

A Trash 126

Chapter 126 - 126 A Talisman Brick Worth 35 Million Yuan? \(1\)

126 A Talisman Brick Worth 35 Million Yuan? (1)

Even though Luo Feng had seen many corpses in the past 2 days, at this moment, he couldn't help but feel surprised and frightened. In this long underground pit, there were piles upon piles of human bones, stacked one after another.

"F*ck!"

"????"

"Why are there so many skeletons here?"

"F*ck! This is terrifying?"

"Hurry up and pick them up, host! They're perfect for making pork rib soup!"

"..."

"They're all so densely packed!"

It was not just Luo Feng, as the viewers of Luo Feng's livestream were equally frightened.

"I'll try and get a closer look!"

Despite the harrowing sight in front of him, Luo Feng still forged ahead.

Although he was a little scared at first, he soon got used to the sight.

As long as he retained a stout heart, these dead, lifeless objects would not be able to scare him.

Unlike a lion or a tiger, the skeletons would not harm him, and the fear was all in his mind.

"Damn, the host is still pushing ahead? What the hell?"

"Maybe it's better not to?"

"The number of skeletons contained here have more or less blocked the passageway, and yet the host still wishes to push ahead?"

The further Luo Feng proceeded, the greater the length of the hidden passage had dawned on him.

After walking for more than 40 meters.

Luo Feng paused.

Because there was no longer a way forward.

"I believe this passage was blocked when the tomb was sealed!"

Luo Feng pointed at the earthen wall before him.

However, he did not pay much heed to it.

Ignoring the warnings of the viewers, he swung his hoe and began to dig towards the earthen wall. After almost an hour of digging, he managed to break through the wall, which was around a meter thick and was hindering his path.

“Wow! The host is doing it again!”

“As expected from the host!”

“If it were me, I would definitely have gone back the way I came!”

“Agreed!”

“If there’s no path, the host will just dig a path!”

Luo Feng reached out and touched the opening a few times, then shone his flashlight inside. A look of disappointment soon followed as he stated in a sad tone, “Guys, this is a dead end too! It seems that this place may have been a secret passage dug by workers, but it was blocked by the tomb owner once it was discovered. How ruthless!”

“But don’t worry, let’s take a look at the material blocking the exit. If it’s soil, it’s okay to dig. If it’s pure stone, then my hoe won’t work.”

Saying this, Luo Feng entered the hole.

The new passage was about several dozen meters long, and after walking for a few minutes, Luo Feng finally reached the end.

As expected, there was indeed another layer of brick walls blocking the exit.

Upon walking up to it, Luo Feng knocked on the wall a few times with his hand and noticed that there was indeed a hollow space behind it.

The first entrance was blocked by a mud wall, and the brick wall served as the final barrier that sealed all hopes of the workers from escaping.

In truth, the owner need not even build a brick wall to begin with.

After all, most of the workers had never even considered escaping, let alone breaking through the first mud wall.

If it were up to Luo Feng, he would have taken the risk to break through the mud wall and secure his own freedom.

“Fortunately, it’s not a gate completely made out of stone!”

Luo Feng secretly rejoiced.

If it were a huge stone slab, Luo Feng would never be able to open it, but since the wall was composed of bricks, Luo Feng definitely had a chance.

With that, Luo Feng took out his Jungle Blade, stabbed it into the gap between the bricks, then gave it a hard tug.

Soon, a brick on the top was levered out by Luo Feng.

Having tools or not completely changes the playing field of breaking through brick walls such as these.

If you have tools, you have a chance to break through, but without tools, there is no way to do it by hand.

It was at this moment that Luo Feng realized why the workers had given up at the first mud wall.

Because they couldn't get out even if they got all the way here.

"All the best, host! Once you get through this brick wall, you should be able to reach to the main burial chamber, right?"

"Yes, I'm so looking forward to it. It's already 2am, you must locate the main chamber by tonight!"

"That's right, we're so excited, hurry up!"

Everyone eagerly watched as Luo Feng removed brick after brick from the wall.

Everyone was looking forward to it.

His eyes were focused on the live broadcast room.

Qin Rubing stood behind him and could not help but wonder who Luo Feng really was.

Even professional tomb raiders weren't as skilled as he was.

Although it did not require much strength to pry these bricks out, it still required a lot of technique.

It was impossible to rely completely on brute force.

Obviously, this was due to the power of the Jungle Blade, a tool that can cut through mountains and bridge water.

If there is no way forward, then the Jungle Blade will work hard to open up the way.

Therefore, although Luo Feng did not possess the skill and finesse to remove bricks, he was still able to proceed smoothly with the blade's help.

"It's done, Little Qin, quickly enlarge the opening and let's go in together!"

Luo Feng finally removed the top layer of bricks which was tightly packed.

With the top bricks removed, the rest could be easily picked up by hand.

Clatter clatter clatter.

Clatter clatter clatter.

Immediately after, about several tens of bricks were removed by two people and the brick wall door now had a gap of about 80 centimeters within it.

Snap!

With a bang, Luo Feng stepped into the room that had been sealed away by the brick wall.

He had stepped on something.

It was yet another skeleton.

“F*ck! Why are there corpses at the entrance?”

Luo Feng thought for a moment, wondering if these were people who resisted being locked up and had been killed as a result?