115 The Internet, Stunned! A Tomb Guardian's Corpse?! (4)

If only if I could get those hands wrapped over something else...

(#`O')

I'd definitely be sent to Cloud Nine.

Hahaha!

"I have something on me that might help you. I'm going to apply it on your skin, and that should prevent any mosquitoes from coming near you!"

Luo Feng brought out a bottle-like item from his "pocket".

He then handed it over to Qin Rubing.

Although no one could see the system's items when they first spawned, when required, Luo Feng could make it so that they are treated as any other item.

Similarly, Luo Feng could also store the system's items within the system's inventory and make it so that they will never see the light of day again.

"What brand is this repellent from? Why aren't there any labels?"

Qin Rubing was not trying to be apprehensive, but the bottle's overall appearance seemed highly suspicious.

It's from the system, of course!

Naturally, Luo Feng did not voice those words out loud. He only mentally stated them.

"It's more or less something that I made myself. Its effects are pretty good, if I do say so myself. Alright, I'm sure you'll be able to take it from here, cause I'm going to return to digging!"

Once he was done tending to Qin Rubing, Luo Feng headed to one of the spots with the dot and began working.

His hoe moved in a blur, and before long, a 1-meter deep pit had formed under Luo Feng.

[Ding! You have dug up a leather wallet worth 2,500 yuan!]

Eh?

Luo Feng was dumbfounded by what he had just heard.

Did I end up in a garbage dump?

But there should be practically zero human activity in this area...

Before Luo Feng had begun digging at his latest site, he had first deduced a few possible reasons for the dense cluster of dots at the area. The first possibility was that they were some sort of plant life that lived in clusters, perhaps some form of precious wild fungi.

However, if said dots were located extremely deep, said fungi possibility would be ruled out in favor of some sort of treasure or historical relics buried by someone.

Contrary to his expectations, however, he had dug up a wallet instead.

This left Luo Feng rather puzzled.

It did not line up with any of his predictions.

“I say, host, what the hell is this? How on earth did you manage to dig up a wallet in such a remote location?”

“Awesome! I hope it doesn’t belong to a dead person, though!”

“Haha, it’s really unlucky to find a wallet this deep in the mountains!”

In truth, many of the viewers were starting to feel goosebumps when they saw the scene.

In contrast to his fearful viewers, however, Luo Feng was completely unfazed. He tossed the wallet to An Peng and continued digging as if everything was normal.

Soon, a clang could be heard.

After digging for a few minutes, Luo Feng had struck something hard.

However, there was no system notification that accompanied the discovery.

This meant that it was not a precious item.

“Damn this place. It can’t possibly be a garbage dump, right?”

The more Luo Feng dug at the site, the less confident he was in obtaining anything good from the site.

I really don’t want any broken clothes, TV, or washing machines...

“Huh? A shovel?”

Luo Feng dug around the object to reveal its true appearance, and was surprised to find that it was a shovel.

His heart began to race as he considered his viewers’ words.

The blade of the shovel was not flat, but rather semi-cylindrical, resembling a tile-shaped object commonly used as a weapon in the 70s and 80s.

As Luo Feng studied the shovel, gears began to click in his mind. He recognized the shovel, it was a Luoyang shovel!

It was a type of shovel that was specially designed such that it could extend deeper into the soil for the purpose of soil analysis!

“Host, you found a shovel? Huh, it’s a Luoyang shovel too!”

“Oh wow, it really is a Luoyang shovel!”

“What’s the situation? How did you manage to dig up something like that?”

“Holy f*ck! Holy f*ck! The host is rich, rich I tell you! I suspect that there’s an ancient tomb situated right below him! This shovel is likely something a previous treasure hunter left behind!”

Of course.

In this world, unowned land that contained ancient tomb and treasures belonged to whoever discovered it first. As such, the concept of tomb raiders did not exist.

However, just 20 years ago, before the finders keepers law was passed, such professions had indeed existed.

Nowadays though, these people were considered as trespassers instead.

There were essentially modern tomb raiders who had located a good spot but had excavated the area without applying for a permit.

However, such a situation was very rare. If they were indeed confident in their research, they would not risk brushing against the law by applying for a permit, or perhaps even contracting the entire site for themselves.

“Get rich my *ss, this is a place that has already been searched by treasure hunters. How can the host get rich? ”

“I agree! Will the host be eating the scraps instead?”

Luo Feng inspected the shovel closely. It seemed rather modern. “Did you guys forget that I also found a wallet earlier?”

“The wallet? What’s up with the wallet?”

“Wait, a Luoyang shovel AND a wallet? F*ck! Please tell me there aren’t any corpses down there!”

“Could they both belong to the same treasure hunting team? Could an internal conflict have occurred and they started fighting?”

“This is a very possible scenario! Many treasure-hunting teams have internal strife!”

“That might be the case, otherwise, I don’t see why someone would leave their wallet behind,” Luo Feng commented.

After tossing the shovel aside, Luo Feng continued to dig.

“This host is so brave! You’re aware that there might be corpses down there, and yet, you continue to dig?”

“Oppa! How I wish that there were more oppas like you here in Seoul!”

...

“What are you screaming for? Just go and check out his landmine dismantling stream a few days ago! This is nothing compared to that!”

“Man, these Koreans really need to broaden their worldview!”

“Although I can’t say that I like the Koreans, their girls are really a treat for sore eyes! They’re my favorite, especially those that belong to idol groups!”

“Haha, their corporations really have an eye for ‘talent’ if you know what I mean?”

To Luo Feng, it seemed that the integration of his local viewer base and his neighboring countries’ viewer base was coming along nicely.

Furthermore, it seemed that the foreign viewers were enjoying his content as well.

Within the span of a single day, Luo Feng had discovered a huge pile of animal carcasses and a saber-toothed tiger’s fossil.

Now, he had even found traces of treasure hunters or a tomb raiders.

How could his foreign viewers not be entertained by this?

Clang.

Luo Feng, who was digging, suddenly hit something hard.

Fortunately, it was not a big item, meaning that he could easily unearth it.

Upon digging it up for inspection, Luo Feng noticed that it was a pendant in the shape of a tiger’s tooth.

“What is this?”

Having finished applying the anti-insect spray, Qin Rubing began looking around.

However, the moment she spotted the item in Luo Feng’s hands, her eyes almost popped out.

“Luo Feng, there’s the word ‘Touch Gold’ on it, and the font is an official script from the end of the Eastern Han Dynasty?”

“Touch gold? Tiger tooth? Could it be a talisman that belonged to the tomb guardian corps established by Cao Cao?”

Damn!

!!!!

In an instant.

The viewers’ imaginations ran wild.

Could a tomb guardian have perished down there? Could the Luoyang shovel and wallet have belonged to the descendants of Cao Cao's tomb guardian members? Did a fight break out?

Could there be a corpse of a tomb guardian down there?
