Chapter 15

Emergency Escape

Tang Susu bent over to dodge the zombie's claws and took a few steps back.

"Open the left door and let dad in. Give me the driver's seat, quick!" she said.

Her coy voice made the entire family's hearts clench. How useless were they to let their bodies protect them at such a critical moment?

At this moment, they were all bursting with courage.

The whole family complied and moved to the right, making space for Mr. Tang and opening the door on the left.

Mr. Tang bent over and sat down, only to hear his second brother shout in surprise.

"Close the door!"

Mr. Tang didn't even think about it and pulled hard. The heavy car door immediately clamped the claws of a zombie.

However, this hand with sharp and green nails seemed to feel no pain at all, still eager to grab around. It was ferocious and terrifying!

"Dad, let go!"

Just as they took out their knives and were about to cut this thing, Tang Susu had already walked to the side of the car.

Mr. Tang didn't hesitate and immediately released the door.

The zombie was about to take the opportunity to pounce on her, but it was kicked to the ground by Susu.

“Wow! That was amazing!” Tang Mingchu whistled excitedly.

In the next second, the car was like an arrow that was released from a bow, flying out with a buzz!

Mrs. Tang, who had been quiet all this time, finally couldn't help but scream.

Bang! Bang! Bang!

The group of zombies blocking the pedestrian crossing was knocked flying. In the midst of the broken limbs and debris on the ground, the silver Range Rover was like a lightning bolt, breaking through the heavy black fog and bringing a little light to the night full of killing and death.

Very quickly, a car that had been hesitating started up and followed closely behind!

Tang Susu skillfully maneuvered the vehicle and nimbly shuttled through the congested and chaotic traffic. Even Mr. Tang, who had been driving for half his life, didn't have such skills.

“Watch out!” A small truck suddenly appeared in front of them and was driving in the opposite direction at an outrageous speed!

The moment they were about to hit each other, Susu turned the steering wheel violently. The wheels slipped and screeched as they rubbed against the ground. Sparks flew everywhere.

In the end, he brushed past her in a thrilling manner and flew away!

Bang!

The small truck crashed into a series of cars behind it, causing a series of accidents. There was an explosion, and the fire quickly lit up the sky.

The driver in the car didn't have time to climb out before he was swallowed up by the zombies wandering nearby!

The family was still in shock, but when they saw the calm girl in the driver's seat, their pounding hearts calmed down.

No one had expected that the weak and delicate Susu, who was the youngest and the one who should be protected the most, would have such energy.

The road ahead was empty. There were no cars or zombies that were fighting for human flesh. Only then did Tang Susu agree to let her second brother replace her.

"Are you tired?"

"Are you hurt?" The family surrounded her in the middle. Even Tang Mingchu, who was usually carefree, took her hand seriously and checked her pulse.

"Eh, why is her heart beating so slowly?"

Even as normal people, their hearts had been beating more than a hundred times after what they had just experienced.

Some had heart problems that caused their hearts to beat out of control which led to ventricular fibrillation. They had been terribly shocked by the violent car trip. How could she be so calm?

Tang Susu took out the Super Heart Pill from her backpack. "This costs 500000 yuan each. It can guarantee that I won't have a relapse for seven days, and I'll be like a normal person."

Even a normal person's heart would beat faster, so how calm was she?

Mrs. Tang stared at the black pill, tears almost falling from her eyes. "Stupid child, why didn't you tell us you had this? We should've left the money for you to buy the medicine!"

Tang Susu knew it would happen, which was why she said that. “This only treats the symptoms but not the root cause. There will be other ways in the future.”

As soon as she finished speaking, the system’s announcement sounded in her mind.

[Congratulations to the host for accidentally triggering and completing an S-rank emergency mission. You have been awarded 100 points!]
