"

" You good?" I ask.

" Why are they all singing?" He asks. " And how do they know the same dance," I chuckle.

" It's musical,"

Hours later, I'm in bed, responding to text messages, the door swings open. Rayan is back. He sighs as he comes to me. I stand up to meet him for a deep kiss.

" I missed you today," he sighs. I smile and he rests his head on my forehead.

"Are you unwell?" He asks. I shake my head

"No, why?"

"You look a little pale," he says. I squint my eyes

I grab his hand and make him sit on the bed. I go behind him and get on my knees, I begin to give him a massage, he is groaning and nodding in approval.

"Thank you, babe," he sighs. He seems less tense now.

Rayan and I take a nap and when I wake up, I jump out of bed and rush to the bathroom as I puke all I ate.

"Mi Amor," Rayan's voice echos in my ear. He opens the door and looks at me frightened. I give him a wide smile but the strong urge comes back again and I bend down to throw up while Rayan holds my hair up. Posted by Jobnib.com; visit us for more free novels.

"Why didn't you tell me you were unwell? I wouldn't have gone to work," Rayan says in the most serious tone.

Once I'm done, I brush my teeth and wash my face. I cup his face and place a kiss on his lips.

"I'm fine, I must have just eaten something that didn't go well with me,"

He snakes his arm around my waist as we go back to the room. He puts me back to bed

"Rest," he says. Without any protest, I close my eyes and go to Dreamland.

I dream about babies. A happy life for my family. Laughter, love, and happy goosebumps.