

THE ADORABLE TWINS AND THEIR CEO DADDY

Chapter 739 Her Apology

They had a happy breakfast.

After that, Maurice went to work.

There were a lot of things to deal with at the company.

After Maurice and the children left, Eliana was home alone. Her expression suddenly turned serious and she pulled out her phone to call Branson. She couldn't just sit around and do nothing. She had to protect her family! To do this, she must take the initiative to deal with the White family.

"Eliana!"

Branson was stunned when he saw an incoming call from her. He asked anxiously, "Have you finally figured it out?"

Eliana didn't answer, but said in a low voice, "Branson, we need to talk about something. Let's meet."

Branson was surprised by her request. He felt a little strange.

After a short while, he said, "Well, I happen to have something to show you. Come to the White family."

Eliana didn't want to waste time on the phone, so she agreed. She then got dressed and went straight to the White family. When she entered the living room of the White family villa, she was stunned by what Branson did.

"Eliana, look who I have caught for you."

Branson dragged a tied-up Harriet and threw her in front of Eliana.

Lying on the floor at Eliana's feet, Harriet wasn't as arrogant and overbearing as before.

Instead, she looked terrible now.

Harriet's head was lowered, with her long hair covering her face.

Eliana almost didn't recognize her.

Branson said arrogantly, "This woman is Harriet. She is the one who hurt you before. I brought her here today so that you can get even with her."

Seeing the woman so miserable now, Eliana didn't feel the joy she thought she would. She only felt a kind of pity for Harriet.

"What happened to her?" Eliana asked Branson.

Branson sneered, "She deserves it. She's just been diagnosed with terminal liver cancer and has only a few months to live. But even that can't make up for her crime. Maurice didn't punish her, but the White family won't let her go."

Eliana eyes widened in shock! Harriet had terminal liver cancer? Seeing that Harriet was motionless, Branson asked his man to pull her head up.

"Apologize to Eliana!" Branson ordered.

Harriet was forced to raise her head. Her face was pale and she looked really miserable.

After all, she was so humiliated now.

"Eliana...I'm sorry!" Harriet said, gritting her teeth.

Eliana remained silent.

"Anything else?" Branson asked Harriet in a cold tone.

"Eliana has lost her memory, so you'd better tell her the whole story!" he added, giving Harriet a threatening look.

Harriet trembled with fear and explained quickly, "Actually...It was Maurice who asked me to do what I did."

Eliana frowned and glared at the woman in front of her.

"Did you just say it was Maurice who asked to you to do it?" Harriet glanced at Branson with a guilty look.

Then she gritted her teeth and nodded.

"Yes! It was him! I had sex with him long before you got married. On your wedding day, Maurice asked me to take you away and kill you. When I realized that I could not kill you, I changed my mind and asked the White family to save you. It was all Maurice's plan."

After saying that, Harriet closed her eyes, trembling all over. She didn't want to die or offend the White family, so she had to lie.

Eliana listened to the woman in front of her in silence. It seemed that Eliana believed what Harriet had said.

Seeing that, a hint of slyness flashed through Branson's eyes. He stood up and said seriously, "Eliana, now you know what kind of person Maurice is. He has been lying to you the whole time."

"Are you done?"

With a slight smile, Eliana lowered her head and looked at Harriet mockingly.

"Harriet, your acting is much worse than before."

Hearing Eliana's words, both Harriet and Branson were flabbergasted.

Then Harriet widened her eyes in horror, "Did you just say 'before'? You remember everything?"

Eliana glared at Harriet coldly and spat, "Yes, I remember everything. I remember all the times you tried to harm me, but you always failed in the end.I also remember how determined Maurice has been to choose me every time.And the reason why I left on the wedding day was to protect my family.I think we're the same in that way at least."

Chapter 740 The Real Purpose Of Branson

"This is all your fault.It's because of you I'm in this mess.I hate you!"

Harriet shouted at Eliana.

Eliana's presence filled her heart with stubbornness and malice.

The Stone Family had fallen apart, and she had cancer.

How could the person responsible for all this get to be with the man she loved, and marry into a wealthy family? She despised her a lot! Harriet was consumed by hatred, all she wanted was for Eliana to suffer.She used all her might to stand up.

"I'm going to kill you!" she screamed as she ran into Eliana.

Eliana kicked her aside immediately.

"Why are you still so stubborn, Harriet?" Harriet was on the floor with blood-shot eyes.She tried to get up to attack again, but her body was too weak.

Elaina watched her coldly.

"Because I hate you so much! You deserve to die! Fuck you! Kill me if you dare! Otherwise, I'm going to murder you and your children." Harriet had gone nuts. She continued swearing at Eliana. She looked deplorable and vile.

Eliana wasn't in the mood to entertain her antics anymore.

"Harriet, you are dying. Cancer is already killing you, so I don't have to do anything. In fact, I might pay someone to keep you alive so you can suffer longer."

"Eliana! You bitch! I won't let you get away with it, even if I die!" Harriet seemed crazy.

Branson's men took her away.

Eliana and Branson were the only people left in the room.

Branson realized that he couldn't trick Eliana any longer.

"Elaina, let me tell you what happened after your memory loss," he said hurriedly.

"No," Eliana interrupted coldly.

"I have recovered my memory. I don't need an explanation from you. I won't believe a word you say."

Branson didn't stop.

"I'm doing this for you. Leave Maurice, and the White family will acknowledge Aileen and Adrian."

"My children don't need the White family's acceptance. They belong to the Moran family and I belong to the Pierce family. Since the White family didn't come through for me before, please don't harass me in the future," Eliana warned him harshly. She didn't appreciate what Branson said at all.

Branson's expression darkened.

"Eliana, do you have to be so harsh?"

"I'm not done talking," Elaina said immediately. She didn't have time to dilly-dally with Branson.

"I know what you want. I will give up all my property in White family as compensation for saving me. Are you satisfied now?"

Branson's expression darkened further.

There was no time to pretend to be sad. He felt ashamed as his secret was revealed.

Eliana knew why Branson had insisted on escorting her back to the White family. Because her mother had left her some property as inheritance in the White family.

When the Pierce family fell apart, the White family didn't show them support.

Now, the White family was doing their best to prevent her from marrying Maurice.

Elaina was convinced that there was a motive behind this.

"Am I correct?"

She was so direct that Branson was speechless.

In fact, Elaina was right.

If she had a good rapport with the White family, they would not care that some of their property went to her. But her engagement to Maurice, a descendant of their long-time rival, the future master of the Morans, made them uncomfortable.

They hated to think that their money would be used in any way for the Moran family.

"Seeing that you knew my motive all along, I apologize for disappointing you."

Branson sighed.

Eliana laughed at his apology. She had no expectations whatsoever, so she was never disappointed.

"Don't bother! I know you did all these to protect the White family. As for my Mother's shares, I will let them go. Call a lawyer and ask them to draw up a contract. I will sign it, and you can get it notarized. Let's end this struggle immediately."

Elaina's determination was clear on her face.

Branson knew that she had made up her mind and would pay no attention to his advice. He shook his head helplessly.

"Alright, as you please," he said.
