Chapter 1201 Traumatized Old Man

Somewhere in the City.

The Old man from before was sitting beside two others.

"I'm telling you, this kid is definitely loaded. But, he's very powerful, I can't deal with him alone." He said to the other two.

"How will we track him down?" One of the duo present asked.

"You don't have to worry about it. I can track him down, the moment you're ready, we can go after him." The Old man answered.

"You said he was able to escape from you the last time?" The other man asked.

"He's a Space Elementalist, you know how difficult they are to keep around, especially when they're stronger." The Old man replied. Seeing their skeptical expression, he said, "I can assure you, with you two, he stands no chance."

The duo were a combination of two middle-aged men.

"Alright, we accept. But we're taking seventy percent, you take the rest." One of them replied.

The Old man thought about it for a while and said, "That's fine by me."

The Old man spoke with them for a while, telling them of Grey's abilities before leaving.

Outside the building.

The eyes of the Old man showed pure hatred, "I'll kill that little brat."

He didn't come to these people because he wanted to take Grey's belongings, rather, he came here all for revenge. The fact that Grey not only almost killed him, but also taking his things was one that didn't sit right with him.

The duo he came to ask help from where around the same level as himself. When fighting with Grey, he felt if there was another person in his cultivation stage, he was confident that they would be able to defeat him. With the duo, he was more confident that they would be able to kill him.

Grey humiliated him, he would not stand for it.

While the Old man was thinking of how to get revenge on Grey, Grey and his group were going through the City.

Given their normal ways, they started moving from one restaurant to another in hopes of getting good food. Grey had enough chaos stones to pay for their expenses.

The City was very active even at night, and the group strolled through the entire City overnight.

....

The next morning.

The group left the City before daybreak. Their target left the City during the night, so they had to follow him.

In the cave the Old man stopped by, the Old man and the duo who wanted to help him were currently seated, looking at a symbol on the earthen table in front of them.

"Is this accurate? Why is he coming towards us?" One of the duo asked.

"I've used this for over a hundred years, of course it's accurate." The Old man replied.

He couldn't help but look at the thing, stunned that Grey was coming towards him. What made him even more frightened is the fact that Grey was coming from the direction of the City he left. If this was what he thought about, then Grey was tracking him.

'Why is he tracking me? Does he want to take more things from me?'

The Old man didn't think about it too much, he wasn't afraid, with the company by his side, he was sure they would be able to defeat Grey, no matter the tricks Grey uses.

"We should wait, I'm sure he's coming here." The one with a cold face among the duo said.

The Old man nodded, that was what he had in mind as well. Moving from here was of no use, so he decided to stay in the same spot.

After some time, Grey's figure appeared in the area. I think you should take a look at

"Oh, a welcoming party." Grey chuckled as he walked over.

The three men stood up and faced Grey who had two cute animals with him and a small girl. They didn't think Grey would come with such a lineup. The girl surprised the duo, but they were not too bothered about her. As long as they could get what they wanted from Grey, they were satisfied. The two small animals didn't even come to mind since they didn't sense anything from them, they were almost nonexistent.

The duo looked at him and one said, "Kid, drop your storage ring and leave."

"Alright." With a pleasant smile, he tossed a ring at the duo.

The Old man subconsciously retreated, not even daring to touch it. He knew what he experienced the last time Grey did something like this, and he didn't want to fall for it twice.

"Don't open it." He yelled after giving them some space.

The duo, seeing his reaction quickly understood there was another thing about this and quickly moved aside, dodging the ring.

"Haha, are you afraid of a common ring?" Grey grinned, amused by the way they reacted to the ring.

He knew the Old man would be apprehensive towards it, but he never thought they would be this afraid of it. Thinking of it, he didn't expect much from the Old man, this trick almost killed him the last time, and it was only a day ago, only a fool wouldn't be scared if faced with such a situation again.

Grey beckoned and the ring floated back to him, he picked it and a core appeared on his hand. The core exuded a pleasing aura, and the moment the duo saw it, they took a step forward, they knew what that was, and how precious it was.

The core of a Snow Armadillo was very precious in their world. The Snow Armadillo is the best light elemental beast in this place and its healing capabilities were second to none. If one who is close to death consumes this, they would go back to normal.

Grey played with it and kept it again, "Are you sure you don't want the ring?"

The duo looked at each other, "Why would you hand it to us without any struggle?"

"I don't like fighting. I thought he was the only one here, hence I came." Grey pointed at the Old man while speaking, after a while he added, "With you two with him, I stand little to no chance against you three. Why stress myself and fight?"

The duo thought about it and nodded, they felt Grey's reasoning was accurate.

"Alright, give us the ring."

Grey smiled and tossed the ring to them, again.

The Old man looked at Grey, he could barely believe that Grey gave them his possession that easily. After encountering Grey, he didn't think the possibility of him being this reasonable was high. He believed Grey was only trying to trick them, unfortunately, there was no way for him to find out.

"Don't believe him, he's very cunning." He warned the duo.

The duo looked at the Old man and nodded, they've worked with him before, and hearing him warn them meant that he was very apprehensive of Grey.

They started to doubt his words. When he came to them, he told them that he almost killed Grey, although with the help of someone, but Grey managed to escape. However, since Grey appeared, the only thing they could see in his eyes was fear.

Grey must have traumatized him, making him fear him this much.

One of them grabbed the ring, and brought out a pearly multicolored bead. While studying the bead, he felt a chill run down his spine and hastily threw it and the ring in another direction, shockingly, he picked the side the Old man was running in.

Boom!

The bead and the ring exploded out with a powerful attack. Along with the explosion was the shrill scream of the Old man. He was clearly in pain after being covered by parts of the explosion.

Grey chuckled when he saw this. Originally, the ring was not supposed to get to the Old man, but he used the space element to make it move further at a faster pace. Before the Old man could escape, he was caught in the explosion.

"You little brat." One of the duo said coldly.

The way everything happened was by no means a coincidence, it was obviously all Grey's plans. The second the man who held the ring brought out the bead, sensed the danger and tried to throw it away, Grey opened a small spatial tunnel close to him and the ring entered. The ring appeared close to the Old man who was already on the run.

"You want to set us against each other? You're still too young to trick us." One of the duo said.

Grey shrugged, looking at the place where the explosion took place. He wanted to see if the Old man would be injured or not.

The explosion died down and the Old man appeared before everyone. The sorry state of the Old man made the duo shake their heads.

They couldn't believe his state. Grey's attack was more than what they expected. Although they sensed the aura, but they felt it was not that strong.

Chapter 1202 Tricked Thrice?

"You again." Grey remarked and the Old man who was trying to regain himself stumbled, almost falling to the ground. He understood the meaning behind Grey's words, hence his reaction.

"I'll kill you, even if it's the last thing I do." The Old man said coldly.

He turned to the duo, of course he was a bit stumped by the reason why the ring and bead was tossed in his direction, but he wanted to deal with Grey first. After taking care of Grey, he would think of what to do to the duo.

"Help me take him down." He said to the duo.

The duo nodded.

The Old man was already starting to show signs of healing from the injuries. As an Elementalist grows in strength, their healing capabilities increases. From what Grey has read, those Elementalist who had gotten to the God Plane can even come back to life from a single drop of blood.

It was no wonder those in the God Plane were called immortals in all the books. Unfortunately, there are none of those immortals in the present world of Grey.

Grey looked at the trio who wanted to fight against him. He didn't think the Old man was a threat, and since he hadn't seen the duo display their abilities, he was clueless about what they were capable of doing.

'Do you need any help?' Void asked, although he was not prepared to help, he just wanted to ask.

'No need, I'll be able to deal with them.' Grey rejected his help, as he expected.

Without waiting, he took Cori and went to the side to watch the battle. The bunny leader went with them, it doesn't involve itself in any battles from the start, so there was no way it would join in on this one.

Grey focused on the battle ahead, the Old man and the duo had already grouped together, preparing to attack.

One of them made some seals and drew lines made of gold in the air.

Grey felt his heart palpitate just from watching the lines come to life. At first, he thought it was something like what the Old man did when he was fighting with him the previous time. At the end, he realized this was completely different, it was an array.

For some reason, after the man completed the array, he felt himself being shackled, and moving seemed very difficult for him. He didn't think too much about it, but when he wanted to use the space element to move closer to them, he noticed the difference... he was unable to use the space element.

'He blocked the space here?' He thought to himself.

Since this person used this from the start, it meant that the Old man must've told him about his abilities.

'This will not be easy.' Grey thought to himself.

The trio were prepared to fight with him, and since they knew of some of his abilities, they could neutralize some. One of the abilities Grey had grown used to when fighting was his space element. It was very vital to over eighty percent of his victories since acquiring it. Not being able to use it is bad news for him.

Scales appeared on his body, and he exploded out with shocking speed, his target, the man with the scar in his neck. He was the one who created this array that blocked the space element, as long as he could take him out, then he would win.

Grey appeared in front of the man in a flash and threw a blow. Just as the blow was about to hit the man, he didn't feel any sort of contact and knew that the man dodged the attack.

'Huh?' He was a bit confused since the man was still in front of him, but he soon understood.

'It phased through.'

This was an ability Grey was very familiar with, he occasionally uses it too. It was something from the space element. Now Grey understood why this man was able to completely seal the space in the area. He was also a Space Elementalist, and with that, he knew the ins and outs of the space element.

'Damn it!' He couldn't help but complain.

He left the man alone and tried to get the other man who came with this man.

The Old man hurriedly attacked, using the fire element to send out a snake that chased after him.

The other man of the duo was a Water Elementalist. Seeing Grey come in his direction, the man created an ice dome to block Grey's attack before creating ice spikes around him, hoping to pierce Grey with one of them as he approached.

Grey unleashed his fire domain, increasing the heat to the pick, and before he even got close, the Water Elementalist among the duo was open for him to attack. The ice dome the Water Elementalist created was useless against Grey's domain.

The Water Elementalist was stunned when he saw this and couldn't help but freak out, he hastily created a stream of water and sent it to Grey. I think you should take a look at Grey's domain made light work of the water and he was left defenseless against him.

He didn't even waste any time and attacked, sending a blow in his direction. The blow was enhanced with all his elements. Although he wanted to fight them on his own, he still didn't want to take any chances. The opportunity presented itself for him to take one person out at the start, and he naturally wouldn't miss it.

The Water Elementalist tried to block it with his hands, but when Grey's fist hit his arm, he was sent flying. The bones in his hands shattered from the start, not even giving him the chance to block. Luckily for him, he was able to use it to his advantage and keep his life.

The slight delay he got from using his hands to block was enough for him to retreat.

The Fire Elementalist and the Space Elementalist quickly came to his side before Grey could come close to him and end him.

With the duo by his side, he started to heal, reforging his bones. The bones would not be as strong as they previously were since they were just destroyed, but after a few weeks of constant nurture, they can return to the previous state, stronger even.

"You little piece of shit! I'll kill you!" He yelled in pain, exuding unbridled killing intent.

Now, not just the Old man wants Grey dead, even this Water Elementalist wants to kill Grey.

Grey looked at him and felt a bit annoyed that he was unable to kill him. But he didn't attack again, he was trying to see if he could break the array the Space Elementalist made. If he can, then he would be able to deal with them faster than supposed.

"Kid, why are you endangering yourself? Hand us your treasures and we'll let you leave." The Space Elementalist said.

"Go? Go? We're killing him! Even if he gives us the world!" The Old man would never let Grey leave, especially with this two with him.

The Space Elementalist looked at the Old man, his gaze cold. He wanted to see if Grey would hand over his items. That way, if they were unable to kill him, they would still get something from it. But the Old man seems so bent on killing Grey that he lost his reasoning.

Grey looked at the Old man, "I like honest people. I'm an honest person myself."

When the Old man heard Grey call himself an honest person, he felt like killing someone that moment. How could Grey, someone who had tricked him once, and almost killed him with a trick twice, say he's an honest person?

"You..." The Old man wanted to speak, but stopped.

"Kid, we won't kill you. Give us the things and go." The Space Elementalist said.

"He doesn't have the same thoughts as you." Grey pointed at the Old man.

"You don't need to worry about him. As long as we don't help him, he won't dare to attack you." The Space Elementalist said.

Grey thought about it for a while, and seeing the expression of the Old man, he nodded and tossed a ring at them.

The Space Elementalist wanted to catch the ring, but after what happened the last time, he forced the ring back to Grey.

"How can we know you're not messing with us?" He asked.

"Tell someone to check it." Grey said, then pointed at the Old man, "He's fond of checking rings, why don't he do it?"

The duo looked at the Old man and the Space Elementalist nodded, "Alright, he'll check it."

The Old man looked at them, and just as he was about to argue, he saw the cold gaze of the duo.

"Fine."

He didn't want to check it, but he didn't really have a choice in this situation.

If the duo teamed up with Grey, the chances of him escaping was very small.

He stretched his hand towards the ring, grabbing it.

Chapter 1203 Can We Call It A Day?

Grey wore a grin on his face as he looked at the Old man holding onto the ring. He could visibly see how scared the Old man was and couldn't help but chuckle.

The Old man looked at Grey, and the feeling of fear enveloped him. He took a peek into the ring with his spiritual senses and hastily retreated, setting up multiple defenses.

However, after retreating, he paused and a confused expression appeared on his face. The reason for that was because he didn't see anything harmful inside, rather, there were multiple things of value inside. He quickly sent his spiritual senses into the ring again, and just as he thought, it was filled with treasures. His eyes lit up and looked at the other two and nodded.

"His things are here." The Old man grabbed the ring which he had used his spiritual senses to keep afloat, his previous expression was gone and a smile was on his face.

Grey looked at the Old man with an amused smile, he didn't know if to laugh or not. He really did pass on a ring with some treasures to them, he wanted to see how they would react.

The duo walked over to where the Old man was standing and just when they were about to take the ring, Grey snapped his finger.

"Boom!" He said softly.

The sound echoed in the ears of the Old man and the duo and they retreated.

"What? Did I scare you?" Grey asked with a playful laugh.

The Old man composed himself, but before he could grab the ring, the duo had taken it.

The Space Elementalist was the one who took the ring, and he was about to check the items inside, he felt a grave sense of danger and without hesitation, he tried to toss the ring away while also teleporting away.

Boom!

The ring exploded, engulfing all three of them. Even the Space Elementalist was unable to escape from it.

Void appeared on Grey's shoulder and said, "I took some things I liked."

Grey's smile faded when he heard this and he tried to grab Void, unfortunately, Void was too fast for him. Given his small size, it was easy for him to leave Grey behind.

'I'll stop giving you anything I cook if you don't return them.' He threatened Void who had gone back to where the bunny leader and Cori were watching from.

Although the Space Elementalist locked down the space in the area, it was targeted at only Grey, Void had no issues with removing all the treasures from the ring and replacing them with the fusion orbs Grey had created.

When Void heard Grey's threat, he sighed in defeat. He didn't want to miss Grey's cooking for something that wasn't even important. He could get some of the things on his own if he wanted. Even if he asked Grey for some, Grey would hand them over to him. He returned the items to Grey while grumbling.

Grey could care less about Void's grumblings. He was still checking the items in his ring when he sensed danger. He wanted to teleport, but then realized he was still unable to use the space element. His body was covered with lightning and dodged to the side.

The Space Elementalist appeared and slashed out with a powerful spatial slash that caused a spatial tear in the air.

His face was badly mutilated from the explosion. He was the closest to the ring and even with all his abilities, he was almost defenseless against the attack. After confirming from the Old man that the ring was filled with treasure, and seeing the eagerness in the eyes of the Old man as he tried to retake the ring, he dropped all defenses. Not just him, but the Old man and his companion were also injured by the explosion, only, his case was worse.

Grey stood across the man and wore an innocent face, "What did I do to you?"

"I'll kill you, boy." The Space Elementalist said.

The Water Elementalist appeared and attacked Grey, alongside the Old man whose face and body was badly mangled. He had suffered from the same attack in the space of twenty-four hours, and his innards were currently a mess. Even his core had started showing signs of crumbling down.

Grey looked at the Old man who was in such a state and couldn't help but laugh, "You always fall for it."

The Old man looked at Grey and felt like giving him the most brutal death possible.

"You'll suffer for the rest of your days, I'll make sure you die the most gruesome death possible." The Old man said, seething with anger.

"I don't think you're capable of achieving such a feat." Grey said softly.

The Water Elementalist sent a stream of fire at Grey, and even the Space Elementalist attacked once again.

Grey used the lightning element, and a little bit of the wind element to dodge the attacks, he drew closer to the Space Elementalist and he unleashed the gravitational force field. I think you should take a look at Arrays lit up in the sky and started attacking the Water Elementalist and the Old man, stopping them from getting close to Grey or the Space Elementalist.

The sudden change in the gravity took the Space Elementalist by surprise and he fell to the ground, unable to stand up. Grey got close to him and attacked, sending his body flying.

The Space Elementalist wanted to use the space element to dodge it, but he realized he was unable to use the space element. While his figure was still in the air, Grey appeared beside him, clenched his fists and smiled.

"Do you think you're the only one good with arrays?"

Bam!

Grey's fist hit the back of the Space Elementalist and he slammed into the ground with full force, causing a crater on the ground.

The Water Elementalist, seeing his companion taken down with such an attack, had the urge to leave. Unfortunately, Grey would not allow that.

"I'm a very vengeful person, since you attacked me and tried to kill me. I'll do the same to you." Grey's voice lingered in the ears of the Water Elementalist as he tried to escape.

Grey appeared, and like a lightning god, he pointed at the Water Elementalist and a large lightning bolt fell from the sky, striking the Water Elementalist.

The Old man turned around, and without hesitation, he fled.

Grey would never let him escape, just as he was about to chase after him, he noticed a powerful aura coming from the place the Space Elementalist crashed. He knew that Space Elementalist wouldn't die from the attack, but seeing him come out this early and with such an aura, he knew things were about to get serious.

When the Space Elementalist walked out of the crater, his figure blurred and the Old man, who was seemingly trying to escape appeared in front of his figure which had regained its previous state.

"Die!"

With eyes wide open, he attacked the Old man.

The Old man could barely understand what was happening as his figure was cut in two by a spatial tear.

After killing the Old man, a portal appeared and consumed the Old man. The eyes of the Space Elementalist was blood red as he looked at Grey.

Grey felt like he was a lonely boat in a storm in the sea. The eyes of the Space Elementalist carried so much pressure that even Grey felt it.

He only felt the pressure for a brief moment, his eyes glowed with a pale blue light and he stared right into the eyes of the Space Elementalist.

The Water Elementalist walked towards the Space Elementalist and his aura also changed.

Grey looked at the duo and said, "Since he's dead, why don't we call it a day?"

The Space Elementalist's eyes were cold as he replied, "Unless you're dead, you're not leaving this place."

Grey shrugged, "I tried. He's already dead, and if you want to join him, I'll indulge you."

The Water Elementalist was covered with ice armor as his figure floated up. The Space Elementalist grabbed the air and the array that Grey had modified shattered like a glass.

Grey was surrounded by blue flames which was had tiny silver arcs around it. He was utilizing both the lightning and fire domain.

The duo had increased their strength, and other than the Fusion State, he had other ways to increase his strength. But he didn't have any plans of doing that now.

At the moment, the pressure he was getting from the duo was that of someone close to the Peak of the Elemental Venerable Plane. Fighting one would be very tough task, much less fighting against two at the same time.

He looked up and the sky darkened as a storm cloud appeared in the area.

The Space Elementalist took a step and the ground shook, he vanished and appeared beside Grey in an instant.

Grey used the gravitational force field, but felt a powerful repulsion force that sent him flying.

Chapter 1204 Top Tier Space Elementalist

Grey flipped mid-air and turned to look at the Space Elementalist, who had used a technique he was quite familiar with.

Before he could balance himself mid-air, he felt a strong suction force dragging him in the direction of the Space Elementalist. The Water Elementalist appeared from behind the Space Elementalist and a large sword made from ice slashed at Grey.

Grey opened his mouth and spat out a large stream of fire, cutting the ice sword into two.

That wasn't the end, he continued with two inscriptions appearing in the sky and attacking the duo.

The Space Elementalist made a slashing motion with his hand and the two inscriptions were but in two by a powerful spatial tear.

The Water Elementalist looked at Grey and a snowstorm started. He was a bit taken aback, since he wasn't the one who did this.

Grey smirked and ice armor appeared on his body. A large ice sword appeared in the sky, the color of the ice had a darker blue compared to regular ice. Just like Klaus, Grey also learned how to increase the water pressure as well. With the current pressure of water, a normal human would die if caught inside, only Elementalists whose bodies have been tempered by the elements can survive it.

Using this water to create ice makes the ice over five times stronger than regular ice. Klaus could already increase the water pressure to a state that it increases his ice attributes by almost ten times. Grey had other elements to work on so he can't obviously focus on just the water element.

The ice sword, reinforced with the heavy water and also the snowstorm shot at the Space Elementalist.

The Space Elementalist tried to use the space element to cut the sword open, but he was stunned when he noticed it was harder than he expected.

The Water Elementalist made a water dome and tried to contain the ice sword inside, trying to stop it from moving forward.

The second the ice sword touched the water dome, the water started to show signs of freezing.

The Water Elementalist was stunned by the development. He never expected Grey's ice sword would affect the water dome he created.

Even Grey was a bit stunned when he saw this. But it was nothing for him to worry about.

The dome froze and shattered after being pierced by the ice sword.

The Space Elementalist hastily retreated, dragging the Water Elementalist along. The ice sword stabbed the ground the second they left the place, almost hitting the Water Elementalist who was slightly slower in reacting. Luckily, he was helped by the Space Elementalist.

Grey didn't stop, his fire and lightning domain engulfed the duo. Lightning bolts shot out from the domain, attacking the duo.

The Space Elementalist created a space cloak around his body and was able to successfully block all the lightning bolts coming his way. The Water Elementalist created another water dome, but this time, it wasn't overpowered by Grey's attacks.

Since the lightning bolts weren't as powerful as Grey's usual attacks, they could casually block all of them.

Grey charged into the place and used the gravitational force field, but the Space Elementalist was able to counter it. Forcing Grey back with an unexpected attack.

Grey took a few steps back and saw a spatial tear in front of him. The attack power of the Space Elementalist was very strong, adding the fact that he was a Space Elementalist, he had a very strong grasp on using the space to his advantage.

Grey was still too young and hadn't used the space element as much as the Space Elementalist, so he was lacking in this area. Even Void might not be able to match the Space Elementalist in terms of controlling space.

The Water Elementalist struck while Grey was retreating, making spikes shoot out from the ground.

Grey rose into the air the moment a spike came out from where his feet were. He raised his arm and different weapons made with the earth element appeared in the sky. The weapons were not only made with the earth element, but with a combination of the fire element as well. Each weapon had lava running across it, and they were quite large, at least four meters long.

Grey dropped his hand and the weapons started to fall in the places where the Space and Water Elementalists were standing.

The duo started to dodge, but the more they dodged, the more the weapons dropped on them.

They could barely keep up with the speed of the attacks. With the multitude of elements Grey had at his disposal, it was easy for him to fight against multiple elements with ease.

Grey stepped on the ground and made it shake. His body covered with scales shot at them, shortening the gap between them.

He struck out a blow, aiming for where the Water Elementalist was moving to. I think you should take a look at

The Water Elementalist saw the strike late, but luckily, his ice armor was on. The armor helped him block off some of the power of the strike, but he was still sent flying.

After sending the Water Elementalist flying, Grey felt a sense of danger and hastily tried to withdraw his hand, but he was too slow.

The precision of the attack was something, even someone with Grey's speed couldn't dodge.

He felt a sharp pain in his hand and without hesitation, he used the space element and the rest of the attack phased through.

By the time he did this, the attack sent his way had cut through half of his hand. Had he been a second slower in reacting, his hand would've been cut off from the wrist.

He turned his head to see the Space Elementalist who was still dodging the attacks of the falling weapons looking at him with a deadly gaze.

'Shit! I was too careless.' He thought internally.

He originally felt with the attacks keeping them busy, the Space Elementalist would not have the time to help his companion. He didn't expect that the Space Elementalist had kept his eyes on him all through, and attacked him at the right time.

To get the accurate timing, he had to wait until Grey's fist hit the Water Elementalist before his attack got to the designated location. This meant that he attacked, all with the hope that his companion could not block Grey's attack and would then be sent flying, leaving Grey's arm open for attack.

Grey felt a bit fearful at the thought process of the Space Elementalist, he was simply too daring.

The light element got to work and started to heal the place that was cut. He couldn't help but feel thankful that he was able to increase the grade of his light element when he used that trial in that secret realm.

His armor seemed to have suffered from the previous attacks of these people, so it was unable to stop that attack.

The Water Elementalist stood up from the rubble he was in and nodded to the Space Elementalist before sending a jetstream of water. The stream was very thin but possessed unimaginable cutting power.

The stream of water passed through all the earth weapons falling from the sky and cut them in two.

Grey sighed when he saw this. This was the toughest battle he had gotten involved in since coming to the Chaos Battlefield, and he was fully enjoying every bit of it.

He charged into battle once again they started to exchange blows. The Space Elementalist was in charge of escaping and attacking secretly while the Water Elementalist was the main attacker.

The synergy between them was top notch and Grey soon started to feel the difference between them and others. If there were four more of these people, Grey would be in serious trouble.

He had tried to switch places with the Water Elementalist on multiple occasions, but the Space Elementalist had stopped him without fail.

When he tried to switch places with the Space Elementalist, he was almost thrown into a spatial turbulence and didn't dare to attempt it again.

The Space Elementalist truly was on another level in terms of his control of the space element.

Boom! Bam!

Grey crashed into the cave, destroying the upper part of it.

The Water Elementalist couldn't stop Grey's attack from hitting his hand. The attack almost cut off his arm, but he managed to stop it.

Grey crawled out of the cave, breathing heavily.

Not just him, but the Water and Space Elementalists were also catching their breaths. They never thought Grey would be this difficult to deal with.

Even after using their ultimate attacks, they were still unable to take each other out.

Grey opened his palm and a fusion orb appeared. This was the only thing he knew made the duo apprehensive of him.

Seeing the fusion orb, the Space Elementalist took a step forward and Grey could feel the space around them shake. It was almost as if the Space Elementalist could summon spatial turbulences.

Chapter 1205 Anyone Who Intervenes Dies

The area around Grey started to show signs of cracking and he noticed the fusion orb was shaking. Whatever the Space Elementalist was doing at the moment was messing with the elemental energy in the area, making it hard for Grey to keep the fusion orb stable.

Seeing this, Grey decided to improvise. There was still the golden energy he acquired here, but he had barely used it since obtaining it. He wanted to see if he added it to the fusion orb, what reactions it would have.

He had never attempted it before, but he was inspired during the battle and wanted to try it out now.

Golden energy appeared on his palm and slowly started to merge with the fusion orb. The rate at which the orb was shaking started to increase, and before long, small arcs could be seen on the surface of the orb, it was no longer smooth. Thin threads of energy could be seen sticking out of it.

With the addition of the golden energy, Grey felt a shocking amount of power hidden within it, not just that, but it has regained its calmness, no longer showing any signs of wanting to fall apart.

Grey chuckled to himself, elated by his quick wittedness. He would've been forced to discard the fusion orb by whatever the Space Elementalist did, but after adding the golden energy, it got stronger and more stable.

He tossed the fusion orb in their direction, and just as it was getting closer, it vanished.

All signs of the attack vanished, and the Space Elementalist tried to sense if Grey was using the space element to move the orb. However, try as he may, he was unable to sense anything regarding the attack. It was like it never existed.

Even Grey had a somewhat confused look on his face. The attack he put so much into vanished just like that.

Just as they were about to continue the fight... the Space Elementalist felt a powerful force hit his chest. A hole the size of the fusion orb appeared on his chest and accompanying it was an explosion that sent him flying.

The Water Elementalist was left dumbstruck by the sudden turn of events. From the aura he sensed, he was certain that it was the fusion orb that vanished a second ago, but he didn't understand how it came back after disappearing.

"What? How?" He questioned in disbelief.

"Don't ask me, I'm still as shocked as you are." Grey replied, still stunned by what happened.

When the attack reappeared, he almost couldn't believe his eyes.

'This is a new discovery. Even I can't sense it, but it's still very much aware of its target.' He speculated.

He didn't know anything about how this attack works for now, but it is definitely going to be one of his hidden cards later on. With this, he can take anyone unaware. Well, once more people know about it, it wouldn't have that element of surprise any more, but it was still something worth having.

The Water Elementalist rushed to where the Space Elementalist crashed and saw the large hole in the chest of the Space Elementalist.

The Space Elementalist was bleeding profusely from the hole, and even when he tried to open his mouth, blood was the only thing that came out. His internal organs were currently hanging out from the hole in his stomach. Not just his chest, but even his stomach was blown open. The force of the attack is something he didn't dare to imagine.

First off, he was defenseless against it, and even though he tried to act quickly, he was still a bit too late and managed to only ensure his heart wasn't destroyed. He protected some other vital parts, but left the rest. I think you should take a look at

Right now, he was feeling pains all over, but he kept his head focused on the main issue, he could get killed in such a state. He could barely fight at the moment, much less try to defeat Grey.

"We're leaving." He managed to cough out this little words.

The Water Elementalist nodded and used the water element to keep his body intact before picking him up.

Grey, seeing this, took a step forward. He was still raring to go.

"Where do you think you're going?" He asked coldly, his gaze on the wounded Space Elementalist.

"That garbage is dead, why don't we call it a day?" The Water Elementalist replied.

"I'm sorry, I've moved on from that state. Remember I said the same thing before you two tried to kill?" Grey answered with a chuckle.

He said this after the Space Elementalist killed the Old man, but they refused and even tried to kill him. Of course he was not going to let them go now that all the advantages lay with him. He would kill them. This has always been how he was.

"Kid, you're a foreigner. Don't make an enemy of the natives here, you will regret it." The Water Elementalist warned.

"This is not the first time I'm making an enemy of natives in another realm." Grey snorted coldly.

Even the Gnomes wanted him dead, who were these people he should be scared of?

The duo realized Grey had no plans of letting them go.

"Hmph! We'll see how you're going to make it out of here." The Space Elementalist said softly. He could sense the aura of other Elemental Venerables rushing to the place.

Although individually the people coming were not as strong as him or his partner, with that number, even he would be afraid.

"Anyone who dares to intervene will meet the same fate as you two. Remember, I only had an issue with people from the Tekik Family in a Town, the Old man intervened and he's dead now, you two did the same, and are about to face your deaths." Grey replied calmly.

The duo looked at the Grey, the confidence in his words.

'Anyone who intervenes will die, no matter who the person is.'

Chapter 1206 I Don't Care

Grey and the duo faced off when seven Elemental Venerables appeared. The one with the highest cultivation stage was just in the Fifth stage.

When they arrived, seeing the state of the place and the conditions of the Space and Water Elementarists, they turned to the young figure who was standing opposite them.

"What's going on here?" One of them asked.

"This foreigner is planning to kill all of us." The Water Elementalist said coldly.

"Haha, aren't you ashamed? Lying against me." Grey laughed and gave the Water Elementalist a look of disdain. He turned to the seven Elemental Venerables and said, "They attempted to kill me, but are too weak, so I'm returning the favor."

Grey's words might be simple, but everyone understood the underlying meaning behind them. If you join the fight, as long as I'm stronger, I will definitely kill you.

"My young friend, you came to our world to train and hunt for treasures. With your strength, I believe you must have gotten a fair amount of treasures. There are few places you will feel any form of danger. Why don't you let them go?" An Old man in the group said.

He was in the Second stage of the Elemental Venerable Plane, but when speaking, everyone looked at him with respect. Grey guessed he might've been a big shot while the others were younger.

"You're right. There are few places I feel any form of danger. But I'm a principled person, as long as I sense any form of killing intent from anyone, I'll strike back." Grey spoke to the Old man in a respectful manner.

The Old man thought about it and looked at the duo, the Space Elementalist was already on his last leg, the Water Elementalist didn't look good either. From his assessment, it was obvious that Grey had beaten them to this state. He turned to look at Grey, and he could barely see any form of injury on his body.

Other than his clothes which were destroyed and his disheveled hair, he would have thought Grey only came here a few seconds ago.

'How did they get entangled with such a figure?' The Old man thought to himself.

He understood what Grey meant. To be honest, most Elementalists are like this. If they sense anyone as a threat and are stronger than them, they would naturally want to take that person out with any chance they get. He also had such a character.

"Are you willing to offend all of us just because of your vengeful attitude?" A middle-aged lady snorted coldly, "Kid, you better do as he says and let them go."

Grey chuckled when he heard the middle-aged lady's words, he turned to her and said, "I should be the one asking you that question, are you willing to offend me because of them?"

The lady snorted when she heard Grey's words, she hated the pride with which he was using to speak. From Grey's words, it was clear that he didn't put them in his eyes and it infuriated her, not just her, but the others as well.

Of all seven who just arrived, only the Old man didn't seem to have any sort of reaction to Grey's statement.

From Grey's attitude, he didn't think he was clouded with pride, rather, it was the utmost confidence in his abilities. Any Elementalist with such confidence in their abilities are frightening figures.

One of the things that made the Old man cautious of Grey was the fact that, against seven people, Grey still showed no signs of backing down. He still wanted to do what was on his mind. That alone was enough to tell the Old man that Grey was not scared of them. In fact, there's a possibility that he would be able to kill all of them if they teamed up against him. I think you should take a look at

'How did such a monster get conceived?' He looked at Grey, and almost wished he was his son, or even grandson.

Having such a fine character as a child was something to be proud of.

The Old man placed his hand on the shoulder of the man who was in the Fifth stage of the Elemental Venerable Plane and shook his head. His motive was obvious, don't get involved in this.

The man was shocked by the Old man's intentions.

"Fa..."

The Old man shook his head once again, not letting the man finish his words.

The man nodded and moved to the side.

Now, the Old man and the man in the Fifth stage of the Elemental Venerable had separated themselves from the other five who had the intent of attacking Grey.

"Arthel, what's the meaning of this?" The middle-aged lady asked.

The man, referred to as Arthel replied, "Myself and my father will not involve ourselves with this."

The middle-aged lady was about to speak when a man in the Third stage stepped forward, "You and your father have always been cowards, I'm not surprised you're afraid of a little boy."

The Old man and Arthel didn't respond to whatever they said and moved even further away from them.

The Water Elementalist looked at the Old man with a serious gaze, to be honest, if he had made the same decision, they wouldn't be in such a predicament. Unfortunately, they were clouded by greed and got involved in the battle. Although they were tricked at the start, it didn't change the fact that Grey actively wanted to stop the battle.

The Space Elementalist had been able to regain some strength, "Kill him, I'll reward you heavily."

At the moment, his eyes were glued to Grey's spatial ring, there was something in Grey's ring that could heal his current state, he wanted it.

"Get his ring. That's the best way I can recover. Cut off his hand if you have to, just get his ring." He said to the Water Elementalist.

"What if he tricks us again?" The Water Elementalist still had fear from the last time Grey gave them a ring.

"I don't care!"

Chapter 1207 Preparing A New Recipe For Grey

The Space Elementalist wanted the item Grey showed them at the start, the core that could heal his current wounds. If he can lay his hands on that, he wouldn't need to spend a long time in seclusion trying to recover, he would recover instantly and fight against Grey even.

Grey didn't know the plans of the Space and Water Elementalists at the moment, his eyes were on the five people who wanted to join the battle. If he added the Water Elementalist to it, it would make them six.

Even with that number, he still showed zero fears. Without the Space Elementalist, he didn't need to fear anyone here. Even if ten more people came, so long as none of them was above the Fifth stage of the Elemental Venerable Plane, he didn't have any fears.

This didn't mean that he wasn't wary of some of these people. He didn't know their abilities, and if it's something that could stop some of his abilities, then he would have a tough time.

"We'll kill him, together." The Water Elementalist said to the five.

The five nodded and came close to the Space Elementalist. His condition made a few of them take another glance at Grey, and they showed signs of hesitation. The Space Elementalist was stronger than them, but he was beaten to such a state by Grey, who didn't have any physical injuries on his body. That alone shows the disparity between them.

If Grey could beat the Space Elementalist to this state, it was unknown what he would do to them.

"Be careful of his space element. His fire, water, lightning, and earth element are powerful as well. Make sure there's someone to support you and don't attack him rashly." The Water Elementalist gave them a series of warnings.

After he felt he had warned them enough, he took the lead.

Grey was powerful, no doubt, but the Water Elementalist felt that with the people beside him, they should be able to win the fight.

"Wait, give me anything that can heal me that's on you. I'll recover and join the battle as soon as I can." The Space Elementalist stopped them.

The five didn't hesitate and handed over treasures that could heal injuries. The items might not be on the same level as what the Space Elementalist wanted from Grey's ring, but they would definitely help his current state. Hopefully, he can join them in battle and kill Grey.

He would heal up completely after killing Grey. Taking a look at the five, he threw a glance at the Old man and Arthel. He grunted softly and walked to the side to heal his wounds.

On the side.

Cori, Void, and the bunny leader were watching the scene.

"Is he going to be alright?" Cori asked, worried about Grey's well-being.

"He's fine. These people can't kill him." Void replied, while gulping down the meat they bought from the restaurants in the City. I think you should take a look at

It was quite succulent and there was a difference in the cooking pattern compared to how Grey usually cooks. He suggested that they kidnapped one of the cooks so they could get the recipe, but Grey declined, with the excuse of not being able to cook as he used to.

Void didn't argue since he knew Grey was right. With him going into seclusion, trying to grow stronger, searching for treasures, and staying alive with so many people wanting to kill him, he barely had the leisure time to cook again. Even though he occasionally cooks, it is quite rare now, and the days are few and far apart.

Void didn't mind and still kidnapped one of the cooks, he got the recipe. And even got a few of the ingredients for the food. Whenever Grey plans on cooking again, he would pass it to him.

Like Void, the bunny leader was not worried about Grey's well-being. He had traveled with them for a few months and knew just how powerful Grey was. Even if Grey could not kill these people, he wouldn't be defeated by them either.

Cori looked at the nonchalant expression of the duo, and was more shocked at how the bunny leader was eating meat with a pleased face. She had always thought that bunnies only ate vegetables and herbs, but the bunny leader has proved her thoughts wrong. Not only did it like eating meat, but it even openly said that eating meat was better than those herbs. According to it, meats were much more tasty than those herbs.

She didn't feel it was wrong though, after taking in a few well cooked meat from the City, she knew that compared to the few low leveled herbs she had eaten, meat was far superior. It even had essence inside, just as potent as the herbs she had eaten.

Grey had no idea Void was planning on how to get him to cook for him, or Cori's worries. He was only focused on the people before him.

With a flash, his figure moved and he headed for the middle-aged lady who instigated the others into fighting with him.

The middle-aged lady was in the Second stage, seeing Grey vanish, she naturally was alarmed. With the strength of everyone here, she was one of the weakest and felt Grey would want to reduce the numbers as soon as he could.

She looked around, but didn't see Grey appearing anywhere.

The Space Elementalist was not as powerful as he previously was, so tracking Grey in the void was very difficult. Just as he sensed Grey, Grey appeared in front of the middle-aged lady.

"Look out!" He yelled, warning the lady of Grey's arrival.

Grey appeared in front of her and his hand which was covered with lightning, the lightning shaped like a blade pierced through the heart of the lady.

The lady saw Grey and felt a sharp pain in her chest. She hurriedly retreated.

Even though her heart had been pierced, she could still survive as long as she healed up.

Chapter 1208 Just You Two

The others reacted the moment Grey attacked the middle-aged lady, drawing closer to him.

Even though they were close to her, they were unable to sense Grey's appearance. Of the other four, there was another Space Elementalist, but compared to the first Space Elementalist Grey was fighting with, he was still lacking. There was no way he would be able to sense Grey's movements in the void. Grey, on the other hand, can keep track of his movements.

The others got close and attacked Grey, with the hope of forcing him to leave the lady alone.

Grey couldn't be bothered with their attacks, only the attack of the Water Elementalist could threaten him, and when the attack got close to him, it phased right through him hitting the ground.

His armor and physical body could take the current attacks these people were sending at him. None of them had an attack power as strong as him, so there was almost no need to bother about them.

He shortened the distance between him and the middle-aged lady, and attacked her head, destroying it with the next attack.

The expressions of the other four who joined the battle changed drastically. It hadn't even been up to a minute and Grey had already killed one of them. If the heart was destroyed there was still hope for an Elementalist, but once the head was destroyed completely, the spiritual consciousness of that Elementalist would quickly start to dissipate. Unless there was a top spiritual Elementalist close by, there was no way for that person to survive.

A spiritual Elementalist was very rare, even rarer than Multi Elementalists. These are people that only focus on strengthening their spiritual senses and forgo improving their elemental essences. The only way this is possible is when you have people protecting you. A Spiritual Elementalist is almost useless until the Sage Plane.

In the same Plane, a Spiritual Elementalist has almost zero advantages over his opponents, only after getting to the Sage Plane could they affect those in the same stage as they were. In some cases, some could affect those higher than them.

The benefit of being a Spiritual Elementalist is that even if your head is destroyed, not just your head, but your entire body, you can still come back to life as long as your spiritual energy is strong. Only a few people decide to take this path since it was fraught with danger and death. Very few people make it to the Sage Plane, so others refused to take this path.

The others could only give up when they saw the head of the middle-aged lady destroyed. They knew there was no way to get her back.

After killing the middle-aged lady, Grey didn't stop there, rather, he turned to the other person in the Second stage of the Elemental Venerable Plane. His plan was simple: take out the weaklings and fight against the strong ones.

The only bad thing for these people was that there was no strong one. Other than the Space Elementalist who was injured, Grey didn't think there was anyone else who could give him any sort of trouble. The only reason the Space Elementalist was special was that he was better than Grey when it came to the space element, and used his advantage to the fullest.

The next person was the Space Elementalist. He was only in the Second stage of the Elemental Venerable Plane. When Grey targeted him, he could barely react before he was blown to smithereens.

Just like the middle-aged lady, he was unable to defend against him. With the death of two people, the other three started to feel fear and without hesitation, they retreated. They were supposed to be the ones with the advantage, but against Grey, it was like they were useless. I think you should take a look at

Even when Grey didn't phase through their attacks, they still couldn't harm him. If that was not enough for them to stop, they didn't know what was.

Grey saw the trio stopped attacking, and even the Water Elementalist stopped and chuckled, "You don't understand. The moment I see you attack, I will attack as well."

The pupils of the trio constricted. They thought Grey would let them go if they stopped attacking, but Grey clearly didn't have any thoughts of stopping. And from how he took the storage rings of the people he killed, it was obvious that he wanted their treasures as well.

"We can give you our rings. All our possessions are there. Take it and let us leave." The strongest amongst the group said.

Of the trio, he was the one who felt the luckiest. If Grey had started from the strongest, he was certain that he would've died without a doubt. From Grey's attacks, he knew he couldn't fight against him.

On the side, Arther looked at his father.

"I told you, my intuition never lies." The Old man said with a proud smile.

Arther wanted to get involved in the fight when he saw the gaze the Space Elementalist used in looking at them, but the Old man stopped him. Although he couldn't understand why, he still chose to believe the Old man and held back.

At the moment, he couldn't help but feel thankful. Grey was too strong. Now he understood why the Space Elementalist was in such a state, and wanted help. Even two of the Space Elementalist wouldn't be enough to stop Grey.

The trio, who were still alive, handed their rings to Grey under the eyes of the Space and Water Elementalist.

The Water Elementalist felt like his world was crumbling down while the Space Elementalist was trying to heal as fast as he could. Against Grey, only when he was at his Peak could he escape.

Grey took the rings of the trio and told them to wait. He promised not to kill them, only to check their treasuries. They were the strongest in their families and naturally had the key to their treasuries.

The trio nodded and went to the side.

"And then there's two."

Chapter 1209 My Father Wants A Word With You

"What are you doing? He's going to kill you anyway. Stall him for some time, I'll be able to fight soon."
The Space Elementalist said angrily.

He never thought that even these three would chicken out of the battle in such a pathetic manner. All Grey had done was to kill two people, and they were already scared for their lives.

"I'm sorry, Lord Nicola, we can't fight against him. You can punish us later." The middle-aged man said with a straight face.

The eyes of the Space Elementalist turned cold, he understood what the middle-aged man was saying, the possibility of him surviving this battle was quite low, this was something he was certain of. How would he be able to punish them if he was dead?

The Water Elementalist turned to the Space Elementalist, his facial expression sour. Things were not looking good for them.

"What do we do now?" He asked softly.

"Don't worry." The Space Elementalist reassured him and turned to the Old man, his eyes trailed on the body of the Old man for a while before he looked at Arthel, "Help me, I'll give that item to you."

Arthel felt moved when he heard this, he had been trying to get a special item from the Space Elementalist for years now, he even offered to trade for it, but the Space Elementalist had always refused to give it to him. This was something that would make his cultivation not only increase faster, but it was very good for improving his elemental strength.

The eyes of the Space Elementalist didn't leave Arthel's body as he awaited his response.

Arthel looked at the Old man, and he saw him shake his head. He couldn't help but sigh and turn to the Space Elementalist.

"Any other time, I would've helped you." Arthel shook his head, "But in this situation, even if I want to help, I can't."

The Space Elementalist kept a straight face when he heard Arthel's reply. He clenched his fists tightly, it was as if he could sense death looming around him. No one wanted to help him, even after offering a life-changing item as reward, they still refused to help.

"Don't die." He muttered to the Water Elementalist.

Hearing this statement, the Water Elementalist understood what the Space Elementalist wanted to do. The Space Elementalist was planning to sacrifice himself for him.

Grey heard this and smirked, there was no way he was going to let any of them leave. The Water Elementalist had already been marked by him, so no matter how far he runs, he would still be able to find him, except he leaves the realm.

The Space Elementalist took a step forward and stood in front of the Water Elementalist, he pointed his finger at Grey, and a black light beam shot at Grey.

Grey sent a fireball to intercept the beam, while also moving in the direction of the Space Elementalist.

The two attacks collided and caused an explosion. Just as Grey was about to get past the place the attacks collided, he sensed something odd in the attack and hastily retreated.

The space around the place he was previously at started to shake. If he had been in that place, he might've been sucked into the void. Even though he also had the space element, he didn't dare to get caught in the void. He might be transported to another location altogether, hence his carefulness when it came to it.

Grey tried to teleport to the place the Space Elementalist and the Water Elementalist were standing, but he noticed the space around his area seemed to have been disturbed, whenever he tried to create a spatial tunnel, he would be blocked or would notice that the tunnel wasn't protected, exposing him to the spatial turbulences.

His eyes turned serious. After fighting with the Space Elementalist, he knew it wouldn't be that easy to kill him.

He created a small orb that he sent into the explosion. This orb was different from his normal attacks, rather than exploding, it implodes, sucking everything around it inside. It was made with the space element.

Grey took flight as well, and three inscriptions appeared behind the Space Elementalist who was preparing to leave. It was clear that the attack he used and trying to stop Grey from using the space element was quite taxing on his already injured body.

When the inscriptions lit up the sky, the Water Elementalist slashed at two of them before they could attack, but the third one attacked very quickly, sending a lightning bolt to the back of the Space Elementalist.

The Space Elementalist was unable to block the attack and was hit by it. His injuries which had stopped bleeding due to the help of the healing tonics he had taken and had even shown signs of healing started bleeding once again. He coughed out a mouthful of blood and staggered forward.

He sensed a grave danger in front of him and hastily forced his body to come to a halt.

The explosion in front of them suddenly disappeared, along with his efforts of trying to stop Grey from using the space element.

He looked up and saw a thin ice arrow heading for his head. One of his feet moved forward and his body flashed. He appeared close to the Water Elementalist, breathing heavily. The constant use of his essence in such a state was affecting him.

The Water Elementalist used the water element to seal the places the Space Elementalist was injured and supported him to stand upright. I think you should take a look at

"I guess... my time is now." The Space Elementalist commented and looked into the eyes of the Water Elementalist.

He tapped him on his shoulder and the figure of the Water Elementalist vanished from the place.

Grey made a move, jumping into the void. His intention was to stop the Water Elementalist from leaving.

Boom!

The void shook and Grey's figure shot out of a tear in the sky, slamming into the ground.

"I'll still kill him." He stood up and wiped the dust off his clothes.

"The mark you places on us? I wiped his the second I sent him away." The Space Elementalist chuckled.

Grey couldn't help but be impressed by the Space Elementalist's abilities. He had done this multiple times, and this was the first time he was seeing someone deal with it so casually.

He nodded at the Space Elementalist before shooting a beam of light at him. The beam had multiple colors, five to be exact. With a combination of five elements, even the Space Elementalist knew that it would be difficult for him to block the attack.

Just as the attack was about to reach him, he used the space element and tried to make it phase through him. However, his expression changed. He didn't have access to the space element. He looked up and saw Grey's smiling face.

His body soon started to dissipate. The space element destroyed his body bit by bit. Within a few seconds, the powerful Space Elementalist was no more.

The trio who were by the side could only watch on with mixed feelings. They didn't expect that such a young figure would be powerful enough to kill the Space Elementalist.

Grey turned to them, his expression, calm.

"Shall we?" He looked at them curiously.

"Huh?" One of them wore a confused expression. He didn't understand what Grey was asking from them.

"Yes, yes, young Lord, we can go now." The other middle-aged man by the side nodded.

Grey was asking about their treasury, he told them he would check it out. And now that he was done with the battle, he wanted to see if there was anything worth taking.

They all left the area, Void, Cori, and the bunny leader went with them.

The trio were quite rich, and Grey even got to find out the location of the Space and Water Elementalist's building. He went there to check if there was anything he needed, but it had been wiped clean.

Grey didn't take anything from the trio's treasury, there was nothing he found interesting there. Only Void and the bunny leader picked a few things, but they weren't of any importance, even the trio didn't mind them taking it. He also returned their storage rings to them, only taking the things he needed from it.

....

Outside the City.

Grey, Void, Cori, and the bunny leader stopped as there was someone standing in front of them.

It was Arthel.

"My father would like a word with you, Lord." Arthel said, he was very respectful when speaking with Grey, even though he was older, he was weaker than him, so there was no shame in being humble before him.

Grey looked at him and nodded. He recalled the Old man who stopped his son from getting involved in a battle that might have gotten him killed.

"Follow me." Arthel said and walked into the City.

Grey and his company followed behind him.

Chapter 1210 Let Me Ask My Companions

In a manor in the City.

Grey was invited inside the building in a respectful manner. When he saw the Old man sitting there and casually drinking tea by the garden, he sensed the serenity of the place.

"Forgive my manners, I couldn't approach you myself, hence I sent my son. Hope you're not offended?"
The Old man stood up to greet Grey.

Strength reigned above everything else, seeing Grey's strength, he knew he was below him and had to act accordingly.

"No worries." Grey smiled and looked around, "I suppose you have something to tell me."

The Old man nodded, "Yes, I called you here for a reason."

Grey's attention turned back to the Old man when he heard him speak.

"What might that be?" His curiosity was piqued.

"I want my son to follow you." The Old man said.

The eyes of Arthel changed slightly when he heard this, "Father..."

The Old man raised his hand to stop Arthel from speaking and kept his gaze on Grey, waiting for his response.

"Why would you want your son to follow me? You don't even know me." Grey said coolly.

He was quite astonished by the request of the Old man. When coming here, he thought the Old man wanted to propose an offer for him for an expedition. He felt maybe they were not strong enough to get the treasure so he wanted to ask for his help to get the treasure. The Old man's words were completely out of expectations.

"I know. But I'm a good judge of character. If my son follows you, he will grow stronger. There's nothing here for him, but I believe in your world, he would be able to become a true powerhouse. He's a genius, even amongst those his age." The Old man explained.

To be honest, after seeing Grey, he was interested in him. From Grey's strength, to his demeanor, he was different from the other foreigners he had encountered. The decision to let his son follow Grey came after he saw how Grey dealt with the trio who stepped back from the battle. He kept to his promise and even returned a few of their items.

Grey contemplated the matter and said, "I can't take him with me. I know nothing about him, nor do I know your purpose. What if this is all a ploy to kill me?"

The Old man laughed when he heard Grey's words, not disappointed with him rejecting his request, "Haha, this is why I requested this from you. I've seen a few who would've been willing to take him with them, but none of them is like you."

"There's something unique I can sense around you. Anything close to you will succeed. I want that for my son too." The Old man added.

Grey looked at the Old man, a bit surprised. He had also noticed there was something odd about his friend group. Take for instance, when he first knew Keith while trying to get into the Pymond Faction, he wasn't that fast when it came to advancing in cultivation stage. But after getting to know him, he started improving rapidly. I think you should take a look at

From the start of his cultivation journey, while he was still a new to cultivation, Klaus, Alice, and Reynolds were all in the Arcane Plane, while he hadn't even entered the Collection Plane. However, after catching up with them, Klaus, Alice, and Reynolds started advancing at a pace they didn't imagine.

To be honest, he looked at the others in the Academy at that time and noticed other than himself and his friends, no one else was advancing this fast. He didn't think too much about it, only now that the Old man mentioned it did he recall about that thought that had been thrown to the back of his head.

"Hmm, I'm still a little worried about taking someone I don't know with me." He said.

He had every right to be worried, after all, this was an Elemental Venerable. Even if he could suppress him, he didn't want to take any chances.

"I can offer you a technique you can use to seal his core. With a thought, you can easily kill him." The Old man suggested.

Grey raised a brow and took a glance at Arthel, wanting to see his reaction to his father's words. To his surprise, Arthel didn't show any reactions at all, he stood there mute. If not for the fact that Grey knew he was human, he would've even thought he was a statue.

"What do you say?" The Old man asked when he saw Grey hesitating.

"Wait, let me consult my companions." Grey said and turned to Cori, Void, and the bunny leader who were behind him.

"What do you think?" He asked with a nonchalant expression.

Cori looked at Arthel, "This Uncle doesn't seem to be a bad person. I don't mind traveling with him."

Void accessed Arthel and replied, "He has a few shiny things. And can protect me too. I'm good with him."

Just as the bunny leader was about to speak, Void spoke up, "You don't need to talk. I've spoken for us."

Grey laughed when he saw this.

The Old man and Arthel exchanged glances, shocked that Grey was referring to a small black cat, a white bunny, and a little girl who didn't look to be older than ten their opinion on the matter.

The Old man chuckled and whispered to Arthel, "He takes relationships very seriously. As long as you don't betray him, you will enjoy him."

Arthel looked at his father, he didn't know what to say, but nodded. Since this was the case, why bother. He would do whatever his father wanted. The reason he grew this powerful was all due to his father's advice he took. He always did as told and grew at a very fast rate.

Of all the Elemental Venerables in the City, he was the only one below a hundred years. In fact, he was sixty-five to be precise.

"Your companions seem to have agreed to him joining you." The Old man spoke, drawing Grey's attention back to him, "What do you say?"
