

THE ADORABLE TWINS AND THEIR CEO DADDY

Chapter 742 Happy Ending

After leaving the White family villa, Maurice took Eliana and the children directly to the Moran family's old house.

When Eliana saw Maurice's grandparents, she had mixed feelings.

Earle smiled at Eliana and said kindly.

"I dare not imagine how much you suffered. It's a good thing you're back home!"

Earle's attitude towards Eliana had improved a lot. Now he didn't care that she was a member of the White family.

""Great-grandpa!"

The twins shouted happily as they rushed to Earle.

The old man was so happy to be surrounded by his great grandchildren and his sadness eased a little.

At this moment, tears welled up in Nancy's eyes. She held Eliana's hand and said guiltily, "You've been through a lot, and it's our fault. We didn't even give you a decent wedding."

"Grandma, don't worry. It doesn't matter," Eliana said, patting Nancy's hand.

However, Nancy quickly refuted.

"No! My husband and I missed your wedding last time, which is a very bad thing. Under no circumstances should an elder fail to attend the wedding of a junior member. I promise to organize a better wedding for you and Maurice!"

Nancy seemed so enthusiastic about arranging a better wedding for Eliana and Maurice that Eliana didn't have the heart to say no. She nodded her head in agreement.

"Okay, grandma."

"Great! I'll get to it right away."

After saying so, Nancy immediately went away.

After Nancy left, Maurice walked over to Eliana.

Seeing that she didn't look well, he asked in a low voice, "What's wrong?"

Maurice's concerned voice brought Eliana back to her senses and she explained, "Grandma said she would prepare a better wedding ceremony for us."

Maurice was puzzled.

"Isn't that a good thing?"

Biting her bottom lip, Eliana explained, "After everything that happened at our wedding ceremony last time, I'm a little apprehensive about a second wedding to be honest."

Maurice understood how Eliana felt. He subconsciously looked at her right hand, which was still weak now, and felt heartbroken. He gave her a gentle kiss on the forehead and promised, "Don't be afraid. I'll take care of everything."

Soon, it was Maurice and Eliana's wedding day.

Not only was the venue exceptional, with magnificent decorations, but the weather was also favorable with radiant sunshine. It looked like a fairy tale wedding.

Since this was Eliana and Maurice's second wedding, everyone seemed much more adept at what they had to do. It was Wyatt who for the past few months had been preparing the buffet.

The wedding food and decoration were more exquisite than before.

Nana and Corbin carefully checked the identity of each of the guests in order to prevent the incident from last time from happening again.

A woman with big sunglasses and a wide hat suddenly showed up.

Nana immediately stopped her.

"Who are you? You can't get in until I've checked your identity." The woman quickly took off her sunglasses.

"It's me!" she shouted excitedly.

"Nicole!" Nana exclaimed in surprise.

"I've been filming lately. I have to dress up like this to avoid the paparazzi," Nicole explained.

While they were talking, Nicole suddenly saw a lovely diamond ring on Nana's finger. She immediately understood what it meant and smiled.

"It looks like you will be getting married soon. Congratulations!"

Nana's face flushed with shyness. She quickly changed the topic.

"Well, stop talking about me. Come on in!"

Soon, everyone took their seats.

Nancy and Earle sat in the front row with the twins.

Wyatt had volunteered to be the host this time.

When everyone was seated, he took the stage and excitedly announced, "Now let's welcome the bride and groom!"

However, for a long time, there was no movement.

Standing alone on stage, Wyatt felt quite embarrassed. Everyone was confused.

Then, Nicole received a video call from Eliana. Eliana said a few words to Nicole who suddenly became in a better mood.

With a smile, Nicole asked the staff to connect the video to the screen.

The guests were stunned to see that the bride and groom wouldn't attend their own wedding.

On the big screen, Eliana and Maurice were seen going on their honeymoon trip.

Eliana wore a white wedding dress, while Maurice was dressed in a custom-made suit.

"I'm sorry, everyone. I have run away from the wedding with my wife and we are on our way to go on our honeymoon. Today's ceremony is to make up for our mistakes from the last time. As for me and Eliana, please don't worry about us."

Smiling happily, Maurice hugged Eliana tightly.

"What a bastard!"

Earle snapped.

Sure, the old man felt angry.

However, he couldn't help laughing.

Staring at the screen, Aileen asked in confusion, "Why don't mommy and daddy take us with them since they are traveling?"

Adrian rolled his eyes and replied, "Daddy probably forced mommy to go with him!"

Silas, on the other hand, was silent for a moment.

Then he asked excitedly, "Hey, do you think we can eat more candies since they have left?"

All of a sudden, the three children looked at each other and smiled.

After hanging up, Eliana and Maurice got into the red convertible that was waiting for them by the sea.

A gust of wind blew Eliana's veil away.

"Oh no, my veil!"

Eliana subconsciously tried to catch it, but she was held by Maurice.

"Mrs.Moran, be careful!"

Eliana gave up trying to catch the veil and looked at her husband with a smile.

"Okay!"

"Let's go!"

The newlyweds drove the convertible into a promising future.

One thing was certain, Eliana and Maurice would never be separated again.
