

The Alpha's Rejected Bride Chapter 64

I woke up late the next day. Rayan is sitting at the edge of the bed, stroking my hair gently.

I smile when I flutter my eyes open.

"Hey,"

He bends down and kisses my temple.

"Morning love," he greets.

"No work today?"

"You're beautiful, I couldn't stop watching you"

I smile at his compliments and sit up straight. I straddle him and I take him for a deep kiss. I feel hot all over my body. I'm burning with desire for him. My mate seems to be taken back by my actions but he gets into bed and rests his back on the headboard. He kisses my throat and I hold his neck, enjoying his kisses. I take off my dress and pull down his sweatpants. He cs an eyebrow but doesn't protest. I lower myself on his ck gently until I take him in. I begin to move gently. His hands are on my waist, guiding my movements. I look straight into his eyes.

He bites my collarbone in pleasure.

"You're so nice," he says. My moans are getting louder and louder as I feel myself getting close. I quicken my movements and we both cm with a loud moan. We are panting. My head is buried in the crook of his neck.

"That was a ... Surprise," he says a little unsure. I giggle, I just wanted him so much and Pisces wanted us to be in charge, I have noticed that she is a horny female, but this past month has been worse.

Rayan and I are in an embrace, it's serene and I drift to sleep.

I groggily open my eyes and realize i'm in Rayan's embrace.

I get out of the bed carefully without waking him. As I'm taking a shower, I caress my breast. They seem a bit bigger and have I gained some weight? I snarl and ignore it. I need to start going to the gym. I've never really bothered in my life because naturally, I've always had a beautiful slender figure. Thin waist, right hips, and butt that made it hard to ignore me.

I get out of the shower and do my hair in a wavy style. I do my makeup just how I like it and wear a Sundance dress and new high heel sandals I recently got. It's hot here. When I leave the closet, my mate is still in bed, sleeping. His belly against the mattress. I jump on top of his back and kiss his neck. I get the remote next to him and open the curtains. He complains as the sun glares on his face.

"No, Lucy no,"

I only laugh

"Wake up now," he abruptly switches our positions so I'm under him. He is smiling down at me.

"You seem energized, do my seeds do that to you?" He smirks.

"Argh, you're so disgusting!" I push him off me and he rolls off the bed "I want to go out today before we leave the town,"

We are leaving tomorrow since the threat is over and Rayan's business is done here. I miss the castle and everyone.

Rayan is sniffing and listening attentively but shakes his head.

"What is it?" I inquire. He looks unsure as he answers

"Nothing, I'll shower and we can go out for breakfast," he says and goes into the ensuite bathroom.

I grab my phone and call Meredith. I inform her we won't stay for breakfast and should get my son ready.

'Son,' Pisces repeats. She sounds worried

'what is it?'

'is it your favorite thing to say today?' she retorts. I swallow and ignore her. So moody.

Rayan, Ahyan, and I get out of the car and walk into a luxurious restaurant. The waiters and chef rush to us and bow.

"King Rayan, Queen Lucille! We are so glad you came here," a mid-aged man bows. He's the chef.

"Welcome and please follow me to the VIP table,"

The man seems very excited. We walk there and take our seats. Aryan is trying to climb on the glass table, a habit of his these days, he likes to sit on tables or counter

The chef explains the dishes and I can't choose so I let Rayan do that for us.

" And fish fingers for our little man here,"

" Yeah!" Aryan cheers, he loves them. He is very excited.

The chef exits and a woman with a huge stomach walk in. They exchange a few pleasantries with one of the waiters before coming towards us. We smile and exchange pleasantries before she exits into the kitchen. She is the owner of the place.

I notice she took Aryan's focus

" Why is her stomach big?" he asks.

" She's having a baby," I tell him. He looks confused.

" but the stomach is biggg, mummy!" We laugh and it's Rayan who answers " it happens when you are about to get a baby,"

" Hmm,"

" Would you like a little brother or sister, Aryan?" Rayan asks our son seriously. I'm surprised by his question. We have not talked about babies yet but I remember the dream I had today, we will surely have kids.

Aryan takes his time to answer.

" Nope!" He sounds so sure. No one can argue with that. Rayan frowns.

" Well, buddy don't you think having your little sibling to hang out with-"

" No no no!" He screams. I hold my sensitive ears.

" Okay okay, enough now," Rayan concedes. Aryan quietens immediately and says

" Daddy, I'm hungry,"

As soon as he says that. The waiters bring out our food.

The food is very delicious, we eat until we are sate. I ate so much, I didn't even know I was that hungry.

Later, we go to the park and then took Ahyan toy shopping. I also wanted new lingerie so I got it. So many than I wanted while Rayan and Ahyan stayed out of the Victoria's Secret store.

It's now evening and I feel tired after all the activities today. We put our son to bed and go to ours.

I sigh in exhaustion as soon as the door to our bedroom closes. Rayan suddenly grabs my waist and lays his head on top of mine. He Inhales deeply before saying

" You make me so happy, thank you,"

He reaches his pockets and gets a small velvet box. He hands it to me.

I narrow my gaze to him as I open it. It's a beautiful necklace that has a teardrop pink diamond.

I gasp, " it's beautiful, baby," He puts it around my neck and I touch it with a smile. It feels perfect.

He kisses my hair and says thank you. I turn to him and peer up at him

" For what?" He sighs and says

" For the newest member of the family," he rubs my stomach and I almost fall to the ground

Rayan is smiling while my eyes are wide as saucers. My hands fly up to touch my stomach and I open my mouth.

" How? Are you sure,"

Rayan chuckles " how? Is that the question you'll ask me. We do it all the time, babe," he finds it amusing and I don't...I frown and hit him

" Are you saying I'm horny all the time, tell me if you don't want-" he cuts my words with a kiss. It's tenderizing and so sweet.

" We are both horny wolves," he laughs.

He glances down my stomach and gets on one knee. He slowly reaches down to kiss it

" You are pregnant, I can hear the heartbeat and your scent has changed," he says. How come I didn't notice. I pull him up and hug him.

" I'm happy," I'm crying right now. I feel so overjoyed.

However, how do we tell Ahyan? What if he doesn't like the idea of having a sibling.

Hearing my thoughts, Rayan says " He'll love his younger sibling, he has needed someone to play with,"

" I'm just worried, what if he thinks we'll love him less, he told me that he doesn't want a sibling," I tell him, remembering my two-year-old son's words earlier.

We seat on the bed and contemplate on our Ahyan's situation.

We are at the castle, and I'm already in my third trimester, I reach so much love and spoiling from everyone, it gets overwhelming sometimes.

My pregnancy hasn't been an easy one. I feel so emotional and I'm so tired to walk even twenty minutes even though I'm advised to by the doctors.

Ahyan is still being distant. He's closer to Rayan these past few months.

I'm standing in front of the door with Meredith and Arabella.

I wait for Rayan and Ahyan to get back. Rayan went to pick up our son from kindergarten. Their car pulls up and I go to them. The driver opens the door and Ahyan is the first one to get out. He looks so adorable in his uniform. I get on my knees to his height and stretch my arms. He waits a minute before he smiles widely and runs into my arms.

I hold him tenderly and kiss his hair so many times, tears flood my eyes.

" Mummy," he sighs in my arms.

" I missed you, baby,"

Rayan is smiling at us.

' what's this about?' I mind linking him. Just yesterday he was avoiding me.

' We had a heart-to-heart conversation. Or man to man,' Rayan informs me.

Thank you, I mouth him.

Rayan pulls away and looks down at my huge belly.

" Mum, am I having a baby brother or sister?" I smile and whisper in his ears the gender. He smiles widely.

” A brother! Do I have to share my toys?” He scowls...

” Only if you want to,” it’s Rayan who responds. Ahyan thinks for a while and shrugs.

” I guess, I don’t use all of them,”

Rayan helps me get on my feet and we walk inside.

A week later

It’s exactly 00, 4th December and I’m still in labor, it is hard and we’ve been here for nearly three hours. My hair is disheveled and my legs are spread out... Yadiel is here with us because having a royal baby can be tough and some things might go wrong.

Baby boy is taking a long to come. I’m breathing heavily as the doctors instruct while Rayan is holding my hand. My godparents are outside the room along with my mother, Jasper, Xena, and Enol. A few others are out as well. They came for the birth.

I push one more time with all my strength and a light so bright shines the whole room and we hear the cries of a newborn baby echo the room.