Secret Admirer: Finding True Love After... 1/5

Chapter 565 I'm Chandler's Woman

Rachel thought that since she came here with Felix, those men didn't dare to act recklessly.

However, Felix didn't show up. She was sitting at the bar, having already had two drinks, and couldn't help feeling strange.

Rachel thought that even if Felix stayed in the car to make a call, half an hour had passed, and he should have returned long ago.

"Felix, where are you?"

Rachel walked to a quiet corner and called to ask Felix.

"I'm leaving."

"Leaving? You asked me to come here, and you're leaving without saying to me?" Rachel felt unbelievable and even felt like she was being fooled.

"Felix, are you fooling me?"

Rachel had initially thought that Felix should at least give her an explanation or at least find an excuse for leaving without saying goodbye.

But Felix just laughed. "Yeah. How do you know I'm fooling you?"

His words made Rachel's face turn cold.

But when she thought of Felix's methods, she didn't dare to argue with him for fear of making Felix angry and having him treat her like last time.

After hanging up the phone, Rachel was furious and asked the bartender for two more glasses of drinks.

She picked up the glass and drank it in one gulp.

A man at the side, Yinson White, looked at her with malicious eyes.

Seeing that Rachel was alone, Yinson sat down almost next to Rachel.

“Baby, why are you alone? Let me buy you a drink.”

Rachel glanced at Yinson and looked at the watch on his wrist, which was just a cheap brand worth tens of thousands of dollars. Her eyes were full of disdain.

She sneered, “Get lost! You are not qualified to buy me a drink!”

Such a hot-tempered character aroused Yinson’s interest. “Don’t be so cold. Just think of it as making friends.”

Rachel was already in a bad mood. Now, she was a little drunk after drinking two drinks.

Seeing that Yinson was trying to touch her, she suddenly grabbed the half-drunk cocktail on the table and splashed it in Yinson’s face.

The alcohol flowed down Yinson’s cheeks and dripped onto his white shirt.

Yinson’s expression changed as he had not expected to be treated like this.

He suddenly reached out to Rachel, grabbed her neck, and pulled her over.

“How dare you do that to me? Do you know whose territory it is?”

With that, Yinson slapped Rachel in the face.

It woke Rachel up immediately.

She glared at Yinson fiercely and resisted. “Let me go. Do you know who I am?”

“I don’t care who you are!” Yinson grabbed Rachel and was about to walk inside with her.

Someone added, “It’s your blessing to serve Mr. White.”

White opened this bar in Kingsdom.

She thought, “No wonder no one stands up for me. Even the waiters pretend not to see it.

It turns out that it is Yinson’s place.”

Rachel suddenly felt scared. But in her heart, she was cursing Felix for being so unreliable, bringing her to such a place, and leaving her alone.

Yinson was ready to drag Rachel into the box upstairs.

Rachel felt shocked.

She thought, “At least there are still people in the hall. But once we get to the box and the door is closed, what will this gangster do to me?”

www.

Rachel shouted, “Stop. I’m Chandler’s woman.”

Chandler’s name was famous in Kingsdom, and everyone was willing to respect him.

Of course, Yinson knew Chandler. But he didn't believe that the woman in front of him had any relationship with Chandler.

"Come on. If you keep talking nonsense, I'll shut your mouth."

With that, Yinson dragged her into the box.

The moment the door closed, Rachel's heart sank.

Without hesitation, she rushed into the bathroom in the box and then locked the door.

Rachel took out her cell phone and called Chandler frantically.

However, the phone rang several times, but no one answered. Rachel was getting anxious.

Yinson was knocking on the door frantically outside. This bar belonged to Yinson, so it was only a matter of time before he opened the door.

Rachel did not give up and called Chandler once again.
