Chapter 19

Training Begins

“Tang Mingqi, that’s cheating!” Tang Mingchu said sourly.

“Don’t you know that villains die from talking too much?” Tang Mingqi had dealt with the slow zombie quite easily.

Tang Susu watched her second brother’s handsome figure walk around the zombies. A fighting knife broke through from every corner and stabbed a few holes in the zombie’s body. Black blood spattered on his face. He seemed to be enduring the discomfort, and his handsome face was extremely tense.

In comparison, the 18-year-old Tang Mingchu was completely playing with a big knife. He did not even touch a strand of the zombie’s hair but was almost bitten by it!

“Be careful!”

Like a cat whose tail had been stepped on, he bounced up and jumped far away. “Damn it! You scared me to death.”

“Pfft, you ran off fast.” Tang Susu couldn’t help but laugh.

Mr. Tang was so angry that he wanted to give him a good beating. “Tang Mingchu, I dare you to be careless again!”

“Behind, behind you!” He suddenly widened his eyes and anxiously reminded her.

“Look at your f*cking back!” Tang Mingqi ran in front of him and slashed at the zombie that appeared behind him!

However, the burly zombie dodged it, and the combat knife got stuck in its shoulder bone, unable to be pulled out.

“Damn it!”

At the same time, the four people on Tang Susu’s side were also in a dangerous situation, because the sounds of fighting had attracted a few zombies.

All of them were wearing suits and had the blue work pass of the real estate department hanging around their necks, but they were no longer as glorious as they were when they were alive. They bared their teeth as if they had been hungry for three months and rushed toward them!

“Big Brother, back off!” Subconsciously, Tang Susu stood in front of him and waved the machete in her right hand to block the zombies’ attacks.

His other hand quickly took out an electric baton and smashed it on their heads!

“Roar!”

The electric current sizzled and stunned their movements. She raised her knife and slashed downward, harvesting one zombie and earning one point!

He turned around and slashed again, taking down another zombie. Then, he took the opportunity to quickly glance at the others.

Third Brother had already taken action and tacitly took down the zombie with Second Brother.

Mrs. Tang squeaked and held the granny zombie back with her pitchfork. Mr. Tang was trapped, so he didn’t force it. He stood behind the crowd, raised his bow, and shot an arrow into its eye.

Tang Susu rushed up and slashed again. Another point!

He swung his sore arm and came to the opposite side of Tang Mingqi and the others who were behind the male zombie, and sneaked an attack.

“It’s over!” Her light and indifferent voice was sweet and soft, but it was filled with killing intent among the corpses on the ground.

Tang Mingchu whistled and reached out to her. “Give me candy.”

His voice seemed to be trembling.

Tang Susu nodded. She dug around in her pocket and gave him the smallest one.

Tang Mingchu was speechless.

The group of people went to Mr. Tang’s side and used the last zombie as a sandbag to train.

Although “they” were no longer human, it was still quite the test to stab a knife into the flesh of these people who were once human.

But no one said no. Even Mrs. Tang volunteered to take father Tang’s long-handled axe, clenched her teeth, and cut the zombie in the chest.

“Blargh!”

Without even pulling it out, she ran to the side and retched.

It was extremely foul. In addition to the strong stench of the zombie blood, the flesh and blood they ate also gave off a putrid odor.

It was early summer, and the rotting smell made it hard to breathe!

Tang Susu didn’t say anything and cut off the zombie’s head. “Burn it, or it will pollute the air.”

The men dragged the bodies to a corner and piled them up. Then, they poured the gasoline she took out from her backpack on the bodies and set them on fire.

Soon, a few more zombies came over.

“Here they come! The second wave of training has begun!” Tang Mingchu gripped his knife, his handsome eyes narrowing.

With the previous experience, the few remained calm. After a round of practice, the zombies were finally killed by Tang Susu.

[Congratulations to the host for completing a B-level mandatory mission. You have been rewarded with 15 points.]

Before Tang Susu could celebrate the fact that the mission had been completed so easily, a gunshot suddenly rang out!
