Chapter 30

The Troublemaker Is Here

The three locked the door and quickened their pace.

A large group of people walked towards them. They were all dressed in an extraordinary manner, but their movements were aggressive. Everyone had an angry expression on their faces as they blocked their way.

“You bunch of brats! Who allowed you to open the door?”

“There are heaps of zombies outside. Are you letting them in to kill us?”

A tall and strong man in a security uniform took the lead and rushed over. He pointed an electric baton at them angrily and asked, “Which villa are you the owners of?”

As he spoke, his eyes glowed and he quickly glanced at their bulging backpacks.

Tang Mingchu pushed away the electric baton that was almost pointing at his face. Who do you think you are? Why should I tell you?”

“Don’t refuse a toast only to drink a forfeit!” The security guard’s face darkened. “If you can’t tell me where you’re staying, then get out. We don’t welcome outsiders here!”

Tang Mingqi, who was in charge of renting the house, was about to speak when...

“There’s no need to ask. They’re not the owners of Cuidi Lake Gardens. I’m the manager of the property, and I’ve never seen them before!”

A bespectacled woman walked out and interrupted him.

The other dozen or so people's expressions immediately changed. "This is a villa that we bought with money. Any Tom, Dick, or Harry dares to barge in!

"Get out! I don't know if he was bitten or injured by the zombies outside."

"If we let them stay inside and get infected, we'll all be dead!"

Tang Susu quietly watched the back and forth volley.

Her calmness formed a sharp contrast with the two brothers who were holding back their anger and were about to die. It was hard to figure it out.

A plump man with a big belly had noticed this soft and beautiful little beauty with black hair from the beginning.

Her face was tender, white, and soft, making people want to touch it. She had a ponytail and was wearing a simple black casual suit, which made her skin look as clear as jade. It was hard to tell what kind of figure she had under the loose clothes!

Tang Mingqi noticed his lecherous gaze and immediately pulled Tang Susu behind him, covering her up.

He clenched his fists tightly to stop himself from rushing over and beating him up.

"We're renting a villa here. What's the matter? we've spent money and signed the contract. What's your problem? "

"Who knows if you're telling the truth or not!"

"That's right. You almost let the zombies in just now. Who knows if you will continue to do this next time!

"Don't talk nonsense with them, hurry up and get out!"

Tang Mingqi's handsome face blushed slightly. He wanted to explain something, but Tang susu pinched his finger.

“According to what you’re saying, do I have reason to suspect that you’re not from Cuidi Lake Gardens?”

She smiled and looked sweet and pleasant, but her tone was so sharp that it made people’s breathing stop.

“Shouldn’t I kick you out as well?”

In an instant, everyone looked at her. This little girl who they had not taken seriously at first!

“Bullshit!” A young girl who was about the same age as her said angrily, “I live in Villa No. 9. My dad bought this villa for me!

As he spoke, he exuded a sense of superiority.

The security guard glared at her.

“Idiot!”

Did they want to find out if these people lived here?

What they wanted was a legitimate reason to suppress this group of young people, make them hand over the supplies, and then use them!

He didn’t expect that when these two boys almost fell into his trap, this girl would suddenly turn the tables!

At this time, Tang Susu’s soft eyes fell on him. “Do you think you can pretend to be someone here just because you’re wearing a security uniform? don’t think i don’t know that you’re using these people to achieve your own goals!”

In an instant, the well-dressed business owners all looked at the security guard with strange expressions, because Tang Susu’s words seemed to be certain, as if she knew something.

The security guard’s heart tightened, but his expression did not change. “You brat, do you know what you’re saying?”

Sowing Discord

“Otherwise, why aren’t you at your post?” Tang Susu pointed at the empty security room with a puzzled look.

“You said that we brought danger to you when we went out, but how much danger did you bring to everyone when you left the camp without permission?”

“Since the start of the apocalypse, you, as a security guard, have been missing. Now that you’ve seen us go out, you’ve come to question us.

“You don’t know how many people sneaked out and snuck in when you weren’t here. Some of them were even ruffians, hooligans, and fugitives!”

A group of well-dressed owners suddenly gasped, suddenly realizing that these safety hazards were only one problem. If the security guards could return to their posts, it might not be a bad thing for them!

Hence, they all went along with Tang Susu’s words. “Yes, if you’re really a security guard, you should guard the door well. What if someone doesn’t want to open the door and opens it?”

“What a joke. What kind of situation is this? You still have to work?!”

The woman who claimed to be a property manager pushed her glasses up and said sarcastically, “If some of you are from the communications department, why didn’t you go back to your posts and restore the nation’s communications?”

“Then it’s settled.” Tang Susu smiled and spread her hands helplessly. “Even if you are from the property management, what right do you have to control us? You can’t be so biased. You’re not fulfilling your duties, but you want to enjoy your rights!”

The woman realized that she had been tricked and her expression changed. However, before she could explain, the girl’s sweet voice sounded again.

“He’s in charge of us tenants today, but I’m afraid he’ll have to deal with them tomorrow. I didn’t know that property management, facilities, and venues had such power that they could manage the people they were serving.”

The owners couldn’t help but frown again. When they thought about how they had been listening to the arrangements of these two people for the past two days, a sense of rejection arose in their hearts!

“We pay tens of thousands of yuan in property fees every month. You don’t make the decisions for us.”

“That’s right. The property management took so much money from us. They should do their job and guard Cuidi Lake Gardens from the zombies!”

“In the end, they followed us into the villa and lived a good life. Hehe... hehe.”

All of a sudden, the group that had united to deal with Tang Susu was divided into two.

And the spearhead was pointed at the security guards and property management!

The security guard’s face was dark. “This brat has such a sharp tongue. She’s still trying to change the topic!”

When Tang Susu turned the situation around, Tang Mingqi quickly understood her intentions and secretly marveled at his sister’s wisdom.

He smiled calmly. “What did we change the topic about? First, we’re people who have spent money to live here. Second, even though we went out, we didn’t let any zombies in, and we didn’t cause any harm to you!”

“Most importantly, not only were we not injured, but we also spent two days helping you clean up the zombies near the villa. You probably saw what we were doing and knew that there were no zombies nearby, so you dared to come out.”

Several of the owners immediately avoided eye contact.

Tang Mingqi sneered. “You didn’t say anything about this and still want to bully the young and the young. This is what you rich people do!”

“Cut the crap. Who knows if we’ll be so lucky next time? you have to compensate us with supplies.”

“Yes, in the future, whoever goes out to find supplies will be at risk. We should share some with the others!”

“Damn it. I’ve never seen such a shameless person!”

Tang Mingchu slammed the big knife on his shoulder on the ground. He looked around and said fiercely, “Can you stop being so hypocritical and disgusting? If you want supplies, just say it. If you have the ability, go out and find them yourself!”

“Kid, you can’t say that. We’re trying to reason with you. If you don’t listen, don’t blame us for being impolite!”

The fat man just now gave everyone a look, and a group of people immediately rushed forward, trying to snatch their backpacks.

He wanted to seize the opportunity to catch Tang Susu!
