Chapter 11: Chapter 11 Falling into the Water

Hearing this, Lynn Walker was stunned.

She only thought about dealing with the needle and didn't notice the tissue that wiped her body. How should she explain it!

Benson Brown looked at her strangely and bent down to pick up the tissue, but Lynn Walker was one step ahead.

"It's just rubbish. Brother Brown, I'm a little hungry. I'm going to have breakfast."

After saying that, Lynn Walker held the tissue tightly in her hand, turned around, and left.

Although Benson Brown doubted it, he didn't force her to hand it over.

He returned to the study and found that the medicine bottles were still placed in order as if no one had touched them.

The assistant rushed to the study as soon as he answered the phone. "President, we have checked the surveillance video of last night, and did not see any suspicious person."

"Really?" Benson Brown narrowed his eyes. The light in the eyes was obscure.

The assistant hesitated for a few seconds and said, "Q seems to have disappeared for no reason. If she comes to the villa, we won't miss the surveillance video."

There were no broken pieces of the monitor, and no matter how powerful Q was, she couldn't be in the monitoring room

Benson Brown tapped the table with his fingers, not too heavy, frowning and deep in thought.

Although he was not sober last night, he could vaguely feel the energy in his body, which had never happened since he had the poison.

Was it just a coincidence?

On the other side, Lynn Walker didn't know that Benson Brown was looking for her in a well-designed plan, and she was drinking tea leisurely in the yard.

It was early spring, and the air was a little cold. She was wearing slippers, and her white and tender ankles were exposed to the air, touching the ground from time to time.

She looked like an unconscious little girl from a distance.

But her inner was different from her appearance. She looked down at the watch on her wrist.

At this time, Jo Walker was about to come!

Suddenly, there was a car whistle outside the door.

Lynn Walker smiled, speaking of the devil.

With her feet on the ground, Lynn Walker gathered her shawl and walked to the gate slowly.

"Sister, I'm here to see you," Jo Walker greeted warmly.

When she saw the fur shawl on Lynn Walker, her eyes flashed through jealousy. This was the limited edition of last year. She didn't get it but didn't expect that Lynn Walker, the bitch, would take it first.

Who wouldn't be hypocritical? Lynn Walker held Jo Walker's hands.

"Younger sister, I'm so happy that you can put that thing down."

She deliberately stressed "that thing" and sprinkled salt on Jo Walker's wound.

Sure enough, the smile on Jo Walker's face couldn't be held on any longer and became a little gloomy. If it weren't for the presence of many servants, she would have lost her temper on the spot.

"My sister is so lucky. As soon as she comes back, she is favored by Brown and could live in such a house."

Jo Walker said to herself, "bitch!" She gritted her teeth and finished her words.

Looking at the bag in her hand, her gloomy face finally eased. Let's see how long you can be complacent!

Lynn Walker invited Jo Walker to have tea in the yard and talked to her in a soft tone.

Jo Walker, on the other hand, was preoccupied with her thoughts. She kept her eyes on the villa from time to time.

The two of them talked for ten minutes with different intentions.

"Younger sister, this is the latest IV handbag, right? It is much more beautiful than those inferior brands. I am always using the bamboo basket in the countryside. Can I have a look?"

Lynn Walker changed the topic to Jo Walker's bag.

Jo Walker suddenly covered her bag and said, "That's for sure. There are also levels of things. Who goes with what, sister will know it later."

She stared at the fur on Lynn Walker, wishing to poke a hole in it.

Only she was qualified to wear this kind of expensive fur coat. How could a countryside girl dream of becoming a phoenix!

Lynn Walker sneered, but she nodded approval on the surface as if she didn't understand her sarcastic look, "I don't like this fluffy thing. It's not warmer than the hare fur in the mountain. "

She took off the fur and said, "Younger sister, I think your temperament is just right. How about giving it to you?"

The tentacle was soft and the fur was snow-white. Jo Walker loved it very much, but she still snorted coldly to show her disdain.

"It's not a good thing. Don't mind. I'll help you put it on."

Lynn Walker stood up and quietly moved Jo's bag away, her fingers sliding on the fur grass.

"A good thing deserves beauty. What a pity..."

"What?" Jo Walker was immersed in the fantasy of the expensive fur. When she noticed that Lynn Walker was staring at her with a gloomy look, there was no time to stop her.

"Ah!"

The earth-shattering scream resounded through the yard, followed by the sound of flopping into the water.

Lynn Walker rose and fell in the water. "Help... help!"

In a flash, a black figure flashed by. Benson Brown rushed into the water and picked up Lynn Walker.

She was wearing a loose cheongsam, which was soaked in water and all clung to her body, outlining her beautiful curve. Benson Brown took off his suit and held her in his arms.

"Brother Brown..." Tears welled up in Lynn Walker's eyes. "Younger sister just wants to see my fur. I take off my clothes and slip into the water by accident. Don't blame her."

Her eyes were red as if she had been wronged but didn't dare to say anything.

Jo Walker panicked, "It's not me. You... You are slinging mud at me!"

When she said this, she was still covered with fur. The servants around scarfs whispered and looked at her with disdain.

"Benson, it's not like that..."

"Who allows you to call my name?" Benson Brown interrupted her coldly, with undisguised disgust in his eyes.

The whole family bullied Lynn Walker at home, but they even went after her to his place!

"Take her out." After saying that, Benson Brown carried Lynn Walker in his arms and walked into the villa.

"No, I didn't do it!" Jo Walker was stopped by servants and her fur was taken back.

In a panic, she saw the bag on the ground and suddenly remembered her real purpose.

"Benson, don't be cheated by this woman. She is a wanton woman by nature. I have evidence!"

Jo Walker seemed to have grasped the handle. She rushed to open her bag and took out a stack of photos.

Seeing Benson Brown stop, her eyes lit up with hope.

She took a few steps forward and said proudly in Lynn Walker's frightened eyes, "Look at this photo. It's evidence of her going out to play."

As soon as she finished her words, she spread out the photos. However, when the wind blew, the photos flew all over the sky. Jo Walker didn't care about that and stared at the change on Lynn Walker's face as if she had succeeded.

But she didn't get flustered as she had expected. Benson Brown's strange eyes fell on her.

"Younger sister, this photo, you..."

"What?"

Subconsciously, Jo Walker picked up a picture and saw it. It was a picture of her being tortured that day!

"How could this be? It's not me. It's fake. It's a faked one!"

1

Jo Walker pulled Benson Brown's sleeve and said, "Benson, listen to my explanation. Someone must have set me up. She deliberately lets someone photoshop the photo!"
