

The Reborn Daughter Was an Able Woman with Many Identities Chapter 3 - Chapter 3 A Gift for Her

Chapter 3: Chapter 3 A Gift for Her

Jo almost went mad. Due to years of good education, she didn't stop them. She could only watch the two sitting in front of the piano with resentment.

The two of them were playing an international difficult piece. The melodious music came, and all the guests looked at them.

It had to be said that although Lynn had lived in the countryside for many years, her temperament was extraordinary.

Although it was the first time for them to cooperate, the two of them cooperated very well. Looking at them, everyone was deeply attracted.

Not far away, a greasy man standing next to Bernie Walker. He was John Longman, the CEO of Longman group. He looked greedily at the woman beside Benson.

"Mr. Walker, your eldest daughter is so beautiful."

Hearing this, Bernie was stunned.

At this time, Jo was so angry that her face turned livid. She should have been very happy when Benson played for her again, but now she wanted to rush up and kill Lynn.

Her slender fingers pressed the piano key. Lynn looked at the handsome side face of the man, and then looked at Jo's livid face.

The woman smiled and thought, 'Jo, it's just the beginning.'

In her previous life, she was hurt all over by the one she loved most. This time, she wanted Jo to be destroyed by the man she loved most!

After cutting the cake, the banquet ended and all the guests left. Jo wanted to send Benson away, but before she could say anything, the man said to Lynn, "Miss Lynn, can you drive me home?"

Naturally, Lynn agreed. Then she followed him out of the villa, leaving Jo with a livid face.

When they arrived at the door, Lynn asked, "Do you have something to say to me?"

As soon as she finished speaking, the man looked at her and handed a business card to Lynn. He said in a mellow voice, "This is my phone number, Lynn. If you need any help in the Walker family, you can come to me."

Lynn was stunned and asked in confusion, "Ah, why are you so good to me?"

"You will know it in the future. Go back."

The man got in the car and left. Looking at the receding figure of the car, Lynn smiled. Everything went as smoothly as her plan.

The sound of "bang" came, and the sky was full of fireworks that Elma had set for her daughter.

Lynn looked at the firework blooming one after another and thought, 'Walker family, cherish this peaceful period because the storm is coming.'

On the road, the assistant in front of him said, "President, there are a lot of rumors about you and Miss Lynn on the Internet. But... everyone says that Miss Lynn has a bad intention and she snatches the man of her sister as soon as she comes back."

A hint of coldness flashed through Benson's eyes. "Let someone clarify it and investigate why Lynn was sent to the countryside."

"Yes, president." After a pause, the assistant couldn't help but ask curiously, "President, do you..."

"Only gratitude!"

He owed his life to her, and now he should protect her.

The assistant shook his head. Anyway, Lynn was just a little girl who grew up in the countryside. If it weren't for that... The position of the president's wife, a simple girl like Lynn couldn't afford it.

Looking out of the window, Benson felt a sharp pain all over his body. The man covered his chest and said in a low voice, "give me the medicine..."

The assistant stopped the car in a hurry, took out the medicine, and handed it to Benson.

"President."

The man swallowed it, and the pain was slightly relieved, but at this moment, he felt his body was devoured by thousands of ants.

Leaning against the back seat, he asked in a low voice, "Haven't you found Q?"

Q, the mysterious and famous ghost doctor.

"I'm sorry, president. We've sent all our people to try every means, but we still can't find her..."

After returning to the villa, Lynn fell asleep in the room arranged by the servant. After a while, there was a knock on the door.

"Lynn, are you asleep?"

Lynn opened the door and asked, "Aunt, what's up?"

"I've heated milk for you. Have a good rest. If you need anything, just tell me."

Lynn nodded obediently, took the milk, and drank it. "Thank you, aunt."

"You must be tired. Go to bed."

As soon as she finished speaking, Elma turned around, with a hint of gloom flashing in her eyes. The girl was just an idiot who had no right to compete with her daughter for a man.

After closing the door, Lynn rushed to the bathroom and spit out the milk. In her previous life, after returning to the Walker family, she became weaker and weaker. In the end, she would catch a cold if she went out for a breeze.

It was not until she died that she knew she had been poisoned. Lynn drank milk sent by Elma every day, which must be the source of the chronic poison.

Looking at herself in the mirror, Lynn's eyes flashed a trace of viciousness.

The next morning, when Lynn woke up, she went downstairs to wash her face and brush her teeth. Her father had already gone to work. After breakfast, Elma pulled her and said, "Lynn, I've transferred 10000 dollars to you. You haven't returned to A City for a long time. You can go shopping later. If you need anything you like, just buy it."

"Thank you, auntie. You are so kind."

Although Lynn said so, she was full of irony in her heart. Jo's living expenses were almost a million a month. She was really stupid in her previous life. How could she be grateful to Elma?

Jo said sarcastically. 'What a bumpkin! Even if she is beautiful, so what?'

At this moment, the butler came in in a hurry. "Madam and Miss, Mr. Brown's men are here."

Hearing this, Jo immediately stood up and said happily, "Come in, isn't brother Benson here?"

Butler shook his head.

Assistant Liu came in, followed by several bodyguards, with a lot of things in their hands, and then neatly placed them on the table.

There were all kinds of jewelry, ornaments, clothes, bags, and so on. They were all limited editions of international brands and were valuable, which made people dazzling.

Lynn sat aside indifferently and listened to Jo's words. "Did Benson prepare all these?"

Jo couldn't restrain the excitement in her eyes. It turned out that he had prepared a birthday gift for her, but it was sent today.

He also had feelings for her!

While she was thinking, assistant Liu said, "Yes, the president said that he liked Miss Lynn very much. He thought that Miss Lynn just came back, so he sent her these things."

Hearing this, Elma and Jo's faces stiffened. She felt a burning pain in their faces. Did they give these things to Lynn?

Lynn was slightly surprised and then smiled.