

Accidental love II

Chapter 20 Nightmare

Janice began to breathe, struggling desperately.

She even stretched out both hands involuntarily, trying to push away the heavy objects on her body.

Janice couldn't restrain the fear anymore. She blurted out for help, "Help! Um!!!"

After only one word was shouted, her small mouth was firmly covered by the man's big hand. So she couldn't speak the remaining words.

"Mmm..."

Who was he?

Under panic, Janice opened her eyes reflexively and then she saw the man's face.

However, what caught her eye was a silver mask.

The mask almost covered most of the man's face. Only the man's angular jaw could be seen.

The silver mask had an excellent texture. It flashed in the moonlight, making Janice feel frightened.

It was this strange person again!

Thinking of this, Janice felt a dense panic.

She began struggling and twisting harder and harder.

"Let go of me. Let go..."

However, how could a woman be a man's match?

The man on her could let her unable to move just with three fingers. He could easily control her.

Janice wanted to push him. But the man grabbed Janice's hands with one hand.

Janice raised her leg to kick him, but the man easily grabbed her slender ankle with one hand and suppressed her.

At this moment, Janice was like a fish on a cutting board, waiting to be killed.

“No...”

The pain caused Janice’s fingers to clench in pain. Her nails pierced into the man’s firm back abruptly.

She scratched a trail of blood stains on his back.

But it seemed that the man couldn’t feel the pain at all.

He didn’t stop.

“No!”

Janice screamed, raised both hands and pushed hard into the air.

Then she woke up suddenly.

The surroundings were so quiet but there was nothing unusual!

It turned out that this was really a dream!

She stretched out her hand to turn on the bedside lamp. The dim light intertwined with the night, creating a quiet and peaceful atmosphere in the bedroom.

No! Why was there only the sound of her breathing in the room? Where did Marcus go?

She sat on the bed and glanced around. Then she saw Marcus’ wheelchair next to the bed.

It was weird. How did he leave the room if he didn’t use the wheelchair?
