

A Trash 206

Chapter 206 - 206 A Dragon Robe! A Dragon Robe! The Internet Goes Wild Again! \(1\)

206 A Dragon Robe! A Dragon Robe! The Internet Goes Wild Again! (1)

“He seems to be 50 meters above ground now, right? Oh my god!”

“Yes, definitely!”

“Ridiculous! When did the host have the time to learn rock climbing?”

“Is he crazy? He’s willing to throw his life away by climbing up a mountain with a hoe all for the sake of money?”

!!

“Now that’s what I call a chad! No matter how much money he earns from this latest venture, I’ll definitely not feel jealous!”

“Yeah, who the f*ck has this much guts? I’m just asking.”

“Hehe, compared to those foreign programs, this is nothing.”

“Damn it, are you stupid? Which one of those programs is real? Only fools like you believe it!”

“Are you claiming this livestream is real, then?”

“There are thousands of people watching on-site. How can you still think he’s faking it?”

“That’s right. These thousands of people can’t all be extras invited by the host, right?”

“Even if they’re extras, there can still be a slip of the tongue, right?”

“He’s definitely climbing his way up! I can guarantee that!”

“That’s right. This is a live broadcast. The shows from overseas are all recorded in advance!”

Everyone thought back to the beginning when Luo Feng made the bold claim of climbing his way up with his hoe. They had assumed he was only joking back then...

But now?

Luo Feng was already 50 meters up.

No one thought that Luo Feng was joking anymore.

Everyone was watching with bated breath, extremely worried for the ensuing fall if his grip were to fail, as the fall would be equivalent to a fall from the height of a ten-story building. The scene was too much for many faint-hearted viewers.

Meanwhile, many rock-climbing enthusiasts in the chatroom were tagging their friends, saying, “Guys, come watch this! The host, Luo Feng, is so professional!”

“What’s so professional?”

“Rock climbing! He’s incredible!”

“Luo Feng? Isn’t he a treasure hunter? When did he start rock climbing?”

“He’s not climbing barehanded; he uses a hoe!”

“Damn! How does he do it? And is it a big or small hoe?”

“Does it make a difference?”

“Of course it does! A small hoe could be tucked away when an unstable area appears, but a big one would serve as a major distraction during such scenarios!”

“In that case, which do you think is harder? Climbing with a big hoe? Or climbing bare-handed?”

“If it were me, I’d say climbing with a hoe is harder! When areas that the hoe is inapplicable appear, and climbing bare-handed is mandatory, what are you going to do with the hoe? Hold it with your mouth?”

The discussion continued as more viewers began to watch. They were amazed at Luo Feng’s climbing skills, especially considering he was using a hoe to climb. Videos of this incredible climber spread across various rock-climbing enthusiast groups in the country.

Of course, when regular rock-climbers chose a site to climb up, they would make meticulous preparations in advance.

They’d spent a week or perhaps months in advance drafting plans and surveying the site, so that they could find an optimal path to climb such cliffs.

This was in stark contrast to Luo Feng’s latest exploit, which was completely unplanned and was something that Luo Feng made up as he went.

At the moment, on the other side of the globe, it was past 3 a.m. in the Western Empire. However, the channel’s popularity was surprisingly higher than during the day. The number of viewers had already exceeded 9 million, and it seemed like it was about to reach 10 million. Many late-night gaming or adult content streamers came to watch, curious to see what was being broadcasted in a room with 10 million viewers, hoping to learn from the experience.

But upon entering the room, they were dumbstruck to see a Chinese man climbing without any safety equipment. Those who wanted to learn from the experience could only curse,

“Learn? How the hell do you learn this? If I had nine lives, I would only dare to stream this eight times, and I would never dare to do it again for the last life!”

Luo Feng did not put much effort into promoting his stream on foreign platforms, so his popularity was entirely through word of mouth. At this moment, millions of viewers were watching Luo Feng climb the mountain without any safety gear. The mountain was dangerous, and the thrilling heights he was at was enough to make anyone’s heart race.