

I Have a Shop of Infinite Resources

Chapter 23

Buying A Batch Of Guns And Ammo

After taking a shower, Tang Susu dried her wet hair and went downstairs. She saw a certain someone sitting on the sofa with his legs crossed and talking to her big brother.

As one of the male protagonists of Apocalyptic Love, the original owner had liked this man for many years. You Cheng's appearance was naturally superior to hers, and he had a strong domineering aura. However, he was wicked with a forked tongue. During the open beta, he was considered controversial by the players. He was a character that people loved and hated at the same time. The scene of her being together with her elegant big brother was quite pleasing to the eye.

Suddenly, as if he had noticed her sizing him up, the man raised his eyes.

"Are these bullets enough?" Tang Mingzhou was fiddling with a pitch-black pistol.

After not receiving a reply for a long time, he followed his line of sight and saw a young girl wearing a beige satin nightdress, revealing a pair of porcelain white legs, standing on the stairs and looking over.

He blocked his sister's slender figure without a trace.

You Cheng calmly retracted his gaze and snorted. No chest and no butt, what's there to look at?

Tang Mingzhou immediately gave him a rude kick and turned to look at the young lady who was walking toward them worriedly.

Since high school, he and You Cheng had been classmates and later became good friends. You Cheng often came to visit their house, and as time passed, they became familiar with each other. Thus, Susu also fell for him.

They had liked each other for so many years. No matter how many times they suffered, they were always been the same and never gave up. They had almost carved their love into their bones.

However, the situation he was worried about did not happen.

Even You Cheng, who had already formed an instinctive resistance and avoidance, didn't have time to raise his head.

As soon as Tang Susu came over, she was attracted by the guns and ammunition on the coffee table.

There were more than ten Browning automatic pistols, revolvers, Mossberg M500 shotguns, TAC-50 sniper rifles, submachine gun armor, and a large bag of ammunition. Her eyes were shining. Wasn't this the equipment they were lacking?

You Cheng leaned back on the sofa and raised his eyebrows slightly. With her expression, people who didn't know her would've thought that she knew guns.

"Which one do you like?" Seeing that she was happy, Tang Mingzhou's mood improved as well. He indulged her and allowed her to choose.

He had asked You Cheng to get these guns. They might not be as good as the ones in her mall, but he still wanted to do his best to give them to her so that she could rely on him instead of using her soft shoulders to carry a heavy burden that did not belong to her.

Tang Susu picked up the cool shotgun and looked at it curiously. In the game, she liked to use this kind of weapon with strong firepower and a large area of effect.

The instant-firing pallets were numerous and dense. It was satisfying to kill the enemy, and the visual effect was also amazing. However, it consumed too much ammunition. The long-range penetration was weak, and it was suitable for close combat.

“She won’t understand even if you let her see it. Here, I’ve specially found a lady’s pocket pistol. It has a small recoil, is easy to carry, and is beautiful. The mockery in You Cheng’s voice almost materialized as she said the last sentence.

In the blink of an eye, Tang Susu had loaded the gun in her hand.

When the black muzzle of the gun slowly moved from bottom to top, her pink lips slightly curved, and her expression was arrogant. You Cheng’s expression changed drastically!

Even Tang Mingzhou, who was standing beside her, broke out in a cold sweat. “Susu, don’t be rash!”

Boom!

Tang Susu’s eyes were resolute. She placed her beautiful index finger on the trigger and pulled it without hesitation.

Bang!

You Cheng suddenly closed his eyes, a thought flashing through his mind.

Hate comes from love!

The expected pain did not come. When he opened his eyes, he saw the girl’s playful expression.

And that overly ostentatious smile was extremely sweet, but it was also full of provocation.

“If you don’t like me, then get lost. You’re not welcome here!”

“You!” You Cheng was slightly angry and was about to explode.

In front of him, Tang Susu lazily opened her fair fingers and revealed the magazine in her palm with an indifferent and disapproving look.

The man was stunned!

The magazine was full of ammunition, which he had just loaded himself.

So he was very clear that once she fired, he would definitely die.

But when did she take it off in front of their eyes, and even sent a blank shot to trick him without anyone knowing?