139 Tomb Owner's Identity, Revealed! The Priceless Item Within the Pagoda! (2)

Even though Luo Feng had not located anything like an epitaph or a tombstone, with this latest discovery, he could at least assign a profession to the tomb owner.

After all, no regular tomb owner would want such an item as part of their burial objects.

"F*ck! F*ck, it really is a d*ck!"

"F*ck! I'm disgusted. Brothers, how are y'all feeling?"

!!

"What's so disgusting about it? It's already been hundreds of years!"

"666666! I'm dying of laughter. Old Luo actually dug out a d*ck!!"

"It sounds like he's cursing someone, but it really is an item that he dug out!"

"Hahaha, that's one item off the bucket list!"

"The tomb owner is probably crying from the heavens! To think that the item he had gone to great lengths to hide had been dug out by the host!"

"I suddenly felt a chill down there!"

"It's alright! Mine's still here!"

"It might not be my place to say this, but who does the tomb owner think he is? To think that he would use such a hallowed object as a pagoda just to store his d*ck!"

Luo Feng pointed at the item and said, ""From its shape and size, it was probably sent to the chopping board back when the tomb owner was very young!"

After returning the item back to the pagoda, Luo Feng proceeded to the next treasure.

"As I'm sure most of you have already observed, even if the owner of this tomb is a eunuch, he is no ordinary eunuch. He is an extremely wealthy one!"

"Judging by how the chicken cup and the painting was placed together in a single box right in front of him, it's clear that these items were very important to the tomb owner back when he was still alive. Perhaps they were personal gifts from the emperor or his concubines!"

"The chicken cup could only be found during Emperor Chenghua's reign!"

"From this, we can deduce that the tomb owner was a eunuch from the Chenghua era!"

"Then there's the six-sword formation that surrounded the coffin as well as the military books. After all these clues, I'm sure most of you have already deduced the eunuch's identity, right?"

Luo Feng chuckled.

After giving out this much clues, the knowledgeable viewers would likely have reached a conclusion.

“Hmm, what do you think?”

“Who is it?”

“Don’t say that we should know. We don’t know!”

“That’s right. Don’t keep me in suspense. Just tell me the identity of the tomb owner!”

“The host already stated the era the eunuch was from as well as the influence he held. I think we can do a quick search to get an answer!”

Luo Feng’s smirk widened as he said, “This person’s surname is Wang! You might not know the name of this person, but... If I tell you a certain movie’s name, most of you should know!”

“?????”

“What movie is it?”

“Wang?”

“Hmm?”

“I only know that there was a Wei Zhongxian in the Ming dynasty!”

“Host, tell us about the movie!”

Luo Feng answered, “Why the movie is of course Flying Swords of Dragon Gate, and the character in question is Yu Huatian! You easterners might not know of him, but to those of us living in the west side, this is a famous individual...”

“Oh shit! I figured it out now!”

“Oh, I see, Yu Huatian was based off Eunuch Wang!”

“F*ck! This is the former commander of the western front!”

“Isn’t his tomb a little too good?”

“Let me copy a paragraph from Baidu for you: Wang Zhi (birth and death dates unknown), from Dateng Gorge, Guiping County, Guangxi, was a eunuch in the Ming Dynasty during the Chenghua era. He was known as one of the “Four Great Eunuchs” of the Ming Dynasty, along with Wang Zhen during the reign of Emperor Yingzong, Liu Jin during the reign of Emperor Wu, and Wei Zhongxian during the reign of Emperor Xizong.”

Thank thank thank.

With the mystery now solved, Luo Feng resumed the tile-knocking process in search of the next treasure.

Upon hearing a hollow sound, Luo Feng skillfully removed the tiles covering the empty space.

“Hehe, if it’s Eunuch Wang, he became an admiral many years ago. Which of these eunuchs had a good ending?”

“He served Concubine Wan back then! The chicken cup was a gift from Emperor Chenghua to Concubine Wan, so it can be inferred that the chicken cup was perhaps given to him by Concubine Wan!”

“This eunuch has been famous for a long time. It’s said that he even had an affair with Imperial Concubine Wan...”

“But it’s all wild rumors!”

“Later on... When he was twenty years old, he was banished from the capital!”

“Don’t look down on his few years of glory. Back when he was at his prime, he was an extremely important official!”

“His meteoric rise is comparable to his meteoric downfall. Although he returned to the palace eventually, he was immediately sent to the battlefield! Despite being a eunuch, he was really good at fighting and achieved great success in just a few years, gaining power throughout the court! But later, he was suppressed again... and then he passed away!

“In short, he was in charge of the western front, patrolled and guarded the borders, and his favor declined before he was demoted to a leisurely life.”

The story of the eunuch.

Luo Feng did not delve into too much details, otherwise, his viewers would complain that he was long-winded again.

In any case, he had simply given them a simple description of his life.

“Damn, is he really a eunuch? How can he be so fierce and achieve this many things in the war?”

...

“No wonder there were so many military books buried with him as accompanying burial items. It turns out he was a eunuch who fought in battles!”

“Amazing! His military talent is really outstanding!”

“This thing... He was in charge of the western front at such a young age, he must be a super expert in manipulating people’s hearts!”

“Is it really true, though? Can we really just assume his identity with so few items?”

Soon.

At Luo Feng’s location.

After he dug out the last piece of tile, the pit beneath it was completely revealed.

Contained within the pit was the second dot on the second stone pillar, facing the coffin.

And under the tiles was a stone tablet about half a meter long.

Naturally, there were many small words inscribed on the piece.

[ Ding! Ming dynasty stone tablet! Value: 13 million yuan! ]

...

Luo Feng was unable to get excited over the item due to its meagre valuation.
