Liam frowned and said, "Can't you understand my words?" I said, "Yes... But can I have a look at the agreement?" He felt calmer and asked, "Why do you want to look at it?" I asked, "Will you always look after my father?" I continued, "I mean, is there any rule in the agreement that states that you'll be responsible to him even if we parted ways?" He was agitated and said, "What do you think? Tell me." He stared at me and said, "If you leave me, why should I care about him?" I replied, "I can stay. But..."

He would always lose control when I talked about such things, but I asked timidly, "What if I'm dead?" I hurriedly explained, "It's normal for one to get sick or die, and none of us can be sure that we'll die of old age. If I'm dead, would you look after him?" He closed his eyes and rubbed his forehead, and he stared at me and asked, "Is there really anything wrong with you?" I got nervous and asked, "What do you mean?" He said, "Are you mentally ill? Let's get you to the doctor."

I looked down, not knowing what to say. Luckily, he did not straight away bring me to the doctor; he said, "I didn't mean it in a bad way, but depression is also an illness. You should get some help; you're so young yet you've always talked about death." I said, "I just want you to promise me on this issue, and I'll never talk about it anymore." He looked at me and said, "I'll agree to it if you give birth to my child." He continued, "In this way, I have the obligation to look after your father no matter what happens to you."

I was dumbfounded, and I said after a while, "Let's leave this to my sister. Can you buy the stock, please?" He looked at me and said, "You didn't want to give birth to my child." I shook my head; I could not, and I did not want to.

"Then good luck living a long life." He stood up and said, "Or else, as long as you leave me, I'll shut down his life support."

Mrs. Suvillan said that Anna would arrive with her husband at eleven o'clock.

Before they arrived, I rested for a while and then got myself ready. Luckily, my cheek was not severely swollen, and after applying some foundation, no one could tell what happened to it. Liam was inside his study almost all the time; he only went out with Jeffrey for less than an hour in between.

Anna was here when I was ready. Anna did not love Harvey, but to be honest, other than him being old, he was actually a good-looking man with elegance. Anna smiled as she held his arms; they seemed to be the perfect couple. Liam held my waist as if he were deeply in love with me. We chatted for a while, and Anna gifted me a pair of crystal rabbits. Liam told her that we had a real rabbit, and she insisted that I bring her to look at it. I told her the story of the rabbit when we were looking at it. She sighed and said, "People nowadays are truly stressed out." And she suddenly looked at me and asked, "What happened to your face?" I answered, "I accidentally bumped into something." She suddenly said, "Liam called me this morning; did you force him?" I shook my head and said, "Anna... I hope that you can be the one." She then said, "Didn't I say that I'm in a really bad state now?" Liam told me that he feels that your household should be in charge because the entire Nyrall Corporation would belong to you two. I nodded; I could not win Liam or her. I could only say, "Let's arrange the surgery for our father." She was stunned, and she exclaimed, "Vivi, what do you mean? Who would go for it as it has a 30% mortality rate?" I answered, "Yes. But be it successful or unsuccessful, we don't have to look after him anymore." If it fails, I'll commit suicide and go with him.

She stared at me for a long time and said, "Vivi, you have to go through Liam for this." I looked at her, and she seemed helpless. "He called me in the morning and said that if you ever talked about something like this, I should ask you to go to him. I don't know if there's anything wrong between you two, but Vivi..." She then grabbed my hands and said gently, "Let's be positive. Liam can look after our father for two years, and once my business is successful, and you might also have a job by then, everything would be so much different."

I did not respond; I just grabbed her hand and left the pet's room. Liam was talking casually with Harvey in the living room; they seemed to be close. I felt that Liam was more friendly to Harvey than to Anna, and so was Harvey. In fact, if Anna had not told me about what Harvey said about me behind my back, I would never have known that he was bad. And he seemed normal to

1. me.

The meal was scrumptious today. I was eating while listening to their conversation. Liam was peeling the crab with a hammer, and Harvey commented, "I always thought that it was fun to peel the crab this way." Liam answered, "It saves a lot of trouble." Anna glanced at me and asked, "Is Liam from Gilead?" He scooped the crab meat into my bowl and said, "My mother is from Gilead." I looked at him and said, "Thank you." He smiled and caressed my face. Harvey suddenly said, "Liam, Vivi was not even one month pregnant; she can't be eating crab. Anna made the same mistake, and she can't get pregnant now."

He was stunned, and so was I. Harvey looked at him, then at me, and he asked, "Huh? Did he not know about it yet?" Anna quickly reacted by nudging him, "Hey, is this how you should talk as a brother-in-law?"

Harvey was stunned, and he slapped his head and said awkwardly, "Ha, I was mistaken. Sorry..." Liam said, "Please tell me what you are talking about." Anna answered instead, "Harvey meant that Vivi just recovered from a fever, and she shouldn't be eating crab." And she said to Harvey, "But you do know that Vivi loves to eat crab; she always eats the most." Then she looked at me and asked, "Vivi, am I right?" I nodded. Harvey laughed it off and said, "Liam, it's my mistake. Let's drink!"

Chapter 77

Ham toasted him and said, "Harvey, we're a family. So please tell me whatever you know," Harvey hesitated, and he turned to look at me. "Vivi, you should tell Liam yourself; how could you keep such big news from him?" Liam and Anna looked at me simultaneously, I was shocked and did not know what to say. Harvey seemed to be doing it on purpose, and I... What can I do? Anna tried to toast and said, "Let's not talk about it anymore; let's drink."

Harvey suddenly sighed and showed Liam a report. "It's my fault; I know that it's normal that Vivi doesn't want to have a child at her age." Liam took it, and he was devastated looking at it. That report belonged to Anna; it was dated last month. Liam first had s*x with me one day before her miscarriage. I saw his hands shaking, and all of his blood vessels could be seen. Everyone knew that he was enraged; there was a dead silence. Liam put down the report. after a long time, and he cleaned the glass. He looked at Harvey as if he wanted to say something, but his eyes turned red, and he stood up and left instead.

Looking at him running away and hearing Mrs. Sullivan's worried voice at the entrance, I felt painfully breathless. I would not feel this way if he hit me.

instead. Why... Why is he crying? Suddenly, someone with a heavy perfume smell hugged me; it was Anna. "Vivi," she wiped off my tears and said gently,

"Stop crying. Let him cool down for a bit. Why didn't you tell him about the abortion?" I forcefully pushed her away, and she shut up. "Sorry, it's time for the two of you to leave." They left shortly.

I froze on the spot, and I scooped the crab meat to eat. I kept telling myself that we were even now; he had hurt me so many times, and I only hurt him.

once. I was sure that he would get a divorce with me, and after the distribution of the assets, I could buy the stock and settle my father's wellbeing. Yet I had so many regrets. If I didn't undergo an abortion... If I can.

live longer... But after all, everything was breaking apart. I recalled that he drank some alcohol at noon, so I asked Mrs. Suvillan to call her. She put the phone on hold all of a sudden and said, "Ms. Nyra, Ms. Shaw's on the phone; she wants to speak with you."

I took the phone and heard her say coldly, "I'm Yvette Shaw." I answered, "Hi, Ms. Shaw." She said, "The divorce agreement is being sent now." She continued, "Sign it immediately and stop bothering Liam." I asked, "Is he okay?" She answered, "He'll be better off for you." I replied, "Okay, goodbye."

She said, "I hope we never met; you're devious." And she hung up.

Jeffrey arrived after a while, and he brought a document file over. "Mrs.

Mendez, please sign it." It was the divorce agreement; I only got two million dollars in total. "Why is the amount so little?" He answered, "You asked for it from the beginning." I said, "This is too little; I've changed my mind. I want at least three million dollars in cash." He said in disgust, "Ms. Nyra, you're too greedy." I snorted, saying, "I won't sign if he doesn't agree to it. I'll expose him.

to the media and let everyone know that he has a mistress, and he cheated the Nyra Corporation from me, and he forced me to get the abortion." He was shocked to look at me, and I firmly looked at him. After a while, he took his phone out and left. And he never came back.

I spent the entire afternoon trying to break Liam's safe open. He used his fingerprint for it, and the alarm would set off, and he and the safe's company would be alerted at the same time. But I always liked to play with the safe, so I could actually open it easily if I omitted the alarm. I took my phone out, and the battery almost went flat. I saw a message from an unsaved account.

"Vivi, I'm Harvey, I know you're not someone like that; talk to me as soon as possible; if not, I can't guarantee you what's going to happen next." Another message was from Chris. "Are you okay? Why are you not picking up your call? You've got to always update me about your conditions." I deleted his messages, and I was about to clear the chat history, but my phone vibrated. It was from the hospital.

I answered the call and heard the doctor say, "Ms. Nyra, do you remember the change in your father's condition last time?" I answered anxiously, "Yes, what's happening?" He answered, "The security guards found something; your should come over to have a look by yourself." I simply got ready and dashed to the entrance, and Mrs. Sullivan stopped me. I said, "It's an emergency from the hospital; something's happening to my father; I have to go now." She said. hesitantly, "I have to ask Mr. Mendez about it." I said, "Yes, I'll wait for you here." I was always obedient, so she walked away to make the call. I straightaway opened the door and ran out without looking back. I ran down more than ten floors, and I was panting hard. I felt blood in my throat, and my legs were numb.

Chapter 77 We're Even Now

Suddenly, there were footsteps behind me, I quickly ran, but I did not step on the correct step. I lost balance, so I closed my eyes. At the same time, someone grabbed my waist, and I was inside someone's embrace.

I struggled slightly, and I smelled a similar cigarette smell. I was shocked, and I opened my eyes. It was Liam. Shouldn't he be with Ms. Shaw? Why is he here? Is he here to beat me?

Chapter 78

Thinking of it, I trembled and tried to break free from his grip. Instead, he tightened his grip and asked, "Where are you going?" He sounded cold. "... I muttered, "I want to visit my father in the hospital. Let me go." He said sarcastically, "Why do you need to visit him?" He pinched my cheeks and forced me to look at him, and he said, "You want to thank him for giving you a b*tchy sister? And thank him for giving birth to a dummy like you?" I snorted, "How dare you scold my father?" He replied, "Not only do I want to scold him, I want to strangle his daughter too." I got scared and shut up. I could fight with him, but... I needed his money. He felt bored when I stopped talking, so he let go of my face and grabbed my wrist, and he pulled me into the lift.

I shakily followed him and asked, "Where are you trying to bring me?" He ignored me and pulled me into the lift. I saw him pressing on our house's level, and I anxiously said, "I have to go to the hospital; something's happening to my father." He completely ignored me. I wanted to reach for the button of the nearest level, so he grabbed my wrists and pressed my hands on my chest, and I was pinned on the wall of the lift. I could not break free. I did not expect him to have such strength with just a hand.

When I was hopeless, the lift stopped; someone was getting it. I quickly turned and wanted to scream for help, but he shut my mouth by kissing me. I bit him, but he did not barge. The young girls blushed at seeing us, and they went out of the lift. He finally let go of me when the door of the lift closed. It seemed that he felt the pain, and he wiped his lips and saw the blood stain on his fingers. He glared at me. I avoided eye contact and said, "I want to visit my father." He pinched my face and snorted, "You can't go anywhere but stay home." I was furious, and I looked up into his enraged eyes. "Can I go to my father if I sign the agreement?" He squinted his eyes and looked at me.

So, this is what he wants?

"I don't want money anymore, alright?" I shouted, "It's all yours; we'll go by that assignment. Ask him to bring the document back for me to sign! Alright?"

He suddenly asked, "Who was here?" Ha! Who's here? I turned away and snorted, "Don't you act ignorant." I continued to say, "As a man, you have to keep to your words. I agree with you now; I hope that we can part our ways peacefully. I won't be bugging you anymore." He was still silent. The lift stopped at the level of our house.

He pulled me out of the lift, and Mrs. Sullivan was waiting for us at the entrance. She was relieved to see the two of us, and she said, "Luckily she's found; what if she fell down when she ran?" He dragged me into the house and said, "Look after her; no visitor is allowed now. She can't answer calls either." She nodded. He put his hand in front of me and said, "Your phone." I insisted by saying, "I want to visit my father!" He ignored me and searched for it on my body. I could not do anything, no matter how hard I pushed him. I was furious seeing him take my phone away, and I grabbed his hand and shouted, "Who are you to take my phone away?" I tried to open up his grip with force, but I just could not do it. I lowered my head and wanted to bite his hand.

He instantly withdrew his arms, and he dragged me in front of him. He pinched my cheek and asked, "Do you want to bite me?" My face was already injured, and I could not speak with him pinching at me like this. Mrs. Sullivan said, "Mr. Mendez, please calm down and let go; she's in pain." He let go and glared at him before he left. She hurriedly grabbed my arm and said, "C'mon,

Chapter 78 Not Giving Birth to Your Child

I'll bring you back to your room."

4/5

"Don't go!" I pushed her away and shouted to him, "Give my phone back!" He paused, and I continued to say, "You can't be grounding me; I want to see my father!" I totally lost it, and I shouted, "I already agreed to divorce with you; I don't want anything! Stop bullying me!" She hurriedly pulled him away and said, "Mr. Mendez, calm down. Think about the baby." She then turned around and lectured me, saying, "You should rest for your own good. You're pregnant now; it's not good for you to go to the hospital. And what if you're frightened?"

I was shocked and asked, "Who says that I'm pregnant?" She was stunned, and she looked at Liam and said, "Look at her, still trying to cover it from you."

I started to push him again, and he merely glanced at me and was about to walk away. I suddenly thought of something and asked, "Did you see the report? Who gave you permission to go through my bag?" He did not talk or move. I could not see his facial expressions; I could only see him clenching his fists. And Mrs. Sullivan pulled him back. So, I was correct.

"I aborted the child; I don't want to bear your child!" I had to make myself clear; I did not want to snowball the misunderstanding. I said, "If this is why you stopped me from going to the hospital, then you can..." He suddenly turned around and strangled my neck. He did not exert much force, but he was staring deathly at me. I could not speak a word. "Vivienne Nyra, shut your damn f*cking mouth! You'd be dead by now if it weren't for the kid! You better give birth safely; if not, you and your father will pay for it with your lives!" He let go and slammed the door.

Mrs. Sullivan helped me to the living room and put an icy towel on my neck.

She said as she sobbed, "Why are you so dumb? Why did you lie to him to make him even furious?" I answered, "I didn't lie; it's true that I aborted the child." She was stunned and asked, "But... Why... Why would you do this?" I answered calmly, "He mistreated me; I didn't want to give birth to his child."

She panicked and said, "Oh, my god! Your report dropped out of your bag when I was cleaning. I thought you wanted to surprise him. And I was worried that he would divorce you today, so..."

Chapter 79

I said, "It's alright; don't worry. He won't blame you."

1/5

"But, what about you?" She cried, "It's my fault." I comforted her for a while, and I said that I wanted to call Anna. But she rejected me. I went to study. I turned on the computer and found that the internet was cut off. I could not reach the outside world at all. I could only go back to the bedroom and have my medicine, and I laid on the bed to rest for a while as I was really exhausted. But I could not fall asleep at all. I was lost in my thoughts. The security guards found that "What if someone caused my father's condition to worsen back then?" Who would do this to him?

I was anxious and worried, and I rolled down the bed for a long time and only started to feel sleepy. I laid there for a while, and suddenly I felt suffocated. I opened my eyes and saw that I was in the dark, and I saw his eyes. He was kissing me, but not gently at all. He was forcing himself on me. He reeked of alcohol, and I felt uncomfortable until I could not speak. He was toying with me, and at one point I thought that it was merely a dream. He stopped even though I was extremely obedient. Anna once told me that a man who loved a woman would love the woman's child. But I felt that he was strange; he never loved me, yet he always wanted me to give birth. I guess this had something to do with his possessiveness; he just wanted me to give birth no matter how much he hated me, and he did not allow me to get a divorce with him. When I was lost in my thoughts, he was slowly falling asleep. Before he lost consciousness, I heard him ask, "Vivi, why are you so cruel? What kind of person are you? Why... Why are you so cruel?" I wanted to ask him the same question. Who am I? And why is he so cruel to me?

Liam was not home the following day, and I asked Mrs. Sullivan about it, and she said that he never came back after our fight the other day. So, indeed, it was just a dream. He would never say such vulnerable things. I managed to leave home on the second day, as the security system of the house was spoiled. All of the machines and automated doors were spoiled. I was the one spoiling them. Mrs. Sullivan was handling the repairman, and I pretended to be sleeping in the pet's room, which was closest to the entrance. I opened I the door and ran out, and I got a taxi and went to buy myself a phone before going to the hospital.

Chapter 79 How Can You Be So Cruel?

Firstly, I visited my father, and then I came to the doctor's office so he could contract the security department for me. The staff heard my intentions, and he searched for the footage, but he said, "The video footage was being taken. by someone named Liam." He pointed at his signature as he spoke. I asked, "Can you show me the original video? I'm the patient's daughter, and all the medical staff know me." He then said, "But all the footage would be renewed once every three months. Because of it, we realized that something was fishy." I asked helplessly, "Can you tell me what's wrong?" He then said, "Unfortunately, you missed the right timing. The security guard went back to his mother's funeral yesterday. And based on the record, someone went into the ICU without wearing a sterile gown." My father was in critical condition, so it was a must to get the doctor's permission and get in wearing a sterile gown at a specific time. So it meant that this person sneaked into his ward. I was in despair thinking about it, and I could not get useful information from this staff after chatting for a long time. I could only walk away, and my phone rang. It was from Anna.

I gave the doctor my new number, so it seemed that she was here in the hospital. I answered the phone, and she only said, "Come to the parking lot."

Chapter 70 How Can You Be So Cruel?

And she hung up the phone. There was no one other than her in the parking lot; she did not put on makeup, and she was in a sport coat. She was biting a cigarette as she looked at the phone. I walked over and asked, "Anna?" She instantly ran toward me, and before I could react, I felt a sharp pain in my hair. She pulled hard on my hair. She was always fitter compared to me, and she had learned martial arts before. My body was unhealthy and weak at the moment. I was shouting out my lung, but she dragged me to the ground.

Although my jeans cushioned my knees, I was still in pain. I could not see.

clearly with my hair blocking my view, but I could faintly see that she was about to kick me. I could not dodge her attack, so I closed my eyes.

"Let go!" A man shouted viciously, and she let me go. I flipped my hair to the side and saw Liam strangling her neck. Her face was turning purple.

I tried to stand up, and Liam let go of her at the same time. She took a few steps back and held her neck. Everything happened in a flash; I was still blurred at the moment. Why is she attacking me? She blamed me for such a huge incident! I didn't do anything wrong to her at all!

Chapter 79 How Can You Be So Cruel?

Suddenly, someone hugged my waist. He pulled me up and said gently,

"Don't cry." And he wanted to turn around. Suddenly, Anna dashed toward us.

I did not know her intentions, but before she could touch us, Liam slapped her face, and she fell to the ground with blood flowing out of her mouth. I subconsciously wanted to help her up, but Liam tightened his grip on my waist. He glared at her and said, "Don't you dare to touch her anymore." She stared at him and then at me, and she looked at me with great hatred.

As she fell silent, Liam embraced me and turned around, carrying me forward. I felt a mixture of confusion and fear in my heart as I drifted along, barely aware of my surroundings.

After a few steps, Anna suddenly burst into laughter. The sound was shrill and pierced through the empty parking lot, resembling the haunting presence of a ghost in broad daylight.

Shivering with terror, I could not resist looking at her.

And there, I locked eyes with Anna. Her gaze was bloodshot, her teeth.

gnashed together as she spoke in a menacing tone, "You'll die, Vivienne!"

Fear coursed through my body, causing me to tremble uncontrollably.

Liam stopped and turned around. He then stood in front of me.

Anna rose from the ground, and at that moment, Liam let go of my hand and confronted her.

Anna halted, meeting Liam's gaze fearlessly.

2/10

Wiping the blood from her mouth, she smirked in anger, "You protect her well, no wonder this fool helped you go against our family."

Turning her attention back to me, her expression grew more sinister, "Vivienne, I'm cutting my ties with you. You're no longer my sister."

I could not help but feel suffocated.

"The Nyra family didn't raise such a fool like you!" Anna's voice turned cold, "If you dare set foot in the hospital again, I'll kill you!"

Her last words were filled with hatred.

I trembled.

At that moment, a warm hand reached out and held mine.

Chapter 80 You're Better Off Dead

3/10

It was Liam, and he chuckled mockingly, "Who the Nyra family acknowledges is decided by Mr. Nyra himself... No, now it's Vivi who has the final say."

Anna's face was pale, her chest heaving with anger.

With a cold tone, Liam remarked, "Look at this pitiful display of virtue. In the world of business, challenges are common. When Mr. Nyra plans schemes against your sister, we can't afford to wallow in despair like this."

"Hmph," Anna sneered at him, then shifted her gaze to me and uttered viciously, "That's because I have a younger sister who only knows how to take advantage of others and will only bring ruin upon our family!"

"You better show her some respect," Liam's voice turned icy, his chin raised slightly, and he spoke with a somber tone, "or else I'll teach you what respect means."

Anna fell silent, casting a wary glance at Liam, she was scared.

"You're not allowed here anymore." Liam locked eyes with her and stated

Chapter 80 You're Better Off Dead

firmly, "Vivi doesn't have a sister like you."

Anna glanced at me, then turned around, but suddenly halted and looked back at Liam, "I can see that you're truly in love with her."

Liam met her gaze coldly, his fingers clenched tightly.

4/10

"What a pity," Anna glanced at me, a meaningful smile playing on her lips, "It's too late now."

After Anna left, Liam let go of his aggressive demeanor and turned his attention to me, asking, "Are you okay?"

As he spoke, he gently placed his hand on my stomach.

It seemed that he did not believe what I had said earlier.

I knew I should clarify the situation now, but judging by his attitude towards the child, I knew that he would be furious and might even harm me on the spot.

Chapter 80 You're Better Off Dead

5/10

I was not afraid of his torment, but I needed to ask about Anna first. With that in mind, I grabbed his sleeve and pleaded, "What's going on? Why does my sister suddenly hate me so much?"

Liam ignored my words, focusing only on my legs, and said, "Can you still walk?"

"Yes," I urged, "Please tell me quickly!"

Liam remained silent and helped me towards the elevator.

I had no choice but to pull him back, desperation in my voice, "Please! Please tell me first! Did you mistreat her?"

I could not understand why Anna would suddenly have such intense hatred towards me. There had to be a reason, and I suspected that it was because of Liam.

Liam reluctantly halted, peering down at me for a few seconds before showing me his phone.

Chapter 80 You're Better Off Dead

I grabbed it and looked at the article while he carried me to the elevator.

6/10

The headline was, "Someone Claimed that His Wife Cheated and Blamed Her Sister."

Upon clicking on the article, a screenshot of a social media post was displayed, and it was from a person named Harvey.

The content was quite lengthy, detailing how Anna used his sister's identity to stay in a hotel, and how he has suffered constant betrayals from women.

over the years.

To preserve the reputation of both the Bosworth and Nyra families, he pleaded with his wife and sister for assistance, only to be met with his wife having an abortion for another man in return.

It was also revealed that Anna had financially supported the scandal involving Liam, to make his sister look bad.

The screenshot also showed numerous likes from influential business figures, G further solidifying the credibility of the account and the information provided.

The article mentioned that Harvey had already taken legal action, and the ongoing developments will be handled by his legal team. However, it was predicted that Anna was stripped of her position as the president of the Nyra Corporation and Miss Shaw of the L.M Building would face consequences.

The news quickly spread across the internet, and the comment section was filled with furious criticism towards Anna.

As I was reading it, the phone was snatched away. I looked up and noticed that the elevator had stopped.

Liam carried me out of the elevator and said, "This wasn't my plan. it was Harvey's decision." After a brief pause, he glanced at me again. "I just contributed three million to add fuel to the fire."

He specifically emphasized the amount, "three million dollars."

I did not care about that. Instead, I asked, "Does Harvey know about this?"

H

Chapter 80 You're Better Off Dead

8/10

Liam responded coldly, "Do you think something like this can be kept hidden?"

I asked, "So what did you do?"

If it was just about this matter, why did Anna come to attack me?

He could not fool me.

Liam remained silent and continued walking ahead.

I tightly gripped his arm and asked, "Have you already gotten her shares? Are you planning to sell Nyra Corporation?"

This was likely the only thing that could enrage Anna.

But Liam did not want to sell the Nyra Corporation.

"Vivienne," he suddenly stopped and looked down, "You've changed your mind."

Chapter 80 You're Better Off Dead

I grew anxious and questioned, "Why...why are you saying this all of a sudden?"

He did not respond and raised his hand.

On his left arm, which I had been holding tightly, there was a bright red spot visible on his white shirt.

I quickly let go of his arm.

"Selfish," he glared at me fiercely, "I was thinking about your sister."

I said, "I'm sorry..."

The last time Chris mentioned that he could not control himself, I glanced around and said, "Come on, let's go..."

But then I halted.

This floor... was the gynecology department.

9/10

Realizing that we had reached the entrance of the gynecology clinic, I quickly stopped and asked, "Why are we here?"

Liam also stopped in his tracks and pursed his lips. "To see my baby," he replied.

I exclaimed, "No!"

Seeing Liam struggling to hold back a smile, I hastily grabbed the hem of his shirt and said, "Let's clarify things first... or deal with them first!"

I could also ask about his arm while we were there.

Liam furrowed his brow, he felt skeptical.

I gulped nervously and said, "I'm worried about you. What if you keep bleeding like last time?"
