

I Have a Shop of Infinite Resources

Chapter 26

Next-Level

In a split second, Tang Susu's heart was beating wildly as she executed her first move to the extreme ...

She shifted her feet, and the tip of the knife grazed her delicate neck. The moment she twisted her body to avoid it, she grabbed the wrist of the sneak attacker and elbowed the fruit knife in her hand!

Bang!

All of her actions happened in an instant, swiftly and continuously!

Tang Mingqi, who had been pushed away, could not help but stagger. He turned around and saw this thrilling scene.

"F*ck you!" He took a big step forward aggressively and kicked the woman who came out of nowhere to the ground.

"I dare you to touch her again!" The eighteen-year-old teenager's eyes turned red as he gritted his teeth!

The well-dressed lady grunted and got up again. "You killed my son! My poor son! I'm going to kill you, I'm going to kill you!"

Tang Mingqi quickly kicked away the fruit knife on the ground, causing her to grab nothing.

The lady pounced on him hysterically and grabbed his collar. "It's you! You killed him! You murderer, you're going to be arrested and shot to death!"

A cold and hard gun barrel was pressed against the back of her head. "Who are you shooting?" he asked in a surly voice.

The lady's face changed, "You, don't mess around!"

Tang Susu pointed the gun at her hair and ordered, "Get your dirty hands off me!"

The woman let go of him in a daze and suddenly burst into tears!

She fell to the ground and crawled towards a corpse on the ground. "My son, it's all mother's fault. I'm so useless. I couldn't avenge you and let you die so miserably!"

She picked up a "man" in striped pajamas. It was the zombie they had just killed!

"What the hell?!" Tang Mingchu felt that it was ridiculous. "He turned into a zombie and died a long time ago. How can you say that we killed him?"

"He didn't die. You guys killed him!" The lady shrieked, "He's just sick. He'll be fine after seeing a doctor. You have to compensate my son!"

Tang Susu was so angry that she laughed. "Fine, since you don't want to admit that he's dead, you can go and hug the one in front. I'll give you a son as compensation."

The lady was stunned. She looked up and saw a female zombie hobbling toward them with her head tilted.

Drag... drag...

"Why should I listen to you?"

"Sure, let's go." Tang Susu held her brother's hand and left.

The woman was so frightened that she got up and ran into the villa next door without looking back.

Tang Mingqi was about to kill the female zombie but was stopped by Tang Susu.

“Keep it. It’ll be a good companion for her, in case she tries to extort us for killing her children again.”

Tang Mingqi took a closer look. The young female zombie looked like her son, and she was wearing the same pajamas!

“It has really grown to a new height.”

Tang Susu looked at the male zombie thoughtfully. If zombies didn’t eat human flesh in a short time, they would quickly become thin and become extremely ugly.

The people nearby were obviously hiding and didn’t dare to come out, so the zombies they encountered in succession were all skin and bones.

However, the male zombie was in a good condition, so good that he didn’t fit in with the other zombies. If he hadn’t been killed by them, he might have been upgraded to a Tier-2 zombie.

“Damn it. I almost got them!”

Behind the door, the woman’s eyes were filled with hatred as she stared at their departing figures.