

Chapter 78 I'm Rena's Boyfriend

Just thinking of Waylen made Rena blush. She couldn't help but shyly lower her gaze at the thought that she'd finally get to sleep with him tonight.

Harold sat there, dumbfounded.

Surrounding him were his former classmates.

They all flattered him and treated him with respect. Among them were many beautiful women. The old Harold would've slept with any one of them easily.

But now, Harold found them dull.

At least, they couldn't compare with Rena.

Harold sipped from his glass of wine from time to time, all the while staring at Rena.

Rena and Vera headed to the registration table and paid for the reunion fees.

Aline took the money without hesitation and said with a fake smile, "I'm so sorry about this, Rena. I know your family's in a tight spot. Hey, how about I sponsor your reunion fee?"

Her voice was so loud that everyone heard her. Obviously, she was deliberately trying to embarrass Rena.

Rena smiled elegantly. "No, it's okay. I can afford it."

Aline counted the money Rena handed over and then looked at Rena in surprise. "You paid for two people? Are you really going to take your sugar daddy to the school reunion?"

Before Rena could say anything, she covered her mouth and smiled, "It seems that he is quite... possessive!"

The hall fell silent after that.

The others all turned to glance at Rena meaningfully.

Rena used to be the campus belle at their music school, and she had come from a rich family. They never would've thought that she'd end up relying on a sugar daddy to support her. They didn't believe it when they saw the posts on their school forum before, but now that Aline said it so boldly, they thought that it had to be true.

Some of them sympathized with Rena, others laughed at her, but most of them just kept a distance from her. The people who were supposed to share a table with Rena suddenly had their seats changed.

Even the professors sighed when they saw how their old student fared after graduation.

Seeing everyone look at Rena with disgust, Aline smiled with satisfaction.

This was exactly what she wanted!

Rena deserved it!

Harold frowned unhappily. In his eyes, Aline had gone too far, and he was determined to put her in her place.

But just as he was about to stand up, the elevator door slowly slid open.

A tall, handsome nobleman walked out of the elevator.

Of course, it was none other than Waylen.

The banquet hall burst into an uproar. They couldn't believe that Waylen was actually here!

"Oh, my God! That's Atty. Waylen Fowler! He's even more handsome than in the magazines!"

"He's gorgeous! Look at his face! It's perfect!"

"Wait a second. What's he even doing here? I don't recall him going to our school..."

The principals of the music school and Treross University all stood up to greet Waylen. Even the rich parents of the students tried to shake his hand.

In Duefron, whoever had a good relationship with the Fowler family was bound to make a fortune!

Although Waylen was a cold and unapproachable man, they had to show him respect.

But tonight, Waylen was unusually easy-going.

Someone tried to offer him a cigarette, but he politely refused. "No, thanks. My girlfriend doesn't like it when I smoke!"

Wait— 'girlfriend'?!

Waylen then stopped beside Rena and slipped his arm around her slender waist. "There's no need to be so formal with me. I'm here for dinner, just like you!"

Everyone was shell-shocked.

Rena was Waylen's girlfriend?

The entire banquet hall fell deathly silent.

With a charming smile on his face, Waylen deliberately singled out Harold. "Hey, Harold! I'm Rena's boyfriend now, but your classmates seem to be very surprised. Didn't you tell them?"

Harold visibly stiffened.

Secretly gritting his teeth, he felt so ridiculous!

Just now, he wanted to defend Rena, but it turned out that she had brought her boyfriend—and her boyfriend was the most powerful man in Duefron!

Harold downed the rest of the wine in his glass in one gulp.

Then he smiled. "You two really are a perfect match!"

Suddenly, all the men present stubbed out their cigarettes. After all, Waylen's girlfriend didn't like it when others smoked.
